As deadline passes...

Saddam Hussein remains defiant

Associated Press Writer
Saddam Hussein remained defiant after the U.N. deadline for an Iraqi pullout from Kuwait passed this morning, and President Bush met with his national security advisers to consider the next step.

The Iraqi president told his troops in a radio broadcast an hour before the deadline that they were ready to fight and said he would not bargain over Iraq's rights. Baghdad radio later issued air raid instructions.

As skies cleared today after 36 hours of rain in the Arabian desert, more than 1 million soldiers faced off for battle. Machinery capable of immense destruction stood at the ready, and tense soldiers checked their weapons.

"I just want to get it over with," said Staff Sgt. Brandon Jay, 27, of Pittsburgh, a transportation crew chief. U.S. soldiers dominate the 680,000-strong multinational force arrayed against Iraq.

White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater told reporters in Washington today that the Bush administration remains hopeful, but added:

"I think there is a certain feeling of resignation that the sanctions will have to be enforced... There is a growing sense that we have to carry out the planning for the use of force, with some resignation."

President Bush met with Secretary of State James A. Baker III and Defense Secretary Dick Cheney in the Oval Office.

France today promised that its troops in the multinational force would fight if war broke out. In doing so, France joined Britain and Canada, which have committed their forces in the past two days to possible combat. Italy's government today asked Parliament for permission to use force. "The diplomatic phase is over," French Foreign Minister Roland Dumas told his Cabinet today.

Two other members of the multinational force, Belgium and Portugal, today said they would not send combat units to Iraq.

Iraq's ambassador to the United States, who was recalled to Baghdad on Tuesday, urged more time for peace efforts. "This warmongering has to stop and more time has to be given to a diplomatic solution," the envoy, Mohamed Sadiq al-Mashat, told reporters during a London stopover.

Pope John Paul II sent appeals for peace to Bush and Saddam, and the Soviet Union told Iraq today that if it withdraws from Kuwait, Moscow would work toward an overall settlement of Middle East conflicts.

Saddam has tried to tie a resolution of the gulf crisis to a resolution of the Palestinian problem, a linkage the United States has rejected.

Shortly after Tuesday's midnight deadline, the Bush administration gave no indication it intended to attack immediately.

Lewis wants delay until after session

AUSTIN (AP) — Indicted House Speaker Gib Lewis asked a state district judge to delay consideration of his case until after the legislative session, according to his spokesman.

Lewis' attorneys also filed a motion Tuesday with State District Judge Bob Perkins to move the case to a lower-level court, Glenn Smith said.

"Those kinds of misdemeanor charges are usually handled by a county court," instead of a state district court, Smith said.

He said delaying the case until after the session would allow Lewis to concentrate on state issues before the Legislature. The regular session ends May 27.

A hearing on the motions had not been set, Smith said.

He said the changes would have no effect on the investigation by a Travis County grand jury into Lewis' relationship with lobbyists.

Lewis has said he is innocent of the two misdemeanor charges of failing to report a gift from a San Antonio law firm and of failing to disclose his interest in a business for which the law firm allegedly paid some property taxes.

ON THE HOMEFRONT — Tonia Hale goes over in the Persian Gulf were her husband, Casey, is her college classwork, one of the things which keeps her from worrying about the impending war

Serviceman's wife agonizes over possibility of combat

The United Nations' deadline for Iraqi troops to pull out of Kuwait has come and gone and the future of American troops is still clouded. Fading are the hopes that this generation of young Americans will not have to confront the tragedies of war as the families of soldiers in the worst.

"You think that maybe Saddam will still pull out, but you're only kidding yourself," said Tonia Hale, who's husband Casey has been stationed in Saudi Arabia since last August.

"Deep down, you know it will end in a conflict."

The possibility of war has made the 21-year-old Snyder native face the realities of being married to a soldier in a time of military conflict.

"It's so hard to be so young and to plan a funeral... you're so young, you don't believe you are going to die," she said of planning her husband's funeral.

'I don't know how you prepare yourself for something like this.'

"I'm not prepared (for the knock on the door). I don't know how you prepare yourself for something like this."

Tonia realizes that the situation in the Gulf has made her make sacrifices and knows there are other sacrifices she might face, but she stands behind the President.

"I get so sick of hearing all those people protesting... Nobody wants war, but I understand.

"I have to support (Bush) because if I don't, it is like not supporting Casey."

One day at a time is how Tonia is learning to live her life. "Even if the conflict ends, they are talking about keeping troops there for six months to a year. I don't know when he will be home."

Tonia moved back home with her parents in September. "I think Casey wanted me to (come back to Snyder), so he wouldn't have to worry about me... Everybody in Snyder has been very supportive."

Substitute teaching for Snyder ISD and attending classes at Western Texas College help to fill her anxiety-ridden days.

"Casey has all the training, he knows what to do and he is good. I have to believe that will get him through."

Snyder woman dies from injuries in fire

A local woman who was critically burned in a Jan. 6 fire, died Tuesday evening in the University Medical Center burn unit in Lubbock.

Twenty-five-year-old JoAnn Estrada died at approximately 10 p.m. from injuries suffered in the fire. Accounts have been established at Snyder National Bank, West Texas State Bank and American State Bank to help pay medical and other expenses.

