Coffin Shortage Adds To Woes Of Survivors

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — "We don't need food or medicine. We need coffins. There isn't anybody left alive," said a volunteer relief worker as heavy rainstorms and the threat of snow added to the misery of an estimated 300,000 homeless survivors of the earthquake in the Naples-Salerno area.

There were reports a "coffin racket" was thriving in the town of Lioni, east of Naples, and the head of rescue operations, Giuseppe Zamberletti, said people from other regions were trying to sell coffins for as much as $1,800 apiece.

Government tallies of the casualties in Europe's worst quake in 65 years ranged from 3,496 dead and missing to 4,468, with 7,751 injured reported. The state radio said 27 survivors were pulled from the rubble Thursday, four days after the quake Sunday. Among them were three doctors buried in the ruins of the hospital at San Angelo dei Lombardi. Zamberletti asked the government to provide 3,500 railroad cars to house quake survivors sleeping in tents or in the open. The government asked owners of campers to lend them for use in the quake zone.

Column after column of relief supplies and personnel poured down the autostradas from northern Italy. But narrow roads, mud and debris from the quake slowed them down when they set out for the isolated villages in the mountainous quake zone.

About 150 villagers demanding food, tents and other supplies sat on the railroad tracks at the station in Angri, south of Naples, and blocked all trains to and from Sicily.

"We have a thousand people without roofs. We're sleeping in the open air. We haven't eaten in two days," said the mayor of Friguento, in Avellino, the hardest hit province.

An elementary school in Salerno was crowded by survivors seeking shelter from the rain. Some families were camped in three unused trains on a siding in Naples. Others huddled in cars.

U.S. paratroopers spent Thanksgiving teaching Italian soldiers how to put up 1,000 U.S. Army tents flown down from West Germany. Another shipment of 1,000 was on the way.

Criticism of Premier Arnaldo Forlani's government increased. It fired its representative in Avellino, but Forlani refused to accept the resignation of Interior Minister, Virginio Rognoni, who offered to quit Wednesday to appease the critics.

"Accepting your resignation would mean increasing the difficulties of those struggling to help suffering people," Forlani wrote Rognoni. Journalists and volunteers have gotten to many of the shattered villages before the rescue squads, sometimes as much as 24 hours ahead. In many places, lack of bulldozers and cranes delayed removal of wreckage, under which bodies or survivors were believed to be.

Diamond M Sets Special Art Show

A special art show will be held this Saturday and Sunday at the Diamond M Museum.

Artists showing their works will be Bob Shufelt of Arizona, a pencil artist, Bruce Wynne of Spokane, Wash., a stone carver, Emily Guthrie Smith of Fort Worth, a pastel artist and member of the Pastel Society of America, Herb Mignery of Nebraska, a bronze artist, and Pat Krahn of Lubbock, also a pastel artist and a member of the Pastel Society of America. Shufelt and Wynne will be unable to attend the show.

The showings will be open to the public Saturday night from 7 to 9 and Sunday afternoon from 1 until 4. The exhibit will remain open through Dec. 5.

"Once again, as usual, we have tried to make a diverse show, in work and media, so there is something there for everyone to enjoy," said Diamond M director Terry Gilbreth. "But most of all, it's just five of the greatest artists the staff knows producing now."

Ector Deputy Sheriff Shot

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — An Ector County sheriff's deputy was wounded four times Thursday night during an hour-long chase north of here, officials said.

Deputy Cliff Davis and other officers began pursuing the vehicle on U.S. Highway 385 about 11:20 p.m., after receiving a report of a drunken driver, a sheriff's spokesman said.

Shots were fired and Davis was hit four times — in the knee, chest, calf and buttocks.

Davis was in stable condition today in Odessa's Medical Center Hospital.

Shopping Days Till Christmas

27 SHOPPING DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

Ask Us

Q—Since our taxes are up, why can't the old Christmas lights and decorations on the square be replaced?

A—Tax money is not used for this purpose. In fact, the agency that provides the street decorations during the Christmas season is not a tax-supported organization. The Chamber of Commerce does this, and the materials now in use were purchased with money from a special fund raised several years ago, most of it contributed by local merchants. They usually try to use them for several years, because they are expensive.

The SDN Column

Doug Manning, a Baptist preacher who writes a column for the Hereford Brand, has thrown some light on the general election results—probably more than the TV commentators and syndicated columnists. He asks, "What happened to Carter?" and then proceeds to answer it thus:

"He could not find a slogan. A president has to have one. He must come up with a catchy phrase which seems to say something but doesn't. By the time Carter got there, all the slogans had been used. He was left with grits and peanuts."

Whatever crisis a president faces, he just brings out the old slogan and makes it seem like part of his great plan. If the past presidents faced the current inflation they would have sloganized their way out.

"Roosevelt would have had a fireside chat and convinced us his new deal on money was the best thing since sliced bread.

Harry Truman would have given big business 'heck' (this is a family newspaper) and we would have known who to blame.

"Ike would have said, 'We need to do something. The price of green fees is going out of sight.' Ike had no slogan, but after all, he won the war.

Kennedy would have said, 'Ask not what the dollar can do for you, but what you can do for the dollar.'

Johnson would have declared war on inflation. Everything was at war to old Lyndon. Can you imagine a 'war' on poverty?

"Nixon would have called it an inflation crisis. Everything was a crisis to Nixon. He even wrote a book called 'My Seven Crises.' He now has more than seven.

"Ford would have said, 'Congress needs' to do something.' Ford had no slogan. No second term, either.

"So, Carter was left with no slogan. His aides tried. Maybe they tried too hard. They had a new slogan every week. This included such gems as, 'It's time to buck up and do without,' 'sit tight, better times are ahead,' (that one was used by Hoover) 'we are proceeding with great non-progress,' 'we are thinking about it,' 'we used to think about it,' 'we are thinking about thinking about it.'"

"While they were floundering around, Reagan found the only good slogan Carter ever had. It was called the misery index. Ronnie took Carter's slogan and dealt him more misery than he could index."

Walt Finley of the Big Spring Herald springs this "football fantasy" on us:

"The referee blows his whistle to call a foul, points to the broadcast booth and announces the infraction... 'Delay of game. Too many commercials.'"

Walter Bückel of the Lamesa Press Reporter says there are two kinds of men who never succeed—those who cannot do what they are told and those who cannot do anything else.—WACIL McNAIR

Firefighters Gaining On California Blazes

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — While capricious "devil winds" subsided, firefighters took to the air with water tankers and battled flames on doorsteps as they began to turn the tide in the fight against blazes that have scorched 80,000 acres.

"Overall, it is looking pretty optimistic," Joanna Guttman of the U.S. Forest Service said Thursday.

Four people have been killed and 319 buildings damaged or destroyed since the rash of fires, one of the worst in Southern California history, began Monday.

Howling Santa Ana winds up to 100 mph had sent flames leaping over highways and surging through neighborhoods.

But the winds declined as the week wore on, and the 30 mph gusts Thursday enabled firefighters to make their first widespread use of air tankers to drop water and fire retardant on the seven blazes still burning. Three have been extinguished.

Firefighters raced from house to house Thursday to save buildings in the small community of Devore northwest of San Bernardino as the Panorama fire, the most destructive of the blazes, swept out of the hills.

meanwhile, joined several hundred firefighters for a Thanksgiving feast at the Sycamore fire camp north of San Bernardino. Special meals were prepared for all of the more than 6,000 firefighters, some of whom came from as far away as New York and Texas.

Brown also toured the fire-ravaged Northpark sector of San Bernardino — where 253 homes were destroyed or damaged on Monday — and said the area looked "like some kind of a war zone."

He said he hoped President Carter would make low interest loans available to people who lost their homes. The state has asked that the federal government declare an official disaster in all six counties where the fires have been burning.

Cash Register Theft Probed

A theft in which a store's cash register was stolen is under investigation by city police.

The stolen cash register was reported at Marigold Milk Store at 601 East Highway. It was discovered this morning about 2:20 inside the cash register, police said, was an undetermined amount, of change. Working the case is Sgt. Wade Norris.

Also this morning, two men were arrested for misdemeanor possession of marijuana. The first arrest was made about 1:30 p.m. at the Shoot Out and resulted in a 25-year-old man being taken into custody. The next arrest was made at 2:40 a.m. in the 2700 block of Ave. G and resulted in a 20-year-old man being taken into custody.

Also worked since Wednesday were several traffic accidents. The first occurred at 1:10 p.m. in the 1700 block of 25th St. and involved a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Douglas Whitehead and a 1977 GMC driven by Raymond Wagner. It was worked by Sgt. Jerry Parker.

Kerry Fritz worked a two-vehicle collision Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. in the 3500 block of Irving. There, a 1978 GMC driven by Calvin Goebel and a 1980 Ford driven by Susan Lee were in collision.

Another accident was recorded Wednesday at 10:55 p.m. in the 2800 block of 25th St. In it, a 1978 Mercury driven by Ricky Dale Slaughter was in collision with a mailbox, a light pole, and a dumpster.

Militant Denies Hostage Transfer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — One of the Islamic militants occupying the U.S. Embassy in Tehran denied today that the 49 American hostages seized in the embassy nearly 13 months ago had been delivered to the Iranian government.

"We have not delivered the hostages to the government yet, and when we do we will issue a statement announcing it," said the militant, who was reached by telephone from Beirut.

