Leadership summit tonight

Public invited to county-wide planning session

By ROGER CLINE

Herald Staff Writer

The Special Joint Leadership Summit discussed in an article in the weekend edition of the Big Spring Herald will take place at 6:30 p.m. tonight, on the floor of Howard College's Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, 1001 Birdwell Lane.

Members of the public are invited to attend the event in person, or via a live stream at www.stellarvirtualevents.com/howard-county-leadership-summit.

A recording of the meeting will be available at the same link immediately following, or on Suddenlink Channel 17 one week after the event. Big Spring Economic Development Corporation (EDC) Executive Director Mark Willis said the purpose of the meeting is to improve communications between top entities in Howard County, and to get them started working through problems – such as the recent closure of GEO's prisons leaving around 600 people locally without work – in a coordinated manner.

Ten local entities will take part in the Summit, including Howard County, City of Big Spring, Big Spring EDC, Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, Howard College, Big Spring ISD, Coahoma ISD, Forsan ISD, West Texas VA Healthcare System and Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

Members of the public will have an opportunity to submit questions in writing to one or more of the entities.

A Moment in History

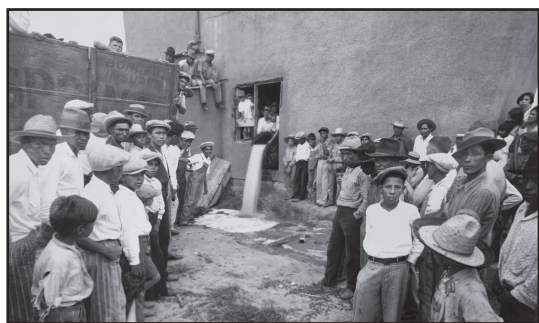

Prohibition and Gomez Hall

Gomez Hall in 1915.

Sheriff raids an illegal alcohol operation at Gomez Hall in 1931.

Chickens became intoxicated on mash poured out during the raid.

By TAMMYSCHRECENGOST
Special to the Herald

Big Spring saloons were ordered to shut down! Local pressure mounted as nationwide prohibition locked into the Constitution with passage of the 18th Amendment on January 16, 1919. The saloon may have been boarded up, but man's thirst was not quenched. Soon illegal stills started popping up in the area. Jess Slaughter's term as Howard County Sheriff was spent raiding illegal liquor consumption and operations. Most of those raids consisted of finding small amounts of alcohol. During a raid made on a local tourist camp, officers confiscated one quart of whiskey. These raids usually resulted in a $50 fine and the destruction of the alcohol. The raids showed no discrimination — at least by gender. In the wee hours of a Saturday morning, Ms. Griffith and Ms. Smith were caught with a very small amount of liquor and were arrested for possession and intent to sell.

When a town goes from 13 saloons to zero, a demand is left unfulfilled. F.S. Gomez Jr. saw this demand and thought of an entrepreneurial solution.

HISTORY

Fabian Sabastian Gomez Sr. was born in Mexico on January 20, 1864. Fabian married Severa Alderete in 1894 and they had seven children, including Fabian Jr., who was born in 1898.

Gomez came to west Texas in the 1880s and began a freighting service. He first settled in the Midland/Odessa area. He begun hauling for the J&W Fisher Store, where he was referred to as "Mexican Jack." Gomez, along with McWhorter, were the contract public haulers for the Fishers. McWhorter had a large team of oxen that pulled his load, while Gomez preferred using his Mexican mules. He kept 40 for the journey that he frequently made. Gomez also hauled for the C.C. Slaughter Ranch. Slaughter once hired him to grub and haul 1,000 cords of wood for the ranch. Everyone told Slaughter it was too much for one man; however, Gomez successfully fulfilled the order. The Fisher trade territory was the largest in West Texas. This kept Gomez and his team of donkeys and mules busy and led to his impeccable reputation. Gomez moved his family from Midland to Lamesa. He thought he would be able to have more time with his family if they were closer to his route. In 1905, Fabian Gomez moved his family to Big Spring. He established the first grocery/mercantile on the north side at 510 NW Fourth, and he built Gomez Hall. The hall was the location for many celebrations and weekly dances, including Diez-y-Seis de Septiembre and Cinco de Mayo festivals. The hall held around 150 people, and it was often filled to capacity. Gomez's sons began taking on their father's entrepreneurial qualities. They added a hotel onto the second floor of Gomez Hall. The bottom floor had a grocery store, café, and the hall for entertaining. By 1939, the Gomez family was the largest property holder on the north side of Big Spring.

