MGF Oil file's for bankruptcy

By ED TODD Staff Writer

MGF Oil Corp. filed for bankruptcy Friday in federal court in Midland under the Chapter 11 re-organization provisions of the U.S. Bankruptcy

'MGF will survive and is going to continue to be in business...(and will regain its) profitability, MGF President W. Phillip Marcum recently said in addressing the company's imminent

The company, which was founded 14 years ago in Midland by R.O. "Jack" Major and Aaron Giebel, listed assets of $321 million and liabilities of $303.7 million in its bankruptcy petition.

The company's stock had dropped to a nickel a share today. The asking price was 15 cents.

Giebel told the Reporter-Telegram Friday night that the move would be beneficial because, "it will allow us to establish some game plays for the future. I have no doubt that we can now move forward and re-organize.

Last year, MGF was put "into the able hands" of Marcum, whom MGF brought in to salvage the ailing company. MGF specializes in oil and gas exploration, development and production

Marcum maneuvered the company into a positive cash-flow stance, but the revenue wasn't sufficient to offset the public and private debts.

MGF's secured debt is $151.3 million, according cured debt totals $125.5 million. Other liabilities total $26.8 million. More than $28.4 million in shares of common stock are held by 10,000 holders, according to court records.

Marcum had sought to reorganize the company outside the court system.

"BUT NOW I feel that MGF has the assets to restructure within the court system," he said prior to the filing. "A lot of companies have gone through this, and many have come out

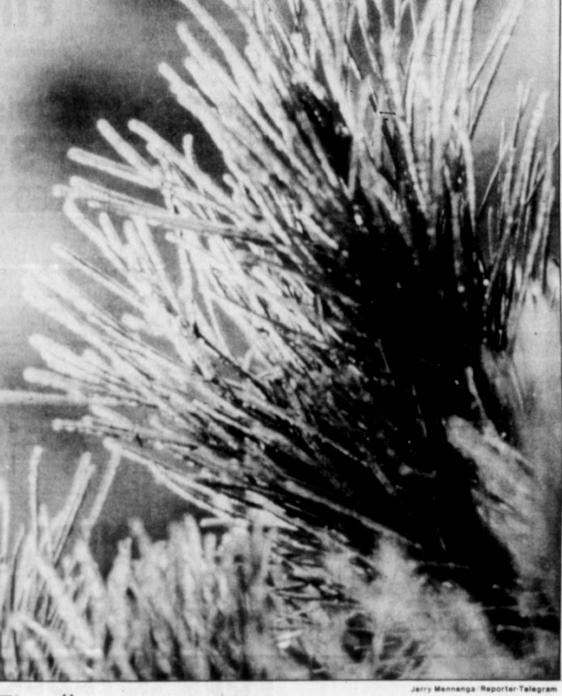

Under Chapter 11 provisions, the U.S. Bankruptcy Court would supervise MGF's paying off its indebtedness, would protect the company from any onslaught of creditors, and would determine what percentages of debts are to be

Marcum said the company will have to "dig in" to keep the company afloat during the bankruptcy proceedings.

Unwanted 'boat people' will be returned to Cuba

2,700 Cuban criminals and mental patients will be sent home under an agreement reached Friday by the Reagan administration and the Cas-

But the White House stressed it would not even discuss resuming relations with Cuba until "they are willing to re-enter the family of nations." Ties were broken in 1961 after President Fidel Castro appropriated nearly all U.S. property on Castro announced the agreement to his countrymen Friday night on nationwide radio and television.

Besides agreeing to take back 2,746 unwanted "boat people," most of whom committed crimes after they entered the United States, the Castro government will allow up to 3,000 former political prisoners and up to 20,000 other refugees to apply for U.S. visas annually

The deal was struck after four years of negotiations and Cuba backpedaled from its initial demand that only refugees who volunteered to go home could be returned. Despite the successful conclusion, the administration said there was no point talking to Cuba about other differences between the two governments. "We are treating this as an isolated problem," said Larry Speakes, the White House spokes-

The "excludables" due to go back to Havana were among 129,000 Cubans who flocked here from the port of Mariel in 1980. Since then, the United States has accepted 2,000 to 3,000 refugees a year, mostly relatives of Cubans already in the coun-

Regular visas will be issued again as a result of the agreement. The process was suspended in 1980 when the Cubans refused to repatriate "Marielitos" with criminal records or mental problems - many of the same people now to be returned.

Senior administration officials. briefing reporters at the White House on an anonymous basis, said the deportations could begin within block in an Atlanta judge's ruling that about 1,500 of the Cubans are entitled to a hearing if they want to remain in the United States. The other 1,200 are in mental institutions or state prisons and are not affected by the Atlanta judge's ruling.

U.S. attorneys filed a notice of appeal Thursday with the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, seeking to overturn the Oct. 15 order by U.S. District Judge Marvin Shoob of Atlanta. The 1,500 Cubans have contended that they would be persecuted by the Cuban government if sent back. Another 250 Cuban "undesirables" who have been resettled in communities here, will be permitted to remain, said Gil Pompa, head of the Justice Department's community relations program. Announcing the accord, Speakes said, "The conclusion of an agreement on this issue does not signal any change in U.S. policy toward

"That policy reflects our serious concern about Cuba's international behavior," Speakes said. "We see no evidence that Cuba is prepared to change that behavior.

The spokesman said the Cubans would be returned home "in a phased and orderly manner."

Speakes stressed that most of the boat people" had "incorporated themselves into American life.

Most of the criminals are being held in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta and were convicted in this

Speakes said Cuba's agreement to accept the return of the 2,700 opens the way for the United States - for the first time since 1980 - to resume processing of visas from Cubans in the normal way that immigrants from other countries are processed

He said he did not know how many Cubans, including former political prisoners, would emigrate to the United States.

ODESSA - The three-day murder trial of Christopher Phillip Lopez ended Friday afternoon in a mistrial, as jurors were unable to reach a verdict after 10 hours of delibera-

February or March 1985. Afterwards, jurors said they felt more evidence should have been presented to aid them in deciding whether Lopez was guilty. The 18year-old defendant is charged with murdering a 15-year-old youth about

The victim, Irineo Bersosa Duran Jr., was in the passenger seat of the car driven by John Vargas. Lopez and other witnesses testified that they believed Vargas, 16, had fired the shots that seriously wounded

The defendant's brother, 19-yearold Ronald Don Lopez, was shot to death June 23 on a south Odessa street - about one month before Christopher Lopez is alleged to have murdered Duran.

Johnnie Moreno, 19, was also shot to death in the June 23 incident. His younger brother, 18-year-old Luis Moreno, was with Lopez at the party where the Aug. 4 shooting occurred and testified that he had been told Vargas wanted to kill him.

Jessie Hernandez, a 15-year-old youth stabbed in the June 23 struggle that claimed the lives of Lopez and Moreno, also rode with the defendant and the younger Moreno to the Aug. 4 party in south Ector County, according to testimony

All these incidents are linked to a continuing feud between Hispanic families in south Odessa that has spanned at least 10 years. In the September trial of Joe and David Mendoza (charged with murder from the June 23 slayings), one brother was acquitted and the other was sentenced to 11 years in prison.

Archeologists unearth two 7,000-year-old brains

This 7,000-year-old skull of a 27-year-old man and a 7,000-yearold skull of 45-year-old woman were unearthed earlier this week by Florida State University archeologists in Titusville. A magnetic resonance scan of the skulls reveal that they may be the oldest preserved brains.

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Two 7,000-year-old "well-preserved and complete" human brains have been unearthed just 15 miles west of the space shuttle launch pad, and scientists said Friday they may provide unique clues to the evolution of human genes.

The existence of two preserved brains from one archaeological site and 7,000 year-old DNA makes this a spectacular scientific contribution," University of Florida molecular biologist William W. Hauswirth told reporters at a press conference.

The discovery of the tissue was described as unmatched in the world because biochemical analysis has detected preserved DNA, the genetic blueprint of living orga-

"This is the first human brain of this antiquity in the world to be so thoroughly analyzed," the scientists said. The oldest DNA analyzed previously came from flesh on a preserved hide of a quagga, an African relative of the zebra that became extinct a century ago

The DNA should be useful in learning about gene evolution and possibly identifying viral diseases and cancer during that period, said archaeologist Dr. Glen H. Doran of Florida State University, Hauswirth and Dr. Philip J. Laipus, another

University of Florida molecular biol-

Hauswirth said they intend to use recombinant DNA methods to make copies of the preserved DNA and produce a complete set of prehistoric human genes that would be made available to researchers for comparison with modern genes.

Remnants of human brain tissue were previously found in skulls uncovered at two southwest Florida sites in 1959, but no molecular or radiological analysis was performed on that tissue, Hauswirth said.

The virtually intact male and female skulls were found earlier this week at an excavation at a housing development known as Windover Farms near this community just outside the gates of Kennedy Space

The skulls were buried about 12 feet below the surface, protected in old and a man about 27. an oxygen-free environment of mineral water, said Dr. Glen H. Doran of Florida State University

Doran, who heads the archaeological project, said the bog previously has yielded bones of 50 to 60 men, women and children from about 5000 B.C., according to radio-carbon dating. Well-preserved human was a 7,000-year-old preserved bodies hundreds of years old have human brain," Doran said been found buried in bogs in England and Denmark.

The project "has consistently proven to be a site of unmatched quality," said Doran.

'To find preserved human brain in any site would be significant, but to find two 7,000 year-old brains in the same site, coupled with the size of the skeletal collection we already have, makes Windover one-of-a-kind in the world.

Human DNA was earlier extracted from a substance found in four human skulls unearthed in late November, the scientists said. While that material was being tested, the discovery of the two virtually intact brains last Tuesday and Wednesday "strengthened the results of the DNA tests," said Hauswirth, who headed the team of molecular scientists.

The latest skulls are of a woman believed to have been about 45 years

After the female skull was found Tuesday, the scientists noticed what looked like a greasy material inside. Hauswirth removed the back of the skull. Laipis tilted it slightly and the mass slid into his gloved hand.

There was a stunned moment of silence - then the realization that it

Casino cheaters take more than $40 million yearly

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The decades-old battle between gaming cheats and casinos has moved from mirrors to microprocessor chips and what once was an irritation has become a $40 million annual headache for Nevada's major industry.

Gaming enforcement officials say that although the cheats sting the casinos, millions of visitors who leave billions of dollars on the tables and in the slot machines are also vic-

'When a cheater rips off a jackpot, it hurts the tourist because the money on that slot's meter has been put in by honest players," said Billy Suggs, head of the enforcement division of the state's Gaming Control Board. "The money played on that machine is being held in escrow for that big winner. And if a cheater gets it, both the potential legitimate winner and those who put money into the machine have been victi-

Suggs, a 10-year veteran of state gaming enforcement, remembers the mid-1970s when slots paid jackpots of $10,000 to $20,000 - sometimes soaring to $50,000. Today $1 million-plus jackpots are paid on machines run by tiny microprocessor boards that provide new challenges for a 21st century breed of Suggs said there is no way of telling how much cheaters harvest from Nevada casinos, but admitted that projections of $40 million annually "may be conservative." Slots are changing — and so are their cheaters. "Slots six or seven years ago were thought of as something in the casino to keep little old ladies happy while the gamblers went to the tables," Suggs said. "Now they represent nearly 50 percent of the gross gaming revenues.

Gamblers lost a record $2.99 billion in Nevada the past fiscal year, with the state's 92,000 one-arm bandits taking an ever-increasing bite.

Elaborate cheating rings conduct underground schools both in and out of Nevada to train cheaters and recruit unwary "collectors," Suggs

"Very few times does a collector know how a crime is going to be perpetrated," Suggs explained. "They get a happy little guy, a happy little lady who's gonna stand in front of a particular machine and play it. They tell them 'Go in this casino and play this certain machine.' They're instructed only on the role they play in the scam and have no idea what else is done.'

While the collector plays the machine, blockers gather around the target slot to hide it from floormen and TV surveillance cameras hidden in false ceilings that scour Nevada casinos day and night.

With blockers in place a sophisticated thief enters the slot and quickly resets the machine or replaces an intricate microprocessor chip with one that will yield a payoff. Pros make the switch in a matter of seconds.

That was apparently what happened in August 1983 when retired San Francisco warehouseman Gus Econopoulos hit a $1.7 million jackpot at Harrah's Hotel and Casino in Lake Tahoe.

As they do in all major slot payouts, casino and gaming officials checked the machine. To their chagrin they found the "tamper-proof" slot and the tiny microprocessor board that dictates the payoffs had been tampered with. Officials halted attorney in Reno, said authorities and gaming officials may never know how wide a swath the cheating ring cut through Nevada

The indictment of the Lake Tahoe gang indicated they had hit numerous other hotels for sums of $100,000

The arrest of the Lake Tahoe gang and the "Nikrasch gang" cut substantially into cheating activity in Nevada, Suggs said.

Terrance Nikrasch and two associates were found guilty last February and sentenced to 15 years in prison for operating what authorities described as a multi-million-dollar slot cheating ring.

Other cheats have used elaborate mini-TV cameras to signal partners in poker game scams, a far cry from the old days when cheats used mirrors to spy on the dealer's hold card. Less sophisticated cheats still opt for one of the oldest scams since the emergence of slot machines - the slug.

"It doesn't take too much ingenuity for a cheater to do slugs," said Suggs. "You just pour the metal int a mold - you can do it on any stove In a six-month period last year w confiscated 70,000 or 80,000 slugs. only costs three or four cents make a dollar slug. If some of then hit $25,000 or $50,000 jackpots, you can imagine the impact. Det. Don Dibble of the Metro Police Special Investigations Burea said officers shut down five slug fac tories in Las Vegas last year.

"Our conservative estimate wa that each factory was cooking ou 500 $1 slugs daily," Dibble said When you add it all up it came t over $900,000 a year from these five guys. These guys looked like bums And they were making nearly $

Tower says he's staying out of defense cuts controversy

By PEGGY ROBERSON Hearst News Service

WASHINGTON - Texas Sen. John Tower Friday interrupted packing away 24 years' accumulation of records and memories at the Capitol for a final press conference with Texas reporters.

The outgoing chairman of the Senate Armed Forces Committee refused to be drawn into a controversy between Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger and other Reagan administration officials on whether and how much to cut the defense budget.

Saying he is "not privy to negotiations going on" at the White House, Tower said he believes it is reasonable for Weinberger "to insist that we fund our requirements." Without having seen requests from the various services, however, he said it is difficult to comment on the proper level of funding.

The senior Republican senator, however, is cool to the idea of freezing military pay. It was reported Thursday that Weinberger had agreed to a one- year freeze in an acrimonious closed-door discussion at the White House, but the secretary immediately denied the report. Pay increases are essential to retention of military personnel, Tower

Tower had a mild rebuke for his 'old and very dear friend," Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., incoming Armed Forces chairman, who has advised President Reagan to abandon the MX missile. In a recent interview, Goldwater said he told Reagan, "I don't think you can win it, so why get your ass knocked off."

