Breakfast honors 38 laymen

The estimated 350-400 people who attended the third annual July Fourth Prayer Breakfast at the coliseum Wednesday morning were treated to a McDonald's breakfast and a rousing talk by Gordon Banks, chaplain for the Dallas Cowboys football team, who told listeners that "prayer should dominate their lives" and that "everyone should give their life to Jesus."

He went on to say that money and material things will not bring people peace and serenity, but prayer and a meaningful relationship with Jesus will.

In addition, 38 lay leaders received special certificates as the lay leader awards were announced prior to Banks' talk. Delbert Downing presented the awards.

Rev. Larry McAden, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, served as the master of ceremonies. Rev. Raymond Dunkins, pastor of New Hope Baptist, gave (see BREAKFAST, page 8)

Flapjacks, fireworks & fun dominate July 4 celebration

From flapjacks to fireworks, Snyder's Fourth of July Celebration had something for everyone.

Independence Day opened with a third annual Prayer Breakfast, featuring an inspiring message from Dallas Cowboys Chaplain Gordon Banks as an estimated 400 feasted on pancakes, sausage, eggs and hashbrowns at Scurry County Coliseum. Thirteen or so hours later, scores of Celebration goers pulled up lawn chairs or relaxed on the grass to "ooh" and "ahh" at the traditional fireworks show.

In between, there were horseshoes, washers and rings to be tossed, rides to be experienced for the young and young at heart, hula hoops to be spun, art to be appreciated, crafts to buy, music to be enjoyed, and hamburgers, hot dogs, turkey legs, fajitas, cakes, pies and ice cream to be sampled — all washed down with gallons of cold drinks.

There were 82 entries in the Snyder Palette Club-sponsored Art Show. Best of Show awards went to LaVerne Lee in the professional category, Charlotte Etgen in the amateur category, Ricky Elam in the student category and Sandra Browning in the photography division. Dennis Cheatham of Lubbock was the judge.

The VFW took first place in the parade. Kids Kampus won a second-place ribbon and Kmart took third place.

Kmart and Wal-mart donated prizes for the bicycle rodeo. Winners in the six-and-under category were, first place, Colton Brown; second place, Josh Ortegon; and third place, Zalke Cain. In the 7-12 age division, (see BICYCLE, page 8)

Man charged with assault following stabbing incident

A 29-year-old Snyder man is free on $10,000 bond after being arrested and charged with aggravated assault early this morning.

Admitted to Cogdell Memorial Hospital with a stab wound to her back and multiple bruises was 21-year-old Krista Mann of Snyder.

Charged with the offense was Mrs. Mann's husband, Curtis Ray Mann.

Police were called to the American Motor Inn about 12:21 a.m. Thursday. The victim had fled from room 114 at the motel where they were residing.

Mrs. Mann stopped a truck driver who went to the nearby Purple Sage Motel where he used a telephone to call police and Snyder EMS, who transported the victim to the emergency room.

Mrs. Mann had one stab wound to the back, and she was also being treated for a bruised head and arm. Officers said both subjects had been drinking prior to the incident. Aggravated assault is a felony.

Public hearing set at Hermleigh Center

The first of two public hearings are set for 6 p.m. today at the Hermleigh community center concerning the possible use of a proposed grant from the Texas Community Development Program.

County Judge Bobby Goodwin said the public hearings are required before the county submits a request for the grant from the Texas Department of Commerce.

The county plans to seek a grant of $250,000 and has identified the Hermleigh water system as the priority project. The public hearing today, and one scheduled for 5:15 p.m. July 12 in the Scurry County courthouse, will be to receive public comment on the proposed use of the funds.

The funds must be used to benefit a majority of low to moderate income families. Goodwin said the Hermleigh water system is being looked at because of its age and because of its deteriorating condition.

The application will be processed through the West Texas Council of Governments, located in Abilene.

Lamesa still in race for state prison site

From Local, Wire Reports Three West Texas communities — including nearby Lamesa — remain in the running for one of four Texas prison units planned by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

The department announced today that the list of eligible communities had been cut from 20 to eight. Other West Texas applicants are the Trans-Pecos area and Pampa. Trans-Pecos is a three-city effort which includes Pecos, Monahans and Fort Stockton. Both Big Spring and Stamford were eliminated.

The eight communities will be considered at the TDCJ's regular board meeting next Tuesday in Austin. The session begins at 9 a.m. in the Senate Chambers.

Other communities still on the list include Angelina County (Lufkin), Bell County (Killeen), Hondo, Jasper and Polk County (Livingston). (see PRISON, page 8)

Jaycees' bike-a-thon slated here Saturday

Registration is on-going for the Snyder Jaycees' "Wheels For Life" Bike-A-Thon to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

Joe Hernandez is project chairman for the event, which will be held at Towle Park this Saturday from 7 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Bike-A-Thon participants are asked to secure sponsors who will agree to make a donation based on a per-mile basis. Donations are tax deductible.

