Autov Shanks

Autov Shanks went to his home in Heaven, Friday, Oct. 26, 2018, at his home in San Angelo. Funeral services will be 1 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 30, 2018, at the Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel. Interment to follow at Trinity Memorial Park.

Autov "Ump" was born in Comanche County on Feb. 13, 1931. He was the eighth of eleven children of Grover C. Shanks, Sr. and Clara Hightower Shanks, a well-known farm family of the Vealmore Community in Howard County. The family had moved from Comanche County when Autov was 9 years old. He attended schools in the area and Knott High School.

Aug. 2, 1950, he married Mary Ellen Bailey. They moved to Odessa where Autov was employed by Texas Electric Service Company (later TXU) on Jan. 3, 1950. He started as a truck driver and over time became a distribution line crew foreman for several years before retiring July 31, 1986. He received a 36 years safety award.

After retirement, Autov and Mary moved to Val Verde County with Blue Sage West Development on the Devil's River, about 40 miles northwest of Del Rio, where they have lived for past 20 years. They also had a home in San Angelo since 2011.

Autov and Mary lived in Odessa for over 50 years. There they raised two children, worked and served in many capacities. As members of Highland Methodist and St. Luke's United Methodist Church, Autov helped in the building of the churches; served on the official Board and was Sunday School Superintendent. He also worked with Boy Scouts and in other areas. He has been a member of Sierra Vista United Methodist Church in San Angelo since 2013.

Autov was an outdoorsman; enjoying hunting, fishing, traveling and camping. He was a member of The Texas Archaeology Society, an avid hunter and collector of American Indian artifacts. He later collected items including pocket knives, straight razors, guns, fishing lures, porcelain signs, etc., then all kinds of western collectibles, especially spurs. All this soon led to selling and trading. He had booths in an antique shop (ABA) in San Angelo. Autov really enjoyed traveling to acquire collectible things with his brothers, Charlie and John, and son, Steve. They were known as Texas Traders and Shanks Brothers. Family was very important to Autov and Mary as well as enjoying our great country. On their travels they not only took their children, but over time, took each of their five grandchildren on trips to the northwest states, as well as two of their seven great-grandchildren.

He was well remembered by all children by telling the tale of "Farmer Jones and Little Willie" and singing "Old Chisolm Trail" and "All Around the Water Tank".

Autov was preceded in death by his parents; two sisters, Norene Guill and Eva Mae Shanks; five brothers, Clim, Doyle, Grover Jr., Howard and John Shanks.

A chapel was built on their property in Val Verde County in memory of brother, John, who died in 1999, also a property owner there.

Survivors include his wife, Mary of the home; daughter "Jackie" Lumry and husband, Ray of San Angelo; son, Stephen Autov Shanks of Val Verde County; sister, Jimmie Burks; and two brothers, Charlie Shanks and Wade Shanks and wife, Dorothy all of Big Spring. Also surviving are five grandchildren, Jennifer Wallace and husband, Michael, and their children, Garrett Sestric and wife, Kristen, Karlee and Lauren Wallace of San Angelo, Rebecca Simmons and husband, James and their daughter, Ava of Ft. Worth; Clinton Shanks and Kristi Babcock and their children, Bailee Shanks, Chris and Bradley Babcock of McQueeney; Sarah White and husband, Jeremy and their children, Mara and Emory of San Antonio; and John Shanks and wife, Lisa of Wiley; three sisters-in-law, Florene Shanks, Doylean Shanks, and Charlene Shanks; and numerous nieces, nephews and a host of friends.

The family would like to thank all the caregivers from Kindred at Home and Hospice of San Angelo for the exceptional care that Autov received the last six weeks.

In lieu of flowers, we ask for donations to be made to Hospice of San Angelo, 36 E. Twohig Ave., Suite 1100, San Angelo, Texas 76903 or Sierra Vista United Methodist Church, 4522 College Hills Blvd., San Angelo, Texas 76904.

Windbreak Trees

Special to the Herald

Windbreaks are trees and shrubs systematically planted adjacent to fields, homesteads or feedlots as a barrier to reduce or redirect the wind. They create permanent, natural protection and habitat for wildlife, reduce erosion, and increase land value and natural beauty. Trees also play a role in noise abatement and help in reducing air pollution.

Each year the Howard Soil & Water Conservation District takes orders for windbreak tree seedlings. These seedlings are shipped from the West Texas Nursery which grows zone appropriate seedlings for the state of Texas. The seedlings are 12 to 14 inches in height and need to be protected from the elements in some way until they are big enough to fend for themselves. Many people use PVC pipes or fencing to protect the seedlings from animals, lawn mowers, etc. Seedlings can also be grown in 5 gallon buckets (with proper drainage) until they are large enough to transplant.

Water is critical for the young trees until they have developed an extensive root system. Adequate watering also speeds up their growth. Drip systems are the best method and can provide the amount of water needed without overwatering.