Goldwater urged that $1.5 billion be spent to produce 21 missiles already authorized when the issue again comes to Congress. In the spring, Reagan will ask for money for 21 additional missiles while 48 more are expected to be in the fiscal 1986 Defense Department budget.

Tower said he believes Goldwater's advice was more "in the nature of prophesy than an expression of his personal posture." He added: "I believe now is not the time to talk about cancelling the MX program (just before) the departure of the Secretary of State" to resume arms control negotiations with the Early prophesies of the demise of the MX, unilaterally brought about by Congress, is not helpful to the secretary in ... getting the Soviets back to the conference table with some realistic hope of arriving at some kind of arms reduction agreement," he said.

A freeze of defense spending at last year's level would, in fact, be a reduction, said Tower. Defense spending declined in the 70's by 9 percent while non-defense spending was going up by 97 percent in real terms, he said.

A freeze would make it difficult for the DOD to absorb a pay raise and "continue with current operational tempos, force levels and reasonable acquisition rates," Tower

Fifty percent chance of rain, snow forecast for Midland

Hazardous driving conditions will continue through today with a 50 percent chance of freezing rain or snow, said the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal. "There will be no significant snow accumulation, but roads will remain hazardous and icy," said the NWS. A traveler's advisory has been issued by the NWS for tonight. The high will be in the mid-30s with easterly winds at 10 to 20 mph.

Tonight calls for a 40 percent chance of freezing rain. The record high for this date was 76 degrees in 1977. The record low was set in 1951 at 17 degrees. Temperatures should warm up on Sunday, said the NWS, with decreasing clouds and highs in the lower 40s.

STATE

Snow, freezing rain and sleet coated El Paso and much the Texas Panhandle Friday as residents in the Dallas area began repairing their tornadoravaged neighborhoods.

The freak storm that hit Mesquite, Garland and a five-county area around Dallas without warning Thursday morning did an estimated $6 million in damage, wrecking as many as 950 homes along its 65-mile path and injuring Forecasters were predicting more bad weather for much of the state. Snow blanketed far North Texas around Dalhart by Friday afternoon and the forecast called for up to eight more inches overnight.

In Abilene, crews were trying to keep a 550-foot televison tower from toppling. Ken Knox, station manager for KRBC-TV, said the tower may have been damaged by wind or ice.

Meanwhile, an insurance industry spokesman said damages were expected to top $6 million in Dallas, Ellis and Collin counties, areas hit hard by Thursday's sudden storm.

Area hospitals reported six people still hospitalized Friday, including one in critical condition and two in serious condition. NATION

More snow fell Friday from central Arizona and southeastern Utah across much of New Mexico, while snow and freezing rain were scattered across the Plains to the Great Lakes.

A winter storm warning was in effect for New Mexico's central mountain chain and a travelers' advisory was issued for the remainder of the state.

Most roads in the state were snowpacked and icy, and parts of several highways were closed. Travelers' advisories also were continued for east-central and southeastern Arizona and southeastern Utah because of icy roads and lingering snow showers. Six inches of snow fell from midnight to midday in Utah's Monument Valley Travelers' advisories also were posted for all of northwestern Texas. where rain mixed with freezing rain and sleet caused very slick roads. Up to a half-inch of ice covered the ground over some areas of the Panhandle

A winter storm watch was posted into the night over northwestern and southwestern Texas with 2 to 4 inches of snow possible. Freezing rain and sleet also were scattered over parts of Oklahoma, southern Kansas and northwestern Arkansas. Snow also fell over parts of the upper Mississippi Valley and Michigan.

Travelers' advisories were posted from southeastern Minnesota across the northern two-thirds of Wisconsin and much of Michigan, warning that 2 to 4 more inches of snow was possible. Elsewhere, a travelers' advisory was issued for western and central New York state, where a mixture of rain, freezing rain, sleet and snow combined to create hazardous driving conditions. Rainshowers also were scattered from the upper Ohio Valley to southern New England. Weather elsewhere

School failure rate of Latinos 'crisis,' report says

Los Angeles Times-Washington Post News Service

The school failure rate among Latinos is "staggering," foreboding "a crisis of major proportions" in areas where Latinos constitute a large proportion of the population, said a recently released national report.

About 45 percent of Mexican-Americans and Puerto Ricans who enter public high schools never finish, the report said, compared to 17 percent for Anglo students.

About 40 percent of all Latino students who leave school do so before the 10th grade, and few of those who leave ever return, the report said. Moreover, many of those who stay are low-achievers who get confined to the general and vocational tracks in high school.

Students said that teachers and counselors in those schools took a special interest in their success and welfare. "The most successful schools for Hispanics were those that had strong, enduring links to the communities they served and (they) encouraged - indeed Instead, the report contends that required - that parents become Latino children need a core curricu- partners in teaching and learning."

In the huge Los Angeles school district, 52 percent of the students are Latino. The district also has some of the nation's largest and most overcrowded public schools, most of which are in the neighborhoods with the highest percentage of Latino children.

"These very large inner-city schools may be economically effective, but they are not effective for students," Oppenheimer-Nicolau said. "We believe they need to take practical steps to break these up into smaller units so (students) will have more of feeling of belonging."

GORI, U.S.S.R. (AP) - A 30-foothigh statue stands outside the Communist Party offices of this Soviet Georgian town. There is no identifying inscription, but everyone recognizes the man whose somber features stare across the plaza. This is where he was born.

The granite statue, and a nearby museum, are believed to be the only official monuments left in the Soviet Union to Josef V. Stalin.

Elsewhere in the nation, the government and the party have succeeded in removing virtually all traces of the autocrat who once held power of life and death over millions of people.

For mass consumption, Stalin may be presented only as the World War II commander-in-chief. But Stalin has not been forgotten by Soviet society. And the ambivalent feelings evoked by the memory of a man who is at once a symbol of revulsion and fear and an object of nostalgia and admiration are illustrated nowhere better than in Gori, where Stalin was born in 1879 as losif Visarionovich Dzhugashvili. He later took the name Stalin, which means man of steel, as his revolutionary nom de guerre.

The statue in Stalin Square on Stalin Sreet is adorned with bunches of flowers. Across the street, a department store sells laquered, plywood portraits of a benign-looking Stalin lighting his pipe, for 24 rubles ($30 at the official exchange rate).

Outside the enshrined cottage where Stalin was born, an old man sells blurry photographs of Stalin to passersbys, slipping them back into his briefcase when a foreigner approaches.

Inside the Moorish-style Stalin edited to emphasize the revolutionary years and his role in "the great patriotic war" against Germany

There is no mention of the purges, bloody collectivization and other 'excesses" believed to have cost tens of millions of lives, nor of the personality cult that once was the law of the land.

We realize he made some errors," said a woman in her 50s, using the euphemism applied to the Stalin purges. "But the work he did for our country is still respected." Before he died in 1953 and for three years after, Stalin's face stared from portraits, statues and billboards across the land.

But, beginning with Nikita S. Khrushchev's denunciation of Stalin in 1956, the Soviet Union entered a period of de-Stalinization.

Towns named after him were renamed, as were most Stalin streets and Stalin factories. The portraits and billboards were taken down, often replaced with Lenin's visage, and Stalin's name was removed from a verse in the national anthem.

In 1961, Stalin's body was taken from the Red Square mausoleum where it had lain beside Lenin's since 1953.

Eventually, Stalin's entry in the Great Soviet Encyclopedia was cut from four pages to 11/2 and edited to include Lenin's famous warning that Stalin might not be the right choice as successor.

The encyclopedia's full-page portrait of Stalin has been replaced by a diagram of the World War II battle of Stalingrad, now called Volgograd and referred to by its former name only in war history.

But editing the encyclopedia and other books could not erase the strong feelings of Soviets toward

Stalin. The removal of his name from Soviet life therefore has not been as total as with his assassinated rival. Leon Trotsky, or his toppled successor, Khrushchev. A weathered, yellowing picture of Stalin can often be seen in truck or taxi windows. Small mementos, like a gear-shift knob with Stalin's picture embossed on it, are highly prized.

Traces of Stalin's rule remain in seven massive skyscrapers in Moscow known as "Stalin's wedding Soviet Georgia.

For the urban apartment dweller, rent for a parking space ranges from $43 per month in the Tokyo suburbs to $130 in fashionable inner-city areas, said Hideki Tanaka, of the Japan Automobile Federation, a group modeled on the American

Then there is the price of gasoline and tolls

Most Japanese cars get 31 to 40 miles per gallon, according to Takanori Sonoda, a spokesman for the Honda Motor Co. But the current price of gas in Tokyo is about $2.50 per gallon.

Sonoda said he is well aware of toll expenses because he often drives to his wife's hometown of Hamamatsu, 120 miles southwest of Tokyo. "On a trip outside of Tokyo we usually figure the tolls will just about equal the gas," he said. "On our trip to Hamamatsu, for example, the tolls are $13, and the gas is about that much, too."

Tokyo itself is crisscrossed by an intercity expressway — for those willing to pay the $1.75 and sit in the frequent traffic jams.

Noriko Haneda, an employee at Nissan's Tokyo headquarters, is the proud owner of a Nissan "Sunny," which costs about $5,000 and is one of the most popular models in Japan. But Ms. Haneda usually takes a train to work. "In Tokyo and Osaka, commuting is best done by mass transportation," she said. "You can be sure what time you will reach your destination.'

Ms. Haneda recalled how, after she returned from a year in upstate New York and entered college, she and her classmates put a driver's license on their must list, and worked part time to pay for it. She and her college friends saw their driver's licenses as "badges of independence." "Somehow, if a guy said he wasn't interested in getting a license, girls just weren't interested in going out with him," she recalled.

Investigators mystified by plane crash

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) - Federal officials say they are mystified about the cause of Thursday night's fatal crash of a single-engine airplane which wrecked on its landing approach to Greater Cincinnati International Airport.

The crash in a wooded ravine about a mile from the airport's Runway 36 killed Maria Martin, 43, of the Cincinnati suburb of Madeira. Injured were Al Martens, 45, of Terrell, Texas, and Ray Adams, 39, of Mack, Ohio, another Cincinnati sub-

Officials at the northern Kentucky airport, which is across the Ohio River from Cincinnati, said Friday that nothing appeared to be wrong with the six-seat, single engine Cherokee plane until it plunged from controllers' radar screens at about 6:35 p.m. CST. The skies were overcast, but visibility was approximately 11/2 miles, airport spokesman Ted Bushelman said.

'He was on final approach. He was lining up with the runway, coming straight into the runway," said Hank Merrick, assistant air traffic manager. "I don't know what happened. It's a mystery, really.

There was no indication from the pilot that the flight was anything other than normal operation."

The National Transportation Safety Board is investigating the crash, with assistance from the Federal Aviation Administration. NTSB investigator Preston Hicks was dispatched to the scene as chief investigator, FAA spokesman Jack Barker

Martens and Adams were taken to Booth Memorial Hospital in Florence. Adams was later transferred to the University of Cincinnati Medical Center, where he underwent surgery for chest and head injuries and was reported in critical condition.

Martens was reported in serious condition with multiple fractures and lacerations.

Authorities say there's little chance of second gas leak

BHOPAL, India (AP) - Authorities deployed paramilitary troops in the streets of Bhopal on Friday and tried to reassure the steady stream of departing citizens that there is little risk of a second deadly gas leak when the Union Carbide pesticide plant is restarted.

O.P. Mehra, a Madhya Pradesh state government spokesman, esti-mated at least 70,000 people have fled this central Indian city since it was announced Wednesday that production would resume Sunday in order to rid the plant of deadly methyl isocyanate. The United News of India reported 200,000 people had left the city of 900,000.

Gas leaked from an underground storage tank at the U.S.-based company's plant Dec. 3, killing more than 2,000 people and injuring an estimated 60,000. Many people were blinded. Scientists decided the safest way to dispose of the remaining chemical is to process into the pesticides it was intended for.

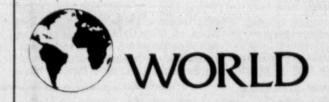

Despite official assurances about safety, frightened residents spurned government-run refugee camps in the city and left by bus, train and foot. Patients left hospitals and many police failed to report to any possibility of any fresh leakage of this gas occurring," a city government statement said.

Although Bhopal's train and bus stations were jammed with departing residents Friday, and the huge slum nearest the Union Carbide plant was deserted, officials said only 550 people had gone to government-run refugee camps. Most peo-ple said they would only feel safe farther away.

Officials said Wednesday it might be necessary to evacuate 125,000 people living near the plant during the four or five days it will take to convert the remaining toxic gas. No evacuation order has been issued, although refugee camps have been established in schools, sporting areas and public buildings to accommodate 50,000 people.

There are not any crowds waiting (to go to the camps). There isn't much rush right now," said Lakshmi Narayan, a state registrar.

The people are running away from Bhopal even though they are still suffering from respiratory problems," said a doctor who spoke on condition he not be identified. They do not want to go to the camps. They have no faith in the government.

Government officials said 2,000

paramilitary troops were instructed to keep order in Bhopal. The army was standing by and could be called in if needed, authorities said.

UNI reported three air force helicopters equipped with water tanks were being readied. During processing of the gas, the news agency said, the choppers will spray the plant with water — apparently to combat any gas cloud that might

The news agency also reported that two officials of Union Carbide India Ltd. were released on bail Friday.Chairman Keshub Mahindra and managing director V.P. Gokhale each posted $7,500 bail, the news agency said.

The men have been held since their Dec. 7 arrest on charges of criminal liability in connection with the gas leak. Also arrested then was Warren Anderson, chairman of U.S.based Union Carbide Corp. He was released that same day on $2,000

Indian scientists, meanwhile, reported they found no trace of toxic chemicals in vegetables collected around the plant. The scientists said their tests of blood and tissue samples from those exposed indicated the gas caused no genetic

Alaskan has good rapport with bears

By DEAN FOSDICK Associated Press Writer

ADMIRALTY ISLAND, Alaska -In an area of the world where Alaska brown bears outnumber humans four to one, Stan Price borrows a page on relationships from Teddy Roosevelt. He speaks softly and carries a big stick.

Price, 84, says he owns a few rifles, but doesn't believe in gunpowder diplomacy when dealing with great brown bears. Instead, to maintain his place in the pecking order, Price whacks them on the nose occasionally with his walking stick. "You've got to use the stick and show them who's boss," Price says. Don't run away from them. They'll follow you. "Their nose is a sensitive area," he says. "It hurts when you hit them there. That's unlike their fist-sized brain, which is awfully difficult to find with a bullet.

The Admiralty Island browns are the same species as Alaska grizzlies, making them the largest and most feared carnivores in North America. Adult males can weigh more than 1.200 pounds and reach up to nine feet when standing on their hind

Price's "big stick policy" has served him well in his encounters with the unpredictable bears over the past 32 years.

