Synfuels program fizzles out after blazing start

By PEGGY ROBERSON Hearst Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON - The nation's synthetic fuels program, launched four years ago with the bright hope of freeing the United States from dependence on foreign oil, has all but fizzled out.

The Reagan administration and some members of Congress this year tried to kill the Synthetic Fuels Corporation, the quasi-government agency created to spur synfuels development, but it won a new lease on life at a sharply-reduced funding

Austin sends companies slow-growth message

Council has authorized preparation of a plan for slower, more controlled growth in this booming Central Texas city.

Major companies throughout the nation will be informed that the city may not be able to provide utility services unless the firms contact the city before choosing a relocation or expansion site in Austin.

The plan prepared by the city staff will be brought back to the council for final action.

A slow-growth proposal by councilman Roger Duncan was endorsed by fellow council members Thurs-

"I'm very pleased that it was a unanimous vote," Duncan said. "In my opinion it is a message for slow growth. It should slow down the rate of growth in some sections of the

AUSTIN (AP) — The Austin City rent funding and construction schedules.

The plan would limit the sale of city services to what is available.

This will keep us out of the Williamson Creek situation," Duncan said, referring to the overloaded sewage treatment plant in southeast Austin where the city allocated more service from the plant than was available. The plant overflowed and the city had to pay a $100,000 fine for polluting Williamson Creek and the Colorado River.

In another instance, Duncan said, the city council was surprised when 3M Co. bought land northwest of Austin, miles away from available city sewer service. The city is now developing a plan to provide sewer service to the major industrial site, although voters voted down construction of a new sewage treatment plant on Lake Travis.

Duncan said the point of the letter to the 500 largest manufacturers in the nation was "to say you need to contact the city before you choose a site in Austin or we cannot guarantee utility service in a timely man-

FBI: Abortion clinics targeted by group

EL PASO (AP) — Texas abortion clinics and family planning agencies have been warned by the FBI that they may be targeted for attack, following threatening phone calls from someone claiming to represent the Army of God, a shadowy group of anti-abortion terrorists.

The caller said the group, which has claimed responsibility for several abortion and family planning clinic bombings in the East and Midwest, planned to expand its activities to four unidentified Texas cities, said Ron Hoverson, agent-in-charge of the El Paso FBI office.

They have made threats that they will target four Texas cities." Hoverson said Thursday of the calls received by out-of-state FBI offices last week. "We want to be sure everyone is aware of this potential."

He said FBI agents were taking the precaution of warning abortion and family planning clinics statewide to report any threats or suspicious activity at their offices.

The Army of God is an anti-abortion group that has claimed credit for past bombings, but not in this part of the country," Hoverson said. To our knowledge, they have not taken any violent action in the

In addition to claiming responsibility for the bombings of abortion clinics and family planning agencies, the Army of God was involved two years ago in the abduction of an Illinois doctor who performed abortions, Hoverson said. The physician later was released.

Ray Silva, director of the Planned Parenthood El Paso chapter, said that the organization's national office also has issued warnings about possible terrorist action.

Included in a recent warning from the national Planned Parenthood office was a list of 18 family planning clinics that either were bombed, burned or vandalized between January and September of this year, Silva said.

The list did not include recent bombings, such as one that leveled a Washington family planning clinic this month, Silva said.

"We're not paranoid or anything, just cautious," he said. "There's no telling what deranged people will Silva said he hoped publicity about bomb threats would not deter people from seeking family planning services.

Closing of clinic leaves 70 addicts on the street

HOUSTON (AP) - As many as 70 people trying to kick heroin addiction were left on their own Friday when a public clinic closed because its state funding was canceled, a physician said.

"There's a possibility that some of them will go back to heroin now and, with that, to some kind of illegal activity to support it. That's the tragic part," said Dr. Jack Gordon. He is head of clinical research for the Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences, which operated the clinic.

The clinic, which has been providing methadone treatment and counseling to heroin victims for the past 12 years, was told by the Texas Department of Community Affairs two months ago its state funding would be cancelled.

"We were planning to continue our program but there's been a tightening of money all the way around...," Gordon said.

Most of the 324 patients treated by the clinic have been placed in other treatment programs in the Houston area, but about 70 will have no place to go because they can't afford private clinics, Gordon said.

The clinic was the only public facility of its kind in Houston

Man 'in no hurry' to sell one of hottest properties near Dallas

BUCKINGHAM (AP) — John Pappas paid about $12,000 for his home in this Dallas suburb 16 years ago. Today, he's got one of the hot-test pieces of land in fast-growing

Pappas watched as almost all of his neighbors agreed to sell their homes to two developers trying to buy the whole town for a massive project.

Now he's holding out to get as much as he can.

"I knew someday this would be one hot piece of land," Pappas said. "I'm in no hurry. I'll just wait awhile and let them have it at the square

Pappas is one of three homeowners who have yet to sell their land to the Buckingham Development Venture, the company that plans to replace the community's 155 acres which is surrounded by Richardson, with a offices, restaurants, shops and town home

Last week, 12 families agreed to sell their property and received between $500,000 to $600,000 each. One resident, who requested ano-nymity, said that price was double what 49 other families had received.

Buckingham Development Venture, a partnership between Block Shim Development Co. and Wen-Clay International, had planned to start work this fall on developing the land.

But spokesman Steve Torrance said the company now expects to complete the final planning for the project by January.

The project now hinges on the holdouts and on acquiring water and sewer services for Buckingham, another suburb.

Richardson officials, angry that Buckingham voted wet in a liquor referendum, has declined to provide city services after 1987 and has opposed Garland's offer to do so.

Others who have yet to sell include town alderman Clardy Hamilton and Charles Easley, who leases his property.

Hamilton said he too, will sell his 2-acre lot, but he prefers to trade for other land. After living in the same house for 22 years, he said, it will not be easy finding one he likes.

Easely, who lives in Atlanta, Ga., has leased his house for 15 years, neighbors said.

The 49 other families who have sold their homes already have

We are informed that because a court reporter was not then available there is no record of that proceeding," the appeals court said. The court on Thursday ordered

Mrs. Port is being held on a contempt citation for refusing to answer six of some 200 questions concerning the shooting death of postal worker Deborah Sue Schatz, who disappeared June 7 while delivering mail in the affluent westside neighborhood where the Ports live. Her body was found two days later in a remote, wooded area north of Houston.

David Port, 17, is charged with murder in the death of Miss Schatz, 23. The teen-ager remains free on $20,000 bond.

McMaster will decide Monday whether the youth's trial should be

Mrs. Port and her husband, Bernard, were jailed Sept. 12 for refusing to answer questions about their son and the events surrounding Miss Schatz's death.

They argued they should not be forced to testiy in the investigation, citing a parent-child privilege similar to a state law that allows spouses not to testify against each other.

Earlier in November, the couple went before the panel again. Afterward, McMaster allowed Port to be released after he answered the grand jury's questions but ordered Mrs. Port to remain behind bars.

Woman again charged with aiding Salvadorans

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — The U.S. Border Patrol has filed charges against sanctuary movement member Stacey Lynn Merkt, accusing her of transporting two Salvadoran illegal aliens six months after she was convicted on an identical charge and placed on probation.

Also charged was Jack Elder, 40. director of the Catholic Church-sponsored Casa Oscar Romero refugee halfway house in San Benito, about 15 miles north of the Texas-Mexico border. Elder was arrested last April and is currently awaiting trial on charges of transporting three Salvadoran aliens.

The complaint, filed Nov. 21 before U.S. Magistrate Susan Wiliams of McAllen, charges Elder and Ms. Merkt. 29, with trans- working at the refugee house porting two Salvadoran men from the border to a Rio Grande Valley bus station.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Guerra, who prosecuted Ms. Merkt, said evidence would be presented to a federal grand jury n December

Ms. Merkt was sentenced last May to 90 days in prison and placed on two years probation by U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela. In sentencing the California native, Vela warned Ms. Merkt that she would be put behind bars if she continued to violate the law by illegally aiding Central Americans.

Texan may give up bid to challenge O'Neill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas, hinted Friday he might abandon his bid to oust House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. after he won a promise from O'Neill to give conservative Democrats a greater voice in House decision-making.

O'Neill, seeking his fifth term as speaker, met with Stenholm on Friday. He later told reporters that conservative Democrats have been "sulking in the back row and now they're going to be heard."
O'Neill said he hopes to run unopposed Monday when the House Democratic Caucus pick its leadership team for the 99th Congress conven-

Stenholm said he would make a final decision over the weekend on whether to persist in his challenge, but indicated he might be close to giving up the fight.

O'Neill, noting the country has been moving politically toward the right, vowed to put more conservatives on leadership advisory commit-tees and to schedule twice-monthly meetings of the Democratic membership to discuss the scheduling of legislation.

Conservatives have complained in the past that O'Neill had ignored their concerns and given short shift to their legislative agenda, O'Neill conceded as much Friday.

"They should have a voice at the Democratic table," the speaker said. "I don't want any of them to leave the party.'

"There's room for all of us under the big tent. We welcome them. We want their voice to be heard," he

Ector County officials' trial put off until February

By ED TODD Staff Writer

The arson-related trial of Ector County Commissioner Willie Hammond, 44, and former Odessa City Councilman Keith Weddel, 52, has been postponed in federal court in Midland until Feb. 11. The jury trial was to begin in U.S. District Judge Lucius D. Bunton's court Monday. Previously, the trial had been set for Oct. 22 but was postponed

In both cases, the judge granted continuances on motions by the defense attorneys due to conflicts with other trials.

