Three-Year Tax Cut Called Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) - The chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee pronounced President Reagan's three-year tax cut all but dead on Wednesday and urged Republicans to help draft a "consensus" alternative with just a one-year reduction.

But while Rep. Daniel Rostenkowski, D-Ill., predicted the committee would pass a more limited package of its own design, 20 Senate Republicans appealed to Reagan to "promise now to veto any tax bill" stripped of the across-the board reductions of 30 percent over three years.

"One-Year Bill"
Rostenkowski said his panel would commit itself to reviewing a need for tax cuts in future years, but its legislation would be a one-year bill." Treasury Secretary Donald Regan later told reporters that talk of a possible veto of any alternative bill is premature, since he believes the administration's approach still has a chance at passage.

"That bill is far from dead in our opinion," he said, and termed Rostenkowski's comments " most unfortun-

Public Support Cited

Asked about assertions the administration lacks the votes to pass the bill, he said, "We're counting the votes out there somewhere west of the Potomac," a reference to repeated administration claims that the public supports the president.

Sen. William Roth, R-Del., speaking for the 20 Republican senators at a news conference, said the group would not support either business tax cuts or reductions in taxes for unearned income unless the tax bill also contained across-theboard reductions, as well.

"At this time of economic emergency for Americans, it would be the height of irresponsibility for us to help business and the wealthy at the same time without giving real and substantial help to the American middle class." said the letter.

Roth is the Senate author of the Reagan tax plan, while Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., is his counterpart in the House director of electric utilities, said of State Sen. E.L. Short. "He may be working behind the scenes, but he's not doing much out front," said Carroll McDonald, director of electric utilities.

The board indicated that Short had failed to make any visible attempt at killing a competing bill which came before the state senate state affairs committee earlier this week.

The competing bill would prevent duplicating services and dual certificates as they are now issued by the state Public Utilities Commission.

The city utility recently obtained permission from the PUC to serve a newly annexed area which already was served by South Plains Electrical Co-op.

McDonald said that although about 14 persons testified against the competitor's bill S.B. 416, it was referred to a committee which he said was friendly to the State Co-op Association which is pushing

Only one person, a supporter of the association, testified in favor of the bill, said McDonald.

Joan Baker Testifies

City Councilwoman Joan Baker testified on behalf of Lubbock, he added.

'Maybe he (Short) needs a Republican opponent at the next election," said board member Lonnie Hollingsworth before adding, "I'm just joking."

In other business the board received a demonstration of a new piece of equip-ment aimed at helping determine insulation needs of structures.

The device, marketed by an out-of-state company can be pointed at walls and ceilings to determine their R-value, a measure of insulation, said LP&L employee Brian Strait.

The board approved the purchase of the $1,500 device. Customers will be able to request that the device be used to test the energy efficiency of their buildings, Strait said.

Wednesday, the appeals court reversed and remanded a ruling by U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward, who had ruled that the at-large system did not discriminate against blacks and Mexican-Americans. However, based on sketchy information immediately available about the ruling, attorneys for both the plaintiffs and defendants say the unanimous appellate decision does not strike down Woodward's ruling but sets new, stricter standards by which voter discrimination cases are judged.

The new standards are the result of. an April 1980 Supreme Court ruling. The High Court held that discriminatory intent must be shown before an election system violates the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment

City Trial Attorney Jim Brewster, who handled the defendant's side of the suit, said Wednesday he understood the case had be returned to Woodward's court for additional findings of intent to discriminate. The city had argued before the appellate panel that Woodward had gone into great detail and had addressed the intent standard sufficiently, he said

But because the appeals court remanded the judge's decision, Brewster speculated the plaintiffs in the case the Rev. Roy Jones, Gonzalo Garza, Juan Antonio Reyes and Rose Wilson - will have to bear the burden of the additional torney from West Texas Legal Services handling the case for the plaintiffs, agreed the appellate ruling will make it tougher for his clients.

"The Mobile case changed the standards of proof," he said. "The appeals court had no choice but to reverse and remand the case."

Woodward's rulng was appealed in June 1979. The Supreme Court's ruling on the Mobile case was handed down about 10 months later and effectively changed the entire set of rules used in judging election discrimination cases,

According to Woodward's judgment, handed down on June 8, 1979, at-large election systems were adopted at the turn of the century statewide because of pressures from reformist groups who wanted to avoid the graft, corruption and political machines which characterized single-member districts and ward systems of the period.

He ruled in favor of the city by finding there is absolutely no evidence that the at-large system was developed with the intention of discriminating against minorities or favoring the majority or white

DA's Chief Administrator Quitting

By KIM COBB Avalanche-Journal Staff

AN INCREASE in area political activity and a desire for more money are the reasons Hal Hensley, chief administrator for the district attorney's office, gives for leaving his county position to resume a political consultant's business. And while some of the political activity may well come from within the prosecutor's office, Hensley says he is not leaving his job under pressure from anybody. Hensley, who served as Criminal Dis trict Attorney John T. Montford's campaign manager during the 1978 election. has served as chief administrator from the beginning of Montford's term. Hensley said Wednesday he told Montford at the outset he would take the job for two years and make a decision about the future from that point. His decision to leave comes just after the twoyear mark. But in recent days, Hensley has been helping assistant district attorney Travis Ware with his plans to run for district attorney should Montford decide against a second term, and speculation on Montford's political future is on the increase.

"The timing of this is rather inopportune," Hensley admitted, but quickly added his decision to leave doesn't have anything to do with Ware's plans. Neither does it indicate Montford has made a decision about running for another political office, Hensley said.

There has been some heat coming down," the administrator said, referring to criticism of a State Senate bill he helped introduce which would reduce from five years to four the experience as a bar certified attorney required for candidates for the Lubbock prosecutor's post. Passage of that bill would make Ware eligible to run for the office.

But any criticism he has taken as a result of the bill, introduced by Tahoka Sen. E.L. Short, has not been a factor in his decision to leave, Hensley said. He told Montford as long as a month ago he would be leaving in April or May -astatement backed up by the district attor-

'I'm not leaving under any duress this is an idea whose time has come," Hensley said.

Although Hensley once said observers could tell if Montford had decided to run for state attorney general by if and when Hensley left the district attorney's office, the administrator said Wednesday his decision to leave does not necessarily indicate that now.

"As far as I know - and I think I'll know as early as anyone — there's not going to be enough information out there for John to make a good, valid decision about what to run for until July," he said. "(Current Attorney General) Mark White has not said what he's going to do,

Crisis Team Plan Angers Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. was "very upset and sulking" and was "pounding the table" because he wasn't given crisis command authority by the White House and he left his staff wondering Wednesday night if he would resign, an informed official said.

Although President Reagan reaffirmed that Haig was his "principal ad-viser on foreign affairs," Haig was said to feel the endorsement fell short of what he wanted because Reagan didn't explicitly say the secretary of the state was in

Weather Costs Computer May Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) - One day the weather forecast may not only say how hot it will be, but what it will cost for air conditioning to cope with it.

That possibility arises from a new computer model developed by Douglas M. Le Compte and Henry Warren of the Environmental Data and Information

Service, a branch of the Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration

What Le Compte and Warren did was compile temperature data for several summers in a computer and combine it with detailed information on electricity use and other material to develop pat-

Quake Predicted Along Fault

tists predicted Wednesday that a damaging earthquake will occur on the Parkfield segment of the San Andreas Fault in Monterey County before the end of U.S. Geological Survey seismologist William H. Bakun and Thomas McEvilly of the Seismographic Station at the University of California said they applied a mathematical model, used to predict a small 1976 tremor on the Calaveras Fault east of San Jose, to a segment of the San Andreas near Parkfield.

They reported their findings Wednesday to a Seismological Society of America conference here

Bakun said that if the model, which never before has been applied to the San Andreas Fault, proves accurate, a quake measuring about 5.6 on the Richter Scale will rattle the sparsely populated Parkfield area between 1984 and 1990.

The predicted quake would be similar east of Parkfield, Bakun said. He said it also would be felt as far north as San Jose and as far south as Los Angeles.

The research model, first developed in 1976 by three of Bakun's colleagues, predicted an earthquake registering between 3 and 4 on the Richter scale along the Calaveras fault within 48 days of Jan. 1, 1977. A 3.2 quake struck on Dec. 8,

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. Thus a reading of 7.5 reflects an earthquake 10 times stronger than one of 6.5.

An earthquake of 3.5 on the Richter scale can cause slight damage in a local area, 4 can cause moderate damage, 5 considerable damage, 6 can be severe. The San Francisco earthquake of 1906

Faced with meeting a June 15 compliance deadline or losing an estimated quarter of a billion dollars in federal funding, state higher education officials are scurrying to formulate an Equal Education Opportunity Plan.

Attorney General Mark White says the plan - designed to "reduce discrepencies" in minority enrollment is not a victory either for state or federal officials, but rather, "The victors are the young people of Texas - white, black and Hispanic - who will receive a better education.

Texas Tech University regents will consider such a equal opportunity plan Friday at its regularly scheduled board

Tech regents also will consider giving authority to take bids for general construction of the $4 million Petroleum Engineering Building addition and bids for installation of a passenger elevator in the Journalism Building. The elevator would be part of Tech's compliance with federal guidelines on accaessability of build-

Judge Robert C. Wright of the 137th District Court will preside at swearing-in ceremonies at 8:30 a.m. Friday, giving the oath of office to Tech's three new board members. They are Anne Burnett hillips of Fort Worth and Rex Fuller and John E. Birdwell II, both of Lubbock.

Although Tech already has made informal agreements with the City of Lubbock to provide right-of-way space to expand the width of University Avenue, at Friday's board meeting regents will consider the actual land leasing agreement.

They also will consider extending the boundaries of the Ranching Heritage Center to make room for the 6666 Barn which was donated to the school last summer by new regent Mrs. Phillips.

Other agenda items include a pro-service bids, renovation of Gaston, Gordon and Coleman dorms, and consideration of nominees to be awarded honorary degrees from Texas Tech and the medical school. Health Sciences Center agenda items include a proposal to increase the amount awarded to students receiving tuition scholarships, which are funded by the Texas Legislature.

Under the existing program, medical students who meet financial need and academic standing requirements can receive up to $250. The scholarships are limited to five percent of the enrollment of each class.

That means that 17 students will be awarded the scholarships for 1981-82, including five freshmen, five sophomores, four juniors and three seniors, according to Jim Bob Jones, associate dean for stu-

House Panel Approves Water Fund Proposal

A-J Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - The House Committee on Constitutional Amendments has approved an amended version of Speaker Bill Clayton's proposal to create a special water fund.

By a 6-2 vote, the committee recommended to the full House that it pass the committee substitute for House Joint Resolution 33, a proposed constitutional amendment

Clayton's original proposal would allow the Legislature to put any surplus state funds into at least two special accounts: one would be a leverage account for insuring the credit on bonds issued for water projects: the other would be used to actually retire the bond indebted-

The subcommittee which considered the resolution, chaired by Rep. Hamp Atkinson, D-New Boston, changed the proposal to allow the Legislature, by a fourfifths vote of the membership, to remove funds from the second account for use in profit as banks.

Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin. proposed an amendment which would allow the same process for the leverage ac-

After wording the amendment to insure that no funds could be removed which already were backing issued bonds, the committee unanimously approved the amendment. Mrs. Delco said, that without the amendment, the Legislature would "literally be setting (the fund) in concrete."

The committee voted to adopt the substitute over the objection of Rep. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, who contended that the committee needed more time to study the proposal.

Meanwhile, a proposal raising the ceiling on interest rates charged to consumers apparently has the votes to clear the House, but a Houston legislator wants to amend the bill to help lending institutions that are not making as much

Quota On Imports Ill-Advised

PRESIDENT Reagan apparently has decided to take the middle road and pressure Japan to "voluntarily" limit the number of cars it exports to the United States. Even that, in preference to supporting

Congressional moves to impose import quotas on foreign-made cars, is certain to mean higher prices for American consumers, how-

While we like the "buy American" idea, we think American industry should compete by building better products that provide better value for the consumers' dollars-not by being protected from foreign competition.

automakers have gouged the American con-sumer through sweetheart wage and benefit deals and price increases.

When the consumer finally rebelled and turned to smaller, cheaper foreign-made models, the union and industry bosses found

tion, they can continue to raise prices and restore profitability to the ailing domestic industry without putting their houses in order and paying more attention to productivity and quality

Japan, which sold 1.9 million cars in this country last year, is being pressured to cut that number to 1.6 million a year or face an even more drastic mandatory quota.

"A quota is a quota, whether legislated or negotiated," The Wall Street Journal noted, however, in opposing any restrictions because they "would take away the pressure on the U.S. auto industry to lower labor costs and boost production efficiencies.

Ford and GM themselves have complained recently that an agreement by the UAW to forego wage and benefit boosts at Chrysler will mean that Chrysler can build cars $200 or more cheaper than they can.

This illustrates just how many hundreds of dollars existing fat labor contracts are adding to the price of each American-made car.

IMPORT QUOTAS, which some members of Congress back as a "temporary" measure to let Detroit get back on its feet, would lead to international trade wars reminiscent of those which triggered, aggravated and prolonged the Great Depression of the 1930s.

While the U.S. should insist that its trading partners, including Japan, compete fairly with American industry, it can only damage itself in the long run if it triggers trade wars.

As the WSJ points out, steel prices rose rapidly in this country when the U.S. steel industry was protected by "voluntary" Japanese and European export restraints between 1969 and 1975.

During that time, the domestic industry grew less competitive, labor costs soaring and plants becoming more and more obso-

Vaunted American industrial might should give foreign auto producers all the competition they can stand-and it will, we are convinced, if the American government forces it to bite the bullet rather than be shielded from it with any sort of quota.

And because the attendant may be feeling miserable inwardly, the real message in the smile beamed at a passenger may not be good will, but hostility.

The reasons are varied and not fully understood in all cases. Part of it is the natural stress and fatigue that result from working on tight schedules in confined quarters. Particular routes and typical passenger

Network Of Terror

A Spanish admiral was assassinated by a Basque terrorist organization trained in Cuba and South Yemen by East Germans, Palestinians and Cubans, and using explosives acquired from Irish terrorists who first met the Basques in Algiers, under the auspices of the Soviet KBG.

While engaged in the research for "The Terror Network," her stunning new book about terrorism in the 1970s, Sterling was asked by President Carter's National Security Council adviser on terror-

ANDREW TULLY:

WASHINGTON-I was on the annual hot seat, doing the hateful paper work bad old Uncle Sam requires of his nephews and nieces for proper preparation of their income tax returns.

Blast that paper work! It adds insult to the injury of having to pay the tax. Had I spent that night writing a novel, I could have made a bundle. Well -a small bundle So every year I metaphorically aim a kick at the shins of the real villain a guy named Alexander Dallas, wherever his spirit may be wandering.

Dallas, the wretch, was Secretary of the Treas ury during the War of 1812, and it was he who first had the temerity to propose a tax on American in-

DALLAS WAS convinced an income tax would solve all the new country's financial problems. He predicted the tax would raise a whopping $3 milion a year, and the United States would be 'solvent forever after.'

Ah there, deficit lovers! Anyway, the war ended before Dallas could sell his dastardly plan to Congress. But Dallas died convinced that his was an idea whose time eventually would come

He was right-more than once. The Civil War is blamed for a lot of things, and every April 15 Americans should remember, with curses, that it brought the nation's first income tax.

The Treasury was nearly empty, so Lincoln and Congress got together in 1861 to pass a vague law which "committed" the Republic to an income tax. It was never enforced.

THEN, ON July 1, 1862, Lincoln signed into law a measure imposing two rates of income tax-3 percent on those in the $600 to $10,000 bracket. and 5 percent on those making more than $10,000 a year. Taxes on government salaries were to be withheld at the source, a significant first.

But the tax, in the language of the day, was 'allowed to lapse' in 1872 (an election year) after vielding $376 million during its 10 years of existence. It is relevant to note that 1972 was an elec-

Still with me? Another income tax bill became law in 1894—without the signature of President Grover Cleveland. That law exempted incomes under $4,000 and was called a tax on thrift and a penalty upon success although nobody paid at a rate of more than 2 percent.

ENTER THE Supreme Court. In May of 1895, the highest bench declared the tax unconstitutional on the ground that a tax on real and personal property was a direct tax and not apportioned among the states, as the Constitution decreed

However, as is well known, we've always had a lot of rascals in Washington. So in 1913 the rascals of that day managed to get the 16th Amendment adopted.

It provided that Congress thereafter would have the power to tax income from whatever source derived, without sharing any dough with the states.

Satisfied, Alexander Dallas? Does your spirit rest easily at night? Or does it toss and turn, sleep denied by the woeful cries of a burgled citizenry?

ism. "You don't really believe this bunk about international terrorism, do you?"

She believes it, and she believes he did, too. (He was as "persuasive as a Sicilian building contractor swearing that there is no such thing as the

Worse even than the fiction that the Cold War ended in the 1970s is the fiction that there was no hot war between Russia and the West. Actually, there was the hot war of terrorism, which was no less a war for being entirely one-sided.