Windbreak trees now being ordered

A variety of Windbreak Tree seedlings in sets of 25 are now available for order. Delivered in March these seedlings are received from the Texas A&M Forest Service. Varieties include Afghanistan Pine, Austrian Pine, Italian Stone Pine, Oriental Arborvitae, Bur Oak, Catalpa, Chinkapin Oak, Green Ash, Pecan, and Shumard Oak. Sold in sets of 25 seedlings pre-paid orders can be taken at Howard SWCD. Orders need to be placed before February 21, 2019. Come by the office at 302 W. HWY I-20 to see price lists, place orders or obtain further information. The best time to reach the district clerk is between 8:00 am and 1:00 pm. Our phone number is 432-267-1871 ext. 3 or e-mail us at howard@swcd.texas.gov or Judith.Tereletsky@tx.nacdn.net.

Synagogue survivors recall ordeal; suspect is due in court

By MARYCLAIRE DALE, CLAUDIA LAUER and ALLEN G. BREED

Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — As Barry Werber walked into the Tree of Life Synagogue, he passed a cart carrying glassware and whiskey meant for the baby-naming ceremony scheduled at Dor Hadash, one of three small congregations that worship there.

He went downstairs, where his New Light Congregation meets, and found only a few people gathered. Melvin Wax, 88, was chatting up front with David Rosenthal, who had intellectual disabilities and spent hours helping out there. Rosenthal soon went upstairs for his own service at Tree of Life. Two other men, Daniel Stein and Richard Gottfried, were in the kitchen.

Minutes later, Werber found himself hiding in a dark storage closet after an anti-Semitic gunman tore through the building and opened fire, killing Wax, Rosenthal, Stein, Gottfried and seven others across two floors.

"I don't know why he thinks the Jews are responsible for all the ills in the world, but he's not the first and he won't be the last," Werber, 76, said Sunday. "Unfortunately, that's our burden to bear. It breaks my heart."

Werber's recollection was among the harrowing accounts that emerged from survivors as authorities worked to piece together the background and movements of the suspected gunman, Robert Gregory Bowers, who is due in federal court Monday. Prosecutors have set in motion plans to seek the death penalty.

The first funeral — for Rosenthal and his older brother, Cecil, also killed in the attack — is planned for Tuesday.

The weekend massacre spurred a number of fundraising efforts. A crowdfunding campaign called Muslims Unite for Pittsburgh Synagogue raised more than $90,000 for survivors and families, while a fundraiser led by a graduate student in Washington, D.C., had taken in nearly $545,000 as of Monday morning, with funds to go to the congregation.

Bowers killed eight men and three women before a tactical police team tracked him down and shot him, according to state and federal affidavits made public on Sunday.

He apparently posted an anti-Semitic message on a social media account linked to him just a few minutes before he opened fire. He expressed hatred of Jews during the rampage and later told police that "I just want to kill Jews" and that "all these Jews need to die," authorities said. The Anti-Defamation League called it the deadliest U.S. attack on Jews.

Six people were injured, including four officers.

It isn't clear whether Bowers, who underwent surgery and remains hospitalized, has an attorney to speak on his behalf. A message left with the federal public defender's office in Pittsburgh wasn't returned.

All three congregations were conducting Sabbath services when the attack began just before 10 a.m. Saturday in the tree-lined residential neighborhood of Squirrel Hill, about 10 minutes from downtown Pittsburgh and the hub of the city's Jewish community.

Speaking at a vigil in Pittsburgh on Sunday night, Tree of Life Rabbi Jeffrey Myers said about a dozen people had gathered in the main sanctuary when Bowers walked in and began shooting. Seven of his congregants were killed, he said.

"My holy place has been defiled," he said. In the basement, four members of New Light were just starting to pray — with the two others in the kitchen — when they heard crashing coming from upstairs, looked out the door and saw a body on the staircase, Werber recalled Sunday in an interview at his home.

Rabbi Jonathan Perlman closed the door and pushed them into a large supply closet, he said. As gunshots echoed upstairs, Werber called 911 but was afraid to say anything, for fear of making any noise.

When the shots subsided, he said, Wax opened the door, only to be shot and fall back inside.

"There were three shots, and he falls back into the room where we were," he said. "The gunman walks in."

Apparently unable to see Werber and the other congregants in the darkness, Bowers walked back out.

Werber called the gunman "a maniac" and "a person who has no control of his baser instincts."

Perlman, who also spoke at the vigil Sunday night, said New Light lost three congregants.

"These three men, they cannot be replaced," said Perlman, his voice breaking. "But we will not be broken. We will not be ruined."

Rabbi Myers, who helped get police to the scene by making an emergency call, said Monday on ABC's "Good Morning America" that he didn't always make a habit of carrying a cell phone on the Sabbath — until August, when a security expert advised him to do so.

Officials in Austin lift boil-water notice

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Officials in Austin, Texas, have lifted a boil-water notice implemented after the city's water supply was filled with silt, mud and debris after recent heavy rains and flooding.

