In Brief

Flaws found

AUSTIN (AP) — An audit has cited major flaws in the state's administration of a $311 million federal jobs training program, but Texas Department of Commerce officials say many of the problems were left over from the prior administration.

The Commerce Department was the target of a major shakeup after Gov. Ann Richards took office last year.

The report by the state auditor's office essentially covers a two-year period ending May 31, 1989, although it notes that some of the problems still exist.

'Does not fit the definition'

Bush unconvinced U.S. in recession

ROME (AP) — President Bush said today he isn't convinced the United States is in a recession and predicted that lower interest rates would soon "kick in and stimulate the economy." He said he'd consider a tax cut if it didn't increase the deficit.

At a news conference after meetings with foreign leaders, Bush said he isn't going to stay put in Washington out of political anxiety, and that he didn't feel any election pressures to prompt a fresh round of economic proposals.

The president said he would take a look at Democratic economic proposals, but is "not interested in higher taxes" — a reference to initiatives which would cut taxes for middle-income Americans while raising them on the wealthy.

Bush said he wasn't certain there was a recession still under way. "It does not fit the definition," he said, noting slight economic growth in the most recent calendar quarter.

At the same time, he said, "This recession is far less deep than the previous recession and it is my hope that we will come out of it." While the official start of the recession has been dated to 1990, there is widespread disagreement among economists about whether the recession has ended. The nation's jobless rates were up last month and leading indicators were down.

Bush also expressed sadness at professional basketball star Magic Johnson's stunning announcement on Thursday that he is positive for the AIDS virus and will retire immediately. "He's a hero to me," said Bush.

The news conference came after the close of NATO meetings and a session at the Vatican with the pope. Bush was leaving Rome for The Hague, where he was meeting with leaders of the European Community.

Bush said the NATO talks had been a "landmark event" that reaffirmed the alliance as the "guarantor of the security and the stability of Europe."

The president spoke one day after the chairman of the House's tax-writing committee, Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, proposed a tax cut for the middle class that would be financed in part by levying new taxes on the well-to-do.

"I'd love to be in a position to (see BUSH, page 8)

'Pride of the West'

State-bound band to perform at half

Snyder High School's "Pride of the West" marching band will make its final showing here tonight before competing in the Class 4A state marching contest Monday in Austin.

The 130-member band will perform at halftime of Snyder High School's last regular season football game, set for 7:30 p.m. against long-time rival Lamesa in Tiger Stadium. The Tiger football team will be entering postseason play next week.

Snyder High School marched into state competition last Saturday in Lubbock by earning a Division I rating at the Class 4A Area Marching Band Contest.

The next step for the Tigers is the state preliminaries, set for Monday at Nelson Field in Austin. Snyder will march at noon and will be the fifth of 14 Class 4A bands to compete. The top five will advance to the finals at 8:35 p.m. Monday in Memorial Stadium.

Hereford, under director James McClaskey, also advanced to state last Saturday. The Herd will join Snyder and 12 other bands from throughout the state in Monday's Class 4A competition.

This year's trip to state will be the third for Snyder since marching competition began in the early 1980s. The Tigers advanced in 1983 and 1985.

The 1983 band was directed by Sam Robertson. The current band is under the guidance of Walter Reneau, who also directed Snyder's 1985 foray into state competition.

Johnson: 'I'm going to beat it'

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Magic Johnson, the basketball superstar whose skill and joy has charmed the world, shocked the nation with his announcement that he has the virus that causes AIDS and is retiring.

People shed tears, his former coach gathered his new team in prayer, and Los Angeles Lakers teammates expressed their shock and sadness.

But there were no tears from Johnson as he announced his condition Thursday at a news conference at the Forum, where the Lakers play.

Speaking calmly and flashing the infectious, ear-to-ear grin that has charmed millions, he called his condition "another challenge."

"I'm going to beat it. And I'm going to have fun, OK?" he said.

He and his physician, Dr. Michael Mellman, said Johnson is infected with the HIV virus but has not developed AIDS.