Car Careens Into Crowd On Busy Las Vegas Strip

RENO, Nev. (AP) — A speeding car careened onto a crowded sidewalk on the city's gambling strip Thanksgiving Day, killing five people and injuring at least 24, police said.

People dived for cover behind cars and inside casinos as the car zoomed along the sidewalk, not slowing even though some victims were thrown onto the hood of the car and blocked the windshield, witnesses said.

Police estimated about 1,000 people were on the street at the time.

The injured littered the sidewalk along the glittering strip, witnesses said, but casinos lining the street stayed open.

May Lift Peanut Embargo

ATLANTA (AP) — A severe peanut shortage resulting from the ravages of the summer drought has prompted U.S. officials to consider breaking a 25-year practice by raising the limit on imports allowed into the nation's billion dollar peanut market.

Plant closings and layoffs in the peanut processing industry already have occurred in recent months, with domestic peanut production cut 42 percent by the drought, said attorney James E. Mack, counsel for 200 manufacturers represented in the peanut and candy processor groups.

4 Leftist Leaders Killed

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The bullet-riddled bodies of four leftist leaders were found near here Thursday less than 12 hours after they were dragged from a secret meeting by unidentified gunmen, according to reports on several radio stations here and a local funeral home.

There was no word on the fate of two other leftists also seized during the midday raid on a local Roman Catholic high school. One high-ranking diplomatic source said he also expected them to "turn up dead."

Polish Strike Ends

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Solidarity union ended a strike at the Warsaw steel plant early today while maintaining a strike alert in the Warsaw region as it continued to press the government. But Lech Walesa, the leader of the independent labor movement, urged his forces to hold their fire "for the great battles to come."

Boston Fire Probed

BOSTON (AP) — Fire officials today were investigating the cause of a blaze that heavily damaged an elegant, Back Bay brownstone housing the Atlantic Monthly magazine and a major education consulting firm.

The fire began in the cellar of the five-story building overlooking the Boston Public Garden and caused about $250,000 damage, said Fire Commissioner George Paul.

Eight firefighters were injured, none seriously, in the 8 a.m. Thursday fire.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Although the Republican Party this year spent millions of dollars on a sophisticated campaign to gain control of state legislatures throughout the country, that effort produced only limited success on Election Day.

The GOP achieved significant gains in three major states, but the results of the unprecedented effort pale in comparison with both the amount of money spent on the endeavor and the party's victories in this year's other political contests.

As a result, Democratic politicians in many state capitals will again dominate the process of drawing new boundaries for congressional and state legislative districts based on population shifts reflected in the 1980 census.

In an attempt to thwart the Democrats, the Republican National Committee, a special political-action committee called GOPAC and other organizations poured $3.5 million to $5 million into the campaign treasuries of Republican candidates for seats in dozens of state legislatures.

Their most noteworthy victories came in three states: In Ohio, where the Democrats controlled the state Senate by an 18-15 margin prior to Election Day, the Republicans now dominate that chamber by exactly the same proportions.

In Illinois, a switch of only one seat in the state House turned an 89-88 pre-election Democratic majority into an 89-88 Republican edge.

In Pennsylvania, the Democrats had controlled the state Senate by a 27-23 margin; a 25-25 tie now exists, with the power to cast the tie-breaking vote held by the state's Republican lieutenant governor.

But among the approximately 6,000 seats contested in 43 state legislatures this year, the Republicans' net gain was only about 200 seats — considerably fewer than the 275 to 300 seats they picked up in 1978, when they spent $2 million on a similar effort.

Because the Democrats won some seats that had been vacant or held by legislators affiliated with minor parties, their losses were limited to approximately 175 seats, according to the National Conference of State Legislatures.

In the nation's 10 most populous states — where most of the gains or losses of congressional seats are expected to be registered — the Democrats maintain their control of 15 of the 20 legislative chambers.

In Ohio and Illinois, for example, the Republicans' gain of control of one house was offset by the Democrats' ability to maintain their majority in the other house.

The Republicans registered significant net gains in more than a dozen other states, including Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota and Utah.

With the exception of only Montana, where a massive shift of 24 seats turned a 67-33 Democratic majority into a 57-43 Republican margin of control, those victories either reinforced existing Republican majorities or failed to wrest control from entrenched Democratic majorities.

There are numerous explanations for the Republicans' inability to match their top-of-the-ticket landslide with equally impressive victories in legislative contests.

It would seem strange to enter or pass by a building being constructed and not hear the sound of any tool, but that was true when Solomon's temple was being built. The stones were already made before they were brought there.

"And the house, when it was in building, was built of stone made ready before it was brought thither: so that there was neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building." — 1 Kings 6:7

A plurality of the country's voters remain "behavioral Democrats" — inclined to vote for the party's nominees if all other factors are equal — and that instinct manifests itself strongly at the bottom of the ballot, where candidates often are unfamiliar to the voters.

Because ticket-splitting has become not only acceptable but fashionable, voters who picked the Republican nominee for the presidency and perhaps for a senatorial or gubernatorial seat may have been inclined to search for Democrats they also could support.

Finally, the Democratic-dominated redistricting of legislative seats in the early 1970s made many of those districts virtually impregnable to Republican attack — which explains why reapportionment is so important to so many politicians.

Your Birthday

November 29, 1980

An old pal whose friendship was exceedingly important but who has drifted from your life may enter the picture again this coming year. The reunion will be a happy one. Solid bonds will be reestablished.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Unless your objectives are clearly defined today, you may waste a lot of time and effort on projects and things which, in reality, are of small consequence. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and careers for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The bad vibes you're picking up today could be your negative thoughts. Protect yourself by focusing on the bright and hopeful, and they'll soon vanish.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Joint ventures with friends may look appealing on the surface today, but they could have hidden complications. Peek under the lid before committing yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Unless you really know what you're talking about, it could be unwise today to offer advice to another regarding something which could cost them money.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Rather than doing a poor job, you may be better off today postponing unappealing tasks, especially if they must be done with persons of whom you're not fond.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't attempt to manage someone for another today where you could be held responsible if things don't work out properly. Stay in your own ballpark.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Unnecessary complications could arise today socially unless the majority is interested in doing the same thing. Keep everyone on course.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Normally you have a very nice way of dealing with others, but today you may attempt unthinkingly to be bossy. Weigh your every word.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Being kind and generous are two of your greatest attributes, but today you could carry these traits to extremes. Try not to give away the store.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you are too self-seeking today it could have a boomerang effect. Something you hope to get could be denied you. Don't forget the other guy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You know what your responsibilities are today, but for some reason you may choose to ignore them. That which should be achieved would be left undone.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Impulsiveness must be avoided today in handling financial and business matters. Jumping the gun may trigger undesirable results.

a need for courage

Advocates of protection of "whistleblowers" in the federal government are disappointed that a new program, created as part of a civil service reform package passed in 1978, doesn't seem to be doing the job. The quasi-judicial Merit System Protection Board is supposed to protect whistleblowers — federal employees who criticize or publicize waste, foolishness and corruption in the federal establishment — from reprisals by their superiors. So far 150 self-described whistleblowers have sought the board's protection, and none of them has been satisfied. Indeed, one of them says the board serves only as "a sting operation to smoke out critics."

The board's members cite the usual excuses — too little staff, too little money, computer problems, difficulty in getting procedures underway and ambiguity in the enabling legislation. We are inclined to think they are only excuses.

To understand why the government can't protect or encourage whistleblowers you need to understand a little about the situation a whistleblower faces.

Most whistleblowers are professional civil servants. They see an abuse — bribes being solicited or taken, persistent cost overruns, rigged bidding, friends on the payroll, laziness — that goes against their grain, that they know wastes taxpayers' money, and want to correct it. But they know they can get a reputation as a troublemaker and be subject to direct and indirect job pressures. Many who have made waves have been ostracized, passed over for promotions or virtually forced to resign. In addition, some whistleblowers are motivated more by personal vendettas against superiors or colleagues than concern for the public weal.

What good will a review board do? It's an instrument of the government, and there philosophically and institutionally circumscribed in the kinds of whistleblowing it will support, regardless of good intentions.

We're not aware of any psychological studies of whistleblowers, but from what we can see of the more prominent ones, they're people who have found the kinds of things they see or are asked to do simply incompatible with a firmly ingrained code of moral standards. If those moral standards are important enough to them, they will be more important than holding on to their civil service jobs. If they're not willing to take the risk of losing their jobs, no government agency is going to give them the backbone.

What it boils down to is that we've got to depend on the individual courage, crankiness or curmudgeonly attitude of individual whistleblowers to alert us to waste and corruption in the federal government. We can't create a government agency to encourage them or protect them. If they aren't willing to risk their futures for a principle, they won't trust a bureaucratic agency to protect them — and they're probably right not to.

Some things can be done from outside the government to encourage whistleblowers. Private individuals can agree to help whistleblowers find jobs outside the government if they have the courage of their convictions. Newspapers and magazines can pay them well to write their stories. The public can respect them, lionize them and support them.

It takes courage to blow the whistle on government and some of the special interests at the public trough. It may not be encouraging to those who want solutions tied up in neat little packages, but the public is going to have to depend on that kind of courage to expose waste and corruption in government. Courage can't be created by federal edict.

"This is the tomb of Christ," said the guide, pointing to a mound of earth about 50 yards off the tree-shaded path.

But this guide was Japanese. And the grave to which he pointed was on a mountainside in northern Japan.

The legend has been growing in Japan for the past generation that Jesus Christ was not crucified, but fled to Japan where he lived to be 112. It is the subject of several books and now has attracted the attention of Japanese archeologists.

