Ask Us

Q—How do you go about charging tax on a used boat you are selling to a neighbor? I understand that new state law requires the tax.

A—You need a form from the county tax office stating the amount paid for the boat which the seller and purchaser must sign. The tax will be paid to the county tax assessor-collector.

In Brief

Trial to start

AUSTIN (AP) — A state district judge today denied House Speaker Gib Lewis' request that his misdemeanor ethics case be moved to a lower court.

After District Judge Bob Perkins rejected that motion, Lewis' lawyer said the speaker is eager to stand trial soon.

"We want to proceed to trial in this case as quickly possible," lawyer Tim Evans told the judge during the 5-minute hearing.

American hostage expected to be freed within 24 hours

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — In another step toward ending the hostage ordeal, Israel and its allies freed 15 Arab prisoners today, and Shiite Muslim kidnappers said they would release an American captive within 24 hours.

Also today, Israeli warplanes bombed a Hezbollah guerrilla base in southern Lebanon, wounding three civilians in apparent reprisal for a bomb attack by the Iranian-allied group that killed three Israeli soldiers Sunday.

Hezbollah is believed to be an umbrella group for Shiite factions holding Western hostages in Lebanon. It was not clear whether the Israeli raid would affect the release of a hostage.

The United Nations and a group holding two American hostages — Allan Steen and Jesse Turner — both said a hostage release was imminent. The hostage to be freed was not named.

U.N.-brokered negotiations have engineered a swap of Western hostages, Arab detainees under Israeli control and an accounting of Israeli soldiers missing in Lebanon.

Since August, three Western hostages have been freed after years of captivity in Lebanon and a Frenchman was released after being held three days. Sixty-six Arabs have been freed, and Israel has received word of the deaths of two soldiers and the body of a third.

The International Committee of the Red Cross said 14 prisoners, including two women, were freed at 9 a.m. today from the Khiam prison in Israel's self-designated security zone. Another prisoner, Hezbollah activist Ali Fawaz, was released from a prison in Israel about an hour later.

The Arab releases came eight hours after Islamic Jihad for the Liberation of Palestine said it would free a hostage within a day. The group did not say who would be freed. Its statement was accompanied by a photograph of Turner.

Fawaz, the Lebanese freed in Israel, was transported to the southern Lebanese port of Tyre, where he said he was held in Israel's Ramleh prison for five years.

"I was captured during a major attack on a Zionist outpost in the (security) zone five years ago. I was wounded and that is how the Zionists captured me," Fawaz told reporters.

He said he was held in the same prison as Hezbollah activist Sheik Abdul-Karim Obeid.

"Sheik Obeid and I were five cells apart," Fawaz said. "Sheik Obeid used to lead the prayers at (see HOSTAGE, page 8)"

Bentsen proposal to cut taxes with defense savings is nixed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House expressed misgivings about Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's tax-cut plan and said today it was still formulating its own strategy to evoke "a more immediate response" from the sluggish economy.

Spokesman Marlin Fitzwater voiced Bush administration concerns about the Texas Democrat's proposal to pay for $72.5 billion in tax cuts over five years with cuts in the defense budget.

"We are looking at a growth package that has a more immediate response," said Fitzwater. "But at this point, we haven't made decisions on what it will contain."

Bentsen, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, on Sunday laid out his plan, which features a $300 tax credit for each child 18 and younger and a revival of fully deductible $2,000 Individual Retirement Accounts for all Americans.

Such IRAs now are limited to those not covered by a pension plan with individual income under $25,000 or family income under $40,000.

Bentsen outlined the proposal in a written statement and an interview Sunday on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" program.

"The fact is that over the past decade, the income of the average American family with children fell 5 percent, or nearly $1,600 after inflation," he wrote.

"This economy is dead in the water, and we do have to jumpstart it," he added in the television interview.

10 now dead as fire rages

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Firefighters today battled a roaring fire that swept out of the dry hills above Oakland and Berkeley and raced through well-to-do neighborhoods, killing 10 people and destroying more than 380 homes, authorities say.

Ash-covered residents grabbed pets, photographs and other keepsakes before fire chased them from their homes Sunday. Some people drove to safety through streets filled with flaming debris and lined with burning trees and homes.

"I didn't take my checkbook, nothing. There was nobody to help me think," said 77-year-old Piccola White, who fled with her great-grandson.

Among the victims were a family of five who died trying to escape their burning home. A firefighter and a police officer also were killed, said Alameda County Supervisor Don Perata.

About 1,000 firefighters battled the blaze, which was reported about midday Sunday and moved quickly from street to street, then hill to hill, in Oakland and Berkeley neighborhoods with panoramic views of San Francisco Bay. The fire made a deafening roar as it burned terrain parched by five years of drought.

Pasture Party said success as fundraiser

Gordon Gray was the big winner during Saturday's chamber sponsored Roarin' Holler Pasture Party as he walked away with the $5,000 grand prize.

Chamber manager Ricky Fritz called the event a "success," adding 221 tickets had been sold.

"I received several positive comments. Everybody had a good time," said Fritz of the event, which was held as a chamber fundraiser. He said he was not sure how much was raised, but predicted the chamber would see "several thousand dollars" profit from the evening.

Gray's ticket claimed the grand prize of a $5,000 certificate of deposit. Other CD winners were Emmitt Hataway, $2,000; Art Feinsod, $1,500; Mackey Greene, $1,000; and Doyle Chandler, $500.

In addition to the money winners, every 10th ticket holder received a door prize donated by a local merchant.

Those attending were treated to (see CHAMBER, page 8)

You decide: Prop 3

PROPOSITION 3: "The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to further implement and enhance the administration of the veterans' housing assistance and land programs and to expand the investment authority of the Veterans' Land Board."

Background: If passed, this amendment would ease the restrictions on how the Veterans' Land Board can invest money from the Veterans' Land Fund and the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. The board would be able to invest any money that is not to be used for the payment of principal and interest on bonds, the purchase of lands, or the payment of expenses. In addition, the board would no longer be limited to investing this money in bonds or securities of the federal government.

Supporters Say: Proposition 3 would allow the Legislature to give the Veterans' Land Board more flexibility to earn more on its investments in order to boost earnings for the veterans' land and housing loan programs. The broader authority could increase the board's investment income by an estimated $1 million a year, which could be used to retire outstanding bonds and lower the interest rate charged to veterans for (see PROPOSITION, page 8)

SCADA delivers information, referrals on substance abuse

Area citizens seeking information about alcohol and drug abuse and related problems can find the help they need by inquiring at Snyder Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse, a recipient of United Way funds.

