Ask Us

Q—How can the school board justify rescheduling its March board meeting which was planned during Spring Break when it will not reschedule the March 11 makeup day for teachers and students to March 29?

A—School board meetings, like other board and city council meetings, are set on routine days of the month as opposed to specific calendar dates. For SISD, they are on the second Thursday of each month. When one of these days is discovered to be in conflict with other dates such as Spring Break or the Christmas-New Year holidays, they are changed. The March 11 date was scheduled specifically as a bad weather makeup day.

Iraqis 'ready' to fight ground war

Saddam's speech leaves peace proposal up in air

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia (AP) — As the war vigil ticked toward an expected allied ground offensive, Saddam Hussein declared today that Iraq is ready to fight a ground war if President Bush continues to reject his diplomatic efforts.

As Saddam spoke, his foreign minister, Tariq Aziz, was headed for Moscow with Iraq's answer to a Soviet peace proposal. Bush was reported to have told Mikhail S. Gorbachev the proposal needs additional conditions to be acceptable to the United States.

"There is no path except the path that we have chosen ... and which Tariq Aziz has carried to Moscow," Saddam said in a speech broadcast by Baghdad radio.

It was not clear from Saddam's 40-minute address, the first in his own voice since Feb. 10, what Iraq's response was to Moscow's peace plan. Saddam did not say if he had accepted or rejected the Soviet proposal, details of which have not been disclosed.

In his speech, the Iraqi leader reiterated the linkage between an Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait and an Israeli withdrawal from territories it occupies — a linkage the United States has adamantly rejected.

In Washington, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater called Saddam's speech "disappointing."

"He repeats the same invective and disregard for the United Nations mandate that we have heard so often since Aug. 2," Fitzwater said.

At about the same time Saddam spoke, Iraq launched Scud missiles into Saudi Arabia today in a rare daylight attack, the U.S. military command said.

The Saudi military briefer, Col. Ahmed al-Robayan, said two Scuds were intercepted by (see SADDAM, page 11)

Tibbit named new ASB manager here

Mike Tibbit has been promoted to vice president and branch manager of American State Bank in Snyder, ASB president and chairman of the board W.R. Collier has announced.

Tibbit, who has been branch manager since 1987 for Liberty State in Lubbock, was in Snyder today and will officially begin his duties Monday. Liberty State and American State Bank are both part of the American State Financial Corporation, a West Texas-owned holding company.

"Mike's experience and civic involvement will be an excellent addition to our bank and community," said Helen McLeod.

Mrs. McLeod, who has been branch manager, will continue as vice president with primary duties in public relations and marketing. She will also continue as a loan officer.

A graduate of Texas Tech University with a degree in business administration, Tibbit is active in United Way of Lubbock, West Texas Museum Association, University Medical Center Forum, Lubbock Citizens Police Academy and Oakwood Baptist Church. He and his wife, Mary, have twin sons, Trey and Trent.

"American State Bank of Snyder is growing and we feel that Mike's expertise in credit analysis and commercial lending will add to the bank's strength," said Collier.

BCD meets...

Officers elected; finances approved

Jack Smartt was elected chairman of Scurry County Board of Development during the board's February meeting Wednesday afternoon at chamber offices.

Elected vice chairman was Max von Roeder during the noon meeting in which the board also heard a report of the chamber of commerce's annual financial report and a presentation from local Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District officials.

The board agreed to fund the economic development planning committee on an "as needed" basis. Some $1,860 was approved for the committee, which is compiling a comprehensive economic development plan for Scurry County.

The committee projects $3,720 will be needed to compile the document which is expected to be completed in 10 months.

Charlie Henderson and Terry Hefner of the Upper Colorado SWCD attended the meeting to update the board on the district's projects. During last month's meeting, the BCD approved its annual stipend of $1,000 to the district.

Henderson and Hefner told the group the money goes to help fund projects such as the district's annual essay and poster contest for county school students.

Some 10 other projects are sponsored or co-sponsored by the district, including an annual awards banquet for area farmers and ranchers, soil stewardship week, the bi-annual ranch breakfasts and bookcovers and booklets promoting conservation.

Hefner told the board that its $1,000 donation is matched by state funds.

In addition, Henderson noted the district played a role in getting the Big Country Resource Conservation and Development program approved.

The approval of the RC&D program was announced by U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm in Snyder last week.

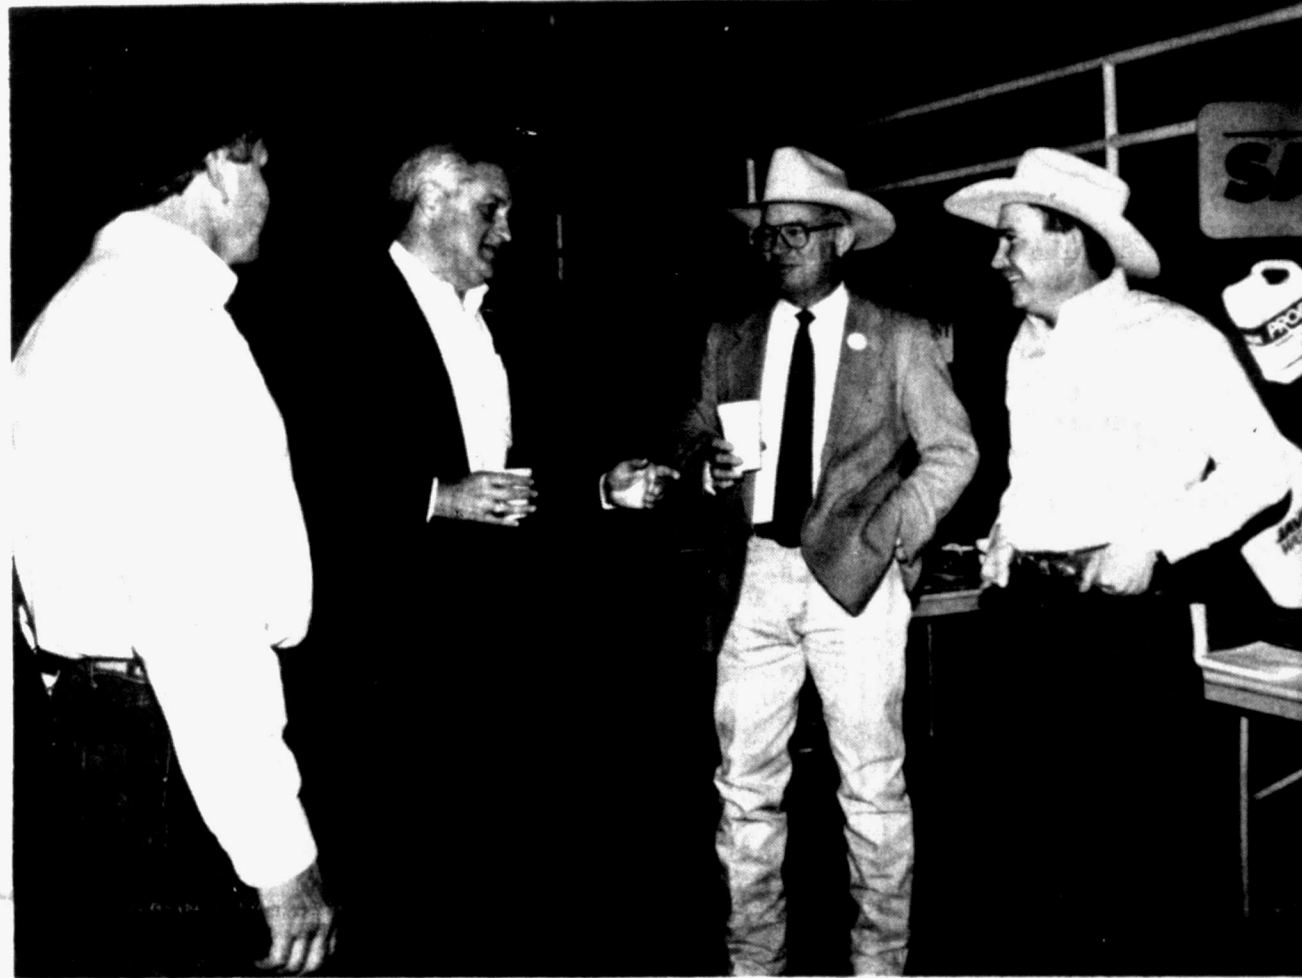

Also attending the meeting was chamber treasurer Susan Neves to present the board with the chamber's annual financial statement.

The BCD pays $36,000 a year as part of a consulting contract with Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Noting recent public criticism of BCD, board member Max von Roeder noted the board's budget is less than one-half of one percent of the county's $12 million budget.

