Property appraisal...

Review board sets two meeting dates

Scurry County Appraisal Review Board will meet at 9 a.m. Thursday and again on Friday to examine and equalize the appraisal records of the chief appraiser and to hear and determine taxpayer and taxing unit appeals on matters permitted by the state property tax code.

Twenty-day notices were sent out during the third full week of June to inform property owners of the appraised value of their properties. The notices reflect whether the value of the property has increased or decreased and serve as a notice to property owners who may wish the opportunity to protest the tax value.

In year's past, 20-day notices were sent to property owners only if the overall value either increased or decreased by more than $1,000. Due to changes in the tax laws and a large scale reappraisal of local property, the district notified all property owners of their values this year, however.

Overall in the county, oil values increased for the coming year while personal property values decreased for the fourth straight year.

Appraisal district personnel ask property owners with questions regarding values to contact the office prior to the hearings at 573-8549 if they have not already done so.

The review board's Friday meeting will also convene at 9 a.m. The board will be in session on other days, notice for which will be posted, until all tax appraisals have been equalized and approved and all timely filed appeals are heard and resolved.

Annual summit ends with deal to resolve farm subsidies dispute

HOUSTON (AP) — The world's richest democracies wrapped up their annual summit today, drafting conditions for sending "fundamental and long-term" financial aid to the Soviet Union and resolving a nasty dispute over farm subsidies.

The summit ordered up a six-month damage-assessment study to review the Soviet economy and recommend ways to target Western aid.

Satisfied with their 11th-hour compromises on farm subsidies and the environment, the leaders quickly concluded their 16th annual summit this morning. President Bush was to read a wrap-up communique and then take questions sure to revolve around the critical issue of Soviet aid.

"The American people would have a very hard time understanding aid to the Soviet Union in the form of loans while $5 billion a year is being given to Cuba, missiles are trained on U.S. cities and 18 percent of the Soviet GNP goes to defense," Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady said today.

Officials said trade negotiators reached a compromise agricultural agreement in the early hours today and the seven heads of government were to review it at their final session at (see SUMMIT, page 8)

Development in inmate hunt fizzles

An anticipated development in the search for an escaped Price Daniel inmate failed to materialize Tuesday — another disappointment in the three-week, around-the-clock manhunt.

Texas Ranger John Billings said Wednesday that efforts will continue and that every lead will be followed. Much of the manhunt has centered in Howard County where the convicted murderer still has relatives.

Travis Dale Gray, 31, left the Snyder unit of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice June 20 in a furniture van. Gray was serving a 40-year sentence for murder of his first wife.

'Retire in Snyder' is urged

Encouraging all residents "to be ambassadors of Snyder," Jack Denman, chairman of the chamber of commerce retirement subcommittee, Tuesday addressed the advantages of retiring in Snyder.

Denman spoke during a meeting of the Snyder Lions Club.

He urged all residents to be ambassadors of Snyder and to encourage anyone they might know to retire in this community.

Denman pointed to the outstanding job being done by local law enforcement to make Snyder a safe and secure place in which to make a home. He singled out Sheriff Keith Collier and noted that several years ago the sheriff was voted outstanding sheriff in the state from 254 Texas counties.

"Snyder is a friendly place where people can still walk around and feel secure," Denman stressed.

Denman noted the quality of area schools, shopping and medical facilities that would benefit the retiree and his family.

In his talk, Denman emphasized the friendly nature of local people, saying that in Snyder "people take care of one

GOOD GUYS AND BAD GUYS — Pecos Bill confronts Dirty Dan in a scene from Saturday night's melodrama, "Pecos Bill and Slue-Foot Sue Meet the Dirty Dan Gang." Joe Gainer, left, is the hero Pecos Bill, while Tom Holcomb appears as the villainous Dirty Dan. Looking on are the heroine

Advance tickets encouraged for Noah Project fundraiser

People planning to attend Saturday's Noah Project melodrama fundraiser are encouraged to purchase advance tickets so that organizers may better plan the meal.

The second annual event is scheduled for 6 p.m. at Scurry County Coliseum. Last year's show was sold out in Towle Park Barn.

The meal will feature smoked sausage on a bun, potato salad, root beer and cookies.

There will be drawings during the meal for over 50 door prizes which have been donated by local merchants.

Between the meal and the melodrama, a musical interlude and sing-along is planned. Leading it will be Dr. Wylie "Buff" Hearn and Sam Robertson.