The first scheduled trial was postponed since Weddel's attorney, Travis D. Shelton of Lubbock, was in trial in Amarillo, and Hammond's attorney, Warren Burnett of Odessa, was trying a case in federal court in San Antonio.

The most recent postponement was granted since Burnett is defense attorney in a capital murder trial in Edinburg in the Valley.

Hammond and Weddel are charged by indictment with planning the destruction of the causing the building to be set on fire. In addition, Hammond is charged with two counts of perjury. The government contends Hammond lied to a federal grand jury.

The case, under investigation for three years by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the U.S. Attory, is to be prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Ellen Byers of San Hammond and Weddel are charged with hiring a convicted burglar John Peterson, to arrange setting the building on fire with an explosive device in order to get the insurance money. Weddel and others, including Odessa attorney Ray Stoker and former Odessa Mayor Bob Bryant, were owners of the building, which since has been sold. The government is alleging that Peterson's brother, Lawrence "Cotton" Peterson, and L.C. Burditt set the building on fire.

The building, now renovated, is known as the Jackson Center.

At the time of the alleged arson, the building was near the site of a proposed civic center. The bond issue failed in December 1980, and the O'Michael Building, which had O'Michael Building, a downtown been losing money, burned in Odessa office building, and with November 1981.

Sheriff's department has suspect in shooting death

From Staff Reports

The Mills County Sheriff's Department has identified a suspect in the Nov. 17 shooting death of a Midland hunter near Goldthwaite although no information from an autopsy report received this week has been released.

The autopsy was ordered to deter-mine the caliber of gun that killed Gilbert Casbeer, 44, general foreman of Texas Electric Service Co. "I can't release that information," said Mills County Sheriff Mack Casbeer, a third cousin to the victim. "We did find out what caliber but that's my hole card — the old proverbial ace in the hole."

Casbeer was hunting deer with his son on a ranch southeast of Goldthwaite, owned by his father S.R.

A drilling crew for BJM Drilling and Exploration, working nearby, arrived at the scene and crew workers were pulling one victim out when paramedics arrived from the

When the ambulances arrived, paramedics helped pull the victim out before donning masks and rescuing the other two, Klatt said. 'One of the men was separated from the officers by baffles," Klatt said. "They had to remove their tanks from their backs and then they had to crawl through and pull Synfuels opponents in Congress this year attempted to rescind, or take back, most of SFC's remaining $13.26 billion. Supporters, however, limited the rescission to $5.375 billion, of which $750 million is available for Energy Department projects to demonstrate cleaner ways to burn coal.

The biggest success story in synfuels so far is the Great Plains Coal fication Project 75 miles north of Bismarck, N.D. This summer the plant began squeezing gas from coal, feeding it into a pipeline system serving millions of customers.

Sponsors of the $2.1 million project have demonstrated that it could be duplicated should the United States ever be forced to turn to coal, its most abundant fuel, to

He referred to fears expressed by government, opposition and labor leaders that continued social unrest might lead to military intervention.

But labor leaders and some government officials were not as optimistic as Rueda.

Juan Lechin, the head of the labor federation, criticized the planning minister for telling reporters the strike was weakening the labor

He referred to economic reforms ordered by the government last week, including steep price increases that led in part to the resumption of the strike.

Taxi driver murdered taking miner to work support a strike sustained by this LONDON (AP) — A 3-foot concrete post hurled from a bridge killed a taxi driver taking a miner to work Friday. It was the third death stemming from the eight-month-old coal strike, and authorities charged two miners with murder.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, in Paris to meet with French President Francois Mitterrand, called the attack an "utterly despicable deed" of "calculated malice."

"No decent, thinking person can violence and thuggery," the prime minister said. "This is not in the British character; it is not the British way.

She challenged Neil Kinnock, leader of the opposition Labor Party, which backs the miners' protest, to repudiate strike violence "totally and utterly, unequivocally, clearly and no fudging, Kinnock, who previously blamed picket-line violence on police, said at a rally Friday night in Stoke-on-

Trent, 135 miles northwest of Lon-

"The violence has got to stop and the violence has got to stop

Though he was given warm applause, hecklers repeatedly interrupted Kinnock's speech with shouts of "traitor." A number of protesters were forcibly ejected from the hall. National Union of Mineworkers president Arthur Scargill, who shared the platform with Kinnock, was given a thunderous ovation when he said the union "disassociates itself from any acts of this kind which occur anywhere else away from the picket lines.

Scargill said the union leadership was "deeply shocked" by the death of the taxi driver.

Police said David Wilkie, 35, died when the concrete post smashed through the windshield of his cab as he drove miner David Williams, 35. to the Merthyr Vale Colliery in southern Wales

Labor Party seems headed for big victory in Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister Bob Hawke and his Australian Labor Party appeared headed for a major re-election victory Saturday. But a tiny nuclear disarmament party threatened to spoil Labor's bid to take control of the Senate.

And Andrew Peacock, leader of the conservative Liberal Party, insisted Friday night that his party and the allied National Party would pull off a stunning upset.

All opinion polls showed Labor headed for victory with a lead over "We may harden our strike to the Liberals ranging from 10 to 16 percentage points. Pollsters predicted the government would probably double its 25-seat majority in the 148-seat House of Representatives. The house now has 125 seats, 75 held reflect growth in Australia's population, now estimated at 15.5 million.

We have turned the economy around from the worst recession in 50 years to one of the top-running economies in the world," Hawke said in wrapping up the seven-week election campaign.

Every major newspaper, including conservative publications, endorsed Labor for a second term.

Hawke's anticipated success in the election was threatened by the rise of the Nuclear Disarmament Party with its call for ending the world arms race, closing U.S. intelligence-gathering bases in Australia, and severing the military alliance with Washington.

Polls indicate the Nuclear Disarmament Party, formed in June, could win one or more seats in the Senate and drain enough votes from Labor to deny Hawke's party a majority. Labor now holds 30 seats in the upper house to 28 for the Liberal-National coalition, five by the Australian Democrats and one independent. But the senate is being expanded from 64 to 76 seats, with 46 up for election.

Analysis of old air shows methane has increased

By WARREN FROELICH Copley News Service

Centuries-old air, previously locked away in frozen glaciers, is offering clues that the world's reservoir of atmospheric methane has doubled over the past 500 years, according to recent studies.

The findings of scientists at the University of California at San Diego's Scripps Institution of Oceanography suggest that methane could add to the already increasing burden of pollutants in the air, which studies say could cause a significant global warming in the next century.

Carbon dioxide, an odorless, tasteless gas released into the atmo-sphere from the burning of fossil fuels such as natural gas, oil and coal, has been considered the principal culprit in this warming trend, known as the greenhouse effect.

'Methane will probably be as important as carbon dioxide if it keeps increasing at this rate," said Dr. Harmon Craig, who along with Scripps colleague C.C. Chou, pre-pared the new methane studies.

Craig and Chou estimate that methane increases have already warmed the planet by almost a halfdegree Fahrenheit over the past 400 years. Most of that increase has come during the past 200 years.

At current rates, "the warming due to methane is about 38 percent of the carbon dioxide warming effect," the Scripps scientists stated source of the excess methane, although there are many theories, all related to fermentation. These range from increases in the termite population resulting from forest clearing, to increased rice produc-tion to feed larger human populations. Cattle also are being viewed as a potential culprit.

Termites and cattle produce methane as a byproduct of their food fermentation and digestive processes. Rice also produces methane as it ferments.

"Cattle certainly have increased there used to be."

events, all triggered by human interference with the environment.

The Scripps findings come from studies of old air trapped inside glaciers. Fallen snow in the frozen regions of the planet eventually compresses under its own weight, forming huge blocks of ice. Air bubbles from the snowflakes are literally frozen in time, with older air blanketed under layers of newer air.

Two summers ago, researchers from Craig's lab traveled to Greenland and retrieved several ice cores 500 to 27,000. years old from a depth

Craig said that no one knows the coming from a combination of 300 square-foot freezer at Scripps with temperatures maintained at minus 20 degrees Centigrade. Larger cores are being stored in another cold room in New York.

Using sensitive instruments, the scientists analyzed samples from both the Scripps and the New York facilities. They found that the amount of methane in the older air was roughly .7 parts per million, about half the present amount. The youngest air trapped by the ice, believed to be about 30 years old, showed methane readings of 1.25 parts per million, .15 parts per mil-possibility was that some of the methane may have somehow diffused to other layers of ice during the freezing process. The scientists ruled out this possibility after they determined that helium, a much lighter gas that should move far more readily through ice than methane, was not lost in the freezing pro-

Another explanation for the low methane values could be biological. Some microbes exist by converting methane into carbon dioxide. If any of these organisms survived the freezing process, they would have had enough time to consume half the methane. Scientists believe this possibility to be remote, since it's doubtful any of these bacteria could

School offers training for animal handlers

By WALT GIBBS Hearst Feature Service

You drive up a twisty two-laner, deep in California's Santa Cruz Mountains. When you hear wolves howling and macaws crying out, you are near.

You turn onto a dirt road, climb one last ridge and behold a magical menagerie of exotic animals whose grunts and squeals sound vaguely familiar, as they should. Emanating from the woods are the voices of two of the biggest cinema stars in history - the adorable alien from the movie "E.T.," and Chewbacca, Harrison Ford's simian sidekick in the "Star Wars" series - just two of the residents of School Safari.