"I've had my battles with them but my stick has saved me," he says. "They can't see too well so their first impulse is to hear something and charge. They'll swat you like a cat.

"I had a collarbone broken once," he says. "That was from a bear I thought I recognized but didn't. I hit her with the stick and she hit me

Price contends that a little conversation goes a long way during an encounter.

"I don't say anything special. When you've got a bear six or eight or 10 feet away, you don't know what you're saying," Price says. "But you've got to say something to them. It calms their nerves. Mine, too."

Price came to Alaska in 1922, as an electrical engineer for Westinghouse Corp. He drifted from fixing hydroelectric generators to fox farming, then into the timber business and finall tried his hand at gold

Price and his late wife, Edna May, retired to a large spruce log float house near Windfall Harbor on Admiralty Island in 1952. A short time later he began a new career as godfather to what has become a colony of up to 31 bears.

There were no bears in here then," Price says. "I raised them as cubs over the years when their mothers were shot, or when they were abandoned

Those cubs grew up and had cubs of their own and pretty soon I had several generations of bears. There you're not going to hurt them.

Stan Price

Except for the bears, Sitka deer and a shortwave radio. Price is alone in his converted logging bunkhouse on Admiralty Island, a million-acre area that was designated a National Monument in 1978 and a Wilderness

Although the nearest neighbors are about 40 miles and a mountain range away in the village of Angoon, Price doesn't go without company. His guestbook has grown by 350 signatures in the past two months. Some tourists came from Australia and Japan.

Price, described as a contemporary "Grizzly Adams" or latter-day Thoreau, has gained a worldwide reputation for his unique relationship with brown bears.

Some of that recognition comes from films he has taken of the bears and shown during swings through the West and Southwest. Some of it is the result of magazine stories and network television appearances.

People arrive daily by boat or by float plane from Juneau, about a 20minute flight to the north.

They watch - generally from a distance - as the huge but quick bears romp through nearby Pack Creek, which attracts three varieties of spawning salmon during the sum-

In July and August, bears eat little but salmon. They splash through the stream to capture a wiggling fish.

Price is concerned about the people who wander through what now is the Pack Creek Bear Refuge, most of it tidal flats surrounding the meandering stream.

"I don't favor them going into the woods," he says. "They're pressing their luck. A bear's first impulse on a narrow trail is to charge. But bears can get used to anything if they find

Town has major collection of miners' artifacts

By PATTIE MIHALIK

LEHIGHTON, Pa. (AP) -Memories are being stirred for for-mer miners and their families at the Carbon County Tourist Promotion Agency in Jim Thorpe, where a unique collection of mining memo-rabilia is on exhibit.

The collection, which is being housed in a special alcove at the tourist agency, is also drawing considerable interest from scholars and tourists all over the country because of the rarity of some of the mining equipment.

Most of the old mining articles on display, some of which date back to the pioneer days of the industry, were used by former Panther Valley miners. Because anthracite mining first began in the Panther Valley area in 1819, and because one Lansford man cared about preserving the heritage of the anthracite miner. the exhibit includes some pieces which are not seen in even major

Most of the mining memorabilia is from the extensive collection of Jack Yalch, a well-known Lansford man who serves as feature editor of the Times News. Although he never worked in the mines except as a volunteer tour guide, Yalch has a special affection for mining history and has made it a labor of love to preserve that history.

Yalch's personal collection of mining artifacts includes hundreds of articles, many of them dating back to the 1880s.

"Collecting mining articles is not a business with me, it's strictly a fun thing," said Yalch, who stresses he "never bought a single article and will never sell a single article." Most of the items in his collection were given to him by Panther Valley miners or their families.

The collection really started by accident," he said. It was around 1960 when Frank Sokol, a former miner and neighbor of Yalch's, decided to throw his old miner's helmet away because the mines were closed and he figured it was no

T'll take it if you don't want it," Yalch said, not realizing at the time that the miner's helmet that so attracted him would also spur him on to cultivate one of the most prized collections of mining memorabilia in the country.

"That cap really lit the fuse for me. It made me realize that virtually nobody was collecting these things which were so much a part of min-ing history," said Yalch, who has turned down many lucrative offers to sell pieces of his collection.

"For most kids who grew up like me in a mining town, the collieries became a sort of playground. For me, they also were always a fascina-tion. Collecting miner's things just seemed like something natural for me to do," he said.

By the end of 1960, the Panther Valley mines had been closed, except for Lanscoal.

Two of the most prized articles in Yalch's collection are a mule mask mining treasures for his growing collection.

"When people found out I was colfound them when he was in grade school playing near the old No.6 mule stable. These items are so rare that it's hard to even find a picture of them, much less the real thing,'

Algerian president purging opponents

By JOELLE STOLZ

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — President Chadli Bendjedid has embarked on a purge of what he calls "obstructive and parasitic elements" at all levels of the North African nation's bureaucracy and state-run industry.

He has told top officials of his
National Liberation Front, Algeria's only legal political party, he intends to weed out all those who actively or passively obstruct the reforms he has tried to impose in the past five

The warning was clearly addressed to Bendjedid's leftist opponents at home, although his foreign policy has recently moved closer than ever toward Syria and the Soviet Union.

Bendjedid, formerly an army colo-nel in command of the Oran military region, was installed by the army five years ago as successor to the late President Houari Boumedienne.

Since taking power, Bendjedid has gradually dismantled some of the hardline socialist policies of his predecessor

The most prominent Boumedienne followers opposing Bendjedid's reforms were purged two years ago. But a clandestine opposition, accusing Bendjedid of betraying Boumedienne's heritage, continued at lower levels. The new purge apparently will reach into the lower ranks of the state and party

In the published portions of his address to party leaders Sept. 22, Bendjedid proclaimed his loyalty to Algeria's "people's revolution," but omitted any reference to Boume-dienne's "socialist revolution," the keystone of the official ideology for nearly two decades.

Bendjedid radically transformed Algeria's Soviet-style, state-monopoly economy — which systematically favored heavy industry at the expense of agriculture — into a system of rewards and incentives.

A limited form of private enter-prise is encouraged, provided it cre-ates employment or reduces costly imports of capital goods. The state monopolies, which have been decentralized and given greater autonomy, are now expected to operate at a profit instead of relying on subsi-

Bendjedid has also insisted on greater attention to the needs of the population, long sacrificed to the demands of the state industries. Yet Algeria still has a 15-year backlog in housing, public transport and other consumer needs.

Bendjedid and his Western-educated prime minister, Abdelhamid Brahimi, have spearheaded the economic reforms while trying to 'soften" the political system. Yet there is no question of abandoning the one-party system and returning, as in neighboring Tunisia, to a multi-party democracy.

The National Liberation Front now plays an ever-greater role in decision-making. The president has embarked on a campaign to enlist the younger age groups into the party as potential successors to aging veterans of the struggle for independence from France.

Wildlife dwindle despite laws to protect them

By KENNETH L. WHITING

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) Although protected by law, exotic species of wildlife are dwindling in number across Indonesia, victims of poachers and illegal hunters. But Komodo dragons, although there are only about 2,500 of them, appear to have a brighter future, partly because they're cantankerous.

Komodo dragons - to Indonesia what the panda is to China and the koala bear to Australia - actually are giant lizards found only on Komodo Island between the Sumbawa and Flores island groups 1,120 miles southeast of Jakarta. They grow almost 10 feet long, can run as fast as a dog and are cranky as a

Not so lucky are such species as sea cows, Bali starlings, green turtles, elephants, rhinoceros and rusa deer. Some experts think the Bali tiger is now extinct.

Discovered in 1912, the Komodo dragon created a sensation when the first specimens were sent to the United States and Europe. Since they are totally fearless and active by day, they are sought by zookeepers as ideal exhibits. The Indonesian government makes gifts of them to distinguished visitors as a special expression of friendship.

Pigs and deer provide most of their meals, although there are verified accounts of attacks on humans by these descendants of a prehistoric family of reptiles.

The remoteness of Komodo Island helps in their preservation as a species but so does their aggressive nature, which intimidates would-be

The Komodo dragon has been protected by law since 1931, a status enjoyed by other rare wildlife in Indonesia that doesn't seem to slow their slide toward extinction.

Sea cows, called dugongs, are being killed at a rate of 1,000 a year despite a government decree protecting them, according to a 1983 survey by Alain Compost of the Green Indonesian Foundation.

Dugongs are thought to have inspired early accounts of the myth-ical mermaid. They are hunted for meat and for their "tusks" or incisors which can grow to about eight inches. The teeth are cut, polished and turned into cigarette holders.

Compost found that young dugongs, easily taken alive after their mothers are harpooned, are kept for their tears which are collected drop by drop and sold in small bottles to those who believe the liquid will bring good luck, prosperity and sexual success.

Wildlife has been under heavy pressure on the resort island of Bali. The official Antara News Agency has quoted expert opinion as saying the royal Bali tiger (Panthera tigris balica) is now totally extinct.

Only about 200 Bali starlings, the only bird native to the island, are left. Conservationists said these and the rusa deer, wild pigs and 65 other species of birds are protected by law but the protection may have come

Still not fully protected by law is the green turtle (Chelonia mydas), one of five species of turtle in Indonesia and — with the Komodo dragon — one of the archipelago's two indigenous reptiles.

Green turtle is a special dish at religious and festive occasions on Bali and expensive fare in tourist hotel dining rooms. More than 20,000 green turtles have been killed round Bali in each of the last four years, according to local records.

The turtles not only serve as food but their hard shell is used for decorative purposes.

Scots clutter state playoff path of Mojo

By BOB BRUNDAGE Sports Writer

ODESSA — Many in West Texas feel the Odessa Permian Panthers faced their toughest and most dangerous foe of the Class 5A playoffs when they played and defeated Midland Lee 15-14 last Saturday at Jones Stadium.

Nobody doubts that Lee is the toughest team Permian has faced to date. Look at how long the Rebels had Permian on the ropes in the quarterfinal match, leading 14-9 going into the fourth quarter but unable to land the knockout blow. Look at all the blowouts each team compiled before they met each

Even though he too believes in the toughness of the Lee Rebels, Permian coach John Wilkins doesn't want his players believing the road to the team's fourth state championship in 25 years is clear of obstruction. He also has a lot of respect for today's 2 p.m. opponent at Ratliff Stadium: The Highland Park Scots.

"It will be an exciting football game between two teams that are pretty evenly matched in several respects," said Wilkins. "Just like last week (against Lee) it could come down to turnovers, the kicking game

IN PAST years, Highland Park has given Permian some trouble, holding the longest drive against Mojo's defense in the 1980s until Lee went 99 yards for a score in the quarterfinal game

"Highland park drove 98 yards on us in 1980 but didn't score," said Wil-

"I remember that," said Highland Park coach Frank Bevers. "It was on our first or second drive. It was kind of a letdown for the team not to get the score. They stopped us cold on the six-inch line.

Holding the Scots on that stand was a key to Permian's 21-3 victory in 1980 and helped the Panthers on their way to their third and most recent state championship.

Permian, which has gained a playoff berth in 15 of its 25 years with championships coming in '65, '72 and '80, isn't the only team with a rich playoff tradition. The Scots have been in the playoffs for five straight years and seven of the past nine. They won state titles in 1957 and

WILKINS COMPARED this year's Highland Park team to the one the Scots fielded four years ago and remembers a lot of similarities.

'They're about the same as they were in 1980, big and strong off the line with a good quarterback," said Wilkins. "They're very quick and aggressive on defense and probably are better than they were in 1980.

They run the veer attack and have been doing what they're doing for a long time. They like to run the dive and the keep option off of it. On defense they run the 6-1, kind of Cowboy-type thing with the linebackers standing up outside."

Bevers took a different stand on comparing the '80 and '84 squads saying, "There's a lot of difference. There were eight major college prospects on that ball club. On this one we have one. We had a lot of quickness then and have zero quickness now. But, these guys hang in there pretty good.

Since he doesn't consider his team blessed with speed. Bevers pointed out that, though the Panthers have some long-range threats, they don't have the blazing speed that Lee had in its backfield.

"Thank goodness for that," said Bevers. "If Permian had speed like Lee's Tyrone Thurman and Walter lones I'm not sure anybody could line up against them. It would be too

We've got some pretty quick players but its hard for them to run. They throw their bodies around a lot. They have a lot of fire, never

Highland Park is average as far as size goes in the backfield but have a front line that goes 195, 230, 230, 225, 225, 220 in weight, outsizing the Panper man. That line is a concern for

"I think the key for us to stop them is a couple of things," said Wilkins. "One is not letting them control the line of scrimmage which is a lot easier said than done. The other is control their quarterback (John Stollenworck, 195, Sr.). He has the habit of coming up with the big plays, converting third downs. He can keep the ball or throw it.

"Highland Park has two good receivers, their flanker (Wayne Clements, 165, Sr.) and tight end (Clark Kennington, 195, Jr.). They have quick running backs (Glen Waters, 185, Jr., James Knoll, 165, Sr.) who probably have around 800 yards apiece so they divide it up pretty evenly.

'We've got to try and beat them at the point of contact and we hope to do what we've been doing well all year, mix up the pass and run.'

The passing game for both teams is on Bevers' mind. "Ours isn't any-thing like Permians," he said. "We might have scored five or six touchdowns all year throwing the football. Alton Holloway (Permian QB, 165, Sr.) has thrown twice that many to Greg Anderson (Permian split end, 155, Jr.) alone.

A lot of Permian's TD passes have come from long distance, the type of threat Highland Park hasn't had this year, being more of a four and five yards per play team.

"If we got one (TD from long range) I'd probably have a heart attack," said Bevers.

THE ROUTE each team took to today's semifinal game is about as different as North and South... Permian played a perfect season in claiming the District 4-5A title with Lee, 9-1 (now out of the playoffs at 12-2), as the only threat to their dominance.

After district the Panthers' path, if anything, got easier as the they rolled Amarillo Palo Duro, 41-21, El Paso Austin 56-0 and Euless Trinity 34-0 before facing Lee and winning

For Highland Park it's been a season of struggle, ending District 9-5A play in a three-way tie for first before losing the champion role on a coin flip.

In the playoffs the Scots had tough fights from Game One, beating Dallas Roosevelt 9-0, Plano 17-7, Bryan 14-13 and Conroe 17-16 for their 12-2 record. The road to state is through each other with the winner facing the survivor of the Beaumont French (10-4)-San Antonio Madison (13-1)

pleted eight straight passes, two of them for touchdowns, in an early hot streak which carried San Francisco to a 19-16 victory over the Los Angeles Rams Friday night and made the 49ers the first team in National Football League history to win 15 regular season games

The 49ers, who ended their 15-1 season with a nine-game winning streak, had little offensive success after the first period, in which they built

But the San Francisco defense held Eric Dickerson, the Rams' record-breaking running back, to only 98 yards. Dickerson, who finished the season with an NFL-record 2,105 yards, sat out most of the last quarter.