The melodrama is to begin about 7 p.m. Tickets for the evening are $6 for adults and $3.50 for children age 10 and under. They may be purchased at Bar-H-Bar Western Wear, The Shack, Blanche's Bernina and Ezell-Key Feed and Seed.

Bandanas will be given to anyone who purchases at least four advance tickets as long as the supply lasts, and melodrama-goers are encouraged to wear the bandanas and western wear.

Saturday's cast is under the direction of Mike Dennis and includes Joe Gainer as the hero, Pecos Bill, and Emily Hataway as the heroine, Slue-Foot Sue. Tom Holcomb plays the villain and leader of the Dirty Dan Gang.

Other characters are Kay Hopper as Granny, Franklin Pruitt as the Old Timer, Dahl Howard as Clever Coyote, Howard Limer as Boots, Jeff Fowler as Fleas, Tiffany Fowler as the school marm, Terry Bowden as Blue Duck, Erin Rambo as Becky, Marcia Dennis as the widow Quackenbush, Paula Bowden as Conchita and Gail Northcott as Lily Grouch.

Noah Project provides assistance for victims of family violence in Scurry, Fisher, Kent, Mitchell, Nolan and Stonewall counties. All proceeds from the melodrama and dinner will go to the project.

In Midland...

Public education hearing scheduled

Local residents will have the opportunity to make known their views on the state's public education system but they'll have to go to Midland or farther to do so.

A number of hearings on the educational system are being held throughout the state. Midland is the closest city in this area, and is holding the hearing at the Region XVIII Education Service Center on La Force Blvd. from 1-3 p.m. July 20.

Other hearings are scheduled in Edinburg, Houston, Tyler,

Richardson, Austin, El Paso, San Antonio and Amarillo.

In addition to soliciting suggestions for the State Board of Education's long-range plans, individuals are encouraged to comment on issues related to public education in Texas.

Registration for those wishing to testify will be held on the day of each hearing on a first-come, first-served basis. Each speaker will be allowed five minutes to convey opinions and suggestions on education.

Individuals wishing to submit written testimony should bring five copies of the testimony to the hearing. All copies should include the name, address and affiliation, if applicable, of the individual testifying.

Copies of the draft of the Texas Education Agency's long-range plan will be available at the hearings. The plan contains the board's mission, goals and objectives for public education for 1990-1994 and a vision for the 21st century. It also proposes actions by the state, regional education service centers, school districts and others to meet those goals and objectives. The plan also covers expected results by which to measure educational accomplishments. All commentary on the public education system and responses to the plan are welcome.

Gunshot wound said self-inflicted

A 79-year-old Snyder man died Tuesday afternoon at his home of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Sheriff's deputies were called to the man's home about 1:43 p.m. Tuesday on North Ave. O. Peace Justice Dan Callaway pronounced Ben F. Burton Jr. dead at the scene.

Officers said Burton, a retired oilfield worker, was at home alone and seated at the kitchen table.

A World War II army veteran, he had been a resident of Snyder since 1962.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Never tell kids that vegetables will improve the color of their cheeks. Who wants green cheeks?"

We're right in the middle of sun enjoyment season, and some folks will go to any extreme in order to have a rich, deep tan.

But according to the experts, a person's chance of getting skin cancer in the next 10 years is one in seven. Skin cancer is the most common form of cancer in the U.S.

If the current trends continue, one in 90 will develop into a malignant melanoma. For years, people with naturally dark skin were believed to be exempt from burns and the problems that prolonged exposure brings. But experts say no one is exempt from the damage that the bright, summer sun can do.

The best advice is to avoid the big sunburn. If one must tan, do it slowly, use sun screen and be satisfied with not being quite as brown.

In fact, some believe that a deep, dark tan is no longer a notion of beauty. Professional models are appearing lighter in the slick fashion magazines.

A tan actually is the skin's response to injury which means you have to injure your body's largest organ in order to have a beautiful tan.

We've concluded it may be more healthy to be a couch potato and eat ice cream indoors under the air conditioner.

The governor's race in Texas is about to heat up again. We like the guy in Pennsylvania, a former congressman, who announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor at the last possible moment.

He calls the brevity of his 300-hour race "a gift to the voters of the state."

Q—How much can a person earn before they start losing Social Security benefits?