SCADA serves as a central information and referral agency for the residents of Snyder and Scurry County, interacting with the local Mental Health/Mental Retardation branch office, self-help support groups, schools, civic organizations, the judicial system, the medical profession, Ministerial Alliance and other resource agencies.

The office, located at 2513 College Ave. on the square, is open during regular business hours. SCADA also maintains a 24-hour telephone information service.

The program is designed to make the public aware of alcohol and drug problems that exist in the community, and to provide education and referral services to help those who request it. Information and education is in the form of public speaking to various civic organizations and local entities, seminars, a weekly jail group, radio interviews and other sources. The office distributes a monthly newsletter to all of the schools in the county, reaching some 1,500 students.

SCADA offers a meeting room for self-help support meetings, maintains a video library, video equipment and current listings of available resources for education, prevention and intervention.

"A major service the office provides is to let the public know that help is available to the abuser, their families and friends," a spokesperson at the facility said.

"The community has utilized our meeting room, video library and the schools are networking with the office by distributing the newsletter. Our services have been utilized by both the adult and juvenile probation department, county sheriff's department, our local junior college, child protective services and local civic groups."

Among other services, workers at SCADA help line up speakers for various groups and will work with employers to set up employee assistance programs.

Executive director of SCADA is Belva LaRoux. Nancy LaRoux is program director. Stacie Gilmore serves as a part-time secretary.

Scurry County United Way has allocated $3,000 of its $80,000 budget for 1991-92 to Snyder Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse. Other United Way fund recipients are the local Boy's Club, Oil Patch Foster Parents, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Snyder Child Day Care and Noah Project.

Your Birthday

Oct. 21, 1991

The year ahead could turn out to be a very active one for you, but it isn't going to be all work and no play. You'll enjoy what you're doing, and you'll have ample recreational outlets as well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You should do rather well today in endeavors that call for teamwork, because you're a "we" player and not a "me" player. Being an unsung hero won't bother you. Major changes are ahead for Libra in the coming year. Send for Libra's Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $12.50 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll be an effective producer today, provided you don't take on too much, letting your assignments or tasks overlap. Do less, but do it well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There are strong indications that someone you recently met could turn out to be a pretty good friend. However, in this early stage of the relationship, make it a policy not to loan nor borrow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An important matter can be finalized today as you had anticipated, provided you do not deviate from your bottom-line objectives. If you make changes, things could get off track.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you find yourself with some time today, pick up the phone or the pen and get in touch with friends who would like to know what you're doing.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you handle matters properly at this time, you'll have good probabilities for adding to your resources, both materially and financially. Treat these areas with the respect they deserve.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You can afford to have several irons in the fire today, because your efficiency increases with your industriousness. You'll be happy and effective when busy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A friend might confide in you today, because you have proven you can be trusted. The information this individual may reveal could have far-reaching and constructive ramifications.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll function best today if you're able to associate with socially active friends. However, try to avoid participating in involvements that could put a strain on your purse.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The times and trends favor you today, so focus on endeavors of real consequence. Don't be dubious about your role or your goals.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In order to expedite matters today, you might be tempted to use untested procedures. You're likely to do better with traditional methods than with innovative ones.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Business situations can be worked out to your satisfaction today, provided you consider the other guy's needs as well as your own. One-sided negotiating could fall flat.

Kuwaiti minister predicts...

Oil fires may be out by next month

SABRIYYAH, Kuwait (AP) — Oil Minister Hamoud al-Rquba said Monday he expected the last 58 of 732 wells set ablaze or destroyed by Iraq to be capped by early next month.

Al-Rquba also said the faster rate of progress in controlling the wells will reduce losses incurred from lost production time and damage to oil installations. The damage was initially estimated at $75 billion.

"If things go the way they're going now, things could be over by the first half of November," the minister told an impromptu press conference in front of one of the raging wells in this northern oilfield.

Original estimates called for capping the wells by March.

Of Kuwait's 940 producing wells, 732 were damaged by the Iraqis, including 640 set ablaze with explosives.

Firefighting crews have so far extinguished 674 wells, or 92 percent.

The faster rate for killing the blazes was attributed to an increase in the number of firefighting companies, the availability of needed equipment and support, the completion of a water system and the growing experience of firefighters.

Sabriyyah and the neighboring Rawdtein oilfields already looked noticeably different from a few days ago.

Fewer fires were seen in the distance and the smoke drifting from the burning wells was less dense, making the sky look clearer and allowing the sun to shine through more brightly.

"In seven to 10 days you won't recognize this place," said Larry Flak, who coordinates firefighting for the national Kuwait Oil Co.

The initial estimate for losses of the oil sector since Iraq's invasion on Aug. 2, 1990, included $43 billion in lost oil. Al-Rquba said the figure would be less than that because the wells have been capped before the projected date.

He said because of the firefighters' speedy job, Kuwait has lost less than 2 percent of its pre-war 100 billion barrels in recoverable oil reserves — down from a previous estimate of 3 percent.

But Al-Rquba said it would be difficult to estimate how many of the capped wells would be productive until a full evaluation was completed.

Kuwait currently is producing about 290,000 barrels of oil a day from 120 intact wells. Output is expected to rise to about 400,000 barrels a day by the year's end and 800,000 by July.

Al-Rquba predicted Kuwait could reach its previous Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries quota of 1.5 million barrels a day by December 1992.

Some 26 new wells will be drilled by the end of the year and 80 wells will be drilled between January and July to replace those destroyed by the Iraqis, he said.

Laughlin, 60, announced he would run.

Laughlin will run for president. "Recent events in Washington offer a clear picture of the way professional politicians abuse their office," said Laughlin. "It's time to send a clear message to Washington that the American people are fed up. That's what my campaign is all about."

Laughlin, 60, announced he would run.

Laughlin will run

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee-born actor Tom Laughlin says he thought of a presidential campaign only as a potential movie script until he was "shocked by the response and voter anger." Then he decided to run himself.

Laughlin, who played the establishment-bucking, karate-chopping lead character in the 1970s "Billy Jack" films, said

$3 million budgeted by state for cow dung research project

HOUSTON (AP) — A $3 million state study on cow dung in Erath County will focus on whether the 7.9 million pounds of daily manure from 80,000 cows has a negative environmental and economic impact.

The dairy pollution problem in the county cropped up about four years ago, when industrial-style dairies began moving to Texas. Before 1987, most of the county's dairies had been small operations, with 100 or 200 head spread out on hundreds of acres of pasture.