Also during the meeting, former board member and chairman Jack Denman was presented a plaque in recognition of his service on the board. Former board member Bill Parker did not attend the

At Western Texas College...

Quadriga to perform Sunday

Quadriga, Texas Tech University's piano quartet in residence, will be performing in the Western Texas College Fine Arts Theatre at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

The public is invited to attend. The program is part of Community College Month and there is no admission charge.

Quadriga specializes in chamber music. The program at WTC will include a piano quartet in one movement by Gustav Mahler and four movements of the Piano Quartet in C Minor, op. 13, by Richard Strauss.

Members of the quartet are Steven Glaser, pianist; Susan Schoenfeld, violist; James Barber, violinist; and Arthur Follows, violoncellist. Glaser will return to WTC as a guest artist on March 19.

Glaser joined the Texas Tech piano faculty in 1988. Barber is chairman of the string division at Tech. Ms. Schoenfeld is faculty violist at Tech and coach for the Tech Viola Ensemble. Follows teaches classes in music literature at Tech and offers private cello lessons.

Quadriga performed earlier this month in San Antonio at the Texas Music Education Association conference, the largest music conference in the state.

The Texas Commission on the Arts (TCA) has appointed Quadriga as part of its 1991 Texas Touring Arts Roster. The group, formed in 1988, auditioned for the position this year in hopes of joining other Texas artists representing TCA. With the selection to the roster, Quadriga will be able to perform more concerts in other cities because TCA will cover up to 50 percent of the quartet's performance charge.

"In a chamber music group, diversity comes together, combining individual talents, to produce collective artistry," said Glaser, who has been featured as a soloist worldwide. "The difference between performing solo and chamber concerts is the interaction among the members, which makes the whole more important than the parts."

School finance...

Senate okays bill, sends it to House

AUSTIN (AP) — A "Robin Hood" plan to shift local property tax revenue from rich to poor school districts won Senate approval and was sent to the House, which may vote next week on school finance reform.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock hailed the Senate measure, passed 20-7 Wednesday, as "the finest piece of legislation that's been passed in the Texas Legislature in its history."

The bill sponsor, Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said, "What we have done basically is created a new system of public school finance that gives every child in Texas access to the same amount of property wealth for his or her education."

House Speaker Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said he expects the House measure to be similar to Parker's.

When fully implemented in four years, Parker's bill would take an estimated $481 million a year in local property tax money from wealthy school districts and spend it in poor ones.

The legislation is in response to a Texas Supreme Court order requiring the state to equitably fund poor school districts.

The $14 billion-a-year school finance system declared unconstitutional by the court relies on state aid, local property taxes and some federal money.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Stress occurs when you say yes, but intended to say no."

A sign of the times: The newspaper in Charlotte, N.C., recently asked kids ages 7 to 12 to name as many United States Presidents as they could.

The average grade school kid knew the names of 4.8 presidents.

The same group was asked to name all the alcoholic beverages they could. The same batch of kids could name 5.2 kinds of liquor.

We thought you might find that sobering.

Speaking of signs, a recent article on the best and worst of the past year had a picture showing the best ski lift sign.

Located at a ski resort in Oregon, the sign read: "Going beyond this point may result in death and/or loss of skiing privileges."

Plans are still in the works to bring 911 emergency service to Scurry County, but a wire-service story shows that the system, although a vast improvement, is not perfect.

In Blacksburg, Va., emergency personnel, including sheriff's deputies with drawn guns, rushed in to a series of 911 calls but found out that it had been summoned by a "fruit."

A dispatcher had traced the calls to a residence with no one home. Police thought someone had broken into the residence.

One deputy later found an overripe tomato in a hanging basket, dripping juice onto a telephone-answering machine below.

Investigators believe the juice from the distressed tomato shorted out the machine's dialing system, causing it to call the emergency hot line.

DALLAS (AP) — Texans greeted President Bush's national energy policy with about the same enthusiasm they would muster for a dry well.

Energy industry leaders complained Wednesday the proposal leaves out incentives that will stir domestic production back to life.

Environmental activists said the plan does nothing to promote conservation, recycling or other energy-saving steps.

Even Bush's chief cheerleader in the Texas congressional delegation, Republican Sen. Phil

Gramm, would only call it a "good effort."

"I was hoping we might get additional incentives for domestic production of oil," Gramm said. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, a Democrat, blasted Bush's proposal, saying it takes the "head-in-the-sand approach followed by the Reagan administration."

Details of the plan have leaked out of Washington offices for nearly two weeks. Bush made the proposal — gleaned from two years of fact-gathering hearings — official Wednesday during an appearance with Energy Secretary James Watkins.

He wants pipelines deregulated, more oil exploration in Alaska, expanded use of nuclear power and natural gas used in fleets where the vehicles and fuel are readily available.

Bush rejected a Department of Energy proposal for a two-cent-per kilowatt hour tax credit on electricity produced from renewable sources such as solar and wind. His aides also deleted DOE proposals for tax incentives to independent oil and gas producers, said Harry Spannaus of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association.

"Those staffers at the White House cut and pasted the strategy so it had very little resemblance" to the DOE's proposal, Spannaus said. "I'm afraid it will even dismantle the industry more than what has been done since the fall of oil prices in 1986."

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, who manages 20.5 million acres of state-owned land and mineral rights, had praise only for the plan's focus on natural gas, which will benefit Texas because of its abundant reserves.

Mauro helped inaugurate natural gas sales at an Austin Texaco Wednesday, the first gas station in the state to sell the alternative fuel. The Dallas Area Rapid Transit said Wednesday it would begin testing natural gas on a downtown bus route.

T. Boone Pickens, chief investor of the natural gas-producing Mesa Limited Partnership, said gas appears to be an afterthought in the Bush plan.

"As long as we promote risky exploration for oil over safe utilization of a plentiful domestic resource like natural gas, we'll continue to have energy concerns and environmental crises," Pickens said, referring to the emphasis on Alaskan exploration.

George Mitchell, president of Mitchell Energy & Development Corp. in The Woodlands, called the plan "absolutely a disaster" for independent producers of gas and oil.

He said Bush missed his best opportunity to propose a "minimum security level" or floor prices that would guarantee incentives to produce. Until such levels are set, Mitchell said, "You're not going to have very much action out there."

Collector gets rare comic book back, three arrested

HOUSTON (AP) — Holy comic book! A Houston bookstore owner said it was like someone had stolen his wedding ring when thieves made off with his prized Batman No. 1 comic book.

Kenneth Donnell says he wouldn't have parted with his Batman No. 1 for all the money in the world although it sold for only a dime in 1940.

He was devastated last week upon learning it had been stolen.

"I had that book since 1972," Donnell, co-owner of the Northside Book Emporium, said Wednesday. "I had it bound in a hardback casing and my name in gold stamped in it. When I found it was missing, it was a very personal blow: like losing a wedding ring."

Three regular customers have been arrested for stealing the Batman No. 1 and several other rare comic books, including those featuring Captain Marvel and Lex Luthor, Superman's arch-enemy.

Donnell may consider the Batman book priceless for sentimental reasons, but police estimate its cost at $4,000. They estimate the cost of the stolen items at $16,628.

Raymond Reyes III, Gonzalo Pena and brother Julian Pena, all 19, of Houston, were arrested after two of them attempted to sell the Batman to another Houston comics dealer, who recognized it as perhaps the only such comic in Houston.

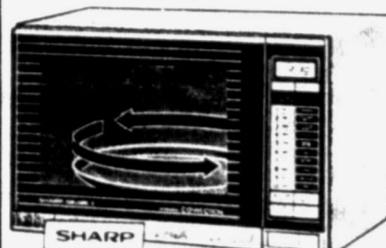

Donnell described Reyes as a "really nice kid" and "die-hard collector," who came to the store every week to purchase comics.

The store owner said Reyes and one other man shoplifted two boxes of his most valuable items, which were not for sale, while a clerk was in the back room.