Relentlessly piling detail upon detail, Sterling demonstrates that Russia turned the two 'magnetic poles' of terrorism-Cuba and Palestinian "resistance"-into wholly owned subsid-

SHE ARGUES, convincingly, that none of the terrorist bands noted in her book could have operated without help from Cuba or the Palestinians,

'There is," she writes, "nothing random in this concerted assault on the shrinking area of the world still under democratic rule.'

The teachers have been Cubans, East Germans, North Koreans—"all in the family." The targets have never included a regime under Soviet patron-

In addition to being a crackling good read, Sterling's book is an important event, not only because of what it will make broadly known about terrorists, and about governments appeasing them, but also because of what the reaction to the book will reveal

It will reveal the tenacity and dishonesty of some persons whose sense of intellectual and moral superiority depends on disparaging, in the most condescending way, people who allow evidence to interfere with the spirit of detente.

THE WASHINGTON Post Magazine published an excerpt from Sterling's book, but preceded it with a sophomoric article of heavyhanded hostili-

The author's standards of argument are even lower than his literary style, a sample of which is: "Into this politics-besmirched tableau now enters Claire Sterling.

The author, a staff writer for the magazine, says the idea of "a Russian-under-every-bush" strikes "the State Department" and other "experts" as 'naive.

The "theory" that Russians are "sneaky" and 'diabolically omnipotent' has an "intoxicating appeal" in Reagan's Washington and will "play in Peoria" because it is "easily grasped" and involves a "popular villain."

He dismisses Sterling's well-documented thesis of Soviet culpability as "simple.

THE SNIDENESS and crudeness of the author's caricature derives, I suspect, from a desperate desire to dismiss Sterling's mountain of evidence about Communist-run training camps, weapons transfers and finances.

Sterling's book reads like a legal brief written by a master of suspense—say, Eric Ambler

The case she makes means that a lot of intellectuals have invested a lot of their lives in theories about the Soviet Union that are not just wrong but preposterous

Her argument is especially convincing because she is a woman of the Left, and is regrettably reluctant to reach the conclusions she reaches.

IT IS TIRESOME to be told, in 1981, by a writer of her distinction, how hard it is to "shake off the belief that the Left is always and necessarily Good.

And it is disappointing that she speaks of Cuba and Palestinians perpetrating "the dangerous illusions that the terrorists were authentic leftists."

Illusion? Dangerous? To what? Sterling's brave reporting-yes, brave: she lives in Italy, home of the terrorist Red Brigades-demonstrates beyond doubt that the terrorists are authentic leftists.

The fact that a writer as distinguished as Sterling tries, even perfunctarily to dissociate the terrorists from the Left is a genuflection by her at an altar unworthy of her.

It is what Kipling called "a-wastin' Christian kisses on an 'eathen idol's foot.'

The Haig

And Us

NOW, WE KNOW who's running the store, at least for the time being. Or do we? For weeks, the same problem that dogged President Carter—that is, who is supposed to be the head honcho and spokesman on U.S. foreign policy-has been plaguing President Reagan.

This week, after a series of foreign policy statement flaps which left both friend and foe confused, Mr. Reagan made a decision.

It is that for the time being, at least, Vice President George Bush will be the man in the saddle in any situation demanding a "crisis management." The move is designed to tamp down any "feud" between Sec. of State Alexander Haig and National Security Adviser Richard Allen.

Whether it solves the problem is one of the imponderables in Washington for the moment.

WHO SPEAKS for America long has been a debatable point.

But, who speaks for the administration in power should never have been

Back in the days of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, there never was any question. When FDR, and later Harry Truman, spoke, America and much of the world listened.

But, with the emergence of strong Secretaries of State, such as Dean Acheson, John Foster Dulles and Henry Kissinger, the power to make and articulate foreign policy seemed to shift, although the White House had to acquiesce, of course.

And with the later emphasis on the National Security Adviser post, the stage was set for the clash between Mr. Carter's vacillating Sec. of State Cyrus Vance and the more outspoken NSC chief Zbigniew Brzezinski, not to mention the freewheeling UN Amb. Andrew Young.

WHEN MR. REAGAN took over, all this was supposed to come to an end. On Jan. 20, one point was made clear. That was that the U.S. would speak "with one voice" on foreign policy. And Sec. Haig would, in the context of representing the President, be that voice.

It was a role Sec. Haig, no wallflower under any circumstances, not only could handle, but relish He was the man in charge. And he was the voice. The post of NSC adviser Allen was downgraded.

And so it seemed to work, until a series of events, which while on the surface weren't as serious as the media made them out to be, nevertheless made for confusion on the U.S. stance from El Salvador to the Mideast.

Sec. Haig is a hardliner when it comes to dealing with those he perceives to be a threat to U.S. interests. He believes in saying it like it is. For awhile, he seemed to be having things his way.

THEN CAME the series of statements.

Both Mr. Reagan and Sec. Haig were in agreement that the Soviet-Cuban axis was sending weapons to the El Salvadoran guerrillas and that such aid must be halted. They also spoke in unison in saying the U.S. would step up its own aid to the ruling junta in that country.

And although the White House later attempted to play down what some saw as an "over-emphasis" on a U.S.-Soviet confrontation in Central America, Sec. Haig didn't ease up, saying Moscow had a "hit list" of nations in the area.

Then, a few others got into the foreign policy act. Richard Pipes, a top White House adviser and a member of the NSC, was quoted as saying that the West Germans might cave in to the Russians and that Moscow might eventually have to choose between abandoning its Communist system or going to war with the West.

HIS BOSS, NSC director Allen, immediately put down any such remarks as strictly personal and not representing administration thinking.

Then Allen himself was thrust into the spotlight by saying that Western Europe must curb social of 'better Red than dead'" if it hopes to deal successfully with the Soviet threat and inflation.

In his first major address since taking the NSC post, Allen told a breakfast meeting of the Conservative Political Action Conference that NATO has been weakened because of the inflationary ravages that took place because "we have lacked the will to discipline social programs."

Allen's remarks angered NATO allies and revived the debate over the "better Red than dead" issue. He also raised hackles in some circles by speaking out on U.S. relations with the Republic of South Africa. While saying he did not approve of the RSA's system of apartheid, he said, correctly, that it made no sense to maintain ties with totalitarian regimes which are our avowed enemies and not do business with other nations, such as the RSA, who are our friends.

FRANKLY, PART of the problem is the role the media, along with assorted church groups and others, play in foreign and domestic policy today. From the start, Sec. Haig-a most able and persuasive person-left no doubt but that he is his own man. He is a no-nonsense guy who knows Soviet Russia, most European leaders and their strong points and weaknesses. He also is dedicated to the idea, as we are, that world Communism is a threat and must be challenged by the U.S. and West if the Free World is to survive. But, like many men in his position, Sec. Haig stepped on some toes, including some at the White House.

Actually, his role as chief policy maker and to a great degree "the one voice" for U.S. foreign policy hasn't been changed all that much, Mr. Reagan later emphasized. On day-to-day matters, in running of the State Department, Haig is still the man in charge. In matters necessitating a "referee" or go-between to the White House, henceforth it will be VP Bush, also a most able fellow.

Sec. Haig's enemies, from Moscow to liberals and activist church groups, may or may not be happy. What it all does to American foreign policy remains to be seen.

Old Guard Out Of Step Under Haig's Command

WASHINGTON-Questions about the ultimate course of U.S. foreign policy under Alexander Haig, noted in this space some weeks ago, have recently intensified. Although Haig in the past few years has spouted hard-line Cold War rhetoric and was backed by conservatives for his present post, his long association with Henry Kissinger and other aspects of his record prompted doubts about the policies he would follow as our chief diplomatist.

er, if the State Department under Haig is well equipped to carry out this mission. The principle reason for misgiving is the fact that, in critical positions in the department, he has retained the very officials from the Carter administration who presided over the Central American debacle in the first place. That they are willing or able to implement a reversal of their own handiwork seems doubtful. Foremost among those holdovers are U.S. Ambassador to Nicaragua Lawrence Pezzullo, and James Cheek, deputy assistant secretary of state for Inter-American Affairs.

As recently reported here, Rep. Bill Young of Florida accuses these two officials of down-playing intelligence data that showed the Nicaraguan Marxists were running guns into El Salvador.

SUCH DATA WOULD have interfered with President Carter's certification of U.S. aid to Nicaragua, and were thus ignored

In the light of the evidence now available, this episode can hardly be viewed as other than an incredible coverup. That Carter officials implicated in it should be retained by Haig seems astonishing, to say the least Nor was that episode the only evidence of such sympathies on the part of these two officials.

The Washington weekly Human Events reports that Cheek has boasted of pushing for nationalization in El Salvador, while a high-ranking defector from Nicaragua, Nevardo Arguello, says Pozzullo is a very close friend of the Marxist Sandinista

Also held over by Haig is John Bushnell,

Cheek's immediate superior as acting assistant

Approved Bill Would Boost State's Income

AUSTIN (AP) - Bankers would have to compete — by offering higher interest for idle state funds under a bill promoted as a way to boost state income by $40 million a year.

The House tentatively approved the hill on a voice vote Wednesday and is expected to pass it to the Senate on Thurs-

Rep. Frank Hartung, R-Houston, pushed the bill through with little resistance, although bankers have worked hard against it.

After the bill advanced. Rep. Ed Watson, D-Deer Park, asked Speaker Bill Clayton

'Since we are keeping bankers' hours today, would you take a motion to recess for lunch?"

'Mr. Watson, there might be a banker in the gallery who would take you to lunch." Clayton replied.

Key provisions of the bill would: •Enable the state treasurer to invest state money in federal obligations and a variety of other securities.

•Require banks that want state funds to compete for them. Currently, a bank can receive as much state money as it is willing to post security for. All banks holding state funds in savings accounts State Depository Board.

·Authorize the treasurer to deposit state money in savings and loan associa-

•Create an "investment pool" under which the treasurer would invest idle funds for local governments that wish to participate. The idea is to get them a higher rate of interest.

Hartung asssured the House the bill would not put small banks in a weaker position compared with big ones.

'I don't think House Bill 30 will result in a massive shift of funds from small banks to big banks. ... I believe the bill would result in more funds staying in Texas to work here than is the case

The House passed similar bills in 1977 and 1979, only to see them killed in the Senate by former Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan. Moore was defeated for re-election last year.

The couple was married Nov. 1, 1976 in New Orleans by the Rev. David Murph, husband of Daniel's sister.

During one of the many separations during the marriage, the Daniels each wrote the other a list of items for self-im-provement and another list of items for improvement they wanted in their mate.

The letters are undated but were writ-

"Always have a pleasant greeting when I come home from work (even if it has to be faked)," Daniel listed as his No. 1 request of Mrs. Daniel

"I don't mean that you have to be especially dressed, standing in the doorway with a smile from ear-to-ear, but I do expect more than to walk in and find you intently glued to the TV lying on the

"And occasionally, when you see me drive in, come and open the door. If you try to do these things, and don't particularly like them, you will do them anyhow out of habit, not just for me but for anyDaniel apparently was quite meticulous about his meals, asking Mrs. Daniel to make weekends special. "I would like a good, hot meal Satur-day noon and a hamburger with two pieces of cheese Saturday night, or vice versa," Daniel wrote.

Daniel chided Mrs. Daniel for spending too much of her grocery budget on

"Try to go to the store without buying any candy, cake mix, jelly rolls, pie mix, cookies, popsicles, etc.," he said. "Instead, buy more carrots, raisins, celery, apples, grapefruits, etc.

Similarly, quit completely, stop absolutely forever and ever, stopping at Sonics, Dairy Queens, etc. for Cokes and ice cream. It's not only a waste of mon-

By contrast, Mrs. Daniel admitted she could do better as a cook.

"I could possibly learn to cook the way you would like to, but with children around, I'm not sure I could ever give you as much attention as you would like, Mrs. Daniel wrote.

Mrs. Daniel also had a complaint about Daniel's eating habits.

"I think you should eat at the table, and not have me serve you in the playroom, " Mrs. Daniel wrote. "I'm not a waitress anymore, I'm your wife."

Mrs. Daniel's No. 1 complaint about her husband was that he belittled her. "Never make fun of, or put me down," she admonished. "Kid, yes, joke, yes, but no snipes." It was suggested during the custody suit that Daniel teased his wife by calling her "Dairy Queen" in reference to her former occupation. Daniel noted he would try to avoid put-downs.

In a list of things he should do to improve the marriage, Daniel wrote: "Do not lose my temper. Do not retaliate or try to get back. Try, Try Try to avoid what Vickie calls put-downs, especially when they are being interpreted by her as being mean or bad."

Mrs. Daniel, talkative and outgoing, was a contrast to Daniel's silent stiff upper lip approach to problems.

"Let me in on a few things that you do," she said. "Tell me about deals you make at the office (personal) so I don't hear about them from somebody else," she wrote. "If you want anything from me, ask. Don't expect me to know your every thought.

Daniel pledged to improve his communications.

'Show my feelings more openly and communicate more freely," he continued on the list of things he should do. Quit always being in such a hurry. Try to contain the nervous energy that prevents me from watching a whole TV show, sitting still, talking for more than five minutes

The letter ends in an elaborately scrawled "Love you" and a smiling stick figure of a girl.

Haynes said he preferred live testimony to depositions but that he was bowing to Mrs. Daniel's wishes.

"Mrs. Daniel does not want to expose her kids to the courtroom," Haynes said. "I prefer live testimony. I want to do what's best for my client and yet I have to consider her wishes, so I'm on the horns of a dilemma.

House Members Debate School Curriculum Bill

AUSTIN (AP) - An East Texas House member said Wednesday a bill to establish a "well-balanced" public school curriculum results from a "hue and cry" for a return to basics.

Rep. Bill Haley, an ex-teacher, told the Senate Education Committee the bill sets state policy that curriculum "belongs in the hands of local school districts and the State Board of Education.

Haley, D-Center, testified in favor of Sen. W.E. "Pete" Snelson's bill, which is the same as a measure Haley is sponsoring in the House.

Haley said there had been a "virtual hodge-podge" in curriculum since 1907. As an example he cited 12 bills pending before the Legislature which would add such courses as "how to be a parent," "racial tolerance" and "cardiovascularpulmonary resuscitation." "I don't necessarily agree with a lot of people who have total disdain for the State Board of Education," said Haley. 'A lot of people are saying they are a horrible group of people. I disagree with

Opponents to Snelson's bill testified, in effect, they did not trust the Board of Education to arrange a well-balanced curriculum "I do not feel completely comfortable about the wisdom of some of their decisions," said Margy Waldrip, a former teacher and currently a school trustee at New Braunfels

> Give the gift of music.

'What is to be observed here today," said Robert Holibaugh, Arlington, "is that the Central Education Agency staff and elected representatives ... need to be more accountable than ever before to the citizen-shareholders and, therefore, to you ... who have agreed to publicly repre-of Education." Support for the proposal came from the Texas PTA, which has more than 700,000 members: Texas Association of School Administrators; Texas Association of School Boards: Texas Music Educators Association: Texas State Teachers Association: and the Association of Sec-

than they are otherwise represented by the elected members of the State Board

ondary School Principals. Dorothy Rosson, history teacher at Fort Worth Dunbar High School, told the committee she had "serious reservations" about the board - rather than teachers - establishing curriculum, but she said, with changes, the bill "could be the beginning of curriculum sanity for the state of Texas ... a springboard for

Grand Jury Convenes In Wood Case

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A new special grand jury convened Wednesday amid published reports that federal agents are close to solving the assassination of U.S. District Judge John Wood Jr.

The 23-member panel, to serve up to 18 months, takes up where another special grand jury left off in the investigation of Wood's shooting death and the shooting assault on a federal prosecutor here six months earlier. The other grand jury, formed in mid-1980 with a 36-month life span, will focus on other cases.

Wood, 63, was killed outside his San Antonio apartmenr on May 29, 1980, six months after an unsuccessful attempt to kill Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr Published reports in Dallas, San Antonio and El Paso have quoted unnamed federal sources as saying the investigation focuses on two brothers, Joe and Jimmy Chagra of El Paso, and a convicted hit man, Charles V. Harrelson.

Wood was known as "Maximum John" for the stiff sentences he gave in drug cases. Jimmy Chagra was to have appeared before Wood on drug smuggling charges the day the judge was

Chagra is now serving a 30-year sentence at Leavenworth, Kan., on those charges following a trial in Austin last

Joe Chagra, a lawyer, has said publicly he expects to be indicted in connection with the Wood slaying, either for conspiracy in the killing or for obstructing the investigation.

Harrelson, 42, has been held without bond in the Harris County Jail at Houston since he was captured at Van Horn in western Texas on Sept. 1, 1980. He is charged with possession of narcotics, firearms, and gambling paraphernalia and bond jumping.

Among those subpoenaed Wednesday were Harrelson's relatives and acquaint-

Any conspiracy case against Jimmy Chagra and Harrelson may depend heavily on whether Joe Chagra, who serves as their lawyer, is indicted. The Dallas Times Herald reported Wednesday.

Although it is unusual for a lawyer to be indicted in an action involving a client, one source told the newspaper that material gathered in the case will be worthless unless prosecutors can prove Joe Chagra was part of a conspiracy to kill the judge.