Now, dairies can consist of 1,000 or more cows jammed into a feedlot operation of 50 acres or less.

Erath has 49 dairies of more than 250 cows each, with some milking about 3,000 head.

It is not known if the dairies are polluting local groundwater supplies, stock tanks on neighboring farms and the Bosque River, which flows into the Brazos River southwest of Fort Worth.

"It's like living next to an open cesspool," said Pat Wilson, a Linleville ostrich farmer who lives downwind from a dairy calf feeding operation. "The odor would literally make you throw up, it's so bad. It's sickening."

However, dairies in Erath County produce $144 million worth of milk each year.

"You're not going to find any elected person going out to make waves for the dairies because they're the power here," said Travis Brown, president of Cross Timbers Concerned Citizens, a 45-member local group.

But state Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, said, "There's got to be a way business and the environment can coexist."

Glasgow, a lawyer, represents some of the largest dairies and cattle firms in their pollution fights with state agencies.

He also wrote the $2.7 billion tax increase passed by the Legislature this year. While lawmakers were making major budget cuts, $3 million was added to finance the Institute for Applied Research at Tarleton State University in Stephenville.

Ron Jones, director of the Institute of Applied Research, said the environmental complaints in Erath County are unusual because most are made by other farmers.

Woman's Marriage To Bisexual Is Troubled By Threat of AIDS

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband is bisexual. I have known it since the third year of our marriage, but I expected him to be faithful, so I figured his fantasies were his own business. Well, as it turns out, he has not been faithful, and he is HIV positive! We have two small children, and he is a good father. We have a lot in common, we rarely fight, and I love him.

But now the big problem: To be blunt, I would miss the sex and will not be unfaithful. Also, there is the whole AIDS problem. Will he get sick? Will he infect me or the kids? Can my children have their friends over? Should I be sterilizing the dishes and the towels? What and when do we tell the kids? Our families? He wants to stay married; now I'm not sure I do. I have been to a counselor several times, and I still can't make up my mind.

Please do not publish my name or location, for obvious reasons!

start appearing.

"What and when to tell your families depend upon the relationship you have with those family members. Remember, however, that this disease is very difficult to deal with alone."

As to whether you should stay married, only you can make that decision. Regardless, you should be tested for HIV because if you have been infected, you, too, should be under a doctor's supervision.

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him Barry) received an invitation to the wedding of his first cousin — I'll call him Joe. I realize that the wedding invitations were sent out by Joe's fiancée, whom we have never met, but it was addressed only to my husband, Barry. We have been married for 15 years and have two children. We see Joe only once or twice a year and he knows that we are married.

Am I to assume that I am not invited to this wedding? Or am I to assume it was an oversight on the part of Joe's fiancée? Also, are the children invited?

BARRY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I directed your questions to Dr. Merv Silverman, president of the American Foundation for AIDS Research. His response: "Unless more effective treatments are developed, eventually almost all HIV-infected individuals will have symptoms and, ultimately, AIDS."

"The only way your husband can infect you is through unprotected penetrative sexual activity. Will he infect the children? No."

"Your children can have friends over, and it is not imperative that dishes and towels be sterilized. Studies of households with an infected individual have shown absolutely no transmission of the virus unless there was unprotected sexual activity with the infected person."

"What and when to tell your children depend upon their ages. Since a person can look and feel well for years, it is probably not necessary to tell your small children until the symptoms

DEAR WIFE: Your husband should call his cousin Joe and explain this dilemma. I hope Joe will advise his fiancée that cousin Barry has a wife and two children, after which you will probably be invited. But don't bring your children unless they are specifically invited.

Thomas incident analyzed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Feminists say President Bush has created the "potential for a gender gap" with his handling of Anita Hill's allegations of sexual harassment against Clarence Thomas on the heels of other actions that make some women uneasy.

Women's groups say they intend to package the uproar over sexual harassment with Bush's positions on abortion, parental leave and other areas where they say Bush has been a letdown into a political attack.

"There is tremendous potential for a candidate to use this as the hot button to symbolize all the other double standard positions with women," said Harriet Woods, president of the National Women's Political Caucus.

Bush himself felt compelled to address the issue last week, after his administration won a gut-level battle to overcome Hill's charges and put Thomas on the Supreme Court.

"I don't think that I have, as a result of all this, an increased problem with women," Bush said Thursday.

"The women's groups, feminist groups, that were on the television every day berating those that ... voted for Thomas, I don't think they speak for all the women in this country," he said.

Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., ticked off a list of areas where the president, who campaigned on a promise of a "kinder, gentler" approach to social issues, may be vulnerable.

Among the issues: — Bush supports overturning the Roe Vs. Wade decision that legalized abortion. He also has blocked abortion-related bills, such as the District of Columbia appropriations bill that would allow local tax money to pay for poor women's abortions.

— He vetoed legislation that would require employers to give up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave for worker illness or to care for a newborn or adopted child, or an ill family member. A new attempt at similar legislation also faces a Bush veto threat.

— The president promised to veto civil rights legislation designed to end discrimination in the workplace, on the ground it would promote quotas in hiring and promotion. The legislation would benefit women as well as minorities, by allowing women to collect damages for the first time in cases of intentional discrimination.

In its current form, the bill calls for damage caps of $50,000 to $300,000 depending on the size of the business involved.

— Bush vetoed extended unemployment benefits for the long-term jobless, an economic issue of great concern to women.

The Thomas debate brought many of these concerns to the forefront for women's activists.

Democratic pollster Celinda Lake said the Thomas issue "creates a potential for a gender gap," building on women's uneasiness over Bush's economic policies and other issues affecting women.

The president's advisers are prepared to strike back, aware that even though public opinion polls show Bush has been generally as popular among women as men, that could change between now and Election Day 1992.

The advisers believe that women alienated by the president's handling of the Thomas nomination are a statistically small group of educated, moderate, Republicans who are pro-choice on abortion, said one GOP source who requested anonymity.

Cafeteria massacre reminds congregation of 1980 killings

DAINGERFIELD, Texas (AP) — The cafeteria massacre in Killeen was a jarring reminder of the Sunday morning 11 years ago when a heavily armed man in military fatigues ran into the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church of Daingerfield and began firing.

He killed 5 and wounded 10. Daingerfield, 35 miles north of Longview, hasn't forgotten that nightmare, the church members they lost nor the two men who died trying to save the lives of family and friends.

As a tribute to those who died on June 22, 1980, the church dedicated a marker in their memory Saturday morning.

"When I stand here, I think of a battlefield, because the gunman yelled 'This is war!' when he came in, and it was," the church's pastor, the Rev. Norman Crisp, said during the ceremony.