Astrographs

By Bernice-Bede Osol

Feb. 22, 1991

Even though national economic trends might be gloomy in the year ahead, you could be one of the lucky signs that will not feel the pinch as much as others. Do something meaningful with your opportunities.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're still in a favorable trend where things should work out to your ultimate advantage, provided you don't rock the boat or make changes merely for the sake of change. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're not apt to mince words today. In situations where you might usually hold your tongue, you're likely to tell offenders exactly how you feel.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try not to put too much emphasis on things of a material nature when dealing with pals today. If you do, it might look like you are more concerned about what's in it for you than friendship itself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If things don't go your way today, there's a possibility you could overreact in an un-coming manner. You might make a poor impression on people who are familiar only with your gentle demeanor.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) When dealing with an individual who recently did something you found offensive today, it's best to bring the matter out into the open rather than let it smolder in silence. It may fester if unresolved.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Things which may arouse your enthusiasm today might not have the same effect upon your friends. Don't get angry or think less of them if they don't agree with you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) When motivated, your probabilities for fulfilling your expectations are extremely good today, even if the conditions you may have to contend with are more challenging than usual.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Upon occasion, it's sometimes advisable to take a calculated risk in order to advance a personal interest. Don't be timid in situations that require bold measures today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're in a rather lucky cycle for generating income from places other than your usual sources at this time. In fact, two promising possibilities might present themselves now. Keep an eye out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Cooperation is called for today in your involvements with others, regardless of how self-sufficient you feel. Try to make certain that you work in close harmony with everyone.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This can be a very productive day for you, provided you devote your efforts to top priority assignments. Things you thought you couldn't accomplish can be done.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A departure from your regular routines could give your spirits a lift today. Try to devote time to fun activities, but just be sure they are inexpensive.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Quite some time ago, you published a letter from someone who had lost his mother or father and had failed to communicate his love to them. Then it was too late.

I want you to know that I benefited from that letter and your response. Recently, I lost my mother. She was only 69 and died of a heart attack. She was such a sweetheart. Thanks to you, my sadness was not due to guilt, because for the last 10 or 12 years of her life I telephoned her regularly, wrote letters from time to time and remembered her on special occasions. I also visited her every three months although it was a 13-hour drive. On those occasions we had so many laughs and such a good time.

While I feel that I would have tried to be a good son, your column reminded me that we are on this Earth such a short time, and after someone dies, it's too late to say, "I love you." Thank you.

If you want to use this letter, you may use my name.
THOMAS T. MENEAR, ATLANTA

DEAR MR. MENEAR: The letter that made a difference in your life is one that has been clipped and carried in more wallets than any other. And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: I am the most brokenhearted person in the world. I could always find the time to go everywhere else, but never time to visit Mom and Dad. They sat at home and loved me just the same. It's too late now to give them those few hours of happiness I was too selfish and busy to give.

Now when I go to their graves and see the green grass above them, I wonder if God will ever forgive me for the heartaches I must have caused them while they were alive. I pray to God that those who still have their parents to visit, do so, and show their love and respect while there is still time, for it's later than you think.
TOO LATE

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the toddler who fell into a five-gallon bucket of water and drowned while his mother ran to answer the telephone prompts this letter. Actually, I want to address two separate, but related issues.

No. 1: The ridiculous belief that when a telephone rings, you have to run to answer it! I am a physician, and I've had a number of people come to my office due to injuries they have received when they tripped and fell while running to answer the telephone. I say, if the phone rings while you're busy, let the blasted thing ring — if it's really important, the party will call back.

The other issue: Many lives could be saved if everyone — including housewives — knew how to do CPR. One never knows when a friend or family member will black out or have a heart attack. Most American Red Cross chapters offer excellent courses for home and workplace emergency care.

DR. MAX WREN, MC ALISTER, OKLA.

DEAR DR. WREN: (I am not going to say you're for the birds.) Thanks for a fine and ever timely letter.

Philadelphia expert Charles Solomon had a long and distinguished career both as a player and as one of those instrumental in the founding of the World Bridge Federation. The Charles Solomon Trophy is given annually for the best-played hand. When the award was inaugurated in 1974, the winner was none other than Benito Garozzo.

North's jump to four clubs was a cue-bid in support of spades. Five hearts was in the same vein, and the redouble by South showed first-round control of hearts.

West led the king of clubs against six spades. Garozzo ruffed in dummy and immediately led the jack of spades, letting it ride. He knew the takeout double by West indicated shortness in spades, and he hoped that West's singleton was not the queen. When the jack held the trick, he played to his diamond ace and led a diamond. West took the king and played another high club, forcing dummy to ruff once again. But now declarer began playing diamonds from dummy. Any time East chose to ruff, South would over-ruff and play a spade back to the king to take the rest of the tricks. And if East did not ruff, declarer would simply discard all his hearts until nothing was left but trumps. Then the king of spades could be played and declarer would take the rest of the tricks.

London, hill by pool

LONDON (AP) — How did the capital of Great Britain get its name?
 Historians believe the word London derives from the Celtic Llyn-Din ("hill by the pool").
 When the Romans arrived here in A.D. 43, they translated the Celtic name into Londinium. The Romans left in A.D. 423, and in time Londinium became London.

Joost lawsuit filed

AUSTIN (AP) — The brother of a Texas Racing Commission executive who was found dead in his home last March with his wife and two children has filed a lawsuit challenging a murder-suicide ruling that allowed insurance companies to deny $214,000 in insurance payments.

Daniel Joost said the lawsuit also is aimed at clearing the name of his brother, David Joost. He said he and other relatives don't accept a justice of the peace's ruling that his brother killed his wife and two children before taking his own life.

The lawsuit, filed in state district court in Houston late Wednesday afternoon, names Joost's insurance companies as defendants, and asks for $214,000 in claims not paid because of the legal ruling of suicide.

The Joost family claims the insurance companies don't have sufficient evidence to support a suicide conclusion, thus can't use a suicide clause in the insurance policies to justify not paying the claims.

Teacher may lose unborn child after student beats her

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas elementary school teacher can only wait, hope and pray that the 10-year-old student who punched her over and over again in the stomach hasn't killed her unborn child.

Trenda Braggs, 27, who is five months pregnant, said the student attacked her last Friday when she attempted to stop him from bullying a younger student. "He knocked me into the wall," said Mrs. Braggs of Friday's attack. "Then he threw his book down and began pummeling me. He was swinging violently and fiercely. I couldn't get him in con-rol." The beating ended when two teachers came to her aid, alerted when they heard her body slam into the wall outside her classroom at Patton Elementary School. "It's such a sad situation all the way around," said Dallas police detective Ronald Caldwell, who plans to file juvenile delinquency-assault charges against the fifth-grader. The boy was in custody of his parents Wednesday. Doctors have told her she may lose the baby, which could mean further charges against the youth.

Mrs. Braggs said the beating left her and her husband "angry, upset and confused."

"I'm kind of in awe that a child would have the nerve to raise a hand toward an adult. We were taught to respect our elders," she said. Mrs. Braggs said she had spent the past two years teaching at an Oklahoma high school without incident and was not scared of teaching at the lower grade levels.

She said the student is about 4 inches shorter and about 10 pounds lighter than her. News of the attack has shocked other students at the school in the East Oak Cliff section of the city.

Celibacy is not medically harmful

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: In your column about celibacy not being harmful, you assumed that celibacy refers to abstinence from sex. Wrong! Celibacy means being unmarried or living in a single state. The vow of celibacy means a vow not to marry. I believe a number of regular readers (myself included) were shocked to see you place their choice not to marry in a sexual context.

ty. For example, deep abscesses under the upper teeth can cause little or no pain, but may burrow into the maxillary sinuses (in the cheeks) to produce headache. This condition can be diagnosed by X-rays and treated with antibiotics. With all due respect to chiropractors, these practitioners are not trained in diagnosing the causes of headache. However, if head pain is due to muscular imbalances in the upper spine, chiropractic manipulation may temporarily relieve discomfort. I think your husband may find the answer to his problem in the dentist's office.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Headaches." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P. O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

© 1991 NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

DEAR READER: It certainly doesn't take much to shock you. While celibacy is often defined as being unmarried, by common usage it has taken another primary meaning: abstinence from sexual intercourse. The reader's question (to which I responded) implied this more modern interpretation — which, incidentally, is listed in Webster's Third New International Dictionary.

In our modern age, a healthy single adult who self-defines his or her marital state as "celibate" is likely to invite a reaction of pity and skepticism. Certain religious orders, notably Roman Catholicism, require their clergy to "marry" God and take a vow of celibacy, meaning to avoid sexual intercourse. To my knowledge, Catholic priests and nuns do not characterize themselves as being merely "single."

Thus, I stand by my interpretation of celibacy and re-affirm my conclusion that, as a fundamentally sexual choice, the practice is not medically harmful. It's when we are REQUIRED by external forces to be celibate that problems can arise. Of course, I have to admit the same conclusion holds true for your definition: to choose to be single is OK; to be involuntarily single is another matter.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband has suffered from headaches for the past 18 years. He's been treated for sinus infection, tooth infection and cysts. He's been to our local physician and a chiropractor. Where do we go from here?

DEAR READER: The cause of headaches can be difficult to identify because so many medical — and dental — disorders are associated with this symptom.