Los Angeles, 10-6, could have clinched a National Conference wild-card playoff berth by winning. Now they have to await the outcome of other weekend games to see if they'll qualify. The Dallas Cowboys are one team to benefit.

Dallas can now gain the playoffs with a victory over the Miami Dolphins Monday night. Barry Redden, playing in Dickerson's place, powered for big running yardage in a late Rams' drive which fizzled at the 49ers' 24-yard line. Mike Lansford kicked his third field goal of the night with 3:43 left in the game. The Rams got the ball back with 1:49 remaining and quarterback Jeff Kemp was sacked by the 49ers' Gary Johnson in the end zone for a safety Montana's touchdown passes, making his season total a career-high 28, went 47 yards to Freddie Solomon and one yard to tight end Earl Coo-

The 49ers' Dwaine Board recovered a fumble by Dickerson at the Los Angeles 17-yard line late in the first period. A Montana TD pass to Wendell Tyler was nullified by a penalty, but Ray Wersching gave San Francisco a 17-3 lead by kicking a 38-yard field goal in the opening minute of the second quarter.

Dickerson was held to 19 yards on seven carries in the first quarter, but he had 95 by halftime and ran four yards in the second period for his 14th touchdown of the season.

Lansford, who kicked a 41-yard field goal in the first period, booted a 28-yarder on the final play NFC's wild-card game on Dec. 23. of the first half, cutting the 49ers' lead to 17-13. Another field goal attempt, from 30 yards, was Pillers in the second period.

In the scoreless third period, Dickerson carried the ball four times, was thrown for losses twice, and showed only one net yard gained. He gained four yards early in the final period to reach 100 for the game, but then lost two yards on his ast carry of the night.

Last Sunday Dickerson broke the single-season

The 49ers' defense put very little pressure on Kemp until the closing minute of play. The Los grounding of the ball when he threw it away rather than get sacked on a play just before the period touchdown, with Kemp hitting speedster Ron Brown on a pass which gained 34 of the yards. Dickerson ripped off runs of 15 and 11 vards on the drive, and Mike Guman made a key play by recovering a fumble by teammate Dick-Los Angeles moved 54 yards to the San Fran-

The Rams drove 69 yards for their second-cisco six-yard line just before halftime, but an offside penalty by tackle Bill Bain shoved the Rams back to the 11, and Lansford kicked a field goal after Dickerson was stopped for no gain on a third-down run.

Wersching, who missed a 48-yard field goal attempt in the third period, went into the final weekend of the regular season as the NFL scoring leader, with 126 points, and added five to make his season total a club-record 131.

In a game today, the New Orleans Saints visit the New York Giants. The Giants could have clinched a National Conference wild-card playoff berth with a victory had the Los Angeles Rams beaten San Francisco on Friday night but the 49ers won 19-16. The Giants still can make the playoffs - win or lose today - if St. Louis and Dallas each loses its final game. And if either the Cardinals or Cowboys lose, the Rams will get the other playoff berth and will play host to the

The Seattle Seahawks and Denver Broncos would like to take next weekend off. One of them blocked by San Francisco lineman Lawrence will. The other will have the pleasure of entertaining — or fending off — the National Football League's defending Super Bowl champions in a

The winner will win the division championship, rushing mark of 2,003 yards set by O.J. Simpson a first round bye in the playoffs and a home game for the second round, the Dec. 29-30 divisional playoffs.

The loser will settle for second place, a wild-Angeles quarterback was called for intentional card playoff berth and the role of host on Sunday, Dec. 23, against the Los Angeles Raiders, this year's other AFC wild-card team.

Something worth noting: only one wild-card team has won the National Football League championship - the Raiders, who won Super Bowl XV, when they called Oakland their home. Sunday, it's St. Louis at Washington, Pittsburgh at the Raiders, Buffalo at Cincinnati, Chicago at Detroit, Cleveland at Houston, Indianapolis at lew England, Green Bay at Minnesota, the New York Jets at Tampa Bay, Kansas City at San Diego and Philadelphia at Atlanta. Monday night, The game in the Kingdome is a rematch of the

The Seahawks, their eight-game winning streak broken 347 at Kansas City last Sunday, are the only NFL team unbeaten at home this season. "I think everybody likes to play at home," Chuck Knox, the Seattle coach, said. "But I don't think that in itself is going to decide the game. If we think that, we're going to be in for another afternoon like we had in Kansas City.

The winner of the Cardinals-Redskins game will be the NFC East champion.

BYU gives twist to No. 1 squabble

"I do not think that you are a very nice person," the letter, which The Associated Press received in December 1979, began.

You should not even be allowed to sit on the AP Pole (sic)," it continued. "Even Santa Claus should be mad at you. I hope on Christmas Eve that you have nightmares and all you can see is Roll Tide.

It is five years this month since anyone lost his temper over where his favorite college football team was ranked - and that happened AFTER Alabama slipped behind Ohio State in The AP's final regular-season poll, ending a seven-week stay at the top. Alabama did, however, regain its No. 1 ranking after the bowl games and, along with it, the national championship.

IT WAS AFTER the bowl games that Notre Dame won the 1977 national championship, trouncing No. 1 Texas 38-10 in the Cotton Bowl and vaulting from fifth place to No. 1, while Alabama routed Ohio State 35-6 in the Sugar Bowl but could do no better than climb from third to second.

Now there is a new twist to this familiar debate. The controversy is brewing BEFORE the bowl games - before Brigham Young becomes the first No. 1 team in the 49 years of the AP poll to play in a bowl other than the Rose, Cotton, Orange or Sugar.

The last time this much controversy arose before a bowl was 1966 when 11-0 Alabama finished third behind Notre Dame AND Michigan State, both 9-0-1. At least then the national champion was decided on the basis of the regular season, a system that was changed for good two years later.

And this year the debate is not just who

Some members of the college football community seem upset over Brigham Young's should be No. 1, but what makes a No. 1.

Sports Analysis

lofty status even though the 12-0 Cougars are the nation's only undefeated team.

An ABC-TV telephone poll on Dec. 1 attracted 191,336 callers who thought BYU should not be No. 1 as opposed to 166,590 who thought the Cougars should. And the New York Times' computer rankings lists BYU no better than No. 20.

AND THEN there is the Orange Bowl. "Brigham Young's opponents as a group have a losing record; how can a team like that be the national champion?" said Nick Crane. chairman of the team selection committee. 'As far as the Orange Bowl is concerned, we think ours is a national championship game (between No. 2 Oklahoma and No. 4 Washing-

"I think it's fun," replied John Reid, executive director of the Holiday Bowl, where BYU, as champion of the Western Athletic Conference for the ninth year in a row, will meet Michigan on Friday night. "It's creating a lot of attention for our game, and that's great. Being an advocate of the bowl system, the more argument and controversy you have over who's No. 1, the more interest you cre-

Controversy is nothing new where No. 1 is concerned. In the early 1930s, AP sports editor Alan J. Gould was a one-man college football poll. To cap the 1935 season, he ranked 8-0 Minnesota, 9-0 Princeton and 12-0 Southern Methodist as co-No. 1 teams.

"It created a storm in the Big Ten, in general, and Minneapolis-St. Paul, in particular," Gould recalled recently. "They thought theirs was the dominant team. There were some cases where agitated Minnesota followers wrote the general manager of AP telling him he should get rid of me because I couldn't tell one top team from another. There was one little town in Minnesota where they hung me

"It was," he added, "the kind of controversy I had in mind for the appeal of the

IN 1936, the AP began the poll business in earnest. "Opinions are like noses - everybody's got one," former Texas Coach Darrell Royal once

The opinions went against the WAC in 1975, the last time one of its teams completed a season unbeaten and untied. Arizona State, 12-0 following a 17-14 Fiesta Bowl victory over Nebraska, finished a distant second in the final rankings to 11-1 Oklahoma Had Arizona State been in the Pacific-10 Conference then - it switched allegiances in 1978 - it is likely the Sun Devils would have been voted No. 1 with a perfect record. 'Sure," concedes Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer.

For those who like to downgrade the caliber of BYU's opposition, it should be noted that included in the Cougars' 23-game winning streak - longest in the nation by far are such 1984 victims as Baylor, which beat Texas; Air Force, which has defeated Notre Dame each of the past three seasons; Wyoming, which beat Air Force, and San Diego State, which came within three points of Oklahoma State. Last year, the list contained

Rose Bowl champ UCLA. And in their string of six consecutive Holiday Bowls - this will be seven in a row - the Cougars have knocked off teams from the Big Eight (Missouri, 1983), Pac-10 (Washington State, 1982) and Southwest conferences

(Southern Methodist, 1980). "They do a tremendous job and they're a legitimate No. 1 — that's all," says Ron Meyer, coach of the SMU team that blew a 45-25 lead in the final four minutes of the 1980 Holiday

Bowl and lost 46-45. "What else does a team have to do? They throw it, they can play defense, they can put the ball in the end zone against anybody. They're sound — and they're a class, class operation. They've done it, and I don't care who it's been against. Some other people play some games against people who won't knock you dead."

The popular rap on BYU is that the Cougars don't play a Top Twenty team every week.

"I think they've got a heck of a football program, but the thing that's hard to evaluate is when you don't have to tee it up every week against the Ohio States, Michigans and Iowas," says Wisconsin Coach Dave McClain, a 28-3 regular-season victim in 1980.

They do as well with the passing game as anyone in the country and they're playing the best defense they've ever played. They might be legitimate. My biggest question is can they line up every week? Our last four games were against Ohio State, Iowa, Purdue and Michigan State, and they're all in bowl games.

On any given Saturday, BYU can line up and play with anybody in the country and beat them because of their passing game. I don't care if they play the San Francisco 49ers — they've got a chance to beat you. With the type of skills they've got, they have a chance to score a lot of points against you."

TEXAS CHRISTIAN, which went to the Sugar Bowl following the 1938 season, was the first No. 1-ranked team to play in a bowl game. For the entire decade of the 1940s, however, the No. 1 team stayed home. The Big Ten (Minnesota in 1940-41, Ohio State in 1942) didn't begin going to bowl games until the 1946 season, nor did Notre Dame (1943, 1946, 1947, 1949) or Army (1944-45) accept bowl bids in that era. Michigan in 1948 was a victim of the Big Ten's no-repeat Rose Bowl rule.

But starting with the 1950 season, the No. 1
team has gone bowling in all but five years.

Rangers' teams gain net finals

From Staff Reports

Both the Greenwood boys and girls are proving to be poor hosts at their own annual tournament this year as each advanced into tonight's championship game with winner's bracket victories.

In boy's action, the Rangers snuck by Iraan 45-44 and will face Denver City, 82-62 winners over Slaton, tonight at 8:30 p.m. Coahoma posted a 56-53 consolation victory over Reagan County and will meet Klondike, 96-46 winners over Midland Christian, for the consolation title. The Greenwood girls came away with a 56-40 victory over Crane and advanced into today's 7 p.m. championship game against Denver City which beat Lubbock Cooper 53-38. Ozona, 43-38 winner over Klondike, advanced in the consolation bracket where it will face Reagan County, a 41-38 winner over Coahoma. Play resumes today at 10 a.m. with games scheduled every hour and a half through the championship games.

Cowboys' Downs Church Schools irked over picks

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Cowboys safety Michael Downs felt a sense of outrage when he learned that despite six interceptions and a team-leading 93 solo tackles, he had not been selected to the National Football League Pro Bowl.

And so did his teammates, some of whom believe the Cowboys were snubbed by voters. Dallas had only three players selected to the National Football Conference team, and no start-

"It's quite obvious to me that people in the league don't like the Cowboys," said running back Tony Dorsett. "The voting this year was amazing. It really makes you think about it."

Downs said he was surprised that San Fran cisco's Carlton Williamson, a cornerback most of the season, made the team as a safety. The 49ers Ronnie Lott, injured for four games, and Dwight Hicks were selected at cornerback, even though both have played safety this year.

The three 49ers were selected despite the team's ranking 17th in pass defense in the league. "How can they select those guys?" Downs said.

Peter McNamara, Australia, and Leif Shiras, U.S., def. Craig Miller, Australia, and Danny Saltz, U.S., 62, tions, I had the quarterback traps (3½), and I led been more responsible with the way they voted, Downs said. "Some of the guys who made the team didn't even play most of the year. How fair

Doug Cosbie, Randy White and Bill Bates were the only Cowboys selected to the team — the

"I know why our guys aren't going to the Pro Bowl," fullback Ron Springs said. "Because the RENO. Nev (AP) — The odds from too much publicity. It's got to be something like upcoming National Football League that."

San Prancisco 6 over Los Angeles Munday shakes Wink

COLORADO CITY (AP) - Quarterback Dent Offutt scored two touchdowns, one on a 36-yard, fourth-and-six play late in the game, to give Munday a 19-13 victory over Wink in a Class A semifinal football game Friday night.

Offutt ran 1 yard for a touchdown in the third quarter and Ronnie Lawrance kicked the extra to tie the score at 13 in the third quarter.

Wink quarterack Travis Price ran 6 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter and then returned a punt 74 yards in the second quarter for Wink's

Todd Thompson ran 10 yards in the first quarter for Munday's first score. Munday will play the winner of Saturday's Flatonia-Union Hill next weekend for the Class A state championship. Panthers spill Sweeny

VICTORIA (AP) — The Medina Valley Panthers applied 48 minutes of sheer punishment Friday night for a 43-6 win over the Sweeny Bulldogs in Class 3A semifinal schoolboy football play.

That performance not only allowed Medina Valley to avenge last year's 7-3 loss, it also puts the 15-0 Panthers into the championship next week against Saturday's Daingerfield-Vernon winner

Sweeny, last season's 3A finalist, ends its season

Backed by the aggressive jolts of Bill Wood, Carlton Groff and Glenn Mangold, the Panthers ended all hopes of an effective ground game in holding the Bulldogs to 51 yards, while recovering two fumbles on punt returns.

Brett Simpson made an 18-yard touchdown pass to David McQuinn in the fourth quarter, but that came after six Medina Valley interceptions and a 29-0 output.

Groveton gains finals

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Groveton's Michael Horace scored on a 15-yard run with 3:59 left to defeat the East Bernard Brahmas 21-14 in Class 2A schoolboy semifinal play at Kyle Field

Groveton scored first on Horace's two-yard run early in the second quarter after Kenny Smith blocked a punt to put the ball at the East Bernard eight. The Brahmas came back with Dennis Calhoun scoring from six yards out to tie the game

With 6:52 left in the fourth, East Bernard's Calhoun ran for a two-yard touchdown to tie the game at 14-14. The Brahmas tried an on-sides kick that was picked up by Groveton and returned to the East Bernard 38.

