BALLOT TO GIVE SCURRY COUNTY VOTERS LATITUDE THIS YEAR

The official ballot for the election this year has a very interesting heading to it. It reads: "We pledge our support to the nominees of this primary." This is excellent well. We shall all vote with freedom whereas, as it ordinarily is, we should be very fearful in voting in the primary. The primary elections will owe no allegiance to national policies, parties or candidates. We shall be free to vote for the man.

This is an exceedingly warm political campaign this year. Many have become very nervous over the national aspects and have forgotten about the local men and their official capacity. The Herald is saying this with the view of turning our attention national affairs to the interests of our home men and affairs which we know something about. Our county and district affairs need all our attention for the remaining days of this campaign.

"If we do not become interested in our own county and district men and offices whom and what we have seen, how shall our wild interests in national politics avail anything? Let's think of the liberty our ballot is giving us this year, and center our interests on the things with which we shall "bump shoulders" with for the next two years.

MONTH OF JULY LIKELY TO BE DRY

In all probability we shall have dry weather through July, but suppose we do? What shall that matter? Very few times in the history of a cotton country has it been too dry for cotton. We can become excited at a little thing, but isn't it foolish? We cannot tell about chickens until the eggs are hatched. We Texans, yea, even we Hermleighites spend much time trying to imagine just what our poultry is to be, and the number of eggs we shall have the privilege of gathering up each day, long before the eggs in the incubator are pipped—poor old hen she is to get no rest any more, she must spend all her time scratching for worms, laying eggs, and cackling, she gets to set no more these days.

If we Texas people, yea, even we people of Scurry county and Hermleigh could spend as much time doing what "our hands find for us to do" as we spend trying to figure out how things will be if they are otherwise, we should be much more successful and happy. The man who succeeds in a general way is the man who lives, and loves, and labors today. There is no such a thing as to-morrow. "Boast not thyself for the morrow, for thou knowest not what the day might bring forth." "While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."

"He who is hitched to nothing, when he goes forward, carries nothing with him."

CANDIDATE FOR DISTRICT JUDGE

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE HERMLEIGH COMMUNITY:

In seeking the nomination of Democratic Party for the office of District Judge I rely upon, as my qualifications for the office the record I have made as a lawyer and as a citizen. I am 39 years of age; was raised in Howard County, and began the practice of law at Colorado, Texas, in 1912; and I have been engaged in the active practice of law at Colorado since 1912, except for a period of about four years just before and during the World War. Following the Armistice in 1918 I was transferred to London, England, on claims work for the U. S. Navy, and while on that duty was appointed by the Secretary of the Navy as Counsel for U. S. Navy before British and American joint Arbitration Board in London and spent about two years in that work. My only occupation has been the practice of law.

If elected District Judge I will devote my entire time and ability to the office, and shall strive to perform the duties of the office in such manner that you will find your District Court worthy of your full respect, confidence and support. Such business as comes before the Court will be disposed of in a prompt, orderly and business like manner; the Court dockets will be called in regular order and cases disposed of according to law as called, wholly without any difference or distinction as between persons or cases coming before the court.

This District includes five counties, and it will be impossible for me to see all the voters in person; I request your consideration, and will very much appreciate your votes and influence at the coming primary election.

Doing Fine At T. C. U.

Miss Ollie Coston writes from the Texas Christian University that her work in the High School and under local expression teachers here is commended by the faculty at T. C. U. It is quite a big thing not only for the individual but for our school to have this fine compliment paid our own Miss Coston. The T. C. U. is a school of high rank and when a high school graduate's work will stand up there it means much for both school and pupils.

Miss Coston is in the High Arts Department at the T. C. U. this summer. She finished the work given in that study at Snyder this spring and after her return from Fort Worth this fall she will engage in teaching. It is not known just yet where she will teach, but it would do credit to our school if she were given an expression class here.

THE PREACHERS, THE CHURCHES AND THEIR DOINGS

The Rev. Morgan, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, is in town for the summer. He will work with the church every day in the week for these two months which he will spend here, he says. He has an outline of plans which, if carried in to effect, will help his church greatly. He is afire with the spirit of his religious work and, is "seeing visions, while others dream dreams," he says. If one is "dreaming a dream" he sleeps on in sweetest repose, but if he sees a "vision" he is immediately awoken, the Rev. Morgan thinks.