The legend was started by a Shinto priest named Kiyomaro Takeuchi. A member of an ancient Japanese family, in 1935 he came to the villagers in Shingo with a story that has since been called "an outrage to Christian belief."

He said that writings that had been in his family for more than 60 generations, but which had just been discovered, told how Jesus had traded places with his brother before his crucifixion and how his brother had died on the cross in his place.

The ancient documents, said Takeuchi, also told how Jesus, after a four-year journey, made his way to Japan, a country he had visited first when he was a youth of 18.

In Japan, said the Shinto priest, Jesus took the name of Torai Taro Tenkujin, married a Japanese woman named Miyuko, had three daughters and lived to 112 as a respected teacher and prophet.

Is it possible the story could be true? Some Japanese authors familiar both with the legend and the gospel account of Jesus' life contend the two stories are not incompatible.

For instance, the Takeuchi legend says that Jesus first came to Japan when he was 18. This is during the period of his life referred to as "the hidden years" by Bible scholars, for the Bible has nothing to say of Jesus' life from the time he was 12 until he reached the age of 30.

The Japanese documents give this account of the first visit of Jesus to Japan. He studied for five years under a Shinto priest named Takeogokoro, who taught Jesus such ancient Japanese tricks as being able to throw a bamboo pole into the water and walk on it. Jesus also visited the emperor, who told him he was king of title, Jesus returned to his homeland to preach that the Kingdom of God was at hand.

The late Mrs. Kiku Yamane, a Christian who lived in Tokyo, is the author of "Christ Died in Japan," in which she attempts to reconcile the Japanese legend with the Bible accounts of the life of Jesus.

Calling the legend "dumb-founding, but true," Mrs. Yamane says that when it became obvious that Jesus would be put to death, his younger brother — whose Japanese name is Isukiri — said in effect: "You have much left to do on earth. Let me die in your place."

Judas was engaged as an accomplice and instead of kissing Jesus on the cheek in the Garden of Gethsemane, he kissed Isukiri who was promptly arrested, tried and crucified.

Mrs. Yamane said this explains Peter's denial. Peter was being honest when he said about the prisoner on trial, "I know not the man," for he was not acquainted with Jesus' brother.

Two days after Isukiri's crucifixion, the legend says, Jesus and Judas entered the tomb, stole Isukiri's body and buried it in the Judean hills. Jesus then fled to Japan via Africa, Europe, Asia, Siberia, Alaska and then to Japan by boat. He settled in the town of Shingo.

Those who believe the legend point out that for many generations — long before Takeuchi came forth with his story in 1935 — the people of Shingo marked the foreheads of their babies with a cross in ink. It was also local custom to put the symbol known as the Star of David on children's clothing.

While many in Japan doubt the validity of the legend it is being talked about more and more and the local government Shingo, particularly to investigate the mound where Jesus' body is said to be buried.

critical turning point

NEW YORK (AP) — After more than a decade of failing to face up to inflation, Americans may have arrived at a critical turning point. And it isn't so much a result of admonitions as of recognizing reality.

The reality is that the buck has stopped.

It now appears that large numbers of people are learning, bitterly perhaps, the difference between the illusion of economic progress and the reality of an economy stalled in its tracks and even slipping back.

Early in the life of inflation it can provide many advantages to certain groups: companies can report higher sales without selling more goods; for example, and workers may feel flush with cash.

The borrower too feels power over events, knowing that repayments are made in cheaper dollars. And homeowners may become ecstatic as they see the value of their tract houses rising as fast as the price of gold.

The warnings begin, but aren't heeded. Everyone knows that inflation might be bad for the country, but the correction begins with the other guy. Meanwhile, inflation remains something to exploit, if you can.

The establishment admonitions grow harsh. Just a few days ago Harold Williams, Securities and Exchange Commission head, urged patriotic Americans to commit a once "un-American" act: cut living standards.

The financial evangelists then arise, preaching repentance before the day of judgment, which we are told will mean chaos in the streets and a collapse of most prices except those of precious metals and food.

And the next stage? Well, it seems, it might already be here. All the warnings and threats might have been ignored, but there is no ignoring the evidence now presented to Americans: A decline in real earnings.

With inflation subtracted, the Labor Department announced, the earnings of families with at least one wage earner fell 4.2 percent during the past year. That dictates a lower living standard.

Taxes, meanwhile, have been rising, since the Internal Revenue Service insists illusion is reality. It persists in elevating taxpayers into higher tax brackets — and taxing them on what they never earned.

The Tax Foundation has the figures. "U.S. median family income is higher than ever — $19,950 in 1980, compared to $9,750 a decade ago," it states. And then adds:

"However, after-tax income measured in constant 1970 dollars is lower than it was in any year of the last decade — $7,976 in 1980 compared to $8,412 in 1970."

Interest rates are rising too, and doing so with such speed that all but the most essential loans are being ruled out by would-be borrowers or would-be lenders. It is becoming impossible to get money with which to live beyond your income. And when possible, it is unprofitable.

The Fenian Brotherhood was organized in New York City during 1859 to assist the movement for Ireland's independence.

To each his own, but handling snakes in church? And I used to think the Methodists had some funny ideas. In certain churches of Appalachia poisonous snakes are as much a part of the service as song, sermon and of course the collection plate.

Worshippers catch the snakes, rattlers and copperheads, and bring them to church in boxes. They are placed where the men and women can reach them if they feel moved in that direction. Some walk barefoot on the snakes. Others let them slither over their bodies or just hold them in their hands. Some get bit and die.

Why handle snakes at all, and in church? These people, who inhabit the hills of Tennessee, eastern Kentucky and Virginia have very little education and even less money but they are rich in faith. They are not a bunch of California style fanatics who are into snakes one week and boy gurus the next. They have been handling snakes in church for generations. It's time honored.

They got the idea from the 18th verse of the 16th chapter of St. Mark's Gospel. "They shall take up serpents, and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them."

When a member gets bitten, and dies, it is because his faith was not strong enough, they believe. Drinking poison in church is not unheard of but somehow it lacks the appeal of the crawling serpents.

You might be thinking that there should be a law against such insanity to protect these backward people from themselves. There is (It's a misdemeanor in Kentucky.)

but the congregations persist with the tenacity of a bingo player.

It's only right to insert here that snake handling is strictly optional and children are forbidden from the practice entirely. So if you are traveling through that remarkable part of our country and the Sabbath rolls around, go ahead and check out one of these churches. The old-time religion will probably do you good. But sit real still.

The authorities could stop the practice if they really wanted to, critics charge. But they are understandably squeamish about busting in on a church service and between the amens, hollering, "Freeze, this is a raid! Okay Charlie, gather up the snakes while I keep my eye on the preacher."

Besides, some of the lawmen are undoubtedly congregationalists at the very churches where snake handling is common. That puts them in the awkward position of arresting a fellow church member who is otherwise a model law abiding citizen for

Dear Abby

Kissin' Cousins Want To Make It Legal

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Bobby and I grew up together on the same block. My mother and his father are brother and sister — that makes us first cousins.

Bobby is four months older than I am. We are both 17 and will be 18 when we graduate from high school next spring. Our closeness over the years grew into a real love affair by the time we were 13. We had discovered early the difference between boys and girls and freely experimented with that discovery until we finally went all the way. Our relationship was a well-guarded secret until about a month ago when my mother came home early and caught us.

Now we are trying to convince our parents that we want to marry after graduation next June. We have been planning it for almost a year. They say cousins shouldn't marry—that any children from such a marriage may not be normal.

Is this true? Bobby and I are sure that this is what we really want.

LOVERS FOR SURE

DEAR LOVERS: Perhaps you are mistaking the excitement of your first sexual awakening for "love." Don't rush into marriage. Date others, and later, when you are more mature and experienced, if you do decide to marry, consult a lawyer to learn in which states first-cousin marriages are permissible. Then see a genetic counselor to determine your chances for having healthy, normal children.

DEAR ABBY: You informed STUPID CITY KID, AGE 55, about the rooster's male organ. Well, I want to tell you that you also enlightened Stupid Grandpa, age 80, about something I had wondered about all my life!

I would sign this, but I'm too ashamed of my ignorance to sign my name, and this town is so small, any reference to it would probably give me away.

TEXAN

DEAR TEXAN: Thanks, Grandpa. (P.S. For those who may have missed that column, STUPID CITY KID, AGE 55, said he had never seen a rooster's male organ, and asked if perhaps it was so small it was invisible. I replied, "It's large enough to do the job for which it was intended, but it's nothing to crow about.")

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend (not a close friend — but a talkative one) who telephones me daily, and sometimes two or three times a day.

I am a very busy person and I have no time for chitchat. Her calls are always the same. She talks endlessly about the same people. Borrrrring!

I realize that this woman has nothing to do but talk on the phone, but it is a waste of my time and makes me very nervous.

I have purposely refused to answer my phone at times thinking it was "Mrs. Time-waster," only to learn later that it was an invitation that I would have been delighted to accept.

Please don't tell me to get an unlisted number. She would be the first one to ask for it, and I wouldn't know how to keep from giving it to her without hurting her feelings.

READY FOR A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

DEAR READY: Since you don't want to hurt her feelings, I hope you can afford an answering service or a tape-recording device, because that appears to be your only hope for peace and privacy. It's not cheap, but it's cheaper than a nervous breakdown.