During the 1920s, F.S. Gomez Jr. had become an illegal alcohol manufacturer and salesman. Gomez's customers ranged from the prominent local businessman to a local "Joe" wanting a drink of moonshine whiskey or beer. Gomez's operations continued until the afternoon of Monday, August 10, 1931, when the Howard County Sheriff Department raided the Gomez Hall/Café. A "secret room" was discovered by knocking out the sheetrock. Entry to the room was through a bookshelf door, but it had been blocked. The secret room held seven barrels of brewing bran mash. More than 100 bottles of beer lined the floor, along with 34 half-gallon jars of whiskey. There was a gas stove, copper coils, a condenser, and two barrels filled with "intoxicating liquor." A small trail under the floor led to an escape hatch. The local lawmen loaded confiscated paraphernalia onto a truck for half an hour. This was the largest alcohol raid ever made in Howard County. It attracted the attention of the press and locals on both sides of the tracks. The Bradshaw sisters were on hand to take photographs as the evidence was being poured out.

Prohibition finally ended on December 5, 1933. The 21st Amendment was ratified, as announced in a proclamation from President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

By 1936, there were 17 package store applications being filed with the Texas State Control Liquor Board. Included in those applications were two hotels and four drug stores. Fabian Gomez Jr. also filed for his liquor license for his new package store and café.

The Gomez Hall was renamed Casa Grande, a night club on the bottom floor and hotel rooms upstairs. Later, the structure became known as the "Trees of knowledge." A crowd would gather around and exchange stories. Stephanie Sherman was quoted in a Big Spring Herald article. "That's where everyone came to party and now their party place is gone," she said. "You learn a lot of stuff underneath those trees." The Casa Grande, located at 400 Northwest Fourth Street, had been abandoned in the late 80s. It burned down July 26, 1986, ending a northside era.

Si se aplica a la línea fija, el descuento se puede aplicar a su servicio de voz o banda ancha. El descuento mensual es de hasta $ 5.25 por mes para el servicio de solo voz o hasta $ 9.25 por mes para el servicio de banda ancha.

Las tarifas básicas de servicio local de Windstream para líneas de voz residenciales oscilan entre $16 y $ 26 por mes, dependiendo de su ubicación de servicio. Windstream participates in a government benefit program called Lifeline to make residential telephone or broadband service more affordable to eligible low-income individuals and families. Eligible customers are those that meet eligibility standards as defined by the FCC and state commission. Residents who live on federally recognized Tribal Lands may also qualify for additional Tribal benefits if they participate in certain federal eligibility programs. The program offers a monthly discount limited to one discount per household and can either be applied to wireline or wireless. If applied to wireline the discount can be applied to either your voice or broadband service. The monthly discount is up to $5.25 per month for voice only service or up to $9.25 per month for broadband service.

Windstream's basic local service rates for residential voice lines range from $16 to $26 per month depending on your service location. Specific rates will be provided upon request. For the broadband Lifeline discount to apply, a customer must subscribe to a Windstream service that meets the minimum standard requirements as defined by the FCC.

For the purposes of the Lifeline program a household is defined as any individual or group of individuals who live together at the same address and share income and expenses. Lifeline service is not transferable, and only eligible consumers may enroll in the program. Consumers who willfully make false statements to obtain Lifeline telephone or broadband service can be punished by fine or imprisonment and can be barred from the program. Howard Hawk Mens basketball team blow out Western Texas to get huge win

The Howard College Hawks left no chance they would blow a big lead going down the stretch this time. Evidently, they learned from Wednesday's conference opener against Midland College. A game Howard blew a 12 point lead late, only to have Midland come back win in overtime.

The Hawks wasn't going for that. Instead they completely demolished Western Texas College 86-49 Saturday afternoon. A vicious Howard College pressure defense took the fight out of WTC early. Howard never trailed in the game. It started off brightly with Sagna. Howard picked the opposing guard's poked turning it into an easy layup. That's the way it was all game long, Howard flying all across the court, making steals, getting blocks, forcing errant passes.

The Hawks had their reel of offensive highlights also. For a while Bonny Udoh and Nester Dyachok had that inside-outside thing going. Udoh, a undersized 6-foot-5 post player, played the post game to perfection, scoring inside at will to go along with four dunks. Dyachok, a 6-foot-9 inch forward from Moscow, nailed four threes.

Then you had the guard play of Sagna, D'Miri Wiltz, Jacoby Bishop and T.K. Hood, getting steals and dishing out assists, it was one powerful machine. The Hawks outscored WTC 30-16 the last 10 minutes of the first half. It was all said and done after that.

The Hawks will get a break and won't be back in action on Jan. 3.