For example, hypertension, migraine, stress-related muscle contractions, fever, sinus infection, brain injury and infection, and hereditary factors are common reasons for headache. Similarly, temporomandibular joint syndrome (a disorder of the jaw joints), dental abscesses, ill-fitting dentures and bruxism (tooth-grinding) are dental conditions that often cause headache.

Since your husband has had sinus inflammation and dental infection (which can lead to sinus infection and cysts), I believe he needs a thorough examination by a dentist to determine if the headaches are originating from problems in and around the oral cavi-

Western Texas to face Chaps

The Western Texas College Westerners will return to the basketball court today against Midland's Chaparrals after an open date on Monday.

WTC's last game was a crushing 87-84 loss to New Mexico Junior College that the Westerners suffered after leading by as much as 21 points in the opening half.

Midland is currently in fourth place in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference with a 15-11 season record and a 7-6 mark in league games.

The Westerners sport an overall mark of 14-12 and are 4-9 in conference battles.

The Chaps are led by 6-8 post Carroll Boudreaux, who is averaging 19 points and nine rebounds per outing. He also contributes a pair of blocks and three steals a game.

Guard Steve Armstrong of Midland is one of the conference's top assist men getting almost four per game this season.

The Chaparrals' last outing was a 97-82 loss to Howard College on Monday.

Western Texas' nationally ranked offense is putting in over 112 points a game on the season.

Helping the Westerners to that end are four players in the upper echelon of WJCAC scorers.

Sophomores Dominick Byrd, Paul Johnson, Jeff Shelley and Michael Richardson are in the conference's top ten.

lead Wednesday night but Todd Day and Oliver Miller led a second-half charge that overwhelmed the Mustangs 79-70 in a Southwest Conference game.

In other SWC games Wednesday night, Texas A&M edged Baylor, 66-61 in overtime and Houston defeated Texas Tech, 74-59.

"That Vegas game was built up for a month and after it our fans were flat, the players were flat and it seemed like the season was over," said Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson. "We'd already beaten everybody in the conference. We're human, too."

"All we thought we had to do was put on our clothes and win. SMU had another idea."

After Arkansas lost 112-105 to the No. 1 ranked Runnin' Rebels, they trailed at halftime before defeating Texas Tech 87-69 and downed Texas Christian 97-61.

"I wouldn't say we are struggling but it's been a long season and we might be feeling it a little bit," said Day, who scored 20 points. "It will get better once we move into tournament time."

Arkansas, 26-2, and 13-0 in the SWC, had to dial "The Big O" for help against SMU, 11-14 and 6-8.

Center Oliver Miller answered the call with 17 points in the second half. He finished with 21 points on 8 of 11 shots from the field and 5 of 8 free throws.

Miller also contributed eight rebounds, two assists and two blocked shots.

"I was very upset with the way we played in the first half," Richardson said. "Our big guys didn't rebound well at all. Nobody even tried to get a board. And 'The Big O' didn't get the ball enough."

SMU outrebounded the Hogs 25-16 by intermission.

"We went to what we call our 'strong' game," Richardson said. "We isolated Miller on the blocks and they couldn't double team him because Todd was on the other side."

"When we get a little fear we can really up the tempo and in the game."

Richardson said SMU "did a great job. I was just glad we were able to pull off the victory."

Day only hit 5 of 14 shots from the field but was 8 for 8 from the free throw line.

"The difference in the second half was we were able to get the ball to Oliver and he wasn't double teamed," Day said. "We never panicked. We might have at this time last year."

Tim Wilson scored 21 points and Todd Day added 20 for the losers.

'Cats, 'Dogs battle tonight

The Ira Bulldogs, after clinching a spot in the Class A basketball playoffs almost three weeks ago, will finally get to play when they battle Westbrook in a 7:30 p.m. bi-district tilt at Highland today.

The Bulldogs are coming off a 62-44 practice-game loss to Aspermont Monday.

Kory Clark led IHS with his 19 points, 17 of which came in the fourth quarter. Chris Haynes added 10.

Coach Mike Cook of Ira says the 'Dogs will have to keep Westbrook's Bubba Botts under control tonight.

"He's a good player," Cook stated. "They have set their entire offense up around him."

Ira's transition game will be an important factor in tonight's playoff game.

"They sure do like to run," Cook reported. "We're going to have to try to get back down the floor quicker than we did against Aspermont."

Ira enters the playoffs as the District 25-A runner-up while Westbrook brings the District 26 championship into post-season play.

Clarendon at Frank Phillips.

The WTC Lady Dusters, off Monday, receive another open date tonight. They will return to the floor Monday when they host Frank Phillips in the Dusters' home finale.

South Texas b'ball game ends in riot

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Athletic contests between teams from Harlingen and San Benito have always generated strong emotions, but the rivalry reached a new level when Harlingen basketball coach Carl Owens was arrested on a charge of inciting a riot at last week's basketball game.

Owens was arrested Wednesday by San Benito police while awaiting word on whether he would be reprimanded by officials of the District 32-5A University Interscholastic League executive committee.

The executive committee was deliberating on what action to take in connection with what has been described as a near riot at the end of last Friday's game. Harlingen won the game, 77-63.

The UIL committee later issued a private reprimand to Owens.

The charges were filed by San Benito police, who said they plan to arrest a Harlingen basketball player on another warrant.

They said the player is accused of trying to cut down the nets after the game, which triggered anger among the San Benito crowd, almost causing a riot.

Owens, 45, was arraigned later Wednesday in San Benito on the inciting a riot charge, a Class B misdemeanor.

San Benito Police Chief John Swan said the charges were filed against Owens because of allegations he encouraged the player to cut the nets, despite warnings from police officers.

Owens was released on a personal recognizance bond of $1,000 following an appearance before Municipal Judge Frances Flores.

Teams scatter for spring competition

Netters to play in Big Spring tourney

Following a fifth place finish in last weekend's Abilene Tennis Tournament that featured a third by Leslie Sandoval in girls singles and a boys singles seventh place by Marcus Best, the Snyder Tigers will compete in the Friday and Saturday Big Spring Tennis Tournament.

Snyder's 78 points in the team-tennis format in Abilene put the Tigers behind Abilene Cooper's JV with a 132, Hereford's 124, an 81 from Monahans and San Angelo Lake View's 80.

Besides Sandoval and Best, Snyder's Christina Gonzales captured an 11th in girls singles, and Rachel Wilson and Gayle Henderson combined for a 10th after going 1-4 in Abilene.

Boys singles entrant Kevin McMillan, playing from the Tigers' No. 2 spot, wound up in eighth with a 2-3 mark.

The SHS boys doubles team of Michael Hess and Jason Warren were 3-1 at the tourney, taking 12th place.

Following a trip to the March 1-2 Sweetwater Tournament, the Tigers will host their own tourney on March 8-9.

Lady Tigers to attend Frenship meet

The Lady Tiger track team of coach Patty Grimmett returns a core of several proven performers including 1990 regional qualifiers, Liz Greathouse, Vinnie Clay, Schenekka Thompson and state qualifier Katina Brandon.

The Snyder squad will be in action Saturday at the Tiger Relays at Frenship High School in Wolfforth as the track season begins.

Greathouse advanced last year in the triple jump with her 33-1/2 hop in the District 4-4A meet in San Angelo while Thompson turned in a 16.9-second time in the 100-meter hurdles to earn a berth in the regional gathering.

Clay and Brandon finished the season one-two in the discus throw, and Brandon also qualified for the regional meet with her second-place shot-put effort.

Brandon wound up the 1990 campaign with a 127-3 second-place sling of the discus at the state Class 4-A meet in Austin.

Grimmett is optimistic about the Lady Tigers' chances in 1991. "We have a lot of talent returning," she said recently.

"Almost all our regional qualifiers from last year are back and that is going to help us a lot."

Levelland appears to be the team to beat in 1991. The Loboettes' Tylana Harrison took top honors in her appearance in the 100 meter hurdles and the triple jump last year at the Region I gathering.

Other Class 4A girls squads heading for Wolfforth this weekend include Andrews, Big Spring, Lamesa, Levelland, Dunbar, Estacado and host Frenship.

Following their appearance in Wolfforth this weekend, SHS will be at Andrews' Mustang Relays March 2 before hosting the Canyon Reef Relays March 9.

The District 2-4A meet is set for April 12-13 in Levelland followed on April 26-27 by regionals in San Angelo.

Tiger thinclads begin track season

Coach Jo Granato's Snyder High School track team is facing a year of transition and with a young squad and a new, tougher track district.