Chewbacca's voice belongs to Sara, a 4-year-old bear. E.T.'s adorable squeal was obtained from Lord Buffington III, a 9-year-old otter. Neither consented to be interviewed, but School Safari's manager, Bill Harvey, was effusive in praising Movie stardom is common enough here to merit no special attention. Buffy and Sara share living space here with Harvey, assistant manager Mark Vozza, and a motley assemblage of creatures from all over the

"WE'VE got five cougars, three leopards, two tigers, three wolves, two chimpanzees, one American black bear, a badger, an otter, a raccoon, a llama, a Sicilian donkey, four cockatoos and four macaws," said Harvey.

The most recent movie gig was arranged for the wolves, who appeared in the close-up shots of Walt Disney Productions' "Never Cry Wolf." Their sniffing, howling and barking were dubbed in throughout the film. The raccoon was used for some of the sounds made by the Ewoks — a furry tribe of people on another planet — in "Return of the Jedi." At about the same time, Hollywood technicians made the twisty journey to School Safari to tape Thaddeus, a male tiger, to portray the roaring dragon in, "Dragonslaver,"

At School Safari, movie careers take a back seat to the real business of the compound - education. Through the summer, School Safari is primarily a training school for exotic animal handlers, who learn all they need to work in zoos or parks. In the winter, Harvey and his assistant pack up animals every morning and drive off to some elementary school or another to teach kids about the creatures.

ABOUT THE only casual visitors to Safari are hikers who wander up from Portola State Park, whose gates are two miles away. According to Harvey, the park rangers regularly sooth campers shocked by the wolves' howling at daybreak and "That howling carries about six miles," said Harvey. "and most people don't know they're in cages.' Most of the animals were born in captivity and are friendly. Most of them are just big muffs and you have nothing to worry. about," said Glenn Crowls, who purchased the compound a month ago.

Sara, the bear, was born wild. When just a cub, her mother was killed illegally by hunters and she was seriously wounded by hunting

"She came around and is now a real sweetheart," said Harvey, who takes the 400-pound bear for daily walks on a leash through the woods.

The 1.5-acre compound is surrounded by a fence - not to keep the animals in but to keep hikers from inadvertantly confronting Sara and the tigers, who take turns sunning themselves while on a 30-foot chain. The fence also encloses a flock of chickens that waddle around nervously and lay eggs for the animals to eat. Sometimes they themselves turn into lunch.

"EVERY ONCE in a while we lose a chicken," said Harvey, "All the dumb ones are gone.'

Sara indulged her appetite a bit greedily one night when a chicken crawled in her cage through the food hole:

"I didn't see it happen, but I can only assume that Sara was asleep when the chicken went in there. quietly laid an egg and then started clucking. In the morning, there was just an egg and a pile of feathers Until this fall, the compound had been idle for about a year, since the old owners moved to Arizona. Now. with the enthusiasm of Crowls and his wife, Nancy, School Safari is rebounding, with new animal quarters, constant training and companionship and more active classes.

Twin Rebels bring Dixie to Ratliff today

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Assistant Sports Editor

ODESSA — Dixie flags and two sets of playoff hungry Rebels will invade Ratliff Stadium here at 2 p.m. today from Midland and Fort Worth Richland with a quarterfinal Class 5A football berth on the line.

This regional contest will kill off the hopes and dreams of one of these squads in a game where around 12,000 are expected to attend. But one thing is for sure — a Rebel will advance to face No. 1 ranked Odessa Permian next weekend. Permian defeated Trinity Friday night to nail down one of the quarterfinal positions.

For the Rebels of Lee, Midland fans are hoping this third playoff outing will be the final bow on a birthday present for Lee head coach Jack Tayrien, who will be celebrating his 46th birthday.

THE PARTY crashers from Richland are hoping to spoil that sideshow today and keep its Cinderella season climbing to greater heights.

Lee is 11-1 on the season, losing only to Permian, 28-13. Richland is 8-2-2 and making its first playoff voyage since 1980 when they were ousted by Permian.

Richland ended district play in a four way tie for first and got into the playoffs through a series of coin flips and then defeated O.D. Wyatt in bi-district on penetrations in a 14-14 contest.

Some have said that the Richland Rebels are lucky to be where they are and that brings a defensive stand from coach Carlos Berry.

'A lot of people have said we are lucky to be in the playoffs, but if our district had a point system to break ties, we would have won outright. Inour tie with Wyatt, we could have kicked a field goal to win the game, but we were ahead on penetrations and first downs and decided to just run out the clock," said Berry.

We feel like we are hitting our stride right now and we are where we want this football team to be. It remains to be seen if that is good enough to beat Lee or not, but our kids seem very serious and have a lot of confidence. We told them that we would be flying to the game and past two weeks.

they showed no excitement. They seem to have their minds in the Lee has skated through two playoff games, outscoring opponents by an awesome 83-13 margin. The Rebel Express hasn't even slowed for a red light as both Walter Jones and Tyrone Thurman became 1,000-yard rushers last week in an area win over El Paso Andress.

Our kids are playing very well right now," said Tayrien. "It's just a matter now of maintaining this level of performance and we hope we can continue what we have done the

they were 17-point underdogs. They have good athletes."

It's the speed of Lee that has Berry worried. "O.D. Wyatt had trebut I don't think they have the has been to bend but not break, but to drive it down our throats. Lee seems to break on everyone they play. There is no way we can reproduce Lee's speed on the practice field and that worries me.

Tayrien would settle for a few more long distance numbers against Richland, but the Lee boss says his Rebels can't afford to let Richland control the ball through the game.

'Richland's offensive line compares to that of Temple and that scares you to death with the size of people we have on defense," said Tayrien. "Richland is a strong team "Our defensive strategy this year ball all day and I'm sure they want Jones, Thurman and fullback Randy Ellis combined for a rare triple 100-yard night against Andress last weekend. Berry noticed.

"Lee has exceptional backs. Their backs alone make them an exceptional team without even counting their offensive line, which is as quick as I've seen," said Berry. We've got to keep the ball away from those scatbacks by controlling the football. You don't want that Lee offense on the field because they can strike from anywhere."

Richland averages 214 pounds per man in the offensive line and the Lee defense will be hard pressed to keep potential holes from opening. Richland fullback John Burgett, a 197-pound junior, had over 170 yards rushing last week against Nimitz to help pull off the upset. Tailback Pat Kelley, who has rushed for 816 yards this season, has been the key offensive weapon of Richland team.

IN ADDITION, Richland quarterback Stan Stephens has thrown for 881 yards and eight TDs with flanker Sean McCauley the major target. Stephens has hit McCauley with 25 of his 59 completions for 348 yards. Stephens can also dial 230-pound tight end Buddy Coleman.

Lee lives and dies by the run since quarterback Dirk Bergoon has completed only 22 passes all year long for 561 yards and four TDs. Lee throws so seldom that when they do, it usually takes the other team by surprise. Lee is averaging 25.5 yards per pass completion.

Jones now has 1,098 yards rushing this year in 12 games, becoming the first Lee back in history to have back-to-back 1,000-yard years. Thurman now has 1,008 yards rushing, his first season over that barrier.

The game is far short of a sellout as many expected. There are plenty of tickets left for the game and they may be purchased at the gate for $7

Bulldogs, Rebels

By BRUCE CASTLEBERRY Sports Writer

" Midland High and Midland Lee both probably expected a little tougher time in the second round of the 19th Annual Tall City Invitational basketball tournament.

But both teams coasted to easy wins Friday night at the Al Langford Chaparral Center on the Midland College campus, and both have basketball-for-breakfast dates this morning. Should MHS whip Lamesa at 11 a.m. and the Rebels beat Lub bock Coronado immediately afterwards, the two local squads will face off at 9 p.m. tonight for the title.

MHS is the defending tournament champion, and looked every bit ready to repeat after a one-sided 82-43 win over El Paso Irvin.

Darrell Davis has been the main man in coach Jack Stephenson's arsenal thus far, and Davis was again the dominant factor as he registered 31 points.

The Bulldogs got off to a fast start against the Rockets, and when Davis went on a rampage late in the first quarter the game already began to swing towards the MHS side.

Davis got hot early, and scored the Bulldogs', final 13 points in the first quarter to stake MHS to a 17-8 advantage. MHS was up 15-0 before the defused Rockets could scratch.

Everything MHS tried worked, and with barely 11 minutes gone from the start of the game, MHS was up by 23 points.

Davis himself had precisely 23 at the intermission, and that was the MHS margin, 45-22.

The Bulldogs, using their typical Stephenson mix of pressure defense and fast-breaking offense, sent wave upon wave of fresh attack 'Dogs at the Rockets, and exploded for a 21-12 margin in the third period. After three it was 66-34 and Stephenson relaxed a little.

'Alvis Glidewell is the best high school basketball coach in the state of Texas," Stephenson said of Irvin's coach. "That makes what we did more meaningful, to beat that kind of a coach. I could talk to him about basketball forever:"

Although Stephenson is in his customary state of flux with a completely re-worked team (only Davis is a returnee from last year's 27-8 juggernaut), his team played as if they had been together a long time.

'I'm just elated with the way our kids played," he said. "That's the best first half any of my teams have ever played.