Johnson, who married his college sweetheart, the former Cookie Kelly, two months ago, said his wife tested negative. He has a son, Andre, who lives in his hometown of Lansing, Mich.

Neither Johnson nor Mellman said how he was infected. The virus is most commonly transmitted through sex or intravenous drug use.

"I don't believe we know at this point, specifically," Mellman said.

"I think sometimes we think, well, only gay people can get it, only — it's not going to happen to (see JOHNSON, page 8)

County, airport board reach accord over manager's hours

An informal meeting today between Scurry County commissioners and the airport board concerning hours of operation and specifically the work schedule of Airport Manager Darrell Mize eventually resulted in a compromise, but not before some heated discussion.

At issue is the time Mize spends away from the airport during regular business hours.

Precinct 2 Commissioner Roy Idom, himself a pilot, contended that Mize spends a substantial time away from the airport, flying for others on county time.

"You are a county employee. You should be working 40 hours a week," said Idom to Mize, who also attended the meeting.

Mize conceded he spends some time away from the facility, occasionally flying, but that time, (see COUNTY, page 9)

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Keep both feet on the ground and you'll be less likely to jump to conclusions."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

In the Andrews County News, James Roberts told about an oilfield contractor there who is getting in his licks with a message printed on his business checks.

In small, but bold type on the front of the check are the following words:

"These funds were generated from private enterprise despite government's flagrant inflation of the national money supply, bureaucratic hostility, and irresponsible controls."

Most business folks will go along with that taxpayer's frustration of trying to meet a payroll in the current business environment.

Larry Crabtree, in the Vernon Daily Record, wrote about a city slicker who was visiting the famous Waggoner Ranch in Wilbarger County.

The woman said, "Oh, what a lovely cow. But why doesn't it have any of those big horns?"

One crusty cowpoke replied quietly, "Some cows do not have horns until later in life. Others have them removed, while some other breeds are born without horns. However, the reason this cow does not have horns is that he is a horse."

A good idea from the Wall Street Journal: "To reduce the deficit, the government of Greece is offering private buyers an opportunity to purchase 35 of its undeveloped islands in the Saronic Gulf."

"It has occurred to us that the U.S. government is the owner of huge tracts of land west of the Mississippi. Environmentalist obsessions aside, we wonder if it's really necessary for Uncle Sam to own all these acres unto eternity. Some sales might just bring back the pioneer spirit."

Senate Democrats unveil new jobless benefits bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats are pushing a new plan to extend benefits for the long-term unemployed, but the Bush administration and congressional Republicans say the proposal is unacceptable.

Because of GOP opposition — and a preference by House Democrats to write the measure differently — its future appeared doubtful. It seemed likely, at best, to put President Bush in a difficult position by forcing him to oppose yet another Democratic effort to help victims of the recession.

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, and other top

Senate Democrats introduced the measure Thursday. Like two previous measures Bush has defeated, it would provide up to 20 weeks of benefits for people who use up the regular 26 weeks of coverage.

"For us, the overriding need is to provide emergency benefits to millions of Americans who need them," Mitchell said.

The measure, costing about $5.5 billion, would let Bush choose either of three options to pay for the benefits.

He could declare an emergency and allow the government to bor- (see BENEFITS, page 9)

Woman faces fines for rescuing puppies

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A student faces up to $4,000 in fines because she found three starving puppies on a college campus and then rescued their mother from the city pound to keep them alive.

Regina Holley, a senior biology major at Our Lady of the Lake University, was charged $57 in impoundment fees before being cited for violating leash and immunization laws on a stray dog she did not even own until she rescued it from the pound.

"We wanted to keep the puppies, and we needed to get her out so she could feed them," said Holley, who plans to go to medical school.

"We even spoke with a supervisor, who told us they had to cite me," Holley said. "Nobody had the nerve to say 'This is ridiculous.'"

Dr. William E. Lammers, superintendent of the Animal Control Division of the city Health Department, said the dog in question had not yet been put up for adoption. He said the city code requires Animal Control to keep a stray animal for two full working days, not counting the day it came in, before putting it up for adoption or putting it to sleep.