If Joe Chagra can sustain his argument that his only involvement in the case came as an attorney defending his clients, then wiretaps and other material confiscated in an FBI raid on his El Paso home in February will be protected by the lawyer-client privilege and cannot be admitted in court.

"I'm afraid the government has placed itself in a position where it has to indict Joe Charga in order to indict anyone else." the source told the Times Herald. "They need wiretaps and the evidence from the house.

emocratic-Controlled House Cuts Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Demo-cratic-controlled House, told that budget ' austerity begins at home, voted to trim its own spending Wednesday, but by half as much as Republicans wanted.

On a party-line vote of 225 to 184, House Democrats defeated a GOP move. to slash $6.6 million from a $42.9-million authorization for committee staff salaries and the House computer system. Instead, House members accepted a $3.3-million package of reductions offered by House Democratic leaders, for an overall $39.6 million pricetag.

Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill and Majority Leader Jim Wright orchestrated the middle-ground series of cuts in a move to keep conservative Democrats from breaking rank and joining the Republican minority.

And I'm not surprised that I'm considered low priority be a preview of how President Reagan's economic plan will fare in the chamber since leaders of both parties made a major effort on the measure.

"This is the most important vote of the year on whether you believe in true frugality," said Rep. Bill Frenzel, R-Minn., author of the GOP package of stif-fer cuts. "This is a hard vote to see if you want to save the public some money."

Republicans told the House that congressional committees are bloated and should come under the same sharp budget knife wielded for other government

Wright said his measure was tough enough and would reduce committee spending about 10 percent below 1980 levels. He called it an "austerity move" paralleling a 10 percent staff cut in the GOP-controlled Senate. Republicans countered that Wright's claim of a 10 percent reduction was misleading because most committees didn't spend their full budgeted amount last

The spending measure covers the salaries of most, but not all, staff members of the House's 24 committees and its computer service. It represents the greater portion of the nearly $70 millon budget earmarked for House committee activi-

House Minority Leader Robert H. Michel called the Democratic-backed cuts "a half-hearted gesture" and said Republicans were willing to make bigger sacrifices — even though they had only 156 employes covered by the measure, to the Democrats' 859 staffers.

The cuts rankled some House committee chairman, even though they supported the leadership proposal.

Rep. Don Fuqua, D-Fla., estimated even the modified measure would mean laying off 12 staff members of his House Science and Technology Committee. And Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., chairman of the Aging Committee, likened it to an army thrrowing away its own ammunition. "I can't believe the public interest requires such a sacrifice," he said.

The final vote showed that O'Neill and his lieutenants remained in firm control of the House - even though they bowed to pressure from conservative Democrats in backing away from the full committee-funding measure that came to the floor.

Oilmen Reportedly Solicited For White House Repair Fund

President Reagan's "Kitchen Cabinet" solicited donations from executives and investors in the oil industry last month to help redecorate the White House living quarters, and, says an aide, "the response was phenomenal at $10,000 a

The drive by Reagan confidante Holmes Tuttle came just four weeks aft-er the president decontrolled oil prices — a decision worth $2 billion to the oil industry, according to an Energy Department estimate.

According to several donors, Tuttle, a millionaire California auto dealer, held receptions in Oklahoma City and Houston that were attended by Reagan supporters - many with oil interests.

Twenty-three individuals associated with the oil industry contributed a total of $270,000 to the White House Historical Association redecorating fund. That amount alone exceeded the $200,000 goal set by first lady Nancy Reagan. As of March 12, the project had raised an overall total of $735,912.

Tuttle could not be reached because he recently underwent surgery and remains hospitalized. But his administrative assistant, Mary Lee Van Dyke, confirmed that Tuttle was involved in extensive fundraising for the White House pro-

"It was something he was happy to do," she said. "The response was phenomenal at $10,000 a shot." The donations were tax deductible.

Some donors, interviewed by The Associated Press, said their contributions were meant to show appreciation for Reagan policies generally and especially those toward the oil industry. All said the money was not intended to curry favor with the administration.

"The top man of this country ought to live in one of the top places," said Jack L. Hodges, owner of Core Oil and Gas

"Mr. Reagan has helped the energy business," said Hodges. "The way he's gone about it, I think, is the best way in the world to go. I suppose that may be one of the reasons why he got so many donors in Oklahoma ... We're an energy state and we're enjoying a real good business," he said.

Hodges contributed $50,000, one of the two largest personal donations. Peter McCoy, chief of staff to Mrs.

Senate Scraps Dairy Price Supports Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate handed President Reagan his first congressional floor-vote victory on a proposed spending cut Wednesday, approving a bill to scrap an April 1 boost in dairy price supports.

The Senate passed the measure, 88-5, ending more than a week of uncertainty in which supporters of dairy industry interests succeeded repeatedly in putting off a final vote.

The bill was sent to the House where Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill has predicted smooth sailing when the measure is put to a vote, probably Thursday

Sen. John Melcher. D-Mont., who championed the cause of U.S. dairy interests, cleared the way for the roll call by withdrawing a proposed amendment to require the Agriculture Department to outline its safeguards for preventing the spread to this country of foot-and-mouth disease from contaminated cattle in Great Britain

He said the outbreak there raised a risk that imported casein, a milk protein, could carry the disease. The disease is not dangerous to humans but is highly contagious to cattle.

Casein, which is not produced do-mestically, is used widely in dairy substitutes, such as powdered coffee creamers, dessert toppings and imitation cheese.

Melcher, who had tried unsuccessfully to attach a rider to the price support measure cutting yearly casein imports in half, said he was reassured by a promise from the Department of Agriculture that it would report on its safeguard procedures against foot-and-mouth disease in

I'm delighted," said Melcher.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., a sponsor of the price support rollback, read a letter from Agriculture Secretary John Block promising to "leave no stone unturned" in protecting the spread of footand-mouth disease here.

The department banned imports of livestock from Great Britain on Monday.

Committee Approves Modular Home Bill

A-J Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Texas Senate Wednesday gave final approval to a bill by Tahoka Sen. E.L. Short that revises the definition of "modular home" in the Texas Manufactured Housing Standards

Senate Bill 319 passed without apposition after the Senate suspended the constitutional rules requiring a bill be considered on three separate days.

SB 319 amends the definition of modular home to include "a dwelling that is constructed in modules, whether one or more, at a location other than the homesite, using assembly line type production techniques or other construction methods unique to a manufacturing process.

The bill excludes from the definition sectional or panelized housing in which the basic components are manufactured at the homesite and are not at least three dimensional modules.

The bill now goes to the House of Representatives for consideration.

House fundraising drive and that the president was unaware of his friend's activities. Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes refused comment.

The Reagans turned back a $50,000 congressional appropriation intended to pay for the White House refurbishing and Mrs. Reagan sought private donations. Last week, the White House reversed a decision not to release the names of the donors and reported that contributions to the fund totaled $735,912, nearly quadruple the original goal.

James E. Lyon, chairman of the River Oaks Bank & Trust Co., and petroleum engineer Michel T. Halbouty co-sponsored a Feb. 24 reception in Houston at which Tuttle made a pitch for the White

A similar reception was held at the Petroleum Club of Oklahoma City on

Of the 23 donations from persons identifiable with oil interests, 21 came from Oklahoma and Texas where Tuttle made personal appeals on behalf of the White House redecorating effort.

Lyon said some of the 12 to 15 Republicans who attended the Houston reception had no links to the oil industry and added: "It would be most unkind to sugest that the oil industry paid for the rehab of the White House.

Carl Anderson, president of An-Son oil company in Oklahoma City, said Reagan has shown a more favorable attitude toward the energy industry than did: former President Jimmy Carter

We're rejoicing at the demise of the Carter administration," said Anderson, who hosted the Oklahoma City fundraising luncheon at Tuttle's request.

Tuttle said he expected Oklahoma contributors to give a total of $100,000, according to Anderson.

"Of course, we don't know what all Mr. Reagan will do but he has given lip service at least to getting Washington to (relax) all the regulations which are stifling our industry," Anderson said. "We like the change and the idea of supporting the country and the new direction. and if it means getting the White House up to snuff, that's what we're interested

End Of Body's Aid To Cancer Sought

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) -New evidence shows that the human body actively aids and abets the cancer that is out to destroy it, and finding ways to undercut this support may be a new way of fighting cancer, a Harvard Medical School researcher said Wednesday.

Dr. Bruce R. Zetter said that people with cancer literally and figuratively play host to the malignancy. Their bodies go so far as to seek out the disease and provide it with nourishment and shelter.

"It is becoming increasingly evident that the host response to tumor growth involves the migration of cells toward the growing tumor." Zetter told the American Cancer Society's annual science writers' seminar.

Zetter's research team has evidence that two unrelated host cell types go to a tumor and set up the blood vessel system that keeps it growing and alive.

If agents could be found to interfere with building these vessels, Zetter said, it would be possible to choke off the vital blood supply to the tumor. This would stop its growth and possibly kill it, he

"It is possible that such agents will be less toxic than those that directly induce (cancer) cell death," he added.

In laboratory work, the research group found that within 24 hours of im-

Lake Superior 90 Percent Less Polluted

DULUTH. Minn. (AP) - The amount of asbestos-like fibers in Lake Superior has dropped about 90 percent since last March, when a mining company stopped dumping taconite tailings into the lake, federal and local officials report.

Frank Schleppenbach, manager at Duluth's water treatment plant, said Tuesday that routine fiber counts in the past year clearly show that when Reserve Mining Co. quit dumping tailings into the lake there was a deline in the number of fibers found in the lake.

The Reserve plant, located about 55 miles northeast of Duluth on the North Shore, was ordered by a federal judge to cease the dumping

Federal and tate environmentalists contended the tailings were a threat to human and marine life in the largest of the Great Lakes. The concern grew after the fibers were discovered in a wide area of western Lake Superior

Reserve now dumps the finely-ground tailings onto a land site several miles inland. At one time, as much as 67,000 tons daily of tailings were deposited into the

The water test taken at the plant shows that the amount of asbestos-like mineral fibers has dropped from about 180 million per liter in 1979 to about 5 million per liter so far this year. Schleppenbach said. A liter is a little more than

However, the quality of of Duluth's drinking water hasn't been affected by the reduction, the plant manager said, noting that the plant continues to remove about 99.9 percent of the fibers

The water that Duluth residents drink contains fibers below a detectable level,

We're talking about levels of noncern," said Dr. Philip Cook, a mineral fiber researcher for the Environmental Protection Agency Research Laboratory in Duluth

The treatment plant was built after the mineral fibers were discovered in the lake in 1973

Researchers estimate the average liter of Duluth water contained 50 million fibers between 1955 and the time the treatment plant was put in operation. A detectable level is 10,000 fibers per liter. Schleppenbach said

So far, officials say they have found no conclusive proof that area residents would be affected from having drunk unfiltered water.

City Youth Chosen To Attend Seminar

Michael Wayne Stephens, 17, son of Mr and Mrs Wayne Stephens of 3433 53rd St., will attend a special seminar at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo, this summer.

Picked to attend for high marks in the science and engineering fields. Stephens will work with engineering, science and laboratory equipment under supervision of Academy staff.

The June seminar will be one of two such meetings this summer at the Air Force Academy with 225 students attend-called mast cells arrive at the tumor site.

Stephens is a junior at Monterey High School, plays in the MHS band and is a former A-J paper carrier.

Within two days, endothelial cells that grow into small blood vessels called capillaries begin to show up near the tumor. The researchers found that tumors release chemicals that stimulate the directional migration of the mast cells on lab plates. Those same chemicals start the capillary cells to wander about random-

The capillary cells apparently get direction to the tumors from the mast cells. The mast cells secrete an anticoagulant substance called heparin as they go to the tumor and the capillary cells later follow these heparin trails to the site, the researchers found.

What interests us is that the development of a new vascular system to support a tumor seems to require the migration of two unrelated host cell types," Zetter

"In addition to searching for new drugs that kill cancer cells," Zetter concluded. "We might also look for agents that interfere with the ability of the host to aid tumor growth.'

The scientist also said the findings may help in diagnosing tumors. The presence of a tumor might be detected by testing body fluids for the chemicals it releases to stimulate host cell migration.

Abortion Clinic Experiments Investigated

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - State officials are investigating reports that doctors at a Phoenix abortion clinic performed illeral experiments on fetuses, the Arizona Republic reported Wednes-

The newspaper said pregnant women volunteered for experiments at the Valley Abortion Center involving a hypertension medication made by E.R. Squibb & Sons Laboratories.

Squibb spokesman Robert Schwadron verified the experiments to the paper, saying they "met all federal drug-administration requirements." He said the tests were done to determine whether the drug is rate for pregnant women.

Drs. Robert Tamis, Robert Wechsler and Mark Gross allegedly provided free abortions to 14 women in return for the women's cooperation in the testing of the Squibb drug Nadolol, for people with hypertension and high blood pressure, the paper said.

The doctors declined comment on the alleged experiments.

Randy Heller, a spokesman for Doctors Hospital, told the Republic that Tamis, head of the hospital's obstetricsgynecology department, acknowledged the experiments

Heller quoted Tamis as saying Squibb approached him nine months ago asking he would seek volunteers for the experiment, the paper said.

Dr. David Pent, who investigates complaints for the Board of Medical Examiners, said such experiments may be a violation of state law

Doctors Hospital officials declined comment on the legal aspects of the experiments

At Squibb's headquarters in Princeton, N.J., Schwadron said each woman used in the experiments was given the drug for five days and was examined daily, the Republic said.

Schwadron said the abortion was begun at the center on the fifth day. Each woman was injected with prostaglandin and moved to Doctors Hospital, where the fetuses were delivered, he said.

He said the doctors then removed a section of the placenta and two milliliters of blood from the fetuses. The specimens were shipped to the New Jersey laboratories, the paper said.

Sperm Donors Inspection Suggested

BOSTON (AP) - Donors of sperm used for artificial insemination should undergo genetic tests to make sure that they will not pass on inherited disorders, a study suggests.

The report, prepared at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, described a case in which a girl with Tay-Sachs disease was born to a woman who received artificial insemina-

"There is no reason why this type of problem should not occur again or become more frequent as the use of such insemination increases." the doctors wrote. "Thus, it is possible that some families who use artificial insemination to overcome infertility will have children with genetic disease.

The study, written by Dr. William G. Johnson and two other physicians, was published in Thursday's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

In the same issue, Drs. David N. Shapiro and Raymond J. Hutchinson of the C.S. Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor, Mich., described a case in which two artificially inseminated children born to the same mother had another rare disorder. This disease, called familial erythrophagocytic lymphohistiocytosis, is usually fatal within six weeks of its diagnosis.

These cases illustrate the necessity of extreme caution in using sperm from the same donor for insemination when one child thus conceived is afflicted with an unknown disorder, even if the problem is presumed not to have been inherited," the Ann Arbor doctors wrote.

The New York doctors said that both the sperm donor and the prospective mother should undergo genetic screening. Physicians should check to make sure that neither person is a carrier of Tay-Sachs disease, sickle cell anemia or thalassemia. They should also question them about X-ray exposure, congenital deformities and family histories of genetic disorders.

Actor's Son Apparent Suicide, Police Say

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The son of Academy Award-winning actor Ray Milland was found dead of a gunshot wound to the head, apparently by his own hand, police said Wednesday.

I don't have any reason to doubt that this was a suicide," said Detective Lee Kingsford, who investigated the death of Daniel Milland, 41. "There was just no

Reagan: Haig Still Top Foreign Aide

He said that while Haig may not have explicitly warned the administration that he might resign if matters didn't turn out to his satisfaction, he left high officials, although not Reagan, with the impression he might.

Reagan's public affirmation of confidence followed a talk with Haig on the third consecutive day the secretary visited the White House. The president de-

Budget Cuts Produce Pessimism

WASHINGTON (AP) - House budget writers examined a pessimistic analysis of President Reagan's economic proposals Wednesday, some calling the report 'forbidding tidings' while others labeled it a "shell game.

In the Senate, meanwhile, Democrats met privately for the second day in a row to review the administration's budget cut proposals, but party Whip Alan Cranston said the idea of promoting a substitute to the Reagan-backed tax cuts had been dropped.

We will have a sort of a consensus package, but it will be presented by separate amendments." Cranston said.

He said a Democratic substitute package of cuts would "probably by voted down on a party line" vote by majority

With the Senate set to begin debate package of cuts for 1982. Cranston said Democrats would caucus again before the floor debate to continue their review of the administration's proposals.

The report from the Congressional Budget Office concluded that the administration has underestimated federal spending and thus may not be able to achieve its goal of a balanced budget by Alice M. Rivlin, director of the budget office, told the House Budget Committee that "it is important for the Congress to understand what the budget might look like if things do not work out as well as envisioned by the president.

The Congressional Budget Office forecast reinforces a preliminary projection last week that the federal deficit will be at least $115 billion more than the Reagan administration figures over the next

According to the report, Reagan's economic plan will push deficits up almost $8 billion more than the administration predicts for this year, $22 billion more in 1982, $36 billion in 1983 and about $49 billion more in 1984, the year Reagan has promised a small surplus in government spending.

But Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan discounted the budget office analytelling reporters: "Historically they've been inaccurate, and we're saying they re inaccurate as usual."