"The only returning member of the team is Ed Rios," said Granato.

The 6-4 Snyder senior will lead the SHS bunch into this weekend's Comanche Relays at Ft. Stockton.

Rios was an all-district and all-region qualifier last year for the Tigers.

His best effort of the season was a 6-6 leap in the Monahans Sand Hills Relays a year ago. He produced a 6-4 jump at the District 4-4A meet and the regional meet in 1990.

"The rest of our team is made up, mostly, of freshmen and sophomores," Granato stated.

"What we have to do is hope these kids will compete and do their best. That will help us in future years."

Granato feels like Snyder's District 2-4A is tougher than last season's 4-4A in track. His picks for top honors in the loop include Dunbar, Estacado and Lamesa, with Levelland coming in as a dark horse.

The Comanche Relays will be run Friday and Saturday.

Snyder will take to the cinders again March 2 at the Mustang Relays in Andrews before hosting the Canyon Reef Relays March 9.

The District 2-4A meet is scheduled for April 12-13 in Levelland and regionals will be held in San Angelo, April 26-27.

Ft. Stockton to host Snyder golfers

The Snyder boys and girls golf teams will take part in the Friday and Saturday Ft. Stockton Golf Tournament as the 1991 campaign continues.

The Lady Tigers are coming off a second-place finish at the Andrews Girls Classic last week.

Snyder carded a first-round 404 and improved to a 375 the second day for a team total 779.

Host Andrews, behind Medalist Lisa McQuatters' 81-85-166, won the tournament with a 349-362-711.

Senior Kim Duncan paced the SHS squad with her 94-88-182.

Amy Armstrong finished second on the team with a 100-88-188 followed by Wendy Miller's 99-101-200, a 111-98-209 from Stacie Cline and Ginny Fenton's 121-124-245.

Fenton also won Par 3 Closest to the Pin honors at the Andrews Tournament.

The boys crew claimed 12th place in last weekend's Big Spring Golf Tournament.

Brian Fowler led the Snyder bunch with his 96-83-182 tally.

As a team, Snyder wound up with a 733 total off rounds of 359 and 374.

Joe Patterson trailed Fowler for the Tigers with a 90-91-181 followed by Curry Koenig's 86-96-182, an 87-108-195 from Shane Wade, and Adam Scott's 104-104-208.

Incaviglia avoids arbitration

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Rangers outfielder Pete Incaviglia has avoided arbitration with the team by agreeing to a one-year contract for $1.87 million, more than double his 1990 salary.

Incaviglia, 27, the Rangers' left fielder since 1986, settled shortly before an arbitration hearing was scheduled to begin Wednesday. He had asked for $2.1 million, and the club had offered $1.35 million. He made $825,000 last season.

WTC golfers in Florida event

Coach Dave Foster's Western Texas College Westerner golf team begins its spring season with an appearance in the 3rd Annual Jim McKenzie Golf Tournament hosted by the University of West Florida in Pensacola.

Fishing report

FORT PHANTOM HILL: Water clear, 52 degrees, normal level; black bass are slow; striped are good in shallow water on minnows; crappie are good in the fish house on minnows; white bass are slow; catfish are picking in the 2-7 pound range on stinkbait and worms.

GRANBURY: Water clear, 53 degrees, normal level; black bass are good to 5 1/2 pounds on spinners and Rattle Traps; striped are slow; crappie are gathering in the creeks, fairly good numbers caught on minnows; white bass are good around Tintop on slabs; catfish are good around the hot water outlet on bloodbait.

GREENBELT: Water clear, 42 degrees, normal level; black bass are slow; crappie are fair to 10 fish per string to 1 1/2 pounds on minnows mostly; white bass are good to 15 fish per string to 2 pounds each on slabs around the 30-foot mark; catfish are slow.

HUBBARD CREEK: Water clear, 18 inches low; black bass are fair on Rattle Traps, no limits caught; striped are slow; crappie are beginning to hit minnows in 18 feet of water, some limits landed; catfish are improving.

MEREDITH: Water clear, 40 degrees, normal level; black bass are slow; crappie are very slow; white bass are picking up in the 3/4 to 1 1/2 pound range on minnows and shad; catfish are picking up in the 2-3 pound range on minnows and lizards; walleye are beginning to move, most fish are in the 3-4 pound range and were caught on shad.

MILLER CREEK: Water clear, 55 degrees, normal level; black bass are good to 6 pounds on rattle lures and large jigs in all depths; striped are fair to 8 pounds on trolling lures in deep water; crappie are excellent to 2 pounds with several limits over 1 pound each on minnows and jigs at all depths, fish are hitting softly; white bass are fair in number to 2 pounds on jigs in deep water, no runs yet; catfish are good to 20 pounds on trotlines and to 4 pounds on rod and reel; best trotline bait seems to be chunks of jack rabbit; carp and buffalo fish are good to 15 pounds on dough bait.

TWIN BUTTES: Water clear, 46 degrees, normal level; black bass are fairly good to 6 1/2 pounds on spinners; striped are slow; crappie are slow to fair to 3 pounds on minnows; white bass are slow; catfish are slow.

The 54-hole event is to be played at Tiger Point Golf and Country Club Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The Westerners will play a practice round at Tiger Point today.

The field at the tournament is a tough one according to Foster.

"The field is equal to a national tournament," he said. "Eight of the Top 15 teams in the nation will be playing in this tournament."

Included in those eight are

Quincy Jones wins 8

NEW YORK (AP) — "Back on the Block," an ambitious recording project that interwove the musical virtues of a divergent group of artists from rappers to Sarah Vaughan, was named album of the year at the 33rd Annual Grammy Awards.

With its magical journey to the worlds of jazz, rap, rhythm and blues and pop, "Back on the Block" won eight Grammys altogether on Wednesday night, including six for composer-musician-producer-arranger Quincy Jones.

Phil Collins, who had been nominated for eight awards at the ceremony at Radio City Music Hall, won record of the year for his bleak song about the homeless, "Another Day in Paradise."

Mariah Carey, with her extensive vocal range, was named best new artist and best female pop vocalist for her slow-grind ballad "Vision of Love."

The late Roy Orbison was named best male pop vocalist for "Oh Pretty Woman."

Song of the year honors went to Julie Gold for "From a Distance," a ballad recorded by Bette Midler.

Academy president Michael Greene, commenting on the song of the year, said the National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences "ends up being a sentimental bunch of people when it comes to message songs."

Still, the night belonged to the 57-year-old Jones.

Besides album of the year, Jones won non-classical producer of the year; best jazz fusion performance for the LP's "Birdland" track; best arrangement of an instrumental for "Birdland"; best instrumental arrangement accompanying vocals, for "Birdland"; and best rap performance by a duo or group for the title track, along with Ice-T, Melle Mel, Big Daddy Kane, Kool Moe Dee and Quincy D. III.

Ray Charles and Chaka Khan won best rhythm 'n' blues by a vocal duo or group for "I'll Be Good to You," a track on "Back on the Block." The LP's engineer, Bruce Swedien, received the engineering award for a non-classical album.

After his triumph, Jones met backstage with reporters and said, "I don't take it for granted. ... I've lost many times. It feels better to win." Collins told reporters that he'd been consoling himself that it was good to be nominated then said, with relief, "It was very nice to come out with one." Jones said "Back on the Block" took six or seven months to make but was 10 years late. "When you wait that long, you have to really dig down deep inside and make something you want to hear, yourself," he said.

He dedicated his album of the year Grammy to the late jazz singer Sarah Vaughan, whose last recorded performance was on it.

Jones' six Grammys bring his all-time total to 25, pushing him ahead of Henry Mancini and the late Vladimir Horowitz, and making him second to conductor Sir Georg Solti's 28 Grammys. Horowitz won the best classical performance by an instrumental soloist without orchestra for "The Last Recording."

Rapper M.C. Hammer won best rap solo performance for "U Can't Touch This." He shared the songwriter's prize for the best rhythm 'n' blues song, "U Can't Touch This," with composers Rick James and Alonzo Miller. The song borrowed riffs from James' hit single "Super Freak." He also won the long-form video Grammy for "Please Hammer Don't Hurt 'Em the Movie."

Aerosmith's "Janie's Got a Gun" won in best rock performance by a duo or group.

Linda Ronstadt and Aaron Neville's duet, "All My Life," was judged best pop performance by a duo or group, the second consecutive year the duet has won that award. Angelo Badalamenti's "Twin Peaks Theme" from that TV series' soundtrack was judged best pop instrumental performance.

Eric Clapton was named best male rock vocalist for "Bad Love," and a newcomer, Alanah Myles, won best female rock vocalist for her "Black Velvet."