'Dogs, Rebs fall in quarterfinals

From Staff Reports

SAN ANTONIO - After winning their first two games of the San Antonio Optimist Invitational Thursday and early Friday, the Midland Lee Rebels and Midland High Bulldogs were eliminated from further tournament competition Friday

The Rebels, 66-64 winners over San Antonio Marshall Thursday, went 2-0 in tournament play with a 61-50 win over San Antonio Fox Tech Saturday morning before being ousted by Houston Clear Lake, took a 15-14 first quarter lead and increased it to 33-27 at halftime. The Rebels upped their advantage to 51-38 after three quarters and cruised to the win in the final frame.

Brian Marczynski, who had 24 points Thursday, led the Rebs with 28 against Clear Lake while Derek Westbrook added 22.

In Friday's second game, Lee stayed close to Clear Lake in the first quarter, trailing by a 17-14 count before letting things slip away in the second and third. Lee fell behind 32-22 at the half and trailed 44-28 after three. Raymond Morney was the only Reb in double figures as Clear Lake's defense held Marczynski to six points and Westbrook to eight. Meanwhile, Clear Lake had doubledigit production from Kevin Steiner with 18 and Mitch Fogle with 14.

The Rebels return home with a 10-3 season record and will resume action Tuesday with a road game against Sweetwater.

THE MIDLAND High Bulldogs posted a 69-67 victory over San Antonio Clark Thursday on a Darrell Davis bucket in the final seven seconds of play

In Friday's first game MHS survived a second close scare, defeating

San Antonio Highlands, 57-56.

Davis led a three-man attack in the Dogs' victory with 17 points while Elvin Mackey and Matt Sears each added 12. MHS led Highlands by a 37-26 count at the half. In the quarterfinals, Midland High dropped a close decision to Bryan, 56-52, after fighting to a 26-26 deadlock at halftime. Once again it was Davis leading the way for MHS with 22 points while Mackey added 14.

For Bryan, Houston Williams was the top gun with 26 points and Gary Caldwell dropped in another 20.

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) - Firstround leaders Dan Pohl and Greg Powers and the equally unheralded duo of Phil Hancock and Ron Streck pushed the big names to the back Friday and moved into the lead after two rounds of the $450,000 Chrysler PGA Team Championship at Boca West.

Pohl and Powers, both non-winners on the PGA Tour, turned in a 9-under-par 63 Friday to improve to 20-under 128 for the tournament. Hancock and Streck, neither of whom has won a tour event since 1981, gained their share of the lead

Meanwhile, former PGA Championship winners Hal Sutton and Ray Floyd, co-leaders after the first round, dropped two shots behind the leaders with a second-round 65 for a two-day total of 126.

Calvin Peete, this year's winner of the Vardon Trophy for the best scoring average on the tour, and Lee Elder are next at 127, with defending champions Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller and the international team of Joey Sindelar and Japan's Tommy Nakajima at 128. Elder and Peete fired their second consecutive 64, while Nicklaus and Miller carded

All of the leaders except Nakajima-Sindelar played the 7,180-yard par-72 No.1 course, which is considered the more difficult of the two layouts used in the early rounds. Nakajima and Sindelar, after shoot ing a 62 on the harder course Thursday, could manage only a 66 on the 6,875-yard par-72 No.2 course.

Court, NCAA differ on Smith

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — State Judge Eugene Bryson ruled Friday evening that Bruce Smith, this year's Outland Trophy win-ner, cannot be barred by Independence Bowl officials from playing in the game against Air Force. But, after the ruling, the NCAA repeated their position that Smith is ineligible and that by allowing him to play, the Independence Bowl would risk the loss of its NCAA

Earlier in the day, Dr. Cecil Lloyd, the Independence Bowl president, said in a letter to local attorneys representing the NCAA that the bowl would comply with an NCAA order banning Smith's appearance in the post-season

The Independence Bowl values its position as an NCAA-approved bowl," the letter said. 'We assure you that no ineligible player, i.e., Bruce Smith, will be allowed to play. Lloyd said the game is too important to the city to let that occur. "They are the sanctioning body of this bowl, and we don't intend to lose the game over some violation of some rule or regulation," Lloyd

The NCAA said Smith is ineligible for the bowl as punishment for some illegal recruiting methods used by Tech in signing him. Lloyd had said after a Friday luncheon that he would wait until he received a letter from the NCAA before declaring Smith ineligible for the Virginia Tech-Air Force Academy matchup. Smith, a 6-foot-3, 290-pound defensive tackle, obtained a court order in Virginia allowing Tech to ignore the NCAA order and play Smith, but school president William Lavery yielded to the bowl at a news conference, saying he would

Sutcliffe ends free agent status

CHICAGO (AP) - Rick Sutcliffe, saying that had some unfinished business to take care of in 'winning it all" would be special in Chicago, signed a five-year contract with the Cubs Friday for an estimated $9.5 million that reportedly makes him the game's highest-paid pitcher.

The 1984 Cy Young winner, who led the Cubs to their first post-season appearance since 1945, dashed the hopes of three other teams - San Diego, Atlanta and Kansas City - by re-signing with the National League East division cham-

"I woke up this morning feeling like the world was off my shoulders," he said at a news conference. "It seemed for a while like this would go on

The right-hander was considered the top starter available after the free-agent draft and the bidding war for his services lasted six weeks. Sutcliffe said becoming baseball's best-paid pitcher was "not why I went through it all. It wasn't the most important thing. I might be the highest-paid this year, but it changes every year." He said the financial compensation offered by each of the four clubs bidding for him was "basically the same. But in response to a question, Sutcliffe admitted that after pitching the Cubs to within one game of the World Series last season, he felt he Chicago.

"I don't know if it was loyalty or what, but something happened here the last three months of the baseball season," Sutcliffe said. "They took a person who was spinning his wheels and the fans, the organization and especially the players behind me turned me around.

"I wanted the opportunity to play for the best club I could play for," he said, "and winning it all would be even more special if we do it here.

The Cubs now have re-signed free-agent pitchers Dennis Eckersley, Steve Trout, and Sutcliffe. Rick Reuschel also left the club via free agency, but Chicago has shown little interest in re-signing him. Still out of the Cubs' fold is free-agent reliever Tim Stoddard.

Still on the free agent market is pitcher Ed Whitson, who is expected to re-sign with San Diego or possibly join the New York Yankees. Free-agent reliever Bruce Sutter, formerly of St. Louis, signed with Atlanta last week for a sixyear contract worth an estimated $10.1 million.

The other major free agent still unsigned is Oakland's Dave Kingamn, who is still negotiating with the A's and at least two other American

Besides the three Chicago pitchers, the other major free agent signings have included Andre Thornton returning to Cleveland; Fred Lynn, Don Aase and Lee Lacy with Baltimore; and Cliff Johnson with Texas.

George Foster of the New York Mets is the game's highest-paid player, making $2.04 million er year, followed by Dave Winfield of the New York Yankees, $2.02 million; Mike Schmidt of Philadelphia, $1.91 million; Gary Carter of the Mets, $1.87 million; Rickey Henderson of the Yankees, $1.72 million; and Keith Hernandez of the Mets, $1.6 million.

Until Sutcliffe became the heart of the Chicago staff shortly after his arrival last June, Cub fans feared their early-season good fortunes were just prelude to another summer swoon. But the 6foot-7 pitcher proved the 1984 season was for real by registering 14 consecutive regular-season victories en route to 16 wins in a Chicago uniform.

Seven of those victories followed Cub defeats and two put an end to four-game losing streaks. His four-hit victory over New York on Sept. 8 relegated the Mets to East Division runners-up and about two weeks later, Sutcliffe hurled a two-hitter over the Pirates to clinch the division title, the first for the Cubs since 1945.

Julius Erving poured in a seasonhigh 32 points to lead Philadelphia to a win and end the Milwaukee: Bucks' homecourt winning streak at:

Philadelphia used a 10-2 run late in the fourth period to take control of the game. Moses Malone started the spurt with a baseline jumper with 5:37 left to play, and it ended on Maurice Cheeks' short jumper at 3:44 that gave the 76ers a 103-98 lead.

Milwaukee managed to cut the margin 106-104 on Terry Cumming s driving layup with 1:37 left, but the 76ers countered with five straight points from the free throw line to

The 76ers, who have won 11 of their last 13 games to improve to 1.8also got 22 points from Malorie and 16 from Andrew Toney.

Cummings fired in a season-high 37 to lead the Bucks 14-11, followed by Craig Hodges with 15 and Sidn ey Moncrief 12.

Kings 123, Nuggets 117

Forward Eddie Johnson scored 32 points to help Kansas City hand Denver its first home loss of the season. The game was tied at 94-94 after three quarters before Reggie Theus canned four free throws to give Kansas City a 110-104 lead with 5:47

The Nuggets, 15-8, pulled to wit nin two points at 119-117 but Don Buse's two free throws with 22 seconds left iced the victory for the Kings, 6-163.

The Nuggets started slow and trailed 12-6 early in the contest. Theus scored the Kings' first eight points, but the Nuggets responded with eight straight to take a 14-12 lead. Calvin Natt and Wayne Cooper supplied the eight.

The Nuggets' biggest laed in the first half came on Bill Hanzlik's fastbreak layup at 11:22, when he made

Johnson narrowed the gap to 54 52, but Natt's 21st first-half point helped Denver to a 63-58 halftime

Kansas City outscored Denver 22-5 in one stretch of the third period to take an 82-72 lead with 5:25 le.ft in the third. Cooper, who had 19 over points in the first quarter to lead the evening, slipped in six free throws to help Denver knot it tip at the end of the third period.

Assiociated Press

The 7th-ranked Southern Methodist Mustangs, stunned by an early Ida ho Vandal lead, turned 7-foot ceriter John Koncak loose Friday nig tht to put the upstarts in their pla ce in the opening round of the Da llas Morning News Basketball

"We just decided we had to start pl: aying tough inside," said SMU Co ach Dave Bliss after the Mustangs ov erpowered the smaller Vandals 90 -71 in Moody Coliseum.

John is not the most ballyhooed ceinter in the country, but he just keeps getting better," Bliss said. "He is able to do a lot more things physicially this season than he was last

Koncak scored eight field goals, three of them coming on thunderolus dunks, and finished with 19 to ti e for high-game honors with SMU's Carl Wright.

The game was won on the boards. S MU was just too forceful and wore uis down," Idaho Coach Bill Trumbo s aid. "Koncak is just so big you can't get the ball inside on them.

Trumbo added that "their outside shooters are also pretty good, and we just got beat with a big gun inside and a knife (Wright) on the outside." Koncak, a member of the U.S. Gold Medal Olympic team, had 10 rebounds and blocked two shots.

The only other Mustangs scoring in double figures were Moore with 12 points and reserve guard Johnny Fuller with 10.

Idaho, now 44 for the season, was paced by Spears' 18 points. Center Steve Ledesma scored 17 points and Frank Garza had 15. The undefeated Mustangs advanced their record to 5-0.

Texas A&M 76, Valparaiso 66 Sophomore Winston Crite scored 19 points to lead a balanced attack that carried Texas A&M to a victory College Roundup over Valparaiso in the AAA-Drake Classic basketball tournament.

Texas A&M (4-1) jumped to a 16-4 lead and was never in danger, even though Valparaiso (1-6) reduced a 27point deficit to eight late in the game. Todd Holloway added 13 points for the Aggies, Kenny Brown scored 12 and Don Marbury had 10. Larry Dougherty led Valparaiso with 16 points, 11 in the second half. Curtis Rias had 14 and Jeff Rekeweg added 12 for the Crusaders

A&M led 39-20 at halftime, then ran off ten straight points, including four by Brown, to build a 55-28 lead with 13 minuts left. The Aggies led three other times by 27 points, the last at 68-41 on Al Pulliam's tip-in ith 8:12 remaining.

Valparaiso came back with a nine point run to make it 68-50 and continued to whittle away at the lead in the closing minutes.

Virginia Tech 80, Iowa State 53 Power forward Perry Young rammed in a game-high 28 points as 11th-ranked Virginia Tech blasted Iowa State in the 19th Volunteer

Young, a 6-foot-5 senior, scored 18 of his points in the first half as the Hokies built a 34-28 lead en route to their fifth victory against no losses.

Iowa State, which fell to 5-2, was outscored 14-2 in the first five minutes of the second half when Hokie guard Al Young scored six of his 12 points for the game. The win was much easier than I thought it would be," Virginia Tech Coach Charles Moir said.

Guard Jeff Hornacek led Iowa the Cyclones' outstanding forward, was held to just 6 points.

"Our defense forced them to take some bad shots and Stevens just had a bad night. Give Perry Young

Virginia Tech outrebounded Iowa State 41-31. Bobby Beecher, Tech's 6-9 center, led all rebounders with eight. Perry Young grabbed seven for the Hokies while Hornacek led Iowa State's rebounders with six.

Indiana 80, Western Kentucky 57 Senior center Uwe Blab scored 21 of his career-high 29 points in the first half, sparking No. 16 Indiana to an rout of Western Kentucky in the 11th annual Indiana Classic.

The victory was the 300th for Coach Bob Knight in 14 seasons at Indiana. He became the youngest college coach with 400 victories earlier this month.

The 7-foot-2 Blab, virtually unchallenged inside, shot Indiana into a 47-21 halftime advantage and the Hill-toppers never pulled to within 20 points again. The Hoosiers took their biggest lead at 30 points 71-41 with about eight minutes to play and Knight had reserves finish the

Indiana, 42, started slowly as it missed its first three shots. But, Western Kentucky was unable to capitalize as it had three turnovers on its first four possessions. Blab, who made six of 11 shots from the field in the first half and hit all nine of his free throws, tied the game at 2.2 to start an eight-point Indiana spurt that put the Hoosiers ahead to Blab had six points and Marty Simmons four as the Hoosiers took an 18-9 advantage with a 10-2 spurt. Western Kentucky, plagued with 13 first-half turnovers, later saw Indiana score nine unanswered points to lead 33-17.

The Hoosiers were hot from the State with 14 points. Barry Stevens, field in the first half, connecting on six consecutive and nine of 10 shots at one point. For the half Indiana shot 58 percent, finding the range on 18 of 31 shots.

The Hilltoppers, meanwhile, shot

only 38 percent in the first half with a 11 of 29 performance.

Johnny Taylor came off the bench to lead the Hilltoppers, now 42, with

Arkansas 74, Baptist Coll. 55 Joe Kleine, Charles Balentine and William Mills scored 12 points each as Arkansas cruised to a victory over

Baptist College of South Carolina. Arkansas raised its record to 41, and will host Tulsa on Saturday in Little Rock, Ark. Tipoff is at 2:45

Baptist College fell to 5-4.

The Razorbacks broke open a seesaw game early by reeling off 10 straight points and eventually built up a 41-24 halftime lead.

Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton kept his starting five on the bench for most of the second half, resting them for Saturday's regionally tele-

At one point in the second half, the Razorbacks starting lineup consisted of four freshman and Mills, a sophomore transfer.