Most impressive of the MHS showing was the coolness with which his team dissected Irvin. Although young, the MHS squad has obvious talents in several players besides Davis. Anthony Deande, Matt Sears, Gil Brassard and Roger Henderson, none of whom played last year, all

The team is so intense in practice and they listen so well. They're such nice guys. I know the concentration is there. At timeouts and in the locker room they're so attentive you can hear a pin drop. You can see they're learning every time out."

SWC race awaits Rice

Along about 10 p.m. Saturday the Southwest Conference football title should be decided, and Cotton Bowl officials may have to call Las Vegas to congratulate the winner.

Not that the oddsmakers in the neon-lit Nevada town have anything to do with it. They've been wrong many times on SWC football this

No, that's where Southern Methodist is playing the University of Nevada-Las Vegas.

And IF Rice upsets Houston and the Texas Aggies down Texas then the Mustangs would be the SWC host team against Boston College on New Year's Day.

Don't laugh. Who would have thought a team with two losses would be representing the SWC for the first time in history?

The Houston Cougars are 21-point favorites to end all the suspense and dispatch the Rice Owls in the Astrodome to clinch the host spot.

Should Houston lose and the Longhorns win, then Texas would get the host role. The Longhorns are whopping 10-point favorites to vanquish the Aggies in Austin in a nationally televised (ESPN) 6:45 p.m.

Houston defeated Texas and SMU earlier in the season. The Cougars lost to Texas Christian and Arkansas

Texas beat SMU but also has lost to Baylor.

SMU has finished its SWC season at 6-2 and is assured at least a cochampionship. The Mustangs get to go to the Aloha Bowl and play Notre Dame as a consolation prize if things

ODESSA - When_Euless Trinity showed it could successfully defend against Odessa Permian's passing attack, the Panthers went to Bal Watson up the middle. The Trojans couldn't defend against the 190pound fullback as he pounded out 115 yards and scored three touchdowns in Mojo's 34-0 regional victory at Ratliff Stadium Friday night. When the Panthers needed to convert a short-yardage situation they called on Watson, who averaged 5.2 yards on 22 carries. His touchdowns came on runs of one, one and five yards. His longest run of the game was 12 yards. The holes were there

"We had excellent blocking tonight," said Watson. "Our line has done a consistant job all year long. I've got to give them all the credit. They held Trinity out on pass plays and opened holes on runs.

Quarterback Alton Holloway, who game with them.

was held to four pass completions in 10 attempts and was intercepted twice, wasn't completely pleased with the way the offense performed but was extremely happy with Permian's defense.

'Our offense sputtered," said Holloway, if you can call 334 total yards sputtering. "But, you have to credit our defense. They made Trinity fight for every yard they got. You can't say enough about our defense. I'm really proud of them.

Most of the yardage Trinity did accumulate came in the first half when the Trojans picked up 106 of their 168 total yards. It was an effort that impressed Trinity coach John

"They're pretty good, outstanding," said Reddell, who left Midland High for Trinity in 1976. "They have super overall strength. You have to be a skillful team to stay with them. We played hard but we needed a lot better offense to compete. We're not good enough to play a ball control

Holloway guided the Panthers to the six yard line on seven plays. He then called the play that worked so effec-tively against El Paso Austin a week ago - a pass to Greg Anderson.

Anderson hauled in the pass near the left sideline at about the two and back-pedaled into the end zone for six points. Kicker Woody Bryant booted the PAT and Mojo was on top by a 7-0 score with 6.32 remaining in the period 6 Following the touchdown, the Trojans started a drive at their own 14, moving to the Permian 27 before stalling. Reddell called for kicker Wayne Walker to try a 44-yard field goal attempt. The ball never even

In Lamesa, MHS plays a 4-A school that has been very strong in two tournament outings, including a 73-53 blowout of Lubbock Friday that put the Golden Tornadoes into today's semifinal match with the Bulldogs.

"Lamesa's got an outstanding team," said Stephenson.

MIDLAND LEE didn't have any one person dictate the terms in their 67-40 win over Odessa High the way Davis did for MHS, but the Rebs were solid overall.

Only senior Brian Marczynski scored in double figures for Lee with 14 points, but coach Paul Stueckler got top-notch performances from several players.

Derek Westbrook was denied the ball and scored only eight points, but the Rebs have enough firepower this year to spread the attack. Eddie Riley, Greg Johnson, Lee Dixon, Tim Hill and Ray Morney all scored between six to eight points each as the Rebels wore down OHS.

Those Lee big men bashed away at the smaller Bronchos and were off and running to a 246 first quarter edge that set the tone.

As was the case with MHS, Lee jumped on its enemy early, jumped him good and kept him down en route to a lopsided win.

Coronado beat Lee a year ago to gain the tourney finals, so the Rebs have a chance for revenge. Coronado advanced with a tense 68-65 win over El Paso Eastwood. John Lewis' 27 points was tops for Coronado. In other action, Morton took it on the chin in a 72-52 loss to Amarillo Tascosa. Tascosa won earlier in the day against Pecos, 63-54. Tascosa's Dwayne Smith had the biggest day of all players in the tournament with 33 against Morton and 22 in the Odessa Permian broke open a tie ball game at the half with Big Spring, winning 62-38. The Steers were winners, however, beating Levelland 65-52. The first action today begins at 8 a.m., when Morton and Levelland crawl out of bed for the eye-opener. Pecos and Big Spring follow in a Tascosa at 5 p.m. The third place game, pitting the losers of the MHS-Lamesa and Lee-Coronado games, is slated for 7 p.m.

El Paso Irvin's Robert Thomas (right) heads up court with the ball as Midland High's Darrell Davis eyes the elusive spheroid. Davis scored 31 points in MHS' easy 82-43 win over the Rockets.

Trinity came up with a big break on the second half kickoff when return man Brian Lauterbach fumbled the ball which the Trojans recovered at the 29. An inability to move the ball forced the Trojans to attempt their second field goal and again the 47-yard kick fell short.

It was the final threat Trinity would mount against the Panthers until a last-gasp effort that stalled at the Permian 28 late in the fourth quar-

In the mean time, the Panthers were starting to dominate the scoreboard. Watson converted a Trinity fumble at the Permian 21 into six points on four carries of nine, nine, two and one yards. Bryant made it 21-0 with the kick.

Panther defensive end Gary Payne picked off an Eric Schultz pass at the 31 on Trinity's next possession and Watson collected his thrid TD of the game five plays later from five yards out. Bryant, who was 8-of-8 on extra point attempts last week, missed the kick for the 27-0 score.

Permian's final touchdown came with 46 seconds left on the clock when the Mojo secondstringers mounted an eight-play, 70-yard drive, capped by Marcus Lott's two-yard run. Bryant kicked the PAT for the 340 final score.

NOW THAT Permian is in next week's quarterfinal game, Panther thoughts are turning to who their opponent will be, Midland Lee or Fort Worth Richland, today's 2 p.m. game at Ratliff. Some of the Panthers don't care who they play next week, some have a preferance. "It doesn't make any difference to me," said one Permian player as he climbed aboard the team bus to head back to the school after the game. "Either one is just fine." "We want Lee," said Watson. "I think Lee is the better team and we want to play the better of the two. We've got to go out and prove ourselves The Panthers will know which team they'll play by 5 p.m. Until then, all they can do is wait. THE FOUR completions Holloway came up with against Trinity added his name to a third Permian school record. Last week he surpassed quarterback Vic Vines for touchdown passes with 28, now 29 with Anderson's TD catch against Trinity, breaking Vines 1978 mark of 24. Holloway also snapped David Shipman's 1972 record of 29 total touchdowns, passing and running with 33, now 34. The record he achieved Friday was passes completed with 106, breaking Rex Lamberti's 1983

In next week's quarterfinal game, Holloway has a shot at two more records: passing yardage and total offense. He could have gotten both Friday night, but credits Trinity's defensive secondary for doing an outstanding job on coverage.

"Their secondary was great," said Holloway. They double-teamed Greg all night and I couldn't get the ball to him.'

He's hoping for a better time next week. Flutie planning for busy day

NEW YORK (AP) - Doug Flutie will be busy on Saturday, not too far from his home in Boston. Keith Byars, Robbie Bosco and Bernie Kosar have the afternoon off. But one of them will pick up a Heisman Trophy in New York that night as the nation's outstanding college football player.

Flutie will be in nearby Worcester, Mass, trying to polish off Holy Cross in his last regular season game for Boston College. The 5-foot-9 quarterback also will call the signals for the Eagles in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

Byars, the junior tailback for Ohio State's Rose Bowl-bound Buckeyes, is one game away from clinching the national collegiate rushing championship. He also hopes to add to the list of 12 consecutive Heisman trophies awarded to running backs, two of which were awarded in succession to former Buckeye back Archie Griffin.

Bosco, like Byars a junior, has the personal goal of a Heisman on his mind. He shares the NCAA's passing leadership with Flutie. But he also hopes to wind up as part of a national championship

The quarterback of Brigham Young's topranked Cougars, the only unbeaten major-college team, could well nail that down Dec. 21 with a convincing Holiday Bowl victory over Michigan.

Kosar achieved a national championship last New Year's night when Miami defeated Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. Now the Hurricanes' quarterback would like nothing more than to become the first sophomore to win the Heisman.

