 A new Justice of the Peace, Pct. 1 Place 2 has been officially sworn in. At 1 p.m. Friday, Mike Averette was sworn in as the new Justice of the Peace to fill the unexpired term of former JP Pct. 2 Robert Fitzgibbons. The short ceremony took place in the Third Floor Courtroom at the Howard County Courthouse.
 "I've loved working and serving in the jail, but I needed a new means of which to serve," Averette said. "The JP's office is a great place to do that. It's boots on the ground judge."
 Averette has been employed with the Howard County Sheriff's Department for 19 years and for the past 15 years has served as the Chief Jailer. Upon

West Texas Centers Awarded Grant for Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services

Special to the Herald
 West Texas Centers
 West Texas Centers will receive a $2.8 million federal grant for the Care Coordination and Expanded Co-Occurring Psychiatric and Substance Use Disorders (COPSD) Project to advance mental and behavioral health in the midst of the coronavirus pandemic, U.S. Senator John Cornyn announced.
 The funding comes from the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services (HHS) through the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA).
 "With the ongoing mental health challenges brought on by COVID-19, resources for mental health and substance abuse treatment providers cannot fall by the wayside," Sen. Cornyn said. "I applaud this investment in Big Spring residents health, and I will continue supporting efforts to strengthen these critical services."
 Cornyn, a Republican from Texas, is a member of the Senate Finance, Intelligence, and Judiciary Committees.
 The two projects funded through the grant will address expanded care coordination services and COPSD SUD services more commonly known as co-occurring psychiatric and substance use disorder services, said Shelley Smith, West Texas Centers CEO.
 West Texas Centers was chosen from a hearing of the application process opening, he submitted his resume and went through the interview process.

Averette's background as a jailer will aide him in his new endeavor, as he brings knowledge of the operating systems, software, legal and criminal process. While his new duties will be able to utilize this previous background knowledge, his new duties will also include probates, bond setting, magistrature, handle truancy, small claims court, evictions and more.

"This is a new experience for me. I have the privilege of appointment by the Sheriff; starting the 22nd I will have the burden of elected office, and realize the constituents are my boss. I will serve the constituents of Pct. 1 Place 2," Averette said.

He continued, "I am a Christian man and want to carry that over into how I serve in the office and serve God, my country and my county as a whole."

Averette will officially take the office of JP Pct. 1 Place 2 on March 22, until then he will be serving dual roles. He will serve out the remainder of the term and look to the file when the term comes back up for election.

pool of 98 applicants at the national level, Smith said. This expansion grant will help implement and provide care coordination services to child, adolescent, and adult clients who have mental health conditions and chronic medical conditions.

Care coordination services are meant to improve the integration of primary care, behavioral healthcare and substance use disorder services, Smith said.

"Care coordination relies on a team of professionals who are involved in a person's care that collaboratively works to assess and meet the holistic healthcare needs of the individual in services," she said.

"One of the main focuses of care coordination is to help the individual in services efficiently navigate through the complex and often confusing healthcare system in their area."

Many times care coordination will include assisting individuals in navigating between different combinations of physical health, psychiatric and substance use treatment services they are receiving.

Effective care coordination is knowing how to help an individual receive the appropriate services, at the right time, and the right place, Smith said.

"Expanded COPSD services will help increase needed access to substance use disorder services in our area," Smith said.

Services will be provided to individuals who have co-occurring mental health needs and substance use disorder needs. Mental health professionals trained in COPSD and Licensed Chemical Dependency Counselor (LCDC) staff will help individuals work towards recovery within the community in which they live and will help the individual get set up with residential SUD treatment as needed.

The program also will provide Co-Occurring Psychiatric and Substance Use Disorders (COPSD) services to adults ages 18 and older. The funding creates job opportunities for this program for the following positions: Care Coordinator-Registered Nurse, Care Coordinator-Qualified Mental Health Professional (QMHP), Medical Assistant, Data Analyst, Substance Use Disorder (SUD) Program Director, Substance Use Disorder Qualified Mental Health Professional (SUD-QMHP), and Substance Use Disorder Licensed Chemical Dependency Counselor (SUD-LCDC).

West Texas Centers was recently designated as a national Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinic (CCBHC). Since the certification, several local stakeholders, educational institutes, healthcare providers and community organizations have signed Memos of Understanding (MOU's) in support of the CCBHC program.