The fire began in the bathroom of Ms. Estrada's home at 3005 Ave. M. Fire department officials said Ms. Estrada was attempting to remove paint from her hair by washing it with gasoline when the fumes were ignited by a water heater pilot light. Officials said Ms. Estrada received second and third degree burns over 95 percent of her body.

Twenty-six-year-old Kristina Carreon, who was helping Ms. Estrada wash her hair, received burns over 20 percent of her body, primarily to her back and upper arms.

The women were transferred to Lubbock by Snyder EMS. Ms. Carreon was listed in serious condition immediately following the incident, but has since been released from the hospital.

A third party, Roy Carreon, of 3005 Ave. M, was treated and released at Cogdell Memorial Hospital with burns to his fingers.

Financial aid session set Monday

Corky Swanson, director of financial aid at McMurry College, will conduct a financial aid workshop at 7 p.m. Monday in the high school student center.

All seniors and their parents who are interested in financial aid are encouraged to attend.

Mrs. Swanson will discuss scholarships, grants, loans and how to apply for them. She will go over the forms used to apply.

Snyder High School counselors note that it is possible to complete most of the application process while at the workshop.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "It's easy to grow old gracefully if you never attend your class reunions."

We heard about two women who were having lunch recently. For the sake of simplicity, we'll call them Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Jones told her luncheon companion that she had a secret to tell her. "I wouldn't want anybody else to know about this, but I am seeing another man."

Mrs. Smith asked, "What kind of man is he?" Mrs. Jones paused for a moment, and then went into some detail. "Well, he's not much to look at, but I just can't resist. He's a slob, he drinks too much, he slurps his soup, chews with his mouth open, and gets his dinner all over his tie." She continued, "He'd rather spend his time watching sports on TV or playing golf than being with me."

Mrs. Smith didn't say anything, but she was thinking about the things Mrs. Jones had said at lunch. When she arrived at home, Mrs. Smith asked her husband, "What's this I hear about you and Mrs. Jones?"

We read the other day that the Infernal Revenue department took over and first tried to operate a bawdy house in Nevada — where the oldest profession is legal.

The takeover was for non-payment of taxes. The government held an auction after its efforts to operate were not successful. It was reported that the feds even advertised for employees, calling them "leisure time activity professionals."

Some wise guy suggested that the bureaucrats should have posted a sign in each bedroom which read: "Your tax dollars at work."

Ask Us

Q—How many vehicles are in Western Texas College's "fleet" mentioned in Tuesday's paper?

A—There are 33 total, including five at the Senior Center. These include vehicles for maintenance, extension center vehicles and vehicles used in driver's ed as well as vehicles which are used for out-of-town trips. None of the vehicles are for personal use.

In Brief

Overtaken

AUSTIN (AP) — The conviction of a San Antonio man sentenced to 40 years in state prison for the sexual assault of two girls was overturned today by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals and sent back to a lower court for a possible new trial.

Ray Moberg was sentenced in Bexar County to consecutive 20-year prison terms in 1987 for sexually assaulting a 3-year-old girl and 5-year-old girl.

Major damage to oil facilities unlikely in war

NEW YORK (AP) — Iraqi troops or terrorists fighting to keep Kuwait could take aim at the machines, plants and people who extract Mideast oil and ship it abroad, but industry experts don't expect any lasting damage. They point to the lengthy Iraq-Iran war of the 1980s, when neither side could deliver a knock-out blow, or even a very good punch, to the other's oil business. "Although Saddam Hussein threatens to put the Persian Gulf on fire, he couldn't do it for eight years," said Christian Gohler, an oil broker with Merrill Lynch Energy Futures. Now, Saddam is up against a considerably more formidable military foe that should be able to protect vital Saudi Arabian oil installations, although the Iraqis may be able to sabotage Kuwaiti facilities seized in the August invasion, according to analysts contacted Tuesday. Still, an Iraqi attack on Saudi oil facilities could turn out to be more effective than some have predicted. "You never know what kind of weapons these people have," said Peter Beutel, an oil analyst with Pegasus Econometric Group Inc., in Hoboken, N.J. "They could make life tough for a while." The oil fields themselves are safe, thousands of feet below the Earth's surface. But possible Iraqi targets could include oil wells, refineries, pumping stations, pipelines, tankers and offshore drilling platforms, the experts said. "It's not likely they could be damaged from the air," said John Lichtblau, president of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation. "In the Iraq-Iran war, the Iraqis tried and they were not at all successful. The only risks are the offshore oilfields of Saudi Arabia that are very close to the Kuwait border."

The oil installations of Kuwait are considered to be at greater risk because the Iraqis have had plenty of time to wire them with explosives, experts said. Any destruction to facilities in the emirate would hamper its ability to quickly recover from the Iraqi occupation, but the impact on world oil supplies would not be that great because the market has gotten by without Kuwaiti crude since August, experts said. "They could blow up all the infrastructure, blow up everything on the top," Beutel said. "If oil wells were wired with explosives and detonated, it remains unclear how widespread the damage would be or how long it would take to repair the harm. Beutel estimated the Iraqis could inflict damage that would take two to three years to fix, while Lichtblau said six months to a year might be more likely. "There's no experience in that, but it could be quite a while," Lichtblau said.

