Q—Can underground tanks be left in the ground if they are no longer being used or must they be removed from the site?

A—They can be abandoned if they are filled with sand, concrete, gravel or another Texas Water Commission-approved material. A site assessment report must be submitted to the TWC prior to removing or abandoning underground tanks.

In Brief

Chief resigns

HEMPSTEAD, Texas (AP) — Hempstead Police Chief Charles Gaines has resigned after only four months in office following his arrest on charges of indecency with a child, authorities said.

Gaines, 64, quit Monday, citing "personal reasons."

The former Waller County sheriff's chief deputy was arrested Friday following an investigation by the Texas Rangers and the sheriff's department. He was released on $20,000 bond.

Star to sing

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country singer Reba McEntire feels the eight members of her road company who died in a plane crash would want her to go ahead and perform at the Academy Awards, a spokeswoman for the singer says.

"The performance will be a tribute to her eight friends," said Jenny Bohler.

Seven members of Ms. McEntire's band and her road manager were killed early Saturday after their plane clipped the side of a mountain near San Diego, cartwheeled across the mountainside and exploded.

Wednesday deadline for banquet tickets

Wednesday is the deadline to obtain tickets for this year's Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet, scheduled Saturday at Scurry County Coliseum.

Tickets for the 7 p.m. event are available at the chamber for $12.50 each.

The banquet theme is education. Local public schools and Western Texas College faculty will be honored in a slide presentation.

Guest speaker will be Sen. John T. Montford, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Highlighting the banquet will be the presentation of outstanding citizen awards, including the Vestal Award for service to the city; the Sizemore Award, to the outstanding Goldcoat; the Winston Award, for achievement in agriculture; the McLaughlin Award, for contribution to the oil industry; the Sparkler's Award, for outstanding Sparkler service; the President's Award, for benefit to the chamber; and the Education Excellence Award.

SISD incumbent challenged as filing cutoff approaches

Place 2 on the Snyder ISD board of trustees became a contested race Monday afternoon when Geraldine Parker, a former elementary school principal, filed.

With one day left to file in the May 4 elections, however, an at-large seat on the Snyder City Council was still without a candidate.

Wednesday is the deadline to file for candidacy to the city council and Snyder, Ira and Hermleigh ISD boards. There are no places on the Western Texas College board of trustees up for election this May.

Mrs. Parker, a former West Elementary principal who now serves as supervisor for adult basic education at Western Texas College, Monday filed for candidacy to the local school board. She will challenge Place 2 incumbent Mike Jordan. The only other position on the board up for election, Place 3, has incumbent Terry Martin as the only candidate.

One of two at-large seats on the Snyder City Council up for election is still without a candidate. That seat is currently held by Paul Zeck. Incumbent Mike Thornton has filed for the council's other at-large seat. He is currently unopposed, as are Place 2 councilman Jack Denman and Mayor Troy Williamson.

Gwen Cumbie has filed for Place 4 on the Ira school board, challenging incumbent Bob Barbee, while Doug White has filed for Place 5, providing a contestant for incumbent Sidney Wall. Those are the only two places up for election on the Ira ISD board this year.

At Hermleigh, incumbents Tony Lambaren and Andres Rodriguez have filed for two of the three at-large positions on that school board. They bring the number of candidates to five, challenging for three places. The other three candidates are Jesse Rios, Juluis Roemisch and Jimmy Hudgins.

Carole Haynes, the third at-large incumbent, has not filed.

Jimmy Frank "Chip" Roemisch filed for an unexpired term on the Hermleigh board. At present, he is unopposed.

Workshop preview for regular meeting

Snyder public schools board of trustees reviewed proposals concerning administrator appraisal, district improvement and a multi-year technology update, and heard a presentation by C.H. Love & Co. concerning the application of computers in the classroom during a lengthy workshop Monday.

The session was a preview for the board's March meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday in the business administration building.

Supt. Dalton Moseley presented an administrator appraisal plan for the board's review. The plan will include nine criteria used to annually evaluate each principal in the Snyder school system. Those criteria include instructional management, school/organizational climate, school/organizational improvement, personnel management, administration and fiscal/facilities management, student management, school/community relations, professional growth and development and academic excellence indicators and campus performance objectives.

Moseley said that while the evaluation plan is more detailed and would require more work than the previous methods, it is a "much improved instrument." He also noted that the evaluation criteria is mandated by state law.

Also reviewed was the district improvement plan, which helps define priorities for the school district over the next five years. The plan includes 11 basic goals, some of which include curriculum revision, staff development, continued planning, TEA

Roy's pact extended for 30 days

Snyder Chamber of Commerce board of directors voted a 30-day extension to the contract of interim chamber director Tom Roy while the board and selection committee continue to review applications for the director's position.

The vote came after an executive session during the chamber's monthly meeting Monday afternoon at chamber offices in which a survey of chamber membership and the upcoming chamber banquet were also discussed.

Roy has said he will continue duties as interim director for a period not to exceed 30 days until a permanent director is named. Roy is among the applicants being reviewed by the chamber board and a selection committee.

The selection committee is scheduled to meet at 6 p.m. today at chamber offices to review additional applications.

Before the executive session, Roy presented the board with a survey of the chamber membership in which he recommended increasing membership be a priority.

In the survey, which profiled the chamber's 220 business members and 67 individual members, Roy said the local chamber has a participation rate of some 36 percent from local businesses. He said a participation rate of 65 percent would "bring Snyder to a level normally associated with progressive, dynamic chambers."

In other business, Susan Neves brought to the group up to date the chamber banquet set for 7 p.m. Saturday at Scurry County Coliseum.

Neves noted Wednesday is the last day to purchase tickets for the annual event and persons wishing to purchase a $12.50 ticket should contact the chamber office.

The theme of this year's banquet is education and will feature guest speaker Sen. John T. Montford and a dinner of prime rib

WTC trustees set timetable, guidelines for coach search

It took only ten minutes for Western Texas College trustees to agree to guidelines for a new men's basketball coach Monday as the board decided to continue with the same strategies as used the previous few years.