HOWARD (8-5, 1-1) Rahkiem Petterson 1 0 2; Blaize Sagna 6 2 15; D'Miri Wiltz 1 2 4; Jacoby Bishop 4 0 8; T.K. Bryant 5 2 14; Nester Dyachok 6 0 16; Bonny Udoh 10 4 24; totals 33-69, 10-13, 86.

Daniela Pedrom takes a hard foul against the Lady Westerners. The Lady Hawks fought hard but dropped the game 71-34.

By STEVE BELVIN

Special to the Herald

It was a homecoming of sorts for Clarissa Krum; for John Ishee, it was let's go down fighting on this sinking ship.

Krum was making a return to her old stomping grounds when she guided this Western Texas College team into Dorothy Garrett Coliseum to take on the Ishee's Lady Hawks. Both teams needed a conference win, dropping their league openers Wednesday. WTC lost to Clarendon 64-54; Howard had to forfeit it league opener against Midland College because of Covid.

The outcome wasn't hard to figure out. Howard had only five players from its normal 14 team roster. The rest are waiting to test again to see if they come out negative.

So you add three student athletes to the five you have, and Ishee was ready to come out scrapping .

It was interesting for a while but the Lady Westerners came away with a 71-34 victory.

Coach Ishee, a coaching veteran of more than 30 years, has seen troubled waters during his day. He was adamant about this. He wanted to play. And play they did. Thanks to some long range bombing by Daysha Tijerina and Daniela Perdomo Howard only trailed 35-23 at the half.

Ishee used one of his reserves. That was Denise Quinoez a student trainer from McCamey. Krum attacked by using all 10 of her players throughout the game. The Lady Hawks just wore down.

It was bitter-sweet for Krum ,who got her first win over Howard College as a head coach. Krum played for Howard during the 2008-2009 season. She's previously had assistant positions at Lubbock Christian University, Western Texas College and Newman University in Wichita, Ks.

"It was a little nerve wrecking, it was an exciting thing," said Krum. "The thing we with this Covid is number one you have to be careful. We have to hold each other accountable. We knew they (Howard) was undermanned. I had to guard my kids about not taking things for granted. I wanted them to refresh their minds and just play. I'm proud of them."

"It was just tough today," Ishee said. "We were missing 11 girls, two were out with injuries. People ask me why I just didn't forfeit this game. We forfeited the last game. I'm an old school coach, I'm not going to forfeit two games in a row. How can I push these kids and work them hard and then go out there and surrender?"

"I guarantee you if we had our players that game would have been totally different. We battled hard for 27 minutes. No subs, that's tough. We didn't give up. We'll go down with the ship."

A guide to picking the perfect fresh Christmas tree

Come the holiday season, perhaps no tradition evokes the warm and fuzzy "feels" more than a family outing to pick a Christmas tree. Whether it's a trek to a live Christmas tree farm or a short drive to the nearest pre-cut tree lot, the process of selecting a tree that will serve as the crown jewel of the entire season is a great way to make lasting memories.

Selecting a tree is a yearly ritual and each person has his or her set of criteria for what makes the ideal Christmas tree. These tips can help families find the right tree.

Choose your species
Do some homework

on the type of tree you want prior to buying the tree. Balsam fir and fraser fir are popular Christmas tree varieties, but there are many others, such as noble fir and Norway spruce. Balsams are known for having the most fragrant smell, but frasers tend to keep their needles the longest. For those who prefer a douglas fir, keep in mind that they sometimes drop their needles prematurely due to foliar diseases like needle-cast fungus.

Space for ornaments

In addition to aroma and needle longevity, look for trees that have a desirable shape and allow for adequate space between branches, advises the home and garden resource The Spruce. Trees groomed to be lush and full will look beautiful unadorned, but once ornaments are added, full branches may cause those ornaments to hang low or even fall off. Trees with sparse branches allow for ornaments to hang straight.

Measure your space

Trees in the field or in a lot may look much smaller than they do when brought into the living room. Don't make the mistake of selecting a tree that is too large for your home. The agricultural firm Ragan & Masey says to measure the room from floor to ceiling and subtract the height of the tree stand and tree topper. It's equally important to measure the width of the area where the tree will stand and allow for ample space for foot traffic around the tree.

Perform a needle check

Every tree will drop some needles, and most evergreens hold their foliage. Modest needle loss is not an indicator of a poor tree. However, Decker's Nursery in Greenlawn, NY says if 50 percent of the needles are lost when you swipe your hand down three to five different branches around the tree, the tree likely is not a good choice. In addition, avoid a tree that has glaring defects in the trunk as it can impede water flow through the tree.