One cannot avoid appreciating the fine spirit and the free use of human energy as is seen in the young Morgan. He says he is putting all his life in to living. This is likely a fine thing to do. With emphasis on the "SO," the Master said, "Let your light so shine," echoes the young Rev.

The Revival meeting at the Central Church which was deferred from the first Sunday in July on account of the rush of the time will begin the third Sunday in August, according to announcement made at the church Sunday night.

The Rev. Hudson was out of town Sunday filling his appointment at Inadaie. His revival meeting will begin on the third Sunday instant.

Elder Glasg of Abilene filed his regular first Sunday appointment at the Church of Christ here Sunday.

Elder Price Bankhead of Snyder will preach at the Church of Christ here next Sunday. Elder Bankhead is a minister of fine ability and is experienced as an evangelist. We understand he will have charge of the co-operative evangelists work of the Churches of Christ in the county this summer. These church people are doing a fine work in the county at this time, and are moving forward in a constructive way.

Elder Bankhead extends an open invitation to the community to hear his message at the Church next Sunday at 11:00 o'clock.

The Rev. C. E. Leslie was well in trim for his services Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night. Rev. Leslie is holding the pastorate of the First Church here for his sixteenth year. This is rather a long pastorate for a Texas preacher.

The Community singing at the church Sunday afternoon was good. This too, holds on well. The First Baptists have a way of holding to things and continuing them, somehow. It would be well for the rest of us to pattern after them in this.

Winn Lee and Bill McQuaid went fishing last week. Lee turned the rowing of the boat over to McQuaid, but McQuaid was so heavy at head that he turned out of the boat—what Bill drank went to his head.

WHATS AND WHYS CONCERNING FELLOWS AND FUNNY DOINGS

If any fellow sins, cuss the preacher for it. If any of them violate the law, cuss the Sheriff. If the baby's medicine doesn't act just like you think it should, or if some of your folks should happen to die, cuss the doctor. If something doesn't happen to be reported in the paper, cuss the editor. Of course it is the editor's fault if nothing happens to be reported in the paper.

We are receiving lots of invitations to attend "goose-neck" parties this week. Now listen if you want to get anywhere with your "goose-neck" parties you will have to conduct them like club women conduct their parties. Women get over with their party plans, but they always serve a little "cake and cream" at the last. Now you farmers can never get anywhere with your "hoeing" parties until you learn to serve refreshments from "dainty little cups and dishes." Good suggestion, by joe!

Deerwood Watson told us early Sunday morning that he had a big "ice cream" eating test at his home Saturday night. Now isn't that going some! Poor editor! He always hears about the "cake parties" but after they have happened, every time. We are getting curious to know if they couldn't be reported to us before they happen.

Why is the newspaper editor more like Moses of Mt. Nebo than any other fellow? It is because he always hears of the good things of Canaan, but is never permitted to enjoy them.

In connection with our spell of the Adam's last week Mr. W. W. Early said: "Norman, do you suppose your trouble grows out of being under nourished? We appreciated Mr. Early's sympathy, and will say: We haven't declined an invitation to dine out. Now what, Mr. Early?"

Master Ulmer Vernon is spending this week with his uncle, B. H. Coston, at Slayton.

Frank and Mrs. Wilson have had the misfortune of losing their infant baby. It was buried Sunday afternoon.

Winn Lee, just because he was out of the sight of his wife, lay down under the shade of a small bush and went to sleep one day last week. Winn slept longer than he intended to and the sun got over him on and ran the mercury up in him so high that he has been suffering for some days from overheating.

Both Pass Away

Mother T. C. Stinson passed away and was buried in the Snyder cemetery late last week and was followed Tuesday by her husband. Mrs. Stinson was 79 years and Mr. Stinson was 80. They have been declining health as a result of age for some time. They are the parents of our own Joe and Lee Stinson of Stinson Drug Stores in Snyder.

Club Report

A canning and cooking demonstration was given to the 4 H Girls by our home agent, Miss Tavis on Wednesday 20. A number of girls and ladies attended this regular 4H meeting and each went away more interested in the work the girls are doing.

