Chamber directors review upcoming activities in Snyder

Chamber of commerce board members were updated on a number of pending activities in the city, including the July 4th Celebration and the AJRA National Finals Rodeo, during a brief meeting Monday afternoon. Chamber Executive Director Bill Moss told the board that plans for the city's annual July 4 activities "are moving quite well." He said the chamber has received enough funds to pay for just over half of the $5,000 fireworks display. "Hopefully by the end of the month, we'll have the total amount," he said, while stressing that anyone who wishes to contribute should contact the chamber. New events this year will include horseshoe and washer pitching contests, and hula hoop and limbo contests. Moss also noted that a schedule outlining all of the celebration's activities is being put together for future publication.

The AJRA program is scheduled to go to the printer on June 1 and should be about the same size as last year, Moss noted. In answer to a director's question concerning bids for the AJRA, he said that the bidding process does take place this year. Bids are made for a two-year stint and Snyder is in the second year of its current contract with AJRA. It will be the 15th consecutive year for Snyder to host the youth rodeo organization's national finals.

The rodeo is scheduled Aug. 14-18 at Scurry County Coliseum.

The board also heard that the Noah Project melodrama, originally scheduled for June 23, has been re-scheduled for July 14 in the coliseum.

Moss also told the board that he would be in San Angelo on Thursday to look at computer equipment from Draper Data Management. The chamber is considering purchase of a $28,000 computer package that would include a laser printer.

In other activity, the board recognized Thompson Roofing as Q—Will students enrolled at the Hobbs Alternative School receive high school equivalency diplomas? Will they be graduates of Hobbs School or Snyder?

A—Students attending the Hobbs School who earn the necessary credits to graduate will receive regular high school diplomas. These diplomas will be awarded by the district in which the student resides. A student living in Snyder, for instance, would receive a diploma from Snyder High School.

Gunman had killed two the day before

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The silent gunman who killed eight people and seriously wounded five at an auto loan agency that had repossessed his car also killed two people on a street the day before, police said. James Edward Pough, 42, shot himself to death after his rampage Monday at a General Motors Acceptance Corp. office. The day laborer from Jacksonville began firing a semiautomatic rifle almost immediately after entering the large one-room office. He shot two customers, one fatally, then went desk to desk, shooting at employees cowering underneath. "The shots kept coming closer and I kept hearing the moans of people I know," said Rick Langille, a loan manager. "The guy was pointing his gun under people's desks and killing them one by one. I just saw the bottom of the carpet and just prayed." Sheriff James McMillan said Pough has also been identified by witnesses as the killer of a man and woman in separate shootings on Sunday. The victims, ages 39 and 30, were killed with the same .30-caliber rifle used Monday, he said. The shootings Sunday occurred near Pough's home, and at least one stemmed from arguments over "services of a prostitute," McMillan said. He did not elaborate. (see GUNMAN, page 8)

In Brief Federal ruling

AUSTIN (AP) — A federal judge today ordered Motorola Inc. to pull a key computer chip off the market, dealing a setback to the company in a legal battle over trade secrets with former partner Hitachi Ltd. The order by U.S. District Judge Lucius Buntun of Midland also will prevent Hitachi from selling its own microprocessor in the United States.

Tanker blast

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — An oil slick lingering in the Gulf of Mexico remained stalled some 7 to 10 miles offshore today as cleanup crews readied for the arrival of tar balls for the second day. Coast Guard officials said an early morning flyover showed no signs that tar balls from the supertanker Mega Borg spill had washed ashore overnight. But the slick changed direction slightly, with predictions that it would reach land closer to High Island northeast of Galveston than Sea Rim State Park further east.

Two arrested

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — The government of President-elect Ion Iliescu, having secured approval from newly elected lawmakers to crack down on dissent, today announced the arrest of two more opposition leaders. Authorities appeared to be adopting a two-pronged tactic of talking to student groups while detaining their leaders. On Monday, authorities had detained Marian Munteanu, a student leader severely beaten by miners last week. Munteanu was removed from his hospital bed to an Interior Ministry hospital on charges of instigating violence. Today, the Interior Ministry said it had arrested opposition figures Dumitru Dinca and Nica Leon, leader of the small National Democratic Party.

Proposed trunk system gets hearing Wednesday

A public hearing to receive input on the selection of routes for the Texas Highway Trunk System will be held Wednesday in Austin. The system includes U.S. Highway 84, from Farwell to Goldthwaite. The highway, commonly called the Lubbock Highway in this area, passes through the eastern and northern edges of Snyder. At Goldthwaite, 84 becomes 183 and extends to Austin. Highway 87, which goes through San Angelo, Big Spring and Lamesa, is also part of the proposed trunk system, as is Hwy. 83 through Abilene. The trunk system is a planned commerce, city and county law enforcement, role of the media, public education, community college district, health care, the county museum, SACROC and a broad view of area agriculture. The class was the seventh leadership class to graduate. Officials are planning an eighth class to begin in the fall.

four-lane divided highway system for the state. Ten previous meetings on the proposed trunk system were held throughout the state last fall. Based on public input from those meetings, selection criteria were developed, refined and adopted. The hearing will be held at 10 a.m. in Lyndon Baines Johnson Auditorium in Austin. Sign-in will be at 8 a.m. Speakers will be taken on a first come, first serve basis and will be limited to five minutes each. After the hearing, all comments will be analyzed and the final version of the truck system will be developed and (see HIGHWAY, page 8)

Blood drive scheduled until 8 o'clock at park

Officials were hoping for a good turnout today at the blood drive, which continues until 8 p.m. at Towle Park Barn. The drive is sponsored by Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and Scurry County Advisory Council for United Blood Services of Lubbock. "We encourage anyone who can come out and donate," said a spokesman. "With so many people on vacation and all during the summer, donations tend to drop off quite a bit."

As an extra incentive, each person donating blood on Tuesday will receive a special card. The card can be redeemed for a T-shirt when the donor returns to donate for the Aug. 14 drive. In appreciation for donations Tuesday, each participant will receive a fountain drink from Coca Cola Bottling Co. in Sweetwater, and coupons for the following: a DQ Sundae from Dairy Queen, a malt or milk shake from Sonic Drive In/Gandy's Dairies, a medium drink with purchase of a dessert from Whataburger, a small soft drink and order of potatoes ole from Taco John's, a medium drink with any food purchase from Wal-Mart, a dollar off at Golden Corral, and a dollar off of any family style meal from Long John Silver's. Every other donor will receive a coupon for a regular order from Gill's Fried Chicken. Fourteen $5 gift certificates — seven from Jaramillo's and seven from Spanish Inn — will be awarded by a number drawing from the list of all donors. In addition, a Sunday buffet-for-two at Willow Park Inn will be awarded by a number drawing. Cookies will be provided by Lawrence IGA and orange juice will be furnished by the hospital auxiliary.