The funding of this grant delivers the much needed healthcare services for individuals in 23 rural counties covering an area of 25,000 square miles, Smith said.

Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have arrested and charged two men with assaulting U.S. Capitol Police officer Brian Sicknick with bear spray during the Jan. 6 riot, but they do not know yet whether it caused the officer's death.

George Tanios, 39, of Morgantown, West Virginia, and Julian Khater, 32, of Pennsylvania, were arrested Sunday. They were expected to appear in federal court Monday. The idea that Sicknick died after being sprayed by a chemical irritant has emerged in recent weeks as a new theory in the case.

The arrests are the closest federal prosecutors have come to identifying and charging anyone associated with the deaths that happened during and after the riot. Five people died, including a woman who was shot by a police officer inside the Capitol. But many rioters are facing charges of injuring police officers, who were attacked with bats, sprayed with irritants, punched and kicked, and rammed with metal gates meant to keep the insurrectionists from the Capitol.

Investigators initially believed that Sicknick was hit in the head with a fire extinguisher, based on statements collected early in the investigation, according to two people familiar with the case. But as they've collected more evidence, the theory of the case has evolved and investigators now believe Sicknick may have ingested a chemical substance — possibly bear spray — that may have contributed to his death, officials have said.

Khater is the man in a video obtained by the FBI that showed him spraying Sicknick and others with bear spray, according to court papers.

"Give me that bear (expletive), Khater said to Tanios on the video, according to court papers. Sicknick and other officers were standing guard near metal bike racks, the papers say.

Khater then says, "they just (expletive) sprayed me," as he's seen holding a white can with a black top that prosecutors said "appears to be a can of chemical spray."

After he sprayed the officers, they "immediately retreat from the line, bring their hands to their faces and rush to find water to wash out their eyes," according to the court papers.

The two suspects were in custody, and the names of their lawyers weren't immediately clear.

Sicknick died after defending the Capitol against the mob that stormed the building as Congress was voting to certify Joe Biden's electoral win over Donald Trump. It came after Trump urged supporters on the National Mall to "fight like hell" to overturn his defeat.

The circumstances surrounding Sicknick's death remain unclear, and a final cause of death has not been determined. Capitol Police have said he died after he was injured "while physically engaging with protesters" and the agency's acting chief said officials consider it a line-of-duty death.

Sicknick collapsed later on and died at a hospital on Jan. 7. The Justice Department opened a federal murder investigation into his death, but prosecutors are still evaluating what other specific charges could be brought in the case and the probe continues, officials have said.

The medical examiner's report on Sicknick's death is incomplete. Capitol Police say they are awaiting toxicology results.

The FBI has already released about 250 photos of people being sought for assaulting federal law enforcement officers during the riot.

South emerges as flashpoint of brewing redistricting battle

By NICHOLAS RICCARDI

Associated Press

The partisan showdown over redistricting has hardly begun, but already both sides agree on one thing: It largely comes down to the South.

The states from North Carolina to Texas are set to be premier battlegrounds for the once-a-decade fight over redrawing political boundaries. That's thanks to a population boom, mostly one-party rule and a new legal landscape that removes federal oversight and delays civil rights challenges.

It's a collision of factors likely to tilt the scales in the GOP's favor with dramatic impact: Experts note the new maps in the South alone could knock Democrats out of power in the U.S. House next year -- and perhaps well beyond.

"The South is really going to stand out," said Ryan Weichelt, a geography professor at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire who tracks redistricting.

Of the 10 new congressional seats expected this year, six are likely to be in Southern states, with one new one expected in North Carolina, two in Florida and three in Texas.

Republicans control the legislatures in those states, leaving them with near total say over what those new districts will look like — a sharp contrast to other parts of the country where state governments are either divided or where nonpartisan commissions are tasked with redrawing congressional and state legislative lines.

Finally, this will be the first time in more than 50 years the Justice Department will not automatically review new legislative maps in nine mostly Southern states to ensure they do not discriminate.

"It is a very different landscape from the one that it's been for 50-plus years," said Deuel Ross, senior counsel at the NAACP Legal Defense Fund.

Republicans are under added pressure to bolster their political standing in the region as its population has grown, largely due to an influx of Democratic-leaning newcomers. That's weakened the GOP's grip, highlighted most dramatically in Georgia, where Democrats just won a presidential race and two Senate races.