In quick breads Miss Davis demonstrated: twin mountain muffins, cornmeal muffins and baking powder or sweet milk biscuits. The method of successfully icing a cake was also demonstrated and second year girls were shown how to can beets, one of our most valuable vegetable foods.

Records and sewing also scored during this meeting.

Our clubs is an A 1 club as is proved by the fact it has $40.50, proceeds of the recent box supper for the purpose of sending representatives to the short course. Now we lack exactly $9.50 having enough to send two representatives and if you are interested in helping us send these two girls, something no other club in the county is doing.

Baptists To Have Meet

The Leuder's Baptist encampment meets on July 10-22. Two of the greatest men in the Baptist denomination will be the main speakers, Dr. Milard Jenkins of Abilene and Dr. T. L. Holcomb of Sherman.

Courses will be given in Sunday school work, W. M. U. work, and B. Y. P. U. work, all taught by the best teachers available.

A special feature this year in the Y. W. A. work. Young ladies are urged to write Mrs. Lillian Pemick, Stanford Texas for particulars.

The pastor urges all who can possibly go do so. Only those who go can realize the spiritual benefit derived, together with a broadening of knowledge covering the Kingdom work.

Lets Go To Church!

I am here folks, and here for the summer. I am going to do my best, God leading, to accomplish in a short time that which waits to be done here. What are we going to do, Baptists, are we going to please God, or displease Him?

B. Y. P. U. will meet next Sunday evening at 6:00 o'clock. Come along young people for a good time. We are going to have a social next week sometime, and all will want to come and have a good time.

Let us work hard and pull together so the burden will fall on all, and all will be happy. "If all in my church were just like me, what kind of a church would my church be?—B. Morgan.

HERMLEIGH MAN LEARNS TO PLAY ON AN UKULELE

A reference to anything which ran in the paper last week might not be considered timely but, for the sake of humor, we must refer to the "PROPOSED POSSIBLE FUNERAL OF A FUGITIVE," which was potentially announced in the Herald last week. The announcement read: "If we do not have a change for the better, we shall have to be 'dragged' off before the week-end." The "fateful immaturity" of this "timely indisposition" was the occasion of "much disappointment. A lot of us were sick because it didn't happen. A lighted hope, you know, is the occasion of much inward pain. Well, it is an ill wind, indeed, which blows no good. We found it would be an easy thing for us to have a funeral if we would furnish the subject.

The funny thing about it was the drama by Major Kimzey. The funeral program carried Kimzey's name as the orator who was to deliver the eulogy. Major was so proud of the opportunity that he didn't read it closely and mistook eulogy for ukulele. He readily responded to the request and set out in search for the Hawaiian instrument. Upon securing it he sat down in the shade of a tree, pulled off his hat, rubbed his hair back, leaned back against the roots of the tree and "cracked down on it," practicing up for the emergency of the morrow, as he supposed--We should like to have seen old Major as he sat in this old time position, "picking on the old guitar."

Kimzey said that he had as soon delivered an eulogy as to have picked the ukulele, had he known what a eulogy was. R. B. Tucker said that he didn't believe Kimzey could play a ukulele, for he had once reached his "Majority" long before the ukulele was ever thought of. Dr. Ward said that if Major actually sat under the tree, with his hat off, with his hair brushed back for the first time, leaning his reclining self straight up against the roots of a tree and attempted to play on that Hawaiian "bug bellows" instrument, he was interested in some kind of a photographing instrument by which his graceful pose could be imagined and photographed. Such a picture (taken at night, the Dr. said) would be of great interest.

If Major Kimzey ever comes around where we are being laid "dust to dust and ashes to ashes" with his little ukulele and begins to play "Old Black Joe," there is going to be a resurrection. We couldn't miss hearing it. Major, if if you want us to "stay put" when this happens, you had better keep your "eulogical" instrument at home. Any body who had fun about them at all would come alive to "see" Major play on that 'doey.'

We thank you for your response, Kimzey, even if you did misunderstand the proposition.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Barbour of Mary Neal, former residents of Hermleigh were here last week.

Miss Lottie Maude Lewis is visiting friends this week in Coahoma.

"DANDY FOLKS, WE ARE!"