A black stone marker, flanked with yellow flowers on either side, a basket of white flowers placed underneath and a single red-rose lying in front, was inscribed with the names of the people killed on the front and a Bible verse on the back.

"The timing of it all makes it hard," said Ken Williams, referring to the Killeen shooting and the church's dedication of the marker. His grandmother, Thelma Richardson, was killed in the church shooting.

The marker reads "In Memory

Massacre victim enjoyed hobbies

by The Associated Press
Kriemhild "Kitty" Davis, 62, was enjoying her retirement by spending time in the outdoors and working on her hobbies.

It all came to a sudden end when a gunman crashed his truck into a Luby's Cafeteria in Killeen and started shooting customers Wednesday before turning a pistol on himself. Ms. Davis became one of gunman George Hennard's 23 victims.

Ms. Davis was at the cafeteria with a friend, Barbara Nite, who also was shot during the attack. The slug passed through Ms. Nite's ankle and shot Ms. Davis' thumb off.

Ms. Davis later suffered a gunshot wound to the back when Hennard walked by the pair a second time. Ms. Davis was taken to Darnall Army Community Hospital at Fort Hood, and later transferred to Scott and White Memorial Hospital in Temple, where she died Saturday.

Tiffany Barnett, one of Ms. Davis' seven grandchildren, said her grandmother worked in a dental office at Fort Hood before retiring about two years ago.

"She liked to knit, and she liked to go on camping trips a lot," her granddaughter said.

of Gene Gandy, Gina Linam, and Thelma Richardson — killed by a gunman as they worshiped — June 22, 1980."

At 7, Gina Linam was the gunman's youngest victim.

Underneath these names was a tribute to the two men killed in a fight with the gunman. "In honor of James Y. McDaniel and Kenneth A. Truitt — who gave their lives to save others."

3,146. At the biggest single session, 5,332 players were in action.

The initial event, the Life Master Pairs, was won by Eric Rodwell of West Lafayette, Indiana, and Doug Simson of Columbus, Ohio. They had a 69.9 percent final session to leapfrog into first place.

It isn't often you can make a game with only 19 high-card points, especially when the trumps divide 5-1, but Simson managed it on today's deal.

Rodwell's three-club pre-empt is in the modern style, promising some length in the suit. Simson might have passed as South, but he decided to try to find a major-suit fit. First he showed his spades, over which Rodwell rebid a semi-conventional three no-trump to indicate no spade fit. Then Simson introduced his hearts, which Rodwell "preferred."

West would have done best to lead his trump, but he decided to play a forcing defense, leading the king and another diamond. Simson ruffed in hand, finessed dummy's club queen successfully, played a spade to his ace, ruffed a spade in the dummy, and ruffed a diamond in hand. Another spade ruff, the club ace and a club ruff in hand (it couldn't help East to ruff in) brought declarer's trick total to eight. Since Simson was still clutching the A-K of hearts, he claimed his contract. That was worth 31 out of 38 match-points.

Twins claim 2-0 series lead

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Twins are taking a 2-0 World Series lead to Atlanta simply because of too much Minnesota muscle in the Metrodome.

Home runs by Chili Davis and rookie Scott Leius — the Twins' second straight two-homer game — and a show of strength at first base by Kent Hrbek, sent the Twins to a 3-2 victory over the Braves Sunday night.

The Series resumes Tuesday night in Atlanta with Scott Erickson (20-8) pitching for Minnesota against NL playoff MVP Steve Avery (18-8).

By then, maybe the Braves will have figured out what happened. So far the Metrodome mystery has escaped Detroit, St. Louis, Toronto and now Atlanta.

The Twins have won six straight World Series games at home and eight of nine in the postseason.

"It's fun to play at home, whether it's the regular season or postseason," manager Tom Kelly said. "The fans get real excited and that helps."

A controversial call by first base umpire Drew Coble might have helped the Twins on this night, just as much as the fans, the hankies and the muscle.

Davis' two-run homer in the first inning off loser Tom Glavine put the Twins ahead and the Braves scored a run in the second off Kevin Tapani on Brian Hunter's sacrifice fly.

In the third, Lonnie Smith reached on Leius' error and, one out later, Ron Gant singled to left field. Dan Gladden's sloppy throw to third got by Leius; Tapani picked up the ball and threw to first as Gant rounded the bag by a couple of steps.

The 170-pound Gant and the 250-pound Hrbek ended up in a twist of arms and legs, with Gant slipping off the base and being called out by Coble. TV replays seem to show Hrbek, a pro wrestling fan, lifting Gant off the base in a move Hulk Hogan would be proud of.

"His momentum carried him into me," Hrbek said. "I kept my glove on his leg. I knew he was going to fall off the base because his momentum was carrying him off."

Muscle and momentum. It was all the Twins needed.

"I was definitely on the base," Gant said. "I'm sure everyone watching on television and in the stadium knew I was on the base. I don't know since when you can just pull a guy off the base."

It was the third out and spared Tapani the problem of facing David Justice with runners on first and third.

The Braves tied the score in the fifth on Rafael Belliard's sacrifice fly and had a chance to take the lead in the eighth when Gant hit with runners on first and third.

But Tapani got him to pop up behind the plate and Justice ended the inning with an easy fly ball to left. It gave the Twins more momentum with more muscle to come.

Atlanta left six runners on base after stranding seven runners in Game 1. In the extra-base hit department, the Braves were limited to two doubles in the first two games.

"We could've won with a clutch hit," manager Bobby Cox said. "You can't blame a ballpark or the umpires."

Leius, who hit only five homers in 1991 at-bats this season, hit Glavine's first pitch in the bottom of the eighth over the left-field fence.

Rick Aguilera relieved Tapani to start the ninth and struck out the side for his second save in two games and his fifth of the postseason. Tapani gave up seven hits, walked none and struck out three.

Glavine got in trouble right away when second baseman Mark Lemke and Justice didn't spend enough time watching Gladden's high pop to shallow right field leading off the first. Lemke lost the ball for a moment and then Justice knocked the ball out of his glove.

SWC roundup...

Arkansas upsets Longhorns

by The Associated Press
The Arkansas Razorbacks are the Southwest Conference's October surprise.

Relegated to second-division status by most experts in preseason picks, the Hogs have taken the early SWC lead with a 4-0 record after living dangerously with narrow victories over Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Houston, and 14-13 over the Texas Longhorns on Saturday in Little Rock. The only other team still undefeated in SWC play is R.C. Slocum's Texas Aggies who whipped the Baylor Bears 34-12 Saturday in Waco.