Former defense secretary Schlesinger says war will strain U.S.-led coalition

HOUSTON (AP) — Former defense secretary James Schlesinger says if war breaks out in the Persian Gulf, it will be essential to keep the fragile United Nations coalition intact. Schlesinger predicted Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein would embark on terrorism and sabotage and try to lure Israel into the fighting as a means of dismantling the American-led multinational coalition against Iraq. "He is prepared for what for him is likely to be a suicidal war," Schlesinger said in an address Tuesday to The Forum Club of Houston. Saddam, he said, would view a strike against Israel as very attractive. Schlesinger said the pressure to break up that delicate coalition will increase the longer the war continues. "We must recognize we are fighting a coalition war and it is essential to maintain the cohesiveness of the coalition," said Schlesinger, a former Central Intelligence Agency director and secretary of energy. "Otherwise, the Middle East will turn more hostile to us."

on Egypt to do the same. "Israel is perceived as an enemy of the Arab peoples," he said. "If the Israelis are smart, they will wait for the U.S. to demolish the air defense capabilities of Iraq. In my judgment, the Israelis will follow a prudent course." Echoing sentiments of President Bush and Secretary of State James Baker, he said Saddam miscalculated when Iraqi forces moved into Kuwait in August. "He rolled the dice and he has lost," Schlesinger said. "He believed control was tantamount to victory."

Potential offshore targets would be drilling platforms in the Safaniyah field, near the border, and the Saudi-Kuwaiti neutral zone, Lichtblau said. "These fields could be attacked because they're produced on platforms and these offshore platforms are potential targets," he said. "There's also the question of whether anybody would want to be on those platforms."

Among the possible targets are three refineries in Kuwait, one of them a modern facility near Kuwait City with a daily capacity of 700,000 barrels, Lichtblau said. The big plant has already been crippled by Iraqis who carted off some equipment to their homeland, Lichtblau said.

Continental pilots agree to temporary pay freeze

HOUSTON (AP) — Continental Airlines' pilots agreed to a temporary pay freeze and other cost-saving measures the carrier sought as it tries to control costs in reorganizing under federal bankruptcy laws. About 3,900 pilots also agreed to defer bonus payments that are based on fuel saved during flights, as well as a slight reduction in flying hours and a 30 percent cut in the company's cost for crew meals, Continental said Tuesday.

statement. "While we maintain a pledge to serve our customers with business as usual, we simply must take the position of not increasing costs. Through this agreement our pilots have shown that they recognize this," Harris said. "We felt that this was an opportunity for us to get behind him (Harris) because we do have the goal of getting the company through the fuel crisis and Chapter 11," Bob Rinehart, chairman of the Pilot Operations Group, said in a message to the Continental pilots.

The longer the bombardment goes on, the greater the strain on the coalition. As soon as the victims of damage from the American bombardment are seen on Stockholm TV, on Parisian TV ... support is likely to fade. From the day the war commences, the coalition is in trouble," he said. Schlesinger, now with the Center for Strategic and International Studies and a senior advisor to the investment banking firm of Lehman Brothers, was CIA director from 1973 until he took over the Defense Department in 1975.

He became assistant to President Carter the following year and set up the Department of Energy, where he served as secretary until 1979. Schlesinger said Syria could turn against the coalition and that the pressure would be great that could cut up to 2 million barrels of crude production each day, close to a fourth of the Saudi output, he said. Iraqis might also seek to damage the Saudi refinery in Jubail, or the refinery and port in Ras Tanura, where most of the Saudi exports are loaded onto ships. The refineries can handle a total of about 600,000 barrels a day. Any damage to Ras Tanura could be partially overcome if the Saudis increase the amount of crude moved through a pipeline to the Red Sea, Lichtblau said. The pipeline, however, probably couldn't pick up more than half the slack, he said. Damaging other Saudi oil facilities on the ground would be difficult. "Oil wells are not all that big," Lichtblau said. "To target your missile on an oil well, that kind of precision, I don't think anybody has. Oil wells cannot be easily damaged. Pipelines can be fixed quickly." The oil installations of Kuwait are considered to be at greater risk because the Iraqis have had plenty of time to wire them with explosives, experts said. Your Birthday

Jan. 17, 1991

Several associations you have endured that offered little value will fade from the scene in the year ahead. They will be replaced by new friendships in which constructive sharing is a priority. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Give a wide berth to a friend today whose present affairs are rather complicated. If you get too close, this individual may draw you into something you've been hoping to avoid.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You tend to be the center of attention today, whether you desire it or not. This has advantages as well as disadvantages. Be extra mindful of how you behave in public.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Views about which you are more emotional than logical should be kept to yourself today. Being a good listener could also be the right type of public relations.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Think carefully before involving yourself with friends in any type of joint venture today. If things don't work out to everyone's satisfaction, hard feelings could TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you have to make a major decision at this time affecting your mate as well as yourself, be sure there is complete accord. If there isn't harmony of purpose at first, wait until there is.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Much depends upon the way you respond today when others make requests of you. If your reaction is uncooperative, it will set the tone for their future behavior.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You must be very careful today not to be too protective or overly possessive of one you love. Your good intentions will count for nil if you hold the reins too tightly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Disagreements between you and your mate should not be aired in front of others today. Instead of resolving matters, it could furnish fuel to make things worse.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) For the sake of expediency today, you might be tempted to sell others on an idea you're not completely sold on yourself. Don't advocate concepts you cannot sincerely endorse.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You could be doing yourself a disservice today if you attempt to launch a new endeavor prematurely. Let propitiousness dictate your timetable, not impatience.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Objectives which are of extreme importance to you might not be of equal importance to your associates. No matter how hard you push them today, it won't enhance their interest.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Upon occasion, you can be a bit more blunt than necessary. This could be one of those days, and, if you speak before you think, you might regret it.