Trustees met for over an hour in executive session to discuss personnel, then convened in open session to mull the coaching situation. Western Texas was left without a men's basketball coach last Tuesday when four-year coach Tony Mauldin announced his resignation to accept the head basketball position at Abilene Christian University.

Monday, the WTC board accepted a hiring timetable recommended by Dr. Harry Krenek, college president, and appointed a search committee.

Appointed to the committee were Dave Foster, athletic director; Gay Hickman, vice president for business and finance; Dr. Duane Hood, dean of student services; Carl Williams, member of the board of trustees; and a to-be-named member of the college's athletic committee.

The committee is to prepare an advertisement to be placed in appropriate news media March 22-24. March 25 will be the deadline for applications. Krenek did note however that applications postmarked by that date, or phone calls received on that date will be accepted.

From March 25 through April 1 the committee is to interview candidates. The committee will make its recommendation to the board during the April 8 regular meeting.

Krenk's recommendation as to guidelines for the new coach are the same as the college has used previously. They include a recruiting budget of $2,500 and a salary of $30,930 with a 10-month contract. The recruiting budget was cut back from approximately $3,100 a year ago.

The coaching guidelines request that the coach recruit "as many players as possible from this region," which would include Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas. The coach is asked not to recruit international players.

The guidelines also note that no assistant basketball coach is included in the 1991-92 budget and that there are no plans to increase the athletic budget above the 1990-91 level.

Present were trustees Williams, Bob Hargrove, John Fagin, John Gayle, Howard Sterling, R.C. Patton, and Bill Wilson Jr.

No guarantee on finance bill

AUSTIN (AP) — House and Senate negotiators are working to forge a compromise school finance reform plan, but a leader in the talks said there's no guarantee a plan will be approved by the Legislature.

Sen. Carl Parker, Senate Education Committee chairman, said Monday that chances are about 50-50 for lawmakers to pass a reform bill as ordered by the Texas Supreme Court.

Reaction from Texans who may see higher school district property taxes and concern about the cost of reform may affect how lawmakers vote, Parker said.

"The toughest thing about education is trying to show people why it's important to educate somebody else's child, and they're not seeing it," he said.

The Texas Supreme Court unanimously ruled unconstitutional the current $14 billion-a-year school finance system, which relies on state aid, local property taxes and some federal money.

Differences in local property wealth now lead to disparities in education funding, Justices said if lawmakers do not devise a reform plan by April 1, they will order a stop to state funding for schools.

Parker heads a conference committee that is working to iron out differences between House and Senate school finance reform bills.

Both are so-called Robin Hood plans that would require a minimum local property tax rate, then shift hundreds of millions of dollars in local tax revenue from rich to poor school districts.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A shady deal never produces any sunshine."

If you're battling high blood pressure, discretion is advised.

We read about another one of those silly lawsuits. The setting, as you might expect, was in California and involved a lawyer who sued the federal government because of humiliation.

The federal courthouse entrance was equipped with a metal detector for the safety of court officials. A San Diego attorney was on his way to federal court when he set off the metal detector.

He handed over his change, then his keys, then his nail clipper. His pockets were empty, but the machine still beeped. He took off his belt. Still there was a beep. Finally he was forced to remove his penny loafers with the steel shank arch. He was the same lawyer who had earlier successfully sued the city of Los Angeles because he was ordered to municipal court an hour before the courthouse opened for business.

The suit against the federal government hopes to make them use a hand-held metal detector to make the removal of shoes unnecessary.

The lawyer said, "I had to walk through the courthouse lobby in my socks. Imagine the diseases on that floor."

Rather than suing the federal government, he ought to sue the other lawyers who left the germs.

Just say no.

A recent survey shows it costs between $4,100 and $9,700 a year to rear a child, depending on the ability of parents to say "no" and mean it.

Ex-gulf soldier killed for car while loading van

DETROIT (AP) — Army Spc. Anthony Riggs vowed in a letter he would not die in the Persian Gulf, where he and the 3rd Battalion, 43rd Air Defense Artillery unit from Fort Bliss, Texas, welded Patriot missiles against incoming Iraqi artillery. He was right. At 2:15 a.m. Monday, the Fort Bliss soldier was shot dead on a street in northeast Detroit. The assailant fled in Riggs's car, police said.

"It really makes you wonder where the battlefield is," neighbor Diane DeShields told the Detroit Free Press in today's editions.

Riggs, who family members said was deployed to the Persian Gulf in August, arrived at Fort Bliss on March 8. He was given two weeks leave and spent a week there with his wife Toni, 22, and stepdaughter Amber, 3. The family arrived in Detroit on Sunday.

They spent the day packing his 1989 Nissan Sentra car and a rented van to move Mrs. Riggs from her aunt's house to a Detroit suburb. They worked late and didn't want to leave the loaded vehicles on the street overnight. Then they heard gunshots outside, said the aunt, Marjorie Cato.

"He said, 'I just got back from where they were firing missiles at my head. Those bullets aren't really going to frighten me now,'" Cato said.

Riggs, 22, ventured outside and the family heard a second round of gunshots. Mrs. Riggs later ran outside to find her husband in the street and the car gone.

Police Officer John Leavens said Riggs was taken to a hospital, where he died. Police made no arrests and the car remained missing Monday night, said police spokesman Officer Thomas Martinelli.

"He didn't deserve this," Cato said. "They shot him over what? A car. Something he gladly would have given them. He didn't care anything for personal possessions."

Riggs was originally from Las Vegas, where cousins Tamyra and Kevin Riggs said they couldn't understand the shooting.

"Bombs dropping everywhere, guns going off and nothing happens to him," Kevin Riggs said. "Then he comes over here and —"

Municipal judge resigns after making alleged racial slur

RICHMOND, Texas (AP) — A municipal judge has resigned from the bench amid allegations he used a racial slur in addressing a black defendant in his court.