Listed in the caption above are delinquent tax suits in which Judgments of Foreclosure have been rendered and Orders of Sale have been issued. The listing for each suit sets out: (1) the Cause Number; (2) the Plaintiff Tax Unit; (3) the Defendants; (4) the Date of the Judgment; (5) the Date of Levy; and (6) the Property Description.

Under the Order of Sale issued pursuant to each Judgment above listed, I did at the time specified for each suit levy upon each property in such suit as described above as the property of the Defendants named or designated in such suit. On the sale date specified above, which is the first Tuesday of said month, I will offer and sell at public auction, for cash, each property described above, and all the right, title, interest and estate in and to each such property owned or claimed by the Defendants named in connection with each such property; PROVIDED, however, that no property shall be sold directly or indirectly to anyone other than a Tax Unit which is a party to that specific suit for less than the total amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs due against that particular property or any adjudged value decreed, whichever is lower.

The Foreclosure Sales under this Notice will be held on the first Tuesday of said month, at the Courthouse door of said County, at the time set out above, by and through the STEEN AND STEEN, 3001 N. Lamar Blvd., Suite 306, Austin, Texas 78705 (Area Code 512) 476-4688, my authorized representative.

The sale of each property shall be subject to the rights of the Defendants named in connection with each particular property, and any successors in title, to redeem such specified property in the time and manner provided by law; and subject also to the rights of any defendants to have each particular property owned or claimed by such defendants divided and sold in less divisions than the whole as provided by law. The sale as to each property is to be made to satisfy the Judgment rendered against that particular property and the Defendants named in connection with that particular property. The proceeds of the sale of each property are to be applied to the satisfaction of the Judgment against that particular property, and the remainder of the sale proceeds, if any, are to be applied as the law directs.

Investigators probe crash of Chilean plane

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Investigators were probing what caused a Chilean jetliner carrying 65 mainly U.S. tourists bound for the Antarctic to skid off a runway and into icy waters near Cape Horn. At least 19 people were killed and 17 injured, authorities said.

One Texas survivor of Wednesday's crash described a frantic struggle to get out of the plane as water rushed in and drowned her husband and others inside, a relative said.

The British-made BAe-146, a small four-engine jet, crashed while trying to land in light rain at Puerto Williams on Navarino Island, about 1,500 miles south of Santiago, said the Chilean airline LAN.

The cause of the crash was under investigation. The air force sent a special investigator, Cmdr. Hernan Barahona, who arrived in Puerto Williams, about 60 miles north of Cape Horn, late Wednesday.

The plane had flown to Puerto Williams from Punta Arenas, 300 miles to the north, where the passengers had arrived on a commercial flight from Santiago.

The passengers were to begin an Antarctic vacation cruise from Puerto Williams organized by Seattle-based Society Expeditions, Peter Cox, company planning director said in Seattle.

Tour officials said all 65 passengers were foreigners, and most were American.

One survivor from Texas told her father by telephone the plane ran into Beagle Channel after what appeared to be a routine landing on Navarino Island, near Tierra del Fuego.

Julie Brice Lally, 31, of Dallas said her 28-year-old husband, Garvin Lally, was unable to swim free, according to her father, Bill Brice Sr.

"Several people got off ahead of them, but before they could get off the plane filled up with water and some of the passengers drowned," Brice said in Dallas. "She thought she was going to drown about three times."

Brice said his daughter was not injured.

An official with the Atlanta-based Cecil Day Investment Co. said three of the dead were members of a 12-person group of company employees, relatives and friends. The names of the victims were not released.

Survivors included Deen Day Smith, a member of the Georgia

University Board of Regents and the widow of Cecil Day, founder of the Days Inn motel chain, said Furman H. Agee III, the company's executive vice president.

Among the survivors were the crew — two pilots, four flight attendants and a mechanic, said LAN President Jose Luis Moure.

Thirty other tourists also part of the Society Expeditions trip had landed safely in Puerto Williams earlier Wednesday on a flight from Punta Arenas, Cox said.

The entire group of vacationers had arrived in Santiago from Miami on Tuesday and traveled together to Punta Arenas on a commercial flight, he said. Founded 16 years ago, the expedition company offers 25 cruises a year on its two vessels. The cost of the Antarctic cruise ranged from about $5,000 to $10,000, Cox said. It was to have ended March 3.

The tourists planned to board the ship Society Explorer in Puerto Williams to be ferried to Antarctica, said Miguel Rivero, manager of the travel agency that handled the plane charter. The nearest Antarctic point is about 1,000 miles south of Puerto Williams.

"The airplane went beyond the end of the landing strip and fell into the water," of Beagle Channel, according to a statement by LAN.

The airline said 19 people were confirmed dead, while the Chilean navy said 20 died. A list of the victims was not expected until later today. The seven crew members survived.

LAN said 17 people were "slightly injured" and were being treated at the a navy hospital in Puerto Williams.

Obituaries

William Sheldon

1900-1991
Services have been set at 2 p.m. Friday at the Stacy Wilkins Funeral Home Chapel in Goldthwaite for William Sheldon, 90, of Snyder. Burial will follow in the Hurst Ranch Cemetery near Goldthwaite with the Rev. Bob Rhodes, pastor of Northside Baptist Church, officiating.

Mr. Sheldon died at 3:20 p.m. Wednesday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital following an illness.

Born Oct. 30, 1900, in Hamilton County, Tex., he married Ruth Long on Nov. 27, 1927. Living in Snyder since 1950, he was a custodian and was retired from Sun Oil Co.

Survivors include his wife of the home; a daughter, Gloria Chaney of Snyder; four sisters, Edna Perkins of Evant, Edith Schmidt of San Antonio, Velvin Carroll of Lometa, and Eunice Steel of Odessa; a brother, Charlie Sheldon of Lampasas; a granddaughter, Teresa Moore of Hermleigh; a grandson, Barry Chaney of Ira; five great-grandchildren; and one great-great-grandchild.

Three arrests made by police

Snyder police recorded three arrests in the past 24 hours.

A 17-year-old male was taken into custody at 9:16 a.m. at Municipal Court and taken to Scurry County Jail to lay out fines.

A 25-year-old female was arrested for driving while intoxicated at 3:57 a.m. today in the 2600 block of Moncrief. Her 28-year-old male passenger was arrested for public intoxication. Both were transported to the county jail.

In other police activity, Jerry Hatfield of 2610 42nd St. reported at 2:54 p.m. Wednesday that damage had been done to the mirror and door of his 1988 Chevrolet pickup. A report for Class A criminal mischief was filed.

At 4:48 p.m., Debbie Green of 3201 42nd St. advised police that there was a go-cart in the alley. The go-cart was taken to police headquarters.

Ernest Cerda of 2407 Ave. R reported at 7:40 p.m. that his son's red 10-speed bicycle had been taken from the residence. A report for a stolen bicycle was filed.

Bill

in Texas draws funds from a local property tax base that is about 450 times greater than the poorest district, creating disparities, said a bill analysis.

Under Parker's bill, local property tax money would be redistributed among school districts within 20 taxing regions.

The regions would be created to get around a constitutional ban on shifting local property tax money among school districts statewide. The taxing regions would not be necessary if a separate constitutional amendment were approved removing the ban.

Every school district would be required to impose local property taxes at a minimum rate, and money raised above a certain amount would be given to the state for redistribution.

The minimum tax rate would start at 70 cents per $100 property valuation, climbing to $1 in 1995.

School districts could tax above the minimum rate for construction or to enrich programs. When fully implemented, the bill would cap the total local property tax at about $1.61, with each school district generally receiving the same amount of money at a particular tax rate.

The bill requires $1.2 billion in additional state spending over the next two years.

"It's going to take quite a bit of money just to implement the equity features of education in Texas," Bullock said.

Gov. Ann Richards said, "I have been concerned that the process was not moving along, and I'm very, very pleased that they did take action ... The important thing is to meet that court deadline."

Lawmakers face an April 1 Supreme Court deadline to devise a school finance reform plan or face an order to cut off state public education funds.

Reform bill voting

Patriot missiles and the debris fell harmlessly into the desert.

After two nights of heavy bombardment, weary residents of Baghdad had a night free of allied air attacks. The Iraqi occupiers of Kuwait did not.

In a midday communique, Iraq's military said the allies carried out more than 320 raids on military targets in the southern war zone over the past 24 hours — more than three times the number reported the previous day.

The Iraqi military communique also claimed Iraqi forces inflicted "substantial losses" on the allies with missile strikes on front-line positions.