The party is already eyeing targets. In Georgia, they can choose whether to target Democratic Reps. Lucy McBath or Carolyn Boudreaux or both by adding more conservative voters from far north of Atlanta to the two lawmakers' districts.

In Florida, they could try to swamp

Democratic Rep. Stephanie Murphy's district with new GOP voters as they carve out a new seat in the Orlando area, one of the two the state is expected to add.

And in Texas, which is expected to gain a whopping three congressional seats, the most of any state, the GOP may try to carve out more seats in the center of their state's boom — Democratic-leaning Houston — that could still elect Republicans.

Currently, a gain of five seats would hand control of the House to the GOP. That number may rise or fall before November 2022 depending on the outcome of special elections for several vacant seats.

To be sure, there will be limits — both legal and practical — on how much power Republicans can win with a new map. While they control the process, the demographic trends in Southern states are working against them. Many of the new residents are college-educated, racially diverse and young — all groups Republicans have struggled to win over.

That means the party can only draw so many "safe" districts. And, because these states are seeing explosive growth, efforts to perfectly divvy up major cities like Houston and Atlanta may collapse over time as tens of thousands of new residents continue to move in.

"You've got all these countervailing things," said Steve Schale, a Florida-based Democratic strategist. "Democrats doing better in suburban areas, states getting more diverse, coupled with Republicans being in control of all the levers of government."

Control in the South has a history of leading to rigging the democratic process — from voting rules to district maps — to disempower Black voters. In Georgia, the state's GOP-controlled legislature is responding to Democrats' recent surge and former President Donald Trump's false claim of mass voter fraud with a raft of proposals that would make it harder to vote — including one to end Sunday early voting, popular among Black churchgoers.

Bulldogettes earn pair of wins to finish preseason

Special to the Herald

The Bulldogette softball team heads into district competition on high note after defeating Snyder and Pecos on Friday and Saturday respectively.

Makayla Calvio earned the 6-2 win against 4A Snyder while in the circle. The freshman pitcher gave up two runs from seven hits and one walk over seven innings, while striking out five. She also went 3-for-3 at the plate.

Jocelyn Torres-Mendoza tripled and drove home three runs on Friday. Madison Rodgers was 2-for-4 with two RBIs and one run scored.

On Saturday, Coahoma shut out 4A Pecos, 12-0. Pitcher MaKynlee Overton led the Bulldogettes to victory sacrificing one hit, walked one batter, and struck out six over five innings. She also hit a double and scored a run.

Torres-Mendoza ripped another triple, drove home three runs, and scored a run. Christian Everett was 2-for-4 at the plate, scored a run and had a two RBI day. M. Rodgers scored two runs, drew two walks and had one RBI. The quick feet of Shae Lang and Karleigh Burt were a big asset to Coahoma.

Lang scored three runs and Burt earned two.

The Bulldogettes were fleet-footed on the base paths. They stole 10 bases over the seven innings led by Calvio with three and Torres-Mendoza with two.

Next: The Bulldogettes (7-5) open District 5-3A the on Tuesday with a game against the Crane Lady Birds. The varsity game plays at 5 p.m. with the JV game to follow.

The Steers Powerlifting team competed in the Regional lift held in Sundown. Josh Lopez finished in second place, earning a trip to the State Powerlifting Meet.

By DUSTIN POPE

Herald Sports Writer

The Boys Big Spring Steer Powerlifting team competed this past weekend, March 12-13, in Sundown to have a chance to qualify for State.

The Steers sent four individuals to Regionals. Shawn Mendoza finished in sixth place with a total of 1230 pounds. Kenny Richardson also placed sixth with a 940 pound total, a personal record for the young Steer. Isaiah Rodriguez had a third-place finish with a 1450 pound total, which was also a personal best total, and Rodriguez will be a State alternate. Josh Lopez placed second and became a State qualifier with a total lift of 1180 pounds. The Steer will now have his chance to compete in the State lift March 26-27.

Josh Lopez is a four-time Regional qualifier and a two-time state qualifier. The Young man is very dedicated to powerlifting and showed improvements every year he has been in the program. He is an example that all the younger lifters look up to. Lopez is very deserving of his shot at State, and we wish him all the luck.

March Madness: 68 teams punch ticket; the hard part awaits

By EDDIE PELLIS

AP National Writer

The 68 teams whose names popped up in the March Madness bracket only thought it was time to celebrate: The next four or five days figure to be the most nerve-wracking part of their seasons.