Participants turning in $25 or more will receive a special T-shirt. Those who collect $75 or more will receive a certificate, a T-shirt and a tote bag.

Pledge sheets are available at the chamber of commerce. For further information, contact Hernandez at 573-4210.

St. Jude Hospital is non-sectarian, interracial and provides medical care for over 3,200 active patients. Founded by Danny Thomas in 1962, the hospital is the largest childhood cancer research-treatment-education center in America. Although located in Memphis, Tenn., the hospital has a local impact because area doctors and hospitals can use, at no cost, treatments and procedures developed at St. Jude.

Q—Why were all-stars not selected in the Farm League this year?

A—Officials decided there was no fair way to determine who should be on the team because coaches — who were selecting the all-stars — were not able to see all the players often enough. First and second place teams were sent to a tournament in Abilene which incidentally would not accept all-star teams.

In Brief

Takes own life

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert Lee "R.L." Blaffer II, grandson of an Exxon founder and great-grandson of a Texaco founder, died of an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.

Blaffer, 30, was found dead about 4:45 a.m. Wednesday in his Houston condominium.

Police are investigating Blaffer's death as a suicide, Sgt. D.D. Shirley said.

Blaffer and a friend had returned from a bar about 3:45 a.m. and were having drinks when the friend heard a gunshot, police said.

Fire kills boy

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP) — A little boy trying to protect his puppies from ants died when the gasoline he was using to kill the ants ignited and trapped him on a burning back porch.

Roger Dale Langston, 7, had seen his grandfather use gasoline outside the house earlier Wednesday to keep ants out and apparently decided to try the same thing to keep bugs away from five puppies on a screened porch, said Grand Prairie Fire Department Lt. Doug Conner.

Collider land

DALLAS (AP) — Officials will begin buying land for the superconducting super collider project on Friday.

The Texas National Research Laboratory Commission will buy its first parcel for the giant particle smasher in a noon ceremony about five miles west of Waxahachie.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Once a woman has been carried over a threshold, she can't wait to put her foot down."

We made progress in our marital relationship this past weekend, and we owe it all to a multi-family garage sale.

Getting ready for a garage sale can bring stress on a marriage, but in our case, it resulted in the sale of a long-held grudge.

Gone for under $10 is a brand-new, never-been-used Christmas present purchased in 1971. If our memory is correct, it cost nearly $70.

It was a smoke-less, splatter-less Farberware cooking thing that was never uncrated. It's the only gift in nearly 21 years of marriage that caused any kind of rift.

In fact, ole what's-her-name didn't kick up as much dust when we forgot a special occasion—but that cooker was another matter.

For some reason she detected we had purchased the item at a local hardware store because they owed us money and not because we had thought it was an ideal gift for that special person in your life.

For years that cooker has been a burr under the kitchen cabinet. Today, thanks to the modern phenomenon of garage sales, that grudge now belongs to somebody else who is likely bragging about this bargain deal.

We learned an early matrimonial lesson: special gifts for special persons are not purchased at hardware stores.

Flag makers sewn up with summit business

HOUSTON (AP) — Lucille Parish has spent 36 years sewing flags of all states and nations. But she says her family-owned Capitol Flag Co. Inc. has never been busier as it continues preparations for the International Economic Summit.

"We've got our normal, heavy traffic from the Fourth of July and then with the summit piled on top of it. It's turned into so much work," said Joe Parish, 32, president of the company and Lucille Parish's son. "We haven't been this busy since the Texas Sesquicentennial."

said, "We should have made 100 of each of these." Thousands of small, printed flags for waving and for desk displays have been stocked and restocked — 18,000 tiny U.S. flags were sold in less than 30 days. In recent weeks, the Parishes have sold at least 50 sets of eight 3-foot-by-5-foot, mostly hand-sewn flags — one from each of the seven summit countries and the 12-star European Economic Conference flag — as well as thousands of the smaller sets.

humming from about 6 a.m. to 7 p.m., six days a week. Meanwhile, Joe Parish and another worker have repaired or installed hundreds of flagpoles around the city.

continues. "We're having a hard time making all six of these flags — we don't make the U.S. or the United Kingdom," Mrs. Parish said, adding the complicated Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack are purchased from mass-producing factories on the East Coast. "But we sew all the rest of them and we've had to work extra and pull everybody just on these summit flags."

"I think this year's going to beat that," said Mrs. Parish, 65. "I've been in business 36 years on July 4th and this year's going to top all the rest of the years."