Walker wasn't that far away from achieving - even surpassing - that feat. In 1981, when Marcus Allen of Southern California (and now of the National Football League's defending Super Bowl-champion Los Angeles Raiders) won the Heisman with 1,797 votes, Walker, a junior, was second in the balloting with

Even more remarkable was 1980, when Walker became the first freshman to break into the top 10 vote-getters, finishing third behind George Rogers of South Carolina and Hugh Green, a defensive end at Pitt. Byars' numbers notwithstanding, he clearly is outnumbered in his bid to lengthen the string of running backs to walk off with the 14-inch-long. 131/2-inch-high, 61/2-inch-wide, 25-pound piece of bronze handed out each year by New York's Downtown Athletic Club.

WABA tents fold up in three league cities

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The fledgling Women's American Basketball Association has curtailed its operations for the remainder of this season, but league officials vow to return next year with a stronger lineup.

Sara Williams, WABA director of public relations and marketing, said Friday that three teams will not complete their 22-game regular season schedules because of "our financial situation."

The league also announced it is being reorganized by new director Ed Dubaj in Dallas, and that headquarters will be moved from Columbus to Dallas, where Dubaj runs the league's franchise

"The league is not folding," Williams said. "It will remain intact and will be reorganized for 1985. There will still be six teams, and the present teams will either remain in the league or be moved before they resume play in 1985."
Williams said the (Norfolk) Virginia Wave is canceling its last five games, and the Atlanta Comets and Columbus Minks their last four. The league's top three teams, the Houston Shamrocks. Dallas Diamonds and Chicago Spirit, will complote their seasons with Chicago and Dallas substituting for Columbus in one home game each.

"There are and will continue to be six teams, and we are currently reorganizing for 1985 under the direction of Ed Dubaj in Dallas," Williams said. "This (Columbus) is the league office presently, but effective at any time we will be under the direction of Dubaj in Dallas. The new league office will be in Dallas soon, probably in the next

The Nets, who evened their record to 8-8, secured a 66-53 halftime lead in handing the Pacers their 13th loss in 18 decisions.

Williams contributed a pair of baskets in a 10-1 spree early in the second period that turned a one-point deficit into a 44-35 advantage, giving the Nets a lead they never lost.

Nets guard Micheal Ray Richardson and Pacer reserve forward Bill Garnett were both ejected from the game for fighting with 8:10 remaining in the third period. Richardson had come to the aid of teammate Mike O'Koren who had been knocked to the floor as Garnett was attempting to drive to the basket.

Zany college grid season closes out with 10 games

Associated Press

In what has been one of college football's zaniest years, three teams are still in line for the Cotton Bowl and two for the Sugar Bowl as the regular season concludes Saturday with 10 games.

In addition, three of the top four contenders for the national championship — No. 1 Brigham Young, runnerup Oklahoma and fourth-ranked Washington have completed their regular seasons and are waiting for the bowls to decide their fate.

The fourth member of that quartet is No. 3 Florida. The Gators won the Southeastern Conference championship, but the SEC banned them from a bowl game because of a pending NCAA probation.

Florida winds up its season Saturday at No. 12 Florida State, which has a date with Georgia in the Florida State. ida Citrus Bowl, and there is increasing speculation that the Gators could be the best team around. Florida

State Coach Bobby Bowden is no exception.

"Boy, am I glad they won the SEC championship," says Bowden. "They been coming in here and taking everything out on us. Florida is a great football team. In fact, I think they are about as good as anybody in the country. From what I've seen, they do just about

"I think finding that quarterback (redshirt freshman Kerwin Bell) is just the thing they needed to bring everything together. I think that was their only real question mark, and that kid has just come in there and gotten the job done."

The Sugar Bowl's host team will be decided when No. 11 Auburn meets Alabama in Birmingham. If Auburn wins, it will take Florida's place in New Orleans. An Auburn loss and LSU goes. A tie means the Sugar Bowl gets to pick between Auburn and LSU. Whichever team doesn't get to New Orleans will face Arkansas in the Liberty Bowl.

The Cotton Bowl picture is even more confusing. Houston will go if it beats Rice in the Astrodome Saturday night - and the Cougars are 21-point favorites to do just that. But if Houston stumbles, No. 13 Texas can go by beating Texas A&M in Austin.

And what if both Houston and Texas lose? Tenthranked Southern Methodist would then have to change its travel plans from the Aloha Bowl in Hawaii to the Cotton Bowl, just a few miles from its Dallas campus. The Mustangs wind up Saturday night with a nonconference game at Nevada-Las Vegas

Rice would love to have only three losses. The Owls are 1-9 and have nothing to lose except a 10th game. "We are supposed to get beat by three or four touchdowns anyway, so what the heck," says Coach Wat-son Brown. "The other team has all the pressure on them. They HAVE to win. If they lose to us, that's going to be tough.

"I've been on that side at Vanderbilt (in 1982) in a game of this magnitude when we HAD to win to go to the Hall of Fame Bowl, and it was one of our poorest games of the year. It's hard to play with that kind

If Houston beats Rice as expected, Texas will go to the inaugural Freedom Bowl to play Iowa.
"I think it's an honor to go to any bowl game," says Coach Fred Akers. "Our first choice is our championship bowl (Cotton). We still have a chance, although it's just a glimmer of hope for that."

The rest of the schedule finds eighth-ranked Boston College at Holy Cross, Georgia Tech at No. 18 Georgia, Iowa at Hawaii under the lights, Army Navy in Philadelphia and Tennessee at Vanderbilt.

Dallas, Giants take turn

Redskins relax in front of tube

Associated Press

The Washington Redskins will be in the best of all possible places Sun-day — home — while the Dallas Cowboys and New York Giants struggle in separate games to regain a share of first place in the National Football League's convoluted National Conference East.

The Redskins, with precious extra days of rest and practice before their next game, in Dallas Dec. 9, took a one-half game lead in the division Thursday night with a 31-17 victory over the Minnesota Vikings.

"We're probably in as good shape as we can be. We're 9-5 and they have to catch us," Joe Theismann, the Redskins' quarterback, said. The Giants, who play a "road" game in their own stadium against the host New York Jets, and the Cowboys, who play in Philadelphia, each are 8-5 in the NFC East.

In another key Sunday game, the San Francisco 49ers, already the champions of the NFC West, can guarantee themselves home games throughout their playoff tenure by beating the Falcons in Atlanta. It would give the 49ers a 13-1 record with two games to go. No other NFC team could do as well. Miami, too, has clinched its division title. Like the 49ers, the Dolphins are pursuing a home-field edge for the playoffs, but they need champion Los Angeles Raiders.

Miami is 12-1, but that leaves them only one game better in the overall conference standings than Denver and Seattle, tied atop the AFC West at 11-2.

Whichever team fails to win the Western Division is almost certain to Sunday in Kansas City, already is assured of a playoff berth. Seattle, which hosts Detroit, is not.

The Raiders, meanwhile, are 9-4 and in danger of missing the playoffs entirely. They're only one game ahead of New England in the conference standings for the AFC's other wild card. And LA plays what appears to be a slightly tougher schedule — Detroit and Philadelphia along with the Dolphins while the 8-5 Patriots face St. Louis Sunday, followed by Philadelphia and Indianapolis.

Also on Sunday it's Pittsburgh at Houston with the Steelers 7-6 holding a two-game lead over Cincinnati in the AFC Central Division; the Los Angeles Rams, 8-5 and in pursuit of an NFC wild card, hosting New Orleans; Cincinnati at Cleveland, Indianapolis at Buffalo and Tampa Bay at Green Bay. On Monday night it's the Chicago Bears, champions of the NFC Central Division, at San

In fact, Denver, playing that when you play a team twice a Sunday in Kansas City, already is assured of a playoff berth. As far as the Jets are concerned, The next three games will determine how we'll be in the future,' Coach Joe Walton said. "The Giants' game is a big game because we need to get back to winning again. We have a lot of young people who have to keep improving.

The 49ers, who would rather not have to try and win a playoff game on the road this year, also like the idea of not losing a game on the road during the entire season. They're a victory in Atlanta away from that goal.

"We have made it something of a crusade to win on the road," Coach Bill Walsh said. "To me, the true testmore than just a victory Sunday ings — exhibitions and regular-sea of a good team is to win on the against the defending Super Bowl son games — were routinely pro-

Greenwood basketball sets sail for first 2A voyage

By BRUCE CASTLEBERRY Sports Writer

GREENWOOD- Even though the Greenwood basketball team is off to an unbeaten start after three games and a tourney-opening win at the Big Lake Tournament Friday against Borden County, Coach Roger Goldsmith's Rangers have some work ahead if they are to repeat last year's showing.

Goldsmith's inaugural Greenwood team stormed through the district without a loss last year, but the Rangers are competing in their first season of basketball as a Class 2A

Although Greenwood has only nine players currently on the varsity team, most of them have been this way before. Goldsmith doesn't believe in filling up his roster for the sake of having the bodies available. Instead, the Andrews native prefers to stock his roster with vet-

"I LIKE to carry about eight or nine. I don't like to have 12 or 15 suited up. Late in a game I'd rather have my third or fourth guard in there getting experience than my fifth or sixth," Goldsmith said. "I also don't like to carry a junior on the team if he's not in my top

The Rangers are filling only three holes from graduation losses. Troy Wallace, a big scorer and player, speedy Keith Dove and massive Randall Morgan are no longer roaming the GHS hallways. Another defection was Chad Longley, who saw duty last year as a varsity player but who has elected to sit out his junior

But Goldsmith has veterans back in the form of Ken Wallace, John

Greenwood lands nine on All-District

From Staff Reports

GREENWOOD - Five offensive and four defensive players from Greenwood's football team were named to the All-District 8-AA first team, announced last week with the elimination of champion Eldorado and runnerup Wall's elimination from the state playoffs.