Welcome to Bubble Ball — the NCAA Tournament is being played in a pandemic, where no player can show up for the games in Indianapolis and no team is really COVID tested, and no seven is really "in" the tournament until the ball is tipped off.

"Which potential season-ending test was more stressful than the other?" Drexel coach Zach Spiker said, meaning the challenges that still await. "Testing, practice, getting on the bus in Philadelphia, waiting for that reply, that response time to say, 'We're all negative here. OK, let's get out of here. Let's get to Indianapolis.'"

Because of COVID—19 issues, Drexel played a grand total of 19 games — about 11 fewer than usual — en route to the Colonial Athletic Conference title. That earned the Dragons an automatic bid into the tournament. The reward? In addition to a battery of nasal swabs, they get a No. 16 seed and an opening-round meeting with top-seeded Illinois.

The other top seeds were Michigan, Baylor and Gonzaga, which is the overall No. 1, and a 2-1 favorite to win it all and complete the first undefeated season since the 1976 Indiana Hoosiers.

In the biggest adjustment to a normal March Madness, all the games will be played in and around Indianapolis over 19 days. No more worrying about who got shipped to Spokane or mired in Memphis. The NCAA did, however, keep the region names — West, East, South and Midwest — to at least make the bracket look normal.

More about that bracket: A few bubble teams are coming from unexpected places, namely UCLA and Michigan State. Both were widely projected to make the field with ease, but they ended up as 11 seeds, paired in a First Four matchup on Thursday. The other 11-11 game pits Wichita State against Drake.

Teams like Louisville, Saint Louis, Colorado State and Mississippi would gladly trade places with them. And still might. In one of many first-of-its-kind moves made to accommodate a one-of-a-kind tournament, the NCAA put team Nos. 69-72 on standby in case a program in the 68-team draw has to withdraw because of a COVID-19 outbreak.

They have until Tuesday night to notify the NCAA they can't make it. After that, a team that withdraws will simply go home, and its opponent will get a walkover into the next round.

"If the teams continue to do the great work that they've done just to get to the tournament, we will have a very safe, very healthy 67-game tournament and we'll crown a champion," selection committee chairman Mitch Barnhart said.

But to underscore what a different, and difficult, season this has been, the committee spent a lot of time stressing over two shoo-ins, Kansas and Virginia, each of which pulled out of their conference tournaments last week because of outbreaks.

Barnhart said both are following proper protocols to make it to Indianapolis for their games on Saturday. Kansas is the No. 3 seed in the West and Virginia, the defending champion (from 2019), is the fourth seed in the same region.

"The one thing I've found out through this, probably as much as anybody, is expect the unexpected,"

Kansas coach Bill Self said.

That is, after all, what March Madness is about — three weeks filled and a club.

However, there's a much better approach that is virtually certain to succeed. After drawing two rounds of trump, you should lead a low club toward the Q-5 in dummy, deliberately forgoing the club finesse.

First, let's observe the effect of this play in the actual deal. If West does not rise with the king, he never gets a club trick, and you make the contract easily. And if West does go up with the king, you play the five from dummy and later discard dummy's 6-5 of diamonds on your A-J of clubs to get home safe and sound.

So how are you supposed to know that you should not take a club finesse in this deal? It certainly seems the natural thing to do, but there are nevertheless excellent reasons for rejecting the finesse.

You start by assuming that West has either the ace of diamonds or the king of clubs (or both) for his opening bid. Leading a low club toward the queen is therefore sure to nail down the contract. If West has the club king, you are home free and clear, as described above. And if West does not have the king, then he must have the ace of diamonds, in which case leading twice toward the K-Q-6-5 will limit you to one diamond loser.

Opening lead — king of spades.
Assume you're declarer at four hearts and West leads the K-A of spades. You ruff, of course, but how do you continue?

It seems normal to draw two rounds of trump and lead a diamond toward dummy. This allows you to make the contract if West has the ace of diamonds or, failing that, if East has the king of clubs.