Municipal Judge Lee Grayless submitted his resignation to Richmond Mayor Hilmar Moore on Monday, but the 83-year-old judge also issued a statement denying he made the alleged racial slurs.

"It is regrettable that Judge Grayless made comments in his court March 8 that were offensive to the defendant," Moore in a statement.

"I deeply regret this incident occurred and wish to publicly thank Judge Grayless for his many services to the city of Richmond and his community," Moore said.

Grayless, head of municipal court for about 2½ years, issued a one-page statement in which he apologized to "Travis Randle if he feels that I have offended him with comments as to his race. It was not my personal intent nor the intent of the court to do so."

A Richmond police officer filed a report saying that Grayless called Randle a racist name at least four times during a March 8 hearing.

I don't know — a person comes along and decides to take his life."

Riggs tinkered with electronics, loved baseball and bowling, and sent odd mail from the Persian Gulf, including chocolate bars, soda cans and water bottles, all stamped with Arabic words, Cato said.

She said Riggs had been part of a crew that fired Patriot missiles to intercept Scud missiles Iraq fired at Israel and Saudi Arabia. Army officials refused Monday to comment on Riggs' role during the war or on his death.

But Spc. Mike Overfelt remembered Riggs as the 343's good humor man.

"He would have made a good comedian," Overfelt told the Free Press by telephone from Texas. "He just had a knack for making people laugh."

Monday morning, a letter arrived at Cato's home. It was from Riggs, dated Feb. 22.

"I have no intentions on becoming one of this war's casualties," he wrote. "First of all I said I would die for my country. (This is not my country.) ... Nor is it an allied force of NATO."

"And there's no way I'm going to die in this rotten country," the letter said. "With the Lord's grace and his guidance I'll walk American soil once again."

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Texas (AP) — In a March 16 article about rapes and sexual assaults here during college spring break, The Associated Press erroneously reported the university attended by a man charged in one case.

John C. McKinney, 22, who was charged with sexually assaulting a 19-year-old Tennessee student in a condominium March 11, attends Oklahoma University. He was freed on $15,000 bond.

Police said they believed five reported rapes and assaults reported the week of March 11 week were unrelated.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I need hip replacement but have heard many adverse effects can follow the surgery. Please advise.

DEAR READER: There are two primary complications of hip replacement: dislocation and prosthetic failure.

Since artificial hips are not as well-designed as the real thing, they sometimes don't hold up as well as natural hips. In particular, the ball portion of the ball-and-socket prosthesis may slip out of place, causing hip dislocation and pain. This can be corrected without surgery, however, by traction under anesthesia.

In some patients, the metal hip joint may come loose; the cement that holds the prosthesis in place may weaken or the portion of the artificial joint that is attached to the leg bone can become dislodged. This requires surgery to re-anchor (or replace) the prosthesis.

The other adverse effects, such as an allergy to the acrylic cement, are rare.

When patients reach the stage of needing hip replacement, they are usually very uncomfortable. They are in constant pain, can't walk and experience disabling stiffness. An artificial joint can solve these problems. Therefore, before deciding on surgery, patients must weigh the risk/benefit ratio. Are the risks of hip replacement less than the benefits (loss of pain, increased independence)?

This decision is best made between the potential recipient and the doctor, who knows the details of the case and is familiar with the proposed surgery. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach To Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been told by two medical doctors, a neurologist and a chiropractor, that I have no nerve reflexes. Both were vague in their explanations. Is this something to be concerned about?

DEAR READER: When tendons (where muscles attach to bones) are briskly struck, the muscles contract in a reflex movement. This is the basis for the medical examination known as testing the deep tendon reflexes. Most patients are aware of this test when the doctor taps their knees below the kneecap and the lower legs suddenly jump.

The deep tendon reflexes are part of a complicated nerve pathway involving the spinal cord and brain. When one leg or one side of the body responds differently to this stimulation, nerve damage is usually present. Such damage can result from injuries or strokes.

There is, however, wide variation in the degree of response. Some people have extremely active reflexes, while others may show diminished responses. The key issue is whether the reactions are symmetrical (equal on both sides); it's the symmetrical variation, rather than the degree of response on both sides, that is important.

If you are a healthy person, without any other evidence of nerve malfunction, diminished SYMMETRICAL reflexes are nothing to worry about. Some normal people appear to have little or no reflexes; this is due merely to human variation.

I suggest you return to the neurologist and request an explanation of this finding. The specialist should be able to enlighten you and reassure you that nothing is wrong.

Your Birthday

March 20, 1991

Be expectant in areas where you plant seeds for progress in the year ahead. Lady Luck will be doing as much as she can to help you. Just be sure you do your part.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) When needed most today, your chart indicates things should be moving in your favor. Be patient and hopeful and see things through to conclusion. Pisces, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Pisces' Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't be a capricious risk-taker today. By the same token, don't be too timid in taking a chance if the results can serve your best interest. In these cases, your fears are apt to be unfounded.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In financial affairs today, you are not likely to do everything letter perfect. Nevertheless, your good moves should outnumber your bad ones and put you in the plus column.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be optimistic regarding the outcome of events rather than worrisome about things that may never happen today. If you think positively, you'll act positively.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You could be in for a pleasant surprise at this time. Something in which you're involved that hasn't looked too profitable changes for the better.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Things have a way of balancing themselves out for you today. If you aren't treated too well in one situation, someone or something could make up for it in another.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You've heard the old saying, "The harder you work, the luckier you get." This could be especially true regarding your pursuit of meaningful objectives today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are presently in a rather hopeful cycle where your general interests are concerned. However, material objectives might require a roundabout route to fulfillment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Ambitious aims have an excellent chance of being realized today, and it might be wise to give them top priority while your luck and probabilities are greater than usual.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you have to make an important judgment today that affects another as well as yourself, make your decision from a noble perspective. Good intentions produce mutual advantages.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you play your cards right, there is a strong possibility that you could generate more financial benefits at this time through a source other than your usual one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be able to fend for yourself today, but your most notable benefits are likely to come from partnerships. You might be involved in at least two.

to come from the club suit. So, by winning trick one with dummy's ace of hearts, crossing to hand with a spade and taking the club finesse, he had to come to at least nine tricks, whatever the distribution of the cards.