Workman's comp case continuing

A jury in 132nd District Court was scheduled to hear attorney's arguments for the plaintiff beginning at 1 p.m. today in the workman's compensation case styled Charles W. Clinkenbeard vs. Liberty Mutual Fire Insurance Co. The jury was seated Monday in the case with District Judge Gene Dulaney presiding. Testimony indicated Clinkenbeard, 53, suffered a heart attack on May 1, 1989, while working as part of an oilfield construction crew employed by Morin & Son Construction of Snyder. He alleges that the attack was brought about as a result of the work. The insurance company is expected to argue that the heart attack occurred naturally. Arguing his client's case to the jury Monday was Aubrey Roberts of Sweetwater. Representing Liberty Mutual Fire Insurance is E.F. Lohmann III of Abilene.

We recently read that NASA is demanding respect. That's why it wants the following holidays to be observed—with pay. Dec. 21—the shortest day of the year. June 21—the shortest night of the year. March 16—birthday of James Madison, at 5-4 the shortest president. Dec. 5—Little Richard's birthday. It should be noted that this particular NASA has nothing to do with the nation's space program. Rather, it is the San Francisco-based National Association of Short People.

Southern California is the home of thousands of people of Armenian heritage, and affirmative action may be taking on new meaning in the city of Pasadena. A survey taken in Pasadena revealed that at least 6,850 of Armenian descent live in that town. The poll, which cost just a couple of thousand under $100,000, was done because some in the community suspected discrimination in the work force. Now Armenians, at 5.8 percent of the town's population, will be added to the traditional categories of minorities in setting employment quotas. The same survey, however, revealed that the average Armenian household income is $39,000. Also, one Armenian minority, George Deukmejian, is governor of the nation's most populous state.

Ten building permits issued by city for May

Ten building permits, representing $32,600 in construction, were issued by the City of Snyder for the month of May. The permits included three for mobile homes, three for carports, two for additions, one for a swimming pool and another for a snow cone stand. The $32,600 in construction brings the fiscal year total to $538,142 — still far behind last year's total at this time of $1,555,439. Fees for the building permits in May amounted to $177.81. Total permit fees for the month were $625.31, which included 27 plumbing permits and 15 electrical permits.

May's permits included ones for mobile homes at 500 Ave. R, owned by Billy M. Stroud; at 2202 Gilmore, owned by Thomas Rowe III; and at 3304 Ave. N, owned by Roann Clay. Carports were constructed at 113 Milburn, owned by A.D. Hobbs; at 2611 37th St., owned by Keith Matthes; and at 505 North College, owned by Ed Blocker. Additions included one at 4506 Garwood to property owned by Floyd House, and at 705 30th St. to property owned by John McKinney. A permit was also issued for a snow cone stand owned by Delfina Ramos at 501 East Hwy., and a swimming pool owned by Jack Pointer at 3741 Rose Circle.

Beep says pandas are too hot

DALLAS (AP) — When Dallas Zoo officials put their Red Pandas out in the Texas sun, they usually don't want to hear a beep out of them.

But when they do, it's time to bring the animals inside.

The two Red Pandas, Tarzan and Pasha, are surgically outfitted with thermal telemetry sensors that beep when the animals become overheated. The pandas, which resemble foxes, have heavy fur coats.

Only a few zoos nationwide are using the devices to protect valuable animals considered at risk from heat stress.

The inch-long sensors have been inserted into the animals' abdomens and send a radio signal of periodic beeps that reflect their temperatures. The higher the temperature, the faster the beeps.

"With these, we're able to monitor in a very non-intrusive manner ... how the animal is regulating its own temperature," said mammal zoologist Cynthia Bennett. "The biggest stress on our animals is our climate."

Midwest sees 1990 tornado season as 'worst' in years

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — 1990 is fast becoming one of the worst years on record for tornadoes and severe flooding across the middle and southern sections of the nation.

So far this year, 726 tornadoes have touched down nationwide, well ahead of the 640 tornadoes recorded during the first six months of last year, and the 30-year average of 482 tornadoes recorded between January and July, said Frederick Ostby of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center here.

There were 747 tornadoes during the first six months of 1973 — one of the biggest years for tornadoes in the United States since 1950, when the forecast center began keeping reliable records of the storms. There were 756 tornadoes reported in 1982.

"We seem to be on a pace that would put us up with those two years," Ostby said.

The culprit in this tornado barrage across the Plains states is a persistent West Coast pattern of low pressure in the upper atmosphere that is keeping the jet stream anchored at a southern latitude.

"Every now and then the pattern breaks down but then seems to re-establish itself," Ostby said.

This year's storms seem to be particularly violent, as illustrated by the March 13 tornado that hit a field in southeastern Kansas. The tornado cut a path a mile wide and brought winds of 300 miles an hour. It is said to be the strongest to hit the United States since 1985.

The first weekend in June saw the worst outburst of tornadoes since April 1974. Ostby said 101 tornadoes touched down from Kansas to Kentucky, leaving nine people dead.

But a break in the persistent storm pattern may be at hand.

As summer wears on, the land warms up and cold air from Canada retreats. This moves the boundary of the jet stream to the north of the United States, Ostby said.

"Our longer range computer forecasts are suggestive of that. There is some kind of readjustment beginning to take place in the upper atmosphere," he said.

Predicting tornado patterns is an elusive art, he said.

"There are a lot of extremes," he said. "We don't see any cycles. We have to sort of take it as it comes."

However, a study of tornado trends by Chicago professor T.T. Fujita, considered a leading expert on tornadoes, indicates parts of the midwest, particularly Kansas and Missouri, are heading into a six-year period when they will have more intense tornadoes.

Agencies divide forfeiture money

SAN AUGUSTINE, Texas (AP) — Six law enforcement agencies have received checks totaling over $625,000 for their roles in an East Texas drug raid.

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, who handed out the checks Monday, said he's proud of the law that allows the government to confiscate and sell property used by "drug thugs."

The Texas Department of Public Safety received the largest check of $234,429, and the Port Arthur Police Department took the second largest of $156,286.

The Liberty County Sheriff's Department took home $117,215 for its part in the June 2, 1989, drug bust that U.S. Attorney Bob Wortham said led to the arrest of major East Texas drug kingpins.

Most of the money came from the auction of Dave Husband's Liquor Store in San Augustine.

The San Augustine County Sheriff's Department and the Shelby County District Attorney's office each received a check for $39,072. The San Augustine Police Department got $39,071.

Pilot Soars Again After Being Grounded by Drug Conviction

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the concerned mother whose son was convicted of a felony and now believes he has no chance for a productive life and plans to drop out of college.

I am an ex-felon. I certainly didn't intend to become a criminal. When I went to work for an aviation company as a pilot, I didn't know that my boss was a cocaine smuggler. When I found out, it was too late to run. It was either cooperate or die. I had lost control over my life — being arrested was more like being saved. I was a co-defendant in the John DeLorean drug trial.

I certainly didn't want to go to prison, but I owed a debt to society. Realizing that fact made my three years in prison easier to serve. I didn't want to waste my time in prison, so I took college courses and worked on improving my mind and character. More important, I took a deep look inside myself and came to terms with the flaws that led me down a criminal path in the first place.