Rep. James R. Jones. D-Okla. the committee chairman, said Miss Rivlin had brought "forbidding tidings" but the panel must make its decisions "based on the best available information, whether we like that information or not.

But Republicans questioned whether an unbiased view was being presented by Miss Rivlin, a former senior fellow of the liberal-oriented Brookings Institution and former assistant secretary of what was then the Health, Education and Welfare Department during the Democratic administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"Some of this bias ... you seem to have is creeping into this," said Rep. Ed Bethune, R-Ark.

Miss Rivlin responded that the budget office's role is "to warn Congress" and present an analysis that is not colored by the "optimism of the administration that has to believe its program is going to work

Rep. Bobbi Feidler, R-Calif., said various estimates of how well the president's program will work amount to "nothing more than a giant shell game."

Another Republican, Rep. Lynn Martin of Illinois, said she had the "feeling that you (Miss Rivlin) are out to get us."

Education Tax Credits

He said proposals for tax credits to offset the cost of private education have generated little support among committee members thus far.

But he reaffirmed his support for the part of Reagan's tax plan calling for faster depreciation for business.

As the jockeying continued in Congress over Reagan's economic program, Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., said it doesn't look good" for swift action on the president's recommendations.

Intransigence breeds intransigence," said Reuss, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee. If the administration won't compromise, he said, "The Democrats are going to fight every inch of the way" on spending cuts and delay action on the tax cut.

Conservative Problem

A spokeswoman for the Conservative Democratic Forum, a group of 44 House Democrats who support Reagan's call for budget cuts, also said most members of the group "have problems" with the president's tax proposals. Jamie Clayton said eight members of the group delivered the message to Treasury Secretary Donald Regan at a meeting Tuesday.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass meanwhile declared that "all factors of our party are opposed to Kemp-Roth," as the president's income tax cut plan is sometimes called. He said that despite the letter to Reagan, Baker "truly believes he can't get it through the Senate." where the GOP has a majority.

Rostenkowski suggested that Republicans on the committee he heads would reject the proposal in a secret ballot. GOP Question Seen

"I think there's a question now whether they want to play with Kemp-Roth," he said, but added, "I feel no hesitancy about giving them a vote..." on the plan, he said.

The 20 Republican senators were attempting at the same time to generate momentum for proposed across-theboard reductions over three years.

Their letter, sent to the White House Tuesday night, informed the president they would not support either the business tax cuts or the reductions in unearned income unless the across-theboard cuts were also approved.

"...I and other signatories to this letter will not support these business cuts either in isolation from or instead of individual cuts," Roth said at a news confer-

39th Annual Rodeo Opens

Kids of all ages, from toddlers in 10gallon hats to gray heads bared as Old Glory floated by, viewed the spectacle. But it was the younger crowd sporting all the enthusiasm as their older counterparts stuck to cars, windows and doorways to do their viewing.

Sitting primly on curbs or cars as long as possible, they broke ranks and thrilled to motorcycles and antique cars, then ame unglued for all the "horseys" going

They waved at beauty queens, clapped at clowns, "oohed" loudly at tiny princesses riding big and little mounts and stopped to point at big birds zooming overhead en route to Lubbock's airport.

Rodeo royalty sat regally in the gusty winds, now and then clapping gloved hands to bejewelled hats to save them in the wind.

But about the biggest thrill for some youngsters was scrambling for goodies tossed from parade ranks.

Parading riding clubs and sheriff's posses were back in line again for the grand entry to give fans all the pomp and ceremony traditional with rodeo.

Tickets are $5 for general admission and $7 for reserved seats, with a $1 discount on general admission ducats for today's event. All proceeds of the four-day rodeo, consored by the Downtown Chapter of the American Business Club, benefit the capital improvement fund of Lubbock state Henry Kissinger, Dean Acheson and John Foster Dulles, all of whom had responsiblity for managing crisis in the foreign field

But presidential press secretary James Brady predicted even more coop eration between the White House and the State Department, saying he now expects Haig to participate in Reagan's daily national security briefing. That role pre-viously has fallen to security adviser Richard V. Allen, but apparently now will be shared.

"He probably will be here most days," Brady said of Haig. "He's there to enhance cooperation.'

Asked if that development was merely a face-saving device for Haig, Brady declared: "I don't think Gen. Haig needs to save face."

Bush, meanwhile, said he envisions the job of crisis management as sitting in the White House situation room "until the president gets there," and foresees no conflict with Haig. "Secretary Haig and I get along very well indeed," Bush told reporters.

Bush said Haig is "the chief adviser on foreign policy, that's clear; he's going to be the general manager of that policy, that's clear; an excellent secretary of state, that's very clear.'

Asked how he would define a crisis. the vice president said: "We'll know it when the president sees it." And Bush said the labor strife in Poland and the power struggle in El Salvador are "absolutely not" on his list of crises.

Brady confirmed that Haig and the president had conferred several times in the last two days, but refused to be more

Suspicious Of Haig Although speculation focused on Allen as the one who orchestrated the Bush appointment, another official said he thought it was less Allen's doing than that of Reagan's California advisers who view with suspicion the attention Haig had been getting.

The president's decision, announced late Tuesday after Haig already had complained about the prospective appointment on Capitol Hill, cast doubt upon Haig's own claim on his first day in office that he would be "the vicar" of American foreign policy.

But Reagan and the State Department both tried to play down Haig's obvious unhappiness over the turn of events.

"Principal Adviser"

After an unscheduled talk with the secretary Wednesday morning, the president told reporters there was "no conflict" between Haig's position as "my principal adviser on foreign affairs" and the announcement Tuesday night of Bush's designation to head the administration's "crisis management" team.

"One of the principal responsibilities of a president is the conduct of foreign policy." Reagan read from a statement. In meeting this responsibility, let me say what I have said a number of times before: the secretary of state is my principal adviser on foreign affairs and in that capacity he is the chief formulator and spokesman for foreign policy for this administration.

Never Any Question "There is not, nor has there ever been, any question about that."

He also denied that Haig had threatened to quit over the issue, which was widely rumored shortly after the announcement.

Reagan said he believed the controversy arose because "maybe some of you were trying to make the news instead of reporting it.

That overlooked the fact, however, that it was Haig himself who expressed public displeasure over the developments during testimony before a congressional committee on Tuesday

"Pre-Eminent Adviser'

William Dyess, the State Department spokesman, told reporters Wednesday that Haig remains as Reagan's "pre-eminent adviser" and that the secretary is satisfied. Haig met with the president at the White House in the morning.

The secretary and the president have discussed the matter and there is no doubt the secretary of state is the preeminent adviser to the president in the field of foreign affairs," Dyess said. "It's absolutely clear: there is no doubt about

Dvess also denied Haig had threatened to resign. "I can deny that absolutely," he said. However, another official, who did not want to be identified, said Haig sought the role of crisis manager for himself because that is the most influential position in time of turmmoil.

"Where History Judges" "That's where history judges what was done and who did it," he said.

He said giving the position to Bush has "weakened" Haig's position both at home and abroad and said any further such attacks on his authority could promptto resign. "I don't think he can sustain many more public rebukes," said the official

He said that by "going public" with the disagreement before the Bush decision was announced, Haig apparently thought he could head it off. In response to a question, Haig told a congressional committee that he viewed news accounts of the impending choice of Bush with a "lack of enthusiasm."

Brady said Haig had not asked the president to make a statement of sup-

The protest in the southern Michigan village of about 1,600 people, about 120 miles west-northwest of Detroit, was sparked by proposed increases in assessments that, in some cases, would double The higher assessments resulted from in federal judge philosophy. Judge Irving Goldberg of Dallas said the federal view that at-large elections were automatically bad grew out of "10 years of struggle and compromise between judges of varying political and jurisprudential backgrounds."

Goldberg said the Supreme Court, which said at-large systems are not bad unless they deliberately set out to discriminate, had "cast aside the 10 years of thought, experience and struggle enbod-

MOBILE LANDMARKS - Ernesto Martinez demonstrates an alternate starting method for his 1931 Model A Ford. In the background is a 1930 model, both of which he has used for about six months in his limousine service. He halted service earlier this month after confusion over a city ordi nance. A new ordinance to be considered by the Lubbock City Council today may put him out of business. (Staff Photo

Ordinance May Chauffeur Limousines Out Of Service

Avalanche-Journal Staff People kept asking Ernesto Martinez for rides in his flashy Model A Ford.

Recognizing the opportunity to recover his expenses and move into a line of work he enjoyed, the small-time entrepreneur added a second vehicle and began a limousine serv-

Initially, Martinez's strategy worked. Celebrities, including singer James Brown, a state politician and some big name musicians have forsaken a ride in luxury sedans for a chance to see Lubbock from one of his rumble seats, Martinez said.

But now, he says, he may be fighting a losing battle with city hall and the Yellow Cab Company.

If a new, clearer city ordinance governing taxis and limousines is passed today by the City Council, it could effectively legislate Martinez out of business, he claims. 'I don't understand why they didn't do this before,' Martinez said. "I started and they start changing the rules. They're always changing the rules.'

Martinez has owned his 1931 Model A for 26 years and he said the idea to use it commercially was born after several friends asked to hire him and the vehicle for special events.

Not wanting to get into any trouble with the city, Martinez said, he applied for a limousine permit. He also purchased a second car - a 1930 Model A - and he and his son stripped both down and rebuilt the vehicles in their backyard. Then they began ferrying persons to and from the air-

Changes For Commission Set With Or Without Budget Cuts

Avalanche-Journal Staff

The Lubbock Community Services Commission will have to change its format - either through the new national Community Services Administration reorganization plan or through President Reagan's budget cuts.

If the president's financial cuts do not go through, local commission energy coordinator Pam Messick said, a new program for CSC will go into effect anyway

'We will have to steer away from direct services where we give money to people," Miss Massick said. "The new solution (handed down from the national organization) is to get people involved in their problems and to help them become

Miss Messick, who attended the CSA national meeting in El Paso, explained the local group will be under zero-based budgeting starting in the fall if the president's budget plans do not include cutting the community services program.

But if Reagan's cuts include the national CSA, the Lubbock group will have a severe loss of money.

Lubbock CSC director Eliseo Solis said funds would then come through "block grants" through the federal government to state governments and finally to local entities.

"It is essentially the same money, but

Boy Scout Council To View Progress In Fund Collection

The South Plains Council of Boy Scouts will review the progress of its 1981 development fund program campaign contributions when it meets at 4 p.m. today in the Flame Room of the Pioneer-First National Bank Building.

Dr. Lauro Cavazos, City of Lubbock campaign division chairman, and Alan Henry, general campaign chairman, said the returns so far indicate contributions amount to $103.601, or 19.7 percent of the goal of $523,500.

The contributions will go to expand and renovate the facilities at the council's three camps, Post, Haynes and Tres Ritos, which serve more than 6,000 scouts and 2.100 adult scouters.

The expansion program will help accommodate the increase in summer and winter camping over the last couple of

Council To Distribute Federal Funds

The Lubbock City Council is expected to give its final nod of approval to a budget allocating $2.7 million in federal General Revenue Sharing Funds to various city departments during its regular meeting beginning at 8:30 a.m. Thursday.

The council will not consider approv ing the budget until after a 2 p.m. public

A little over $1 million of the funds has been set aside for the renovation of a one-mile strip of University Avenue. Another $450,000 has been allocated for the street assessment paving program in which the city pays for about 10 percent of the paving costs if citizens living along a street petition for improvements

The city staff has dedicated $1 million to the purchase of water and its production. While part of the money will be used to connect a Bailey County farm water supply system to city pipelines in that county, an undisclosed portion will be used to purchase more water rights for the city, according to asssistant city manager Jim Blagg.

If Reagan does cut the national community service program, then each city will be responsible for how it spends federal funds, Solis said. Which programs are cut will be local option, he said. "It will depend upon the commitment the city has of serving the poor people.

The director also noted everything concerning community services is speculative until the new national budget is

Local commission member Bud Aderton said he attended the League of Cities meeting in Washington, D.C., earlier in the month and noted money is not the only problem facing the community services program nationwide. "It was a combination of mismanagment (nationally) and a need to save funds," Aderton said.

The City Council member also commended the Lubbock group for the use of its money and reiterated the program's funds would have to be decided by Lubbockites rather than on a national level, if Reagan's cuts go into effect.

'It will be up to us on the local level to sort out the priorities - some programs will have to go," Aderton said.

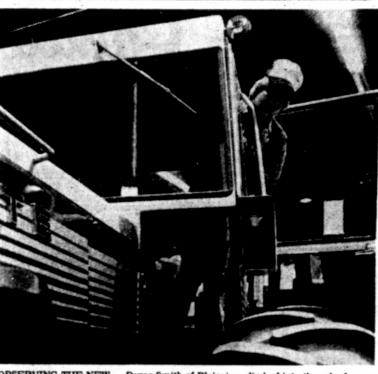

The commission also announced two public meetings set for 2:30 p.m. today. One will be in Rogers Community Center at 3200 Amherst St. The second will be at the Community Services Office at 1532 E

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Current Condition Not Related To Spleen

By PAUL DONOHUE, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: About 15 years ago during an examination I was told I had an enlarged spleen. Again, about seven years ago the same thing. Then several months ago after another physical I was told again that I had an enlarged spleen. Recently, I have had quite a bit of bowel problem on and off - loose stool. Could this be caused by the enlarged spleen, which I have had for these many years? - C.H.

A word, first, about the spleen in general. In an adult, the spleen has a dual from circulation and it is part of the body's general defense against infection. Now, if an illness were the cause of your enlarged spleen, it should have made itself known by now through other symptoms or in laboratory blood tests which you undoubtedly had in the course of one of your physical examinations.

The only way to tell for sure if an enlarged spleen has any real significance is with a complete blood count. A scan of the spleen is another useful test in evalu-

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am told by my internist that I have what is known as irritable colon. I thought you might be able to help me in understanding this. If you have material on the subject send it along to me. - Miss E.E.

The colon (lower intestine) is not just a hollow tube. It's a complicated organ with many functions. One of its functions is to remove fluid from the residue of food digested earlier in the stomach and small intestine. It must push this residue downward to the rectum. The muscular colon wall is continually contracting, providing the pushing motion called per-

In people with irritable colon the muscular movements are disturbed. These people suffer from constipation alternating with diarrhea, and often they have crampy abdominal pain in various locations. The pain is usually relieved by elimination.

Treatments have to be on an individual trial basis because no single approach helps every person with irritable colon. I can give you a few general thoughts. First, consider dietary sources that might be contributing to your problem - milk, caffeinated beverages, beans, cabbage, as examples. Add some high-fiber foods to your diet, like bran. That is often help-

Finally, if you cannot find a certain food that aggravates matters, or if extra fiber doesn't help, then a trial of drugs like propantheline can be made. The "Colitis and Kindred Complaints" will help in further understanding. Other readers can order a copy

Dear Dr. Donohue: You recently answered a question concerning anorexia nervosa. The woman asked where she could receive information. The National Association of Anorexia Nervosa and Associated Disorders is a national nonprofit educational and self-help organization dedicated to alleviating the problems of anorexia and related disorders. By printing our name and referring people to us, you will be helping overcome this dangerous illness. — J.G.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have an unusual question - about my nostrils. They are so very itchy inside. It is devastating, like a swarm of mosquitoes biting. I can't stand it any longer. Please help. - Mrs.

Allergies certainly can be a factor in nose itch. I suppose even an infection could cause it. If no cause can be found for the itching, often application of a steroid ointment brings relief.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble" is the title of Dr. Donohue's booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210. Chicago, Ill. 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 50 cents.

Coronado Apartments Judgment Handed Down

Avalanche-Journal Staff District Judge Robert C. Wright handed down a final judgment Wednesday morning on the Coronado Apartments ownership suit, providing for a monetary award of more than $400,000 to plaintiff Ben Snyder and a lesser amount to the City of Lubbock.

Snyder filed suit against defendant Lester Payne in November 1979, claiming that Payne had defaulted in payments for the purchase of the complex. Snyder alleged that he and Payne entered into a contract for the purchase of the apartments with provisions that

Payne make monthly payments of $3,005. Snyder claims that Payne made no payments beyond the first payment on

The City of Lubbock was named a party to the suit on the basis of its claims that it was not paid for apartment utilities' costs for several months during the time the ownership of the apartments was in limbo. It was during this time that residents of the apartments sought help from West Texas Legal Services to prevent the city-owned Lubbock Power & Light from turning off electricity because the apartment manager had apparently not paid the bills.

A 137th District Court jury returned a complicated verdict against Payne Dec. 22, but Wright did not enter a final judgment in the case until Wednesday morn-

According to the judgment, Snyder shall have foreclosure on his deed of trust lien against the apartments, and a public sale is ordered to sell the property to satisfy the terms of the rest of the judgment. Snyder is awarded a judgment against Payne of $429,280.62, which shall be taken from the proceeds of that sale.

Should the constable holding the public sale determine that the proceeds from the sale are insufficient to satisfy the total amount of the judgment, Payne is ordered to make up the remaining balance up to $126,884.84.

The city of Lubbock is ordered to recover for their utility services $14,062.48 from Snyder and Payne, jointly and severally — which means both must contribute to the amount owed the city.