Offensively, Greenwood's backfield duo of fullback Roger Smith and halfback Terry O'Steen were both selected to the All-District first team along with McCamey running back Rodney Terry.

Smith finished a two-year varsity career with nearly 3,000 yards rushing. A year ago he was an All-West Texas choice when he netted over vards in Greenwood's final year in Class A.

Part of the success the Ranger ground game enjoyed was due to the efforts of a rebuilt offensive line. Even though the Ranger replaced all five interior lineman prior to the 1984 campaign, guard Steve Hery-ford and tackle Jim Mills were both chosen on the All-District first team. Ranger tight end John Ellis was also a member of the elite eleven. Ellis at linebacker and Smith at defensive end were double honorees, making the All-District first team as defensive players also.

Linebacker John Gilliam and defensive back Chad Longley round out Greenwood's first-team defen-Heryford was listed as an All-second team choice at linebacker also. The Ranger defense shutout five opponents in a 7-2-1 season. While their record was the best in the loop, the Rangers lost a playoff opportunity in the season's ninth week with a 28-26 loss at Reagan County.

Utah names Fassel

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Promising a "wide open" offense, Jim Fassel was named Friday as the University of Utah's new head football coach, replacing Chuck Stobart.

"I believe in a wide-open attack," said Fassel.

and Darryl Stratton. Roger Smith and Lynn Merrill saw some varsity action a year ago. Tony McCollum and Brian Underwood played junior varsity ball a season ago, but are ready for the move to the bigs.

One thing that should make the transition easier is the fact that Goldsmith's crew has some experience. "It's helped a bunch. Last year we never had a set lineup. This year it's pretty well established.

Wallace, Willmon, Giliam and Ellis

Gilliam, John Ellis, Will Willmon as any two weeks we had all of last year. The seniors came in ready to work. The first day we could have practiced for thirty minutes and played a game the first night."

As for the classification jump, Goldsmith explains that since his team is used to taking on the big boys, it won't be as much a problem as might be expected. "We split two games with Big Lake last year, and we beat McCamey. I've seen Stanton and Wall," Goldsmith says of four of District 8-AA's five Ranger opponents. Eldorado is the other district

It's just the type of program we've had here.

Thus, the Rangers won't be in shock from the level of competition. And there is a good chance the Rangers could take the district title, although an unbeaten record would be difficult to duplicate. Goldsmith thinks Big Lake's Owls have the inside track on paper.

"I would pick Big Lake and after that I don't know," said the coach.

"McCamey ough to be tough, and I expect us to be in there. Wall won it Gilliam is most likely to be the money man. The stocky 5-10 senior is the cornerstone player in Gold-smith's scheme. "He's so big you can't get around him or reach around him and pick his pocket. And when he starts hitting from the outside it's unfair. He can make the inside game look good. Inside, the Rangers could either be very tough or they could fold, but the material for success is there. Wallace could be the answer.

"He really came out ready to play this year," Goldsmith said, "He's comers in anticipation of the District 8-AA opener Jan. 10, Goldsmith and company are just trying to iron out any bugs in the works and to gain a consistent level of play. "Execution and consistency are most important. I think we've got it there we just have to develop it, and we could also use some depth. That concerns me a little bit. We have a couple of guys on the JV who could develop, too.

"Greenwood's had a great basket-ball tradition," Goldsmith notes. "We're going to do our part to carry it on. These guys know they're expected to. I tell them I expect to

AIDS up 74 percent

ATLANTA (AP) — The number of AIDS cases in the United States has increased 74 percent this year from last year, and will probably go up again in 1985, according to researchers at the national Centers for Disease Control.

The CDC also said that 73 percent of those people diagnosed before 1983 as having AIDS are now dead.

The CDC reported that 6,993 cases of acquired immune deficiency syndrome were reported as of Monday: 3,342 of those patients, or 48 percent, have died.

"I don't think it's very valid to project beyond another year,' because it takes AIDS some time to develop and because the future effect of prevention 'efforts is still undetermined, Curran said. "I think we can say it won't continue to increase for 10 years," he added.

AIDS, first reported in 1981, cripples the body's immune system, leaving it vulnerable to a variety of rare but often fatal infections and ill-

The number of people exposed to AIDS is much higher than the number who actually have the disease. Milder AIDS symptoms - in people who have not yet developed the fullblown disease - "may be 10 times as common or more than AIDS," Curran said.

AIDS has now been reported in 72 children under 13, 29 of whom, or 40 percent, were children of drug abusing parents. Fifty children with

Greenwood basketball sets sail for first 2A voyage

By BRUCE CASTLEBERRY Sports Writer

GREENWOOD— Even though the Greenwood basketball team is off to an unbeaten start after three games and a tourney-opening win at the Big Lake Tournament Friday against Borden County, Coach Roger Goldsmith's Rangers have some work ahead if they are to repeat last year's showing.

Goldsmith's inaugural Greenwood team stormed through the district without a loss last year, but the Rangers are competing in their first season of basketball as a Class 2A

Although Greenwood has only nine players currently on the varsity team, most of them have been this way before. Goldsmith doesn't believe in filling up his roster for the sake of having the bodies available. Instead, the Andrews native prefers to stock his roster with vet-

"I LIKE to carry about eight or nine. I don't like to have 12 or 15 suited up. Late in a game I'd rather have my third or fourth guard in there getting experience than my fifth or sixth," Goldsmith said. "I also don't like to carry a junior on the team if he's not in my top

The Rangers are filling only three holes from graduation losses. Troy Wallace, a big scorer and player, speedy Keith Dove and massive Randall Morgan are no longer roaming the GHS hallways. Another defection was Chad Longley, who saw duty last year as a varsity player but who has elected to sit out his junior

Greenwood lands nine on All-District

From Staff Reports

GREENWOOD - Five offensive and four defensive players from Greenwood's football team were named to the All-District 8-AA first team, announced last week with the elimination of champion Eldorado and runnerup Wall's elimination from the state playoffs.

Offensively, Greenwood's backfield duo of fullback Roger Smith and halfback Terry O'Steen were both selected to the All-District first team along with McCamey running back Rodney Terry.

Smith finished a two-year varsity career with nearly 3,000 yards rushing. A year ago he was an All-West Texas choice when he netted over 1.500 vards in Greenwood's final year in Class A.

Part of the success the Ranger ground game enjoyed was due to the efforts of a rebuilt offensive line. Even though the Ranger replaced all five interior lineman prior to the 1984 campaign, guard Steve Heryford and tackle Jim Mills were both chosen on the All-District first team. Ranger tight end John Ellis was also a member of the elite eleven. Ellis at linebacker and Smith at defensive end were double honorees, making the Alf-District first team as defensive players also.

Linebacker John Gilliam and defensive back Chad Longley round out Greenwood's first-team defensive selections. Heryford was listed as an All-second team choice at linebacker also. The Ranger defense shutout five opponents in a 7-2-1 season. While their record was the best in the loop. the Rangers lost a playoff opportu-nity in the season's ninth week with a 28-26 loss at Reagan County.

Utah names Fassel

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Promising a "wide open" offense, Jim Fassel was named Friday as the University of Utah's new head football coach, replacing Chuck Stobart.

"I believe in a wide-open attack," said Fassel.

and Lynn Merrill saw some varsity action a year ago. Tony McCollum and Brian Underwood played junior varsity ball a season ago, but are ready for the move to the bigs. One thing that should make the transition easier is the fact that Goldsmith's crew has some experience. "It's helped a bunch. Last year we never had a set lineup. This year it's pretty well established.

Wallace, Willmon, Giliam and Ellis all played regular roles a year ago, and thus the coach hasn't had to worry as much about working on the offense and plays. "I feel really confident with this group of guys. The first two weeks of workouts were really good. They were as good

Gilliam, John Ellis, Will Willmon as any two weeks we had all of last and Darryl Stratton. Roger Smith year. The seniors came in ready to work. The first day we could have practiced for thirty minutes and played a game the first night." As for the classification jump, Goldsmith explains that since his team is used to taking on the big boys, it won't be as much a problem as might be expected. "We split two games with Big Lake last year, and we beat McCamey. I've seen Stanton and Wall," Goldsmith says of four of District 8-AA's five Ranger opponents. Eldorado is the other district

"We've always thought the move would be easier in basketball because of the schedule we've played. Last year, we didn't play any class A schools in non-district games.

It's just the type of program we've had here."

Thus, the Rangers won't be in shock from the level of competition.
And there is a good chance the Rangers could take the district title, although an unbeaten record would be difficult to duplicate. Goldsmith thinks Big Lake's Owls have the inside track on paper.

"I would pick Big Lake and after that I don't know," said the coach. "McCamey ought to be tough, and I expect us to be in there. Wall won it last year.

The Rangers will be fundamentally solid and Goldsmith lists as two major pluses "Shooting and balance. Gilliam will get his points - he had 18 the other night. But the next night some other guy can get 20."

the cornerstone player in Gold-smith's scheme. "He's so big you can't get around him or reach around him and pick his pocket. And when he starts hitting from the outside it's unfair. He can make the inside game look good.' Inside, the Rangers could either be very tough or they could fold, but the material for success is there. Wallace could be the answer.

"He really came out ready to play this year," Goldsmith said, "He's playing with a lot more confidence and aggressiveness. Those were his two weak points last year.

"If our inside play develops, we could be tough."