A statement on the city website said the notice was rescinded as of 3 p.m. Sunday after the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality reported test results showed the city's tap water met purity standards.

However, restrictions on water use for outdoor irrigation, filling pools or spas, operating ornamental fountains, and washing homes and vehicles remain in place.

The rescinding comes a day after the West Travis County Public Utility Agency lifted its boil-water notice. That decision Saturday affected eight water utilities serving western and southern Austin suburbs.

The notices were issued Oct. 22 after silt from flooded Colorado River lakes filled water intakes.

No trials in Texas biker fight until new prosecutor starts

WACO, Texas (AP) — A Texas judge has delayed the second trial stemming from a chaotic 2015 shooting outside a Waco restaurant involving rival biker clubs and police that left nine people dead.

The decision to postpone the Nov. 5 trial of Timothy Shayne Satterwhite on riot and weapons charges means the year will end without anyone standing trial over the deadliest biker shooting in U.S. history.

More than 150 people were indicted following the mayhem at the Twin Peaks restaurant in Waco, but the majority of cases have been dismissed. The only case that went to trial ended last year with jurors deadlocked.

The Waco Tribune-Herald reports the postponement of Satterwhite's case could indicate it's heading toward a settlement under a new district attorney scheduled to take office in January.

2 injured with burns after explosion levels Austin home

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Authorities say an explosion that leveled an Austin home and sent two people to the hospital with critical burns may have been caused by natural gas.

Austin Fire Division Chief Thayer Smith says preliminary signs point toward a natural gas explosion causing Saturday's blast, which sent debris flying into neighboring yards and ripped off siding of an adjacent house.

The two people injured, a man in his 50s and a woman in her 40s, were expected to survive. Aerial pictures show the house flattened with wood and roofing scattered into the street.

Thayer said no other homes in the neighborhood are believed to be at risk.

Bird scooters arrive in El Paso; city orders confiscation

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Electric scooters have arrived in El Paso, and city officials aren't happy about it.

The El Paso Times reports that the California-based company Bird appears to have dropped off its scooters Friday in downtown and on the campus of the University of Texas-El Paso. The newspaper says Bird beat a local service, Glide Scooter Sharing, that said in October that it would soon start rentals.

El Paso's planning and inspections director has instructed code enforcement officers to confiscate any Bird scooters they see.

That follows the pattern in other cities as electric scooters proliferate: Companies drop off scooters without warning and many city governments push back, sometimes with legal action.

Bird told the newspaper that it would "look forward to growing a partnership with city officials and community leaders." It declined to comment about the apparent city order to stop operating. El Paso is not listed on its website as a city where it's currently operating.

Texas, N.M. arrests made in death of Nebraska man found in street

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Police say three people have been arrested in connection with the death of a Lincoln man killed earlier this month.

Wilson

Police say in a news release that 27-year-old James Richard Howard, of Lincoln, was arrested in Leon County, Texas, on Friday. He's charged in a Nebraska warrant with being an accessory to a felony in the death of 42-year-old Stacy Talbot.

Police say 32-year-old Jesse James Wilson and 34-year-old Sherry Lynn Thomas, both of Lincoln, were arrested Saturday in Clovis, New Mexico. Wilson is charged with theft, and Thomas is charged with attempt of a felony in an unrelated case.

Police didn't detail what roles those arrested are suspected of having in Talbot's death.

Talbot was found Oct. 18 in a Lincoln street with a gunshot wound to the chest. He was pronounced dead at a Lincoln hospital.

Texas attorney general favored to win despite indictment

In this June 22, 2017 file photo, Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton speaks at a news conference in Dallas. Three years ago, criminal charges against Paxton appeared to put his political future in peril. But the Republican enters November's midterm elections favored to win a second term while remaining under indictment.

By PAUL J. WEBER

Associated Press

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Three years ago, criminal charges against Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton appeared to put his political future in peril.

He is still under indictment, having pleaded not guilty to two felony counts of securities fraud. But now the Republican is favored to win a second term in November, his wife is on the cusp of becoming a state senator and President Donald Trump singled him out as doing a "great job" at a recent midterm rally in Houston.

Although not the only incumbent running under indictment this year — two Republican congressmen, Reps. Duncan Hunter of California and Chris Collins of New York are also seeking re-election while facing separate federal charges — Paxton has approached Election Day having regained his footing within the GOP. His Democratic opponent, Justin Nelson, meanwhile, is doing all he can to tell voters that Texas' top law enforcement officer still faces a felony trial.

Paxton has laid low in his campaign, sticking mostly to Republican-friendly events and largely avoiding the media. His durability is testimony to both the Trump effect of aligning close with the combative president and the considerable edge Republicans have in Texas, even as Democratic Rep. Beto O'Rourke gives GOP Sen. Ted Cruz a real re-election challenge.

"You have an attorney general who doesn't stop. He's tough. He's smart. He collects more money for this state, Ken Paxton. You're doing a great job, Ken," Trump said at a rally Monday.