Dear Abby

Stuffed Shirt insists Guests Attend Wedding in Black Tie

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My brother's daughter will be married at 8 p.m. on a Saturday night. The invitation insert card has "black tie" written on it. Abby, my sons do not own tuxedos and cannot afford to rent them. When I explained this to my brother, he informed me that all men had to wear tuxedos, and if they did not, he would take it as a personal insult. Needless to say, I was shocked at my brother's attitude and told him so. Abby, I want to know if it would be permissible for my sons to wear navy blue or black suits. I don't wish to offend my brother, so should my sons not attend their cousin's wedding unless they can come up with the money to rent tuxedos? My sons are very close to their cousin (the bride) and it would sadden me if they did not attend her wedding. What would you do?

DEAR ABBY: My friend and I are having a little dispute. When are you categorized as a teen-ager? DISPUTING IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR DISPUTING: When a person celebrates his/her 13th birthday, he/she can be categorized as a teen-ager. One is no longer a teen at age 20.

DEAR SISTER: I would advise my sons to wear white shirts and formal bow ties with their navy blue or black suits, which very often pass for tuxedos. I assure you, very few people would notice or even care—with the possible exception of your brother. And since he would take it as a personal insult if your sons dared to appear in anything but tuxedos, why doesn't this pompous snob offer to pay for the rentals?

DEAR SOMEBODY: Maybe — just maybe — you turned someone's life around. Thanks for writing. Good luck and God bless.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this in your column. If it helps just one person, it is worth it. I am currently serving a 13-year prison sentence in Texas for armed robbery. It all started when I was 15 and succumbed to peer pressure to smoke a "joint" — marijuana. By the time I was 18, I was drinking every day and doing hard drugs. These last five years have been a living nightmare in my fight against alcohol and drugs, but I couldn't or wouldn't stop until I was locked up.

Abby, I am 31 years old. Prison life is very hard. Every ounce of freedom is taken from you. When your loved ones come to see you and you have to talk with a glass partition between you, it tears your heart out. I have a hard time trying to forgive myself for what I have done to my parents, my wife and kids.

A message for your readers: Please, if you are a young person, don't let peer pressure get to you. If you have to break the law to be "in" with your friends, find new friends. If you have already started to drink or do dope, get help. Any kind of help. Just get it. Don't say you can handle it. That's what I said.

Gonzalez seeks Bush's ouster over handling of situation in Gulf

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez is calling on Congress to consider impeachment proceedings against President Bush because of the military buildup in the Persian Gulf and the potential for tens of thousands of casualties.

Gonzalez, D-San Antonio, the chairman of the House Banking Committee, said Tuesday he is relying on research by former Democratic attorney general Ramsey Clark in drafting the legislation.

Clark, calling the president "Rambo Bush," said Bush and his administration had engaged in numerous "acts calculated to destroy peace and lead us into war."

The White House had no comment.

Citing the deployment of 400,000 troops to the Middle East in an "undeclared war," Gonzalez said he is afraid that the country has "gone back to that which the founding fathers (who) wrote the Constitution feared the most, and that was king-made wars."

"And we even have the despicable scene of our president of the United States, involving himself in a personal, personal name-calling with the very man (Saddam Hussein) that he considers inferior in every respect. Putting himself on the same level shames... the office of the president and I certainly do intend to prepare a resolution of impeachment," Gonzalez said.

Comparing the president to a "modern-day, 20th century Caesar," Gonzalez said he would introduce a resolution of impeachment in the House as early as today.

At a news conference Tuesday, Clark and Gonzalez distributed a preliminary memorandum on the basis for impeachment that said Bush had conspired to lead the United States into an aggressive war against Iraq in violation of the Constitution and international law.

The memo also said Bush, Vice President Dan Quayle and Secretary of State James A. Baker III were also planning to engage in an unlawful "massive war against Iraq employing methods of mass destruction" that would result in tens of thousands of civilian casualties, many of them children.

Chris Doleman of the Minnesota Vikings had 21 quarterback sacks in 1989 to lead the NFL.

Soviets have used up most food credits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has used up two-thirds of the $900 million in U.S. credit guarantees earmarked for corn, wheat and other commodities, the Agriculture Department says.

But the long-awaited deal with Moscow is clouded by the bloody use of Soviet troops in Lithuania last weekend in a crackdown on protests. Fourteen were killed and scores injured.

As of the close of business Monday, a total of $639.5 million in loan guarantees had been registered, USDA reported Tuesday.

President Bush last month cleared the way for $1 billion in guarantees — private banks will make the actual loans — so the Soviets can buy the commodities.

The USDA allocated $900 million on Jan. 8, with the balance to be apportioned later. The allocation also included $50 million for transportation.

As specified, the $900 million included: $530 million for corn and other feed grains; $165 million for wheat and flour; $130 million for soybean meal and other high-protein meals; and $25 million for poultry meat.

The report said the $639.5 million used so far include $504.8 million for nearly 3.9 million metric tons of corn and $134.7 million for 600,000 tons of soybean meal.