The Aggies are 2-0 followed by TCU 2-1, Texas 1-1, Baylor 2-2, Rice, Texas Tech and Houston 1-2 and SMU at 0-4.

In other games Saturday, TCU bounced back from a 22-21 loss to Arkansas by defeating the Owls in Houston 39-28 and Houston ripped winless SMU 49-20 in the Astrodome.

The 97-year old rivalry between Arkansas and Texas ended with Texas leading 46-19 in SWC games, but the Longhorns might have traded this one for some of their other victories. Texas missed an extra point and a field goal in the fourth quarter to lose to the Hogs before a sellout crowd of 55,618 in War Memorial Stadium.

"We were lucky, amen," said Arkansas coach Jack Crowe. "Texas missed some kicks. We missed some kicks. There seems to be a lot of that this year."

Jason Ziegler, who missed the extra point after Phil Brown's 55-yard touchdown run, said "it wasn't the snap. It wasn't the hold. It was just me. I didn't hit the ball at all."

The Hogs have a particularly tough stretch when they play at Texas Tech on Nov. 9 then have to travel to Texas A&M on Nov. 16 in the game that could decide the SWC championship.

Arkansas is idle this week and hosts Baylor in Fayetteville on Nov. 2.

The Aggies host the Cougars Run 'N Shoot offense at Kyle Field Saturday while TCU is at Baylor in the noon Raycom TV game, Rice is at Texas Tech and Texas meets SMU at 2 p.m. in the Cotton Bowl.

WTC forwards to contribute

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor
According to Western Texas College's rookie head men's basketball coach, Kelly Green, size could work against the Westerners' forwards in the 1991-92 Western Junior College Athletic Conference campaign.

"We've got some talented 6-4, 6-5 players," Green said, "but they'll be going against some 6-6 or 6-7 players. We'll be giving up three inches at times.

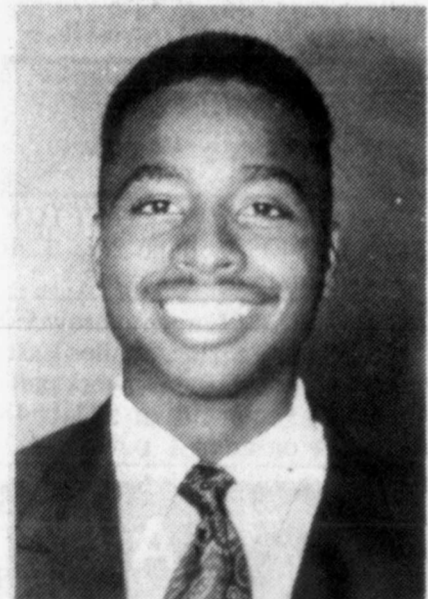

"Athletically, we're going to be okay. We'll just need to use our quickness and play good defense."

Players being counted on to fill the wing-forward spots include 6-5 Will Watkins, 6-4 Michael Crowe, 6-5 Brent Murphy, Ricardo Hamilton, who at 6-6 will also play in the post slot, and 6-5 Chris Stull.

Watkins, a freshman from Dayton, Ohio, was good for almost 11 points, a pair of rebounds and a Crowe averaged 12 points and almost four swipes a game as a schoolboy.

"He is one of the team's best defenders and most versatile players," said the WTC chief. "He only Murphy comes to the Westerners from Smithfield, N.C., where he garnered all-state second-team recognition and a place on the All-State Who's Who squad.

"Brent is a very aggressive swing player who loves to mix it up," said Green. "He will be expected to be a defensive stopper this season."

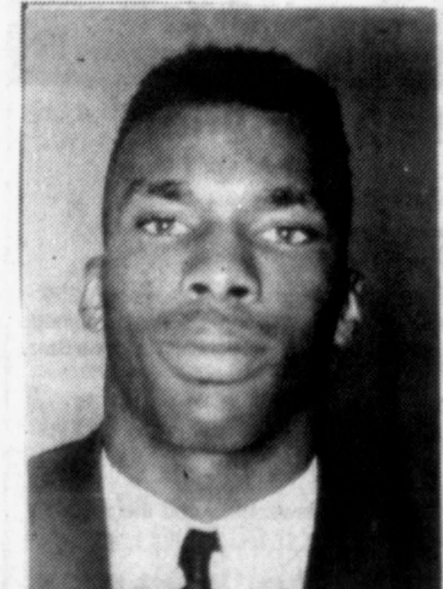

Stull is a walk-on player from Clovis, N.M., where he was selected all-district and honorable-mention all-state while scoring 22 points a game and pulling down 11 rebounds.

"He's a solid swing player with good size," according to the Westerners' coach. "Chris is a consistent outside shooter who can also score inside."

Lady Tigers dump Brownfield spikers

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Snyder's Lady Tigers improved their season record to 13-5 Saturday with a 15-13, 16-14 non-district volleyball win over Brownfield.

"The second game was pretty even," said Snyder coach Patty Grimmer. "We let them stay close to us by missing so many serves."

"We missed 10 serves in the second game," she continued. "We went almost four complete rotations and served 63 times. That's a lot of serves, especially for a two-game match."

"Still," she said, "the girls basically kept their composure through everything and did a good job."

We got some good blocks and played really good defense," the coach concluded.

Melody Sargent paced the Snyder offensive attack, serving nine points. Stephanie Fambro added seven followed by Emma Skold with five, Amber Bowlin's four, three by Julie Johnson, Joellen King with two and one from Kari Blackledge.

The Lady Tigers, 13-5 overall and 4-1 in loop matches, will get back into District 2-4A competition Tuesday, hosting Lubbock Estacado, a 15-12, 15-11 winner over Dunbar on Saturday.

Tuesday's matches begin at 6:30 p.m.

In the other district contest Saturday, league leader Lamesa remained undefeated in six loop games by hammering Levelland (8-12, 1-4) 15-6, 15-12.

In Saturday's early matches here, Snyder's freshmen took a three-game win over Brownfield, 13-15, 15-5, 15-13, and the Lady Tiger JV fell to the Lady Cubs, 6-15, 15-8, 3-15.

Retired general now convinced Americans are being held captive

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A retired U.S. Air Force general who spent more than seven years as a prisoner of the North Vietnamese says he is now convinced that Americans are being held against their will in Southeast Asia.

Robinson Risner, a retired brigadier general, said that when he was repatriated in 1973 after torture and brutal treatment in a North Vietnamese prison he felt confident that no fellow prisoners had been left behind.