Ever since the White House announced its choice of the Bayou City as host of the annual meeting of the seven wealthiest nations, the Parishes have been cutting, sewing, stocking and repairing flags for the July 9-11 event.

"We started months ago," Parish said. "Or at least we tried. We thought, 'Oh, we're set.' But once it started hitting, we

DEAR ABBY: I'm slim, blond, well-groomed, take two baths a day, and everyone says I'm pretty. I come from a good, middle-class Protestant family. My mother is a retired tax consultant and my father is an engineer. I play three musical instruments and speak three languages.

friends who have known them from way back.

Last year, I won a bronze medal in the county triathlon (a long-distance race consisting of swimming, bicycling and running). I don't drink liquor or use recreational drugs, nor do I frequent bars.

I am 40 years old, have no children, no health problems, and I own a nice car. I have been formally engaged twice and broke the engagements. Both men were compulsive liars. One had been married seven (yes, seven!) times. His last wife told me he was still married to her when he started dating me! I am not currently dating, deliberately, to avoid another disaster.

DEAR ABBY: Here's one for you. My wife and I were married over a year ago. We sent wedding invitations to a number of family members and friends. One of my cousins who lives many miles away called to say that she couldn't attend, and asked whether we would like "a this" or "a that" from a prominent store in her town.

Why can't I have a nice, normal relationship with an honest, decent, middle-class guy where I won't be lied to, stolen from or beaten up? I have no preconceived demands such as height, looks, bank account, religion. So, how can I connect with Mr. Nice and Normal?

I chose between the two items and thanked her, but now I really can't recall what the items were. It was a very cordial conversation.

Well, here it is, a year later, and neither the "this" nor the "that" has arrived. My concern: Did my cousin forget or decide not to send anything (which is fine), or did the store not send it (which isn't). And, hence, since my cousin may have thought a gift was sent and she hasn't received a "thank-you," she may be miffed.

THOROUGHLY CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: There are con artists everywhere, so one's only protection is to check out their backgrounds with someone who has known them for a very long time.

DEAR PERPLEXED: Since your cousin did not attend the wedding, and you received no gift from her, I think it's safe to assume that she sent none. In any case, I would not ask her if she had sent anything. She may get the impression that you are "fishing."

One of the best ways to meet nice people is through other nice people — put out the word to friends and relatives that you are interested in meeting someone nice. At least that way, you will have the benefit of a little "history" regarding the person.

Teen's body returned from medical center

HOUSTON (AP) — Karen Seamans' last wish was that her body be used to teach others. So when the 19-year-old heart patient died last month, her family donated her body to science.

called the hospital for a copy of the death certificate, they were told to send someone for the body because no one wanted it.

Baylor officials declined the offer because of a surplus of cadavers. Baylor officials said they were not told of the gift of Miss Seamans' body until last Friday, more than three weeks after her death.

Last week, it was returned. "It was as if she had died a second time," said her mother, Barbara Seamans. "Except this time, we weren't prepared... We were sick."

Miss Seamans died June 7 of pneumonia at Ben Taub Hospital. At her request and with the encouragement of her doctors, her family consigned the body to Baylor College of Medicine.

The Sam Rayburn High School senior's body had decomposed too much to donate elsewhere, even though it had been refrigerated at the hospital.

Art lessons for children set at WTC

Art lessons for children in grades 7-8 are to begin next Monday, July 9, at Western Texas College.

Friends, neighbors and relatives who had gathered for a memorial service June 9, assembled again Monday for Miss Seamans' funeral and burial in Pearland.

Carol Bullard will be the instructor for the 12-hour course, with classes meeting from 2:30-4 p.m. Monday through Thursday for two weeks ending July 19.

Projects for the students will include cartooning, printmaking, ceramics, drawing, painting, and watercolor. There will also be basic instruction in art concepts, theory, practice and introduction to art history as it relates to students of this age.

"You know, we would've buried her traditionally in the first place, but she wanted so badly to give her body," Mrs. Seamans said. "She couldn't do too much with all her medical problems, so she felt that giving of herself was her purpose in life."

Fees for the course are $40 and students will need to provide some supplies.

Enrollment in the class will be limited to 15 students, with maximum enrollment eight.

To reserve space in the class call 573-8511, ext. 240. The office will be closed on July 4 and July 6.

"But now, it's as if she didn't fulfill her purpose," Mrs. Seamans said.

Former student receives honor

Emily Warner, a student at Nance Park Junior High in Huntville, was honored for her academic achievement at a statewide ceremony in June at Trinity University in San Antonio.

Karen Seamans was born with a restricted aorta — the main artery leaving the heart — clogging blood flow to the rest of the body. She underwent open-heart surgery twice by famed surgeon Denton Cooley, but still suffered from breathing problems that limited her activities.