The apartments, located at 1017 E. 29th St., stand vacant for the most part, with vandalism having taken its toll on the two-story structure. Most of the apartment residents moved out, not as a result of the ownership dispute, but after repeated struggles to maintain utility cab company was not paying rent on parking space at the terminal exits. But once parking restrictions were lifted, he faced more obstacles. The airport officials required him to park next to the curb to pick up customers, but refused to require the same of cabs, which blocked his 50-year-old rebuilt Fords against the curb by parking in the outside lane of traffic.

City Administrative Assistant Rick Childers said the ordinance covering taxicabs and limousines gave the airport board authority to regulate the service of both types of vehicles, but also put authority over limousines in the city man-

Actions taken by the airport board were unfair, according to Martinez.

'I can't understand why if I don't obey the rules they threaten to take my license away and when they (taxicabs) don't obey the rules, it's okay," he said.

Childers worked with the city legal staff to develop the new ordinance to be considered today by the City Council.

At its last meeting March 12, the council included revisions in the ordinance which appear to favor the taxi cab company and, according to Martinez, would place an unfair financial burden

Jim Sexton, whose company runs the Yellow Cab service here, convinced the council that rules which were more restrictive to taxicabs than limousines were unfair at that meeting. He sought and obtained council approval on changes which would limit limousine service and would provide less restrictions on his

Sexton also complained that new permit fees providing a $40 charge per vehicle per year were too much, but withdrew that objection when the council approved other demands

Martinez pointed out that he has to pay about $100 per vehicle per year because he has to pay 2 percent of his revenues according to the old city ordinance.

Childers said he couldn't defend the higher costs for a limousine service that had to operate by the same rules as the taxicab service. The council did not stipulate at its last

Singers To Bid Adieu As Minister Departs

In honor of the Rev. David C. "Bro. Dave" Stephenson's last Sunday in Lubbock, a farewell singing party will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Bronze Room at the South Park Inn, 3201 S.

Special guests will be all the singing groups Stephenson has worked with while here. All of his friends and associates are invited to attend

Stephenson has hosted "Dave's Gospel Hour" on KEND radio for the past four years. He will broadcast his final program from 6 to 9:15 a.m. Sunday. Don Yelvington will continue the southern gospel show, beginning April 5.

Stephenson also is pastor of First Church of God, 82nd Street and Indiana Avenue, and will preach his last sermon in that capacity at 11 a.m. Sunday. He will assume the pastorate of Community Church of God in Nashville. 'Bro. Dave" has been involved in gospel music and radio for 12 years and formed two groups, both known as the Gospel Four Singers, in South Carolina and Lubbock. He plans to form a new group in Nashville and continue working in gospel music and radio. When I started 'Dave's Gospel Hour'

there was no gospel music that I know of on Lubbock radio," Stephenson noted. 'At least, no one was playing the top 40 gospel in the nation. The world needs more gospel music...People love it. I hope I have brought some sunshine into Under Stephenson's leadership, First

Church of God moved to its current location and is building new facilities. He also has been active in the denomination's activities, having served as chairman of the Texas State Ministers of the Church

Pavarotti Hit Of Party

NEW YORK (AP) - After sharing the limelight with opera stars Dame Joan Sutherland and Marilyn Horne for the first time in a televised "Live from Lincoln Center" performance, Luciano Pavarotti took center stage at the postconcert party.

Dame Joan sat at the table complaining about the noise, and Miss Horne labeled the gathering at Sybils, a private, mid-Mahattan nightclub, "a brawl."

So the Italian tenor abandoned them to bask in the accolades of 250 friends and celebrities. "I'm a dirty old man and I am very proud," joked Pavarotti, as he kissed adoring fans amid popping flashbulbs.

All three singers seemed pleased with their performance at Avery Fisher Hall.

"It was a very exciting evening ... I got chills from Luci-ano and chills from Joan," said Miss Horne, a mezzo-sopran-

She added that she thought it was amazing to coordinate three "pretty fantastic careers" and schedules and pull the concert together

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Engelbert Humperdinck fathered a child born to a Queens school teacher and should make temporary support payments, a state appeals court has ruled The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn upheld a lower court ruling in the case Tuesday.

The four-judge panel affirmed a 1980 Family Court decision that Humperdinck was the father and should pay 2 a temporary $5,000 support fee to Kathy Jetter, whose daughter Jennifer was born in 1976.

Miss Jetter was extremely happy about the ruling, her lawyer Barry Slotnick said. Slotnick also said he now HUMPERDINCK would press for the initial request of a $2 million settlement. paid in $100,000 annual installments for 20 years.

Miss Jetter, who lives with her parents and daughter, alleged that her affair with Humperdinck, identified in the suit by his real name, Arnold George Dorsey, began in June 1975 when the singer appeared at the Westchester Premier

She had claimed Humperdinck broke off the affair when she told him she was pregnant and told her, "You better get yourself a good lawyer

Taxpayer Proves Generous

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Winston Edmond disagreed with his tax bill, but not in the usual way. He wants to pay more than the city asked.

Edmond, 30, a computer programmer, recently received an automobile excise tax bill of $86.25 from the city of Waltham, but he increased the amount to $135 and told the city to keep the change.

"I'm impressed with the protection I've received since moving here," Edmond said of city fire and police service. They're here when you need them.

Edmond said his political philosophy is "libertarian" and he's basically against taxes except for necessary government service

Researcher Eyes Phenomena Of Journalistic Behavior

WASHINGTON (AP) - Reporters in Washington are nearly unanimous in condemning a trend of their trade - pack journalism, in which a huge press corps chases after a single story. But it took a political scientist to say why it exists, and that it isn't always so bad.

Pack journalism is what you see on television when 250 reporters clamor for the president's attention at a news conference or 30 try to get a murder defendant to speak into their microphones as he leaves the courthouse

Two-fifths of the 1,250 reporters who cover Washington for the nation's newspapers, wire services, magazines and radio and television broadcasters participated in an exhaustive survey by Brookings Institution researcher Stephen Hess and he found that almost all condemned pack journalism.

Only 8 percent did not feel it was a problem, Hess reports. His findings have been published in a book, "The Washington Reporters," by Brookings, where he is a senior fellow.

When an event is public, such as a trial, Hess notes, the press could let the American wire services. The Associated Press and United Press International, cover it for all outlets.

But, he says, when many reporters cover the same story, different reporters come up with different information. The result is that the public gets a bigger pool of information about the event.

Moreover, Hess says, pack journalism has this potential advantage: "Duplicating resources at least leaves open the possibility that correspondents, spurred on by the competition, will do a better

Another benefit is that no single reporter will have too much influence over how the public will perceive an event.

Reporters working in packs swap information, but feel guilty about it, Hess observes. He says:

"When the work has to be done very fast, when events are subject to different interpretation, when participants are unknown or not available, when the situation is complicated, it is useful to have colleagues to compare impressions with. But unlike doctors, for whom it is a matter of pride to make the same diagnosis. reporters sharing diagnoses feel almost conspiratorial.

Hess is unconcerned if all the reporters on a story reach the same conclusions even agreeing on what element of the story to highlight in their first para-

The implication is that they do not form independent judgments, but such results are inevitable, Hess says, explaining the sameness in news stories. He asks how different reporters' judgments could be when they "live in the same city, use the same sources, belong to the same professional groups and swear by the

The Washington press corps is predominantly white and male, Hess says, but even when blacks and women cover the event, they write the same type stories as the pack. "From the same perspective, there is one view," says

Another reason most reporters write from a single angle, Hess said, is that editors back home get uneasy when their reporters in Washington consistently produce different stories from the rest of the press. So the pressure is on to run with

And the pack, Hess says, has often been wrong - writing, for example, that Edmund Muskie was the Democratic frontrunner in the 1972 primaries and that Henry Jackson was the man to beat

Prater's Turkeys

Hess' survey found, is another thing Washington reporters worry about. Four out of five Washington correspondents

The press was out of touch, and that, feel that the press corps as a whole is isolated and ignorant about how the government they cover affects the lives of readers and listeners

CHICAGO (AP) - Grain and soybean futures prices fell Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade as news of good growing weather prompted some commercial selling. Some traders sold contracts following news that Kansas and Texas winter wheat fields received some needed rainfall late Tuesday night and Wednesday. Weather beneficial to crops and yields is negative for prices.

Producer selling of grains at country elevators overnight also was said to be bringing some commercial interests into the futures market to hedge-sell today.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Agriculture Department has rated the winter wheat crop fair to good in most areas and poor to good in Kansas and the Texas panhandle. Extreme dry conditions and resulting wind erosion has been reported in some regions.

Cattle Futures Close Lower

CHICAGO - Cattle futures closed 42 to 105 points lower on increased sales of 19.035 cars Wednesday on the Chicago

Mercantile Exchange.
Futures fell on local selling prompted by weakness in wholesale beef and expectations of a lower trend in cash cattle. Sources noted that trade turned to fundamentals after two days of limit gains on the bullish pig crop report. Some light local short covering was cited at the close.

Wholesale beef was unchanged to off 1 at 93 to 94 cents a pound, f.o.b. river points. Cash cattle were steady to up

Soviets Purchase Argentine Grains

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) - Grain traders say the Soviet Union is believed to have purchased around 2.5 million metric tons of maize (corn) and 500,000 tons of sorghum from the coming Argentine harvest.

The purchases mean the U.S.S.R.'s shipment needs now are covered for April and May but further quantities are expected to be taken for later delivery The sources said the Soviet Union has hinted to exporters it does not plan to buy any more wheat than the 2.1 million metric tons already contracted. The Soviet feed grain purchases fall under a five-year agreement signed last year which provides for the supply by Argentina of 3 million tons of maize, 1 million tons of sorghum and 600,000 tons of soybeans annually from 1980 through

Sources said the Soviet Union already has bought 700,000 tons of soybeans for shipment this year and added there is uncertainty whether more purchases will

Last year, the U.S.S.R. purchased 2.28 tons of maize, 1.48 million tons of sorghum and 745,000 tons of soybeans.

$1.50 with the best top $62 per hundredweight. Slaughter totaled 121,000 head. About 9,700 head are expected today at the major markets. Feeder cattle futures closed 15 to 95 points lower on increased sales of 3,443 Futures ended at the day's lows on heavy selling prompted by weak fundamentals and spillover from the live cattle pit. Sources cited reduced country demand for feeders and weakness in cash beef as selling factors. Commercials were the best sellers. Deliveries total 193 thus far. Cash feeders were off $2 to up $2 with the best top $96 per hundredweight at Oklahoma City. Receipts at the major terminals are expected to total 5,950 head. Hog futures closed 15 lower to 150 higher with only April off and August through December at the daily limit with buyers over. Volume totaled 12,603 cars.

Traders cited the lower slant to cash hogs, heavy interior runs, expectations of lower cash hogs today and easiness in the pork complex as selling factors in the nearby contract. Continued effects of the pig crop report lifted most months to limit gains at the start with profit taking later trimming best levels.

Wholesale hams were unchanged to off 1 at 68 to 72 cents a pound, f.o.b. river. Cash hogs were off $1 to firm with the best top $42.50 per hundredweight at Joliet. Kill totaled 368,000 head. The major terminals are expecting about 26,700 head today.

Pork belly (bacon) futures closed up the daily limit of 200 across the board with buyers over the third day in a row. Sales totaled only 434 cars.

Buying continued in response to the bullish pig crop report. Scattered profit taking at the limit increased but failed to push prices off highs. Traders ignored the easier tone to cash product and hogs and expectations of lower cash hogs to-

Brown Supports Gasohol Production For Texas

A-J Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Citing potential for international and statewide disaster, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown urged the Senate Committee on Natural Resources Wednesday to give favorable consideration to legislation designed to increase gasohol production.

"Fifty percent of the state's fuel comes from nations that are unfriendly to or country at the present time," Brown said. On a more local level, he claimed that "we're on a disaster course with our farms and ranches if we don't develop new sources of income.

Brown said Senate Bill 198, but Seguin Sen. John Traeger, would address both potential crisis by removing the $5 million ceiling on the amount of money the Energy Development Fund may receive in appropriations.

The fund was created in 1977 to support research, development and demon stration of agriculturally derived fuels. Brown said these fuels come from biomass elements, which include energy sources from growing crops or crops that were growing. Much of the biomass comes from "refuse from field," Brown

Currently, gasohol is made only at a few older grian distilleries but it is sold at more than 300 gasoline stations. Brown called this situation "a disgrace to this state.

The bill makes no appropriations, merely allowing for appropriations over $5 million. Committee members seemed ready to report the bill favorably but Chairman M. Tati Santiesteban of El Paso refused to allow a vote because no fiscal note was attached to the bill. He left the legislation pending until next week.

Texas Bank Reaches $1 Billion Mark In Outstanding Loans HOUSTON (Special) — The Federal

Intermediate Credit Bank of Texas reached the $1 billion marked in loans outstanding to Texas farmers, ranchers and commercial fishermen late last The bank, a part of the Farm Credit system, provides money to 30 memberowned lending cooperatives called the Production Credit Associations, as well as to 18 other financing institutions such as agricultural credit corporations and commercial banks.

While this marks the first time in its 60-year history that the FICB of Texas has had $1 billion in loans outstanding at one time, the bank made more than $2.3 dollars.

billion in total loans during 1980 Jack H. Barton, president of the FICB of Texas said "It has taken us 60 years to reach the $1 billion outstanding milestone, but it says something about Texas agriculture that with sound aggressive growth plans, we expect to reach our second billion within five years." The farm credit system provides about a third of all agricultural credit. amounting to more than $69 billion in 1980. The system includes 12 federal Federal Intermediate Credit Banks, 12 Federal Land Banks and 13 Banks For Cooperatives. These banks are not government agencies and do not use any tax

REP. CHARLES STENHOLM OF STAMFORD says a revolving export credit fund for foreign buyers of U.S. agricultural products has a good chance of receiving congressional approval and could go into effect this year. Stenholm, a member of the House Cotton Subcommittee, spoke last week at the annual meeting of the Texas Cotton Association at Corpus Christi. Such a fund, he said, would help to build export markets. The concept has received wide support from the cotton industry in testimony before Senate and House committees studying the 1981 farm bill.

It is too early to predict the final version of the farm bill, Stenholm said. Fine tuning of the current cotton provisions in the 1977 farm act may be all that

The partial grains embargo against the Soviet Union has not worked, Stenholm said, but added that President Reagan is not finding it as easy to lift it as the chief executive had hoped.

IT SEEMS APPROPRIATE DURING THIS Agriculture Appreciation and Awareness Week on the High Plains to point out that agriculture is the nation's No. 1 industry, with assets of $927 billion Agriculture is the nation's No. 1 employer, with more than 15 million people, and the nation's No. 1 inflation fighter, with productivity growth five times greater than that of non-farm industry over the past five years. It is the nation's No. 1 exporter, with $41 billion in 1980. President Reagan, in a proclamation designating last Thursday as National Agriculture Day, declared that agricultural productivity is a major weapon in the war against inflation and in the struggle to eliminate world hunger. The President said the productivity and efficiency of American agriculture are basic ingredients in the country's national strength.

"The efficiency of the American farmer is the envy of the world," he said, adding that farmers are "fiercely independent businessmen of the soil."

OPPOSITION TO ELIMINATION OF TARGET prices for grains and cotton, as proposed by the Reagan administration, has been voiced by Rep. Thomas Foley, chairman of the House Subcommittee on Livestock and Grains. The Washington Democrat told a meeting of farm editors in the nation's capital this week that many Republicans in Congress also want to retain target If the administration eliminates target prices and disaster payments, he said, then it would be left with only the loan rates to induce farmers to voluntarily restrain production in times of oversupply.

not have many tools left to encourage production restraint," he said. Foley said Secretary of Agriculture John Block would be wise in at least keeping the discretionary authority to set target prices THE BASIC WEAKNESS WITH THE 1977 farm bill. Foley said, was that

The danger with eliminating target prices is that the government would

There are going to be many skirmishes on various issues that involve farm But he predicted that it would be virtually impossible for Congress to override a presidential veto on the farm bill if the President were to take this ac-

Foley said the concept of a safety net approach to the farm program needs to be continued in the 1981 bill.

A LATE AFTERNOON RALLY ATTEMPT failed in closing activity Wednesday and, after briefly moving into the plus column, cotton futures closed 55 to 79 points lower in the front two months and off 25 to 10 points in new-crop months. Dealers said the late rally came amid rumors a Far West firm had sold 150.

000 bales to China but, in the absence of any confirmation, selling pressure quickly returned. Futures held within a narrow range for most of the session in generally quiet trading, dealers said. Australia's exports of raw cotton in 1981-82 are projected at 400,000 bales (225 kilograms), compared with 350,000 estimated for the current season and 216,000 in 1979-80, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's counselor in Canberra said in a field report. The report said Japan is expected to remain the major outlet but China and Indonesia also are important markets. PRODUCTION IN THE UPCOMING SEASON is projected at 475,000 bales. compared with 410,000 this season and 370,000 bales in 1979-80.