So as the Rangers take on all

Gilliam is most likely to be the comers in anticipation of the Dismoney man. The stocky 5-10 senior is trict 8-AA opener Jan. 10, Goldsmith trict 8-AA opener Jan. 10, Goldsmith and company are just trying to iron out any bugs in the works and to gain a consistent level of play. "Execution and consistency are most important. I think we've got it there we just have to develop it, and we could also use some depth. That concerns me a little bit. We have a couple of guys on the JV who could develop, too.

"Greenwood's had a great basket-ball tradition," Goldsmith notes. "We're going to do our part to carry it on. These guys know they're expected to. I tell them I expect to win. We could win it or end up fifth. If we make the plays in the critical situations...Well, in the past that's what they've done.

AIDS up 74 percent

ATLANTA (AP) - The number of AIDS cases in the United States has increased 74 percent this year from last year, and will probably go up again in 1985, according to researchers at the national Centers for Disease Control. The CDC also said that 73 percent of those people diagnosed before 1983 as having AIDS are now dead.

The CDC reported that 6,993 cases of acquired immune deficiency syndrome were reported as of Monday: 3,342 of those patients, or 48 percent, have died.

We should expect the cases to continue to increase for the next year," said Dr. James Curran, director of the CDC's AIDS task force.

So far this year, 3,821 cases of AIDS have been reported in this country - up 74 percent from the same time last year. More than 86 percent of all AIDS cases have been reported in the last two years. "I don't think it's very valid to project beyond another year,' because it takes AIDS some time to develop and because the future effect of prevention efforts is still undetermined, Curran said. "I think we can say it won't continue to increase for 10 years," he added.

AIDS, first reported in 1981, cripples the body's immune system, leaving it vulnerable to a variety of rare but often fatal infections and ill-

The primary burden of the disease continues to be among gay men," Curran said.

Homosexual males comprise 73 percent of all reported cases. The number of people exposed to AIDS is much higher than the number who actually have the disease. Milder AIDS symptoms - in people who have not yet developed the fullblown disease - "may be 10 times as common or more than AIDS," Cur-

AIDS has now been reported in 72 children under 13, 29 of whom, or 40 percent, were children of drug abusing parents. Fifty children with AIDS have died.

When the Great Pyramid of Egypt was built, some five million tons of stones were put together until they covered thirteen acres and reached a height of 481 feet. We have a tendency to think of those pyramids as markers of mighty men rather than monuments to the common men who built them. The world pays little attention to common men. But Christmas reminds us of God's awareness of the common man. Discover that awareness with us. #

About 7,000 Filipinos demonstrate peacefully outside U.S. Embassy

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — About 7,000 Filipinos demonstrated peacefully outside the U.S. Embassy on Friday, demanding an end to American military aid to President Ferdinand E. Marcos's government and the removal of U.S. bases from the country.

The 90-minute rally, the largest in front of the American mission in years, coincided with a second demonstration by about 1,200 people who shouted "Yankee Go Home!" outside the gates of Clark U.S. Air Force Base, 50 miles north of the

More than 800 riot police backed by four firetrucks and four armed jeeps met the noisy protesters, who waved red flags as they arrived from an earlier rally at a downtown Manila plaza.

There was some tension when police began unreeling firehoses, but they allowed the demonstrators to first occupy three-fourths of Roxas Boulevard and eventually the whole street. Most previous demonstrations strations near the embassy by smaller groups were either blocked Speakers at the rally attacked alleged domination of the Philippine economy by what one of them called "foreign devils like the American imperialists.

Demonstrators marched up and down the street carrying effigies of Marcos and President Reagan astride a papier mache bulldog painted to look rabid and marked with the initials of the armed forces of the Philippines.

After dark, they exploded firecrackers and marched off chanting "Marcos: Hitler, Dictator, Puppet." The demonstrators went to nearby Rizal Park for a cultural program and to burn the effigies.

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — Heavily armed Tamil guerrillas attacked two prison farms in northern Sri Lanka on Friday, and at least 42 people were killed, the govern-ment said.

The attacks came before dawn at the Dollar Farm and the Kent Farm, both rehabilitation settlements where convicts live with their families before being set free. Officials said about 200 guerrillas scrambled from two buses, spraying submachine gun and rifle fire and throwing grenades as they herded prisoners into buildings and then blew the buildings up. About 450 people, including guards, prisoners and their families, lived at the two settlements.

After the attacks in Mullaitivu district, the government declared a national alert and imposed a 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. curfew on the entire island as a precaution against retaliatory violence against Tamils.

A senior government official who refused to be identified by name said the confirmed death toll was 42, but noted that local police had said the number of deaths may climb as unearth homo erectus

PEKING (AP) - The discovery in northeast China of an almost complete skeleton of an "ape man" of about 1 million to 200,000 B.C. provides new clues as to how modern man's direct predecessor looked and moved, an archaeologist says.

Peking University archaeologist Lu Zun'er's team found the homo erectus fossils Sept. 27 in a cave at the foot of Gold Ox Hill in Yinkou County, Liaoning Province.

The official English-language China Daily quoted Lu today as say-ing the "unprecedented" find enables scientists to reassess "a crucial step in human evolution.

Mormon church offers family registry service

Copley News Service

A new family registry service for genealogists is being offered by the Genealogical Department of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day

The service is designed to help people actively engaged in geneal-ogy research to find and exchange information.

People who are interested can reg ister with the Mormon genealogical library in Salt Lake City, which will put their names on microfiche and send them to about 450 branch gene-alogical libraries of the church area they're interested in, correthroughout the world, said Grant Anderson, manager of the San Diego Mormon Regional Genealogical

"These people can read down that spond with them and exchange information," Anderson said.

"One of the purposes of the regis-try is to avoid a lot of duplication and get people together on the same Anderson said the new service is not for beginners. "Not everyone should sign up for this registry unless you have some-thing to contribute to it," he said. "It isn't just a source of information for people who want to trace their ancestries. It's for people who have information to give as well."

The Mormon interest in genealogy stems from the belief that no one can reach heaven without being

POSITIVE THINKING

Giving thanks can bring happiness

'How come you seem always happy?" I couldn't help asking this question of an old friend. He has been through plenty of trouble in life but never have I seen him down or glum or morose. He has amazed me, as well as others, for so long that finally I decided to just up and ask the secret of his positive attitude.

His answer was concise and unhesitating. In fact, it consisted of just one word.

'Thanksgiving.'

What do you mean, thanksgiving?" I asked in some bewilderment. mean that I practice being thankful every day all day. Some might perhaps think me balmy, but I go around saying thanks to the good Lord for everything. And believe it or not, doing that simple thing has made me a happy man. That's all there is to it," he concluded with his ig wide grin

"Sure," I replied. "We've all got some things we can be thankful for, but what about those tough, hard ones? You've had your share of

'Oh, I give thanks for them, too. You see, the rough spots can really be good for us. They make us strong. Anyway if you take the attitude of Thanksgiving and weave the hard blows into your total life experience, the net is that you're made a lot happier by getting on top of difficulty.

The rugged and sound philosophy of this man impressed me so much that I myself have tried to follow his idea of practicing the attitude of Thanksgiving. I haven't, as yet, quite attained his skill but this is to report that even if one does it only partially, it works wonders.

As I sat down to write this column, these thoughts came to mind. If any people ever had it tough it was those amazing forefathers of ours who landed on the shores of New England in what can often be a bleak time of year.

Sometimes in our presumed sophistication we tend to write them off as simple people. But, actually, could we moderns stand up to such dire adversities as they faced everyday in an inhospitable wildernes? They were strong and sturdy folk. They had what it took. And they did not give up, though many died that first year.

Our forefathers were thinkers, philosophers, and devout people. So they knew that the way to survive and build for the future was to express thanksgiving periodically. Later a President of the United States, Abraham Lincoln, proclaimed a national day of Thanksgiving. It comes every year after the bounteous harvest is in. Annually now the American people, regard-less of trouble or difficulty which may come upon them, still know that their blessings outnumber their adversities. Our national day for giving thanks to the God of our father fortifies us for another year of our history so that whatever it may bring we know that Divine blessings will abound.

Actually, the habit of thinking thankfully and of speaking thank-fully and of acting faithfully is but another form of positive thinking. That it activates further reasons for genuine thankfulness can hardly be doubted. To send out upbeat thought vibrations is to have the return in kind. The giving of thanks stimulates more blessings for which to be thankful.

Doctors test portable power pack for artificial heart

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Doctors unhooked William Schroeder's artificial heart from its massive drive system, making it skip a couple beats, and connected it to a portable power pack for more than an hour Friday in the first tests of a device that could help him live a more nearly normal life.

When the switch was completed during the first test, Schroeder reached over to shake the hand of Peter Heimes, West German inventor of the portable unit, asked for more ice cream and expressed no discomfort, Heimes said.

The goal is to have the 11-pound, shoulder-carried system eventually replace the cumbersome, 323-pound driver to which Schroeder had been tethered since his operation Sunday.

The success of the portable driver is considered by the heart's developers to be a crucial step toward freeing heart recipients from almost total confinement and making the plastic implant an appealing prospect for heart patients.

"This is the beginning of the end of the view of the artificial heart as a cumbersome device that doesn't give people the quality of life they need," said Dr. Robert Jarvik, inventor of the Jarvik-7 artificial heart.

He predicted the portable driver

It took about three seconds to pull could completely replace the large driver in two years.