A—According to a spokesman with the Social Security office in Big Spring, benefits would be reduced once your earned income reaches an annual level of $6,840 if you are under age 65 and $9,360 if you are age 65 through 69. There is no reduction of benefits for those age 70 or older, regardless of their earnings. However, each individual should check with a Social Security office since there are a few exceptions to these dollar guidelines.

In Brief

Crash trial set

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Attorneys will make opening remarks today in a trial involving a 1987 bus-truck collision that killed six people and injured 17.

Three of the injured people and two sons of a woman killed in the accident are seeking damages from the owner and contractor of the 18-wheel truck that collided with a Trailways bus on May 4, 1987.

The truck, owned by Graebel Van Lines, jackknifed on slick pavement on Interstate 10 and veered across a grass median into the highway's westbound lane.

Abortion issue

HOUSTON (AP) — Several hundred demonstrators on both sides of the abortion issue rallied and picketed the Houston headquarters of Planned Parenthood today.

Abortion opponents held up signs and photos of what they said were aborted fetuses and paraded in front of the Planned Parenthood office, which is about one block from a planned motorcade route leading world leaders attending the economic summit from Rice University to downtown Houston.

AIDS death award ordered by judge

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A $121,030 judgment for the mother of a 2-year-old girl who died of AIDS should serve notice to the blood bank industry "that there is more to their business than gathering and dispensing blood," a lawyer said.

State District Judge William Hughes mailed his decision Monday to attorneys for the mother of Tristainne Omega Louise Jackson and for John Peter Smith Hospital, but refused to release it until Tuesday, after they had received it.

The child's mother, Belinda Jackson, sued the hospital district after learning her daughter contracted the AIDS virus through one of eight transfusions she received at JPS after a premature birth. The girl died in 1985.

"We feel every time one of these can be won, it breaks down the tremendous fortress of defense the blood banks have built," Ms. Jackson's attorney, Lowell Dushman, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Dushman said it is the first court victory nationally in an AIDS-by-transfusion case that occurred before there was general knowledge about the disease.

Assistant District Attorney Sullivan Bradley, who represented the hospital, argued that no screening test for AIDS was available when the child received transfusions in 1983.

"It is fair to say the industry is concerned about having today's knowledge and today's standards imposed on what it should have been doing. We're talking seven years ago," he said.

The blood given to the child was contaminated with the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV), which causes AIDS.

One of the donors, identified only as Donor X during last month's trial, was an intravenous drug user who testified in a deposition that hospital employees did not ask about drug use before accepting his blood.

Hughes found no negligence in the blood-testing methods of the hospital's blood bank in 1983, but did find negligence in the way it screened blood donors then.

Watercolor paintings exhibit at museum

Paintings from the 41st annual Texas Watercolor Society show are being featured in the Scurry County Museum today through July 24, Shirley Leftwich, museum director, has announced.

About 30 paintings are included in this year's traveling exhibit. Juror for the show was Roberto Juarez of New York. He selected Sybil Klein's "Needville Cotton" for the Best of Show award.

The traveling exhibit was first seen in the Houston Harte University Center in San Angelo. From Snyder, it will go to the Michelson-Reeves Museum of Art in Marshall, Lamar University in Beaumont, the McAllen International Museum in McAllen, and the El Paso Museum of Art in El Paso.

West Texas artists represented in the show include Dorothy Baird and Lavoe Peeler of Midland, Leo Bernice Fix of Lubbock, and Cathy McNally Lubke of San Angelo. Vanita Smithy of Missouri City, a former Western Texas College student, received the $100 Julian Onderdonk Memorial Award for her painting titled "Nigerian Ceremonials III" which is included in the exhibit.

Robert B. Johnson of San Antonio is president of the Texas Watercolor Society. Artists who would like to participate in the Society's 42nd exhibition are invited to write to the Society at Post Office Box 15066 in San Antonio, Tex. 78215-8266 for the prospectus.

Hand joins SHS ag department

Bob Hand, the newest addition to Snyder High School's vocational agriculture department, has 14 years teaching experience and is a former Snyder resident.

Hand and wife, Cindy, and two children have moved from Aztec, N.M., where he taught vocational agriculture for four years. Hand has three children who live in Aztec.

He joins Coke Hopping who taught in the high school ag department for the 1989-90 school year. With Hand's hiring, the SHS ag department reverts to the two teacher operation it was in past years.

structor, Hand said he has had 35 students named State Farmer and five American Farmer in both Texas and New Mexico.