Cotton currently is the most profitable irrigation crop and has a substantial edge on competing crops such as soybeans and sorghum, the report said. With present irrigation facilities, the report said, production will peak somewhere between 550,000 and 600,000 bales, a level expected to be reached by the

However, the report noted there already is some pressure on state governments from growers to improve water supplies. If prices remain favorable, the report said, demands for new or expanded water facilities will increase and be-

Fueling Test Rated Crucial For Shuttle

Technicians injected millions of pounds of highly volatile fuel into the space shuttle Columbia's huge external fuel tanks Wednesday, and officials said later the critical test was "going very well."

Space center officials said the success of the test would help determine whether the trouble-plagued $8 billion project finally gets off the ground as scheduled early next month

The day-long test began some four hours behind schedule when a electrical malfunction delayed the loading of 1.65. million pounds of the super-cold liquids into the 154-foot-tall bullet-shaped tank

Technicians scrambled into the orbiter's cockpit and switched a hydraulic system circulation pump to backup power before the flow of liquid oxygen and hydrogen could begin shortly after 11 a m. EST. Space workers finished filling the tank about three hours later.

'Everything is going very well." Operations Commentator Hugh Harris said from the Kennedy Space Center's launch control center about two hours after the fuels began pouring into the tank.

The "tanking test" puts extreme pressure on a repaired section of cork insulation on the fuel tank's aluminum skin. It is one of two tests that may determine whether the shuttle will be launched around April 10.

The Columbia's liftoff already has been delayed more than two years by a variety of problems and suffered yet another potential setback last week when a technician was killed in a freak launch pad accident

If Wednesday's test and a similar fueling operation on Friday do no further damage to the tank's insulation panels. space agency officials are expected to set a specific blast-off date for the reusable shuttle that will carry astronauts John Young and Robert Crippen on a 54-hour launt into orbit

Launch Control Director George Page said earlier this week that if all goes well. liftff could come as early as April 10.

The huge fuel tank, with the 122-foot orbiter clamped to its back will feed the Columbia's three main engines until it is jettisoned shortly before the space shuttle goes into orbit.

The tank burns up in the atmosphere, with some pieces falling into the ocean

Hearing On Midland Bus Service Okayed

MIDLAND (Special) - The City ! Council here has authorized the city manager's office to schedule a public hearing on proposed MidTran bus service rate increases which could range from 30 percent to 50 percent

'MidTran has been a losing proposition ever since it went into operation," City Secretary James McCullough said of the bus service which began here in May 1978. "What with the cost of everything, we're just trying to take care of inflation.

City Manager James Brown said he anticipates the proposed rates to go up at least 30 percent to 50 percent.

The rates charged and the proposed hikes include an increase from $10.50 per

Indonesian Energy Discovery Aired By Oil Company

HOUSTON (AP) - A Conoco Inc. subsidiary reported Wednesday an oil discovery in a remote Indonesian area with a stabilized flow rate of 6.000 barrels a day.

Conoco Irian Jaya said the No. 3 Wiriagar well some 130 miles southwest of the nearest production tested with no significant amounts of natural gas or water.

The Conoco subsidiary, with a 25 percent interest, is the operator for a group exploring about 1.7 million acres of jungle covered lowlands. Pertamina, Indonesian state oil company, holds 50 percent and two Japanese firms the remaining 25 percent.

Without indicating total depth or the thickness of the pay zone. Conoco said the No 3 Wiriagar encountered an oil reservoir at the top of the Kais Carbonate geologic formation at a depth of about 1.

Conoco Irian Jaya also holds a 25 percent interest in the production to the Flex route charges will remain the same on a per-trip basis of 75 cents, but primary subscriptions would be hiked from $21 per month to $31 per month and secondary subscriptions would be raised from $32 to $42.

For the elderly, one-way service would be hiked 15 cents, from 25 cents per trip to 40 cents, while door-to-door service would be increased a nickel, from 75 cents per trip to 80 cents.

The rate for the handicapped would remain at 25 cents per trip.

Also at Tuesday's council meeting, the members heard from fixed base operators at the Midland Airpark, who explained why their prices are higher than in Lubbock or elsewhere across the

McCullough said the council seemed to have been under the impression that freight from Fort Worth or Abilene would not be as much in Midland as it is in Lubbock. However, the operators said their prices are higher because of the cost of labor, equipment and the low unemployment rate in Midland.

As of Tuesday, the price of aviation fuel was $2.30 per gallon, McCullough said, noting the operators said the price was 30 cents to 40 cents lower at some

The council also hired Gordon Arnold, a Midland architect, to draw up the seat meeting room in a basement storage room the Midland Center. The project, costing approximately

$36,000, will include construction of three walls and installation of a floor, ceiling and air conditioning-heating ducts. The room would add another meeting room to the center for luncheon meetings, as well as provide for a storage

Woman Attacked; Sisters Charged

MOULTON, Ala. (AP) - Two sisters have been charged in connection with the tarring and feathering of a woman who planned to marry the ex-husband of one of them

Marita McElwey. 53, of Vinemont, and Robbie Jean McCorkle, 49. of Town Creek, were held Tuesday under $15,500 bonds on charges of burglary, kidnapping and assault, said Lawrence County Sheriff Grady Rose.

Police said Elizabeth Jameson, 40, of Green Valley, Ariz., told them she was tarred and feathered by the women after they forced their way at gunpoint into the Town Creek home of Mrs. McElwey's ex-husband, Dr. John D. McElwey, who was not home.

Economic Problems Blamed For Unpaid Bills

Associated Press Writer

Thousands of Americans, squeezed by hard times and cold weather, let electric and gas bills pile up during the winter, according to utility company officials who say delinquency rates have risen

An informal Associated Press survey shows that state laws and company poliries banning winter shutoffs have generally protected people from hardship. Now, however, the bans are about to expire and customers are faced with either osing power or figuring out some way to pay accumulated bills.

'We have a tremendous number of accounts to shut off each spring," said Frank Arricale, a spokesman for Boston Gas. "Thankfully, in most cases if never comes to that and we work out a payment schedule with people.

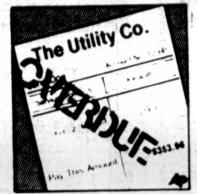

Massachusetts law prohibits shutoffs of service between Nov. 15 and March 15. The state's utilities agreed to extend this year's deadline to April 15.

Arricale said 18,000 Boston Gas customers are 90 days behind in paying their bills. "That's a 30 percent increase over last year and we haven't added many new accounts.

He said he agrees with the ban on cutoffs - "You can't endanger people in cold weather." But he said it has a negative effect. "If people know companies are prohibited from shutting off service. a lot of people won't pay until the day of reckoning arrives.

Dick Tipton of the Gas Service Co., which serves parts of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska, said the reasons for the increase in delinquencies are obvious. "The economy, higher energy costs, inflation, the whole ball of wax,

Tipton said the worst problem was around Kansas City, Mo., where the number of customers on the delinquent list this January and February was 15 percent higher than in the same period of 1980. The amount of money owed rose Weldon Watson, public relations manager for the Oklahoma City district of the Oklahoma Natural Gas Co., said the company has "seen an increase in delinquencies as the cost of gas has gone up.

And that starts a vicious cycle. Watson said. When unpaid bills rise, utilities try to offset their losses with rate increases. The rate increases, in turn, make it still harder for people to pay

Delinquencies Reported Up Elsewhere ruary was 93 percent more than a year ago. CONNECTICUT — Northeast Utilities, the state's big-

Here is a look at the situation in other places:

ILLINOIS - Commonwealth Edison Co., serving Chicago and northern Illinois, said bad debts as a result of delinquencies were 42 percent higher in 1980 than in 1979. The company did not provide 1981 figures. Spokesman John Hogan said the reason for the increase was a "new and more stringent state law on disconnecting during the winter time.... We've learned that, unfortunately, when people know they won't be disconnected, certain people don't pay their bills." Hogan said the bad debts ultimately result in higher rates for all people.

NEW YORK — The major utilities in the New York City area reported no major problems, but the situation was dif-ferent upstate. Dick Peck, a spokesman for Rochester Gas & Electric Co., said the amount owed this year is estimated at $3 million - double what it was only twars ago. "We attribute it to the higher cost of energy," Peck said. "It could very well be that people are paying their heating bills now instead of their electric bill.

TENNESSEE - Don Hawkins of Nashville Electric Service said there had been a dramatic increase in the rate of delinquent bills. He also said the amount owed this Feb-will get shut-off notices in April, up from 7,000 last year.

Wisconsin Power & Light reported that the number of customers at least two months behind in their payments has risen steadily - from 15,000 in January 1980 to 17,500 this January and 18,500 this February. Spokesman Richard Griffith blamed inflation, unemployment and sub-zero temperatures in December and February which boosted bills.

Like Arricale. Griffith said a state moratorium on cold-weather shutoffs has an impact. "Some people make a policy of not paying anything until April," he Howland said at least 12,000 customers said. "When the moratorium ends, they

Minnesota Gas Co., said the number of customers at least 60

owing 55 percent more than last year. Northeast said more than half of the delinquent customers have bills that are at least two months old MINNESOTA - Maurice Stram, credit manager of the days delinquent was 29 percent higher as of this March 1 than a year earlier. He said higher gas rates have boosted bills even though the winter was milder than normal. He said the state "cold-weather rule," limiting cutoffs, caused some people to "pay nothing in the winter and face cutoffs on April 15 and payments throughout the summer and into the next winter.

FLORIDA - Scott Harrington, a spokesman for Gulf Power Co., said 12.8 percent of the company's customers were delinquent this January and February, compared to 10.8 percent last year. He said the company held a news conference to urge such customers to contact the utility to work out financing. "You've got a lot of people who are too proud to come in and say, 'I'm in financial trouble."" > come in and pay the whole thing. That's like getting an interest-free loan

Ed Anderson, a spokesman for Public Service Electric & Gas Co. of New Jersey, echoed his colleagues: "During the moratorium, they tend to let their utility bills mount up. Then comes a day of re-ckoning." Anderson said the trend "goes across the board with lower, middle and higher-income people."

Increased delinquencies in Alabama were blamed on a colder-than-normal winter, the economy and rate increases. The Alabama Gas Corp. said the number of delinquent customers is 13 percent higher than it was in 1980; Alabama are behind this year than last. Paul Young of Washington Gas & Light Co., which provides natural gas service to the District of Columbia and its Virginia and Maryland suburbs, said the number of delinquent accounts as of March 12 was 21 percent higher than a year ago. He blamed inflation and higher rates, along with a cold January. "January is always a tough month," he said.

Power Co. said 8 percent more people

Joe Farrell, director of the Bureau of Consumer Services of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, also cited the weather and rate increases. He said electric bills went up an average of 10 percent during 1980, while gas bills rose 20

Farrell said the state's six major utilities had 21 percent more delinquent customers this January and February than they did last year.

Advertising Techniques Subject For Seminar

Print advertising will be the subject today for the last session of the current Lubbock Advertising College series at Texas Tech. The program "Writing and Producing Effective Print Advertising" will be presented from 1:30 p.m.to 4:30 p.m. today in Room 223 of the Mass Communications Building. Dave Vinyard, vice president-account services for Crume & Associates of Dallas, and Pat Steel, a Dallas creative consultant, will conduct the workshop.

The session is open to the public, according to Dr. Jon Wardrip, co-chairman of the project which is sponsored by Lubbock Ad Federation and Tech.

The fee is $30 for individual participants or $50 for a group of three persons from one organization, Wardrip said. The fee is payable at the session

Vinyard joined Crume eight years ago and was named to his current position as well as the agency's board of directors in

His account experience includes developing advertising for clients in such field as banking, agriculture, pulic and private transportation, food service, hotels, building materials, electronics and telecommunications

Steel's creative advertising career began in 1946. Before starting his own business last year, he worked for Bloom Advertising of Dallas, Young & Rubicam in Houston and New York Mutual Broadcasting System and NBC.

He is a graduate of Texas Christian University and has received a number of awards for commercials and ads, including Ad Age's 100 Best in 1976.

Steel has created advertising for manaccounts, including Gulf Oil, Pet Foods, Six Flags, Zale's, Borden, Bristol-Meyers, Ford Motor, General Cigar, GE, Time, General Foods and Proctor &

$31 Million Awarded In Girdle Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Knut L. Bjorn-Larsen savored a $31 million federal court judgment Wednesday for the garterless girdle the Norwegian-born inventor says was pirated by Munsingwear

"It's fantastic!" said the 58-year-old inventor after a federal jury made the judgment Tuesday.

Munsingwear promptly filed a notice of appeal with U.S. District Judge Jesse

"This has taken a very long time," said Bjorn-Larsen, who came to the Unit-ed States after World War II, in which he served with Norwegian intelligence. He added: "I believe in the American system, and I believe in the American peo-

Lois Bjorn-Larsen said today she hopes the money will allow her father-inlaw to spend more time with the family in Carpinteria, Calif., and less time working in Los Angeles.

"I feel real good about it," she said of the award. "We would like to be able to live closer and be together. We just want to have our families closer

In Minneapolis, Munsingwear vice president Dwight Oglesby, who is also the garment manufacturer's general counsel and secretary, said the company's notice of appeal was made in court

"The only comment I can make is that we're of the opinion that the evidence does not substantiate a verdict of that scope," Oglesby said. "We believe our defenses are meritorious in this case and we believe (the judgment) will be overturned in our appeal.

Bjorn-Larsen said he perfected a chemical process whereby polyvinyl chloride "friction protuberances" are cured from a liquid to solid state and imbedded in the fabric of the panty girdle. Stockings or pantyhose slide underneath and are held in place by the friction of the plastic.

Bjorn-Larsen contended in his suit that he had a contract with Munsingwear for two years before the manufacturer hired its own inventor. Now, he said. "the whole industry has picked it up.

Genealogical Workshop Set Saturday

Mary N. Speakman of Wichita Falls, a certified genealogist, will speak on genealogical research during a workshop to be presented by the South Plains Genealogical Society Saturday.

The session will last from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and will be in the Municipal Garden and Arts Center, 4215 University

Reservations for the session are still available to persons who wish to bring a sack lunch or prefer to leave the center for lunch. The fee is $10. Anyone interested in attending should phone the center at 762-6411, extensions 2724, 2725 or 2726, for more information.

Persons planning to attend the workshop should bring notebooks, paper and pens to take notes, said Dorothy Hughes, president. Tape recorders will not be al-

The coffee and check-in period begins at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, with the morning lecture titled "Secondary Sources in Genealogical Research," starting at 9:30 a.m. The afternoon session, to begin at 1:30 p.m., will focus on "Primary Sources: What They Are, Where to Find Them and How to Use Them.

Mrs. Speakman is a professional researcher and former president of the Texas State Genealogical Society. She is scheduled to speak at the Indiana Historical Society's annual symposium in Indianapolis, April 9-10, and at the National Genealogical Society's National Conference in Atlanta, May 7-9.

Fake Coin Scam Suspect Hauled Before Jurors

AMARILLO (UPI) - A man charged with theft in the sale of counterfeit gold coins in Houston and with conspiracy to commit arson in Lubbock appeared Wednesday before a federal grand jury believed to be investigating an extensive arson ring as well as a counterfeiting

Sidney James Heard - who is free on bond from Harris County where he is charged in connection with the sale of fake Krugerrands to a Houston coin dealer - spent time in the grand jury hearing

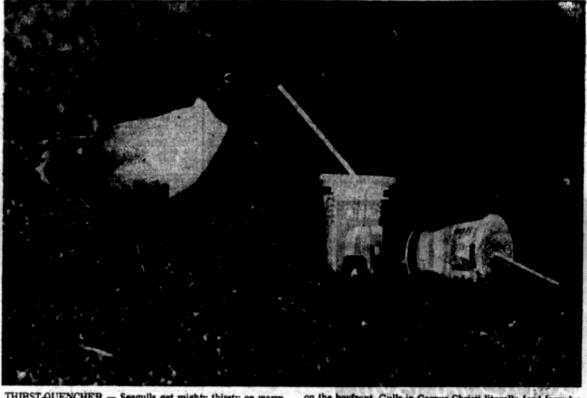

The panel returned no indictments Wednesday, the first day of the current session. Testimony was expected to continue throughout the remainder of the

Heard also has been charged in Lubbock County with conspiracy to commit

Court observers said grand jurors may be interested in any knowlege Heard might have of 24 fires that occurred in recent years in Amarillo, Lubbock, Tyler and a Dallas suburb.

The Krugerrand scheme also has extended to several cities, including Austin, Dallas, Amarillo and Houston. Federal agents confisced about $1.5 million worth of the gold-plated replicas of the South African coins in a raid in Amarillo

An Amarillo contractor, who also may be called before the grand jury, allegedly used fake Krugerrands as collateral to obtain four loans totaling $270,000 from the Tascosa National Bank in Amarillo The granting of the loans reportedly led to the resignation of Robert Ringo, president of Tascosa National.

Uneasy Truce Among Factions In Poland Seems Threatened

WARSAW, Poland (AP) - The Communist regime's top labor negotiator said Wednesday he believes a threatened nationwide strike can be averted, but told Solidarity chief Lech Walesa that elements of his independent union want a "holy war" against a government that is Poland's "last chance

"Are you trying to prove that independent unions cannot exist under socialism? Because that brings about the fall of the state and an end to social peace," Warsaw Radio quoted Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Rakowski as saying in a 90-minute meeting with Walesa.