International Influence Invades Men's Styles

NEW YORK (NEA) — Every year men's clothes show a stronger fashion influence, although the average man still remains slower to pick up new ideas than the average woman. But when even discount stores advertise designer names in their men's departments, you know the fashion influence has become important.

Now the international influence stretches even further, encompassing a lone creator in Hong Kong named Bobbie To. No, he's not merely a Hong Kong tailor, but an original designer who also knows how to attract attention. Visitors to the now-suspended Hong Kong fashion weeks for buyers and press used to look forward to Bobbie To's extravagant fantasy parties.

In his menswear, however, Bobbie To knows how to fit into the international trend, as his current clothes for Bloomingdale's, New York's trendy department store, illustrate. He makes everything go together in a coordinated, casually elegant way. His pullover has an unusually deep V-neck, and is in silk knit to feel comfortable over his silk dress shirt. He adds a cable-knit wool blend cardigan, front-pleats his trousers to lend elegance to corduroy, and tops everything off with a wool swagger coat with pleated-sleeve tops that run onto the shoulders like stitched-down epaulets.

This is his way of combining pieces for a city look, but he also wears the scoop pullover with a sleeved matching cardigan and blue jeans; he uses the cabled cardigan as an indoor jacket, too, with dress shirt and tie, appropriate for offices where thermostats will be set lower this winter.

North has a minimum for his jump to three hearts even when the bid is played as invitational, but not forcing.

South has enough to warrant accepting the invitation, and the final contract is what the experts call a laydown. Yet most players manage to fall one or even two tricks short.

South wins the spade lead in dummy and sees that he has to lose a spade and two trumps come hell or high water. He assumes that trumps will break 3-2. He can't handle a 4-1 trump break.

Then he counts winners. He has two trump tricks and the three side-suit aces-kings. He needs to ruff two clubs in dummy or two diamonds in his own hand to get to a total of 10.

COMMERCIAL AUTO RATING SEMINAR—The Insurance Women's Association of Snyder sponsored a commercial auto rating seminar at the Texas Electric Service Company recently. Roy Shipman with Beacon Insurance Group of Lubbock and Richard McNeil with Southeast Surplus Underwriters also from Lubbock conducted the seminar. Members from local organizations and from Rotan, Coahoma and Big Spring attended the seminar. Pictured (seated left) are McNeil, Pat Mayes, president of the Insurance Women's Association in Snyder; (standing left) Betty Sneed, vice president; Shipman; Kay Hickman, education committee member, and Judith Thweatt, education committee member.

Garments lose insulation value when spaces are clogged with dirt and grime. Clean clothes are warmer, allowing the space to fill with warm body air, says Nancy Brown, a clothing specialist.

Women Feel "Dressed Up" With Makeup

Diane Von Furstenberg told Beauty Digest magazine her feelings about makeup: "Men say they don't like makeup but I think that's only when they notice it. I think most of us put on makeup because of other women. I feel very drab if I have no makeup on and I walk into a room where all the women are beautifully made up."

The new hot colors in makeup should warm up the coldest nights. For a bold and sexy mouth, try a fiery red or deep orange lipstick ablaze with glints of copper or gold. Nails really dazzle with gold-frosted red polish. If you're a bit shy, handle all this fire with care and be sure to use complementary warm tones in the rest of your makeup.

WANDA JACKSON ...to sing at Faith Baptist

Faith Presents Wanda Jackson

Talented and terrific are the adjectives to describe Wanda Jackson, says Buck Hatfield, pastor of Faith Baptist Church where she will be singing Sunday Dec. 7 at 10:50 a.m. She will also hold a concert there at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Jackson, a veteran star of country music has been singing and entertaining throughout the United States, Canada and other countries since her early teens.

A native of Oklahoma, her talents were discovered by another entertainer from the Southwest, Hank Thompson. She confesses that much of the stage presence and technique that she possesses was learned from Thompson when she appeared on many shows with him after first entering her career.

"Wanda has consistently been a best seller for Capitol Records and has thrilled millions of fans throughout the world in her personal appearances," said Rev. Hatfield.

Aside from being a favorite of country music shows, fairs, rodeos, and all types of presentations across the United States and Canada, she is one of the few country music artists who has been so talented as to record her songs in native languages in both Germany and Japan, said Hatfield. In 1971 and 1972 she was voted "The Favorite Female Country Music Singer" of the Scandinavian countries and just a few years before received a tremendous reception from country music fans in Japan, Philippines, Korea and the Far East. Mrs. Jackson has been nominated for the Grammy Award for Best Female Performance twice.

In June of 1971 Wanda and her husband, Wendell, were saved and turned their lives over to serving the Lord full time, said Hatfield. This meant sacrificing the night club circuit that she had worked for several years. The

5 Electric Cars Put Up For Lease

DALLAS (AP) — Five battery operated cars that can travel between 40 and 70 miles between charges have been put on the leasing block at the country's first electric vehicle marketing site here.

The cars operate on a half-dozen large batteries that replaced the engines and can be leased for three years at a time for $250 to $300 a month.

That rate, promoters say, is about the same for regular gasoline-operated cars.

Jack Hooker, president of the Electric Vehicle Leasing Co., estimated the cars could be operated for about 33 percent the cost of a gasoline-powered car.

Says Minister In Book...

Unresolved Grief Has Begat Social Problems

HEREFORD, Texas (AP) — Unresolved grief has led to many of the nation's social problems, says a Baptist minister who also is an award-winning newspaper columnist.

Doug Manning says he wrote his new book, "Don't Take My Grief Away From Me," after he attended a series of grief seminars.

"A teenager suffers the loss of a parent. Proper grief help is not given and as an adult the person can fear closeness and intimacy. The fear comes from the pain of losing someone close, and the feeling is: Don't get close, the pain of loss is hard to bear."

Since he is a minister, Manning says some problems have surfaced from his book.

"People expect a religious document, and they want to know why it is not more religious. I think the book is religious. It is not religious because of its content, nor does it sound highly religious. Maybe it's religious because it tries to help people and, to me, that's the most religious act we can do," he said.

Manning added, "I don't think this book is the last word in the field. I hope it is followed by many books that are much better."

Manning has lectured on college campuses across the nation and also speaks at many banquets. His newspaper column, "The Penultimate Word," won a Panhandle Press Association award.

Vets Attend Brucellosis Seminar

Local veterinarian, Charles Church recently attended a two-day seminar in San Antonio in conjunction with the Texas Brucellosis program. It was co-sponsored by the Texas Animal Health Commission, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

Dr. Church and Dr. Robert Kidd are now certified to work with livestock producers in accordance with the regulations of the Texas brucellosis program.

Dr. Kidd attended a seminar in San Angelo earlier this year.

"Veterinarians such as Dr. Church and Dr. Kidd are now quite knowledgeable about the brucellosis program," said Dr. Frank Mann, TVMA president, said.

Brucellosis is a highly contagious disease of livestock, centering in the reproductive organs. It causes abortions, weakened calves, loss of milk and sterility.

Both their children, Gina, 11, and Greg, 10, have been saved, and go with their parents when possible. They sing a song that they have written themselves, and share their own testimonies.

"When troubled lives are explored, it seems they can be traced back to grief or trauma which was not dealt with and therefore, not resolved," he said. "The book is an honest attempt to define the experience and the process of grief recovery."

It may be more important for those not in grief to understand the process, he added.

"The major help in healing must come from friends, and the major hindrance can also come from friends," Manning said.

"Social pressure forces many people to act well before they are well. No one has defined widowhood, so she has no ground rules to follow. If she grieves too long, she is weak. If she does not grieve long enough, she didn't love her husband."

Out-Of Work Yankees Disappointed In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Out-of-work northerners, drawn by reports of endless job opportunities and warm weather, are flocking here only to find they were wrong on both counts.

While the Sunbelt's economy may be a bit brighter than in many cities, Texas is far from an employment mecca. And though snow is not as frequent, temperatures often drop below freezing.

Apparently stories carried in the newspapers up north have painted Dallas to be booming," said the Rev. Jerry Hill, an Episcopal priest who works with the Stewpot, an ecumenical mission that offers food to those who need it.

"Since spring, our numbers here have been increasing markedly," he said.

Locked in the fantasy of low-income people is the idea that if they can only get west, there will be plenty of work.

Those who arrive down and out soon discover the only emergency shelter operated by the city is the jail.

"I would give the city officials very low marks," said Hill, who came to Dallas in 1975 after working in similar missions in Chicago.

The lack of government programs leaves feeding the hungry to private, usually church-sponsored charities.

"I'm coming up with people from the north who pick up everything and move here because they think jobs are here," said Beatrice Jones, director of the Methodist Breadbasket, an emergency pantry for families and the elderly.

"I had a family of five from Wisconsin today, with kids 10 years to 16 months old," she said.

Oleta Bottorf, who coordinates food programs for the Greater Dallas Community of Churches, says the number of hungry people in town has increased radically in the last year.

"I'm just afraid to add it all up," she said. "We have families who have moved here looking for work. We have young people looking for work. And then we have all of the people who already need help — people who have physical problems, who are unemployed, the elderly."

Man To Face Arson Charge

An arson charge has been filed against David Soto Guerra.

Investigators allege Guerra set fire to his own house at 1303 18th St. following a family argument Nov. 19. Set ablaze were two beds and a sofa.

A criminal mischief charge has also been filed against Johnny Wayne Brock of Hermleigh. He is alleged to have destroyed his jail cell commode at the city police department Nov. 25.

arguments are similar to those voiced when the five-digit code was introduced. Despite some opposition then, the code now is used on 98 percent of first-class mail, he said.