When I finally stepped out of the prison gate, I thought, "Now I will have to go it alone." How wrong I was! Church groups and community organizations are eager to help the ex-felon get a fresh start in society. It wasn't easy, but maybe the lessons are more rewarding that way. As for finding a productive job, well, I certainly enjoy my career as a chief diver for The Cousteau Society. Anything is possible when you are focused on the good.

In between expeditions, I speak to school assemblies about drugs and the crimes they lead to. I love what I do, and today I'm a contributing member of society. You may use my name.

STEPHEN ARRINGTON,
LONG BEACH, CALIF.

DEAR STEPHEN: Stay tuned for more success stories:

FROM COLORADO: Back in the '60s, I was a Denver police officer involved in a large burglary ring. I was convicted and did time in the state penitentiary. I went back to college, graduated and turned my life around. My advice to felons: Failure is no more fatal than success is permanent.

REHABILITATED

FROM MINNESOTA: Twelve years ago, my 17-year-old stepson, due to peer pressure, participated in a robbery at a fast-food drive-in. He used a sawed-off shotgun, tied up the employees, placed them in a walk-in cooler and took the day's proceeds. After he did time in a juvenile facility, he went to college, graduated and became an engineer. Today he's an executive with a national company, married, and is a religious, respected citizen.

PROUD MOM

FROM CALIFORNIA: I went from a professional thief to a professional man. From Monroe Reformatory in Washington state to San Quentin, to Folsom, to Leavenworth, to Alcatraz. Back to Folsom. Paroled. You can publish this, but not my name. I am a former felon.

FULLY PARDONED

FROM ARIZONA: I am a wife and mother of two fine sons. In 1987, I made a whopper of a mistake and committed a crime for which I was convicted of a felony. I was a paralegal in a law office and embezzled a considerable amount of money. I was caught and sentenced — but was placed on probation for at least five years and must now live for the rest of my life with a felony conviction. By the way, I lost my right to vote until my sentence is completed, and can never work in law enforcement or be a security guard.

City tries to keep people away from drowning site

SEAGOVILLE, Texas (AP) — If anglers don't stay away from the spot where three people drowned over the weekend, authorities say they'll be fishing more dead bodies from the Trinity River.

City workers tried again Monday to keep people away from the river near Malloy Bridge Road where a 9-year-old boy, his uncle and another relative drowned Sunday.

The boy, James Field III, jumped into a 25-foot churning hole of water to rescue the family dog. His uncle, Benny Lee Oatman, 40, and Oatman's 18-year-old son, Marvin, died trying to save him.

Marvin Oatman's favorite pastime was fishing, a hobby that had taken him to the river Sunday.

City manager Al Lemond said that once the waters from still swollen Lake Ray Hubbard are released again, the anglers will be back.

"The minute that water starts running, they'll go right down there," he said. "I don't know what else to do about it."

New barricades blocking off the roadway were posted last Thursday.

"The first day they stole the lights," Lemond said. "Then the next day, somebody ran over it and tore part of them down. We went out the next day and put them back up, then somebody stole part of the boards."

Authorities erected new barricades Monday.

Relatives of the three victims watched helplessly as the trio was swept into the strong current.

"The only thing I could do is just watch them drown," said a 17-year-old cousin, Walter Chambers.

Mayor's son gets arrested

ATLANTA (AP) — The 19-year-old son of Mayor Maynard Jackson has been arrested on charges of assaulting a 30-year-old woman on the street.

Maynard Holbrook Jackson III was charged with simple battery Monday after a sheriff's deputy saw him pick up a friend, Maria Norma Duarte, and fling her to the ground, police said.

Ms. Duarte received minor cuts on her arms and legs, said Officer D.B. Troutman. She also was sprayed in the face with Mace, police said.

A well-played sacrifice

By James Jacoby

East should have risked bidding four hearts over North's jump to three spades. West would then have bid five hearts rather than let South play four spades. Unable to get to dummy to take a heart finesse, East would have the good fortune to bring down the singleton heart king and probably score an overtrick. All of this is immaterial, since South was allowed to play four spades. Holding the spade contract to down one required some good luck plus the right judgment to take advantage of it.

East won the opening lead with the ace of hearts, cashed the A-K of clubs and then got off lead with the queen of diamonds. Declarer won the king in dummy, cashed two trumps ending in dummy, and ruffed a heart. He then played ace and nine of diamonds. East had unblocked the 10 of diamonds under declarer's ace in the hope that West held the nine-spot, but no such luck. East had no choice but to win the third diamond. Now whatever he returned allowed declarer to shed his losing club while ruffing in dummy.

No doubt if West had raised to two hearts over the one-spade overcall,

East would have bid five hearts rather than let the opponents play four spades. But I understand West's pass. Queen-jack-queen and balanced distribution with only three trumps are too much junk to compete with when one is vulnerable. But West could hardly keep from bidding one more if East bid four hearts all by himself.

Cheese needs proper storage

NEW YORK (AP) — Proper storage of cheese will help maintain its flavor and texture until the last bite.

Selection and storage information for different types of cheeses vary. The Wisconsin Milk Marketing Board provides the following tips:

CHEDDAR FAMILY

This group of cheeses includes cheddar, colby and monterey jack. These cheeses will last up to four weeks if wrapped tightly and refrigerated. For best flavor, serve at room temperature.

BLUE CHEESES

Blue cheese should be firm or creamy, never dry and caked. Expect the aroma to be strong, not overpowering. When selecting a blue cheese, look for the veins to be spread evenly throughout the cheese from the center to the edge. Wrap snugly and store in the refrigerator, away from delicate foods to avoid flavor transfer.

HARD AND GRATING CHEESES

This group includes asiago, Romano and Parmesan cheeses. Look for even, firm texture.

McEnroe ranked 4th in event

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Three-time Wimbledon champion John McEnroe, plagued by injuries and inconsistency this season, still commands respect as a top-notch grass player.

That was evident Monday when officials of the All England Lawn Tennis Club made him the No. 4 seed among men for the grass-court tournament that starts June 25. McEnroe was seeded ahead of French Open champion Andre Gomez of Ecuador and Americans Brad Gilbert and Aaron Krickstein, all of whom have higher computer rankings.

Another American who has done well here in the past also benefitted from the club's discretion. Tim Mayotte, a quarter-finalist or better six times, was seeded sixth, despite a sliding ranking.

McEnroe is ranked 10th in the world; Mayotte 14th. Ivan Lendl and Steffi Graf, the top-ranked players in the world, were named the No. 1 seeds. Lendl, who has dedicated his season to finally winning Wimbledon, was picked over defending champion Boris Becker and Stefan Edberg, the 1988 winner and last year's runner-up. Becker was seeded second and Edberg third in the men's field.

Graf, her spot at the top of women's tennis under attack from a group of teen-age baseliners, got the No. 1 berth ahead of eight-time champion Martina Navratilova, who, like Lendl, skipped the French Open to get extra grass-court practice.