The recognition ceremony was sponsored by the Duke University Talent Identification Program (TIP) to salute the seventh-graders from Texas who qualified in TIP's 10th annual talent search.

Certificates presented in kids class

Certificates of completion along with three special awards were presented at the conclusion of the Western Texas College Computers for Kids class held June 18-28.

All students invited to the ceremony had earned scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or the American College Testing Assessment (ACT) comparable to college-bound high school seniors.

The students received certificates of distinction at the ceremony. The high scorers also received scholarships and books.

Warner, the daughter of Danny and Vicki Warner, is a former student of Snyder Public Schools.

Nine children participated in the class, Britt Canada, instructor, said. Following the awards presentation, the students went to the computer lab class and demonstrated their newly learned skills to their parents.

Receiving the Most Improved Student Award was Dusty Ashby. Kenneth Darlin received the Most Creative Student Award and Jack Hudgins got the Best All-Around Student Award.

The Most Improved Student Award went to the student who demonstrated the most improvement from a pre-test score given the first day of class to a post-test score at the end of the course. The Most Creative Award was presented to the student who ranked highest on two computer art assignments. One involved using a graphics software package while the other involved using the Logo programming language. The Best All-Around student was selected on the basis of the highest number of points earned throughout the class. Points were earned from tests, crossword puzzles scores, graphics, programming and applications assignments. The maximum number of points was 200 and Hudgins had a total of 172.

If you need it, play for it

By James Jacoby

South would have liked stronger clubs, but everything else about his cards cried out for a game force in no-trump. West led a heart, and declarer put up dummy's queen, won by East with the ace. Back came the 10 of hearts, ducked, and the third heart, won by declarer's king. It was apparent that West had started with five hearts, and it was equally apparent that making the contract depended upon setting up extra diamond tricks without allowing West to gain the lead.

Bill Root analyzes this problem succinctly in "How to Play a Bridge Hand" (Crown Publishers, Inc.). If diamonds are 2-2 or if East has three, there is no problem. If West has three diamonds, you can keep him out of the lead only if East has the lone queen, so you must allow for it.

After winning the king of hearts, declarer plays a spade to reach dummy. When he leads a diamond from dummy and East plays the queen, declarer can play low. Since East has no more

Designers give fashion groovy, 60's feel

By FRANCINE PARNES

AP Newsfeatures
In these "worst of times," as the specter of doom from the likes of stress, earthquakes and acid rain looms like a Damoclean sword, fashion designers are seducing us into feeling groovy and letting the good times roll.

"It's all about fantasyland," says designer Betsey Johnson.

It's all about '60s style. Indeed, stepping out in Vivienne Westwood's mod fur-trimmed hot pants or Christian Lacroix's Pucci-like print catsuits can be downright chic.

But one of the current best specimens of back-to-cool is Rachel London's colorful peasant blouse with big, fluffy silk daisies sprouting wherever they'll fit. For serious flower power, pair it with her hip-hugger Lycra bellbottoms with hot pink and purple roses.

The flowers are surefire attention grabbers. People on the street really do ask, "Do you have to water them?" Blouses range from $175 to $375, and the bells are $195 at Rachel London's Garden in Los Angeles and Un-titled in New York.

Then there's Betsey Johnson, who burst onto the design scene in the mid-'60s with her creations for Paraphernalia, the celebrated Manhattan mecca of the mod squad. Among her mindresses for fall, both with bell sleeves, is a black nylon net mesh with scoop-neck, $58, and a crushed velvet in olive, black, navy or hot pink, about $160. They will be available at her stores in New York and Los Angeles.

"They're like what I used to do at Paraphernalia," says Johnson.

The '60s styles are also branching out in a decidedly different direction, more polite and polished than freaky and funky. Inspiration was fueled by the fall '90 European couture collections. Christian Lacroix focused on trapeze-shaped dresses and coats. And throughout the Valentino collection there was the imprint of Jackie Kennedy during her White House days, evident both in his daytime silk suits and evening dresses.

Oscar de la Renta, Ralph Lauren, Calvin Klein, Christian Francis Roth and Michael Kors, among others, are re-introducing the chemise. It takes on a back-to-the-'60s flavor when topped with a simple short coat or little jacket.

Propelling the look into the '90s, these straight-line dresses and coats come in soft fabrics such as crepe and satin that glide over the body, unlike the more constructed predecessors.