There was no immediate reaction from Walest or other leaders of the independent trade traion. Walesa had emerged smiling from the meeting with Rakowski and said later that talks aimed at ending the strike alert were adjourned for a day to await a government report on the beating last week of union mem-

The strike call, a result of the beating last Thursday in Bydgoszcz, 170 miles northwest of here, has raised fears of Soviet intervention.

The Communist Party Central Committee scheduled a meeting for Sunday "to discuss the current party tasks in the face of the situation in the country," the official news agency PAP reported.

At its last meeting, in February, it named Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski as the third Polish premier since last summer's labor unrest — following Jozef Pinkows-ki and Edward Babiuch.

Rakowski's statement, carried by Pol-ish broadcast media about three hours after he met with Walesa, was the strongest against activities of Solidarity since it was formed during last summer's strikes.

Union-government conflicts have mounted since the Soviet Union urged Poland to take a tougher stand earlier this month. Troops of the Soviet bloc's Warsaw Pact now are holding military exercises in and around Poland.

"The facts prove that in Solidarity there are forces who want to declare on the people in power a holy war. They forget that they are also declaring it on themselves," Rakowski said.

"The announced warning strike and subsequent general strike are bringing closer the moment when governments and public opinion both East and West become convinced of our inability to govern ourselves wisely and prudently."

He added: "Mass information media describe (premier) Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski's government as the 'last chance

Rakowski went on to say that the Bydgoszcz incident was regrettable and promised that responsible people would be punished when evidence was assembled. But, Rakowski said, law enforcement officials must also protect govern-

'Ordinary People' Tabbed For Sweep

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - As the ballots for the 53rd annual Academy Awards were being counted by the accounting firm of Price Waterhouse, indications Wednesday were that this year's Oscar race may be an unexpected sweep for Recent awards by critics and guilds have snow-balled Oscar chances for the movie about a troubled family overcoming the death of one son and faced with the suicidal tendencies of another.

Laurence Mark, a Paramount Pictures vice president, was delighted with the momentum "Ordinary People" has developed late in the Oscar race.

"We presented the picture from the outset as a class act," he said, "and it attracted a slightly highbrow audiences. But as it won awards, critical acclaim and academy nominations, it's come down from its pedestal and people are finding it because it's a good movie.

Because the movie stars Mary Tyler Moore, whose own son, Richard, died of an accidental self-inflicted gunshot wound at the time "Ordinary People" was released, there was an eerie feeling of reality surrounding the film.

Robert Redford made his directorial debut with the film which earned a total of six nominations, including best director, best screenplay and best picture. Co-starring and nominated for best supporting actor awards in the story of the troubled upper middle class WASP family are Timothy Hutton as the tortured son and Judd Hirsch as his psychiatrist.

In the month Redford won the Director's Guild Award and the Hollywood Foreign Press Association's Golden Globe Award for best director of the year. Alvin Sargent won the Writers Guild award for the best screenplay adapted from another medium Tuesday night.

And Miss Moore won a Golden Globe for best actress.

The National Board of Review voted "Ordinary People" the best film of the year and the Los Angeles Film Critics voted Hutton the best supporting actor. Another factor bodes well for "Ordinary People" at the Academy Awards Monday night — it's popularity at the box office. So far it has earned $40 million in the United States and Canada.

It is expected "Raging Bull," which has also won its share of awards, and eight nominations, is expected to give "Ordinary People" the most competi-

Robert De Niro, who portrays Jake Lamotta in the violent fight film, is heavily favored to win the Oscar for best actor. It's director, Michael Scorsese, is considered a close second to Redford in the balloting.

Miss Moore's stiffest competition will come from Sissy Spacek, who plays country-western singer Loretta Lynn, in "Coal Miner's Daughter.

Johnny Carson will host the Academy Awards presentations Monday night with silent screen star Lillian Gish, 81, presenting the Oscar for the best pic-

Another highlight of the awards show will be the presentation of a special Oscar to Henry Fonda for his contributions over the years to the motion picture

Film's Prospects Good, Studio Executive Says

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The president of United Artists says he is "reasonably optimistic that the $35-milion Heaven's Gate" will recover from its aborted opening and eventually turn a profit.

The frontier epic will appear in 900 theaters across the land on April 24 and in a two-hour, 19-minute version, trimmed by director Michael Cimino from the three hours, 47 minutes that opened and closed to savage reviews in New York last October

"We're not running scared," assured Norbert T. Auerbach, president and chief executive officer of United Artists. "In fact, our surveys show 'Heaven's Gate' means something to people who go to the movies. They remember it without the negative aspects that surrounded the pic-

He added: "If the picture is successful, a lot of credit for the turnaround goes to Steve.

Auerbach referred to Steven Bach vice president for worldwide production, who has also taken knocks for allowing Cimino to crash over budget.

Michael simply got carried away with a vision of what 'Heaven's Gate' was to be." explained Bach "Our basic decision was to support the man, whether he was right or wrong." The film's problem, said Bach, was that the narrative was too slender to carry the length Virtually all of the story line has been retained: the discarded 90 minutes contained "production stuff.

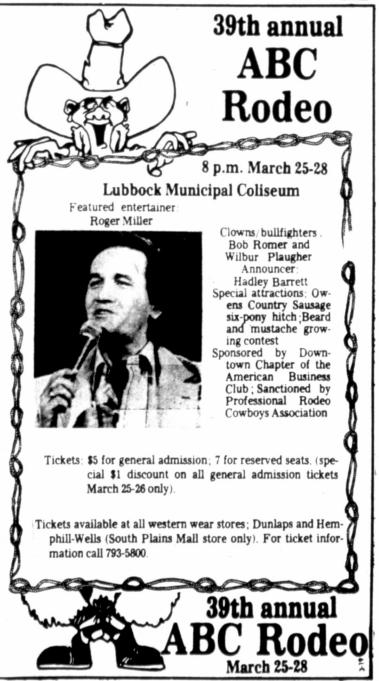

Auerbach-Bach make an odd corporative couple, yet they seem complemen tary. Norbert Auerbach has spent most of his 58 years abroad. He was born in Vienna, grew up in Prague where his father owned a movie studio, graduated from UCLA, spent 28 years in film production and distribution in Europe. Steven Bach, 42, is one of the new breed of university-trained movie makers. After graduating from U.S.C., he worked his way up the ladder to produce such films as "Parallax View" and Who'll Stop the Rain? The pair met with a reporter at their offices in MGM's Thalberg Building. Their frank aim: to quell rumors of Bach's imminent firing and to repair United Artists' image. "Heaven's Gate" is not the only problem. "Our pictures haven't worked," Auerbach admitted.

"One of the things that has been wrong is too little marquee value," said Bach. "Also, it's possible that our pic-

Producer Returning Live With Oscars

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Why is Norman Jewison producing the 53rd annual Academy Awards show? "Terror," he explains. "I wanted to experience true terror, and I can't bring myself to jump out of an airplane. I had to find another way of pumping my adrenaline up, and that is with a live television show. I haven't done one for 20 years; the last was the Judy Garland

"I got my training in live television, which was a rare experience. Once the show started, there was no way out; you had to continue no matter what happened. Terrifying: The Oscar show is the same. It's the biggest show left, outside the Super Bowl.

Jewison has indeed lined up a field of superstars from all areas of showbiz to participate in this year's Oscarcast, including emcee Johnny Carson, Bernadette Peters, Luciano Pavarotti, Peter O'Toole, Dolly Parton, Dustin Hoffman, Brooke Shields, Alan Arkin, Dyan Cannon, Robert Redford, Sally Field, George Cukor, Sissy Spacek, King Vidor, Angie Dickinson, Francis Ford Coppola, Margot Kidder, Mikhail Baryshnikov, Mary Tyler Moore, Willie Nelson, Lily Tomlin and Steve Martin. Even President Reagan makes a filmclip appear-

Of course Jewison's motivations go beyond sheer terror: "As you grow older, you feel you owe something to the industry. And after all, the Oscars are the only internationally recognized awards for

And so from his office at the former Selznick studios, Jewison has been shaping the production that will be broadcast Monday night by ABC from the Los Angeles Music Center. I found him one day recently eating lunch at his desk, as is his custom, surrounded by posters of his own directorial achievements: "Fiddler on the Roof," "Jesus Christ, Superstar," "And Justice for All," "Rollerball."

"Every Oscar show should have a theme," reasoned the bearded Canadian. "Our theme is 'Film is Forever.' Unlike the theater, concert hall, recording or television, movies are a lasting medium, and we illustrate that with pieces from 155 films - a record, I believe.

'The theme is carried throughout the show. Even President Reagan in his opening remarks says, 'I've been trapped in some films forever myself.

The Reagan appearance marks the first time an American president has participated in an Oscar telecast. It was taped at the White House March 5 by a local ABC News team.

Favored to win the Oscar for best picture is the domestic drama "Ordinary People." Other nominees in the category "Coal Miner's Daughter, "The Elephant Man" and "Raging Bull." The latter two pictures gar-

Tulsa Takes 86-84 Win For NIT Title

By the Associated Press NEW YORK — Greg Stewart's twisting layup with 30 seconds left in overtime gave Tulsa an 86-84 victory over Syracuse and the championship of the National Invitation Tournament Wednesday night.

Only six points were scored in the five-minute overtime period, forced when Erich Santifer of Syracuse scored at the buzzer to end regulation time at Tulsa's David Brown, who scored 18 points, and Sean Kerins of Syracuse traded two free throws apiece in the overtime before Stewart's winning shot. Syracuse freshman Gene Waldron missed a 15-foot shot with three seconds remain-

Stewart had 23 points to lead Tulsa, which finished with a 26-7 record under going 8-19 last season. The 6-foot-9 junior center was named the 44th annual tournament's most valuable player.

A 17-2 run by Syracuse wiped out a 54-46 Tulsa lead in the second half, giving the Orangemen, who finished the season 22-12, a 63-56 lead with 12:48 remaining in the second half. But the rally was dewhen Syracuse starters Dan first-year Coach Nolan Richardson after Schayes and Leo Rautins picked up their fourth personal fouls.

Shortly thereafter, Tulsa scored 11 points in a row, including 7 by Stewart, to take a 69-65 lead with 7:03 left. The final point of the spree was a free throw by Stewart after Schayes was whistled for his fifth foul.

Mike Anderson, who scored 17 points for Tulsa, had 7 in the final four minutes of regulation time but he missed the first lead, 43-32, on a basket by freshman cenof a 1-and-1 with eigh seconds left to al-

Tulsa led 48-42 after a racehorse first half during which Stewart scored 14 points and Brown 12 for the Golden Hur-

Syracuse was bothered by Tulsa's pressing defense and fell behind 9-2 but Rautins scored six points in the next 90 seconds to help cut Tulsa's margin to 13-12. NEW YORK - Purdue coach Gene Keady said his team showed its character by beating West Virginia 75-72 in overtime Wednesday night in the third-place game of the 44th annual National Invitation Tournament.

"In a game like this, the character comes out," said Keady. "It's the kind of people we recruited."

So Get Your 'Slim Jeans' On

PICTURE THIS FAMILAR SCENE

You're lounging now, big guy, lying back in your favorite easy chair casually attired in your silver, metallic Slim Jeans (only $9.98 and guaranteed to make those pounds melt away). It's Saturday afternoon, the television's on, but the volume's down real low Because you're grooving to the sounds of your new Slim Whitman record (remember, this album is not available in ANY store). And in the kitchen, the little lady is whipping up something just for you.

Her Vegamatic (by Ronco) is slicing, dicing and chopping madly while you hear the rhythmic hissing of your Bamboo Steamer steaming up something tantalizing for your taste buds. The only sound breaking in over Slim, the veging, and the hissing and crinkling of those nice shiny jeans you're wearing is the familiar, if slightly tinny, tunes of "The Yellow Rose of Texas."

It's that danged Network watch you and the wife ordered (remember, the demand is heavy, so send your orders today!). We haven't quite figured how to turn the alarm off yet and, frankly, I'm getting kinda tired of smelling that yel-

Americana, circa 1981. We - yes, even those of us who keep our Ace Cannon records hidden in the socks' drawer - are children of the tube. Television spoon feeds us everything from instant coffee to instant weight-loss. And we

Now, for the sports fan, there's another gimmick that's catching on like nothing since my main man Slim first warbled "Red River Valley" over the airwaves. It's the NCAA Basketball Tournament.

Sports saturates television weekends year around, but for my money, nothing can touch the NCAA's for excitement, enthusiasm and — the most cherished of sports attributes - unpredictability.

YOU START OUT WITH 48 teams, more or less representing the best collegiate basketball has to offer, and in three action-filled weeks only four squads remain. Then, what Al McGuire calls "The Dance," takes place.

It's unlike the pro basketball playoffs where a best-of-three or best-of-seven series is staged, and also unlike pro football's Super Bowl in which two weeks of hoopla build to a single 60-minute encounter. One loss and you're history you go home.

Take DePaul (please), the Blue Demons may still have one of the finer teams in the country. The Chicago school spent most of the year ranked either first or second in the nation but lost in the first round and no one will remember what happened during the regular season in six months, much less six

But Indiana, Louisiana State, North Carolina and Virginia have earned the trip to Philadelphia for The Dance. The experience will stay with the players and coaches for a lifetime. And what a trip it's been.

According to an NCAA publicity release, "this has been truly an amazing tournament for cliff-hangers.'

There have been 18 games decided by four points or less, or in overtime, breaking the record of 16 set in 1978. But it's much more than that. An incredible 11 times during the tournament, the winning points came with five seconds to go or less (and seven of those came with 0:03 or less remaining!).

So NBC and the NCAA have a dandy double-header coming up on Saturday afternoon. Indiana and LSU meet in the opener with Atlantic Coast Conference humbling experience." North Carolina coach Dean Smith said Wednesday about making it to the Final Four of the NCAA basketball tournament.

The semifinals, with North Carolina facing Virginia and Indiana against Louisiana State, will be played at the Spectrum Saturday, with the championship game Monday night.

Indiana meets LSU at 11:30 a.m. and the Virginia-North Carolina contest tips off at 2:30 p.m.

"All four of us are on top of the mountain." Smith said in a telephone news conference in which his competing colleagues also participated. "I wish all coaches had this opportunity.

Neither Smith, Virginia's To land, LSU's Dale Brown and Indiana's Bobby Knight expected the last two games of their long season to be easy, and none predicted victory.

No one assumed the role of favorite or underdog.

"I'm sure there is no underdog role in the Final Four," Brown said. "The logistics of the Final Four is part of the strategy. You can't be distracted. We're still practicing very hard."

All acknowledged, however, that they have trimmed some time from daily practice sessions, which generally run less than two hours.

"We like to think we're executing as well as we can, but we still need practice," Brown said.

The Virginia-North Carolina matchup will be the third meeting this season be-tween the clubs, with 28-3 Virginia rallying to beat the Tar Heels, 28-7, in the first two games.
"I would expect North Carolina to put in a lot of defensive changes to try to bottle up (7-foot-4) Ralph Sampson," said Holland. "But Sampson is not a one-man show Opposing teams have concentrated more and more on trying to keep the ball away from Sampson with zone defenses. Sampson said if he is denied the ball, "I've got to keep on playing. I'm just trying to get to the basket, rebound a little bit more.

Sampson had a big hand in both of the victories over North Carolina, but said Saturday's matchup will be nothing like the regular-season battles.

"It will be a different game in Phila-two games on their minds, they're gonna get beat. This will be another game, a different place.

Sampson scored 46 points and pulled down 24 rebounds in the two Cavalier victories. He was especially impressive in the second game on the Tar Heels' court, hitting 13 of 16 floor shots en route to 32 points and garbbing 13 rebounds as Virginia wiped out a 16-point second-half defecit to emerge with an 80-79 overtime

Smith said his team is "now playing with more confidence, but Virginia also is playing better."

Knight, who won the NCAA title in 1976, also in Philadelphia, characterized than his present team. And he insisted that his experience as a coach in the Final Four wouldn't be a factor. In 1973 his team finished third.

'It might even work as a disadvantage," Knight said. Brown acknowledged that LSU, 31-3, one of the highest scoring teams in the nation, would come out running against Indiana, 24-9. He said he didn't expect to do anything differently. 'To counter Indiana's size we must rely on our quickness, and that is the best attack we can use," Brown said. "Defense will dictate the course of the game. Whether it will stay up-beat, fast, or layback depends on what happens. We've played both styles, and we've been able to win both ways. Our best play, obviously, is the up-beat style Knight said LSU has excellent rebounding "and they can hit you from a variety of directions." admitting that he wasn't expecting an easy game against the Tigers.

Indiana has won three other NCAA national championships, once under Knight in 1976 and twice under the late Branch McCracken in 1940 and 1953

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff The Southeastern Oklahoma 1981 media guide is dedicated to "Savage Basebut Southeastern demonstrated nothing less than "Savage Sophistication" Wednesday at Chaparral Stadium.

The Savages executed the fine points of the game in conjunction with the fine right arm of pitcher Ron Gilbreath.

"This was a good game," he added. This is the way the first game of a series should go when you match up two good pitchers, two aces like that.