Third was Monica Seles, the 16-year-old Florida-based Yugoslav who beat Graf for the French Open title earlier this month. Seles, who also defeated Graf in Berlin and Navratilova in Rome last month, was not the youngest seed. That honor went to Jennifer Capriati, the 14-year-old Floridian who reached the French semifinals and was seeded 12th at Wimbledon.

Getting the snub from organizers was Juan Aguilera, a

Farm Leaguers set for 2nd round play

ABILENE — Both Snyder Farm League entrants in the Western Little League Minor League Tournament here advanced with wins Saturday and play in the second round tonight.

The Giants, Farm League champions with an 11-3 season record, won by virtue of a forfeit Saturday as Ballinger failed to show for the appointed noon game.

Snyder's regular season second place team, the White Sox, burned Abilene's Lone Star No. 2 squad 18-9 Saturday evening to advance.

The Giants play at 6 p.m. tonight against Key City No. 1, who defeated Dyess No. 1, 8-5, Saturday.

Key City No. 2 thumped Lone Star No. 1, 17-3, to earn a spot against the White Sox at 8 p.m. this evening.

Wins by the two Snyder teams would place them against each other in the tournament quarterfinals Thursday night.

The championship of the event is set to be played June 25 at 7 p.m.

Ranger ace injures thumb on cab door

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Rangers ace Nolan Ryan says a thumb he injured over the weekend will not sideline him.

Ryan, already bedeviled by an injured back, was on the wrong end of an irate taxicab driver's door Sunday.

Ryan, pitching coach Tom House and House's wife, Karren hailed a cab outside their Seattle hotel Sunday morning for a short ride to a health club where Ryan was to undergo his usual off-day weightlifting session.

The cabdriver, unhappy at the prospect of a $2.50 fare, shoved open the passenger side door just as Ryan reached to open it, jamming Ryan's thumb. The thumbnail was sore and discolored Monday afternoon.

"For a minute, I thought it was broken," Ryan said. "I couldn't move it. It was obvious that she (the cabdriver) wasn't happy."

Ryan threw on the side Monday and said that while his right thumb is sore, it did not hinder his delivery.

"There's no problem," Ryan said. "I'll be able to take my turn on Friday. Of course I'd be better off if it never happened, but it really doesn't bother me."

Ryan has pitched three times since returning from the disabled list this month. He had his record sixth no-hitter last Monday at Oakland, but didn't last more than five innings in the other two games.

"The back isn't going to get much better until the end of the season, when I get a chance to get complete rest," Ryan said.

Ryan is the second pitcher this year to injure his hand on the door of a taxicab.

On May 19, Pittsburgh left-hander John Smiley closed a cab door on his hand and has been on the disabled list since.

Irwin grabs third U.S. Open

Three-time winner claims victory over Donald in playoff

MEDINAH, Ill. (AP) — Say "sudden death" to a man his age, and he might think: heart attack. But not Hale Irwin.

At age 45, Irwin became the oldest U.S. Open winner ever, and he knew all along it would happen. He dreamed two weeks ago that he'd win it.

"It's a fabulous feeling," he said, then lowered the tone of his voice in mock candor: "But that's because I'm so old."

His victory could have come in no more arresting fashion: with a birdie on the first hole of the Open's first sudden death playoff. Sudden death is the way the U.S. Golf Association settles its national championship only if its 18-hole playoff ends in a tie.

After a little more than four hours of play Monday, Irwin and Mike Donald were tied at 74, 2-over-par, because Donald bogeyed the 18th hole. Donald parred the first hole of sudden death, and Irwin knocked in an 8-foot birdie putt.

"I had a dream a couple of weeks ago that I would win the Open," said Irwin, who had won before in 1974 and '79. "You can ask my wife. She'll verify it. But those are the kinds of things that get you into trouble if you tell people about them. So I thought if I did win it, I could tell you."

"You see," he said. "Dreams do come true."

Before Irwin, the oldest Open champion was Raymond Floyd, who was three months shy of his 44th birthday when he won in

Only four men — Willie Anderson, Bobby Jones, Ben Hogan and Jack Nicklaus — have won more Opens, with four apiece.

"I've never considered many things impossible," Irwin said. "Some are just improbable. But I never looked at my age as one of the factors. ... I always felt I could do it, and I always wanted to do it."

Irwin and Donald each finished the four regulation rounds in 290, 8-under-par. Irwin sank a 45-foot putt on the 18th hole Sunday to force the playoff.

"I don't know if I ever felt in the back of my mind that I could contend in a major tournament," said Donald, who has won just once in 11 years on the tour.

In fact, he had a history of folding in the big ones. He shot 68 in the first round of the 1984 Open, but had 78 in the next. He led this year's Masters after a first-round 64, but shot 82 in the next round.

"After the Masters, I told myself it wasn't me. It wasn't the pressure. I wasn't a wimp. It's just that my game wasn't quite good enough," he said. "If I've learned anything from this, it's that I was being honest with myself after the Masters. My game wasn't quite good enough."

Donald, 34, said the pressure hadn't gotten to him, but Irwin wasn't so sure.

"Maybe he was feeling a little more pressure than I was."

"I always thought Mike could play the game. I'm not sure he realized it. This was good experience for him. As shattering as that bogey was, this could be a great positive learning experience for him."

Irwin has 18 victories to his credit since joining the PGA Tour, but had none since 1985. He has played in 21 U.S. Opens, but in his last four he had missed the cut twice and finished tied for 17th and 54th. His 10-year exemption for winning the 1979 Open ran out last year, so he had to get a special exemption from the USGA to even play at Medinah Country Club.

"I must admit that you never know if you'll have this kind of opportunity again," Irwin said.

"Cubs' contest is postponed"

MERKEL — Snyder Little League champions, the Cubs, were the only players to show up for Monday's opening round of the area baseball tournament here giving officials cause to reschedule the first round games.

Snyder was to have played Ballinger at 6 p.m. followed by Sweetwater vs. Colorado City at 8 p.m.

"They said at first that since the team we were supposed to play wasn't there that we won by forfeit," said Cubs coach Mike Jordan this morning.

"But when the rest of the teams didn't show either they realized they must have some kind of problem."

The 14-0 Cubs will face Ballinger Wednesday at 6 p.m. in the rescheduled tilt, with the Sweetwater-Colorado City game to follow.

A win by the Snyder team would have them facing the Sweetwater-Colorado City winner Thursday at 6 p.m.

Two first round games are scheduled tonight including Tri-County against Baird at 6 p.m. and Rotan vs. Merkel at 8 p.m.

The tournament championship is set to be decided in a 7:30 p.m. contest Saturday, June 23.

LA SHUNTA JACKSON

Navasota High School standout basketball player La Shunta Jackson signed a letter of intent to play basketball with coach Kelly Chadwick and the Western Texas College Lady Dusters recently. Jackson was named all-district four years in a row and District 20-3A Most Valuable Player three consecutive times.

The 5-11 talent shot 56 percent from the floor and 71 percent from the free-throw line as a senior at NHS. She also averaged 25 points and 15 rebounds per game and was a Texas Association of Basketball Coaches pick for first team all-state. (Contributed Photo)

Americans face Austria today

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — With the 1990 World Cup just about a memory for the United States, the team already is thinking about 1994.