But Risner told the San Antonio Express-News that he is now convinced that some American prisoners are still being held.

Risner said he is hopeful that the case of San Antonio Army Capt. Donald G. Carr, whose plane was downed in Laos 20 years ago, may help peel away the mystery surrounding the fate of some missing servicemen.

"You talk about heroes, these guys are heroes because they had guts enough to survive," Risner said. "They probably have given up on our government, they probably feel no one is coming after them, and they'll live there forever."

"I'm amazed that our government, as strong and powerful and far-reaching its influence (is), has not been able to bring home our American prisoners for all these years," Risner said. "I'm not bitter and I'm not condemning anybody, I'm just amazed."

Risner said he is encouraged at what he sees as increased interest by Defense Department officials. "The fact that Defense Secretary Richard Cheney is personally interested could mean a lot," Ris-ner said. POW hunter Jack Bailey has said that his sources in Laos have told him that Carr, a Green Beret whose surveillance plane was shot down in Laos in 1971, reportedly was sighted in a prison camp recently.

The Pentagon made the case a top priority in August after Bailey said a photo, smuggled out of Laos last year by a contact he calls "Mr. X," shows a middle-aged man who many are convinced is Carr.

Risner said he is convinced that "sizable numbers" of Americans were left behind, particularly in Laos, and that some of them are still alive.

He said he changed his mind after reviewing files of POW-MIA reports compiled by the Defense Intelligence Agency.

"I saw many cases where action was deemed by the sighting, and yet nothing was ever done," Risner said.

He said it appeared that the job of the DIA analysts was "seemingly, to prove there was no one" being held prisoner.

"Until someone brings a live American out of there, they're written off," Risner said.

Although he said he can't explain why the prisoners would still be held, he pointed out some French prisoners from the Indochina War were retained for years after the conflict ended until they were ransomed by French authorities.

He pointed out that many prisoners were released by the North Vietnamese, Communist Pathet Lao forces in neighboring Laos never released any prisoners.

Report: public opinion of legislative branch slips in recent weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pummelled by rubber checks, unpaid restaurant tabs and the Clarence Thomas-Anita Hill battle, Congress' regard has fallen so low that some members might head home if it weren't for their $125,100 paychecks.

"You would have thought I had just been accused of a criminal act," said Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., recounting the stares he received last week when an airline passenger identified him as a member of Congress.

Boren and other lawmakers don't need poll numbers to tell them it's time for a little self-examination. When a House freshman put a bag over his head last month, few colleagues laughed.

But self-examination doesn't come naturally to members of Congress. What they do instead is blame the process, or the staff or negative campaigning for surveys showing that Americans overwhelmingly disapprove of their national legislature.

"People blame the institution instead of blaming the people" in it, said Rep. Mike Parker, D-Miss. Those on Capitol Hill who are looking to turn the tide seem to agree that if Congress did more good, the American people would be more inclined to overlook the bad.

"The American people would not care a bit about floated checks ... or the tabs down in the restaurant ... if they thought we really represented their interests across this country," said Rep. Robert Dornan, R-Calif.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, has seized the moment to propose a list of changes in the Senate's rules to make the institution more efficient — and has proposed a major tax break for the middle class.

A host of others from both parties have focused more narrowly, on stopping leaks of sensitive information such as Hill's tale of sexual harassment by Supreme Court nominee Thomas. The Senate's public image would be in better shape had its Judiciary Committee succeeded in its plan to keep her charges from public view.

All these proposals and others might make good sense within the confines of the Capitol, but there's no evidence the public is going to be satisfied.

Toll-free suicide line is legal, but some ask is it also unethical?

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The director of a suicide hotline that's been assailed by a local psychologist says his group provides a needed service in many Texas cities.

Sister Catherine Casey, a San Antonio psychologist, says the 1-800 line, which offers 24-hour counseling for suicidal and severely depressed people, is little more than a front for a California program available only to those with insurance.

But Stephen Simon of Long Beach, Calif., director of the Humanistic Mental Health Foundation board, a non-profit organization offering the service for several years, refutes that claim.

"We're not exploiting anyone. I think we have a very fine program," Simon said.

The foundation, which began in 1979, started its 24-hour suicide counseling help line nationwide

"a few years ago." The help line also offers inpatient services at hospitals and other facilities in California, Simon said.

Those who call the toll-free number are told to get more information by calling a 1-900 number. That 1-900 number bills the caller 25 cents for the first minute and $2.50 for each additional minute.

"They are collecting money from troubled people from the 1-900 calls and getting patients from Texas with insurance coverage by offering "free" services," Ms. Casey told the San Antonio Express-News.

"It appears to me that these people are endangering suicidal and troubled youth at worst. It may be legal, but I do not consider it ethical behavior for a mental health professional," she said.

Trial to start in 1970 double slayings

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — An attorney for a former Norman police officer says his client is looking forward to testifying during his trial for the 1970 slayings of a University of Oklahoma student and his date.

"He is very anxious for the trial to begin and he wants to vindicate his name," Norman attorney Robert Perrine says of Frank Gilley.

Gilley, 55, who was on patrol nearby when the killings apparently occurred, faces death by injection if convicted of murder in the bloodbath. He now lives in DeSoto, Texas, where he moved in 1973.

The trial was slated to start today in Cleveland County district court.

The bodies of David William Sloan, 21, and Sheryl Lynn Benham, 19, were found on May 11, 1970, in the trunk of Sloan's 1966 Pontiac GTO parked under some trees on a farm west of Norman.

Each had been shot in the face and chest more than 10 times with a .22-caliber weapon. Their faces were unrecognizable. Because of the position of the bodies and the location of the wounds, police believe the couple were shot after they were put in the trunk.

Police said they long had suspected Gilley, but lacked enough evidence to charge him. Gilley was alleged to have harassed couples in lovers' lanes in the Norman area and also in the Amarillo, Texas, area as a sheriff's deputy there, officials said.

But Perrine says the Norman police investigation was incomplete and he said it focused solely on his client.

"They didn't even look for other suspects," he said. "They got off on a track and pursued a lot of rumors."

Gilley has steadfastly denied the charges since his arrest last March following indictment by a grand jury on two counts of first-degree murder.

MIDLAND — Services were conducted this morning, followed by graveside services at 3 p.m. today in Slaton's Englewood Cemetery for Oma Faye Dawson, 84, who died Thursday in a Midland retirement center.

Born in Ira, Mrs. Dawson was a graduate of O'Donnell High School. She attended nursing school in Lubbock and worked for Lubbock Memorial Hospital. She also did private nursing work and retired in 1968. She moved to Midland in 1986.