Paxton's campaign did not respond to multiple requests for comment or interviews for this story. Paxton has also refused to debate Nelson, a lawyer who is staking his campaign on reminding voters of Paxton's indictment at every turn and has plastered the attorney general's August 2015 jail mugshot on highway billboards.

Paxton is accused of duping wealthy investors in a high-tech startup in 2011, four years before being elected attorney general. Prosecutors say he pressured investors, including friends and a Texas lawmaker, to put their money into a data storage company called Servery while failing to disclose that he was being paid by the company. Paxton's attorneys argue that he was under no obligation to do so, and a federal judge last year dismissed a lawsuit brought by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission that was nearly identical to the criminal case.

If convicted, Paxton faces five to 99 years in prison.

Bulldogs beat Stanton 49-14 for first district win

By JORDAN PARR
Sports Editor

Coahoma improved their district record to 1-2 last Friday night on the road at Stanton. After an early score by the Buffaloes, the Bulldogs responded and dominated the rest of the game. With a balanced attack on offense and a stellar performance on defense, Coahoma put together one of their most complete games of the season up to this point. With their win over the Buffaloes the Bulldogs improved to 3-5 on the season and have a great chance of making the playoffs if they continue to improve.

Schneider, who was six of ten for 171 yards and two touchdowns through the air, found his rhythm in the passing game with the help of his tight end Gage Clark who had 133 receiving yards and two scores in the contest. On the ground Schneider and Murillo got back on pace, the pair chewed up 344 yards and combined for five touchdowns with their legs in the win. All-in-all the Bulldogs offense played great and put up a staggering 559 yards of total offense with 388 yards on the ground and another 171 through the air.

Stanton racked up some yards in the game, the Buffaloes picked up 328 total yards of offense and converted 19 first downs against Coahoma on Friday night. However, the Bulldogs' defense played a great bend but don't break type of game keeping the Buffaloes out of the end zone most of the night. Coahoma's defense also forced Stanton to turn the ball over five times on offense and won the turnover battle five to two. With their offense clicking and their defense playing stout all night, the Bulldogs were just too much for the Buffaloes to handle and the game was all but over by the end of the third quarter.

In the first quarter it was a defensive battle back and forth till Stanton got on the scoreboard first with a 9 yard touchdown run Tim Avila. The score by Avila put the Buffaloes up 7-0 on the Bulldogs with just 3:45 left in the opening quarter. Coahoma couldn't find an answer in the first period and headed into the second quarter trailing 7-0.

In the second quarter the Bulldogs found their footing on offense and got into the end zone on their first possession of the second quarter on a 8 yard power run by Isaac Murillo. Coahoma failed to convert the extra point and still trailed 7-6 with 11:19 remaining in the half. After getting a big stop on defense the Bulldogs got the ball right back.

With another chance to take the lead, Schneider made Stanton pay, scoring on 45 yard touchdown run to give Coahoma their first lead of the game at 14-7 with 4:03 left in the half. But the Bulldogs weren't done yet, on their next possession Murillo found pay dirt for the second time in the half on an outstanding 54 yard touchdown scamper to close out the half up 21-7 with Pedro Paxaio adding the extra point.

In the third quarter Coahoma continued where they left off in the first half and took the ball right down the field on the first possession and scored again. This time it was Schneider who once again found his way across the goal line on a 15 yard keeper for his second rushing touchdown of the game. The Bulldogs extended their lead to 28-7 with 9:09 left in the third after Paxaio added the extra point.

Coahoma got the ball back quickly from the Buffaloes and on the first play of the drive Schneider gashed the Stanton defense for a huge 76 yard touchdown run to put the game out of reach at 35-7 with 7:45 left in the third.

The bidding:

Pass	3 NT

Opening lead — ten of spades.

This deal occurred in the final of the 2008 U.S. Bridge Championship to determine the team that would represent America in the World Mind Sports Games in Beijing. The victorious squad — Chris Compton, Richard Freeman, Bob Hamman, Jeff Meckstroth, Nick Nickell and Eric Rodwell — overcame a 33-IMP half-time deficit in the deciding match against a team led by Aubrey Strul.

The deal, which aided the second-half rally by the winners, demonstrates the key role judgment plays at the highest levels of the game.

When the hand was first played,

Meckstroth wound up in three notrump as shown, and West led the ten of spades. Meckstroth ducked, won the second spade and cashed his clubs, discarding two hearts and two diamonds from dummy.

East, Lew Stansby, could see that if he discarded a spade, South could then simply concede a heart to the ace to establish his ninth trick. So Stansby threw three low diamonds followed by the heart deuce, hoping these discards might lure declarer into taking a losing diamond finesse, which would yield a two-trick set.

But Meckstroth, crediting Stansby with the diamond king for his opening bid, next led a diamond to the ace, felling the king, and finished with 10 tricks.

At the other table, Mike Becker also wound up in three notrump, but West had not supported spades, which proved critical. West also led the spade ten, ducked by Becker, who won the next spade and cashed his clubs.