The Americans play Austria tonight in their final first-round game and must win big — probably by three goals or more — to have any chance to advance.

So the players are looking for clubs they might sign with and the U.S. Soccer Federation is thinking about how to improve the team for 1994, when America plays host to the World Cup.

One of the areas that the federation hopes to improve is the number of blacks playing soccer. Jimmy Banks and Desmond Armstrong are the only blacks now on the U.S. national team.

"Myself and Jimmy have to go to the inner city and conduct clinics," Armstrong said Monday. "There has to be an opportunity to play there."

Armstrong, a 25-year-old defender from Washington, grew up in the inner city, but his family moved to the suburbs when he was young.

"If I hadn't moved, I would not have known what soccer is until high school, and that's too late," he said. "And I wouldn't be here."

Banks, a 25-year-old defender from Milwaukee, has a different background, coming up through his city's youth soccer program. They both will have a hard time selling the game to black youths.

"For the inner-city minorities, the routes out have been entertainment and sports," Armstrong said. "And what are the sports? Basketball, football and, to some extent, baseball. The reason for this is television. They are the sports on television."

But U.S. television isn't interested in soccer because the ratings are low and the commercial opportunities are few. So clinics will have to be the way, for now.

Ralph Perez, the U.S. team's assistant coach, said Armstrong and Banks must be trendsetters because they are the first black role models for American soccer.

UA to discuss move to SEC

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas formally announced today that it has agreed to talk with the Southeastern Conference about a possible move to that conference.

"The University has agreed to sit down with SEC officials and discuss what the world would look like for Arkansas if we made such a change," said Chancellor Dan Ferritor in a prepared statement released this morning.

Ferritor said he had informed SEC Commissioner Roy Kramer of Arkansas' interest in discussing an invitation from SEC to talk.

UA and SEC officials will meet "as soon as schedules will permit," he said.

Athletic Director Frank Broyles scheduled an 11 a.m. news conference to discuss the proposal.

"This is not a decision to join the SEC but to look seriously at what such a move would entail and to give this opportunity the attention it deserves before moving beyond preliminary discussion," Broyles said in the statement. "At this time, Arkansas will continue to participate in its activities and honor our commitments."

Arkansas is a charter member of the Southwest Conference and has been in the conference for 76 years. The 10-team SEC, considering an expansion, recently asked Arkansas if it was interested in discussing a move.

Florida State and Miami also reportedly are considering moves. Florida State is an independent in football and a Metro Conference member in other sports. Miami is an independent in all sports.

"The consensus is that it would be irresponsible not to further consider the SEC's interest in our institution," Ferritor said today. "We have to remain in a stable, competitive position in all sports and we must meet our commitment to a self-supporting athletic program not only for our university, our students and our athletes, but also for our fans."

Damages to surpass $160 million

CHICAGO (AP) — A judge says he will rule that Amoco Corp. should pay about $160 million in damages for a massive oil spill off northern France in 1978. Frank Cicero, a lawyer representing Chicago-based Amoco, said the company would appeal the judgment, expected to be entered formally next month.

Ninth suspected terrorist arrested

WEST BERLIN (AP) — East German police have arrested yet another suspected Red Army faction terrorist, a suspect in the 1981 bombing of a U.S. air base and the ninth reputed member of the group captured in less than two weeks.

Beer is suspected in the 1981 bombing of the Ramstein Air Base, which seriously injured 17 people, said Hans-Juergen Foerster, a spokesman for the West Germany federal prosecutor's office.

Recovery of baby sitter's body drives horror of recent Ohio floods home

SHADYSIDE, Ohio (AP) — Friends of Kerri Polivka say they are not surprised she put a 9-year-old girl into a bathtub that was whisked safely away from a trailer home as it was torn apart in a flash flood.

The body of 13-year-old Kerri was found Monday in the Ohio River, bringing to 21 the number known to have died in the flooding. Thirteen people were listed as missing.

Kerri, of Wegee, was babysitting at the home of Amber Colvin when a storm Thursday dumped 5½ inches of rain in about three hours, sending a wall of water rushing down two small creeks that empty into the river.

Kerri put Amber in the tub and got in with her. The two became separated after Kerri was hit on the head as the trailer collapsed, Amber said Friday.

Amber said she survived by holding onto logs and was rescued 7½ hours later when she reached the bank of the Ohio River. She suffered cuts and scratches.

"She would have thought of Amber first because she was watching her that night," said Angel Halpin, a sixth-grade classmate and one of Kerri's closest friends.

saying to myself that she had a broken leg or something and was just sitting somewhere waiting for help," she said.

Rescuers held out little hope that any of the missing would turn up alive.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency said it would open centers to accept disaster-relief applications in three counties today. The agency said at least 700 homes were destroyed or damaged in the three counties.

A National Weather Service official said the storm developed so quickly there was no time to issue a flash flood warning.

almighty here, nature itself. Sometimes nature just isn't predictable," said Ed Heath, director of the weather service office in Akron.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, which oversees the weather service, said it would investigate its performance. Such investigations are routine in disasters involving more than five deaths, the agency said.

The first funerals were held Monday for victims of the flood.

About 100 people gathered at morning services for Roger DeNoon. Funerals were held later in the day for John and Edna Andrech in Shadyside and 6-year-old Timmy Gatten in Jacobsburg. Several services were scheduled today.

"I'm not sure any of us can prepare for this type of a tragedy," said Capt. Tim Muir, a Salvation Army chaplain who delivered the eulogy at DeNoon's funeral.

News that Kerri's body had been found will be especially difficult to accept at Leona Avenue Middle School, where she was an A and B student who made friends easily, said Principal John Krupa.

"She was just the type of girl everyone would like to have as a daughter. Maybe mine will follow in her footsteps," Krupa said.

He pulled her student file and looked at it. "There's nothing anywhere in here that shows she was ever in any kind of trouble and nothing that shows that she was the smartest girl in the world," Krupa said.

Soviet airliner hijacked today

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — A man hijacked a Soviet airliner with 59 people on board today and then surrendered and sought political asylum about an hour after the plane landed at Helsinki, Finnish and Soviet sources said.

Finnish Radio said the passengers safely left the aircraft, parked beside a runway at Helsinki airport and surrounded by police.

It said the hijacker gave up after discussions with Finnish officials through an open cabin door of the twin-jet Tupolev 134.

In Moscow, Soviet Deputy Aviation Minister Mikhail

Timofeev said there was a single hijacker, identified as Oleg Kozlov, 22, and that he had threatened to blow up the plane.

Earlier reports in Finland and neighboring Sweden had said there were three hijackers.

The plane had been en route from the Latvian capital of Riga to Murmansk on the northern Kola peninsula when it was hijacked, said Irmeli Paavola of the Finnish Aviation Authority.

Finnish Radio said the hijacker sought political asylum in Finland. It said Finnish officials, speaking with the man by radio before the plane landed, had persuaded him to abandon a plan to fly on to Stockholm, Sweden.