The Postal Service will establish toll-free telephone numbers for people wanting to know a ZIP code and plans to print local directories of ZIP codes. A national ZIP code directory will not be feasible because it would be at least 30,000 pages.

By 1986, after a long phase-in period for the $900 million worth of new machines, the Postal Service expects mail sorting costs to be $600 million a year less than they would be under current methods.

Truck Jackknifes On Highway 84

A truck jackknifing early this morning was worked by troopers of the Department of Public Safety.

The accident occurred about 4:55 a.m., approximately 9.5 miles north of town on Highway 84. It involved a 1976 freightliner driven by Kyle Edward Milam of Lubbock.

Physicist Sir Isaac Newton was born in 1642.

The public is invited to attend all services.

DMSO Vendors Walk Thin Line

DALLAS (AP) — Vendors of DMSO, touted as a miracle drug for ailments ranging from arthritis to muscle spasms, walk a delicate legal line.

The Food and Drug Administration has approved the use of dimethyl sulfoxide for a rare bladder problem, but the use and sale of medical grade DMSO is illegal for any other reason.

Roadside peddlers aren't selling medical grade DMSO, but laboratory and industrial varieties, an FDA spokesman says. The sales are legal as long as the vendors are licensed and make no claim as to the drug's medical value.

"I can only sell DMSO as a solvent," said Roy Stewart, who sells the drug from his car at a busy North Dallas intersection. "The FDA prohibits me from telling people its medical effects."

Stewart, 21, sells DMSO on private property adjacent to the intersection. A large hand-painted sign, "DMSO Sold Here," is propped against his car.

Two fur coat-wrapped women pull their silver Cadillac off the road, roll down the window, and ask what ailments DMSO can treat.

Stewart tells them he's not allowed to say, but pulls out a copy of "The Persecuted Drug: The Story of DMSO," and points out the pages touting its effectiveness for arthritis, pain, sprains, wound healing and headaches.

"I can't say anything about what it does medically, but I let them read about it," he said. "I want people to know as much as possible about DMSO. It benefits them and it also benefits me."

Stewart not only sold the women a $17.50 bottle of DMSO, but also the $4 paperback.

"In practical terms, what he is doing is misbranding the product," contends Bill Sedgwick of the FDA. "Most of them are very careful about not suggesting medical uses."

Misbranding a product is punishable by a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Most DMSO vendors are careful not to talk about the drug's curative powers — or to pass out literature, Sedgwick said.

Stewart said he's been selling DMSO in the Dallas-Fort Worth area about a year. "I used it on my knee, and it helped me out," he said. "I believe in it. Also I started getting hungry, and selling this lets me be my own boss."

Police officers from Hurst, Fort Worth, Lake Worth and Westover Hills have questioned him, he said, but he's never been arrested.

"They couldn't do anything," he said. "By law I didn't do anything wrong. I'm just selling a solvent and a book that can be bought in bookstores."

"The sale of DMSO is getting more prevalent all the time," Sedgwick said. "They have found a loophole by selling it as a solvent and making no medical claims about it."

"What we are dealing with is an old-fashioned witch doctorism if you will," he added. "It's difficult to protect people who don't want to be protected."

Scott Joplin's first success, "Maple Leaf Rag," was named for a saloon in Sedalia, Mo.

Keeping Pace With Refugees

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Refugees from Indochina are still arriving in other Southeast Asian countries by the thousands, but resettlement programs are keeping pace with the flow and gradually diminishing the backlog.

Refugee officials say the programs of the major recipient countries — the United States, France, Canada and Australia — are going well, and West Germany is planning to increase the number it accepts.

A spokesman for the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees — UNHCR — said about 9,000 refugees were expected to arrive in Southeast Asian countries this month. Some 6,000 Vietnamese boat people were expected to land in Thailand, Malaysia and Indonesia, while about 3,000 Laotians were expected to cross the Mekong River to Thailand.

The exodus of Cambodians, which reached huge proportions last year, has stopped. Thailand has many more than it can handle and is reluctant to admit more, a reasonable rice harvest is expected in Cambodia in December, and food relief shipments are reported getting to most of the country.

A total of 177,292 refugees were reported in official camps in six Asian countries, Hong Kong and Macao at the end of October. But the number is gradually diminishing.

Last month 23,092 were resettled while 11,350 arrived, according to UNHCR figures. The United States took 9,410, Canada 1,481, France 615, Australia 426, Britain 164 and New Zealand 162.

This month, the UNHCR expects 19,980 to leave Southeast Asia for new homes. The Carter administration and Congress agreed to admit up to 168,000 refugees from Southeast Asia to the United States between Oct. 1, 1980, and Sept. 30, 1981.

Thailand has 263,000 displaced people on its territory, including 145,000.

Cancer of the ovaries

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you please explain the symptoms of cancer of the ovaries? Does a cyst cause the same symptoms? When you have your yearly Pap smear and pelvic exam, is the doctor able to examine the ovaries?

Ovarian cancer seems to be so fatal that I wondered if there weren't any early danger signs or should you have a yearly check for this also?

DEAR READER — You've asked some very important questions. At present, cancer of the ovaries is the fifth most common cause for cancer deaths in women. The estimated cancer deaths for women in 1980 indicate that they will become number four and be more common than deaths from cancer of the uterus.

Many women don't realize that when they have a hysterectomy, even though it's a complete hysterectomy, the ovaries may be left in. That's particularly true in a young woman. These ovaries in a young woman will continue to function.

It follows that you could develop cancer of the ovaries after a hysterectomy and that's one reason why even though a woman has had a hysterectomy she may need to have a regular pelvic examination. That's the only way that the size and shape of her ovaries can be examined. I'm afraid that many women think that after they've had a complete hysterectomy they do not need to worry about cancer of the female reproductive organs again. That's only true if the ovaries were also removed, which is an ovariectomy.

I'm sorry to say that there are usually no early symptoms of cancer of the ovaries. That's why the disease is often fatal. By the time it produces symptoms, it has already spread. Early detection would significantly decrease the number of deaths from cancer of the ovaries.

Despite all the advances in treatment of cancer, it's still true that in many cases the most important aspect of controlling or curing cancer is to detect it early enough to begin treatment early. Information on how cancers spread, the various types of cancer and an overview of our knowledge about them today is included in The Health Letter number 14-8, Cancer: A Fact of Life, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The only way that an ovarian cancer can be detected early is literally through feeling it. The little ovary is felt between the examining hands of the physician. Its size, shape and location are important to him in determining whether any abnormality has occurred.

I'd like to make one other point. Women near or at the menopause, or past the menopause, who require a hysterectomy, probably should have their ovaries removed as well. Once a woman has gone through the change of life and the ovaries are no longer functioning, the only impact they can have on a woman's future life is to develop some disease such as cancer of the ovary which could be fatal. So why leave something in the body that is a potential cause of serious disease or death if it has no function at all?

EARLE MAXWELL

Vice-President Announced At Northern

The president of Northern Electric Company, Larry L. Johnson, has announced the appointment of Earle W. Maxwell, as vice-president—blanket operations. Maxwell is a native of Greenville, S.C. Prior to joining Northern Electric Company in 1973, Maxwell was employed by Essex International in Belton, S.C. He spent three years as technical manager of Northern Blankets, LTD in Manchester, England. Upon returning to the U.S. he was general manager—industrial products division, followed by director of manufacturing—blanket operations.

He is active in many community organizations, and currently serves on the administrative board and council on ministries of the First Methodist Church in Laurel, Miss.

Battered Housing Industry May Get Nailed With Another Crunch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The already-battered housing industry appears on the verge of yet another crunch, the result of ever-rising mortgage rates. And there is mounting concern that help is far, far away as economic strategies shift to efforts to "reindustrialize" America.

While homebuyers and builders may be frustrated and frazzled, the problems of high interest rates and unaffordable houses appear to have a lower priority in official Washington than the shaky future of troubled industries, the nation's waning productivity and costly regulations.

"Retooling American industry may be in conflict with housing for the time being," says Louis H. Nevins, chief Washington lobbyist for the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks. "Housing will continue having a tough time competing for limited capital."

But Nevins adds: "It's not necessarily the wrong decision to go the industrial route."

And Anthony Downs, a housing economist at the Brookings Institution, says the tough times for housing may not be as bad as some distressed builders and lenders claim.

Downs suggests that the housing industry for years has attracted more capital than it should, crowding out investment in more productive areas.

He argues that much of the money channeled into housing has fed speculation, which in turn dramatically inflated home prices.

"It is not that the United States is building too much housing," he says. "The point is that we are providing too much money to finance housing."

The tax advantages of home ownership are overwhelming, he says, particularly compared with the benefits for investing in stocks and bonds.

"A person can sell a house and avoid a huge capital gains tax by acquiring another residence. This option is not open to someone investing in a small business, even though these firms provide most of the nation's innovation and jobs, Downs points out. He calculates that between 1966 and 1971, 16 percent of all capital raised by non-financial sectors went into housing. By 1977, the amount jumped to 28.5 percent.

In addition, total mortgage financing has risen much more sharply than all costs of building new homes. What this means, Downs says, is that an influx of capital sharply inflates housing prices without adding to its supply.

This inflation takes on a life of its own. People divert savings from more productive areas such as stocks and bonds to purchase over-priced homes. They're convinced that this investment will appreciate faster and this belief becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy, Downs explains.

But, he asks, "Do people need as much housing as they are buying?"