The general principle is that if you must lose the lead, you should make sure you do it while you still have all the other suits under control. Why risk your contract just for the fun of finessing?

Dads to attend local Girl Scout Banquet

Girl Scouts from the Snyder area will have their Father-Daughter Banquet at 7 p.m., Friday, March 22, at the Girl Scout Hut located at 2501 35th St.

This event is designed for a daughter to enjoy something special with her dad, uncle, grandfather, stepfather or older brother (16 years old or older), according to Jo Ann Cearley, service unit chairman.

The scouts are to decorate their box and plan and prepare their supper, with adult supervision.

Speakers will be Ed Barkowsky and Peggy Vernon. Both have served on the West Texas Girl Scout Council.

Girl Scout leaders or parents needing more information may call Judi Martin at 573-0576 or Jo Ann Cearley at 573-3926.

Finesses, finesses
By James Jacoby

The average player loves to take a finesse, knowing that it is a 50-50 chance of getting an extra trick. Experts hate finesses, since they dislike a play that has only a 50 percent chance of success. They always look for something better.

West's low heart lead certainly looked as if it were away from the king. It seemed so safe to call for the heart queen. But Finesser Fred soon discovered it wasn't safe at all. East won with the king, and seeing no future in hearts, switched to the diamond jack. Fred finessed the queen, but it lost and West returned a diamond.

Now Fred took his third finesse, this one in clubs, and that lost too. East cashed his diamond tricks to defeat the contract by two.

"Would you believe it? Three finesses lost. Typical of my luck!" moaned Fred.

True, finding three key cards offside was very unlucky: about a 12 percent chance. But if Fred had only counted his tricks before playing from the dummy at trick one, he might have spotted the winning line. He had six top tricks, and three more were sure

ARE YOUR CHILDREN FREE FROM POISONING?
8 Steps to a Poison-Proof Home

- 1. Are medicines and poisons stored under lock and key, or out of the reach of children? Are these items stored away from food? Don't forget to check the paints, thinners and chemicals in your garage or storage area.
- 2. Have you cleaned out your medicine cabinet recently? As medicines age, the chemicals inside them can change. So a helpful medicine can become a dangerous poison over time. Flush old medicines down the toilet and discard the old container.
- 3. Are harmful products stored in their original containers? Labels on original containers often list first aid procedures in case of ingestion. Products stored in glasses or bottles can be mistaken for food.
- 4. Do you keep a bottle of Ipecac syrup on hand? Use it only on the recommendation of a physician or poison control center, as it is not the proper treatment for all kinds of poisons.
- 5. Are all medicines stored in their original containers? Medicine bottles may list ingredients and if not, the prescription number on the bottle will enable the pharmacist to identify the ingredients. Without the original label, you can't be sure of what you are taking.
- 6. Do you practice good poison-prevention habits? Never refer to medicine as "candy" in front of children, since they tend to imitate adults. Never give medicines prescribed to someone else. Never increase the dosage of a medication without a doctor's recommendation.
- 7. Do dangerous cleaning solutions, medicines and chemicals have child-resistant closures. Check items before purchasing them.
- 8. Do you keep the number of your physician, rescue squad and poison control center near the phone?

Tyson halts "Razor" in seven

LAS VEGAS (AP) — On a night Mike Tyson hoped to answer questions, referee Richard Steele raised some instead.

Tyson, showing flashes of the devastating power he once used to rule the heavyweight division, knocked Donovan "Razor" Ruddock down twice Monday night but was still very much in a fight when Steele stepped in and abruptly stopped the bout after a Tyson flurry in the seventh round.

With an incredulous Ruddock looking on, the referee waved the bout to what many thought was a premature close at 2:22 of the round, touching off a wild brawl between handlers of the two fighters and sending promoters dreaming of an even-richer rematch between the two top heavyweight contenders.

"It was one hell of a fight, a tough fight," Tyson said. "I wanted to get him down, I wanted to dominate him. I didn't want there to be any doubts."

T-ball league sets meeting

An organizational meeting for parents of prospective T-ball players is set for Thursday at 8 p.m. at Snyder Lanes.

Election of officers and board members highlights the meeting's agenda.

Children at least 5 years old by July 31 may play in the T-ball league.

But there were, primarily from the camp of Ruddock, the No. 2 contender who hit Tyson with some thundering left hooks and was still in the fight despite being knocked down in the second and third rounds by Tyson left hooks.

Ruddock had come back to win the sixth round when a Tyson left hook staggered him two minutes into the seventh and he was sent backwards into the rope under a Tyson barrage of a half-dozen more punches.

"The next punch was going to hurt him badly," said Steele, who a year and a day ago was embroiled in a similar controversy when he stopped the Meldrick Taylor-Julio Cesar Chavez junior welterweight title fight. "The guy was hurt and my job is to stop him from getting seriously hurt."

Ruddock simply stared at Steele while his handlers charged the ring and touched off a melee that took several minutes to bring under control.

"I wish Richard Steele would have given me the benefit of the doubt," Ruddock said. "I wanted to go on. I could have definitely continued."

Tyson, in his third fight back since losing his heavyweight title in February 1990 to James "Buster" Douglas, solidified his claim as the No. 1 contender to Evander Holyfield's title.

But he paid a price, sometimes bearing no resemblance to the invincible Tyson of old.

The once-beaten Ruddock landed some huge left hooks to Tyson's head in the early rounds, forcing the former champion to slow his head-hunting attack and concentrate more on Ruddock's body.

Often Tyson's punches flew wildly past Ruddock's head and were met by a return shot from the 9-2 underdog.