In Stockholm, an air rescue spokeswoman had earlier quoted Finnish officials as saying the hijacker wanted to fly to Israel, stopping in Stockholm on the way. It was the third hijacking in 10 days of a Soviet passenger plane on a domestic flight.

On Monday, a 29-year-old pilot, Valeri Yuricevic, commandeered a 12-seat Antonov-2 aircraft in Izmail, near the Ukrainian port of Odessa, and flew to Turkey, where he landed on a Black Sea beach. There was no one else on board.

Ihsan Dede, governor of the province of Kocaeli, where Yuricevic landed, said the pilot told authorities he wanted to escape "the undemocratic regime, and harsh life conditions" in the Soviet Union and live in Turkey.

Foreign Ministry spokesman Murat Sungur said today that officials were studying the man's request for political asylum and would return the plane to the Soviet Union.

Gunman had killed two

The sheriff also said investigators were trying to determine where and how Pough got his guns. Pough had been charged with manslaughter in 1971 and pleaded guilty to a lesser felony, but it was not immediately clear whether he could legally own a gun. Generally, felons may not own firearms.

GMAC said it had repossessed Pough's 1988 Pontiac Grand Am in January.

Whether the repossession was Pough's only motive for the massacre "we just don't know," the sheriff said.

The gunman never said a word, GMAC employees told police and counselors called in after the two-minute shooting rampage.

"He just shot until he saw no one else to shoot," McMillan said. Pough then turned a revolver on himself.

On Monday, Pough used a .30-caliber, clip-fed semiautomatic rifle for most of the shooting, but also had a .38-caliber revolver, authorities said.

"There's numerous magazines, plus numerous rounds in his pockets," said Deputy Ken Bozeman. "He was loaded for war."

The death toll equaled the worst shooting rampage in Florida history, a 1982 massacre

Grass fires occur

Minor grass fires caused two runs here Monday.

At 4:20 p.m., units were dispatched to douse a grass fire at U.S. Hwy. 84 and FM 258. Firemen returned to the station by 4:30 p.m.

Also Monday, units received a call of a second fire some 3 to 4 miles east on U.S. Hwy. 84. They returned to the station at 10:19 p.m.

Assault, theft noted to police

Police received a report of an assault and felony theft Monday stemming from an early-morning incident here Sunday.

David Kenner said he had been struck by an individual attending a party at a residence in the 2400 Block of Ave. N. The male was identified but police reported no arrest as of Tuesday morning.

Kenner said also a felony theft occurred sometime during the night. On Monday, he reported as missing some 150 cassette tapes, a dart board and an undetermined amount of cash.

Also at 10:51 a.m. Monday, police arrested two Spanish males, ages 18 and 28, at municipal court after the two elected to spend jail time rather than pay court fines.

AP survey...

Flag amendment vote is 'too close to call'

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Associated Press survey of Congress shows that the vote on President Bush's anti-flag-burning amendment is too close to call — with undecided moderate Democrats in control of its fate.

Neither side in the politically charged battle could yet claim victory, according to the survey. The amendment was short of the required two-thirds majority in both chambers but still could go over the top in the showdown just before Congress' Fourth of July recess.

The House may vote as early as Thursday and the Senate by the end of next week.

"I don't know what the vote outcome will be. I expect it will be close," Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, said Monday.

In the Senate, where 67 votes are needed to pass the amendment, 58 lawmakers surveyed favored it or were leaning in that direction, while 24 were against or leaning against. Of the 18 who did not take a position, 15 were Democrats.

Supporters and those leaning in favor outnumbered opponents 253 to 115 in the House, where 289 votes are required for passage. Of the 65 who were undecided or had no known position, 54 were Democrats.

The telephone survey was conducted late last week and Monday. Some lawmakers responded in person and some through aides.

House Democratic and Republican leaders were working furiously behind closed doors to sway the undecideds in the final days before the vote.

Both camps said they had won over some of the swing votes even though they stayed publicly uncommitted, and both sides predicted the outcome could hinge on the decisions of a half-dozen lawmakers.

The fact that the survey found so many Democrats still on the fence illustrates the political difficulty of the issue for the party.

Republican campaign operatives have promised to use the flag vote to portray Democrats opposing the amendment as less patriotic than their GOP challengers, and it's already an issue in many races.

In the face of the GOP threat, the Democratic leadership in both chambers has remained strongly against the amendment as a weakening of the First Amendment. But in deference to the divisions in the party and to those members with tough challenges, they have been careful not to make it a "party" position.

Mitchell kept up his rhetorical pressure Monday, saying that approval of the amendment would provide a victory for flag-burners who seek to goad the nation's leaders.

"It will be a sad irony if a few obnoxious publicity seekers ... are able to stampede those who love America" into changing the Bill of Rights, he said.

House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., has spoken out repeatedly against the amendment and has said he would vote against it.

China gears up for world's largest head count, 1 billion plus

BELJING (AP) — How does a country count more than 1 billion people — especially if many don't want to be counted?

China has started by drafting nearly 7 million census workers, more than the entire population of Finland.

Hundreds of thousands of training centers have been set up to teach the workers how to conduct the world's biggest head-count, which begins July 1 and will take about 10 days.

In addition, millions more Chinese have been mobilized to hang red banners in the streets, beat drums, sing songs and hand out publicity materials to popularize the slogan, "The population census — everyone is responsible."

Most Chinese have responded with the passive acquiescence they give all government campaigns, such as those calling for killing flies or studying socialist labor models.

But the census, last held in 1982, strikes fear in the hearts of a substantial minority.

They are the millions of people who have moved to cities without permission, and millions of others who have violated family-planning regulations by having more than one child.

Fearful of being fined thousands of dollars, parents often fail to register additional children and try to keep them deep secrets — hence their nickname "black children."

"It's very possible that there's a black child in each (apartment) building," said census worker Zhang Yuesi, who was taking part one recent afternoon in a pre-census trial in northeast Beijing's Zuo Family Village neighborhood.

She and five other workers visited three households and filled out questionnaires as a practice run.

"We must deeply arouse the masses and do propaganda work among them" in order to get a correct count, said Mrs. Zhang, a brisk woman who usually works in the municipal Statistics Bureau. Like other census workers, she was temporarily drafted in March to help make the count.

Census officials insist they won't punish anyone for having more than one child or living illegally in a city.

At a recent news conference, Zhang Sai, deputy director of the central government's census "leading group," or committee, promised that data on individual families won't be shared with police or family planning officials.

But it is not the census questionnaire per se that worries some families.

It is the prolonged glare of official attention, including pre-census checks of household registrations — little booklets that list household members. One copy is kept at home, and one in the local police station.

Since spring, officials already have made door-to-door checks to confirm registrations are up to date, and have quizzed neighbors about suspect households. If there were any "black children" in Zuo Family Village, they likely were uncovered during this stage, when there was no confidentiality.

Zhang Yuesi, the census worker, didn't want to release figures for her own turf. But she disclosed that in Fengtai, a rural area of Beijing, more than 300 unregistered children were found "in just one census district."