Both Hand and Hopping will work together on joint Future Farmers of America (FFA) projects.

BOB HAND ...joins SHS ag department

Hand's teaching schedule will include a "0" hour class which will begin at 7:30 a.m. each school day. Students taking either agriculture structures or home maintenance will receive one semester of credit for each class.

Since both classes will be new to Snyder High School, Hand said any high school student who wishes to enroll should contact a counselor and make arrangements to have their schedule changed before school begins in the fall.

The "0" hour class will be one hour in duration but Hand's other class, — general agriculture mechanics — will be two hours in length and will be offered during the first and second period and the fourth and fifth period.

Hand said the general ag mechanics class has reached its capacity, but the "0" hour class still has space available.

Hand, who served 18 months in Vietnam, was a Navy Seal for two years, and then spent two years in the U.S. Marine Corps where he was cross-trained as a hospital corpsman.

After his discharge, Hand attended Tarleton State University where he earned a bachelor's in agriculture education with a minor in agriculture engineering.

Hand spent three years in Hobbs, N.M., as an ag teacher before moving to Lenora — south of Lamesa — where he taught for seven years.

Aztec was next and after four years, Hand said they wanted to return to the West Texas area and were very fortunate that Snyder has an opening.

He graduated from Midland Lee High School.

Hand, whose father worked in the oilfields, attended the first and second grades at West Elementary and part of the third grade at the Katherine Ryan Catholic School which has since become the Snyder Day Care Center.

While in Snyder, Hand said his father worked for Chevron Standard of Texas.

When Hand enrolled in college following his years of service, he said he chose agriculture because he had always been interested in the field and he likes to work with young people. "It's fun to see them learn," he said.

Fish kill cause is discovered

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A chemical spill in the Sabine River has killed thousands of fish and thousands more are perishing because they have been caught in shrimpers' nets since the season opened last week, officials said.

Dead gafftops, croaker, red snapper and other species of finfish snared in shrimp trawler nets are washing ashore from McFaddin Beach to the Bolivar Peninsula, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials said Tuesday.

Department biologists will take samples from beaches to calculate the number and species of fish killed. When shrimpers haul in their nets, they separate the finfish from the shrimp and toss the dead fish overboard.

Meanwhile, Parks and Wildlife biologists and the Texas Water Commission continued its investigation of the chemical spill from the Du Pont Sabine River Works. Bob Laughlin, a Du Pont spokesman, said operator error caused a spill of a caustic chemical Sunday.

After South got to three no-trump, West made the normal lead of a heart. East won the ace and returned the three-spot, won in dummy with the queen as South played the jack. South now played a spade back to his jack. West took the queen. West could now safely return a third heart, setting up his 10 while he still had the ace of spades as a sure entry. And what would the heart return accomplish? The defenders would take two heart tricks and two spades. Declarer would end up with nine tricks from among three spade tricks, two heart tricks, four diamond tricks and the ace of clubs — in short, tricks to burn. And the contract would succeed.

Instead, to set the contract, West needs to find East with one specific card — the queen of clubs. By shifting to the 10 of clubs after winning the first spade trick, West plays to defeat the contract. Yes, there are pitfalls in changing direction. It's barely possible that South held only J-x of spades and the queen of clubs, and that South was trying to lure West into a terrible error. But that would give South a hand with only 12 high-card points. Percentages favor East's holding the club queen, and West is right to go for that contingency.

Love Field restriction to hit House floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Kansas congressman vowed to bring up repeal of flight restrictions at Dallas Love Field on the floor of the House today.

The House Rules Committee Tuesday turned down the request of Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Wichita, for a floor debate on flight restrictions at the Dallas airfield.

The committee said Glickman's amendment was not germane to an aviation bill the full House is scheduled to debate today.

Glickman was unsure whether he would offer an amendment to change the law that prohibits flights from Love to destinations beyond Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

"I doubt that I'm going to have an amendment that will be perfectly in order, but we're looking," he said late Tuesday.

He told the Rules Committee that the restriction, called the Wright Amendment, was an "economic cancer" on Wichita and other cities that are just outside the five-state region that can be served from Love Field.

"To my dying day, if I do nothing else in Congress, I'm going to get rid of this crazy amendment," Glickman said.