"I made a lot of mistakes tonight," Tyson said. "But I'm just trying to improve as a fighter."

On at least three occasions, Tyson's mistakes were answered with left hooks that would have probably dropped almost any other fighter.

Tyson, though, barely broke stride as he continued to pursue Ruddock.

"He punches so hard, but my chin is like concrete," Tyson said. "When I was in the ring I refused to let him hurt me." Tyson, who had fought less than two full rounds in his two fights since the Douglas loss, knocked Ruddock down with a left hook in the second round that may have been more the result of Ruddock tripping over Tyson's feet.

In the third round, however, Ruddock missed with two rights and Tyson responded with a left hook that knocked Ruddock off his feet. Ruddock was up at the count of seven as the bell sounded to end the round and raised his arms to the crowd as he went back to his corner.

Fight statistics compiled by Compubox Inc. showed Ruddock connected with only six jabs and 68 total punches to 125 for Tyson.

NIT roundup...

Arkansas State edges Memphis State

by The Associated Press
Most teams would rather play an NIT game at home. But for Arkansas State, a trip to the Mid-South Coliseum in Memphis was the next-best thing.

"They ought to make this their home court with the close games they've won over here," Memphis State coach Larry Finch said after the Tigers' 58-57 loss to Arkansas State Monday night in the second round of the National Invitation Tournament.

It's the fourth consecutive time in which Arkansas State (23-8) and Memphis State (17-15) have played a one-point game. Arkansas State has won three times in Memphis, and the Tigers won at Jonesboro, Ark., in 1987.

"I thought it was a great game on my end of it," Arkansas State coach Nelson Catalina said.

Bobby Gross connected on a 3-pointer to put Arkansas State ahead to stay, then hit the clinching free throw with 11 seconds left. His free throw gave the Indians a 58-54 advantage.

Memphis State's Elliot Perry, who had 24 points, hit a 3-pointer with four seconds left, but Memphis State (17-15) was out of timeouts and Arkansas State didn't have to put the ball in bounds.

In other second-round games, it was Providence 85, West Virginia 79; Stanford 80, Wisconsin 72; Oklahoma 89, Cincinnati 81, OT; Southern Illinois 72, Southwest Missouri State 69; Arkansas State 58, Memphis State 57; Colorado 83, Wyoming 75.

Royals drop Bo Jackson

HAINES CITY, Fla. (AP) — Bo Jackson's grand experiment as a two-sport athlete ended — at least for now — when baseball's Kansas City Royals released him because of a football injury suffered with the Los Angeles Raiders.

Kansas City will pay Jackson one-sixth of the $2.375 million salary — $395,833 — that he negotiated for this year, Kansas City general manager Herk Robinson said.

Jackson and the Royals had reached agreement in February — one day before they were to go to arbitration.

And Royals management did not know the full extent of Jackson's injury when the settlement was reached, said Dr. Steve Joyce, the Royals team physician.

"I did examine Bo prior to the arbitration hearing, and I did inform the Royals trainer," Joyce said. "But Bo did ask me not to speak to Royals management."

Now the Royals are convinced that Jackson can not play baseball this year and may never play again, although doctors offered different opinions of his ability to come back, Robinson said.

"What I told the Royals was that it did not look good for the 1991 season," Joyce said. "My concern was that if he attempted to return this season too early, further damage could occur."

Jackson has a small fracture in his left hip that is leading to cartilage loss and the early stages of a degenerative disease known as avascular necrosis, Joyce said.

Rosas also snatched third in the 200 meter dash with a time of 29.78 and fifth in the 100 meter dash with her 13.95.

Perkins scooted to a 19.20 in the 100 meter hurdles and Williams posted a sixth-place clocking of 14.16 in the 100 meter dash.

James Sturdivant of the Ira boys' team took third in the high jump with a 5-8 leap while Ronal White's 21.66 in the 110 hurdles was good for sixth.

Also competing for Ira were Jimmy Gorman in the long jump and the 100 and 200 meter dashes, and Brian Martinez in the high jump.

Rochester's 91 points won the meet for the boys and Jayton's girls took first with 124.

The Hermleigh squad will be idle until April 6 when the Cardinals travel to the Klondike Track Meet.

Ira will also be out of action for two weeks until its district meet in Roscoe April 6.

Area thinclads run at Jayton gathering

JAYTON — Ira's Bulldogs grabbed 15 points and 11th place at the weekend's Rolling Plains Relays here.

Hermleigh finished one place back with 13 points.

The Cardinals' Chris Velasco heaved a 37-9/4 shot put effort to finish third in the event.

Ira's Dave Holmes, currently the second-ranked Class A pole vaulter in the state, took second in his specialty with a 12-0 leap.

In addition, Hermleigh's Eric Romero took sixth in the discus with a 108-2 chuck, and Jay Hardy came in sixth in the 200 meter dash.

The Hermleigh girls, who scored 30 points to finish sixth, were led by Melissa Anderson who captured first place in the quarter-mile with a 1:05.31.

She also took third in the 100 meters to go with April Blair's 86-7, third-place, discus throw.

Ira's girls wound up one point behind the Lady Cards in seventh place.

The Lady Bulldogs' 800 meter relay team, made up of Mauricia Rosas, Tammi Hardy, Margot Perkins and Rebecca Williams, led the way with a second-place 2:01 time.

Rosas also snatched third in the 200 meter dash with a time of 29.78 and fifth in the 100 meter dash with her 13.95.

Perkins scooted to a 19.20 in the 100 meter hurdles and Williams posted a sixth-place clocking of 14.16 in the 100 meter dash.

Tiger nine to host Brownfield squad

The Snyder Tigers and the Brownfield Cubs will square off in non-district baseball action for the second time in less than a week when the two clubs meet today at 4:30 at Moffett Field.

The Tigers scratched out a 5-4 win over the Cubs Friday in the second round of last weekend's Snyder Baseball Tournament.