In 1979, for example, 22 percent of all home purchases were made by single people, and many of these were large enough for families of four.

She will receive a $100 savings bond and a crack at the next level of competition for her essay on democracy. The national winner will receive a trip to Washington D.C. and a $14,000 scholarship.

most of them Cambodians, in holding centers classed as illegal immigrants and 118,000, mostly Laotians, in other camps. In addition, more than 90,000 Cambodians camped on the Thai-Cambodian border are not eligible for resettlement because they are denied official refugee status, but UNICEF — the United Nations Children's Fund — feeds them.

The presence of so many refugees is a major political issue in Thailand, and the future of the 90,000 camped on the border is the subject of continuing debate.

Many of them are supporters of the Khmer Rouge guerrillas whose government turned Cambodia into a death camp until the Vietnamese army drove it from Phnom Penh nearly two years ago. Many profess to be anti-Vietnamese guerrillas, but their chief interest seems to be supplying the black market inside Cambodia.

Beerless Bars Battle Is Brewing In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — A battle is brewing on Dallas' eastside, with inner city homeowners pitted against neighborhood tavern owners and customers.

The urban pioneers who moved to the once rundown, bar-sprinkled area about two miles east of downtown gave it a fresh lease on life. But they also convinced City Council

Clarendon Man Stabbing Victim

CLARENDON, Texas (AP) — The body of a man, lying in a pool of blood, was found Thanksgiving Day in a house that didn't have plumbing, electricity or heating.

Police Chief Bill Hodges tentatively identified the victim as Louis Mathews, 57, who he said apparently moved into this North Texas town about two months ago.

The man hadn't been seen since 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, and Hodges said Mathews apparently was stabbed to death between then and 1 a.m. Thursday. His body was found Thursday afternoon.

The man's automobile was missing, and Hodges theorized his killer fled in the vehicle afterward. Officers in other cities were asked to watch for the car.

Mathews suffered two stab wounds to the abdomen, said Donley County Justice of the Peace M.O. Weatherly, who ordered an autopsy. Mathews was believed to have lived in Altus, Okla., before moving to Clarendon, Hodges said.

If you're a short person, don't "chop up your body" with bold, contrasting colors. Use one all-over color or a mix of soft tones, suggests Nancy Brown, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

three years ago to pass an ordinance requiring the section's 180 beer bars to forfeit their $300 lager licenses if they changed owners.

New proprietors have to purchase a $2,500 liquor license and be financially eligible for a $7,500 bond required of all hard liquor bar owners.

The result has been a crop of beerless bars.

The ordinance, which now is under fire in City Council chambers, also makes it difficult for proprietors to sell their business for an equitable price. Most pubs simply have closed their doors for good.

"A person works years developing a loyal clientele and a reputable neighborhood bar. Time comes to retire and he wants to sell out. But the ordinance won't let him transfer the beer license, so he's got nothing to sell," said Bonnie Grizzaffi, the burly, bald owner of the building that houses the 21 Club.

The 1977 ordinance did not distinguish between dives and respectable street-corner taverns, he said, adding he's seen establishments sell for $20,000 less than their worth.

On the other hand, says homeowner Betty Cook, "for more than a year, I have not had to roust a drunk from where he was sleeping under the crepe myrtles on my side yard where he stumbled after leaving a Gaston Avenue bar."

City Councilman Ricardo Medrano Wednesday proposed an amendment to the ordinance that would permit beer sales by new owners of bars that were in business before 1977.

Mayor Robert Folsom and many council members gave the proposal a lukewarm reception during a morning briefing and Medrano asked for a three-week postponement on the vote.

Medrano said "less than a handful" of bars would be affected by the modification, but Mrs. Cook and other East Dallas residents told the council they were concerned the area again would be populated by derelicts.

The proposed amendment would affect only a narrow, 50-block corridor of near East Dallas and, Grizzaffi says, allow landlords to evict one bar owner and install another without forfeiting the right to house the beer joint.

But police officers who patrol the eclectic area say they wouldn't look forward to a return of the honky-tonks that kept them hopping.

"We've gotten a lot fewer calls since that ordinance went into effect," said patrolman Jack Covington. As a result, he said, officers spend more time patrolling residential areas.

"I replaced three perfectly good parts before I remembered I was working on my own car!"

Cancer Causing Virus Isolated In Baboons

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Combined research by scientists in Boston and San Antonio has isolated a human virus believed to be the cause of retinoblastoma, a retinal cancer that blinds or kills children under the age of six.

Scientists for Southwest Foundation of Research and Education here and the Eye Research Institute in Boston collaborated on the research that isolated in newborn baboons a human virus, adenovirus type 12, which they say causes cancer in the eyes of infants.

"This is the first time there has been a clear demonstration that a human virus can produce a human-like tumor in a primate that is genetically closely related to humans," the scientists announced Wednesday. "Such information may well make it possible for scientists to develop a means of combating the cancerous effects of the virus."

The researchers said an estimated one case of retinoblastoma occurs for each 18,000 live births in the United States.

"Retinoblastoma is responsible for 1 percent of all deaths from cancer in early childhood and 5 percent of all blindness in children," they reported. "This incidence is much higher in other parts of the world. In Haiti, for example, the occurrence of retinoblastoma leaps to 1 case for every 3,300 births; in the Philippines this rate is even higher."

The Nov. 28 edition of "Science" reports on results of the scientists' eight years of research into retinoblastoma, which until a decade ago was almost always fatal, it was announced.

"New diagnostic techniques make it possible to detect the cancer before it reaches an advanced stage, but the only sure treatment is to remove the eye," the researchers said in the announcement.

"Since retinoblastoma affects both eyes about 25 percent of the time, when a baby is diagnosed with the disease and successfully treated, the child often survives to live a sightless life."

The research was conceived and guided by Dr. Noritsugu Mukai, senior scientist of retinoblastoma research at the Boston Eye Research Center. Mukai found that adenovirus 12 caused brain tumors almost 100 percent of the time when injected into the brains of newborn rodents.

Under Mukai's direction, newborn rats, mice and other small laboratory animals were then injected with adenovirus 12 and 44 percent of the animals developed tumors in their eyes.

Mukai turned to Southwest Foundation to study the virus' effect on primates because the local research facility has more than 1,900 baboons, the largest captive colony in the world.

Dr. S.S. Kalter headed the local research under a grant from the Retina Research Foundation of Houston and the Ewing Halsell Foundation of San Antonio.

Kalter plans to report on his primate virus research Dec. 1 in Nairobi, Kenya, at the Second International Conference on the Impact of Viral Diseases on the Development of African and Middle-East countries. Representatives from 45 nations were to attend.

Wreck Injures State Senator

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — State Sen. Bill Meier of Bedford was seriously injured early today in a pickup accident that killed his brother-in-law, officials said.

Meier, 40, and John Donald Burkett, 34, were driving east on U.S. Highway 290 near Harper in Central Texas when Burkett lost control of his pickup while crossing an ice-slick bridge, a Department of Public Safety spokesman said.

The truck, as well as a 25-foot trailer Burkett was towing, rolled over and the truck plunged 25 feet from the bridge to an embankment below, the spokesman said.

Peace Justice M.C. Blackburn pronounced Burkett, of Bedford, dead at the scene.

A Gillespie County sheriff's spokesman said the accident happened about 12:15 a.m.

Meier was taken to Gillespie County Hospital in Fredericksburg, but later was transferred to Methodist Hospital in San Antonio, where he arrived about 8 a.m.

The DPS spokesman said Meier suffered a broken neck, but a Gillespie spokesman refused to reveal his condition.

A Methodist Hospital spokeswoman said Meier was "in a private room. He is alert... the doctor has not released a condition yet."

U.S. Celebrates Thanksgiving Day

Traditional turkey went creole for Haitian newcomers in Miami while time-honored celebrations marked Thanksgiving Day across the nation — family dinners, Macy's parade, football games and at nightfall, a blaze of Christmas lights to usher in another holiday season.

Turkey seasoned with onions, garlic, cloves and cayenne pepper was dished out for 57 Haitian youngsters Thursday at a refugee camp near Miami. They said grace in their native Creole, and then chorused, "Happy Thanksgiving!"

At the Fort Chaffee, Ark., relocation camp, 6,600 Cuban refugees feasted on a ton of turkey with hundreds of gallons of trimmings. Some also paraded with signs that read: "Thanks To The American People" and "Fort Chaffee, Arkansas, Freedom Land USA."

There was even turkey in China — imported from Hong Kong — for 550 Americans who are exhibitors at a U.S. trade fair in Peking. But their Chinese guests may have been a little puzzled about the origins of the holiday because one of the bilingual Americans was unable to come up with the Chinese word for "Pilgrim."

Thousands of Philadelphians lined city streets for the 61st annual Gimbel's Thanksgiving Day Parade. The colorful procession of floats — depicting "Alice in Wonderland" characters — was followed by Santa Claus in a sleigh pulled by reindeer on a 55-foot float.

Meanwhile, a Bronx, N.Y. couple died in a blaze that started in their kitchen where a turkey was cooking, officials said.

Joseph Hardy, 66, and his 57-year-old wife, Lillian, were found on the second floor of the two-family house and were pronounced dead Thursday morning. The family living below escaped safely.

There was no Thanksgiving at Plymouth Plantation, a reproduction of the Pilgrim village in Massachusetts where it all began in 1621.

The mock Pilgrims, priding themselves on historical accuracy, instead were salting meat, drying fish and putting up vegetables in preparation for winter.