Li Honggui, deputy director of the national census office, said some have speculated the nationwide total of "black children" will reach several tens of millions.

The last census, in 1982, counted 1.03 billion people, and registered births and deaths since have produced a tentative count of 1.112 billion, making China by far the most populous country in the world.

Supreme Court agrees to review Texas thrift ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday agreed to decide whether to kill a lawsuit by Texas businessman Thomas M. Gaubert, who says federal regulators brought about the financial ruin of his failed savings and loan.

Gaubert's suit alleged that federal regulators who assumed day-to-day operation of his Irving-based Independent American Savings Association ran it out of business.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of appeals ruled last October that Gaubert could not pursue a $75 million claim for the lost value of the thrift. But it reinstated Gaubert's claim for $25 million worth of real estate he lost when the thrift went bust.

The court said it will review a ruling that revived that part of the negligence suit against the government.

Gaubert, a prominent political fundraiser who persuaded former House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, to intervene with federal regulators on his behalf, acquired a controlling interest in what was to be known as Independent American in 1983.

The rapidly expanding S&L proposed in 1984 to merge with Investex Savings, a failing Texas thrift, and purchase 22 branch offices from United Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

According to Gaubert's suit, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board favored the merger but postponed approval. Government lawyers said regulators were awaiting completion of an investigation into Gaubert's dealings with an Iowa thrift, Capitol Savings and Loan.

Before approving the merger, the bank board persuaded Gaubert to sign a "neutralization agreement" that effectively removed him from Independent American affairs. Gaubert also personally guaranteed Independent American's minimal net worth with real estate worth over $25 million.

In 1985, he agreed to remove himself permanently from Independent American's management and not to serve as an officer or director of any institution insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Federal officials subsequently assisted Independent American in its merger with Investex.

"Federal involvement came as a result of the inherent persuasive power of the FHLBB, which no doubt rises from the position of authority it occupies," the 5th Circuit court recounted. "The government euphemistically refers to this ability to pressure S&Ls as jawboning."

Lawsuit filed in artwork case

DALLAS (AP) — A U.S. district judge has barred the movement of treasures stolen from an East German cathedral by an American soldier in the final days of World War II.

The artwork is believed to be held in a bank in Whitewright, a town of 1,760 about 60 miles north of Dallas.

The church filed a federal lawsuit Monday demanding the return of medieval artwork believed stolen by Whitewright resident Joe T. Meador.

Also Monday, U.S. District Judge Sidney A. Fitzwater of Dallas ordered that representatives of the Lutheran cathedral in Quedlinburg be allowed to inventory the cache, which had been hidden in a mineshaft during the war. The treasures disappeared in 1945, shortly after American forces occupied the medieval castle town.

Meador, a former Army first lieutenant, is believed to have stolen the artifacts.

After he died of cancer in 1980, his brother and sister, Jack Meador of Whitewright and Jane Meador Cook of Mesquite, obtained the treasures and stored at least some of them in a vault at the First National Bank in Whitewright, The Dallas Morning News reported.

They apparently sold at least two of the pieces, bejeweled illuminated manuscripts from the 10th and 16th centuries, the newspaper said.

A secretary for Jack Meador told The Associated Press Monday night that Meador had no comment on the lawsuit. Mrs. Cook also declined comment.

An FBI special agent told The Dallas newspaper Monday that it still was unclear whether criminal charges could be brought in the case.

"The statute of limitations for interstate transportation of stolen property is five years. That's what we generally use in prosecution of art theft cases," said the agent, who asked not to be identified.

International treaties governing theft of art and antiquities have a 30-year statute of limitations, he said.

Ely Maurer, a State Department assistant legal adviser for cultural property, said criminal charges might be pursued under the National Stolen Property Act. The federal statute prohibits interstate or international transport of stolen art or artifacts.

The New York Times reported Tuesday that Farley confirmed Monday that some of the artifacts are stored at his bank.

High court decision sparks debates over privacy and safety

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Innocencio Muniz did not even wait until the police officer had returned to his patrol car before ignoring a warning not to drive until he sobered up.

Muniz's next warning — about his right to remain silent and have an attorney — did not come until after police videotaped him slurring his speech in response to questions about his age, height and weight.

The Supreme Court ruled 8-1 Monday that police did not violate the Pennsylvania motorist's rights by videotaping his answers to the routine questions, and it ordered a lower

"The law would extend to heirs who knowingly transferred the property across state lines," Maurer said. "The fact that they moved some of the artworks as recently as this year might make the statute apply."

He said there is ample circumstantial evidence that the family knew for some time that the art was stolen.

An affidavit filed with the lawsuit states that a church representative had met with First National Bank of Whitewright President John Farley to demand the return of the treasures.

The New York Times reported Tuesday that Farley confirmed Monday that some of the artifacts are stored at his bank.

The decision, along with a Supreme Court ruling in a Michigan case last week that sobriety checkpoints do not violate motorists' rights, have strengthened police powers to curb drunken driving at what some civil libertarians say is too high a price.

"There seems to be the continued pattern of the high court cutting back on the rights we thought we enjoyed," said Stefan Presser, legal director of the Pennsylvania American Civil Liberties Union.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have trouble urinating during the night after taking aspirin, Tylenol, Contac or Drixoral. I experience urgency, but then I am unable to empty my bladder. Three months ago, my doctor said my prostate was normal. Can you make any suggestions?

DEAR READER: Aspirin and Tylenol won't affect the urinary tract. However, the other two drugs certainly can. Each contains compounds (decongestants) that help clear breathing passages by shrinking swollen nasal linings. Unfortunately, this property affects other tissues as well, leading — in some people — to urinary blockage, worsening of glaucoma and hypertension, and asthma.

Before you choose an over-the-counter cold or allergy medicine, read labels carefully and, if possible, check with your pharmacist. He or she can advise you which products will not cause urinary retention or other complications.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicines." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What are the characteristics of attention-deficit disorder and what, if any, treatment is available?

DEAR READER: Attention-deficit disorder, formerly called hyperactivity, is a developmental disorder of children that has been estimated to affect up to 10 percent of school-age youngsters. The cause is unknown. The diagnosis is established by rather broad behavioral characteristics, which include:

- Inattention (failure to finish tasks, lack of concentration and easy distractibility);
- Impulsivity (acting before thinking, difficulty taking turns, problems organizing work and constant shifting from one activity to another);
- Hyperactivity (inability to stay seated, excessive physical excitability and always "on the go").

Some children with ADD have anxiety, aggressiveness, low frustration tolerance, abnormal brain-wave tests, incoordination, poor peer relations, fidgeting, constant talking and lack of awareness about their environment.