One of the best examples of this look comes from Gianni Versace's fall collection. He answers the call of Camelot with a silk-blend red chemise with matching swing coat, accented with navy French cuffs and collar. The ensemble, about $2,300, will be available in July at Versace boutiques in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Styles so proper recall the days when handbags were actually meant to be carried. Sixties mavens will bag one with an old-fashioned lipstick mirror, such as Magid's velvet geometric evening bag with top handles. It's available at Lord & Taylor for $68. And Luc Benoit offers a crocodile square handbag, $1,600 at Lord & Taylor.

Accenting the classic silhouette are little white gloves; matched jewelry, such as necklace and earrings, big and bold, and oversized sunglasses. Add a soft, updated bouffant or a French twist. Hairstylist Shuji Kida of JADSS Salon in Los Angeles reports that his clientele is expressing renewed interest in retro 'dos.

What's important is keeping the look updated.

"The '60s look should not be a boring rehash of what came before," says designer Isaac Mizrahi. "Piled-high beehives and frosted lips are simply not chic."

One of the most popular '60s designs to resurface is Emilio Pucci's playful psychedelic swirls that helped define the era. There's a silk jersey minidress in an A-line or empire waist dirndl, quintessential '60s silhouettes. At $600 to $700, they're available at the Emilio Pucci Boutique in Manhattan, which has not seen so much traffic since the Age of Aquarius.

Other bold looks come from Adrienne Vittadini. Her fall collection includes bright Mondrian-inspired color-blocked patterns reminiscent of mindresses worn by white-booted go-go dancers in cages. The wool double knit separates range from $100 to $120 for the skirts and $190 to $250 for the tunics. They will be available in July at Lord & Taylor.

Consultant teaches blind about makeup

NEW YORK (AP) — Close your eyes when reaching for your eyeshadow or lipstick.

Got the right color?

Put on your makeup without a mirror, then walk out the door without a final glance.

Feel confident that you look good?

Now you have an inkling of what women who are blind go through to keep up appearances — and spirits.

"It's a very, very powerful feeling of well-being to be made up," says Barbara Daly, a professional makeup artist who developed Colourings cosmetics for The Body Shop, a British based company. "They say, 'I can't see a thing, but I know I look terrific.'"

For the past two years, in conjunction with the Royal National Institute for the Blind in London, Daly has been teaching the visually impaired to apply makeup. Now, there's a cassette tape so the blind can learn at home. It's $5.40 in all Body Shop stores.

"In England, only four percent of the people classified as legally blind are totally blind," she says. "Almost all have some sight. And very few are blind from birth.

Most lost their sight through disease or accident. So when I talk to them about color, they have a sense of what I'm saying."

Teaching those blind since birth, says Daly, "is all in trust. Colors mean nothing."

There are two cardinal rules, Daly said during a recent stop in New York: keep the number of products to a minimum and keep your chin up. "If you are blind," she says, "you have a natural tendency to tilt your head down. So keep your chin up."

Daly says it is best to take a friend with you when shopping for cosmetics and to learn to rely on the salesperson for advice.

She recommends foundation, powder, blusher; eyeshadow, highlighter, mascara; and lipstick. The easiest types to apply are foundation in a squeeze tube, pressed powder, blush, eyeshadow and highlighter, and a lip pot and finger for lip color. Cosmetic brushes and sponges also help.

Most popular mascaras come in a tube with a small brush at the end of a wand. Practice before applying by using your index finger to stroke underside of lashes from root to tip and from inner corner near the nose to outer corner. One tip: wash hands when you're finished because you probably have to use your finger to guide the wand back into the tube.

Keep hair away from the face when applying foundation and powder, says Daly. "If you're unsure where the hairline is, lay the index finger of the other hand across the hairline and work up to it."

"To locate the right place to apply the blusher, put one finger to the hairline where your hair meets your skin, about level with the top of your ear."

Wimbledon...

Garrison topples Steffi Graf

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Zina Garrison continued Steffi Graf's recent run of big-match misery today and beat the top-ranked West German 6-3, 3-6, 6-4 to reach the women's final at Wimbledon.

Garrison, an 80-1 shot to win the tournament when it began 10 days ago, took just over two hours to end Graf's reign as Wimbledon champion. She closed it with an ace and jumped for joy, as Graf bowed her head.

Saturday's match against the winner of the second semifinal between Martina Navratilova and Gabriela Sabatini will be the first Grand Slam title contest for the fifth seed from the United States.

Ivan Lendl, Boris Becker, Stefan Edberg and Goran Ivanisevic turned up the power

Wednesday to reach the semifinals, serve-and-volleying their way past shell-shocked opponents.

"I saw a lot of balls go by," Kevin Curren said after losing to Ivanisevic. "I don't think I've been aced 25 times before."