Heavier is better

A heavy pre-cut tree means it is full of water and has been cut more recently. A healthy, fresh tree is going to require an effort to lift. Older, dried out trees will not be heavy.

Upon arriving home, make a fresh cut off the tree trunk and get it in water as soon as possible — even if that's a bucket until the tree stand can be set up.

Homewrecking Co-Worker

Dear Annie: My husband of 19 years had an office gathering at our home in mid-August. He has been at his job for 18 years and switched departments four years ago. I had never met any of the current team members due to my work schedule.

One of his teammates, when introduced to me, grunted when she met me. My heart sank.

As I worked my way around the room getting to know each one on an individual basis, I reminded this lady that I had waited on her at my part-time job. She told me she was aware of the encounter because my husband told her that I had sold her cigarettes. However, I had asked my husband before the party if he had said anything, and he said no. So he lied to me.

After the party, I went through his phone, computer and phone bills. I discovered lots of private contact at all hours of the day and night. In my mind, they basically were having an affair.

The messages were pet names such as "baby boo," "sugar bitches" and "good morning, sunshine." Worse yet, they told each other they loved each other.

We are in therapy now, trying to repair the damage my husband has caused.

When confronting the lady who tried to come between us, she stated that she wanted nothing to do with the drama in our house. I asked her why she was calling my husband by terms of endearment.

My husband's friend used to date this lady. I did reach out to him and discovered that she has a long history of drinking and rehab. It's so sad that women chase married men like it's a game and a goal to wreck marriages.

I would like your thoughts. -- Brokenhearted in South

Annie's Mailbox

Dear Brokenhearted: My thoughts are with you. I am so sorry that your husband lied to you about his relationship with another woman. But instead of blaming her, why not channel all that anger and frustration into your couples therapy sessions? He was the one who was married, not her. It takes two to tango, and blaming her for chasing after your husband is not the answer. The real answer is to get to the root of the problem in your relationship, to understand why he wanted to stray in the first place. Or to understand that your husband is a cheating scoundrel -- and move on.

While it is easier to blame a person you barely know who is trying to ruin your marriage, the person you really know is your husband. Save your blame for him and see how, and if, you can repair your marriage.

Dear Annie: The woman who wrote to you to say that she became friends with the ex-wife was very lucky. I tried so hard and was shut out.

At one point, I wrote her a letter about everything we had in common, including loving the kids, and she threatened to sue me for harassment. The kids would have benefited from our being in partnership for their welfare, if for no other reason. -- Sad in Lake-wood

Dear Sad in Lake-wood: We cannot control other people's reactions to what we do, but we can control how we treat them. For the sake of the kids, it is always better for them to see their families get along rather than having them see exes fight and not get along.

Special to the Herald

COAHOMA - The Coahoma Bulldogs used the "if you can't beat them, join them" theory here Friday night. It almost worked. In the end however the McCamey Badgers were able to escape with a 41-37 victory in a non-district contest.

For the first half, McCamey, 2-0 for the season, utilized a zone press that gave Coahoma fits. The Bulldogs turned the ball over 11 times and never seemed to get in rhythm, scoring only 12 points on a 5-for-24 shooting performance. McCamey, led by senior forward Brayden Fuentes, led 28-12 at the break. Fuentes scored 11 of his game high 19 points in the half.

In the second half the Bulldog turned the tables on the Badgers, going to a trapping pressure defense of its own, gradually whittling away at the Badgers lead. The Bulldogs ' offense woke up as Raheem Ashford exploded for three baskets inside and Tavyn Hipp contributed by hitting some shots from the outside. The McCamey lead was 35-28 going into the final period.

"We really didn't have a choice. We got so far down," said Coahoma coach Brandon Lucas of his second half strategy. "They (McCamey) were super hot in the first half and we just had to calm them down. Offensively we started to move the ball better. We made an adjustment and started feeding Raheem n the block."

Hipp started Coahoma on the right foot in the final period by nailing a three-pointer from the corner. Ashford hyped the home crowd with a dunk, Billy Bailey made a free throw and Ashford fed Ryan Shifflett inside for a basket. The McCamey lead was 34-33 with 3:09 left in the game. That's as close as Coahoma would get

" We've been practicing on our man defense a lot. We still have a ways to go though. Offensively we must stay calm and move the ball around,; Lucas said.

Coahoma, 2-2 for the season, next game will be Tuesday night at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum against the Forsan Buffaloes at 8 p.m. The girls game starts at 6

Winless no more: Lions top Vikes 29-27 for 1st W in Week 13

By LARRY LAGE

AP Sports Writer

DETROIT — Jared Goff dropped back, looked left and let the football loose that Amon-Ra St. Brown squeezed tight as he sat in the end zone.