Before adoption is possible, the only way an animal can leave the facility is for someone to claim

Man turned in for $50 reward

HALLETTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Schulenberg man probably thinks his female companion and his mother didn't place much value on his freedom.

Phillip Dwayne Davis, 23, is being held in the Lavaca County Jail after the female companion and his mother turned him into the Lavaca County Crime Stoppers. Quick $50 program for the $50 reward offered for information on indicted people who remain at large.

Davis had been indicted on a burglary of a habitation charge and remained at large. The Victoria Advocate published a story about the reward and mentioned Davis in Tuesday's edition.

The female companion and mother turned him in the same day the story was published, according to Lavaca County Chief Deputy Ed Kubicek.

"A female called me from a pay phone inquiring about the reward and saying that a subject we were looking for was with her and that they were headed to his mother's house," Kubicek said.

"I told her to bring him on down to the sheriff's office and that's exactly what happened."

He said that shortly after they got off the phone the trio strolled into the office and Davis was placed under arrest.

"He (Davis) kinda looked startled and more than a little bewildered," Kubicek said.

ownership, Lammers added. Anyone who claims ownership will be cited if the animal has been picked up as a stray.

"We try to be as reasonable and realistic as we can, but when we deal with the magnitude of animals we see, we have got to have firm policies," he explained. "If we didn't get hard-nosed about it, everyone would come in here and say 'It's not my dog.'"

Holley has been ordered to appear in Municipal Court on Dec. 2, and faces fines of $200 to $4,000 if convicted of both misdemeanor offenses.

Lammers said he doubts that the woman will get the maximum fine.

Holley said she was walking on campus when she heard a whimpering sound.

"I looked in the bushes near the fire escape and there they were," she said.

Oyster sales restrictions opposed

PORT LAVACA, Texas (AP) — Bad publicity about oysters taken from Calhoun County waters ruined the oyster season, costing shellfish harvesters in the Texas coastal county millions of dollars, a group of the harvesters told a panel of county, state and federal officials.

Calhoun County Judge Howard Hartzog criticized news announcements that Texas bays would be closed to oystering following a ruling that polluted waters were not well marked.

Referring to "these garbage rumors that shut down the industry," Hartzog opened a meeting Thursday with, "Somebody is saying Calhoun County is putting out bad oysters."

About 75 oyster harvesters attended the meeting.

On the panel were representatives from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, the Texas Department of Health and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Teen's Self-Worth Is Lowered By Her Boyfriend's Cheap Talk

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1991 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Our 17-year-old daughter, "Marcie," is going steady with Brad. They are both seniors in high school.

During Marcie's junior year, she ran with the wrong crowd, made some bad decisions about smoking and drinking and, yes, even sex. She was very honest with Brad, and now he is being verbally abusive — throwing her past in her face and making her feel like dirt. She quit smoking and drinking, but there's nothing she can do about her virginity. After being with Brad, she comes home and cries because he makes her feel so cheap and dirty. They fight all the time about it. He acts like her judge and jury.

What can I do? She says she's in love with him. He's the second boy she's gone with who's been verbally abusive. It took Marcie a year to get over the first one.

How can I help her? She doesn't want me or her dad to talk to Brad or his parents about this. I'm so worried about her. Please help.

OHIO MOM

DEAR MOM: I know you love your daughter and would do anything to help her, but this is one job Marcie has to do herself. She needs to forgive herself and rebuild her self-esteem. She should not permit anyone to degrade her, or make her feel cheap.

Marcie has made some mistakes (who hasn't?); now she needs to respect herself enough to say goodbye to anyone who tries to degrade her. No family member can help Marcie. Get her into counseling. If her school has no counselors, try your local department of family services or United Way.

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote to you in agitation over her gay daughter's "lifestyle." I am writing in agitation over the use of that word — as if it is used to describe continually bizarre and abnormal behavior.