On a day when the Wimbledon weather finally lived up to its miserable reputation with a four-hour rain delay, balls were flying faster than the bone-chilling

Becker, the defending champion known as "Boom Boom" for his overpowering serve, eliminated seventh seed Brad Gilbert 6-4, 6-4, 6-1 on Wednesday. The second-seeded Becker lost his serve early in the first set and never faced another break point.

"The wind was really bad and you couldn't play great tennis out there, but I still made the most of it," Becker said. "It wasn't comfortable at all."

Lendl, the top seed, lashed 12 aces while defeating Brad Pearce 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4. Lendl has won $16 million in a career based on baseline brilliance, but he has learned to serve and volley to seek a Wimbledon title.

The elimination of Pearce, Gilbert and Curren swept the only remaining American men out of the tournament on the Fourth of July.

Avila group wins tourney

The foursome of Manuel Avila, R.T. Henderson, Bo Moffett and L.A. Berry posted a score of 59 to win Wednesday's July 4th Firecracker Open at Snyder Country Club.

Just one shot back was Penny Perry, Morris Light, Joe League and J.R. Meadows.

Three teams tied for third with identical 62s including Wade Hatter, Glen McLeod, Mike McLeod and Gertie League, Dutch Stehley, Larry Hildreth, Pinky Ferguson and Norma Crowder and Brady Nichols, Jay Jones, Matt McMillon and Nathan Hendrick.

Snyder Country Club will host one of its biggest events of the season this weekend as golfers tee-off Saturday for the annual Memorial Tournament.

Texas Football...

Magazine announces schoolboy picks

WACO, Texas (AP) — Texas high school football breaks in a new Class AAAAA playoff system this fall, and both title trophies may wind up in the Houston area, according to the 1990 edition of Dave Campbell's Texas Football magazine.

The magazine ranks Aldine, a 28-14 loser to Odessa Permian in last season's AAAAA title game, as the preseason favorite and Sugar Land Willowridge as No. 3 in 5A.

Aldine and Willowridge have had some noteworthy playoff games in the past, but they probably won't have a chance to meet this season. The University Interscholastic League this year begins a new enrollment-based playoff plan that will feature a 64-team "Regular AAAAA" bracket and a 32-team "Small AAAAA" bracket.

The top three teams from each of the 32 Class AAAAA districts will make the playoffs. The two schools with the largest Average Daily Membership, regardless of won-lost record, will go to the "Regular AAAAA" bracket, and the third will go the smaller-school route.

Aldine, led by running back Derrick Johnson and defensive tackle Steve Strahan, ranks next-to-last in enrollment in its district, so the Mustangs are likely to go the small AAAAA playoffs. Willowridge is the largest school in its district, so the Eagles are headed for the "Regular AAAAA" playoffs.

Aldine's likely foe in the "Small AAAAA" title game is likely to be No. 2 Dallas Carter, led by defensive lineman Charles Horton and quarterback Walter Taylor. No. 8 Cypress Creek is the Region II favorite to advance to the "Regular AAAAA" quarterfinals.

Defending champion Permian, ranked No. 5, is the Region I favorite in the "Regular AAAAA" bracket. No. 6 Arlington Lamar is the small-school favorite. No. 4 Converse Judson, led by quarterback Darnell Stephens, is the big-school favorite in Region IV. No. 9 San Antonio Marshall is likely to go the small-school route and could be the region's representative in the quarterfinals.

A&M Consolidated of College

Station lost to Chapel Hill in last season's title game and returns perhaps the best backfield tandem in the state (quarterback Tommy Preston and running back Cliff Groce). The Tigers, as a result, were an obvious choice to begin 1990 as the No. 1-ranked team in Class AAAA.

Dallas Roosevelt, down from Class AAAAA, is ranked No. 2 with a team led by quarterback Micheal Dean and tight end Clint Thompson. Lubbock Estacado is No. 3 and Austin Westlake, a playoff team last season in Class AAAA, is ranked No. 4.

Snyder will play three of the magazine's top 20 ranked 4A teams this fall.

The Tigers battle No. 18 Monahans, an old 4-4A rival, Sept. 7 on the Lobos' home field, to start the campaign and play defending District 4-4A champion Big Spring, rated No. 9 by Campbell, here on Friday, Sept. 28.

The Tigers begin play in the newly created District 2-4A against No. 3 Lubbock Estacado Thursday, Oct. 11.

Vernon, which lost to Mexia in last season's championship game, begins 1990 ranked No. 1 in Class AAA. The Lions welcome back running back Derrick Richardson, who ran for more than 2,000 yards last season, quarterback Ken Collums and linebacker Rodney Vincent.

No. 2 Navasota, featuring one of the state's top quarterbacks in Kevin Baker; No. 3 Southlake Carroll, led by brothers Jason and Jeff Myatt; and No. 4 Odem are the other regional favorites in Class AAA.