"To have a harvest festival, you have to have something to harvest," said information officer Judy Ingram. "At this time of year there's not a lot left. We do have a harvest celebration, but it's at the end of September, beginning of October."

Cooks at a mountain command post dished up holiday meals for 2,000 firefighters battling devastating fires in southern California.

In Phoenix, Ariz., civic and religious organizations prepared thousands of free meals for area residents. And some 1,000 Chicagoans also enjoyed a free Thanksgiving dinner at the French Port restaurant in the fashionable Lincoln Park area.

And looking ahead to another holiday, nearly 100,000 people circled a giant Christmas tree in downtown Atlanta and sang carols after the traditional lighting of the tree.

To keep down energy costs, make sure the refrigerator and freezer are placed far away from heat sources.

Iraq Gets Ready For Winter

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraq has almost completed building a 57-mile-long wall in Iran's oil-rich Khuzistan Province to protect Iraqi forces against winter floods and possible attempts by Iran to "drown" the invaders by letting loose irrigation dams, an Iraqi newspaper said today.

The government-controlled, English-language, Baghdad Observer also quoted Iraqi engineering corps officers as saying other embankments were under construction to "protect the roads and communication routes of the Iraqi forces from being inundated by flooding from the Karun and Karkheh Rivers.

The Karun runs by the port of Khorramshahr, which the Iraqis seized last month, and the Karkheh by Susangerd, about 75 miles to the north, which both sides have been fighting for the last two weeks.

The report of the wall construction indicated Iraq plans a long siege in Khuzistan. Both Iran and Iraq reported attacking each other's positions. Thursday near Susangerd, which is 35 miles northwest of Ahwaz, the Khuzistan capital, and near Abadan, the refinery city 10 miles south of Khorramshahr.

Iran claimed it killed 440 Iraqis near Susangerd and Abadan and that its jets destroyed ammunition dumps, power stations, a radar antenna and a factory in raids on northern Iraq.

Iran also said its forces killed 30 Iraqis in the Gilan Gharb area, at the northern end of the invasion front in the foothills of the Zagros Mountains overlooking highway routes west to the Iraqi capital of Baghdad.

Iraq reported killing 76 Iraqis and suffering 16 dead along its 300-mile invasion front, but said nothing of Iran's claims, which military observers believe have been exaggerated since the war began nearly 10 weeks ago.

Banks Playing Leapfrog With Interest Rate

NEW YORK (AP) — Some banks are playing a game of leapfrog as they try to keep up with the cost of their own borrowing by raising the prime rate of interest they charge their best customers.

The jumping is leading them closer and closer to the record of 20 percent reached last spring.

Wells Fargo Bank in San Francisco raised its prime rate to 18 percent Wednesday, hopping over other banks which only hours earlier had boosted their rates three-quarters of a point to 17.75 percent.

The rate, 14 percent just a month ago, is now at its highest point since early May, when it was declining from the 20 percent peak reached in early April.

Bank officials said the latest jumps were a response to sharp increases in their cost of acquiring funds as the Federal Reserve tried to combat inflation by tightening credit.

The leap in the prime rate means higher borrowing costs for most businesses. A bank's most creditworthy corporate borrowers pay the prime rate on their loans. Smaller businesses pay as much as three percentage points above the prime.

No other major banks matched the increase by Wells Fargo, the nation's 11th largest bank. Most moved to 17.75 percent, the rate set by Chase Manhattan Bank earlier Wednesday.

The moves came at the outset of the holiday shopping season, which traditionally begins the day after Thanksgiving, and many retailers were fearful that high interest rates will keep customers away or persuade them to buy less.

Other segments of the economy are blaming rising interest rates for some of their problems. Chrysler Chairman Lee A. Iacocca says interest rates are now "our only problem" and are keeping customers out of auto showrooms.

First Time In 8 Years

Rice Glad To Be On TV

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

For the first time in more than eight years, the Rice Owls will be on television at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

"Excited? I can tell you we're excited," Rice Coach Ray Albarn said. "It's just another sign of the progress our program is making."

The Owls tangle in the Astrodome with crosstown rival Houston before ABC-TV's regional television cameras. Rice has upset Louisiana State, Texas A&M and Arkansas this year and was the underdog when it defeated Texas Christian.

Houston, which will play in the Garden State Bowl against Navy, is an 18-point favorite.

The Cougars have two losses and can clinch second place in the Southwest Conference standings behind unbeaten champion Baylor. Houston has already clinched at least a tie for second place.

Not since Oct. 21, 1972, when Rice played SMU in Dallas, have the Owls made a network television appearance.

And besides that one, there have been three video games for Rice in the past 20 years. The Owls appeared in the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 1, 1961, and in the Bluebonnet Bowl in December of 1961. The only other network TV appearances since then were a regional game with Texas Tech in the late 1960s and the 1972 matchup with SMU.

"A win would cap quite a season for us," Albarn said. "Not many folks thought we would win a game. We're getting a lot of response on the recruiting trail. It's been an exciting, upbeat season for us."

In other games, the Bluebonnet Bowl-bound Texas Longhorns are 12-point favorites to run over the Texas Aggies in Memorial Stadium, and Arkansas is a touchdown pick over the Texas Tech Red Raiders in Little Rock.

The Rice-Houston game was originally scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Astrodome.

The A&M-Texas game is a big one for Aggie Coach Tom Wilson, who is under fire for the Cadets' sagging season.

Asked if he is worried about his players getting too high, Wilson said, "That's no problem for my team. I'd just as soon have the players real high emotionally."

The Aggies junked the I-formation last week and went to a split-back offense last week to defeat Texas Christian. Wilson said his team will stay with the new offense. "We're still busy learning and polishing it," Wilson said. "No matter what the record of either team is, it will be a game where the two teams will compete."

Arkansas, which will play Tulane in the Hall of Fame Bowl, hopes to end their regular season at 6-5.

Tech also can have a winning record with a victory.

"The goal of any football team is to have a winning season, so it's a safe bet both teams will be anxious to play," Tech Coach Rex Dockery said.

Rice can have five victories for the first time in seven seasons if it beats the Cougars. Houston has beaten Rice in all four meetings since the Cougars joined the SWC.

Bears Top Honor List

DALLAS (AP) — To the conqueror belongs all the booty, and the Baylor Bears captured most of The Associated Press 1980 All-Southwest Conference football honors just like they sacked the football championship.

Coach Grant Teaff was named Coach of the Year by his fellow coaches and All-American linebacker Mike Singletary earned Defensive Player of the Year laurels while junior halfback Walter Abercrombie was tabbed Offensive Player of the Year.

Never in Baylor's history has it had so many players on The AP first and second teams.

It's an All-Baylor backfield with the exception of SMU sophomore Craig James.

Abercrombie and Dennis Gentry posted the green-and-gold colors on the first team although Gentry and James tied in the balloting.

Offensive guard Frank Ditta was the other Baptist on the first team offense.

Defensively, Singletary, the awesome middle linebacker, tackle Joe Campbell, linebacker Doak Field, feisty sophomore end Charles Benson, and ballhawking defensive back Vann McElroy were the Baylor representatives on the mythical squad.

Second team superlatives went to wide receiver Robert Holt, tackle Eddy Gregory, and defensive end Max McGeary.

That gives Baylor 11 players on the SWC top 44. Other first teamers included

Texas guard Les Studdard, tackles Lee Spivey off SMU and Terry Tausch of Texas, center Lance Pederson of SMU, wide receivers Bobby Stewart and Stanley Washington of TCU and tight end Robert Hubble of Rice.

On defense, first teamers were Leonard Mitchell of Houston, Kenneth Sims of Texas, Harvey Armstrong of SMU in the line besides Benson and Campbell.

Rice's Robert Williamson earned a first team linebacker spot while SMU's sensational John Simmons, Texas Tech's hard-hitting Ted Watts, and Kevin Evans of Arkansas rounded out the secondary with McElroy.

The punter was Steve Cox of Arkansas and the placekicker was Eddie Garcia of SMU.

Baylor quarterback Jay Jeffrey and Texas Tech's Renie Baker, a second-team wide receiver, were voted the Offensive Newcomers of the Year while Texas A&M freshman Jerry Bullitt was the Defensive Newcomer.

Rice's Ray Albarn was second in the Coach of the Year balloting and SMU's Ron Meyer a close third as the private schools had their first winning year against the state schools since 1963.

Teaff's Bears were generally picked for a second division finish but they swept all eight league foes without a blemish to take the host spot in the Cotton Bowl against Alabama New Year's Day.

In the latest AP Poll, the Bears were No. 8 in the land.

But He Felt For Seahawks...

Performance Pleases Landry

IRVING, Texas (AP) — After the pounding they took from the Dallas Cowboys, no one would have blamed the Seattle Seahawks if they had come up with some excuse.

The final was 51-7, and it as bad, or worse than the score indicated.

The Cowboys, virtually assuring themselves of their 15th trip to the National Football League playoffs in 16 years, delivered a quick knockout to the Seahawks, who self-destructed with four fumbles and three interceptions.

"You've got to be pleased," Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said. "It's hard to score that many points in a dummy scrimmage. I felt for Seattle."

Besides the fumbles and interceptions, the Seahawks quarterbacks were sacked five times.

Even trick plays turned into embarrassment. Quarterback Jim Zorn gave Dallas a safety when he was flagged for intentional grounding while trying to pass from his own end zone in the first quarter.