"JUST FOLKS." Well that is right, we are just folks. What other folk are there by which we may measure ourselves to see if we are good folk or bad folk? We can tell when a given object is a foot long by putting it to a rule test. We can tell when it weighs a ton by submitting it to a test of weight, but how are we to know whether we are good folk or bad folk? Who are we to measure ourselves by, since we are all alike, and are not acquainted with any other folk any other place.

"THE FOLK IN THE MOON." Yes these are the folk by whom we should measure ourselves. But had you stopped to consider just how perfect the "moon folk" are? They are absolutely perfect it is said. But how do we know they are perfect? They know they are perfect because they have measured themselves by 'me.' There is not an individual in the earth but who is perfect, i. e., in his own estimation.

"THE FOLK IN THE HADEAN WORLD." The hadean folk are just as wholly imperfect as the "moonian folk" are perfect. How do they know themselves to be the exact representation of imperfection? Is it not because they have measured themselves by the other fellow? Did you ever stop to think how imperfect the other fellow is?

"THE OTHER FELLOW." Did you know that to the pure all things are pure? And to the defiled and unbelieving nothing is pure? He was a sage indeed, who said, "The other fellow is a mirror through whom one sees himself."

"WE." We are the product of the the secret motives of our ancestors. "I will visit the iniquities of the father upon the sons to the third and fourth generation of those who hate Me." These are the Creators words. We are the products of our environments. Our lives are made up of the things we have picked up in the home and on the streets. Who is in fault?

Our good friend, Mr. Vineyard, says he is getting mighty tired and the crop isn't near finished yet.

WE ARE 'A', WHAT ARE YOU?

"I AM A DEMOCRAT!" This is what we all say, and there is probably a lot of truth in the statement, but how are we to know? Our "political dads" met in Houston last week and nominated the New York Governor as the democratic nominee for president. We are all sitting back in our armed chairs saying, "I am going to vote for the man," as if the New York Governor was not a man. If we disagree with our "political dads" at Houston, is that an evidence that we know more about the affairs of the Democratic Party than these fellows who have made politics a special study and were selected by the various states to represent the party at our national convention this year? We may all be smarter than these 'dads,' but how are we to know?

"WILLING TO STAND HITCHED." We are hitched to the democratic "post" and governed by the action of the convention. These fellow are "experienced politicians" and, therefore, their selection of a nominee for the part ought to be in keeping with the ongoing of "political affairs."

We are not personally acquainted with Governor Smith like most Scurry county people are—we have't been here but a short while, you know—neither have we "danced" in "Tammany Hall" like most Texas people have—we Texas folk know about what is going on in New York. "How shall we except some man shall guide us?" And, "To whom shall we listen? Who is certainly a democrat and not a 'demagogue,' and who knows? And who knows and knows that he knows that his source of political information is good?"

"DONE VOTED." A long time ago all the wild animals met in convention to settle the matter of priority. When the matter came up as to how the vote would be cast, the fox raising his pretty tail said: Mr. Chairman, I move you the vote be cast by a raising of tail." The jealous ram objected say: "Mr. Chairman, if the vote be cast by the raising of of the tail, Mr. goat is already voted." We are like the goat at the animal convention—done voted. We signed an agreement at our local convention to support the party throughout. We were sent to the county convention and was elected to the state convention—do suppose that we might have been sent to the national had we gone to the state? We have already pledged our vote to Mrs. Darby for Distict Clerk, to Warren Dodson for County Attorney and to the Democratic Nominee for President, so there is but one thing for us say, namely, "Go thou and do likewise."

"We must sometimes dare to do; but the power for good is not in the 'dare,' it is in the 'do'"

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

In a general way citizenship is prized above everything else, even above character. But after all things are considered, what is citizenship? Is there any one thing which is a greater evidence of citizenship than another? Is the good style with which one dresses an evidence of citizenship? Is one's ability to play his part in society well evidence of good citizenship? Is one's being a good conversationalist an evidence of good citizenship? No doubt these are good characteristics for a citizen to possess, but do these alone constitute good citizenship?

The building of a home and the accumulation of property necessary to the maintenance of a home, are among the fine evidence of citizenship. Is not the fact that an individual is permanently located and able and willing to carry his end of society's load, the best evidences of good citizenship? The rearing of a family, is this, too, not a fine evidence of good citizenship? What could make a man stick more closely to his task than the demands of a growing family? Here in is citizenship found. Mark this.