With veterans like running back Rodney Thomas, quarterback Gerald Farley and tackle Charles Cockrell back in the lineup, Groveton was an easy choice for No. 1 in Class AA. The Indians will be coached by longtime assistant Don Hill after the departure of Coach Scott Phillips for Waxahachie.

Perennial powerhouse Pilot Point, led by running backs Ely Sledge and Richard Anderson, is ranked No. 2 in AA, followed by No. 3 Post, which made the Class AAA playoffs last season, and No. 4 Refugio.

Defending champion Thornedale, whose 1989 squad was voted by Texas Football's all-decade panel as the best Class A team of the 1980s, begins the season ranked No. 1 in Class A. All-state back Jackie Ware leads the Bulldogs.

Munday, led by twins Perry and Terry Collier, begins the year ranked No. 2 in Class A. Italy, down from Class AA, is No. 3, followed by No. 4 Garden City.

Christoval, which has dominated six-man football since the days of Jack Pardee but has not won a state championship since the title game was instituted in the 1970s, is the preseason six-man favorite. Defending champion Fort Hancock is ranked No. 2.

Arkansas waiting for SEC proposal

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Frank Broyles says he's not exactly sitting by the telephone, but he's surprised the Southeastern Conference hasn't called yet.

"We have not heard from them," said the Arkansas athletic director who returned to work Tuesday after a two-week trip to the Soviet Union. "We thought we would have received some material."

Arkansas notified the SEC two weeks ago that the Razorbacks were interested in joining the league. Meanwhile, it's business as usual at Arkansas, Broyles said.

"I'm going to wait," Broyles said. "They (the SEC) know how important it is and as soon as they have something they want us to review, they'll send it to us."

Broyles acknowledged that it would help if a decision was made rather quickly. "The speed with which the transition could be made is important. That will be a factor," he said.

But he also has said he expected the process to go slowly. "They're going through some discussions," he said of the SEC expansion committee. "They're probably trying to develop a package for us to consider, and that's going to take time."

"Obviously, it has to be resolved. But we have to wait until all of the pieces of the puzzle are in place before we can give it rational consideration," he said.

The Southwest Conference also is working on a plan for the future, Broyles said.

"The Southwest Conference is having meetings to see what they can do to strengthen the conference. We have to give both of those groups time to develop a plan," he said.

Arkansas is a charter member of the SWC.

Snyder squad nabs 2nd in tournament

ABILENE — Snyder's American Legion baseball team, made up of just-graduated high-school seniors, finished second in the recent Abilene Invitational Tournament here, losing in the finals to Ringo, 12-2.

Snyder drew a bye in the opening round of the event and whipped a team of Cooper High School players, the Cougars, 8-4, to advance in the winners' bracket.

The hometowners were bumped off by the Ringo crew, 3-2, and set up a second meeting with Cooper in the double elimination tourney.

Snyder escaped with a 4-3 win and gave them a second shot at the eventual champions.

Ringo's route to the finals included wins over the Dallas Cardinals, the Ft. Worth Nets and Snyder.

Ringo bombarded Snyder with nine runs in the top of the third inning to chase starting pitcher Robbie Smith who was replaced with reliever Bert Merritt.

Snyder had built a 2-0 lead on hits by second baseman Toby Goodwin, catcher Lee Hamilton and right fielder Jamey Morton and a sacrifice fly by Bart Morton.

Ringo scored one more in the fourth and two in the fifth before the game was called on the 10-run rule.

Randy Morris belted a double in the Snyder half of the fourth but was stranded on the base paths.

Ringo banged out 10 hits including a double by Bryan McCaleb and Danny Cedillo's triple in the telling third frame.

Snyder, coached by Toby Morton and Tracey Odum, collected just four hits off Ringo's John Tune.

Fireworks are blamed for four fire calls

Snyder firemen responded to six fires — four of them caused by fireworks — Tuesday and Wednesday.

At 3:38 p.m. Tuesday, firemen put out a fire in a pasture owned by Sam Houston, 10 miles east of Snyder on the Camp Springs Road. The fire was caused by someone dumping burning trash.

At 11:40 p.m. Tuesday, firemen were called to a grass fire just off U.S. 84 in Hermleigh. Owner of the property was unknown and fireworks were said to be the cause.

At 5:45 a.m. Wednesday, a faulty smoke detector caused the fire alarms to go off at Cogdell Hospital. Firemen checked the building but could not find any smoke or fire.

Consumers pick chicken over beef

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas broiler industry is expecting another record year for production as chicken continues to muscle out beef on more Americans' dinner plates.

Since 1985, broiler chicken production in the state has been hitting a record every year. Output in Texas during 1989 was 1.25 billion pounds, up 12 percent from 1988.