Terry Stephens, the winning pitcher for SHS in that game, is expected to get the start.

In the last game between Snyder and Brownfield, a Shelby Buffin double in the bottom of the seventh inning sent Bobby Clinkinbeard home to break a 4-4 tie and give the Tigers the win.

Stephens, the only SHS hurler to go the distance thus far, struck out four and allowed six hits in the win.

Snyder's last outing was a Saturday 18-2 loss to Class 3A's top ranked team, the Wylie Bulldogs.

Following today's battle with the Cubs, the Tigers are scheduled to face Brownwood at 1 p.m. Saturday on the Lions' home field.

District 2-4A competition starts Thursday, March 28, when the Tigers are entertained by Frenship in a 4:30 p.m. matchup.

Officers in LA joked about beating motorist suffered

LOS ANGELES (AP) — White police officers accused in the videotaped beating of a black motorist shrugged off the incident in messages over Police Department computers, with one policeman joking, "Oops."

"I haven't beaten anyone this bad in a long time," a squad car messaged police headquarters.

A transcript of the messages, released Monday, also contains what an investigator said appears to be a racial remark that was made shortly before several officers beat, kicked and shocked Rodney King while others watched.

That message, sent from the patrol car of two officers charged with the March 3 beating, said an earlier domestic-dispute call the officers answered was "right out of 'Gorillas in the Mist,'" a movie about ape research.

Mayor Tom Bradley and Police Commissioner Melanie Lomax blasted the officers' remarks as racist, while local civil rights advocates renewed their calls for Police Chief Daryl F. Gates to resign. Gates vowed he would not quit.

King, 25, is recuperating from his injuries at an undisclosed hospital and could not be reached for comment Monday.

His attorney, Steve Lerman,

did not immediately return calls seeking comment.

The transcript, ordered released by the Police Commission, contains messages typed into computers in the officers' squad cars and sent to police headquarters and officers in other cars. The commission is a civilian oversight board.

Workshop

accreditation preparedness, technology and data management and improving facilities.

Both the appraisal instrument and the district improvement plan will be presented to the board on Thursday for approval.

Most of Monday's meeting centered on a district technology plan update. The technology plan presents proposed equipment and supplies needed over a three-year period. The $1.3 million plan shows expenditures of $418,752 for 1991-92.

This would include video camcorders, numerous computers and printers, laser disk curriculum packages and laser disk players, software, calculators, overhead projectors, telephones, monitors, a fax machine, sound system and other equipment and supplies.

Trustees praised the hard work of committees which came up with the plan, but some also voiced concern that the price tag might be too high.

The technology plan will not be submitted for board approval, however. Instead, equipment and supplies from the plan will be considered on a one-by-one basis when the board begins work on the 1991-92 budget.

Ann Ramage of C.H. Love & Co. of Abilene attended the meeting to give the board a hands-on look at how computers and laser disks are used in the classroom.

The board also heard a report from Barbara Granato that the district has $64,000 in federal funds for the special education budget, some of which cannot be carried over for future years. Mrs. Granato, director of special ed for SISD, will be presenting some requests during Thursday's meeting.

Present for the workshop were trustees Mike Jordan, Terry Martin, Sam Robertson, Ann Walton, Glen Clarady, Billy Bob McMullan and Luann Burleson.

Two accidents worked by police

Two traffic accidents were worked by Snyder police Monday.

Police were called to 600 East Hwy. at 5:37 p.m. where a 1980 Pontiac driven by Otaviano Villa of 605 30th St. was in collision with a 1982 Chevrolet driven by Helen Digby of Hermleigh.

Snyder EMS was called to the scene, however those involved declined medical treatment.

The Digby vehicle was towed from the scene. The Villa vehicle sustained moderate damage.

A second accident was reported at 8:37 p.m. in the 3700 block of Ave. V. Involved were a 1973 Mercury driven by June Grove of 1908 Ave. R. and a 1989 Ford driven by Elizabeth Conger of 3715 Ave. U.

No injuries were reported. The Grove vehicle was towed from the scene.

Fire extinguished

Units of Snyder Fire Department responded to a small grass fire north of the city Monday afternoon.

The call was received at 4:04 p.m. and units were called three miles north on Hwy. 208 to a grass fire on land owned by Jeanne Duke.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Gulf war gave instant fame and fortune to some people

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Thomas Kelly, who spent weeks briefing the media about the Persian Gulf War, soon will be telling his story on the lecture circuit.

Jean P. Sasson, an Atlanta woman without a previous published book to her credit, has been on The New York Times paperback best-seller list since Feb. 10 with "The Rape of Kuwait." "Shield of Honor" may be showing at movie theaters soon, but the Libyan terrorists of the original script will be transformed into Iraqis.

Writers, publishers, film makers, speakers and songwriters are among those casing in on the lightning-fast allied triumph in the Middle East.

"The Rape of Kuwait," published by Knightsbridge Publishing Co., is only one of several gulf-related paperbacks crowding the best-seller list.

School finance bill

Parker, D-Port Arthur, said he heard from an "outraged" taxpayer in an affluent school district who was concerned that its property tax rate may be more than double.

"People are being totally selfish — many people are," Parker said.

Parker last week said that a compromise school finance reform plan likely would shift some local property tax revenue from wealthier to poorer school districts within 200 new taxing regions.

The regions would be drawn largely along county lines.

The minimum rate probably would be between the House's 60 cents per $100 valuation, climbing to 80 cents in four years, and the Senate's figures of 70 cents to $1, he said.

School districts could levy additional property taxes to enrich programs or for construction, with each school district getting the same amount of money per penny of tax.

On top of that, under a House provision, school districts would be allowed to raise more property taxes and keep half the money. The other half of the supplemental money would be pooled within the taxing regions based on districts' tax rate, wealth and number of students.

Parker earlier said such a provision likely would be part of a compromise bill.

The total tax rate, excluding money for construction, could not exceed $1.50 under a compromise proposal, some negotiators said.