Schroeder was connected to the portable driver for 22 minutes beginning about 3 p.m. EST, while he was awake and resting in bed. A second test lasted from 8:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m., and everything worked fine, according to a statement from the hospital.

"We didn't see any change" in the heart or in Schroeder when the switch was made to the portable the plastic compressed air lines off the large Utahdrive system and attach them to the portable driver, said Heimes, who works for Symbion Inc., the company headed by Jarvik that developed the heart. Schroeder missed two or three heartbeats, which is not harmful, he

The driver is powered by rechargeable batteries that last up to six hours per charge. It consists of an air compressor, a computer control system and an emergency back-up system, fits inside a hard case the size of a camera bag and will cost about $10,000, Jarvik said.

Jarvik said the portable driver is 'more gentle on the heart" and "the valve life (of the heart) might be longer with this system.

Earlier Friday a medical spokes-man had said Schroeder was "very weak" and looking "worn out" Friday but there was no sign of complications and the fatigue was probably due to the previous day's activity and a poor night's sleep.

On Thursday, Schroeder got out of bed for the first time and had his eagerly anticipated beer. The exertion might have tired Schroeder out, but "since he felt great, we thought it was good for him to get out of bed and get that boost," said Dr. Allan M. Lansing of the Humana Heart Institute International.

Schroeder's sleep was interrupted by frequent coughing, probably adding to the fatigue, Lansing said.

We wondered if it might be accumulation of fluid in the lungs, but the X-ray this morning didn't show any signs of that," he said.

Cleveland Cavaliers player tackles assailant

CLEVELAND (AP) - Cleveland Cavaliers forward Lonnie Shelton, who stands 6-foot-8 and 255 pounds, wasn't about to put up with any nonsense from a would-be robber — especially one four inches shorter and 95 pounds lighter.

So when a man tried to pull a gun on the profes sional basketball player this week Shelton tackled the assailant before he could get the weapon out of his pocket and then preached to him for 20 minutes while waiting for police, authorities said.

The 28-year-old athlete said Thursday that he suffered a cut that required four stitches and skinned his knees during the incident Tuesday night. He also sald he doubted the wisdom of his actions in hindsight, since the gun went off twice during the scuffle without hitting anyone.

"To charge a guy with a gun is pretty dumb," Shelton said. "I'm just thankful to be alive. It definitely brings me closer with God. I only had $25 on me.'

After appearing on a television talk show Thursday, Ms. Ferraro told reporters that she believes her candidacy on the ticket with WASHINGTON (AP) - Many members of the audience couldn't hear the music, but interpreters helped 2,500 deaf and handicapped young people at Gallaudet College enjoy a surprise benefit concert by rock star Prince.

After the one-hour performance Thursday at Gallaudet, a liberal arts college for the deaf, hundreds of students raised their hands with thumbs and index and baby fingers extended to tell the rock star in sign language, "I love you.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Federal Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., once a target of hatred for his decisions supporting civil rights, drew the praise of Alabama's legal community as he received the third annual Devitt Award.

U.S. District Judge Edward J. Devitt of Minnesota, who presented the award at a ceremony Thursday night, said Johnson, 66, was selected "principally because of his important and courageous judicial actions...Through many landmark decisions in the field of civil rights, he led a peaceful revolution in the states of the Confederacy."

Now a member of the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, Johnson's rulings as a federal district judge in Montgomery from 1955 to 1979 helped desegregate city buses, schools and public accommodations and paved the way for the historic Selma-to-Montgomery voting rights march in 1965.

Singer says 'great songs few, far between'

By MARY CAMPBELL AP Newsfeatures Writer

Singer Judy Collins has certain songwriters she keeps her eye on. Her 20th record album, "Home Again," is out and already she's thinking about songs for the next one. "I'm about to go down my A list and ask, 'Anybody got anything for me?" she says.

"I ask if they have any great songs. Great songs are few and far between, really.

"Then I say, 'Is there anything you've written you like but think it wouldn't be good for me? Send me that.' People think that they know. They think something wouldn't be for me. But it might be just perfect."

On "Home Again," she says, "I'm crazy about 'Everybody Works in China.' It's not a song Henry Gross would ever have sent to me. He might send it to America or Patti LaBelle but not to me.

"And 'Only You' is a song my manager, Freddy DeMann, heard the Yaz sing. People would say I'd never sing an electronic-based song like that. I thought it was a natural.'

Miss Collins also has her first recorded duet, with T.G. Sheppard, in the new album. Michael Masser, who wrote "Angel of the Morning," wrote "Home Again." Bruce Lundvall, then of Elektra Records, suggested that Masser take "Home Again" to her. He did, around Christmas last year, after she thought she'd finished recording the

SHE SAYS, "Michael and Freddy and I thought it would be very nice as a duet. The next question was whose voice. A number of different people were talked about. They weren't all country singers; it was voice quality we were thinking of. It came into the problem of who's available and interested.'

They approached Sheppard, who liked the song. Then they waited several months until Masser had time to produce the cut. They put it on the album and made it the title

"I think country is a funny category," Miss Collins says. "It's one of the few areas now where you can actually put a good song and understand the words and not be bowled over by loud rock.'

Miss Collins has had a couple of country hits in the past, "Amazing Grace," which actually is a hymn, and "Someday Soon."

About the latter she says, "I was making the 'Who Knows Where the Time Goes' album in 1969. Stephen Stills played on it. We had finished a session and were driving someplace, just talking of material. We needed a couple of songs to finish the album. Stephen asked if I remembered Ian and Sylvia's 'Someday Soon.' It was a big hit, at least in our circles. We went in the next day and recorded it.

"It was the combination of instruments that made it country, pedal steel guitar instead of keyboard and strings. The album we were making had a flavor of country which carried over to 'Someday Soon.'

MISS COLLINS' first record, 'Maid of Constant Sorrow," came out in 1962. All 20 records have been on Elektra. "Send in the Clowns" is her biggest-selling single. Through

Two songs on the new album, "Shoot First" and "Only You," are done with electronic keyboards, which Miss Collins calls "an interesting adventure for me."

She started touring when she was 19 and has toured most of every year since then except for 1978. "Next year's concerts are already coming in. I'll sing with the Chicago Symphony in August. I guess what you have to do, and I hope to do it next year, is put a hold on six months. I'm going to do nothing but write music. My writing, I think, needs a big block of time now."

Miss Collins wrote two of the songs on "Home Again," "Dream .On" and "Shoot First."

She and producer David Grusin are giving part of the proceeds from "Shoot First" to the National Alliance Against Violence. She says, "It'll go for gun control lobbying and legislation.'

She sings every year at the National Dance Institute's show by children who've been taught dancing one hour a week at their schools. She's on the board of Artists Against Apartheid in South Africa and on the board of the Wonder Woman Foundation, which tries to improve opportunities for women over 40.

"I ALWAYS felt blessed I was able to do things which involved physical presence. You can't always say yes to everything but I try to do the best I can. I need to help somebody who has less than I do. We have to give back, otherwise what is the point? What is it all for?"

On Dec. 7, Miss Collins does her 18th annual Carnegie Hall concert. Last year, she brought a guitar on stage with her for the first time in five years. "I'm finding it lots and lots of fun," she says.

So why, after years of accompanying herself on guitar, did she stop? "It is possible to hide behind a guitar, in front of thousands of people," Miss Collins says. "I sang with my eyes shut for many, many years. It was zero contact.

"Part of my growth in the last few years has been to learn to relate to an audience. I'm a lot more comfortable on stage.

"Now, I have flexibility. I have a section where I pick up the guitar and do a lot of singing and talking. There's a long segment where I go to the piano and play and sing. I've folk, protest, romantic and art song, she never has faded away. "Folk is part of the fabric of what I do," she instrument to me. There are certain songs I think it's right for.'

MISS COLLINS' son is 25, living and working in Minnesota.

For the last seven years, she and Louis Nelson have been a couple.

She says, "It's the longest relationship I've ever had with anyone and it is getting better. He is an industrial designer. He has designed a number of my album covers, including the new one. He designs products, buildings, packaging. He has formed his own business.

Host of 'Newton's Apple' knows why certain bicycles never fly

By JERRY BUCK AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES - You've always heard that once you learn to ride a bicycle you never forget, but have you ever wondered what allows you to stay upright in the first place as you pedal along?

Ira Flatow will not only tell you why, he'll show you why and demon-strate some bicycle designs that will never get off the ground.

He'll also tell you everything you ever wanted to know about mummies, whales, owls and hot air bal-

Flatow is the host of "Newton's Apple," a weekly science show now in its second year on public televi-sion. He's also National Public Radio's science correspondent and regularly contributes free-lance articles on scientific subjects to maga-

"It's like being a kid in a candy store," said Flatow on a brief visit to Los Angeles. "What I love about the show is I get to do all the things I've always wanted to do. Like the special we did on how do you become an astronaut? And the segments we do on animals. We've run out of animals that we can bring into the studio, and now we have to go on location with the animals.

Flatow lives in Connecticut and during the 13-week production schedule he flies every Sunday night to Minneapolis to tape the show for the KTCA public television station. He returns home each Thursday.

The show came about because KTCA was looking for a program that would "take science out of its ivory tower," Flatow said.

We wanted a show that would make science understandable, enjoyable and fun to learn," he said. "The technique we use is answering questions. Like, why does a bicycle stay up? What is sound?"

Flatow was originally called in only as a consultant to help set up.

"An old colleague of mine, Jim Russell, was at KTCA and he asked me to come out and advise them on