She married Thomas H. Dawson in 1933 in Clovis, N.M., and he died in 1968.

Survivors include a son, Dan Dawson of Austin; a daughter, Linda Jobe of Midland; a sister, Lavinia Cole of Jefferson; six grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

Body of Huey Long's assassin exhumed

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The dirt-encrusted tomb of the man listed in the history books as the assassin of Huey P. Long was opened in an effort to settle questions about the shooting of the populist politician a half-century ago.

The history books say Dr. Carl Austin Weiss, 29, shot Long in a corridor of the state Capitol on Sept. 8, 1935. Long's bodyguards promptly killed Weiss with a volley of bullets.

Weiss' grave was opened Sunday to investigate claims by some that Long's own overeager bodyguards were his real killers.

"We are using scientific evidence to corroborate or not what the eyewitnesses had to say," said James E. Starrs, a forensic scientist at George Washington University in Washington. "What we're after is who did what, when and how."

Long, Louisiana's governor from 1928 to 1931, was a U.S. senator when he died, at age 42.

A rival of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Long — known as the "Kingfish" — espoused a "share the wealth" philosophy. Enemies said he was a demagogue who wanted to be dictator of the United States.

Starrs said there was a complete skeleton and some tissue inside the coffin, which fell apart when the lid was lifted, damaging some of the bones. The remains were then taken to a laboratory in Lafayette, about 55 miles away. Historians have suggested that Weiss went to the Capitol to confront Long about a dispute between the senator and Weiss' in-laws. Starrs wants to examine Weiss' hands in light of witness reports that Weiss struck Long that day.

Starrs said he was paying most of the project's $7,000 to $10,000 cost.

Donna Bell of 1301 Lear advised the SO at 7:50 p.m. that a 500-gallon propane tank had been stolen.

Officers file burglary reports

Snyder police took two offense reports for burglary of a residence, made one arrest and worked a couple of minor traffic accidents over the weekend.

At 11:42 a.m. Saturday, officers were notified of a burglary at 2602 33rd St. An undetermined amount of cash was taken from the residence.

At 6:34 p.m. Sunday, police received a report of clothing, jewelry, make-up and other items taken from a residence at 2011 Ave. N.

Both burglaries are under investigation.

The weekend's only arrest came at 3:06 a.m. Sunday when officers took a 24-year-old male into custody in the 1300 block of 28th St. for driving while intoxicated. The subject was transported to the county jail.

At 8:55 a.m. Saturday, officers investigated a minor traffic accident in the IGA parking lot. Involved were a 1976 Oldsmobile driven by Thula Rainwater Whatley of Rt. 3 and a 1986 Dodge driven by Lila Kayle Turner of Rt. 3. No wrecker or ambulance was needed.

Officers also worked an accident at 5:36 a.m. Sunday in the 3300 block of Houston Ave. Involved were a 1987 Pontiac driven by Tommy Dee Reaves of 2904 42nd St. and a parked 1974 Chevrolet owned by Chris Donaldson of 3303 Houston Ave. The Pontiac was towed from the scene.

In one other report which came at 11:56 a.m. Saturday, a woman complained of damage to her mailbox and vehicle at 3402 40th St. Someone had sprayed shaving cream in the mailbox and stolen the trunk lock cover from a vehicle. Officers filed a report for Class B theft.

Hay barn, bales destroyed in fire

Snyder Fire Department extinguished a hay barn fire on property owned by Tommy Smith at the intersection of Huffman Ave. and Ave. L Saturday evening.

Cause of the 7:45 p.m. fire, which consumed the small barn and about 800 bales of hay, is still under investigation.

Firefighters returned to the department about midnight.

the prison every day."

Obeid was kidnapped by helicopter-borne Israeli commandos from his home in Jibsheet in July 1989. Hezbollah has repeatedly demanded his freedom.

Israeli officials said the target of today's Israeli warplane raid was in Jibsheet, about nine miles north of the Israeli border and not far from the place where the three Israeli soldiers were killed Sunday.

Lebanese police said two Israeli jet fighters targeted a house used by Hezbollah, firing at least three rockets that scored direct hits, wounding three civilians and inflicting extensive damage. It was Israel's 16th air raid into Lebanon this year.

The other 14 freed Lebanese reportedly included Shiite and Christian guerrillas. An estimated 300 prisoners, mostly Shiites, are held at Khiam.

Relatives of Steen, 52, and Turner, 44, tried not get their hopes up too high. The teachers were abducted at gunpoint from the campus of Beirut University College on Jan. 24, 1987.

land and housing loans. Opponents Say: The amendment would eliminate all restrictions on the Legislature's grant of authority to the Veterans' Land Board to invest proceeds of bonds used to finance the veterans' land and housing programs. This would open the door to investments that might boost earnings in the short run but ultimately could put these important programs at risk. The attorney general's 1990 opinion indicated that the land board already is authorized to make a wide array of lucrative, yet safe, investments.

Inmates, families linked

HOUSTON (AP) — A two-hour weekly radio show called The Prison Program not only doles out information about legal and social issues to Texas prisoners, it gives them a rare chance to hear from their family and friends.

The show, which airs 3-5 p.m. Sundays on KPFT-FM, includes an hour of family call-ins. It provides some kin the only contact they have with their inmate, and gives prisoners a glimpse of the outside world.

The developer and host of the show since it began 11 years ago is Ray Hill, a gay activist and former convict. Several times during a recent program, Hill lectured inmates on how to mend their lives.

The call-in format works, he said, because friends and relatives of inmates are far more eloquent than he.

"I have had everything on this show," he told The Houston Post. "Everything from 'the baby was born' to 'your mother died' to 'you S.O.B. I got the letter you intended for the other woman.'"

"Then I get the real tear-jerkers: 'Daddy, I'm 5 years old. I'm having a party. Do you remember me? This is Ruby,'" he said.

Nielsen ratings indicate that 1,000 people listen during the first hour of the show, which is meant to keep inmates informed about legal and social issues. Listener-ship doubles for the second hour's family call-ins.

Inmates are not counted in listener surveys, nor are they allowed to talk to their loved ones over the airwaves.

Mothers talk about the chocolate cake they baked but can't give to their sons, wives describe missed pizza dinners and kids' soccer games and children send hugs and kisses their daddies can't feel.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: In 1987 I was diagnosed with a disease called IgG immune deficiency. Everyone who first hears about this automatically assumes it is in the same ballpark as AIDS. Can you help by educating me and the public about this and other immune deficiencies unrelated to AIDS?