Abby, like all the rest, we are born, we live our lives, and then we die. Along the way we go to school, to work, to church, we are sick and we are well, we are happy and we are sad, we pay taxes and give to charity, we enjoy family and friends, we buy cars and houses and books, we watch TV and go to the movies, we play golf and football and bridge, we go to offices and factories and farms, we vote and we volunteer, we worry about money and politics, and we are tired at the end of the day. Some of us love another of the same sex. It would seem so small a thing, like the color of the skin, in such a wide, wide world.

Will you gently chide your readers, Abby, that we are all far more alike than we are different?

NORTH CHATHAM, N.Y.

DEAR NORTH CHATHAM: Your chiding is identical to my philosophy.

GOP senators draft health care, insurance package

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans entered the debate over health care reform by proposing to use tax incentives to extend medical coverage to millions of uninsured Americans.
 Legislation introduced Thursday by 16 GOP senators, including Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., also is aimed at controlling rising medical costs by overhauling medical liability laws, including limits on damages and lawyer's fees.

"No doubt about it, health care is at the top of the list when it comes to national priorities," Dole said on the Senate floor. "Every American knows firsthand that health care costs have run amok."

At a news conference, Republican supporters said the package could cost $150 billion over five years. The senators said a means of paying for the legislation would be addressed after an agreement was reached with Democrats on the health care provisions.

More than two dozen other health care reform bills have been introduced in the House and Senate. A proposal by Senate Democratic leaders would extend health insurance to all Americans by requiring employers to provide basic coverage to workers or pay into a public program.

Key provisions of the GOP measure would:

—Establish income tax credits for individuals to cover costs of health care services and insurance premiums. For example, a couple earning less than $32,000 a year could claim a tax credit of up to $1,200.

—Allow self-employed people to fully deduct from their income taxes the costs of health insurance. Full tax deductions also would be provided to people whose employers do not provide insurance coverage.

—Provide tax credits to small businesses to encourage them to establish health coverage for their uninsured workers or expand it to family members.

—Establish a tax credit for individuals to cover costs of "preventive" medical services, including cancer screening.

—Increase federal spending on community health center and child immunization programs.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rock Hudson proved movie stars could get AIDS. Magic Johnson showed that a hero to young, old, black and white also is susceptible to the deadly virus.

Johnson's revelation that he is HIV-positive raises awareness of the deadly disease by a "quantum level" — especially among blacks, doctors and AIDS activists agreed.

Within hours of Earvin Johnson's news conference Thursday, calls flooded the National AIDS Hotline, switchboard outside Raleigh, N.C., and reporters scrambled to cover a conference in Atlanta on AIDS in the black community.

"He is one of the first prominent black persons in our society who has been willing to say, 'I have HIV,'" said Fred Kroger, director of the National AIDS Information and Education program at the federal Centers for Disease Control.

"He has said he wants to do something about it — and that will really be a step forward. That has been a missing piece."

Johnson, 32, who helped the Los Angeles Lakers win five NBA championships in 12 seasons, retired from professional basketball Thursday. He vowed to become a spokesman for the cause, especially by telling young people about the importance of safe sex.

Bridge among the Kiwis

By Phillip Alder

New Zealand Bridge magazine aims squarely at the club member, but there are some articles for the better player. It is a bimonthly, costing $22 a year (212-866-5860).

Today's hand comes from the June 1991 issue. Conceal the East-West cards and plan the play in four hearts. West leads the spade queen; you win with the ace and lead the heart king, which holds, East discarding a diamond.

The two-heart opening was an Acol two-bid, strong and forcing but not necessarily forcing to game if the responder has a misfitting near-Yarborough.

The play looks too easy. After the spade ace and heart king, cash the top diamonds, ruff the diamond jack in the dummy, and discard a club on the spade king. Then concede tricks to the heart ace and club ace, coming home with an overtrick.

Against the given distribution, this line doesn't work so well. West ruffs the diamond jack at trick five and exits with the ace and another heart, leaving declarer with two club losers.

There is a guaranteed line of play. At trick three, continue trumps. West wins with the ace and returns a heart. Draw West's last trump and then lead the club nine, playing low from the dummy unless West covers with the jack.

This line either leaves declarer with only one club loser or ensures a dummy entry, allowing the diamond jack to be discarded on the spade king.