But if you played the hand this way, you would eventually go down one, losing a spade, two diamonds

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Beginner

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ANSWER:

Pisces Solar Journey Check-In

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You'll get what you want and need because you're willing to let go of certain positions and ideas about yourself. For instance, you're more than willing to sacrifice vanity and pride at the feet of a larger purpose.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). If you are very hard on yourself, then you might rise to superior standards or you might quit out of exhaustion. Self-directed harshness eats energy. Play the middle ground with gentle encouragement toward improvement.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Add your flavor to the conversation without worrying if others will relate. You bring a multidimensionality that will extend beyond its context into other days, days in which new understandings will be reached. This is just the start.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). The simplest answer is not always the best answer. In fact, today it's a one-size-fits-none result. You're safe to assume the problem is custom-made and to seek a bespoke solution.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). The weakness is a strength, though it's not activated until someone applies it to a worthy purpose. You've a gift for seeing the potential of qualities (in yourself or others) and putting them to good use.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You've been listening, and you really understand the needs of others. Your calm support will be impactful. You will reassure and speak for those who haven't quite found the right words yet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). There are certain actions you take that you do recognize for the rituals they are. Their devotional qualities are hidden to you, though today you'll be made quite aware of the quirkiest things you've made sacred.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You don't have to respond to every notification, phone call or question. You are the gate, the gatekeeper and all that's behind the gate, too. Take the first two responsibilities seriously and your domain remains your own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). No need to reward or punish yourself. The reward is intrinsic in an action or it's not. And if you didn't make the right move, that's the punishment. Your job is to keep moving in acceptance that you're learning as you go.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Should you settle for a thing that's working pretty well or go for what you really want? It's not an "either/or" situation right now. You can do both. Enjoy your place while you visualize, plan and invest in your leap to the next level.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You might not be aware of how valuable your opinions are to other people. When you phrase your support well, it will stick with others in a positive way and even be a guiding light.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Well-being is for the well-rested and well-hydrated. Also, it helps to believe that it's all going down just as it needs to, so dial up the volume on your senses and breathe it all in.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (March 16). The year features a work advancement, but it's relationships that grow you the most. You'll meet people who help you elevate your body, mind and spirit. You will not be able to work on one aspect without improving the others. A quest begins in the summer and will last two years, culminating in bodywork and insights. Gemini and Virgo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 13, 5, 33, 28 and 10.

COSMIC QUESTION: "I'm humiliated and disappointed and heartbroken and grief-stricken. I cannot stop crying. I hate everyone. I hate HIM. I hate, hate, hate. One of my favorite writers, Samantha Irby, had on her Instagram bio, 'I have enough hate in me to kickstart a Harley.' That's about how I feel right now, but I don't have a motorcycle to fuel up so what am I supposed to do about it?"

What you're doing sounds about right, which is to say getting it onto a page, expressing yourself, telling someone and maintaining a sense of humor about it, too. I'll bet Samantha Irby would be proud!

Write more pages, run around the block, call a friend, rage at the stars, and then, dear fiery Sagittarius, being drained from all that, you might rest and come back to the issue with a lower internal temperature.

That's when you can consider the benefits of disappointment. There are so many!

Disappointment gives us practice dealing in the heavier emotions of life. Rejection, sadness and embarrassment are all states that require great strength to handle. Anything that allows us to practice handling them makes us better. Heavy emotional lifting will increase your capacity for connecting with others (a Sagittarian specialty!) for living and loving fully, and for having profound experiences. Bonus: if you ever get a Harley...

Notes on Narcissism

Dear Readers: The issue of dealing with a narcissist in the family struck a chord and prompted a number of letters offering insights and advice. Most were pretty disheartening because narcissists rarely change. Here are two interesting ones:

Dear Annie: This is a message to the sister in distress because of the abusive behavior of her sister-in-law. I speak as a registered nurse who has encountered similar situations.

Certainly, the difficult sister-in-law has trust and control issues, and she is manipulative. Many traits you described are clinically characteristic of a narcissistic personality disorder. Therapy is seldom successful in long-term change.

The key is the brother. He is the one who needs help and support. The reason is that long-term suppression of himself can lead to depression. This can even result in explosive anger -- from repressed feelings and emasculating treatment by his wife over time. There are many red flags in this abusive home. -- Serious Situation

Dear Serious: Thank you for your insights and suggestions. Let's hope the brother can find help and courage from therapy.

Dear Annie: You missed an opportunity to teach about narcissism. This gal is asking how they can all figure out how to maneuver through the manipulation of this woman's behavior.

In addition to all the pain that family members have to absorb because of the narcissist, they are all still trying to save the brother but allow the rest of the family to also take this punishment forever.