But at this table, Freeman, East, discarded two diamonds, a heart and a spade. Becker now could have led a heart to the king to make his contract, but he feared East had started with six spades and still had three of them.

If this were true, it meant East now held the singleton king of diamonds, so Becker led a diamond to the ace. When the king did not fall, the defense had the rest of the tricks for down one and an 11-IMP gain.

Mercury and Jupiter Conjunction

The conjunction of Mercury and Jupiter hang the possibility of good fortune on matters of communication. Everyone has different triggers and hot buttons. What offends one person is perfectly acceptable or funny to the next. Polite company may not show disdain. So for honest feedback, test new ways of interacting on impolite company.

ARIES

(March 21-April 19). The general consensus may be generally wrong. Luckily, you're in no mood to listen to them today. You'll make a decision based on what you feel, and popular opinion will not sway you.

TAURUS

(April 20-May 20). Maybe it's not always so important whether a particular belief is totally accurate or not. Is the belief useful? Does it make you better? Is it better for those around you? Helpful beliefs make things flow easily.

GEMINI

(May 21-June 21). You were taught about the heroes that came before you, and it's now pretty clear that you weren't getting the whole story. The ugly side of history can be hard to reconcile, so hold on to the glimmers of benevolence.

CANCER

(June 22-July 22). You're in a private mood. Plus, there's just no benefit to bragging. You'd rather lock your enviable accomplishments and beautiful pictures in a safe than put them on the internet.

LEO

(July 23-Aug. 22). If you've never heard of someone like you pursuing a goal, or you think the feat is just impossible, you'll shut yourself off from the possibilities, thus ensuring that the event will not occur. But all it takes is one example to set you in motion.

VIRGO

(Aug. 23-Sept. 22). In some moments, life will be like watching a classic movie with scenes that

TODAY'S

BIRTHDAY (Oct. 29). You'll perform good deeds, as always, without hope of reward. But you'll be rewarded anyway, and publicly if you're not careful. Though fame means nothing to you, your stellar reputation will open doors for loved ones. This gets the finances flowing, and life gets easier. June brings a big celebration. Gemini and Pisces adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 1, 19, 7, 26 and 41.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTION:

"I was born July 20, 1964, and have been dating a woman born Dec. 29, 1973. We've had a rocky relationship. We both know that we need to cut our ties and move on but haven't been able to. What's our problem?"

There's a strong parent-child component to the Cancer-Capricorn pairing. This creates ties so familiar -- hence family -- and you know how it goes with that kooky clan. It can get real dysfunctional quick-like. Just think of Thanksgiving. Someone inevitably overcooks the turkey, prompting a snarky comment during the toast, and soon everyone lapses into the kind of habitual behavior reserved for family. Yet there's something comfortable about this pairing, and the sense is you both could settle into this relationship for a long time. Your ruling planetary bodies, the moon and Saturn, both enjoy the stability of a nested relationship. And if it's a little dysfunctional -- heck, that feels just like home, too. The trick to making this work is not letting lax behavior, parent-child dynamics or acting out cannibalize the good stuff you do share. This relationship shows you both your familiar, unconscious patterns. What you do with this information is up to you.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Thought for Today:

American broadcast journalist

THIS DATE IN HISTORY

Today is Monday, Oct. 29, the 302nd day of 2018. There are 63 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:
On Oct. 29, 1929, "Black Tuesday" descended upon the New York Stock Exchange. Prices collapsed amid panic selling and thousands of investors were wiped out as America's "Great Depression" began.

On this date:
In 1618, Sir Walter Raleigh, the English courtier, military adventurer and poet, was executed in London for treason.
In 1787, the opera "Don Giovanni" by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart had its world premiere in Prague.
In 1901, President William McKinley's assassin, Leon Czolgosz (CHAWL-gahsh), was electrocuted.
In 1923, the Republic of Turkey was proclaimed.
In 1956, during the Suez Canal crisis, Israel invaded Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. "The Huntley-Brinkley Report" premiered as NBC's nightly television newscast.
In 1960, a chartered plane carrying the California Polytechnic State University football team crashed on takeoff from Toledo, Ohio, killing 22 of the 48 people on board.
In 1964, thieves made off with the Star of India and other gems from the American Museum of Natural History in New York. (The Star and most of the other gems were recovered; three men were convicted of stealing them.)
In 1979, on the 50th anniversary of the great stock market crash, anti-nuclear protesters tried but failed to shut down the New York Stock Exchange.
In 1987, following the confirmation defeat of Robert H. Bork to serve on the U.S. Supreme Court, President Ronald Reagan announced his choice of Douglas H. Ginsburg, a nomination that fell apart over revelations of Ginsburg's previous marijuana use. Jazz great Woody Herman died in Los Angeles at age 74.
In 1998, Sen. John Glenn, at age 77, roared back into space aboard the shuttle Discovery, retracing the trail he'd blazed for America's astronauts 36 years earlier.
In 2004, Osama bin Laden, in a videotaped statement, directly admitted for the first time that he'd ordered the

Sept. 11 attacks and told America "the best way to avoid another Manhattan" was to stop threatening Muslims' security.