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What information can you provide for the treatment of endometriosis? My doctor has recommended a hysterectomy.

DEAR READER: Endometriosis is an uncomfortable condition marked by recurring abdominal or chest pain associated with severe menstrual cramps. It is due to small portions of the uterine lining (endometrium) in abnormal locations, such as the abdominal organs. No one knows whether these abnormal nests of endometrium form before birth or develop later. But the pain can be incapacitating. Endometriosis is a major cause of infertility.

The most common treatment of this condition is hormone therapy. In essence, birth control pills are prescribed daily. This suppresses ovulation and prevents the hormonal surges that trigger the pain of endometriosis.

If the affliction is widespread or if the patient cannot tolerate hormone therapy, gynecologists may recommend hysterectomy. This is usually curative because, at the time of surgery, the surgeon removes as much abnormal endometrial tissue as he or she can find.

I suggest you write to the Endometriosis Association, International Headquarters, 8585 North 76th Place, Milwaukee, WI 53223 or telephone (800) 992-ENDO for assistance in locating the support group nearest you.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband has been diagnosed with transmyelitis, a neurological and muscle disease that self-cures in six to 12 months. Since we've been told he can still have attacks in the future, are there any experimental drugs we might try for control?

DEAR READER: Acute transverse myelitis (a neurological disorder that may follow spinal injury, viral infections and vascular inflammation) usually occurs without apparent cause. The condition is marked by sudden back pain, with numbness and weakness ascending from the feet. The nerve malfunction may progress for several days, can cause urinary retention and loss of bowel control, and then improves. For no known reason, it may recur.

There is no consistently successful therapy; symptoms are treated as they appear. To my knowledge, there are no new experimental drugs to treat transverse myelitis. Patients with the disorder should be under the care of neurologists. Because the symptoms of transverse myelitis resemble those of multiple sclerosis, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Multiple Sclerosis." Outlaw jump shot...

Westerners win in overtime

HOBBS, N.M. — Kino Outlaw sank a turnaround jumper with four seconds remaining in regulation to force overtime and allow the Western Texas College Westerners to take a 76-75 win over Carl Albert College in first-round action at the Thunderbird Classic, hosted by New Mexico Junior College, Thursday.

"In overtime, Ricardo Hamilton put in four to give us a four point lead with just a few seconds left," said first-year Westerner coach Kelly Green. "Then they went down and hit a three-pointer at the buzzer."

"We were behind almost the whole game," the coach continued, "until Kino made that last-second jumper that tied the game."

The 6-8 Outlaw was the leading scorer for the 2-0 WTC men. He poured in 17 points on eight buckets and one-of-two free shots. Also in double figures for WTC were freshman Brent Murphy, who hit eight from the field for 16 points, freshman Hamilton who managed 14 and freshman David Owen, who managed 12 points, including the team's only three-point goal.

Foul shooting was a problem for both teams Thursday with WTC sinking only nine of 19 chances and CAC hitting half its 22 shots from the stripe.

Dusters rip Scottsdale in season opening win

LEVELLAND — The Western Texas College Lady Dusters scored 44 points in the second half to rip Scottsdale, Ariz. Junior College 68-36 in the first round of play at the Lady Texan Classic on the campus of South Plains College.

"We played pretty well in the second half," said Duster basketball coach Kelly Chadwick.

"The first half we made too many errors. We had several freshmen playing their first game, and they were real nervous. We gave up too many turnovers."

"But I was pleased with the way they played, as a whole, in the second half."

Sophomore La Shunta Jackson paced the WTC charge with 16 points on five field goals and a six-of-nine night at the free-throw

Tiger frosh lose to Tors

LAMESA — Nathan Zalman scored a two-yard touchdown for Snyder in a losing cause as Lamesa handed the SHS freshman a 20-8 loss in the season's final game.

"As far as freshman teams go, this one is probably farther along than any in the last few years."

"It'll be a good group to watch for the next few years."

The frosh wound up with a 4-5 mark.

Lamesa nips Snyder's JV

LAMESA — Snyder's junior varsity Tigers lost their season-ending game Thursday, 15-12, to Lamesa.