After the Soviet army cracked down in Lithuania, the White House said Monday that Bush is reconsidering his economic help for the ailing Soviet economy.

Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter said Moscow would be allowed to take delivery on the grain and meal already purchased but that further sales would be reviewed.

The sales already announced "will clearly be honored," Yeutter said Monday. "With respect as to whether there'll be any change in the program in the light of what has happened (in Lithuania), there's no way to report on that as yet."

Yeutter added, "Clearly, that situation — the Soviet situation — will have to be followed closely over the next few days as it unfolds."

The crackdown in Lithuania prompted Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., to call for a suspension in the credit deal with Moscow. He said "the United States must not be a party to oppression and blackmail."

Dole added: "Our farmers aren't blood merchants. They understand that they'll survive without selling grain at this time to the Soviet Union unless there is a dramatic change."

Although Yeutter and other USDA officials say the corn and soybean sales will stand while the remainder of the deal is reviewed, there is a precedent that can cause chills among American farmers.

On Jan. 4, 1980, then-President Carter ordered a partial embargo of U.S. grain sales to the Soviet Union in retaliation for Moscow's invasion of Afghanistan.

The Carter embargo, which became an object of scorn among Republican candidates in that fall's elections, was lifted in April 1981 by President Reagan, 16 months after it was imposed.

When Carter ordered the embargo, the Soviet Union had committed to buy around 22 million metric tons of U.S. wheat and corn.

The embargo was partial because Carter let stand 8 million tons that had been guaranteed under a long-term grain supply agreement at the time. But about 14 million tons, which had already been contracted by the grain companies, were canceled.

Survival skills

By James Jacoby

How could North cue-bid three diamonds without a diamond control? It was just part of his bidding system. After West's two-diamond overcall, three spades would be a limit raise, only inviting game. And a jump to four spades would show less in high-card strength. So three diamonds showed a forcing-to-game spade raise. South bid his time with three spades, but then jumped to six when North raised to four. For those of you who do not know it, that sudden jump to slam usually shows a void in a side-suit. This time it was in clubs.

Declarer had to watch his p's and q's after the club lead. If he won the ace and threw a diamond without thinking, he would be set. He could survive by throwing a low heart instead. But he would need to draw trumps ending in his hand and then lead a low heart up to dummy's queen. If West ducked, dummy's queen would win, and the heart king would be thrown on the other high club. If West took the heart ace right away, declarer would later take the king and then get to dummy to throw two diamonds on the good club and the heart queen.

What declarer actually did was easier. He played low from dummy and ruffed. He cashed the A-Q of spades and then led a heart up to the queen. West ducked, dummy's queen won, and the K-6 of hearts went away on the A-K of clubs. Nice, but all of this play strategy would have been wasted if East had made a lead-directing double of North's three-diamond cue-bid. With an opening diamond lead, declarer is dead in the water.

Lawsuit settled; no details given

DALLAS (AP) — A former Texas insurance commissioner accused of conspiring to steal millions from his own company has settled an $11 million civil lawsuit against him, his lawyer confirmed.

Joseph D. Hawkins was accused of racketeering and theft in connection with the 1986 collapse of Continental Bankers Life Insurance Co. of the South.

His attorney, Mark A. Weitz, and Texas insurance regulators involved in the federal lawsuit confirmed the settlement but refused to reveal details, The Dallas Morning News reported Tuesday.

People's march draws thousands

AUSTIN (AP) — Thousands of people became part of history as they joined Gov. Ann Richards in a "People's March" to the Capitol.

About 5,000 people began the 12-block trek Tuesday up Congress Avenue, but by the time the crowd arrived on the south lawn of the Capitol, their numbers had increased to between 15,000 and 25,000, according to estimates.

"I think that she's the greatest thing that's ever happened to Texas and I wanted to be a part of it," said Margaret Hutchinson, who traveled from Bowie. "I think she'll make a wonderful governor."

Ruth Swart of Austin said she didn't vote for Richards, but wanted her four children, ages 3 to 10, to see the first woman governor in Texas in more than one-half century.

"I wanted them to have a feel that government is us. I think it's good for them to see that a woman can be governor," she said.

Sharon Neill, a high school counselor from Waco, marched, saying, "She stands for everything that Texans believe in."

The idea for the march was an accident, according to Richards.

"On the campaign trail I was making a speech and I just said, 'We're going to win this and when we do, we're going to join arm in arm and take the Capitol back for Texas,'" Richards said.

Wearing a white mohair coat and yellow ribbon, Richards followed high school marching bands from the Edgewood school district in San Antonio, a district know for its battle against the state on public school finance.

"The Edgewood band is symbolic of what we want to accomplish in this state. That is that every child is going to have an opportunity for an equal and quality education. I thought it was important for them to lead us to the new Texas," Richards said.

Pete Gomez, a sophomore at Memorial High School, which is in the Edgewood district, appreciated being invited to the march, saying, "She's nice. I like the way she does things."

Richards was pointed out as "the lady with the white hair" by those who stood on ladders, rooftops, bus benches, and waved from office windows to catch a glimpse of her.

People carried signs proclaiming their hometowns, and one window held a sign "On to the White House."

Hours after being sworn in as the 45th governor of Texas, she and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock arrived in horse-drawn carriages to the reviewing stand for the Inaugural Parade that featured about 100 units, including a giant can of hair spray, an apparent poke at Richards' trademark bouffant hairstyle.