I have lived with narcissism in the family, and in two businesses, and it continues over a few future generations. We have tried many psychologists over a period of many years, but there is never any help for those who are in the narcissist's lives.

The brother should divorce his narcissistic wife. I am old now, and I understand that the best opportunity to free oneself from the pain of a narcissistic spouse is to divorce them. It is never easy, but it can save his life. - Old and Been There

Dear Old and Been There: I hope there is a better solution for the brother and his wife, but thank you for offering your suggestion.

Dear Annie: This is in response to the person who was annoyed by a co-worker having gas and belching at work. This may well be a medical or dietary problem.

I had uncontrollable gas for years, and I did not get any help from doctors. I finally tried a gluten-free diet, and the gas stopped in a day. My sister had uncontrollable belching and found the same relief in a gluten-free diet.

If I had taken your advice to pass gas in the bathroom, then I would have had to work from there, as there was gas all day long every day. -- Belching and Gas

Dear Belching and Gas: Thank you for sharing a remedy that worked so well. I hope it helps other people.

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, March 16, the 75th day of 2021. There are 290 days left in the year.

Today's Highlights in History:

On March 16, 1945, during World War II, American forces declared they had secured Iwo Jima, although pockets of Japanese resistance remained.

On this date:

In 1802, President Thomas Jefferson signed a measure authorizing the establishment of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, New York.

In 1926, rocket science pioneer Robert H. Goddard successfully tested the first liquid-fueled rocket at his Aunt Effie's farm in Auburn, Massachusetts.

In 1935, Adolf Hitler decided to break the military terms set by the Treaty of Versailles (vehr-SY') by ordering the rearming of Germany.

In 1968, the My Lai (mee ly) massacre took place during the Vietnam War as U.S. Army soldiers hunting for Viet Cong fighters and sympathizers killed unarmed villagers in two hamlets of Son My (suhn mee) village; estimates of the death toll vary from 347 to 504. Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In 1972, in a nationally broadcast address, President Richard Nixon called for a moratorium on court-ordered school busing to achieve racial desegregation.

In 1984, William Buckley, the CIA station chief in Beirut, was kidnapped by Hezbollah militants (he was tortured by his captors and killed in 1985).

In 1987, Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In 1991, a plane carrying seven members of country singer Reba McEntire's band and her tour manager crashed into Otoy Mountain in southern California, killing all on board. U.S. skaters Kristi Yamaguchi, Tonya Harding and Nancy Kerrigan swept the World Figure Skating Championships in Munich, Germany.

In 1994, figure skater Tonya Harding pleaded guilty in Portland, Oregon, to conspiracy to hinder prosecution for covering up an attack on rival Nancy Kerrigan, avoiding jail but drawing a $100,000 fine.

In 2003, American activist Rachel Corrie, 23, was crushed to death by an Israeli military bulldozer while trying to block demolition of a Palestinian home in the Gaza Strip.

In 2004, China declared victory in its fight against bird flu, saying it had "stamped out" all its known cases.

In 2006, Iraq's new parliament met briefly for the first time; lawmakers took the oath but did no business and adjourned after just 40 minutes, unable to agree on a speaker, let alone a prime minister.

Ten years ago: Pakistan abruptly freed CIA contractor Raymond Allen Davis, who had shot and killed two men in a gunfight in Lahore, after a deal was reached to pay $2.34 million to the men's families.

Five years ago: President Barack Obama nominated Merrick Garland to take the seat of Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia, who had died the previous month; Republicans pledged to leave the seat empty until after the presidential election and said they wouldn't even hold confirmation hearings. Frank Sinatra Jr., 72, who carried on his famous father's legacy with his own music career, died while on tour in Daytona Beach, Florida.

One year ago: Global stocks plunged again, with Wall Street seeing a 12% decline, its worst in more than 30 years; the S&P 500 was down 30% from its record set less than a month earlier. The White House released a set of guidelines for the next 15 days; Americans were urged not to gather in groups of more than 10 people and older Americans were told to stay home. President Donald Trump acknowledged that the pandemic could send the economy into a recession; he suggested that the nation could be dealing with the virus until "July or August." Canada closed its borders to non-citizens; Americans were exempted. (The two countries agreed two days later to close their shared border to nonessential travel.) Ohio called off its presidential primary just hours before polls were to open, but Arizona, Florida and Illinois went ahead with their plans.