That set off a roar in Ford Field loud enough it might've been heard on Motor City streets.

Detroit finally found a way when Goff threw an 11-yard touchdown pass to St. Brown as time expired, lifting the previously winless Lions to a 29-27 victory over the Minnesota Vikings on Sunday.

"It feels good to stand in front of you now," Goff said to reporters before answering a question.

Not only was the finish dramatic, it was stunning.

Goff led the Lions on a 75-yard decisive possession without a timeout after Kirk Cousins threw a go-ahead 3-yard touchdown pass to Justin Jefferson with 1:50 left. The Vikings failed on a 2-point conversion for the third time, and those missed opportunities proved costly.

Goff threw two touchdown passes in the first half to put Detroit ahead by 14 points, its biggest lead this season. Then he turned over the ball twice in the second half to help Minnesota rally.

He came through in the end, leading the long drive and delivering a sharp pass without pressure against a three-man rush to a rookie receiver, who took advantage of the Vikings secondary playing too deep in the end zone.

"It was actually crazy," St. Brown said. "They were 3 or 4 yards in the end zone."

The Lions (1-10-1) ended a 15-game winless streak that lasted 364 days since winning at Chicago last season, giving first-year coach Dan Campbell his first victory with the franchise.

"You want this so bad for the players because they're the ones who put in all the hard work, the sweat, the tears," Campbell said. "When you lose, it hurts, but it's also why winning is so great, because it isn't easy to do."

The Vikings (5-7) hurt their chances of earning a wild-card spot in the playoffs by losing a game they were favored to win by a touchdown.

Minnesota coach Mike Zimmer defended the decision to drop eight defenders on the final snap, but lamented that the secondary didn't follow the plan on the play.

"We weren't covering very well, so we felt we needed to get more guys into coverage," he said.

Minnesota has the dubious distinction of being the first team Detroit beat this year because it missed chances to score more often, and allowed an offensively challenged team to score more than 17 points for the first time since Week 1.

The Vikings, perhaps lulled to sleep in the first half by the Lions' gray "Color Rush" alternate uniforms that looked like pajamas, woke up with 16 points in the first 18 minutes after halftime.

Red-zone woes, though, will haunt them when they look back at how they let the Lions win. Minnesota had the ball inside the Detroit 20 twice in the first quarter, settling for field goals and a 6-0 lead, and kicked another field goal in the third after a drive stalled at the Lions 12.

"We came out pretty slow and when we did get into the red zone, we only came away with three," Jefferson said.

Goff finished 25 of 41 for 296 yards with three touchdowns and an interception. He fumbled when Campbell chose to go on fourth-and-1 from the Detroit 28 with 4:08 left and the play-action pass didn't fool the defense.

"I felt like I needed to be aggressive," Campbell said.

Goff, drafted No. 1 overall by the Los Angeles Rams in 2016, had lost 12 straight starts for the longest skid for a quarterback taken first in the common draft era that started in 1967.

St. Brown had 10 receptions for 86 yards — and the winning touchdown was his first NFL score, ending Detroit's nine-game home losing streak dating to last year.

Cousins was 30 of 40 for 340 yards with two touchdowns and a fumble. Jefferson had 11 receptions for a career-high 182 yards, taking advantage of an increased role when Adam Thielen was injured early in the game.

"It's obviously a tough loss, and I'm going to think about it for years," Cousins said.

HEAVY HEARTS

The Lions and Vikings paid tribute to the victims of Tuesday's school shooting in Oxford, Michigan, by wearing a gold "O" on the back of their helmets.

The tragedy took the lives of four high school students, including Tate Myre, a standout football player and wrestler.

Campbell dedicated the game ball to the Oxford community after the game.

NO CIGAR

The Vikings' eight-point loss last week at San Francisco was their largest margin of defeat. They also have setbacks by seven and four points, by three points in a pair of overtime games, and 34-33 at Arizona.

INJURIES

Vikings: Thielen injured his left ankle on the game's opening drive and didn't return. He entered the game tied for the league lead with 10 receiving touchdowns. ... RB Dalvin Cook (shoulder) was inactive.

Lions: DT Nick Williams (left hand, wrist) and CB Jerry Jacobs (neck) were hurt during the game, but did return. ... RB D'Andre Swift (shoulder) was inactive.

UP NEXT

Vikings: host Pittsburgh on Thursday night.

Lions: play at Denver next Sunday.