Landry gave one of his former players, Coach Jack Patera, quite a lesson.

"As I've said before, it's nice to be in the playoff position, but what we really want to do is to play well."

Landry said. "If we can play well the next three weeks, I think we will be ready for a playoff shot."

The 10-3 Cowboys, who trail Philadelphia by 1½ games in the NFC East, play Oakland, Los Angeles and the Eagles to close out their schedule.

"We'll have a test," Landry said.

Dallas built a 30-0 halftime lead and cruised to victory.

"It was my impression that the Cowboys were always getting the ball on our 10-yard line," Patera said. "I can't give any reason — a tipped ball, a fumble. There's really nothing you can do about a score when it starts building like that."

Dallas quarterback Danny

Woman Named To WBA Committee

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The World Boxing Association elected a woman to its executive committee for the first time in its 59-year history, selecting Kiawatja G. Knight, a Detroit schoolteacher, as an association committee member.

The WBA also unanimously ratified Panamanian Rodriguez Sanchez for a second term as president.

White threw touchdown passes of 18 yards to Tony Hill and 14 yards to tight end Billy Joe DuPree, who also caught a 12-yard scoring pass from backup Glenn Carano, his first NFL completion.

Tony Dorsett scored twice on runs of 1 yard and gained 107 yards on 24 carries. It was Dorsett's 18th 100-yard day, surpassing Calvin Hill's club record.

The Seahawks avoided a shutout when Zorn flipped a 2-yard pass to Ron Essink on a tackle-eligible play late in the game.

Lions Are Evans' Best Friend

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Vince Evans has plenty of reasons for giving thanks, but the Chicago quarterback must be especially thankful for the Detroit Lions.

Evans received his first National Football League start of the season six weeks ago against Detroit, led his team to an easy victory, and has become the Bears' offensive leader.

On Thursday he did in the Lions once again, rallying the Bears from a 14-point deficit in the fourth quarter to set up an overtime period which lasted exactly 21 seconds.

Chicago won the coin toss and return specialist Dave Williams raced 95 yards with the kickoff to give the Bears a heart-stopping 23-17 triumph.

"I felt, and I could see everyone else on our team felt, we could still win the ball game," Evans said. "We needed this win in a big way."

The fourth quarter was less than three minutes old when Evans concluded an 86-yard, nine-play drive by hitting tight end Bob Fisher with a 20-yard touchdown pass to narrow the score to 17-10.

With 3:37 left, the Bears began a drive on their own 6-yard line. Evans drove them to the Detroit 4 where — he dropped back, found his receivers covered, then darted straight up the middle and dove over the goal line with no time left on the clock to force the overtime.

Evans, a fourth-year pro from Southern California, completed 11 of 22 passes for

Browns Get Nod In Tiff With Oilers

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer

Talk about showdowns and late-season confrontations, there are two major ones in the National Football League Sunday.

Go with the Browns in the major showdown and the Giants in the minor one.

Last week's 9-4 (6-7 with the points) left the season's record at 100-65-1 (66-100 with points). The picks:

Giants 20, Cards 14
The winner moves out of the NFC East basement. Can New York stand the big-game pressure? St. Louis favored by 2 points.

Browns 21, Oilers 13
A second chance at the top for Cleveland. Brian Sipe won't let it get away. Houston favored by 3½.

Rams 30, Jets 24
New York should have lost last week, blowing a 21-point fourth quarter lead at home. Los Angeles favored by 10.

Falcons 24, Redskins 13
Steve Bartkowski is playing the best football of his career for Atlanta. Most Redskins are not. Atlanta favored by 9½.

Steelers 20, Dolphins 10
Is there a rule that you must have 45 men on the roster? Pittsburgh may have that many on injured reserve. Pittsburgh favored by 6½.

Vikings 23, Saints 7
New Orleans has to win one eventually, right? Not necessarily. Minnesota favored by 6½.

Packers 13, Bucs 10
These teams tied the last time they played, but Green Bay has improved since then, and Tampa Bay has not. Green Bay favored by 4½.

Bills 24, Colts 14
Buffalo sniffs playoff land, an enticing aroma. Buffalo favored by 1½.

Chiefs 21, Bengals 13
Chiefs are among the league's most improved teams and are on the road back to success. Kansas City favored by 7.

Patriots 33, 49ers 17
This is no time for a letdown by the Pats, who are occasionally prone to that syndrome. New England favored by 7.

Chargers 24, Eagles 17
San Diego has three extra days of rest and preparation, and that makes a difference. San Diego favored by 3½.

Raiders 27, Broncos 14
Jim Plunkett's amazing comeback keeps Oakland tied for the AFC West lead. Oakland favored by 4.

Rams Halt WTC Winning Streaks

SAN ANGELO—Previously winless Angelo State Junior Varsity snapped the longest winning streak in the nation Wednesday night with a 10-7 upset over the Western Texas College Westerners.

It was the first loss of the season for Coach Larry Dunaway's defending national junior college champions and broke the season's winning string at 8 and the two-year string at 45 games.

The Angelo State Rams earlier this season were 36-point victims of the Westerners.

"Apparently we just didn't think it was necessary to do anything but show up," said Dunaway.

The Westerner coach attributed the loss to a variety of factors, including poor defense and an ineffective press.

"We just weren't mentally prepared and it's the coach's responsibility to have the team prepared," Dunaway added.

"I have to tip my hat to a team we beat 36 points that comes back to get their first win of the season," Dunaway said. "It showed a lot of character on their part."

The Westerners start conference play Tuesday night in Levelland against South Plains College.

"It's for keeps now and I'm quite concerned about it," said Dunaway. "They (SPC)

Top Seeds

Victorious

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — All of the seeded players, led by Heinz Günthard of Switzerland, captured the second round matches in the SAB Tennis Open.

Günthard, seeded fourth, stopped American Ferdie Taygan 6-3, 6-4.

Eighth-seeded Paul McNamee of Australia defeated Robert Van T'Hof of the United States 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 and sixth-seeded Andrew Pattison of Zimbabwe beat Peter Elter of West Germany 6-3, 7-5.

In other matches, fifth-seeded Mel Purcell of the United States beat Rolf Gehring of West Germany 6-4, 3-0 when the German withdrew with blisters on his hands.

have a good basketball team. "We didn't handle success well, and I'm not sure how well we'll be able to handle it," Dunaway said.

The Westerners took a short break for the Thanksgiving holidays and are scheduled to resume workouts tomorrow.

Dunaway also had high praise for two Snyder products on the ASU team—Kyle Short and Randy

Courtney. "They both played an excellent ball game."

Dunaway was pleased with his team's 57-point effort in the second half, but defense again allowed ASU to score 60 points.

Top scorer for WTC was Caesar Scott with 21 points, followed by Donald Warren with 17, Keith Denis with 16 and Chuck North with 13.

College Cagers Launch Season

Triggered by the Great Alaskan Shootout tournament, among others, the 1980-81 college basketball season opens with a bang tonight across America.

Five of the nation's Top Twenty teams are part of the glamorous field in Anchorage — 11th-ranked Missouri, No. 12 Louisiana State, No. 13 North Carolina, No. 16 Georgetown and 20th-ranked Arkansas.

"One of these days," says Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton, "if the field continues as it has in the past, I think you'll have the preview of the national championship game right there in Alaska."

Kentucky, ranked No. 1 in the country, won the tourney last year. The season before, when the tourney was called "The Sea Wolf Classic," Louisville — last year's NCAA champion — was a finalist.

Sutton's Razorbacks play Missouri in one of the opening-round games. In other action, LSU meets Colgate, North Carolina takes on Alaska-Anchorage and Georgetown plays Nicholls State.

The Virginia Tipoff Tournament at Charlottesville, Va., featuring eighth-ranked Virginia; the Lapchick Memorial Tournament in New York, with No. 17 St. John's; Wendy's Classic at Bowling Green, Ky., and the IPTAY at Clemson, S.C., are among other tournaments opening tonight.

Virginia plays Bucknell and Virginia Tech meets Lafayette in opening-round games of the Virginia Tipoff, while in the Lapchick tourney, it's St. John's vs. James Madison and Penn against Weber State.

Iona, Vanderbilt, South Carolina and Western Kentucky play in the Wendy's Classic while Clemson, Cornell, Rice and Fairfield will participate in the IPTAY.

In other action tonight involving the nation's Top Twenty teams, fourth-ranked Maryland opens at home against Navy; No. 6 UCLA hosts Virginia Military; 15th-ranked Texas A&M plays at Maine, and No. 18 Brigham Young travels to Washington. Both UCLA and Brigham Young play again Saturday, both against ranked teams. UCLA meets No. 10 Notre Dame in a continuation of their torrid rivalry, while BYU takes on No. 7 Oregon State.

Kentucky, meanwhile, opens Saturday against East Tennessee with Coach Joe B. Hall puzzled about his team's No. 1 ranking.

"I'm a little bewildered by the pick," he says. "I can't visualize how we got picked No. 1 in the nation. LSU deserves a higher ranking. There's not much reason in picking an inexperienced team No. 1. Last year's champion, Louisville, and the runnerup, UCLA, each have four starters back."

Also on Saturday, fifth-ranked Indiana will play Ball State; No. 9 Ohio State will host Cleveland State; No. 14 Iowa travels to Northern Illinois, and Columbia is at No. 19 Syracuse.

The NCAA's season actually opened officially last weekend, when second-ranked DePaul beat No. 3 Louisville 86-80 in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass.