DEAR READER: There are many types of immune deficiency. AIDS, the most serious, is — as you suggested — also the most publicized. However, many chronic diseases, particularly those affecting the immune system (such as lupus and diabetes) are associated with minor immune deficiencies.

In addition, as people grow older, their immune systems weaken. Finally, various forms of nutritional deficiency may reduce immune efficiency because the system depends on adequate amounts of body protein.

You appear to have a reduced quantity of immune globulin G, one of the five major classes of immune proteins — the others being IgM, IgA, IgD and IgE. The reason for this should be investigated — if it hasn't been already — because a chronic disorder (such as infection or vitamin deficiency) could be treated, thereby allowing your IgG to return to normal.

You are absolutely correct. Immune deficiencies are quite common and, in the majority of cases, do not necessarily reflect AIDS, which is a fatal, incurable disease spread by intimate contact or exposure to contaminated blood products.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Blood — AIDS." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please discuss diabetic neuropathy in your column.

DEAR READER: Diabetes usually accelerates arteriosclerosis, the age-related blockages in the arteries. The process may affect oxygen supply to nerves, notably in the legs and feet, leading to nerve malfunction (neuropathy): numbness, tingling, pain and weakness.

This complication of diabetes is very difficult to treat. Nerve symptoms may respond to better control of the diabetes. But the neuropathy often worsens, despite aggressive therapy.

Recently, a new product, called Capsaicin, shows promise in reducing the pain of diabetic neuropathy. The prescription product is a cream, which is applied four times a day for at least one month. The product is marketed under the tradename Zostrix HP.

Protesters want stand returned

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials at an area Sam's Wholesale Club store say they will return equipment and supplies seized when the store shut down a small chain of hot dog stands staffed by the disabled and elderly.

About 15 members of the Houston Center for Independent Living, a disabled rights group, protested at the store Saturday, holding signs and passing out pamphlets condemning Sam's parent, Wal-Mart Stores Inc.

They were led by Scarlett Rabalais, owner of the Hot Diggity Dog chain. Ms. Rabalais employed 92 elderly and disabled workers in 24 stands at Sam's and Wal-Mart stores across Texas until they were evicted Oct. 9 after a yearlong battle.

Ms. Rabalais' company operated solely at Sam's stores in 11 Texas cities. Sam's collected 10 percent of the gross sales and Ms. Rabalais bought the food she prepared from Sam's. In other states, Sam's has comparable carts of its own in front of its stores.

Wal-Mart has declined to comment further on the conflict since Ms. Rabalais has filed a $3.2 million lawsuit charging breach of contract.

Police worry about radar guns and cancer

SHELTON, Conn. (AP) — Sgt. Vincent Casertano loved catching speeders with his radar gun. "You got 'em dead to right," he said. "How are they going to fight it?"

But now Casertano says he was the one getting zapped during 20 years with a radar gun at his side. Like dozens of officers around the country, Casertano suspects long-term exposure to radiation from the device gave him cancer.

Surgeons removed his thyroid and surrounding lymph nodes after he was diagnosed with cancer in 1988.

"When I woke up I couldn't move my head. I was cut ear to ear. I saw one priest come in, then later two more. I thought this must be the end," the Shelton police officer said.

Casertano, 55, is back at work, minus the hand-held radar gun he used to stop thousands of speeders in this town 10 miles west of New Haven.

Connecticut found itself in the middle of the safety debate last week when the state police banned hand-held radar guns as a precaution while studies are conducted into possible links between cancer and the devices.

Adam Berluti, a state police spokesman, said his department has 210 outside-mounted units, more than enough to maintain speed enforcement while its 70 hand-held units are put aside.

The ban Tuesday was believed to be the first of its kind by a state police agency.

By Friday, at least 13 municipal police departments in Connecticut had followed suit. The Shelton Police Department was not among them. Two other departments, Rocky Hill and Windsor Locks, imposed similar bans before state police acted.

The St. Petersburg, Fla., Police Department, believed to be the first to act on fears of a cancer link, in January replaced hand-held units with units outside patrol cars. The Hernando County, Fla., Sheriff's Department moved its radar transmitters outside cruisers earlier this year.

Data collected by Ohio Trooper Gary Poynter for the Fraternal Order of Police showed that dozens of officers were stricken with cancer in parts of the body where they would have been most exposed to radiation. The findings were published in Law Enforcement News in 1990.

An estimated 75,000 hand-held and mounted radar units are used by police in the United States, according to Kustom Signals Inc. of Overland Park, Kan., the nation's leading manufacturer of radar guns.

Kustom denies the guns pose a health risk, citing tests showing emissions are within government safety levels.

Eleanor R. Adair, a Yale University expert on radio frequency and microwave field exposure, said there is no evidence the guns are hazardous.

Most radar guns have an output equivalent to a nursery monitor, a child's walkie talkie, or "a jar of 30 fireflies, if you could train them to all go off at once," she said. Casertano and two other Connecticut police officers have filed worker's compensation claims alleging they got cancer from daily exposure to radiation from the guns.

Officers in California, Wisconsin and Florida have filed similar claims.

F. Alan Anderson, director of the Food and Drug Administration's Office of Science and Technology, said there is no evidence radar guns cause cancer. Yet he recommended July 31 that operators of traffic radar never place the antenna within 6 inches of any part of the body while the unit is transmitting.

Williams didn't like teacher's style

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Classical guitarist John Williams, who studied under Andres Segovia, says he was inspired by the master but didn't like his teaching style.

"Segovia was unique in what he created and he was a great inspiration to me," Williams said before an appearance Sunday at the Ambassador Auditorium.

"But I don't think he was a good teacher. He was autocratic," Williams said. "If you did what he wanted he could be very charming and make you feel good. But music is more than just the correct fingering of pretty sounds."

Williams, 50, was first taught the guitar by his father, dance band guitarist Len Williams. At 12, he began studying with Segovia in London and Siena, Italy.

Larry King, noted talk show host, interviews constantly

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A talk show host's job is never done, Larry King says. And he wouldn't have it any other way.

"It never leaves me. I interview elevator operators," King said. "I'm just getting paid well to do what I love to do."

King, the host of "Larry King Live" on CNN and "The Larry King Show" on Mutual Radio, estimated he has interviewed 40,000 people in 30 years.

"I don't do any research. It's all instinct. That's the only way I can work and do all the things I do," he said.

King's newest project is "Larry King TNT Extra," a series of on-location interviews that draws on footage from the TNT cable network's film library.