J. D. Lancaster, Dallas, president of the Texas and Pacific Railroad Company, said: "That there were three things that are most worth while in life—the love and respect of one's family, the confidence and loyalty of one's associates and the esteem of communities, in which one has cast one's lot."

The Verdict OF NUMBERS

Most people know what they want. In spite of bitter experience, they get the best eventually—in tires, as in other things.

Above the baffling claims of rival tire manufacturers and allurements of price-cutting dealers: the judgment of numbers can not be denied:

MORE PEOPLE BUY GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ANY OTHER KIND

Millions of motorists believe Goodyear makes "The world's Greatest Tire." Hence its popularity.

This huge army has tested Goodyear Tires thoroughly, driving over 75,000,000,000 tire miles last year.

Goodyear leads over other tire maker by many thousands in yearly production.

We give a service of the same high quality as the Goodyear Tires we sell.

The little son of Jim and Mrs. Kemp has been right sick this past week but is greatly improved at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Standifer and little daughter Francis with Mr. Parker all of Roscoe were week end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Longly. Mrs. Standifer is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Longly's.

Mr. E. Griffith was in Abilene Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Javer called on Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Friday night.

Mr. Adair left Monday for the harvest fields in Panhandle where he will work during the harvest season.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert were were dinner guest with Mr. and Mrs. Suddath Sunday.

Mrs. Strickland spent Sunday night with Alca Jeans.

Miss Elizabeth Ammons was the dinner guest of Miss Wilma Light Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones went to Sterling City where they spent the week-end visiting kinsfolk.

About The Babies

Mr. and Mrs. M. U. Vernon are rejoicing over the arrival of new baby girl at their place.

Little Miss Elsie Pauline, about 9 pounds big, opened her eyes Tuesday and looked about upon her kinspeople with whom she had come to live. M. U. says he hopes he has made a favorable impression on the young Miss.

Little Warena Fargason, seven months old, is beginning to 'travel' a little on her stomach. The motor power seems to be in her great toes which she inclines toward the floor.

"Cast your net on the other side of the boat and ye shall find."

MISS WILLIAMS ENTERTAINS KINSFOLK

A number of friends and relatives gathered at the Mrs. C. E. Williams home Sunday and spent the day in a very enjoyable way. Ice cream and cake were served as the concluding part of the days fine visiting program. The following personnel constituted the party of guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Corley of Tahoka, C. P. and Ross Williams and their families.

Mrs. Williams is an old settler of the country. She is not enjoying the very best of health, it is understand, but is still enjoying life. She has seven brothers all of whom are living. The oldest is 80 and youngest is 66.

She and her daughter Miss Minnie Lee are very happy together in their home here.

Is Drudgery A Habit?

EXPERTS declare it is. For generations housewives were virtual slaves to the economic duties of the household.

When by their own labors they rubbed clothes over rough washboards, scrubbed floors or swept rugs, they felt that the service was adequately done.

Labor saving devices were received with skepticism for a long time, and even today some women cannot feel satisfied that a job is completed unless they have experienced genuine physical labor in its fulfillment.

Experiments have proved this. And have shown this unusual situation to be a carry over from our ancestors who had nothing but personal manual labor with which to perform household drudgery.

Electric service has changed all this.
Efficient appliances of today designed for almost every household need, economically operated by constant, unlimited electric energy leave no legitimate, economic reason why the average electrified American home should not be equipped to banish drudgery.

Electricity contributes magnanimously to higher living standards. It has become the foundation upon which present and future progress is based.

Invest in it.

"Where You Like To Trade"

To the Voters of Scurry County

On account of the duties of the office demanding the larger portion of my time, I will not be able to see each and every voter as I would be pleased to do. So I am taking this method of soliciting your vote and influence.

Most of you are familiar with me and my record but to the new comers and those who do not know me I invite your careful investigation into both my record as an official and as a private citizen.

I am indeed grateful to the people for their past support and for their cooperation so freely and graciously given and again ask that after you have investigated the record if you find that my administration of the affairs merits your support then I ask for your vote and influence promising if again honored by you by being elected to the office to give you my best efforts toward an Honest, efficient and economical administration of the affairs of our county.

Yours Respectfully

Horace Holley