In 2012, Superstorm Sandy slammed ashore in New Jersey and slowly marched inland, devastating coastal communities and causing widespread power outages; the storm and its aftermath were blamed for at least 182 deaths in the U.S.

Ten years ago: A 6.4-magnitude earthquake in southwestern Pakistan killed at least 215 people. Nearly 50 hours after Game 5 started but was stopped by rain, the Philadelphia Phillies finished off the Tampa Bay Rays 4-3 in a three-inning sprint to win the World Series for the first time since 1980.

Five years ago: Medicare chief Marilyn Tavenner, whose agency oversaw the "Obamacare" enrollment website, apologized to Congress for the severe technical problems that marred the online rollout of President Barack Obama's health care overhaul. The U.N. confirmed an outbreak of polio in Syria for the first time in over a decade, warning the disease threatened to spread among an estimated half a million children who had never been immunized because of the civil war.

One year ago: All but 10 members of the Houston Texans took a knee during the national anthem, reacting to a remark from team owner Bob McNair to other NFL owners that "we can't have the inmates running the prison." The head of Puerto Rico's power company said the agency was cancelling its $300 million contract with a tiny Montana company to restore the island's power system; the company was based in the hometown of Interior Secretary Ryan Zinke. Dennis Banks, who helped found the American Indian Movement and took part in sometimes-violent uprisings against the U.S. government, died at the age of 80.

King totals 7 TDs, Houston beats No. 21 USF 57-36

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Houston coach Major Applewhite said quarterback D'Eriq King was everything the Cougars thought he could be and more. King showed that Saturday. King had a hand in a career-high seven touchdowns, throwing for 419 yards and five scores and running for 134 yards and two more touchdowns in Houston's 57-36 victory over No. 21 South Florida.

King threw touchdown passes of 15, 38, 30, 52 and 27 yards and had scoring runs of 47 and 36 yards. He finished 28 of 41 passing.

"If you don't have a tough quarterback, you're going to struggle as a football team, and he's very tough," Applewhite said. "He's one of the best competitors, if not the best competitor, that I've ever been around. He plays his butt off. I mean, he jumps over people, he tries to run through people. He does whatever he needs to do."

Marquez Stevenson caught six passes for 106 yards and two touchdowns, Jeremy Singleton had five receptions for 125 yards and a touchdown and Courtney Lark caught four passes for 85 yards before exiting early in the fourth quarter with an injury. Houston (7-1, 4-0 American) won its fifth straight, totaling a season-high 684 yards of offense.

Johnny Ford rushed for 106 yards and two touchdowns, and Jordan Cronkrite rushed for 73 yards and a touchdown to lead USF (7-1, 3-1), which saw its eight-game winning streak snapped. Blake Barnett finished 26 of 39 for 263 yards and a touchdown.

"When you lose a game the way we just lost, it was just totally embarrassing," USF coach Charlie Strong said.

Houston quarterback D'Eriq King (4) looks to pass during the first half of an NCAA college football game against South Florida, Saturday, Oct. 27, 2018, in Houston.

"We are a better football team than we showed today. You can't give up five touchdown throws."

After a safety on King for intentional grounding in the end zone, USF cut the lead to 28-26 on a 23-yard field goal by Coby Weiss with 10:47 remaining in the third quarter, but the Bulls would not get any closer.

"Offensively, for the most part, we played our most complete game besides the turnovers and the two field goals," Barnett said. "If we were more efficient in the red zone, that would have helped us a lot."

King responded by breaking four tackles up the middle, spinning out of the final tackle, on a 4th and 7 for the 36-yard touchdown run to give Houston a 35-26 lead with 8:25 remaining in the third.

"The whole time in my head I'm thinking, 'Man, I've got to make a play right here,'" King said. "The offensive line made some great blocks, and I just made a couple of guys miss, and the rest is history."

After USF cut the lead to six with a field goal, King hit Jeremy Singleton for a 52-yard touchdown pass before converting on a two-point conversion pass from Bryson Smith to Singleton to up the lead to 43-29 with 2:43 left in the third.

USF cut the lead in half with a 39-yard touchdown pass from Barnett to Deangelo Antoine with 36 seconds left in the third, but Mulbah Car rushed for an 11-yard touchdown a minute into the fourth to up the lead back to

THE TAKEAWAY

USF: The Bulls rebounded from another sluggish start to tie the game twice in the second quarter but were unable to stop King. USF rushed for 176 yards in the first half, but were held to 28 yards in the second half.

"When you play on the road and play a really good football team, you have to get turnovers and you can't turn the ball over," Strong said. "It's hard to match scores and it's hard to just play catch up, and that's all we did."

Houston: The Cougars' offense led by King was able to beat USF both in the air and on the ground. Houston had six rushers total 265 yards. The defense forced two fourth quarter turnovers to seal the win.