Oklahoma St. 62, San Diego, 52 Junior guard Mitch Jones came off the bench to score a career high 19 points and lead Oklahoma State over San Diego in the second round of the Dallas Morning News Basket-

Forward Anthony Reuss scored 20 points for the San Diego Toreros, who shot only 32 percent against the Cowboy's man-to-man defense

Jones put the Cowboy's ahead to stay, 27-26, when he stole the ball and made a three-point play with 4:45 remaining in the first half.

The Cowboys stretched their lead to 14 points, 57-43, with 4:36 left in

Study gives doctors insight into people's ability to smell to smell, to distinguish oranges from lemons or chocolate from cheese, decreases drastically with old age and could explain why many elderly people complain about their food,

4 P P Y

In the biggest study of smelling ever done, scientists at the University of Pennsylvania sniffed out a number of insights on the olfactory ability of Americans of all ages.

The study, published Friday in the journal Science, not only said it proved that the ability to smell and distinguish odors drops off with age, stage of life. The report on 1,955 people age 5 through 99 said researchers found that females generally are more accurate in identifying odors than males in each age group, and that the sense of smell declines less quickly in older women than men.

It also found that non-smokers outperformed smokers in every cat-

Dr. Richard L. Doty, director of Taste Research Center, said the smell function undoubtedly comprodies of smaller groups. This is the largest study of its kind, the first major use of a standardized test with the general population, and it clearly shows there is a relationship of smell to age," Doty said in a telephone interview.

Given these findings, it is not surprising that many elderly persons complain that their food lacks flavor," said the report.

Aside from influencing food the university's Clinical Smell and intake and nutrition, decreased

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ability but also that women have a more study helps resolve conflicting mises the ability of this expanding smell, to distinguish oranges from acute sense of smell than men at any results from numerous previous stuavoid life-threatening fires and gas leaks in the home," it added.

Researchers used a test developed at the center to check the smelling ability of 1,158 females and 797 males. Volunteers included university employees, residents of homes for the elderly, students, youngsters at summer camps and people at regional health fairs.

According to the report, the test consisted of four, 10-page booklets the size of business envelopes. Each page contained a scratch-and-sniff patch of aromas trapped in micro-scopic capsules that are released when rubbed.

The scents were selected and arranged to cover a variety of psychological classes of smells, such as good, foul and fruity, and so that they would not overwhelm the sensing cells located far back in the nasal cavity, Doty said. Subjects scratched each of the 40 pages and recorded what they smelled in the booklet. The aroma included such things as mentho peanuts, soap, lilacs, pine, cheddar cheese, pizza, onion, motor oil, rock.

beer and dill pickles.

The researchers found that both sexes performed at their peak between the ages of 30 and 60, and that there was a slight decrease in average performance from 60 through 80, after which smelling ability dropped sharply.

To make sure memory deficits did not affect the scores of elderly subjects, the researchers administered standardized memory tests to 47 older volunteers and found no sigenfficant correlation, the report said.

Michael Jackson tops hero poll

NEW YORK (AP) - Michael Jackson is the No. 1 hero of high school students from around the nation, according to results of the annual Heroes of Young America poll taken by the World

The poll of about 4,000 teenagers in 145 cities put another entertainer, Eddie Murphy, in second place. President Reagan was third.

The only other non-entertainers in the top 10 were basketball player Julius Erving, sixth, and Pope John Paul II, 10th, the publication said.

Kevin Bacon and Clint Eastwood were fourth and fifth, and Tom Cruise, Mr. T and Katharine Hepburn were seventh, eighth and ninth.

CALDWELL, Idaho (AP) - Dee Pickett, professional rodeo's new world all-around cowboy, says winning the title satisfied a goal he set for himself six years ago when he gave up collegiate football to concentrate on calf roping. "I feel satisfied that I reached the goal I set, but I feel a little bit let down, really," the 29-year-old Pickett said, after returning to his home in Canyon County for a few weeks of just taking it easy with his wife and two children. 'It's probably because there was so much pressure," the former Boise State University quarterback said. "I'm not saying it's not worth it. I'm tickled to death. I'm just having a hard time deciding what my feelings are. Feelings aside, Pickett ran up nearly $148,000 in winnings in the last year as he claimed the all-of Rufus, Ore., the team roping championship at last week's world series of rodeos in Oklahoma City. PEARSALL, Texas (AP) — John Baker, the son of White House Chief of Staff James Baker, has pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of delivering less than one-quarter of an ounce of mari-

around championship and, with partner Mike Beers

The plea followed a dispute over the actual weight of the drug that the younger Baker delivered to an undercover informant two years ago, said David R. Gutierrez, an assistant district attornev in Frio County.

Baker was arrested in June 1982 and later indicted on a charge of delivering more than a quarter ounce of the substance, a third-degree felony with a punishment of up to 10 years in prison and a

Defense attorneys requested a separate laboratory analysis that showed the amount of marijuana confiscated was less than a quarter ounce, which would make the offense a class-A misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum $2,000 fine and one year in jail, Guiterrez said.

After the legal maneuvering, the defendant appeared before Judge Taylor Brite on Monday. He pleaded guilty to the lesser offense and was ordered to pay the $2,000 fine within 10 days, without any jail term or probation.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - With a satellite linking the crowd to a similar congregation in the Soviet Union, about 3,000 people gathered to honor the two co-founders of International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War.

Dr. Bernard Lown, a Harvard cardiologist, and Dr. Evgueni Chazov, director of the USSR National Cardiological Research Center, received the second annual "Beyond War" award from the Palo Altobased group of the same name in ceremonies in San Francisco and Moscow Thursday night.

The two doctors founded the international physician's group in Geneva, Switzerland in 1980. They were cited for "transcending national boundaries to emerge as a powerful and respected international organization.

The group has a membership exceeding 105,000 physicians in 54 countries

The program Thursday night alternated between San Francisco, where Lown received his award, and a television complex in Moscow, where Chazov got his award in front of a crowd of about 850 people.

In a formal statement directed at U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz at the start of Friday's ministerial meeting, Thorn said the steel problem was an example of worrisome "protectionist pressures"

A copy of Thorn's remarks was made available to reporters after the meeting.

Thorn said Europe and the United States have "by and large succeeded in managing our elations" despite problems caused by "difficult circum-

Musburger fits other shoe

By NORMAN CHAD Washington Post News Service

WASHINGTON - In today's United States, where uccess often is measured by money, fame and power, Brent Musburger has stumbled upon a new status. He looks and sounds no different than he did a month or year ago, when he was simply a highly paid CBS sportscaster. But last week, Musburger, 44, signed a five-year contract with CBS for at least $1.3 million annually, making him perhaps the nation's highest-paid sportscaster and the Internal Revenue Service's poster boy

CBS' offer came as ABC courted Musburger with major league baseball, "Monday Night Football" and the Olympics.

Musburger's role with CBS will change from that of recent years. He'll give up hosting "Sports Saturday" and "Sports Sunday" in exchange for play by play on college basketball and, on occasion, NBA games, as well as a role in the Masters golf tournament and continu-ing as host of "The NFL Today."

Musburger decided the weekend studio work was wearing thin. "I was getting irritable, yelling at people, making demands, being a big gorilla," he said while relaxing at a favorite watering hole near his home in Weston, Conn. "It's so demanding mentally. I decided I had to get back on the outside."

His work has changed remarkably in recent years. Once overbearing, he's now understated with his play by play. Taking a less-is-more approach, he lets the action carry itself, much the way NBC's Vin Scully did during the 1984 World Series.

"I pay attention to criticism," Musburger said, "and everybody I heard was saying that people talk too much on the air. The same thing was striking me. So you talk less. Then when you say something, it means so much more.

"I think when you first get started, you want to be noticed. You're not as willing to let the analyst in. Now I'm older, I'm more established. When I hear myself in the old tapes, I'm thinking, 'Why don't you shut up a

It was an extraordinary switch for a sportscaster at the top of his field, as if Telly Savalas had decided, at the height of "Kojak," to grow hair on his head and pursue romantic comedies.

But Musburger's move was a shrewd one for a sport scaster trying to avoid audience burnout. For years, NBC's Curt Gowdy and ABC's Chris Schenkel were their network's top play-by-play men. Suddenly, there was talk of how viewers had tired of them, and the networks reduced their roles.

Musburger, too, is in danger of overexposure. At times, it seems, he's CBS' everyman, hosting roundup shows, doing play by play, answering switchboard

"I'm very careful. I'm not a crusader and I try not to talk too much," he said. "You don't wear out your welcome quite as quickly. As much as I'd like to go till I'm 100. I probably won't make it. But I'll try.

Musburger is unabashedly pleased with his career. He said simply, "It's a great life." Asked what he thought he'd be doing 10 years from now, he said, "Probably the same thing I'm doing now. Let's see, that'll make me 54. I'll be able to make it. I really think

If he doesn't, some folks will blame the money, saying it changed him. Money, lots of it, tends to change people's perceptions of you. When baseball's Dave Parker started earning a million per year for the

Pirates, the city of Pittsburgh was no longer his pearl. "The money becomes the most delicate issue of all,"

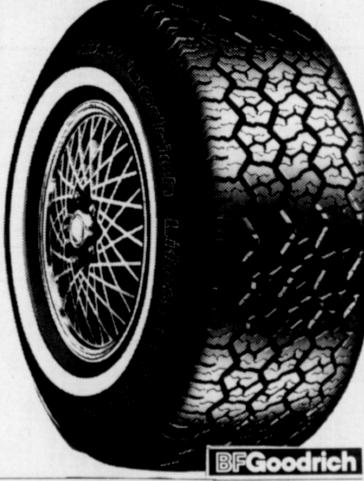

Musburger said. "Four years ago, I signed an enormous contract with CBS. There wasn't much publicity. This time, it's a double-edged sword. Some might say, 'He must be good to get that money.' Others will say, 'The bum's not worth it.

"Heck, I used to sit around and say that certain athletes weren't worth the money. Now the shoe's on the other foot. The athlete's got it tougher, though. Folks can't sit off-camera at 'The NFL Today' and boo me. They measure athletes by averages. It's harder to pin

Self-portrait?

A fresco by Michelangelo, depicting Christ's ancestor Sadoch, recently was restored in the Sistine Chapel at Vatican City. Amid renewed speculation, Carlo Pietrangeli, director-general of the Vatican Museums, and professor Fabrizio Mancinelli, director of the restoration, deny that it is a self-portrait. They say the "old story" lacks scientific and artistic confirmations.

Neutral Austria modernizes defense

By GEORGE JAHN

Associated Press Writer

VIENNA, Austria - Sandwiched between the Eastern and Western military alliances in Europe, neutral Austria is serving notice that it intends to strengthen its defenses on its own terms and even at the risk of offending the superpowers. Since gaining independence in 1955 - after 10 years of postwar occupation by the Soviet Union and the Western allies - Austria has tary strategy. been a small but strategic buffer Treaty Organization. It also has been lager said he expects talks there to a point of keen U.S. and Soviet inter-

Both Washington and Moscow consider themselves guarantors of Austria's independence and worry that the other side is trying to gain advantage. As a result Austria has walked the line carefully.

The bolder steps it intends to take now stem from a combination of pressing modernization needs and a defense minister who took office with the change of governments on April 24, 1983.

We must make clear to both blocs that we are in the position to prevent the misuse of our territory by one against the other," said the defense minister, Friedhelm Frischenschlager. "That's why we need as strong a defense as possi-

Austria plans to mothball its 32 aging Swedish Saab 105 aircraft, built in the early 1970s, and will choose a replacement in December The Soviets fear the choice might come from a NATO country and argue that would move Austria closer to the Western alliance. Being considered are the U.S.made Northtrop F-5, the French Mirage III E, Britain's Lightning F-1 and Sweden's Draaken J-35-D. While saying he understands superpower sensibilites, Frischenschlager insists purchases must be dictated solely by defense needs.

"Of course we're being observed by the superpowers," he said in a recent interview. "And of course, if we were to buy 32 (Soviet) MiGs, we would cause annoyance in Washington. The reverse is true as well, of course. But where Austria buys warplanes "is purely our personal affair," he declared. "We do not like warnings or interference. He also expects the Soviets to resist long-term Austrian plans to buy anti-aircraft missiles. In the 1955 state treaty that created modern Austria, guided missiles are among the weapons the country is banned from having Besides the Soviets, the treaty was signed by the United States, France and Britain.

Frischenschlager, who visited ern borders,

Washington this past summer, said there are no major differences of opinion between Austria and the United States in that area," and suggested Britain and France also would not object.

But recent Soviet press comment reflects Kremlin sensitivity. On Sept. 25, the official Tass news agency said moves to modernize air defenses smacked of "attempts by rightists to question Austrian neutrality" and to draw Austria "into American mili-

Chancellor Fred Sinowatz, Ausbetween the Soviet bloc's Warsaw tria's government leader, is to go to Pact and the West's North Atlantic Moscow Nov. 24 and Frischenschtouch on the need for "a sensible armed neutrality" for Austria.

'Clarifying talks must be conducted primarily with the Soviet Union," said the defense minister. He expressed interest in receiving a personal invitation from the Kremin to "make clear our security policies and needs. But he heatedly dismissed speculation his country might offer to purchase Soviet missiles to ease Soviet anxieties, suggesting that would set a dangerous precedent. "Where we get our missiles could be anywhere," he said. "That could be a question of logistics, that could be a question of cost. We will decide ourselves. "But we're not going to allow ourselves to get into some kind of constraints, because as soon as we embark on this path, we give away our sovereignty. President Rudolf Kirchschlaeger, the chief of state and commander in chief of the armed forces, used a similar argument recently, suggesting national pride was at stake in Austria's wish to decide its weapon needs independently. In an interview in the Sept. 25 issue of the Wochenpresse news magazine, Kirchschlaeger pointed out that similar postwar missile bans for some NATO and Warsaw Pact countries were allowed to lapse.

"I do not consider it fair, if you demand that Austria be the only state to strictly follow this specification," he was quoted as saying. "For me, that is not primarily a question of military necessity but a question of national prestige. Frischenschlager contends that a

Bibles arrive openly in Eastern European countries By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

Openly and with approval of com-munist authorities, increased supplies of Bibles are being shipped into countries of Eastern Europe and also being produced there, Bible society leaders say.

The influx included a Christmas cargo of Bibles this week for Soviet Officials said that getting more Bibles into such areas has resulted from a broad decision by United Bible Societies, embracing about 100 national societies, to operate only through legal channels.

That policy contrasts with tactics of some other groups which attempt to smuggle Christian literature into communist countries, where the laws impose confiscation of such detected material when not officially authorized.

It has become increasingly clear distribution.

that using "official channels to import Bibles or to help have them printed locally is the best policy," the Rev. Fergus Macdonald said after a recent visit to Eastern bloc

Macdonald, head of the Bible Society in Scotland, told officers of the American Bible Society that despite the increased flow of Bibles there still is a "very great hunger for Scriptures" in communist areas.