Industry observers expect that tendency to continue in 1990.

Prices were strong last year with the value of broilers at the wholesale level in Texas reaching a record $482.7 million, up 23 percent from 1988. This growth exceeded the nationwide hike, which was 18 percent, according to the Agricultural Statistics Service in Austin.

The growth is in line with a prediction that broilers would surpass beef in 1989, with a per capita consumption of 67.5 pounds versus 67.2 pounds for beef, says James Grimm of Austin, executive vice president of the Texas Poultry Federation.

The final statistics to prove that assertion aren't available, but there is no reason to believe it didn't happen last year, Grimm said.

Poultry consumption surpassed that of beef a few years ago, but "poultry" includes turkeys, ducks and geese. The figure of 67.5 pounds is strictly for broiler meat.

Per capita consumption of broilers is up drastically from 46.7 pounds in 1980 and 20.6 pounds in 1950.

"What is pushing us is that when you take the skin and fat off, we have a product that is virtually cholesterol-free. People are very conscious of that," Grimm said.

Broiler meat also is cheap, even when the wholesale price is up, because supermarkets commonly use it as a loss leader, Grimm said. A loss leader is a product sold below cost to lure shoppers into the store.

The aggressive marketing effort of the broiler industry has expanded the product far beyond fried chicken, added James Denton, a poultry marketing specialist for the Extension Service at Texas A&M.

There is chicken bologna, wieners, and ersatz ham. Grilled and broiled chicken has made big inroads into the restaurant market, including the whitetablecloth establishments.

"There are a lot of things a chef can do with chicken meat," he said. The availability of boneless chicken makes the job easier.

The rapid growth in broiler output since 1984 is one of the longest periods of expansion in memory for a business that has had its ups and downs, Denton said.

CAF lease signed in Midland

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — A flyover by vintage World War II planes marked the signing Wednesday of a lease to relocate the Confederate Air Force museum from Harlingen to Midland.

The agreement was signed by CAF executive director Ralph Royce and Midland Mayor Carroll Thomas before about 250 people.

Six World War II vintage planes, in formation, later flew over the crowd at Midland International Airport.

"And to the CAF let me say once again, you are cleared to land at Midland International Airport. Welcome," said Thomas.

The CAF will soon begin seeking contracts for remodeling work on a hangar. Groundbreaking is set for August, officials said.

Construction should cost about $4 million on the 42-acre site. An additional 28 acres are available for future expansion, officials said.

The lease agreement calls for the CAF to pay Midland rent of $1 per year, for the next 50 years. The CAF must complete $2 million worth of improvements within two years and conduct two air shows annually.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have insomnia for which my doctor has prescribed Tranxene. Could you please suggest another medication that won't affect the mind?

DEAR READER: Insomnia is one of mankind's most common ailments. All of us experience it on occasion, especially during times of stress and worry. Insomnia is worsened by stimulants (such as caffeine), alcohol, and many medicines. Also, environmental factors — such as noise and light — may interrupt normal sleep patterns. People who are required to sleep at odd hours or who must frequently change their sleep patterns often suffer insomnia. Temporary sleeplessness is common.

Nonetheless, there are patients who are simply unable to sleep — night after night, week after week. Their personal lives and work habits may be affected. They become concerned, this very concern may exacerbate the insomnia. Such people are often aided by the limited use of medication.

Fortunately, there are many effective sleep remedies available; unfortunately, they all affect the mind and, therefore, have side effects, including drug dependence, dizziness, lightheadedness, hangover, headache, nervousness and poor coordination.

Tranxene (clorazepate) is such a drug; it is primarily an anti-anxiety medication that is occasionally used for anxiety-induced insomnia. The manufacturer does not recommend it for long-term use.

I've found that insomniacs who do not wish to take mind-altering drugs are often helped by over-the-counter Benadryl, an antihistamine that causes drowsiness — without side effects or hangover. The drug is extremely safe, and when taken in a dose of 100 to 150 milligrams at bedtime, will result in a restful sleep. Ask your doctor about this. Also, you might consider treating your anxiety with non-drug therapy, such as transcendental meditation, counseling or relaxation techniques.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please inform me on the details on Adrenalin addiction. How prevalent is it in today's world?

DEAR READER: Epinephrine is a substance produced naturally in the human body. It stimulates the adrenal glands and causes increased heart rate and blood pressure. It also relaxes certain involuntary muscles, especially those lining the bronchial passages. Adrenalin is the trademark for synthetically manufactured epinephrine. It is used by injection to counter shock and treat asthma.

To my knowledge, it has no addiction potential. Therefore, I believe Adrenalin addiction does not exist.