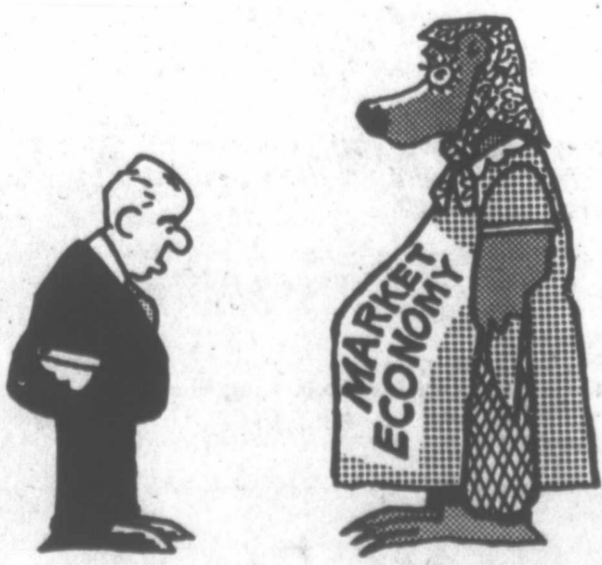

ADD children often respond to combination therapy, consisting of methylphenidate (Ritalin, a mild stimulant) coupled with cognitive behavior modification (re-programming behavior with a system of rewards), control of environmental noise and visual stimulation, role-playing and insistence on environmental structure.

Since ADD is not outgrown, untreated children often experience problems — such as academic failure and low self-esteem — in adolescence and beyond. Most experts recommend professional guidance and special classrooms for the most severely affected youngsters.

Killer executed in Arkansas said first in 26 years

VARNER, Ark. (AP) — A man who shot and killed a policeman trying to arrest him for a double murder said he held "no grudges" before being put to death in the electric chair in Arkansas' first execution in 26 years.

John Edward Swindler, 46, was pronounced dead at 9:05 p.m. Monday, three minutes after being given 2,300 volts of electricity in the big oak chair.

Arkansas became the 14th state to carry out an execution and Swindler the 130th inmate put to death since the U.S. Supreme Court in 1976 let states resume use of capital punishment.

Swindler was condemned for the 1976 murder of Fort Smith policeman Randy Basnett, who was shot at a gas station while trying to arrest Swindler for two murders in South Carolina. Swindler was later convicted of those slayings as well.

The U.S. Supreme Court denied a stay of execution on Saturday.

In final remarks dictated in his cell to Roman Catholic Monsignor John O'Donnell, Swindler said: "I have no animosity toward anyone. No grudges."

"I hope this brings to light the injustice of capital punishment and the need to abolish it," he said.

Swindler's body was to be turned over to O'Donnell for cremation. Swindler's family didn't want the body.

"He has professed that he believes in Satan, and I hope he gets to see him real soon," his brother, Robert E. Swindler of Lexington, S.C., said recently.

The last person executed in Arkansas was Charles Franklin Fields, who was electrocuted in 1964 for rape. R. Gene Simmons, convicted of killing 16 people, including 14 family members, is scheduled to be die Monday by injection.

Because Swindler was sentenced before Arkansas changed its method of execution from electrocution to injection, he was given a choice of either method. He left the choice up to authorities, who selected the method specified in his sentence.

Shanon Howard, the daughter of Basnett's widow, Cindy, said after the execution, "All I can say is justice has been done."

A handful of demonstrators for and against the death penalty gathered outside the prison as the execution approached, including several members of the Fort Smith Police Department, some in T-shirts decorated with a lightning bolt and the slogan "Turn Out The Lights, The Party's Over — John Swindler, 1990."

Some of those opposed to the death penalty sang "Amazing Grace."

Trump's problems said increasing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Donald Trump, mired in marital and financial problems, faces more trouble in trying to convert his Ambassador Hotel property into a hotel and business complex.

The city Board of Education voted 7-0 Monday to use its powers of eminent domain to seize 17.6 acres of the 23.5-acre property for a new high school to relieve overcrowding.

Attorneys for Trump Wilshire Associates, the investment group headed by the New York billionaire, said the dispute is probably headed for the courts.

The vote is the latest in a series of problems facing the flamboyant Trump, whose marriage fell apart at the same time his real estate and casino empire hit financial troubles.

Trump Wilshire bought the property last year for $64 million.

Juneteenth...

Texans celebrate freeing of slaves

DALLAS (AP) — Texas slaves learned 125 years ago today that the shackles of slavery had fallen.

Thousands of Texans are celebrating Juneteenth, the "Fourth of July for blacks" that has regained popularity over the past two decades.

Today, hundreds of thousands of blacks across the United States gather in Juneteenth-like celebrations to reaffirm their roots and their contributions to American society.

On June 19, 1865, Gen. Gordon Granger landed near Galveston and read a government order freeing all the slaves in Texas and western Louisiana — 2½ years after President Abraham Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation on Jan. 1, 1863.

The Texas Legislature made Juneteenth a state holiday in 1980.

Although not all Juneteenth celebrations are held on June 19, the festivities have a common bond: freedom, said William H.

Wiggins Jr., associate professor of Afro-American studies at Indiana University.

Wiggins wrote the, "O Freedom! Afro-American Emancipation Celebrations."

"This is so visceral, so culturally endemic," Wiggins said of Juneteenth. "It is a time when families or whole communities come together to share the same cultural, historical, social imperative."

Many blacks who have migrated far from their hometowns return home for the celebration, said Wiggins, who once taught at Texas College in Tyler.

"My father-in-law is originally from western Kentucky," he told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times. "He now lives in Indianapolis. But every 8th of August or thereabouts," coinciding with the date when Kentucky slaves learned of their freedom, "he and my mother-in-law pack up the bags, get in the car and drive to Allensville."

"This is repeated across the Midwest. They come back. That's what makes us distinct."

Wiggins said that Texas blacks in the early days flocked to Galveston for Juneteenth. In the 1920s, Juneteenth train excursions to Galveston were advertised widely.

Physical therapists...

Shortage hurts college programs

DALLAS (AP) — Many college physical therapy instructors are leaving the classroom to tackle problems such as larger caseloads of drug-addicted babies and increasing numbers of elderly patients recovering from strokes.

And some colleges are finding it more difficult to keep instructors in the field, The Dallas Morning News reported.

For instance, Texas Woman's University, which has the state's largest physical therapy program, lost five physical therapy faculty members during a six-week period this spring.

Because of the sudden shortage of instructors, TWU only is accepting 34 people for its summer classes, 11 fewer than usual.

Larger caseloads of sports-related injuries also was cited as a reason for the increased demand for therapists. The demand has increased salaries, making it more difficult for colleges to keep instructors.

"Everyone's trying to find physical therapists," said the dean of TWU's physical therapy school, Carolyn Rozier.

Directors at five of the state's six university physical therapy programs report having at least one faculty opening. TWU has seven vacancies.

Your Estate

What kind of plan have you prepared?

These are the kinds of questions a sound estate plan should address:

- How do your state's probate laws affect your will?
- Is a will sufficient, or should you consider a trust?
- How well have you provided for your family? Can they maintain their standard of living on what remains?

These estate planning concerns and many others will be discussed in detail at a FREE A.G. Edwards seminar:

Date: June 28, 1990

Time: 6:30 - 8:30 p.m.

Place: Snyder Savings & Loan Community Room

Speaker: Bill Lane, CFP