"It was a good game," said SHS coach Roland Hererra. "The kids played hard and showed a lot of pride."

Snyder opened up a 12-0 halftime lead on touchdown runs of 41 and 61 yards by Randy Fisk.

Two other scores were negated by Snyder penalties.

Lamesa scored seven points in the third frame and added a fourth-quarter TD and two-point conversion to take a 15-12 lead.

With 1:15 remaining in the game the Tors held Snyder on a fourth down play with less than a yard to go for the first, ending Snyder's comeback hopes.

The JV winds up the 1991 campaign with a 5-5 mark.

"The coaches really appreciate all the hard work the kids have put in," Hererra said. "We're really proud of them."

Astro-Graph
By Bernice Bede Osol

Nov. 8, 1991

Important hopes and expectations have an excellent chance of being fulfilled in the year ahead. However, this might happen in ways that won't follow your blueprint.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Disappointment is likely today — if you expect more from an arrangement than conditions warrant. View matters with a critical eye; don't let your expectations run rampant. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Send for Scorpio's Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your personality, good looks and charm are admirable assets, but they're not apt to be enough to get you by today. You'll have to work for what you want.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There's a very thin line between thinking positively and wishfully thinking. If you're not careful, you might dwell in the latter today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be careful in your commercial involvements today; you might be more impressed by the sizzle than by the steak. Base your judgments on realistic evaluations.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A well-intentioned friend you may go to for advice today is likely to tell you what you'd like to hear instead of rendering a frank opinion.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be mindful of sensible health habits today, because you might have to resist strong temptations to overindulge in some manner. Also, be disciplined where work is concerned.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Taking the word of someone you know only casually regarding a risky financial expenditure could cost you today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your family will expect you to honor any promises you make today. If you inwardly feel you can't comply, don't make commitments in the first place.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Strive to be forthright in your conversations with others today. If those you associate with think you are exaggerating or fibbing, your image will be impaired.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Owing to your indifference, there is a possibility today that you won't make the most of your opportunities, especially those that are of a tangible or financial nature.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Important endeavors must be guided by your own hand today. If they're delegated to others, the results won't be what you expect or desire.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be cooperative and reasonable in your relationships with others today, but, if something is to be shared, don't leave it up to someone else to determine the size of your piece of the action.

Whoopi Goldberg may emcee Grammys

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Thursday. Whoopi Goldberg is the leading candidate to host the 1992 Grammy Awards, the event's producer says. "We really want to get Whoopi. We hope we can get it done with her," producer Pierre Cossette said at a news conference. The host of the show won't be officially announced until five or six weeks before the Feb. 26 event, Cossette said. The music industry awards show will be held at Radio City Music Hall for the second consecutive year.

Three from Snyder still missing; no new leads

The whereabouts of two Snyder men and a woman reported missing Monday are still unknown today.

Monday morning, an acquaintance of 49-year-old Paul Milford contacted police to report she was concerned he had not opened his business, Fast Oil Change.

Through the course of the day, it was also determined that an employee of the business, 42-year-old Arthur Harding, was also unaccounted for.

Based on information from friends and relatives, police have determined that Milford was last seen in Snyder on Saturday, and that Harding was seen as late as Monday afternoon.

Accompanying Harding may be a girlfriend; 28-year-old Nina Jonell Henderson. She was also last seen in Snyder on Monday afternoon.

On Thursday, Henderson's mother, Carolyn Sutton, contacted police to say that her daughter had been missing since Monday.

Both men's vehicles are unaccounted for, police have confirmed.

Fonda to move

ATLANTA (AP) — Actress and exercise guru Jane Fonda says she's moving to Atlanta to be with "unofficial husband" Ted Turner.

"Southern hospitality is alive and well," Fonda told Atlanta television station WXIA on Thursday.

Milford drives a 1982 two-tone brown GMC Suburban, Texas license number 6412 GD. Harding drives a 1982 Chevrolet pickup, also two-tone brown, Texas license number 5535 JK. Police said they have no evidence of foul play in the case.