"I just hope that getting beat like this today won't affect us tomorrow. That's the thing I'm concerned about. Even though we're coming around, we're still not that good a club yet and I don't know

EXHIBITION ROUNDUP

Tigers Brush Back Bucs

Spring training generally is a relaxed time when baseball players slowly work themselves into shape for the long summer. But in Bradenton, Fla., Wednesday, tempers were in mid-season form.

The Detroit Tigers and the Pittsburgh Pirates engaged in a first-class brawl. sparked by suspicions of knockdown pitches from the Pirates' John Candelaria and the Tigers' Howard Bailey in the fourth inning.

With two out and Pittburgh ahead 1-0 in the top of the fourth. Candelaria decked Tiger catcher John Wockenfuss. Nothing happened then, but in the bottom of the inning Bailey, a rookie lefthander, hit Pirate leadoff batter Bill Robinson in the mouth with a pitch.

Robinson started toward the mound but was intercepted by plate umpire John McSherry. From out of the Pirates dugout, however, stormed infielder Kurt Bevacqua, who exchanged words with Bailey and took a punch at Tiger third baseman Tom Brookens. The haymaker missed, but both benches emptied onto

"I told him to get the hell out of there, that nobody meant to hit anybody and, besides, it was none of his (Bevacqua's) business." Brookens said. "Then he swung and the fight was on.

Order was restored after seven or eight minutes, and Brookens said Bevacqua told him that "tempers got out of hand So, it's all forgotten

But in the top of the fifth, Candelaria's first pitch brushed back Tiger second baseman Stan Papi, and McSherry ejected both Candelaria and Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner.

'There's no way Candelaria was throwing at Papi," said Tanner, who angrily argued the ejections with McSherry.

Softball Tournaments Scheduled

South Plains Softball Farms has scheduled softball tournaments every weekend beginning April 4-5 on a field at Erskine and FM 179, approximately one mile east of Reese AFB.

The first tourney is a 30-team, open-class event. Entry fee is $75 per team: Trophies will be awarded the top three teams and the individuals on the top three teams, in addition to the tourney's most valuable player.

Registration is scheduled at the Townhouse Restaurant, 4401 Ave. Q., 24 hours per day. Contact Lisa Everson, 763-288, for further information.

Moore To Guest On Radio Call-In Show

KTXT-FM radio (88 FM) will sponsor a call-in show tonight with Texas Tech head football coach Jerry Moore.

The show will be on the air from 6:30-7 p.m. Coach Moore will discuss the upcoming football season and how he views this year's team. Callers are invited to phone in and ask Moore questions concerning the football program at 742-3915.

Texas Hosts NCAA Swim Championships

AUSTIN (AP) - The University of Texas has the home pool advantage and the pressure of being the favorite today in the beginning of the 58th NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships but the defending champion California-Berkeley Bears, UCLA and Florida could keep the Longhorns from earning their first title.

"Everyone has picked us No. 1, and, sure, there is pressure," said coach Eddie Reese. "But our team has talked about it a lot and I think by now we've desynthesized it.

'We know we've got a good shot but that doesn't mean we'll win it. We lost by 14 points last year and everything went right for us. We were glad to finish second. Now, we'd like to win by a point.

Reese said one thing is for certain: the fast Texas Swimming Center pool will see numerous American records "I look for over one-half of the American records to be broken," he said. "It will be that kind of a meet." Auburn's Rowdy Gaines, defending champion in the 200 and 100 freestyle, said, "In this pool, you can't set any limits on anybody. It's so fast...in fact it's the fastest I've competed in.' Reese said the consistent depth of the pool - it's a uniform nine-feet - and unique gutters which absorb the waves make all the lanes fast. 'I like the warm temperatures, too," said Gaines. "I froze to death last year

NEW YORK (AP) - Martina Navratilova and Andrea Jaeger started on their expected route to the finals Wednesday with victories in the opening round of the $300,000 Avon tennis championships at Madison Square Garden. Miss Navratilova, the tournament's No.1 seed, overcame Pam Shriver 3-6, 6-6-3, while the second-seeded Miss Jaeger stopped West Germany's Bettina Bunge 6-4, 6-3.

Leslie Allen opened the eight-woman, double-elimination tournament Wednesday by downing Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia 7-5, 6-1. In the day's final match, Sylvia Hanika of West Germany crushed Barbara Potter 6-0.

Misses Navratilova and Shriver, the tournament's top-seeded doubles pair, battled fiercely, their rallies and seemingly impossible array of shots bringing cheers from the crowd of 9,722. The only service break in the first set came in the sixth game. Miss Shriver then held serve to win the set.

Unknown Bonds Faces Leonard For WBC Title

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) - When Sugar Ray Leonard defends his World Boxing Council welterweight title Saturday night, the "other man" in the ring will be Larry Bonds, a garbage collector from Denver whose boxing career has been plagued by problems getting fights.

'It really doesn't bother me that much to be the 'other guy' in the fight," Bonds said Wednesday as he prepared for his first world championship fight. "I'm just happy to have the opportunity to be the other guy."

Bonds has not fought since he knocked out a fighter by the name of Costello King in Puerto Rico nearly a year ago. He was contemplating retiring from the ring when the offer to challenge Leonard came through "I was frustrated." Bonds said Wednesday. "I told my wife in January

TAR HEEL COACH DEAN SMITH is making his sixth trip to the NCAA Final Four, but still looking for his first title. Bobby Knight of Indiana will be making his third trip (remember his Hoosiers won it all back in 1976) while UVA's Terry Holland and LSU's Dale Brown have never been before.

Some folks are saying it's the year of destiny for Dean Smith and his Tar Heels (who looked impressive indeed against Kansas State in the West Regional final) but I'll put my money on Bobby Knight, who according to just about any coach you talk to, is the best in the business

And although Knight has been much-maligned, and sometimes deservedly so, by the press, even the media has come to respect his standards.

'The kids who come through (the Indiana program) get a fair deal,' writes David Israel of the Chicago Tribune. "They seem to learn something, they seem to grown. In the decade he has coached at Indiana, Knight has recruited 36 players. Seven transferred, 29 stayed four years. Of those 29, 28 graduated,

And in three previous tournament games. Indiana has yet to be challenged The Hoosiers own an average winning margin of 27.3 points and are shooting 61.8 percent from the field. No one else in that Final Four can compare to those numbers.

"Now, the national championship is our goal," explains Indiana's all-American playmaker Isiah Thomas. "Winning the Big Ten was nice and everything, but the national championship is what it's all about."

Thomas makes a good point, but LSU appears capable of beating anybody. Burly inside players Rudy Macklin, Leonard Mitchell, Howard Carter and Greg Cook have scored 65.6 points a game between them in three tournament out-

Virgina has awesome 7-4 Ralph Sampson (16 points and 9.7 rebounds per game in the NCAA's) but the Cavaliers have struggled in all three games and are currently shooting only 49.7 percent. That'll have to get better if they are to slip past North Carolina

True, Virginia has already beaten UNC twice this year but Al Wood, James Worthy and Sam Perkins have been called collegiate basketball's best front line and they're on a tear.

MONDAY NIGHT, IN A PRIME-TIME TV spectacle, all this will be decided. And the one-day hiatus between semifinals and showdown should give everyone a chance to clean those Slim Jeans for the big action.

Club Bars Black Golfers

BASTROP, La. (AP) - White golfers from a north Louisiana high school participated in a match from which two black teammates were banned because the blacks insisted they do so, the father of one of the barred players said Wednes-

"I think it was very kind what they did. I would have done it myself," said Learles Lloyd.

Lloyd said his son, Detrand, and John Williams of St. Frederic High School sat out the match in the parking lot of the Morehouse Country Club last week after being told blacks were not allowed in the

"I thought we were over this kind of thing," said the elder Llovd.

Club pro Bill Zimmerebner and others confirmed the incident during a 12team tournament hosted last week by Bastrop High School. But Zimmerebner denied it was a case of racial bias.

The only rule is you have to be a member or the guest of a member to play," said Zimmerebner

He confirmed that the club has no black members. He did not explain how

Mart Climbs In Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market surged ahead Wednesday in a late rush of buying that car-ried the Dow Jones industrial av-

Oil, steel, chemical and a wide variety of glamor issues all chalked up big gains as investors responded to the Dow Jones industrials breakthrough past the 1,000 mark.

The average jumped 19.09 to 1, 015.22, its highest close since it stood at 1,018.66 on Jan. 23, 1973. It hit its record closing high of 1. 051.70 on Jan. 11 of that year.

Trading was relatively quiet early in the session, but picked up speed as the advance gathered momentum late in the day. New York Stock Exchange volume totaled 56.32 million shares, against 66.40

American Dollar Mixed In Trading

NEW YORK (AP) - The dollar gained against most major currencies in foreign exchange trading in Europe Wednesday but slipped in later trading in Gold prices fell as much as $10, settling around $530 a troy ounce.

'I don't think it's been a particularly hectic day," one dealer, who asked not to be identified, sency and bullion trading wound down in New York.

The American currency began the European trading day strong. Dealers said the dollar was strengthened by higher in-terest rates on Eurodollars, which are U.S. dollars 8eld on deposit in Europe. Interest rates in the U.S. credit markets were higher in early trading in New York, but leveled off later in the day Higher rates make dollar-denominated investments more attractive, thus increasing demand for the currency.

In the Far East, where foreign exchange trading begins while Europe and America sleep, the dollar was little changed. In Tokyo, it bought 209.19 yen compared with Tuesday's closing rate of

When trading began in Europe, the American currency grew stronger, rising against the currencies of most nations.

Here's how the dollar stood late in the European day, compared with Tuesday's rates: 2.0935 West German marks, up from 2.0825; 1.90925 Swiss francs, up from 1.89475; 4.9185 French francs, up from 4.9050; 2.31925 Dutch guilders, up from 2.3065; 1,041.05 Italian lire, down from 1,042.05. The British pound weakened a bit against the dollar, closing at $2.2613 from Tuesday's $2.2660.

In New York, the dollar slipped fractionally, finishing at 2.0858 marks, down from Tuesday's late rate of 2.0883; 4.9250 French francs, up from 4.9213; 1.9040 Swiss francs, unchanged; 208.60 yen, down from 208.92; 1.1804 Canadian dollars, down from 1.1847. The dollar bought 2.2645 British pounds in New York late Wednesday, compared with 2.2583 Tuesday

Bullion dealers on both sides of the Atlantic attributed the decline in gold prices to investors' perceptions that labor unrest in Poland had stabilized. Gold often is sought as an investment haven during times of political and economic instability

Gold closed in Zurich at $530.50 a troy ounce, down $4 from Tuesday. In London, the price fell $10.25 an ounce to

In New York, the Republic National Bank quoted bullion at 4 p.m. EST at $530, down $5.30 from Tuesday. On the New York Commmodity Exchange, contracts for immediate delivery closed at

Turkeys Surviving Man's Hazards

BOSTON (AP) - Wild turkeys, an important source of food for early Massachusetts settlers, are making a comeback after years of hunting and land clearing made them scarce.

In 1972 and 1973, officials relocated 37 wild turkeys from New York to two western counties, and now there are 2,500 of the birds. The Massachusetts Department of Fisheries and Wildlife wants to move some of them to eastern Massachusetts. but the birds are playing hard-to-get.

Because the winter was mild, they had no trouble finding their own food and didn't take any feed bait. So they'll be moved "whenever we can catch them," said wildlife biologist James Car-

COMMON SHRUB

The most common shrub in western North America is sagebrush. It is a tough, squat, gray-green plant which blossoms with tiny yellow flowers in late summer and early fall. It is a woody, evergreen perennial with a pungent fragrance similar to the garden plant herb

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Q. I am 53 and would like to retire within five years. There is a $35,000 mortgage on my home and I own, mortgage-free, other real estate valued at about $70,000. That property produces no income. I also have $15,000 in savings, at 6.5 percent interest.

I am contemplating investing $3,000 in a money market mutual fund and $2,-000 in tax-free municipal bonds, with the intention of building on this program an-nually. My purpose is to build a pension

Is my plan too little, too late?

A. That depends on the size of your pension. Let's hope the pension will be enough for you to live on, because you certainly aren't putting your assets to the

In these days of high interest rates, it's foolish to leave $15,000 at only 6.5 percent. You could better than double your earnings there, by putting your savings in a money market mutual fund.

And you can get more than 6.5 percent tax-free interest from municipal bonds. If you buy municipals, make sure you purchase bonds due to mature about the time you plan to retire. Once you're in a lower tax bracket, tax-free interest loses its appeal.

The big mystery is why you are keeping $70,000 tied up in non-income-producing real estate. Unless you are holding that property, with thoughts of selling it at a higher price in the future, it would be wise to sell now - and put the $70,000 to work earning money for you.

Q. For the past few years I have bought several corporate bonds at discounts below their face values. This year, for the first time, two of the companies sent me Forms 1099-OID - for "original

Is this something new? What information from those forms am I supposed to report on my income tax return?

A. Companies which have original issue discount bonds in "registered form" - with the name of each bondholder on both the bond and the company's record books - have been required to send out Forms 1099-OID since 1970. You get a copy. The IRS gets a copy.

Holders of corporate original issue discount bonds have been required to report as taxable income a portion of the original issue discount each year, since

This whole situation gets mighty complicated. On your 1980 tax return, however, you should report as taxable income the dollar and cents amount listed as on the Forms 1099-OID you received. A corporate original issue discount bond is one issued and sold by a company at a price lower than the bond's face value. On such a bond, you collect interest each year. And, when the bond matures, you will collect the face value.

Let's say that XYZ Corp. issues 10year, 7.5 percent bonds, at 50 percent of face value. Say you buy one $1,000 bond of that issue. You pay $500.

You get $75 a year interest - 7.5 percent of the $1,000 face value. And, each year, you are required to report not only that $75 as taxable income but also another $50. That's the "ratable portion" of the original issue discount - one-tenth of $500

In this example, your 1099-OID would list a total of $125.

These rules apply only to corporate bonds originally issued at discounts from face value

THE SUPERMARKET SHOPPER

If you are a casual refunder, you probably have not experienced the joy of bringing home a refund form and finding that you already have the three labels or the four box tops required for that $2 cash rebate.

But you can become an "instant winner" in the game of refunding if you learn some simple secrets

Experienced refunders know that the proofs of purchase they save today will help them to obtain valuable refunds next week, next month, even next

When you empty, say, a cake-mix box, save every possible proof: the box top, the Universal Product Code (those black lines with the number beneath them), the net-weight statement and the proof-of-purchase seal, if one is printed on the package. Instead of cutting out the individual proofs, just fold the whole box flat and file it away.

Experienced refunders know another important secret: A company will often change its r efund requirements from month to month. One offer will ask for the Universal Product Code. The next offer may ask for the net-weight statement from the same product.

I recently used the proofs from a single package to send for three different offers: a cash refund, a free box of cereal and a free can of lemonade.

Refunders have a saying: Never throw a package away until you have used the proofs at least twice So, wait a moment before tossing a box or a bittle from a national-brand product into the trash. Look at the price marking. Remember that a refund could return one-third of that price to you. This is a powerful incentive to start saving these proofs of

And when you consider how many of these box tops and labels you throw away each week, you will know why millions of smart shoppers have joined the refund revolution

Here are some tips that will help you save your valuable proofs of purchase: Keep small proofs, such as Universal Product Codes, in a large envelope inside each carton. Be sure to write the name and the size of the product on all small proofs.

.Save space by removing the cardboard backing from the label portion of the package. Be sure to clean the proofs thoroughly before filing them away. •Keep your cartons of proofs handy - but not where members of your family might trip over them.

Once you start building your collection of proofs, the refund listings in this column will help you to turn them into a gold mine of opportunities. REFUND OF THE DAY

Klan Seeks ACLU Help In Conflict

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) - The Ku Klux Klan plans to ask the American Civil Liberties Union for help in getting the Klan's national newspaper on the shelves of the library here.

Army Spec. 4 Michael Gulino, who heads the Hampton Roads KKK, said Tuesday the group would write to the ACLU about overturning a library staff decision barring The Klansman.

"We want to inform the public of our views and what we've done to help the white race." Gulino said

Library Director Martha Sims said the newspaper was rejected because of poor writing and inaccuracies and also because it didn't meet routine standards of local interest, literary merit and library needs

Richard May Miss First Few Weeks

COCOA, Fla. (AP) - Houston Astros pitcher J.R. Richard, slowly regaining the skills he lost after a stroke eight months ago, says he may be on the disabled list and miss the opening weeks of the National League baseball season.

Richard said Tuesday he will be on the Astros' 25-player roster but plans to sit on the bench at the April 9 opener against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I'll be part of the roster. As far as the disabled list, I don't know. I just work here," said the million-dollar fireballer "But they (Astros front office) have to be cautious. They don't want to go too fast.' Richard, whose fastball now is clocked at 85 mph, said he feels "fantastic better than I've felt in a long, long time" and dismissed the notion of returing to the minor leagues to work on the skills he lost after suffering a stroke in July 1980.

"I think only on a major-league level," Richard said. "I don't intend to go the minor leagues."

Richard has been working out with the 1980 NL western division champions, running and participating in fielding, bunting and batting drills.