OLIVER OUT

Houston All-American defensive tackle Ed Oliver missed the first game of his career Saturday with a bruised right knee. Oliver, who has 51 tackles, 13 1/2 tackles for loss and three sacks this season, saw his streak of 32 straight starts end. Applewhite said there was no decision on whether Oliver would play next week.

"We all love Ed, and we want Ed to play, but I thought this was a huge win for our team from a morale standpoint, a confidence standpoint," Applewhite said.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

With the loss, South Florida will likely drop out of the Top 25. Houston, which received votes in the poll this week, should receive more votes and could possibly sneak in.

Cornelius leads Oklahoma State past No. 6 Texas, 38-35

By JOHN TRANCHINA

STILLWATER, Okla. — Taylor Cornelius had received his share of local criticism after Oklahoma State lost two straight contests, with some people calling for him to be pulled from the starting lineup.

But Cornelius rebounded in a big way Saturday night, throwing three touchdown passes and running for two scores, the last with 5:44 remaining, to help Oklahoma State beat No. 6 Texas 38-35.

"Corn Dog's a tough guy, he's a competitor," said Oklahoma State coach Mike Gundy of Cornelius. "He's got a good demeanor, he's tough, he's unselfish, the team loves him. He was good tonight. He needed to come back and do well."

Cornelius completed 23 of 34 passes for 321 yards, and his scoring run on third-and-10 gave Oklahoma State (5-3, 2-3 Big 12) a 38-28 lead after its 31-14 halftime advantage had been whittled down to just three points.

"It was just a zone read, I pulled it and did my best to get in," Cornelius said of that touchdown.

Tylan Wallace had 10 receptions for 222 yards and two touchdowns. It was the Cowboys' fourth straight over Texas and seventh in their last nine meetings.

"He is a special player," offensive coordinator Mike Yurcich said of Wallace. "He's got a knack for timing his jump up so he plays a lot taller than what he is, especially on vertical throws. The bigger the game, it seems the bigger he is going to play. He is just the guy that is very dependable."

For Texas (6-2, 4-1), Sam Ehlinger returned from a shoulder injury suffered in the previous game. After struggling a bit in the first half, Ehlinger completed 17 of 27 passes for 175 yards and two touchdowns in the second half. He also rushed for 47 yards and two touchdowns on 10 carries.

"We just started playing our football," said Ehlinger of the turnaround in the second half. "We've learned throughout the course of the season that when we play our best, no one can stop us, and we have to capture that and play like that 100 percent of the time, not just at the end of the game."

Tre Watson's 1-yard touchdown run with 1:46 remaining pulled Texas to 38-35, but Dillon Stoner recovered the ensuing onside kick for Oklahoma State. The Cowboys were then able to run out the clock after Cornelius gained a first down on third-and-4 with an 8-yard rush.

"Extremely proud of the way that our guys fought in the second half"

The Bulldogs got another quick stop on defense on the ensuing Stanton possession and took over looking to put the game on ice once and for all. Schneider did just that hooking up with his tight-end Gage Clark on a nice 43 yard catch and run to put the game completely out of reach at 42-7 with 3:19 left in the quarter. On their next possession the Buffaloes did show some fight and put together a nice scoring drive capped off by a 15 yard TD run by Devan Simpson to cut the Coahoma lead to 42-14 with just 46 seconds left in the third.

In the fourth quarter the Bulldogs offense responded right away as Schneider found Clark again, this time for an 81 yard strike that ended with Clark in the end zone for the second time in as many possessions to cap off the blow out win and push the lead to 49-14 with 11:21 left in the game. Neither team scored the rest of the contest as the Coahoma defense stiffened and their offense ran the ball to shorten the game. The big district win put the Bulldogs right back in the playoff race and guaranteed them a playoff birth with a win over either Colorado City or Lubbock

Roosevelt in the next two weeks.

Coahoma will travel to Colorado City next week with their eye on doing just that. If they can keep the balance they found against this Buffaloes this week the Bulldogs have a great opportunity to do just that.

Mississippi State upsets No. 16 Texas A&M, 28-13

By DAVID BRANDT

AP Sports Writer

STARKVILLE, Miss. — One week after arguably the worst game of his college career, Nick Fitzgerald made throws that had a little extra zip to them. The decisions were a little quicker. The running had more purpose.

In short, Mississippi State's quarterback had his mojo back.

And the Bulldogs responded with an impressive upset win.

Fitzgerald threw for 241 yards and two touchdowns and ran for two more scores to lead the Bulldogs over No. 16 Texas A&M 28-13 on Saturday night.

The victory by Mississippi State (5-3, 2-3 Southeastern Conference) can be attributed largely to an unexpected boost from its passing game, which was among the least productive in the SEC coming into the night. One game after throwing four interceptions in a miserable loss to LSU, Fitzgerald completed 14 of 22 passes, including several big gains that swung the game in favor of the Bulldogs.