Among the latest approved ship-ments, according to the American society, were 10,000 Bibles in Russian, turned out in Stuttgart, West Germany, trucked into the Soviet Union and delivered in Moscow on

The council, an umbrella body of Soviet Protestants, also received permission last summer to produce 20,000 New Testaments locally.

The head of the European regional center of the United Bible Societies, Odd B. Telle, credits their decision to avoid clandestine activity, or forms of distribution that could be considered politically motivated, for the greater access to Bibles in communist areas.

There has been a steady growth and normalization of the work in Eastern Europe — in some cases more so than in others," he says. But he adds that needs still are not wholly satisfied.

He says his impression is that authorities now accept the right of Christians to obtain Bibles and facilitate it as in the government interest. They "do not want their image in the world tarnished by openly refusing or obstructing legitimate activi-ties of the churches," he says.

One inflexible exception, he says, is Albania, the aggressively anti-religious and closed communist state where it is a capital offense either to profess being a Christian or to own a

Handbell choirs present fourth in concert series

The five handbell choirs of First United Methodist Church, Main and Illinois streets, will present this Sunday the fourth in a series of Centennial Vestper Concerts in honor of the church's 100th birthday. The program, under the direction of Brad and Jane Kisner, directors of music ministries, will start at 7:15 p.m. in the church's sanctuary.

First United Methodist was one of the pioneer churches in handbell ringing in the southwest. The bell program, was started in the early 1960s under the direction of George DeHart. Currently, the church owns two sets of handbells and has five handbell choirs with 60 ringers participating.

The Sunday program will feature Christmas music with selections including "Away in a Manger," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Angels We Have Heard on High," "Bring a Torch, Jeanette Isabella," "Go, Tell It on the Mountain" and "Joy to the World." The final number will be an arrangement of "Silent Night" by all

Its national secretary, the Rev. Joseph Dearborn, formerly a pastor and techer for 20 years in Kansas City, Mo., said the group felt "the time is ripe for the leadership of the U. S. church to take a hard look at the issue of equality. 'It's broader than the issue over ordaining women, but ordination is the most serious and ultimate issue,"

The draft letter calls for a 10-year process of "prayer, reflection and experimentation" on ways how women and men should "share ordained ministry" in the church.

"Ordination to the priesthood is the controversial focus of reflection on equality in the church," the letter says.

It says the ranks of male clergy 'are shrinking" and at the same time, women are experiencing a call to what appears to be a "priestly vocation.

Citing the Vatican's 1977 declaration that women could not be

"It is impossible, as some might wish, to fend off this question by appeals to tradition or to the example of Jesus." Although Pope John Paul II reportedly told bishops in 1983 visits

'A male-dominated church is a poor witness to a loving Christ," the priests' organization said. "The gifts of women are equally precious to those of men.

Declaring that the most competent biblical studies have shown that Scriptures "pose no barrier to, and even support" equality for women in the church, the letter says:

"In fact the image of Jesus as Savior and the incardnate word of God transcends all racial, cultural and gender distinctions. The 'persona Christi' can be adequately represented only when all share equally and fully in the life and ministry of the church."

The priests' group praises the bishops for their pastoral letters against nuclear war and on the U.S. economy and urges them to "move with vigor" to " eliminate discrimination based on gender from the life of the church.

Defendant in espionage trial allegedly has drinking problem

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A Soviet woman charged with espionage who has named two FBI agents as her lovers has a drinking problem and also once claimed to have had a romantic relationship with deceased Soviet leader Yuri Andropov, a prosecutor said in court Friday.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Bruce Merritt, at a wide-ranging hearing involving the case of Richard W Miller, the first FBI agent charged with espionage, disclosed the contention by Svetlana Ogorodnikov, and called it "a wild story.

Merritt said Mrs. Ogorodnikov had a drinking problem and tended to "talk big" when she was drunk.

Mrs. Ogorodnikov's attorney, Brad Brian, told U.S. District Judge David Kenyon during the discovery hearing that another claim by the Soviet woman, that she was an officer in the Soviet intelligence service, the KGB, was apparently a fabrication.

Kenyon ordered the government to turn over all evidence on the subject to the defense and said defense attorneys were entitled to know 'whether she was looped" when she made her claims.

"There is some evidence my client has severe problems — psychiatric and emotional problems," Brian lay, and Miller.

Miller, 47, is charged with selling secrets to the Soviets, demanding $65,000 in cash and gold from Mrs. Ogorodnikov and her husband. Miller worked in counterintelligence for the FBI in Los Angeles before he was arrested and fired Oct. 2 The Ogorodnikovs and Miller are charged with espionage, bribery and unlawful delivery and receipt of classified documents.

'We have talked to witnesses who have used the word 'crazy' to describe my client," Brian said of Mrs. Ogorodnikov.

He demanded to know what evidence the government had deve-loped on Mrs. Ogorodnikov's apparent fabrications, saying the eged love affairs are relevant to his planned defense.

Merritt then arose and spoke: "In July 1983 she called Bryce Christensen (assistant FBI chief in Los Angeles) and said she had a romantic relationship with agent (John) Hunt. She also said she had a romantic relationship with the Soviet leader Andropov...on another occasion, she claimed she was Andropov's daughter. And on another occasion in 1983, she claimed she was dying of breast cancer.'

Merritt said that as the government investigated Mrs. Ogorodni-every once in a while," Merritt said. Brian suggested it was during one of these drinking bouts that Mrs. Ogorodnikov suggested she was major in the KGB, a comment which was quoted in the government's indictment of the three defendants.

Brian said the defense still believes Mrs. Ogorodnikov was an FBI informant and had love affairs with Hunt and Miller, but denies she ever spied for the Soviet Union.

Earlier Friday, Kenyon refused to issue a publicity "gag order" on attorneys in the case, but said he would if lawyers attempted to try their case on the courthouse steps.

'There's a very real ethical question here," Kenyon said as he issued his ruling. "The role of the lawyer is to promote a side in the courtroom and not be a public relations person,

Attorneys in Kyle murder trial portray prosecution witnesses as opportunists

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Defense. attorneys for Ricky Kyle tried to picture key prosecution witnesses in his patricide trial as opportunists whose desire for more of the victim's multimillion-dollar estate was influencing their testimony

Kyle had been shot to death four days earlier in his Bel-Air mansion. Prosecutors contend that Ricky Kyle murdered his father because he feared being cut from the wealthy real estate and movie tycoon's will.

Miller said that he had received a telephone call from Henry Kyle days before the shooting, reiterating his testimony from the preliminary hearing. In the conversation, Miller said, the elder Kyle said he intended to rewrite his will to give a larger inheritance to Jackie Phillips.

Gibson noted that on Aug. 30, 1983, five weeks after the shooting. Jackie Phillips challenged her father's will, which gave almost half of the estate to defendant Ricky Kyle and only $10,000 to her. The estate was settled privately and the final disposition was ordered sealed by Dallas probate officials.

Miller also admitted under crossexamination that his and Miss Phillips' cocaine habits in January and February of 1983 cost them as much as $5,000 a week. At the time, neither held jobs, Miller said. Later, in the months before the Kyle killing, their habits cost up to $600 a week, he tes-

"There is concern nuclear weapons is five to 10 times greater than in Arctic haze, the amount of reduction in solar radiachange the whole Arctic and the tion would be rather dramatic. because we have measured reductions with Arctic haze."

Whatever its glimpses into the future, however, the study of Arctic haze already has billion-dollar implitance of Arctic haze work to date cations. In trying to determine the origins of Arctic pollution, Rahn has developed a system of regional "sigresearch professor at the University natures" that identify the sources of of Rhode Island who helped dis. air pollution. He has now used that cover the man-made pollution and system to track the origins of acid tracked it to the Soviet Union. "We rain in the Northeast - and thus who may pay to eliminate it.

as man-made pollution from far away. It was studied intensively by the United States and several other nations in a series of polar flights in 1983, and Schnell is now preparing for a massive study of Arctic haze in 1986, part of wider efforts by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to monitor climatic change around the globe. This is another building block in what we're doing to our climate." Schnell said. "There is no doubt there's a change because of Arctic haze. But is that change important? That's the question.'

An international symposium on Arctic haze will be held in England next year. The state of Alaska is paying for it out of concern for what impact Arctic haze may have on the wildlife and vegetation so critical to subsistence by Eskimos in such places as Barrow.

Arctic haze studies so far have shown that:

- Its origins are 3,000 to 6,000 miles from here, and it takes at least five days to reach Barrow. Most of it comes from the Soviet Union, possibly the industrialized area of the southern Urals. Europe and the United Kingdom account for most of the rest, with only an occasional small share coming from North

It exists from late fall until April, when there are no air currents from the sun's heat to clean the air. Thus the heavily polluted air masses move across the polar ice cap least to Norway. "The scale is the factor (of importance)," Schnell says. "It looks just like the Denver brown cloud,' but it's over the whole Arctic basin! That may be most worrisome about Arctic haze. Says Thomas F. Albert, science adviser to the North Slope Borough government here: "If this cuts down on the amount of sunlight that reaches the ground or retards reflection of sunlight, it's going to have an effect, either increasing or decreasing (polar ice cap) melting. You're talking about water on a grand scale.

"THE ICE could conceivably melt a little bit," Schnell says. "Suppose the permanent ice edge retreats a little bit. Once that occurs, computer models show the seasonal ice may not refreeze. The warmer water would be pumping a lot of heat into

Teens vandalize Catholic Church they think houses devil worshippers

DAYTON (AP) - Teen-agers spinning tales of Satan worship bedeviled a rural Catholic church, throwing bricks and beer cans through its windows and shooting through a stained glass depiction of St. Anne.

Frank Falcone, an investigator with the Liberty County sheriff's office, said Friday 22 youths have been questioned so far in the vandalism, which began about six months ago at the isolated St. Anne's Catho-

"For the past year, the story got around that this was a devil worship church," Falcone said. "The kids had been told so many stories nobody knew what to believe."

On one occassion, Falcone said, "two kids told everybody they saw some people butchering a calf on the altar and drinking its blood."

Stories of devil worship escalated, the investigator said, when several of the teens reported seeing lights float inside the church

"The Catholics have this eternal flame (candle) that burns all the time," Falcone said. "At certain times of the night, the reflection of the glass will make the candle appear to float around inside the Falcone, who is a member of St. Anne's congregation, said the youths, who are all between the ages of 14 and 18, caused about $2,000 in

"The kids had been drinking and partying around with their girlfriends," Falcone said. None were really bad, he said.

he tracked down a few of the teenagers, who led him to the others.

"I think it was a combination of wanting to stop devil worshippers and they wanted to see what it looked like if it was a devil worship church," Falcone said.

The Rev. Paul Fee, the priest at St. Anne's for the past 17 years, said the rumors of devil worship may have become stronger when the youths saw church members praying for the dead and putting flowers on graves at a nearby cemetery during an All Souls' Day in early November.

'It looked like a bomb had gone off," said Alvina Ubnoskye, who lives across a field from the church. We were upset and frustrated. Some talked about sitting out there on weekends with their guns.

Wrong woman spends six days in jail

HOUSTON (AP) - A woman who spent six days in jail because she speaks only Spanish and could not make authorities understand they had the wrong woman was philosophical when she was finally freed, a lawyer says.

Laura Pintos, 26, was released from Harris County Jail Thursday after Spanish-speaking attorney Tom Berg was appointed to her case.

"She was happy to get out, but it was kind of sad," Berg said. "She

Federal marshals arrested the woman because they thought she

Ms. Pintos gave federal officials a statement in October that she was not the Brownsville woman and was living in Houston when the crime occurred. She was photographed, fingerprinted and given papers to prove her name and address had been used by the mysterious

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Two chine guns leaped from a car in Beirut's morning rush hour traffic Friday and killed a senior Druse army officer and his aide who were riding in a jeep.

In the Kharroub mountain province just north of Israel's occupation zone, Christian and Druse militiamen battled andat least two civilians were wounded, according to an initial police report.

In a separate development, Lebanon's government instructed its envoy at the United Nations to protest what it called Israeli "atrocities" in southern Lebanon and renewed its support for guerrilla attacks against Israel's occupation troops in the south.

Gorbachev is believed by many Western specialists to be the No. 2 man in the Kremlin, behind President Konstatin U. Chernenko, 73.

At 53 the youngest member of the ruling Politburo, Gorbachev was born 14 years after the Bolshevik Revolution. If he one day succeeds Chernenko, it would be the first break in the line of Kremlin leaders who lived at the time of Lenin.

Whether that means Gorbachev is more open to reform or to a change in relations with the West is one of many mysteries British officials will probe during the five-day visit.

Jewish organizations plan to demonstrate during the visit. Six members of the Women's Campaign for Soviet Jewry delivered 5,000 postcards to Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's office Thursday and asked that they be given to Gorbachev with pleas to give Soviet Jews exit visas and permit the study of

WORLD IN BRIEF

South African government lifts ban on books by black leaders

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) - The government announced Friday it has lifted the ban on books written by five black African leaders, including South African Nobel Peace Prize laureate Albert Luthuli and President Samora Machel of Mozambique

The Directorate of Publications said in its weekly list of banned publications that the 1977 ban on Machel's "Mozambique: Revolution or Reaction" has been lifted. The book details Mozambique's fight for independence from Portugal, a war Machel led. Mozambique and South Africa signed a non-aggression treaty in March, and relations between the neighboring countries have improved since then.

Also lifted was the ban imposed in 1964 on "Africa's Freedom," a book written jointly by Luthuli, a respected campaigner against discrimination against blacks who died in 1967, Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda and Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere, and Tom Mboya, a Kenyan independence leader who was assassinated in 1969.

The white government has relaxed restrictions on political literature since 1980. However, the Directorate of Publications announced new bans on two dozen publications and calendars, mainly pamphlets of the outlawed African National Congress

He currently is creating scores for three feature movies. In his spare time he'll knock off some Superbowl "ABC asked me to do a theme to be used on the promos and at the beginning of the Superbowl," he said in an interview. "I did the Olympic Games music for ABC not the themes that John Williams wrote for the Olympic Committee, but music for the telecast itself. The Superbowl music will total five minutes, all of it coordinated to the

That's the nature of his work: coordinating music to what appears on the screen, giving it dramatic force. But Conti, who has three college degrees, does not find the process constricting.

'It's a constant challenge that requires a great dramatic sense; knowing a lot of music is not necessarily the answer," the 42-year-old Conti said.

Each job is different. 'The Right Stuff' called for music to augment the breaking of the sound barrier and the roar of rockets, as well as music depicting the period. 'The Karate Kid' called for another set of goals, because you're dealing with a small boy and a gentle older man."

Conti, who was born in Providence, R.I., and grew up in Miami, received a bachelor of music degree from Louisiana State University and bachelor and master of music degrees from The Julliard School. His first scoring job was on the Italian film, "Candidate for a Kill-ing." His first American movie was "Harry and Tonto."