The bands of Pecos and Hereford high schools gave Richards yellow roses and serenaded her with "The Yellow Rose of Texas."

Disturbance leads to four arrests

Snyder police activity for Tuesday included a report of criminal mischief, a case of injury to a child and the arrests of four subjects at a disturbance.

A report for criminal mischief was filed at 7:32 a.m. at National Guard Armory. Damage had been done to the building over the weekend.

A report for injury to a child was filed at 3:15 p.m. in a case involving a 12-year-old child. According to police reports, a subject has been identified in the alleged incident and the case forwarded to the district attorney for consideration.

Police were called to a disturbance in the 600 block of 30th St. at 10:14 p.m. where officers took four subjects into custody, including two juveniles.

A 17-year-old male was arrested for criminal trespass and an 18-year-old male was charged with disorderly conduct. Both were transported to Scurry County Jail.

Two male juveniles, ages 14 and 16, were taken to police headquarters and charged with disorderly conduct. They were later released into the custody of their parents.

SDN Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
Recently I read a letter sent to the SDN opposing the impending war in the (Persian) Gulf. Not only do I personally take exception to this letter, but I am sure many people who have served in the military feel the same.

Spending over 21 years in the Air Force, a Korean veteran, and Vietnam veteran, I saw many fine people, mostly younger than I, pay the supreme price fighting to preserve liberty and justice and the American way of life. During the Vietnam era I was stationed in the Philippines. Many a morning on the way to work I saw Blue Bird buses leave the flight line with double and triple amputees arriving only hours from the battlefields of Vietnam.

I felt proud to be serving my country, doing my small part supporting our country's efforts to end oppression in Southeast Asia.

My dad proudly served in the U.S. Navy in World War I. To see the "footprint of the American chicken" upsets me now as it did back in the sixties when some people were opposing American efforts then. I think of the many people who had gone to war; many not coming back, other returning as cripples, but proud to do what needed to be done.

He has been robbed, murdered, raped and run over by a brutal tyrant. Appeasing a bully never works. World history has proven that.

Thank you, Art Feinsod Sgt. Ret. USAF Snyder, Texas

One of the worst outbreaks of rioting in the United States erupted in Detroit July 23, 1967, after police raided a black-owned nightspot. State and federal troops were brought in to stem the violence. By the time order was restored several days later, 43 people had been killed and hundreds of businesses destroyed.

Richards details 'New Texas' plans

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards, a 57-year-old Democrat, promised that her administration would be one for the history books.

"Today, the historians will record that a new administration, different from any in the past, began," she said.

Frequently interrupted by cheers and applause, she sounded the "New Texas" theme she used to launch her campaign in June 1989.

Richards, a former school teacher, said the new Texas would put a premium on schools, making sure every child receives an education that "allows them to claim the full promise of their lives."

Her administration, she said, has "a vision of a Texas where every citizen is treated by the government with respect and dignity and honesty. One where consumers are protected, where business is nurtured and valued, where good jobs are plentiful, where those in need find compassion and love and help."

Richards made reform of government ethics a cornerstone of her campaign against Republican Clayton Williams and Tuesday renewed her pledge to clean up government.

She said state government must act in a manner "where every decision is measured against the high standard of ethics and true commitment to the public trust."

The Department of Public Safety estimated that 15,000 to 20,000 people blanketed the Capitol lawn to watch Richards become the first woman governor since Miriam "Ma" Ferguson left the office in 1935.

Richards took the oath of office under a clear sky shortly after noon. It was administered by Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Tom Phillips. Representatives of 35 foreign countries and the four Mexican states that border the United States also attended, officials said.

Prayer for troops tops Inauguration Day

AUSTIN (AP) — While Inauguration Day was mostly a day of celebration for Gov. Ann Richards, it started with a prayer for the American troops in the Persian Gulf.

The service was held just four hours before Richards became governor Tuesday and 15 hours before the United Nations' deadline for Iraq to leave Kuwait or face possible attack.

"On this day, those of us who have experienced the horrors of war know that our beloved country faces a new challenge," said the Rev. Quay Parmer of Arlington.

"We want to do our best for peace, but let us be aware that it may be necessary to sacrifice for it... We know, oh God, that our forces now in Saudi Arabia need the awareness of your presence. Give them the courage and ability to do their duty as they work together for peace," Parmer said. Richards, then still the governor-elect, was joined by about 300 others at the prayer service, held in a drill hall at Camp Mabry, headquarters of the Texas National Guard.

Guests at the private prayer service were presented with small Texas flags and miniature yellow ribbons emblazoned with the words, "The Heart of Texas Is With You."

Among those attending were family members of troops from Fort Hood and Bergstrom Air Force Base.

Richards took a front-row seat in the drill hall and heard a succession of clergymen from several faiths pray for peace.

"Today when we are so happy, so joyous, so full of celebration, we are also anxious, concerned, unsure of what will happen tonight, tomorrow. How do we pray for peace?" asked the Rev.

Bobbi Kaye Jones, senior church, First United Methodist of associate pastor of Richards' Austin.

Texas school children told about value of education

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards, speaking to Texas school children in a special address, said she didn't aspire to the state's highest office as a child.