"I'm happy for every single person in our program, but I'm most happy for that kid, because he deserves it," Mississippi State coach Joe Moorhead said. "That's the way we expect Fitzgerald to play."

The biggest offensive moment was an 84-yard strike to Stephen Guidry on third-and-21 that set up a 1-yard touchdown run by Fitzgerald and gave the Bulldogs a 21-13 lead early in the fourth quarter.

Moorhead and Fitzgerald said the passing game's revival was something that had to happen if the Bulldogs were going to remain competitive in the SEC. The LSU loss might have looked hideous, but there was no sense in letting the same game beat the program twice.

"We had to take responsibility," Fitzgerald said. "We had to actively do something different in practice to improve it. We had to actively try our hardest to improve the passing game and improve the relationship between me and the receivers."

At least for one week, mission accomplished.

Mississippi State's defense was excellent as it's been all season, and Erroll Thompson's interception in the end zone with 2:36 remaining — along with Fitzgerald's 76-yard touchdown run on the ensuing drive — sealed the victory.

Texas A&M (5-3, 3-2) had its three-game winning streak snapped. Kellen Mond completed 23 of 46 passes for 232 yards, one touchdown and one interception. The Aggies had just 61 yards rushing.

Mississippi State's surprising ability to throw the ball started on the opening drive. Fitzgerald completed 6 of 7 passes for 59 yards, including a 25-yard touchdown to Stephen Guidry for a 7-0 lead. It was the team's first passing touchdown in more than four SEC games.

Texas A&M rallied to take a 10-7 lead into halftime but didn't score a touchdown in the second half. The Aggies might have had more success in the first half, but several dropped passes hurt promising drives.

"We had anywhere from seven to 10 drops off the top of my head and you just can't do that," Texas A&M coach Jimbo Fisher said. "It changes the whole dynamic of what you can do. It has a cumulative effect."

THE TAKEAWAY

Texas A&M had some good moments but was rarely able to hit on the big plays that could have turned the momentum. Mond missed on a few long throws and the receivers had several drops. Trayveon Williams, who came into the game with 798 yards rushing, had just 26 yards on the ground. The Aggies' defense played OK but couldn't get off the field on third down.

"We gave up a lot of big plays," Fisher said. "And a lot of them were on third down."

It was a huge game for Mississippi State's offense, which looked completely overmatched against LSU. If the Bulldogs are able to pass like this the rest of the season, there could be several more wins remaining on the schedule.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

There's no doubt Texas A&M's loss will send it tumbling in the polls. The Aggies' first two losses — to No. 1 Alabama and No. 2 Clemson — were certainly understandable. Losing by more than two touchdowns to Mississippi State is a little more of an eye-opener.

"When we pulled to within three with 11 minutes left, I don't think there was any doubt in anyone's mind on that sideline that we were going to win the game. But we didn't, and we didn't play our best down the stretch."

TAKEAWAY

Texas: After a lot of speculation all week about whether Ehlinger would play coming off a shoulder injury to his throwing arm in Texas' last game, a 23-17 win over Baylor on Oct. 13, the sophomore quarterback did start, but struggled early. He completed just 2 of his first 8 passes for 29 yards through the first quarter-plus of the game, missing open receivers several times, and was just 5 of 15 for 108 yards in the first half, as Texas dug itself a 31-14 hole by halftime. Ehlinger was much better in the second half, sparking the Longhorn comeback attempt.

Oklahoma State: The Cowboys once again got off to a strong start (they led at some point early in each of their three losses this season) and demonstrated some uncharacteristic aggressiveness on offense. Two of Cornelius' touchdown passes, of 17 and 36 yards, came on 4th-and-1 situations, and another time on 4th-and-1, a fake punt threat resulted in a Texas offside penalty and a first down. While the Cowboys again had trouble offensively in the second half, scoring fewer than 10 points after the break for the fourth time this year, they were able to pull it out in the end. Two missed field goals by Matt Ammendola (from makeable distances of 41 and 38 yards) also hurt.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

The loss will likely drop Texas out of the top 10, but they shouldn't fall much farther than that, considering it was such a close game and they very nearly pulled off the big comeback.

TURNING POINT

Oklahoma State went 3-and-out on the possession after Texas pulled to within 31-28 early in the fourth quarter, but Zach Sinor boomed a punt 57 yards to the Texas 9-yard-line, where Brandon Jones caught it and then ran backwards before the Cowboys pinned him down at the 2. On third-and-9, it looked like Ehlinger completed a 19-yard pass to Lil'Jordan Humphrey, but a holding penalty on guard Patrick Vahe nullified that play and Texas ended up punting. A 10-yard return by Dillon Stoner gave Oklahoma State the ball on the Texas 35-yard-line, and six plays later, Cornelius scored the Cowboys' only touchdown of the second half to make it 38-28.

UP NEXT

Texas: The Longhorns return home to take on No. 13 West Virginia in a game that could wind up being a preview of the Big 12 Championship Game.