Conti's biggest challenge is creating themes for TV series: "You've got one minute behind the main title to set the tone and try to capture the viewer. Music is the best way to telegraph what is going to come.

In "Dynasty," he said, "the producers wanted scope, something that would convey the class and sophistication of the story." The result was a big, lush theme with a trumpet carrying the melody.

In "Cagney and Lacey," Conti said, "the series was following a comedy and the producer wanted viewers to know that this wasn't just another cop show. I used two saxes for the intro, then followed with happy music that could easily follow a comedy. For the theme I used a synthesizer rather than a big orchestra. The theme ended with the alto saxes, which seem to suggest

The idea for "Falcon Crest," he said, "was to suggest a big, powerful family, certainly not underprivileged, as you can tell by scenes of the mansion. I gave the theme a lot of rhythm, with strings carrying a long melodic line and horns providing the energy."

Mauldin remebers Patton, WWII

By DON FREEMAN Copley News Service

SANTA FE, N.M. - Only once since the end of World War II has Bill Mauldin drawn Willie and Joe, those two craggy, unshaven, sar-donic dogfaces who symbolized the U.S. infantry and the war that Mauldin knew. Only once — "I resur-rected Willie and Joe in 1981 when Omar Bradley died," Bill says. "Willie and Joe pay their respects. It seemed right

Omar Bradley, the compassionate warrior known affectionately as the "GIs' general," never fully approved of the cartoons Mauldin was drawing for Stars and Stripes. But it was another general, George S. Patton, who fumed over Willie and Joe and their unsoldierly ways. Patton wanted Mauldin's characters spruced up. He summoned Mauldin for a classic chewing out.

And now, four decades later, Mauldin sips Glenlivet scotch in his living room, this still-youthful artist with the elfin grin, and he gazes into the crackling fire in the fireplace. And he remembers how it was when the baby-faced sergeant not long out of his teens, the farm boy from New Mexico, faced up to the general they called "Old Blood and Guts."

"Patton declared war on me," Maudlin is saying. "The man was abrasive and bellicose. His dog, Willie, sat in a corner and growled at me. I was aware of Patton's huge rank and his reputation and I was somewhat awed. But I was more scared of that damned dog!"

Was Patton frightened of you?" Mauldin is asked.

He grins. "I doubt it," he says. "But Patton knew I had a general on my side - Ike liked my cartoons. Ike thought they helped morale. So listened to Patton chew me out, which he didn't even do very competently, and I kept drawing Willie and Joe.

Old wounds die hard. When the movie "Patton" came out Mauldin avoided seeing it. "I didn't have to screw up my memory of the guy," Maudlin says. Seeing him now you know that even if they made a movie celebrating the imperious general it was the rebellious GI who triumphed. And endured.

"Finally I saw the movie and it was what I expected — they glorified the guy. My theory is that George C. Scott turned down the Oscar because he intended his performance as Pattern to be a strong a formance as Patton to be a spoof, a satire. I can't imagine that Scott admired him. I'm in no position to judge generals" — the sly Mauldin "but Patton was probably a brilliant general and a very strange

In the postwar years, Willie and Joe were played by David Wayne and Tom Ewell in a movie called "Up Front." It still pops up on the late show.

"A terrible movie," Mauldin says with disdain. "I see it come on the TV and I turn it off and yell obscenities at the set. I wrote the original treatment but they changed it all and hammed it up. But what could I expect? The producer was the same guy who made the Ma and Pa Kettle pictures. I was surprised he didn't have Willie and Joe played by

Abbott and Costello!" When Mauldin was out in Hollywood for the Willie and Joe picture, he got hired for an acting job in John Huston's movie of the Stephen Crane novel, "The Red Badge of Courage." He remembers his phone conversation with Huston. It went

"Mauldin? This is John Huston. Listen, did you ever read 'The Red Badge of Courage'?"

"Sure," Mauldin said. "A great war

"I'm a cartoonist," Mauldin said. "I'm not an actor." Huston chortled and said: "I want much do you want?" Mauldin thought of an absurd figure. "Oh, $2,000 a week," he said.

"You're hired," Huston said. Mauldin smiles now as he recalls the moment. "I said to myself, 'Mauldin, you idiot! Why didn't you ask for $5,000?"

This one turned out to be a fine movie with a cast headed by Audie Murphy, the slim Texan who was the most decorated soldier of World War II. "We both fought in Italy

Audie in the Third Division, me in the 45th," Bill says. "And here we meet for the first time playing soldiers in a Civil War movie. How

Today Mauldin ranks in the forefront of the nation's editorial car-toonists; his work has bite and integrity and he continues to grow artistically. About five years ago he departed Chicago for Santa Fe where he lives with his wife, author Christine Lund, and their 6-year-old daughter, Kija, a budding artist her-

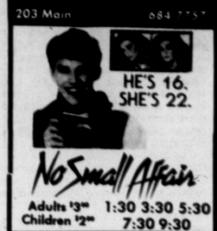

Mauldin transmits his cartoons by telecopier to the News America Syndicate in Irvine, Calif.; from there they are widely distributed. His "home" paper remains the Chicago

Sun-Times. Maudlin enjoyed Chicago where he ran with such kindred spirits as columnist Mike Royko and Studs Terkel. But it's evident that his native New Mexico soil nourishes him as an artist.

He has already won two Pulitzers and long ago, in Sicily, he was awarded a Purple Heart. "It was just a flesh wound," Mauldin says. "Medic took out the bullet and somebody handed me a medal. No fuss, no ceremony.

But it did inspire a memorable Mauldin cartoon wherein Willie or Joe is saying: "Just gimme th' aspirin — I already got a Purple Heart."

Photographers: Don't startle wildlife

Alaskan grizzlies may not like candid photos

By TOM FEGELY

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) - It's a tough chore attempting to photograph Alaska's varied wildlife especially if you choose to follow directions

'Make noise when you hike so that you don't surprise animals," advises a brochure from Denali National Park. However, the serious photographer knows that stalking some unsuspecting prey takes a bit of stealth and usually a quiet

Yet the warning serves to alert one to the danger of grizzly bears that don't like to be surprised and may react by charging the photogra-pher But not all wild creatures are that dangerous, I discovered in a recent two-week visit to this most spectacular of states. From her braided river flats to the towering peaks of Denali and Lake Clark National Park, Alaska hosts a mammalian wildlife array ranging from bears to wolves and wolverines

The hardest to reach are the Dall sheep. Even long telephoto lenses can't capture full frames of these ridge-runners that only occasionally retreat, in winter, from their high country homesteads. As summer progresses, the sheep go higher and higher in search of the plants exposed by the melting snows. Photographers with the time and stamina to scale the ledges are said to find certain Dalls as curious as the camera-toters themselves.

Away from the national parks where hunting isn't permitted, the white sheep take on different temperaments. The hunter, despite the long-range ability of a high-powered rifle, will more than likely become frustrated at chasing the sure-footed animals across snow-covered, glacial

Caribou are also high-country dwellers, choosing to traverse ridge-tops when possible, but occasionally wandering into the moss and lichencovered lowland where black and white spruces create the habitat known as the taiga. There are 13 dis-tinct herds of barren ground cari-bou in Alaska, all with their defined migratory paths.

The caribou is unique in that both the males and females grow antiers. They're the only members of the deer clan to possess the trait. But even the biggest of cow "horns" can't be compared to the most meager headgear of a bull.

Unlike their caribou cousins, with which they occasionally cross paths, the moose are neither group travelers nor wearers of antlerage. The big bulls weigh between 12,000 and 14,000 pounds, more than three times the weight of caribou.

The calves, fast growers, stay with their mothers for a year, possibly two, but are rudely kicked from the nest when the birth of another generation is imminent.

Grizzlies - also known as brown bears in the coastal regions - are prized sightings. Coastal bears thrive on the salmon that annually deliver themselves to the interior, spawn and then die a slow, prescribed

The bruins that are provided with the piscatorial smorgasbord spend many weeks wading in knee-deep lake waters or splashing in icy rivers, catching their prey and feasting on the choice flesh.

Other bears may not be as fortunate and must spend all but their hibernation months scouring the domain for salads of horsetails. grasses, sedges and roots, and the occasional delicacy of ground squirrel or newborn caribou.

Even man is an occasional prey, albeit rarely. Unlike black bears, which can also be found throughout much of the state, grizzlies will not always retreat from humans.

On a smaller scale, the Arctic ground squirrel is the grizzly of the roadsides and campgrounds. Like other campground freeloaders,

They'll scurry about in search of handouts, argue over a potato chip or slice of bread, and once in possession of a morsel will run off with their stem-like tails held high above their foot-long bodies.

These records brand-abetical

By JEANNE GRIMES

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - In cow country, there's a lot to be said for a good, legible brand. But only if it's duly registered and recorded.

The Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association has mailed out five-year renewal notices to the owners of 16,000-plus registered brands in the Keeping track of all those brands ris the task of Rhonda Rhines, who for nearly five years has worked as the state brand registrar.

She does it with a system she calls brand-abetical.

The OCA will publish a 1985 Oklahoma Brand Book containing all the registered brands, as well as annual supplements of new registrations during the five years. New registrations also are published monthly in The Oklahoma Cowman, the association's magazine.

In the brand book, Ms. Rhines first lists brands utilizing initials A to Z and then starts in on the numerals (1 through 9), the bars, slashes, rockers, boxes and diamonds, flying brands, hearts, crosses, triangles and, finally, the symbols.

"It takes a little while to learn the brand-abetical alphabet," she said. Brands are read left to right and top to bottom. Initials are probably the best brand you can have.

Nearly all of the 16,000-plus registered brands are used on livestock. Ms. Rhines said a few were registered simply as a novelty and something new to spruce up stationery and personalized checks.

Brand registration went into effect in Oklahoma in 1955 with the state Department of Agriculture handling the registration. In 1968, the OCA took over the chore under a contract with the agriculture department.

There are definite advantages to the centralized registration though the OCA, Ms. Rhines said. Since the OCA is located in the Oklahoma City Stockyards, she said, it's convenient to ranchers and cattlemen. Compared with Texas where brands are registered through the county clerks, Ms. Rhines said there were far fewer chances for duplicating a brand in Oklahoma.

"We're advising people it's becom-ing more important today to select a brand, register a brand, and use a brand and to do it in that order," said OCA executive vice president Ellis Freeny.

"It's a procedure which can prevent a lot of headaches. There are more than 5 million cattle in Oklahoma, and all Herefords generally look alike and all Angus generally look alike. With those breeds, you couldn't prove to a jury that you positively own certain cattle. That's a very important point; a registered brand is prima facie evidence of ownership," he said.

The brand books and supplements are supplied to sheriffs in each of the state's 77 counties, to every county Cooperative Extension Service agent, and to all vocational agriculture teachers. The result is an invaluable information network that deters many rustlers. Ms. Rhines said that in addition to the brand books and supplements, the OCA regularly circulates a bulletin on lost, stolen or strayed cattle to sheriffs, sale barns, and others. She said the OCA receives many calls from sheriff office investigators try-ing to trace ownership of found cat-tle through brands the animals are wearing.

The OCA is expecting about 80 percent of the owners to renew their brand registrations this year, Ms. Rhines said. She said among the remaining 20 percent were cattle owners who had died since registering a brand and those who were out of the cattle business.

Supersonic jet makes maiden flight

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The supersonic X-29, a strikingly unusual jet with forward-swept wings and three on-board computers for stabilization, made its maiden flight Friday, and the pilot's only gripe was spending too little time in the air.

'Very nice airplane. Only complaint is I don't have enough fuel to stay up longer," said Grumman Aerospace chief test pilot Charles Sewell as he brought the plane in for a landing at this desert air base 60 miles north of Los Angeles.

Sewell, 54, told National Aeronautics and Space Administration ground controllers that the X-29 in the air handled better than the training simulator on the ground. The controllers said the flight was excellent.

"Nothing fancy today, just get it up, make sure it flies, and bring it home safe," said space agency spokesman Ralph Jackson after the plane took off at 9:35 a.m. The plane landed at 10:33 a.m.

The weather was "perfect for flying," said Jackson, with winds at 10 knots and unlimited visibility. Jackson said Sewell took the red, white and blue plane to 20,000 feet and cruised at about 250 mph. Then came some gentle maneuvers, Jackson said, and several low-level approaches before a final land-

The jet's most unusual feature is its plastic composite wings, which sweep forward instead of backward to reduce drag and improve lift and maneuverability.

However, those advantages of the forward-swept wings also make the jet so inherently unstable that three interview computers with three backups are required to maintain control during

Without the computers, the jet would be going so fast it would pitch up or down with such 'G' (gravity) forces the plane would just fall apart," Air Force X-29 test pilot Ted Wierzbanowski said in a recent

The X-29 is an experimental plane and will not be mass-produced. Instead it will serve to test new technologies for possible future development of an advanced technology fighter for the U.S. military, said Grumman's director of flight test safety, Bill Rasmussen.

Another advanced system of the X-29 is the fly-by-wire control system. The controls operated by the pilot transmit signals to computers, which in turn order controls to operate the flaps, rudders, ailerons and other aerodynamic surfaces.

Other planes use hydraulic systems or cables.

The X-29 is the first "X-series" experimental craft to be flighttested by NASA at Edwards since the mid-1970s' testing of the X-24B. The X-24B was one of a series of socalled "lifting body" planes used to test designs for the space shuttle and other possible reusable manned

Grumman Corp. spokesman Bob Harwood said the company put up $40 million of its own money after winning an Air Force contract for $90 million to prove the forwardswept wings not only will work, but are superior.

Sewell, a retired Marine Corps lieutenant colonel who has more than 10,000 hours of flying time to his credit, flew the X-29 just above the ground for a few seconds during taxi tests last week. "It drives you back in the seat and it makes a smile come out of both sides of your oxy-

State to pay for man's transplant

CHICAGO (AP) - A state law that would pay for an experimental pancreas transplant for diabetes sufferer James Byrd doesn't take effect until July, and Byrd isn't sure he'll live that long. Now, the state has decided to pay for the transplant anyway

Gov. James Thompson telephoned Byrd, 32, with the news that he wouldn't have to wait until July for

"He said he got together with the federal government, twisted a few arms and they'd agreed to pay 100 percent of the transplant," Byrd said Friday. "I must have thanked him a dozen times and wished him and his family a merry Christmas.

tages were tied up, but this had been at the terrorists' demand.

Al-Jassar was quoted as saying he did not think the Iranians were in collusion with the hijackers, as has been suspected in the United States.

"I do not think so because the Iranians would not let us land until I lied and told them that we had fuel only for 10 more minutes and they also dragged on before responding to the hijackers' demands, and because the hijackers' demands, and because the hijackers were afraid of them," al-Jassar said.

He said the hijckers, who were identified by some passengers as members of the shadowy Jihad Islami (Islamic holy war) organization, performed Moslem prayers aboard the plane "and were well-behaved with each other."