"When I was a young girl, women didn't do things like that," she said during a live Inauguration Day broadcast from the Governor's Mansion Tuesday.

But now, she said, "We look up, and we see these guys doing these jobs, and we think, 'Well shoot, if you can do that, I can do that too.'"

Among several students who joined Richards for the broadcast was 10-year-old Kori Clark, a Comanche fifth-grader who once wrote a paper saying she wanted to be governor.

When Kori was told her aspirations were too high, the girl wrote to Richards. Kori became a friend and contributed part of her allowance each month to Richards' campaign, the governor said.

"Isn't it nice, Kori, that we're here?" Richards asked.

Area lodges to install officers

ROWENA — Leroy Muehlstein of San Antonio, grand president of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas, will install officers of nine West Texas Hermann Sons lodges in ceremonies set this Sunday in the Rowena Hermann Sons Lodge Hall.

Assisting him will be Grand Lodge Laws Committee member Clarence Teichelman of Stamford and Grand Lodge Fraternal Activities Committee members Oliver Grobe of San Antonio and Herbert Vahlenkamp of Old Glory.

Hermleigh Lodge No. 256 and Roscoe Lodge No. 257, both family lodges with men and women members, will have their officers installed Sunday, along with seven other lodges.

Richards told some stories from Texas history and touted the importance of a good education during her address.

"What you learn now is going to determine what kind of job you can get as an adult. It's going to determine whether or not you're going to really enjoy life, or whether you're always going to be scraping and trying to just eke out a living," said Richards.

And as the state faces a legal challenge by poor school districts that want more education funding, Richards said, "We simply must come up with the money" for schools that don't have enough.

"You represent our future," Richards told the students.

The 30-minute broadcast was carried on the Home Sports Entertainment channel and all 14 Texas public television stations. It included a short biography of Richards, and videos from students congratulating the new governor.

Richards began her talk standing on the stairs in the Governor's Mansion entry, saying children should feel at home there.

Former Gov. Elisha Pease "had a kind of rowdy crew of kids," she said.

One of former Gov. Sam Houston's boys locked state senators in the Senate chamber and hid the key, Richards said. And former Gov. Jim Hogg put tacks on the bannister to prevent his children from sliding on it.

Richards then moved into the library, where she was joined by children including Kori; Kwasi Agbottah, Selena Edelen, and Richard and John Gentry of Austin; Jessica Velasquez of Round Rock; Robert Flores of Corpus Christi; Andrew Madison of Colleyville; Justin Harris of Arlington; Stephanie and Karen Carriker of Roby; and Jenny Ritter of El Paso.

"I tell you what, we'll have a party in about a year, and I'll have all of you visit," she told them.

Richards, Bullock go dancing at ball

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards promised her new administration today would begin forging a state full of renewed energy and promise for all Texans.

But Tuesday night, as she and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock made the scene at four sold-out balls to celebrate their inaugurations earlier Tuesday, revelry was the only item on the agenda.

"I hope you have a wonderful time tonight, because tomorrow we're going to go to work," Richards told a cheering throng pressed between the green marble columns at the Driskill Hotel.

The U.N. deadline for Iraq to withdraw from Kuwait passed at 11 p.m. CST just before Richards addressed the crowd at the Driskill. Richards did not comment on the impending war, but she did recognize Tuesday as the birthday of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

"I'm living the dream that Martin Luther King preached to us, and that was open the doors and let us in," she said, as she repeated her campaign promises to emphasize equal opportunity, education and the environment.

At the Austin Opera House Ball, the first Richards attended, an estimated 2,000 celebrants gathered, garbed in everything from blue jeans and cowboy boots to sequined gowns covered with glittering Texas stars.

"We're going to dance this administration into office," said Ray Benson, leader of the Austin-based progressive country band Asleep at the Wheel, as the band swung into "San Antonio Rose."

Richards, Bullock and a host of other state officials, including House Speaker Gib Lewis, entered the ball under the crossed swords of Texas A&M's Ross Volunteers and a shower of red, white and blue confetti and streamers.

Richards was introduced by state Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin.

"Some see our new governor as a silver-haired grandmother," he said. "I see a woman who in just 18 short years has risen from campaign volunteer to the pinnacle of power."

Richards and escort Bud Shrake danced to the sound of "Waltz Across Texas" until Richards' father, Cecil Willis of Waco, cut in. Smiling and laughing, father and daughter completed the dance together, with a proud Willis twirling the new governor at arm's length.

"Tonight, I went back to my new house to change clothes," Richards said. "And it was wonderful to know that the house that has been the home for so many governors and so rich in tradition is now going to be home to someone who's going to open its doors to the people who own it."

A crowd of at least 7,000 attended a more formal party at the Frank Erwin Center, as the arena filled with women in shimmering gowns and several thousand more people watched from the seats.

Some of the loudest cheers were for newly elected Texas Court of Criminal Appeals Judge Morris Overstreet of Amarillo, whose evening wear included a top hat and vivid cummerbund.

"This is unquestionably the finest night of our lives and one that you made possible for Jan and me," Bullock said. "We're going to make you a Texas that you're really proud of and we thank you so much from the bottom of our hearts."

Hundreds of red, white and blue balloons dropped from the ceiling as Richards danced with Shrake, an Austin author and screenwriter. Once again, Shrake was not able to complete the first dance with Richards, as her son Dan Richards cut in.