Reps. Kent Grusendorf, R-Arlington, and Troy Fraser, R-Big Spring, said lawmakers were working on how to constitutionally redistribute local property tax money among districts. Voter approval would be required for raising local property taxes above the minimum level, Grusendorf said.

About another $1.2 billion in additional state money also would be required over the next two years.

WTC sets Senior Day Wednesday

Western Texas College will host Senior Day for Snyder High School seniors Wednesday.

The students will go first to the Fine Arts Theatre. Dan Osborn, WTC counselor, will be the master of ceremonies for a program starting there at 8:50 a.m. Dr. Harry Krenek, college president, will extend the welcome.

Dr. Duane Hood, Dean of Student Services, will give the students information on admission procedures and summer school. Dennis Carlton, Financial Aid Officer, will present information on financial aid and scholarships. Four WTC students are to talk briefly about their reasons for choosing to attend WTC and their experiences as students there.

Entertainment will be provided by the WTC Choir and the Collegiate Singers before the seniors are taken on tours of the campus. The seniors will be honored at a reception in the Student Center from 10:45-11:15 a.m. and will return to their school about 11:20 a.m.

Graduation applications due Wednesday at WTC

Wednesday will be the last day to apply for graduation in the 1991 spring exercises at Western Texas College.

Graduation applications forms can be obtained at the switchboard in the Administration Building.

Commencement exercises are to be held at 7:30 p.m. May 10.

Dear Abby

Early Detection Brings Diabetes Under Control

By Abigail Van Buren

1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: An estimated 14 million Americans have diabetes, which causes 150,000 deaths a year. Even more shocking is the fact that about half the people who have diabetes don't even know they have it. These people are at great risk of heart disease, kidney failure, blindness and amputation. Until last March, I was one of them!

Fortunately, a simple quiz published in my local newspaper alerted me to the symptoms of diabetes, and I was lucky to discover it in its early stages. The quiz, produced by the American Diabetes Association (ADA) for its annual American Diabetes Alert, virtually saved my life. My score indicated that I was at high risk for diabetes, so I went to my doctor for a painless test.

The bad news was that my test confirmed that I have diabetes. The good news was that as long as I carefully manage my program of diet, exercise and medication, I can keep my blood-glucose level under control and enjoy the same activities as my non-diabetic friends.

Since March, my blood levels have remained within normal ranges, and I am once again leading a healthy life. Abby, would you please print the ADA Alert Quiz in your column to accompany the March 19 American Diabetes Alert? You could be helping millions of people lead healthier, longer lives.

JOE CAMPO, JACKSON, MISS.

DEAR JOE AND DEAR READERS: This test is not meant to diagnose — only a medical doctor can establish whether these symptoms mean you have diabetes. Here's the test. Each "yes" answer is worth the number of points indicated.

1. I have been experiencing one or more of the following symptoms on a regular basis: excessive thirst (3 points); frequent urination (3 points); extreme fatigue (1 point); unexplained weight loss (3 points); blurry vision from time to time (1 point).

2. I am over 40 years of age (1 point).

3. I am at least 20 percent over my ideal weight (2 points).

4. I am a woman who has had more than one baby weighing more than 9 pounds at birth (2 points).

5. I am of Native American Indian descent (1 point).

6. I am of Hispanic or black descent (1 point).

7. I have a parent with diabetes (1 point).

8. I have a brother or sister with diabetes (2 points).

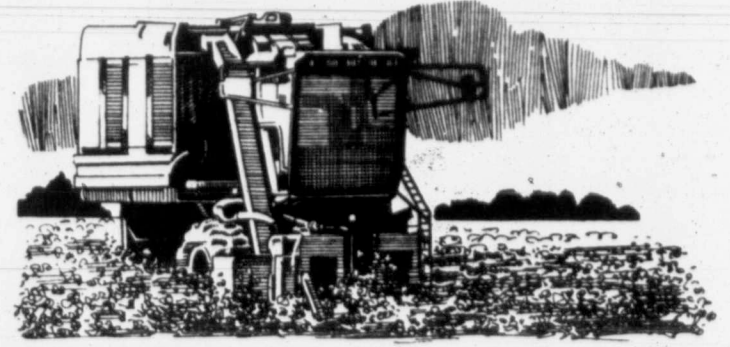

Now, add up your score. If you scored three to five points, you probably are at low risk for diabetes.

If you scored over five points, you may be at high risk for diabetes. You may even have diabetes, so see your doctor and don't delay. For more information on diabetes, contact your local American Diabetes Association or ADA's Diabetes Information Service Center, 1660 Duke St., Alexandria, Va. 22314. The toll-free number is (800) 232-3472.

Abby's family recipes are included in her cookbooklet! Send long business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Cookbooklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Quilting sessions scheduled

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service, along with Scurry County Extension Homemakers, will conduct a series of quilting workshops beginning this month.

Workshops will be held Thursdays, March 21, April 4 and April 11 in the Scurry County Senior Center at 2605 Ave. M.

Classes will be from 6:30-9:30 p.m. each session. There is no charge.

Homemakers wishing to attend should call the county extension office at 573-5423.

In order to recognize recent quilting workshop participants, a recognition event has been scheduled for Thursday, March 21, beginning at 6:30 p.m. The first session will begin after the event.

Extension homemakers Virginia Fogle, Dorothy Campbell and County Extension Agent Kathryn Roberts will conduct the workshops.

For CRP participants this is the time of year to begin close inspection of your land in the Conservation Reserve. Winter weeds are doing well and with the moisture we received earlier, warm season annuals such as thistles will come on with vengeance.

As in the past, it is required that all CRP participants control the weeds on their land. The responsibility lies completely with the producer. Some have already applied chemical to help control the weeds and others are getting ready. Many producers chose not to use chemicals. For these people, shredding is the only alternative. Shredding is a very good method of weed control if it is done in a timely manner.