As of early afternoon, allied commanders in Saudi Arabia had not offered reporters any information on new engagements, although the French said their Jaguar fighters targeted artillery units in Iraq and southern Kuwait today.

On Wednesday, the U.S. military reported intensified fighting along the Saudi frontier, including artillery duels and allied incursions into enemy territory.

In one clash, Iraq lost five tanks, 20 artillery pieces and an unspecified number of men, while one American was killed and seven wounded by Iraqi fire, the U.S. military command said.

In another action, four Army helicopters destroyed a complex of more than a dozen Iraqi bunkers north of the Saudi border on Wednesday, capturing 476 Iraqi soldiers, the command said. Iraq today called the mass surrender claim a lie, saying such things "only happen in American movies."

U.S. commanders refused to say whether the two engagements took place in or near Kuwait or Iraq and would not name the units involved.

In another allied strike, the command said U.S. aircraft hammered a cluster of Iraqi vehicles parked in Kuwait, 60 miles north of the frontier, destroying 28 tanks, 26 other vehicles and three big guns.

Bored and on edge, many allied infantry and tank soldiers said they wanted to get on with the ground war.

Some allied commanders have suggested it is difficult to keep troops at hair-trigger readiness for an extended period.

Colombia declared its independence from Spain in 1810.

Largest cattle theft in recent history noted

WHARTON, Texas (AP) — The latest case of cattle rustling, the crime that refuses to go away, involved 298 head of cattle worth about $300,000 and is the largest single cattle theft case in Texas in the past 10 years, an investigator says.

Farmer-rancher Larry Kalina Wednesday offered a $10,000 reward for the return of the cattle.

Doyce Cook of Wharton, who has been the local field inspector for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association for the past 10 years, said it was the largest theft he could remember.

The only cattle thefts even close to as large as 298 head were "inside deals" involving a ranch manager who took a few animals at a time over a long period, Cook said.

Cattle Raisers Association field inspectors are specially commissioned Texas Rangers empowered to track down rustlers. Cook helped recover a Houston Livestock Show exhibitor's stolen calf two years ago.

Cattle thefts, a vestige of the Old West, have changed because thieves now use big gooseneck trailers to haul their loot to a different part of the state for sale.

Prison panel rejects budget as too small

AUSTIN (AP) — The House Corrections Committee chairman criticized his panel's rejection of a proposed two-year prison budget that would fall within current state revenue.

Republican opponents of the $1.8 billion budget said it did not include $207 million needed to operate 11 prison units scheduled to open within two years.

"If every House committee proposes budgets that are above the money we have to spend, you'll have total chaos in the Appropriations Committee," said Rep. Allen Hightower, D-Huntsville.

"I'm not going to play these games ... This is serious business here. Prisons are not a partisan issue, and it's not going to be as long as I'm chairman of this committee," Hightower said.

The vote against the budget was 5-4, mostly along party lines. If the committee does not recommend a budget, the Appropriations Committee can write one without a recommendation.

The new prison construction is in Dilley, Freestone, Abilene, Beeville, Lamesa, Hondo, Beaumont, Polk County, and Pampa. Existing units in Richmond and Galveston are to be expanded.

"I think it's our duty to send out a budget that takes care of the needs," said Rep. Dalton Smith, R-Houston, who voted against the budget plan. "And based on the information we have, I don't think this (proposed budget) does that."

Voting for the budget Wednesday, besides Hightower, were Reps. Barry Telford, D-DeKalb; Warren Chisum, D-Pampa; and Allen Place, D-Gatesville. Voting against, besides Smith, were Reps. Sam Johnson, R-Plano; Glenn Repp, R-Duncanville; John Culberson, R-Houston; and Al Granoff, D-Dallas.

Desert Storm Update

DAY 36

Around the gulf

War developments in brief:

- Iraq said the allies had flown more than 320 raids on military targets in the southern war zone over the past 24 hours — more than three times the number reported the previous day. The French said their Jaguar fighters targeted artillery units in Iraq and southern Kuwait Thursday.
- At least 10 Iraqi divisions and Saddam Hussein's 150,000-strong Republican Guards are still able to fight after the 5-week-old air campaign, U.S. military officials said. The Guards are positioned in Iraq along the Kuwaiti border, while all 10 divisions, including some heavy armor, are in Kuwait, they said Thursday.
- Iraq's military denied that about 400 of its soldiers surrendered to a U.S. Army helicopter force, saying such incidents "only happen in American movies." Marine Gen. Richard Neal said Wednesday that the U.S. force smashed 15 bunkers and took 476 Iraqi POWs.
- U.S. military officials confirmed several cases of civil unrest in Iraq, possibly directed at Saddam's ruling Arab Baath Socialist Party or at the Iraqi leader himself. Travelers from Iraq had quoted Iraqi officials as saying 10 local leaders of the Baath Party were shot to death by a crowd of several thousand in Diwaniyah on Feb. 10.
- Iraqi news reports said Saddam Hussein and his inner circle, the Revolutionary Command Council, had decided on a response to a Soviet plan to end the war. It was the first time the Iraqi press has mentioned the Soviet proposal, which was submitted to Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz on Monday while he was in Moscow.
- Terms of the Soviet proposal were not disclosed, but the Washington Post said Thursday that President Bush asked Moscow for additional terms. These include Iraqi withdrawal in four days from the time it agrees to do so, disclosure of all minefields and release of all prisoners.

But how long will it last?

Support for president is high

WASHINGTON (AP) — A gift shop operator in Michigan confesses she "went from being a dove to a hawk overnight." A conservative Republican congressman frets that a ground war would send American troops "into a meat grinder."

Their contrasting views were shaped by the first month of the Persian Gulf War, when the United States and its allies dominated the air and suffered few casualties. The air war also was prelude to a ground assault widely expected to sharply increase U.S. combat deaths.

Pollsters and academics guess that if a ground war starts, Americans will rally around the flag and their president. But how long that support will last is as difficult to predict as war itself.

"A lot of this is simply going to be event driven," said Frank Newport, editor-in-chief of the Gallup Poll. "What happens? How quickly does it move? But I wouldn't anticipate as a professional pollster that we would find an immediate negative reaction."

Current polls show strong support for the president and his policy to reverse the Iraqi takeover of Kuwait.

A Washington Post-ABC News poll said 78 percent of Americans approve of the decision to go to war, a level of support remarkably consistent since the fighting began on Jan. 17.

A New York Times-CBS News survey put the president's approval rating at 78 percent.

But within those overall approval numbers were signs of nervousness over a ground war. For example, the New York Times-CBS poll found that while 71 percent expected a ground war to occur, 79 percent said they wanted to continue the air war a few more weeks.

Andrew Kohut, director of surveys for Times Mirror Corp., said Bush "has as much support as any president we've seen in a long time."

He and Newport pointed out that Americans they questioned anticipate higher casualties, but say they would support the war anyway.

But Newport noted that people often change their minds "when the reality hits."

"If indeed this stretches to Memorial Day and to July 4th, the question is really going to be patience and cohesion, and up to now the American public has shown both, tremendous cohesion and tremendous patience," said Democratic pollster Peter Hart.

Memorial rites held for pilots

MOUNTAIN HOME AIR FORCE BASE, Idaho (AP) — Two airmen killed in the crash of their Idaho-based reconnaissance jet while returning from a combat mission in the Gulf War were remembered Wednesday as "true Americans."

About 500 family members, friends, military officials and community leaders attended a memorial service at a chapel on Mountain Home Air Force Base for Capt. Douglas Bradt and Paul Eichenlaub II, both 29. They were killed when their EF-111A "Raven" went down Feb. 13 in Saudi Arabia.

The press and public were barred from the service. Reporters were shown a videotape afterward.

"I think the word to describe it is respectful," Air Force civilian spokeswoman Toni Hill said of the service. "There weren't a lot of tears, but it's not uncommon at a military service."

Bradt, of Houston, and Eichenlaub, of Bentonville, Ark., were in the Persian Gulf with the 390th Electronic Combat Squadron of the 366th Tactical Fighter Wing, based at Mountain Home. They were the first Idaho-based casualties of the war.

Both had been in the Persian Gulf only a few weeks.

"What an honor. What true Americans they were," Sgt. Joseph Pesola, a friend of Bradt's stationed at Mountain Home, told the congregation.

Pesola said Bradt told him before leaving for the Middle East that he was eager to get to Saudi Arabia and that if anyone had to die, "I prefer it was me to anyone else."

Maj. Gary Eberling, Eichenlaub's flight commander at the Royal Air Force's Upper Heyford base in England from October 1986 to October 1990, remembered the airman as an enthusiastic electronic warfare officer.