"It is a wonderful night for me. My feet are killing me. My jaws absolutely ache from smiling. And I wouldn't change a bit of it," Richards said.

At the balls, partygoers partook of Texas wines and hors d'oeuvres and bought drinks from full bars. Admission to the bashes at the Austin Opera House and the Driskill Hotel were $15 each, while those at the Erwin Center and Palmer Auditorium cost $50.

Richards wore a four-piece gown ensemble in fuchsia and orange silk and taffeta, an original design by Austin native Michael Casey. Bullock's wife, Jan, wore a black long-sleeved, backless gown created gratis by Texas Woman's University fashion professor Les Wilk and five TWU students.

Bullock takes oath

AUSTIN (AP) — Bob Bullock, a bare knuckles Democratic Party partisan for over 30 years, has been sworn in as Texas' 38th lieutenant governor.

He immediately produced a short list of things he said the Legislature must accomplish.

Bullock, 61, took the oath of office Tuesday as the successor to Democrat Bill Hobby, who served for a record 18 years in the job many consider the most powerful in state government.

He brings to the position 16 years of experience as state comptroller, as well as briefer periods as a state House member from Hillsboro, governor's assistant and secretary of state.

In his inaugural address Bullock laid out an "absolute minimum" agenda for lawmakers, including new ways of raising and spending taxpayers' money.

"We must set state government on a new financial course," he said. "We cannot condone business-as-usual in the way we spend our money, and we cannot condone business-as-usual in the way we raise the money."

Although he offered no specific recommendations, Bullock has proposed adoption of a one-year budget, rather than the traditional two-year budget, and has told legislators to be open-minded about new forms of taxation.

The swearing-in of Bullock by Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Tom Phillips preceded the oath taken by Gov. Ann Richards, who has held the spotlight among officeholders since the November general election.

Gulf interest gains viewers for newcasts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Big Three networks' evening newcasts gained nearly 3 million viewers last week as reckoning day in the Persian Gulf drew near.

ABC and Peter Jennings were No. 1 with a 12.5 average, while NBC and CBS tied at 11.5, the A.C. Nielsen Co. reported Tuesday.

Those ratings for the last full week before Tuesday's U.N. deadline for Iraq to get out of Kuwait reflect an increase from the previous week of nearly 1 million viewers for each network. A ratings point represents 931,000 homes.

In the overall ratings, NBC won with a 14.5, the network's best finish of the 17-week-old season. NBC also won by the biggest margin of the season, finishing two points ahead of CBS. CBS had a 12.4, ABC a 12.3.

NBC's "Cheers" was the most watched show on television, followed by CBS' "60 Minutes" and its special Persian Gulf reports. CBS' smart-aleck TV reporter "Murphy Brown" was No. 3 and the network's "Designing Women" were No. 4.

NBC also scored with the premiere of "Dark Shadows," a prime-time series based on the old daytime soap. Sunday's first installment of a "Dark Shadows" miniseries launching the program tied with ABC's "20-20" for 30th place.

Here are the top 10 shows, their network and rating: "Cheers," NBC, 23.4; "60 Minutes," CBS, 20.6; "Murphy Brown," CBS, 20; "Designing Women," CBS, 19.9; "A Different World," NBC, 19.4; "The Golden Girls," NBC, 19.3; "America's Funniest Home Videos," ABC, 19.1; "Roseanne," ABC, 18.8; "Bob Hope's Christmas Cheer," NBC, "Family Matters," ABC, "Full House," ABC (tie) 18.1.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please provide information on a Baker's cyst. What is the cause and cure?

DEAR READER: A Baker's cyst is a swelling behind the knee produced by leakage of joint fluid that becomes trapped in a membrane near the sac enclosing the joint. The cause is unknown. Ordinarily, the cyst is not associated with symptoms other than a protrusion and feeling of fullness. In some cases, however, discomfort can result. The cyst, which is not harmful, can be removed surgically by an orthopedic surgeon but, ordinarily, this is not necessary unless the cyst is painful.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I understand that etidronate disodium is now being used in the treatment of osteoporosis. I'm interested in the preventive use of this drug as a substitute for estrogen, which has caused an adverse reaction.

DEAR READER: Etidronate disodium (Didronel) is a promising new treatment for osteoporosis. For years, it was used for Paget's disease of bone, a disorder marked by areas of rapid bone turnover that lead to pain and deformity. Earlier this year, a study in the New England Journal of Medicine showed that etidronate increased bone density, thus strength, in a large group of osteoporotic women. This decreased the rate of fractures, the most common complication of osteoporosis.

Some authorities have suggested that the drug might be most useful as an osteoporosis preventative.

As yet, etidronate has not been approved by the Food and Drug Administration for treatment of osteoporosis. Also, no one knows the potential complications of its long-term use as preventative. More research is needed before etidronate becomes an accepted therapy for osteoporosis.

I am surprised you could not tolerate estrogen therapy, the presently accepted treatment for post-menopausal osteoporosis. Estrogen usually produces no side effects, although some women may react adversely to specific brands of the hormone.

I suggest you work with your gynecologist to discover other forms of estrogen therapy that would agree with you. Eventually, etidronate may be available as a substitute but, for now, you'll have to rely on other medicines, such as hormones and calcitonin, for osteoporosis.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Osteoporosis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P.O. Box 913689, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.