Weed control is probably one of the most important management factors a producer can perform on his or her CRP land. There are contrasting fields that tell the story of how much effort a person has put into weed control. Remember, you will only get out of your land what you put into it. If a field needs to be shredded three times during the growing season to control competing vegetation then it is important to carry out these mowings.

Grass is a dynamic plant and must be utilized in order to maintain good vigor and growth. Since grazing, haying or seed harvesting is not permissible on CRP acres, it is very easy for a grass stand to deteriorate due to little or no utilization. You can help maintain the grass vigor by mowing until the grass stand is well established and thereafter mowing possibly once or twice a year. Care should be taken to avoid cutting the grass too short, however. Soil Conservation Service (SCS) personnel can assist you in determining the height to which you should shred.

It is important to remember that you, the producer, are the best person for the job when it comes to keeping watch on your land. If you make regular checks on your fields then you become aware of any problems before they become uncontrollable. The SCS is here to assist you in any way we can. Anytime you feel that there is a problem arising or you just have a question, please call the SCS office and we will schedule a time to meet with you.

Preservatives and fragrances are a major concern when using cosmetics. Be sure to read the list of ingredients for those you want to avoid.

Labels are only required to list the word fragrance, not the specific compound used. Even unscented products contain a fragrance to mask chemical odors. For people who are allergy-sensitive, this could present a problem.

Always test a new product on your inner arm. Should a rash, swelling, redness or itching develop within 24 hours, you are probably allergic to the product.

The way a cosmetic is used can help keep the product bacteria free. Even preservatives lose effectiveness over time. Mascara should be discarded after six months. Discard oil-based make-up, cream or liquid after six months. Any product that has changed appearance or odor should also be discarded.

To keep your make-up safe, always wash your hands before applying; never add water, saliva or other substances. Keep containers and applicators clean. Never use another person's make-up or let anyone use yours.

Court ruling ends impunity for wife killers

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Before last week's Supreme Court decision striking down a traditional legal defense in wife-killing cases, scores of Brazilian men were literally getting away with murder.

The "defense of honor" strategy, abolished by a 3-2 vote, was not part of the legal code but was commonly accepted by courts in smaller jurisdictions of Latin America's biggest and most populous nation.

Jacqueline Pitanguy, former head of the National Council of Women's Rights, called the decision a "historic" first step in ending the violence against women that is endemic to Brazil.

"We have made important advances in recent years and this knocks down one more door," she said.

The court's ruling came in the case of Joao Lopes, a bricklayer who found his wife with another man in a hotel in the southern town of Apucarana. Lopes admitted he fatally stabbed them both, but an all-male jury voted 9-0 to absolve him, accepting his argument that he was defending his honor.

The Supreme Court decided the defendant had killed for revenge, and ordered a new trial.

"From now on, the defense lawyer who tries to get his client off with the 'legitimate defense of honor' will simply be speeding his condemnation," said Rosemarie Muraro, a feminist author.

Feminists have been demanding the end of the "honor" defense since 1976, when fashion model Angela Diniz was fatally shot by playboy Doca Street, her live-in lover, in the southeastern resort town of Buzios. Street became incensed after Diniz ended their romance and took a female companion.

The case caused an uproar when Street received only a two-year prison sentence — with immediate parole. Prosecutors obtained a 16-year sentence in a second trial, which came after widespread protests organized by feminist groups.

However, the strategy has continued to be used frequently, mostly in small towns and in the remote north.

In 1987, in the Amazon state capital of Porto Velho, Domingos Sales Lemos covered his girlfriend with alcohol and set her afire after she ended their 3-month-long romance. The woman, Maria Celsa de Conceicao, was burned over most of her body.

Lemos was acquitted after his lawyer argued that men had a "natural right" over women.

Ms. Muraro said she examined 1980s court records in rural Sao Paulo state and discovered scores of men had employed the defense to avoid conviction.

"Murder was cheaper than getting a divorce," she said. "You didn't have to divide the property."

Ms. Pintanguy said the honor defense stems from deeply-rooted Brazilian machismo.

"According to the defense, a man's 'honor' is not based on his personal behavior, but on his objects," she said. "A woman is seen as property, not a full human being but an extension of her husband."

She said the court's ruling was only a step toward the elimination of violence against women in Brazil. Last week's court ruling has given new hope to some past victims.

12-year-old soars to rank of Eagle Scout

KAUFMAN, Texas (AP) — The national Boy Scouts of America organization doesn't keep records on it, but 12-year-old Sean Sisson "very well may be" the nation's youngest Eagle Scout.

Sean, who has been in scouting since the second grade, earned the Irving-based organization's highest honor last month on his 12th birthday.

"As best we can tell from the limited records we have here, he very well may be the youngest," said Mike Miller, director of the support staff for the Boy Scouts district that encompasses Dallas County and nine suburban areas.

To become an Eagle Scout, the sixth-grader had to earn 21 merit badges, which he did within 22 months.

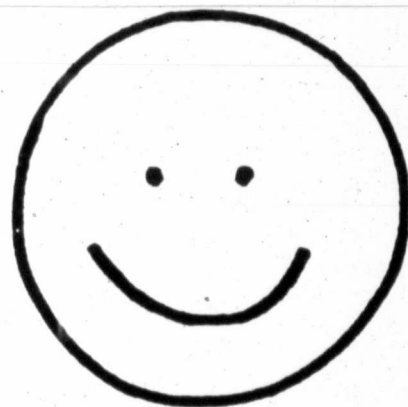

The badges cover all sorts of areas, from citizenship — which Sean earned by writing letters to local, national and world leaders — to swimming and first aid.

His father, Donovan Sisson, is his Scoutmaster, and his 15-year-old brother, William Sisson III, made Eagle at age 13.

"That was my goal from the beginning," Sean said, "to beat my brother."

As for the award, Sean added: "It's great right now. But I still have a lot of other badges to get. There's about 104 of them. Right now, I only have 24."