Today's Birthdays: Country singer Ray Walker (The Jordanaires) is 87. Game show host Chuck Woolery is 80. Country singer Robin Williams is 74. Actor Erik Estrada is 72. Actor Victor Garber is 72. Country singer Ray Benson (Asleep at the Wheel) is 70. Bluegrass musician Tim O'Brien (Hot Rize; Earls of Leicester) is 67. Rock singer-musician Nancy Wilson (Heart) is 67. World Golf Hall of Famer Hollis Stacy is 67. Actor Clifton Powell is 65. Rapper-actor Flavor Flav is 62. Rock musician Jimmy DeGrasso is 58. Actor Jerome Flynn is 58. Folk singer Patty Griffin is 57. Movie director Gore Verbinski is 57. Country singer Tracy Bonham is 54. Actor Lauren Graham is 54. Actor Judah Friedlander (FREED'-lan-duhr) is 52. Actor Alan Tudyk ('TOO'-dihk) is 50. Actor Tim Kang is 48. R&B singer Blu Cantrell is 45. Actor Brooke Burns is 43. Actor Kimrie Lewis is 39. Actor Brett Davern is 38. Actor Alexandra Daddario is 35. R&B singer Jhene Aiko is 33. Rock musician Wolfgang Van Halen is 30.

Top Left: Coahoma's Ryan Shifflett sizes up the length to the hole during the Coahoma High School two-day golf invitational held this past week. Shifflett placed second in the boys medalist standings. Top Right: Coahoma's Makayla Chavez putts into the hole during the Coahoma High School two-day golf invitational held this past week. Chavez finished third in the girls medalist standings.

Chavez and Dickson's strong showing for the day helped lead the Bulldogette team to a third place finish out of six competing schools with a mark of 437.

Fellow Bulldogettes Zoie Joslin and Hartlie Smithie performed well. Joslin fired off a round of 118 and Smithie finished one stroke behind at 119.

In overall girls team standings, Forsan No. 1 placed first to win the tournament with a score of 408. Garden City ended two strokes at 410. New Home, Stanton, and Forsan No 2 placed fourth, fifth, and sixth respectively with marks of 465, 474, and 476.

Special to the Herald

Despite chilly temperatures and high winds, Ryan Shifflett had an outstanding day on the links at the Coahoma High School Invitational two-day golf tournament held at the Comanche Trail Golf Course in Big Spring.

He finished second in the medalist standings with a score of 79 over 18 holes after winning the one hole playoff as a tiebreaker against Ryan Weeks of New Home on Monday.

His fellow teammates had a solid outing for the day. Tanner Purcell shot 93 while Rance Redden penciled in a round of 98. Aaron Turnbough and Rowdy Atkins also fared well. Turnbough carded a round of 105 while Atkins shot 114. Playing in the individual medalists standings, Nick Gonzales carded a round of 107.

Overall, the Coahoma Bulldogs golf team placed fourth with a score of 375 out of a crowded field of 11 competing schools. Garden City No. 1 took the top spot with a score of 351 edging out New Home No. 1 by four strokes at 355. Forsan No. 1 finished third with a score of 369. New Home No 2 rounded out the top five teams with a score of 413.

with busted brackets, out-of-nowhere surprises, teams that take care of unfinished business and an occasional visit from an old friend.

Remember Sister Jean? She's 101 now, and her team, Loyola Chicago, is back in the dance, hoping for a reboot of the, shall we say, "miracle" run to the Final Four in 2018.

Remember Patrick Ewing? He lifted Georgetown to national prominence back in the 1980s, and now he's back as the coach, guiding the underdog — yes, underdog — Hoyas to a Big East Tournament title and a surprise trip to the tourney.

And Rick Pitino? His career was left for dead after his ouster from Louisville following that school's unseemly recruiting scandal a few years back. He's back, too, as coach of Iona, which played only 13 regular-season games, but won its conference tourney and made it to Indy. The Gaels are a 15th seed — not what Pitino is used to this time of year.

"A little role reversal," he said, "but still you have to play the game."

And play they will. From the First Four on Thursday through the Final Four, which ends with nets the coming down on April 5.

So much could go wrong between now and then. So much has to go right.

But a year after the tournament was scrubbed in the early days of the pandemic, it feels good to have a bracket to fill out.

Even if it feels a little different.