"I was willing to fly with Paul on any mission, anytime at all," Eberling said. "He put out 150 percent. The world needs more people like Paul Eichenlaub. It would be easy to sail through."

Family project now tourist attraction

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — The wooden name tags clack together in the afternoon breeze like muted wind chimes, the names of more than 300 servicemen and women twisting from yellow ribbons on the tree.

An orange heart with the message "may they who serve return with pride" dangles near one of the tags, inscribed "Spec. 4 Chris Wisener — Airborne."

This is his tree, and it's become something of a shrine to people in this Ohio River community in southern Ohio.

"It's a focal point for people who are frustrated and don't know what they can do about the war," says Mayor Frank Gerlach. "It's become a tourist attraction."

Virginia and Jim Wisener decorated the 25-foot-tall tree in honor of their son when it became apparent the Army was going to keep him out of the country for the second consecutive Christmas. In 1989, he was in Panama.

"Last Christmas when he went to fight, we tied a yellow ribbon around the tree," Mrs. Wisener said. "This year, with Chris and his best friend in the Middle East, we decided to put orange bulbs on the tree for those two kids who were not going to be home for Christmas."

"It's our Chris Tree."

Mrs. Wisener bought every orange bulb she could find — about 300 — and strung them on the tree. Her husband made wooden name tags — one for Chris and one for his high school buddy, Pfc. Robin Griesman, who also is stationed in the Middle East — and used yellow ribbons to hang them from the tree.

Soon, others were interested.

"People would come and ask if they could put their son's name on the tree," Mrs. Wisener said. "We said only if they're in the Persian Gulf."

By Christmas, there were 155 orange name tags, and Mrs. Wisener wrote to first lady Barbara Bush about the project.

Mrs. Bush wrote back, praising the Wiseners' support of U.S. troops and adding that "the president joins me in sending our thanks and best wishes."

Since then, the Soldiers' Tree has been a full-time job for the Wiseners: cutting, painting, filling out and hanging the name tags; meeting with Portsmouth's Desert Storm Family Support Group; and helping organize rallies in support of U.S. troops.

The community has pitched in, too. A city bucket truck was used to hang name tags when the tree's lower branches were filled, and city workers volunteer their time. About 600 people attended a dedication ceremony in January.

At last count, the names of 332 servicemen and women hung from the tree.

As the number of tags grew, so did the number of visitors. Cars clog High Street near the Wisener home as people stop by.

"They take pictures. Some put their hand on the tree and cry," Wisener said.

Jim Wisener, a former Portsmouth police officer, spent 11 years in the U.S. Navy and served in the Vietnam War.

Wisener said he was not embittered by his own war experience, but remembers how badly some Vietnam Veterans were treated when they came home.

He encouraged his four sons to join the military — one has completed his tour of duty, one is stationed in Germany, one is a captain in the Air Force — but Chris became a paratrooper against his advice.

U.S. night vision sensors said sold to Iraq by Dutch firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Iraq obtained night vision equipment, built with American parts, from a Dutch firm that apparently sold it illegally, government and corporate officials say.

The Pentagon is investigating how Iraq got the equipment, key elements of which were supplied by Hughes Aircraft Co. in Los Angeles.

Richard Dore, a Hughes spokesman, said the company was "kind of hoodwinked" because it believed the infrared imaging sensors it agreed to sell Delft Instruments in Delft, Holland, were destined for the Dutch military.

But a U.S. official familiar with the case said a "considerable amount of night vision equipment" was shipped to Iraq through a Delft subsidiary in Belgium, as well as through other sources.

"We also know some of that equipment had a U.S. origin," said the official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The imaging sensors, which detect the infrared rays given off by warm objects such as machines or troops, can be mounted on tanks or missiles or can stand alone. Dore said Hughes sold the sensors to Delft, which made a range of end products.

The United States has suspended all weapons contracts between American suppliers and Delft Instruments pending the outcome of the investigation, according to officials at the State and Defense departments.

"We have informed the Dutch government that all munitions licenses to Delft have been suspended," the official said.

Dore said deliveries of sensors for infrared imaging systems to Delft were halted in January, two months after Hughes learned of an investigation by the Pentagon's Defense Technology Security Agency. Hughes is cooperating with the probe and is not accused of any violations.

U.S. military officials have said the allies have a big advantage over Iraqi troops in the Persian Gulf War because of its sophisticated night-vision equipment.

The Iraqis' night-vision capability "is very marginal," Maj. Gen. Barry R. McCaffrey, commander of the 24th Mechanized Infantry Division, said in September.

Therefore, Iraq's night battles at the Saudi Arabian town of Khafji, the first major ground encounter of the war, surprised the allies.

"Delft equipment was picked up at Khafji," the U.S. official said.

Neither Dore nor Rinze Kingma, president of Delft Instruments, would provide details of the contract between Hughes and Delft. They did not say how much it was worth or how many sensors were involved.

The State Department's Office of Defense Trade Controls, which issues munitions licenses, said such details were proprietary information.

Kingma said in a telephone interview that he had "heard rumors" about the suspension but has "not been officially informed of this."

He denied the company had done anything wrong. "We always obey the export license policies of our government," he said.

But the American official said the United States has "good reason" to believe the infrared technology was illegally exported before the United Nations slapped a total economic embargo on Iraq shortly after its troops invaded Kuwait last Aug. 2.

endlessly for that mission.

It takes lengthy practice runs to be expert at conventional warfare, Sgt. Alan Dockery, a SAC spokesman in Omaha, Neb., said Monday. The B-1B crews have done some conventional warfare training, but must do much more before they are fully prepared.

In contrast, dozens of B-52s based in Maine and California are dedicated exclusively to conventional operations and some of their planes are at war over Kuwait.

The B-52s are the aging workhorse of the Air Force. They dropped bombs over North Vietnam two decades ago.

The Air Force has 97 B-1Bs and the planes, which cost $280 million apiece, are the sleek newcomers on the block.

Delivered to the Air Force starting in 1985, the four-engine jets can turn quickly at supersonic speeds and can operate from altitudes as low as 200 feet. They can make high-altitude bombing runs as well.

U.S. Air Power in the Gulf Region

An air attack is expected to be the key to any U.S. led offensive because it would clear the way for allied ground forces. Here is a brief look at some of the different functions of aircraft that may be used in the Persian Gulf.

BOMBING

At the outset of an attack, bombers would strike deep into Iraq. The supersonic F-111F features a variable-sweep "wing." The plane can operate from a low level to altitudes of 60,000 feet. It was used in the 1986 bombing raid on Libya.

Wingspan:	79 ft.
Length:	73 ft. 4 in.
Maximum speed:	1,520 mph
Range:	3,825 miles

U.S. bombers in the Gulf include: F-111F, F-117A stealth fighter-bomber, B-52D, F-15E, A-6

AIR SUPERIORITY

The F-15 is a single-seat, long-range air-combat fighter. Each F-15C Eagle interceptor is armed with eight air-to-air missiles, including four AIM-7F Sparrows which can be fired at up to 30 miles' range.

F-15 C/D Eagle

Length overall:	63 ft. 4 in.
Maximum speed:	921 mph
Range:	3,870 miles

U.S. air-superiority fighters in the Gulf include: F-15B/C, F-16

TANK ATTACK/TROOP SUPPORT

The A-10A is designed to operate from short unpaved runways, withstand prolonged exposure to gunfire from the ground and hit tanks with its powerful Avenger 30mm cannon and 16,000 pounds of ordnance.

B-1Bs are sitting on sidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The B-1B is one of the most advanced bombers in the world, yet it is sitting on the sidelines in the war against Iraq.

The planes, some of which are based at Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene, were grounded for a month by engine problems. But the Air Force says they are being fixed and that the aircraft are sound.

The arguments for sending them into battle might seem compelling.

If a B-1B were flying over Kuwait, it could dump nearly 100 500-pound bombs on Saddam Hussein's Republican Guard. The B-52s now operating over Kuwait can carry about half that number of 500-pounders.

Yet the Strategic Air Command insists the 30-year-old B-52 is best suited for the job.

Why?

The B-1B was built primarily to deliver nuclear warheads against targets in the Soviet Union and its crews have trained

They are high-performance planes, but two B-1Bs experienced engine failure late last year. The problems were traced to the fan blades. The entire fleet is being refitted with an engine modification. About half the planes have returned to the air, officials said.

War region maps offered at SDN office

Maps of the Gulf War region are available for $6.47, including tax, at the offices of the Snyder Daily News.

The large maps include a chronology, recent history of the region and graphics depicting tanks, airplanes, Saudi military bases and Baghdad.

SDN is located at 3600 College Ave.