Dallas-Fort Worth Reps. Pete Geren, John Bryant and Martin Frost, all Democrats, opposed Glickman's efforts. Geren and Bryant testified that repeal of the Wright Amendment would cause safety, environmental and legal problems.

Frost, who sits on the Rules Committee, evoked opposition from the sponsors of the aviation bill.

"We'll just continue to attempt to resolve the issue on the local level and resist his efforts to try to resolve it through an act of Congress," Geren said.

Though the administration hasn't taken a formal stance on the Love Field controversy, Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner said last month he favors open competition between airports.

Glickman and Rep. Pat Roberts, R-Kan., said fares for flights between Dallas-Fort Worth and cities beyond the restricted area will become less expensive if the amendment is lifted.

They believe Southwest Airlines, the only commercial carrier at Love Field, will fly directly to Kansas cities if the Wright Amendment is repealed. Dallas-based Southwest offers lower fares for no-frills service.

The large carriers at nearby Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport offer competitive fares for the cities Southwest serves.

For example, DFW's largest carrier, American Airlines, charges between $49 and $279 for one-way flights to Albuquerque, which is farther from Dallas than Wichita. Southwest charges between $44 and $100 from Love Field to Albuquerque. American charges between $83 and $420 for one-way trips to Wichita.

"If the people of Dallas and Fort Worth will look at the fares they pay, they will see that they are paying more than most other places in the country ... certainly more than they're paying in Houston," Glickman said. "I think the citizens in the community will begin to want some relief."

The Consumer Federation of America last week urged repeal, saying the restriction causes "excessive prices and inferior service for air travelers throughout the nation."

American Airlines has said it would begin service from Love Field if the amendment was repealed. An accounting firm's study cited by Bryant and Frost suggests the airport, which is 10 miles closer to downtown Dallas than DFW is, would become overburdened by airlines and that flight delays would be common.

Mel Blanc's headstone reads 'That's All Folks'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mel Blanc, the voice of Porky Pig, Bugs Bunny and legions of other cartoon characters, put the same signature on his life as he did on his work, says his son, who had the famous words engraved on a new tombstone.

"That's All Folks," reads the 5-foot white marble monument at the Beth-Olam Cemetery, near Hollywood's Paramount Studio.

Those were "the last words he ever said on-camera or off-camera," Blanc's son, Noel, said Monday.

The headstone was set in time to mark the first anniversary of his father's death on July 10, 1989, Blanc said.

The elder Blanc delivered the daffy Looney Tunes sign-off, "That's All Folks," while filming a commercial for Buick automobiles with Noel when he was stricken and rushed to Cedars-Sinai Medical Center.

He died about two months later at the age of 81.

Blanc was the voice who gave life to hundreds of cartoon characters, including Yosemite Sam, Daffy Duck, Sylvester the Cat and other Warner Bros. creations.

Even now, "My dad is heard by 250 million people every day all over the world," Blanc said. "They figure that somewhere you can turn on a television and hear him."

The younger Blanc has carried on his father's tradition, and recently recorded Bugs Bunny singing "Happy Birthday" greetings to more than 1,400 different names for a computerized 900 telephone service.

Nevertheless, he said, "Nobody ever will be able to do what he has done. He created more than 1,500 voices."

The new headstone reads: "That's All Folks Mel Blanc Man of a Thousand Voices Beloved Husband and Father 1908-1989."

Franco tabbed game's MVP

CHICAGO (AP) — Being an All-Star was important to Julio Franco. Being the All-Star Most Valuable Player was just something that happened.

Franco, Texas' "Lone Ranger" in the American League lineup, drove in the game's only two runs with a double in the seventh inning on a 0-2 fastball from Cincinnati's Rob Dibble.

It was just the type of pitch Franco was looking for but just what Dibble didn't want to throw. "I knew he was going to throw something hard and I was looking to go to right field with the pitch," Franco said.

Which is exactly what he did, shooting the gap in right-center to score Cleveland's Sandv Alomar and California's Lance Parrish.

"It was a fastball," Dibble said. "It was right down the middle of the plate, right down Broadway."

Dibble said he discussed what he wanted to do with catcher Mike Scioscia of Los Angeles.

"It was a mutual agreement I was going to throw a pitch up and in, but I threw it right down the middle of the plate," Dibble said. "I have no excuses. I threw the pitch and the guy got the hit."

Franco, who went into the game as a pinch-hitter in the fifth inning and remained as the second baseman, had plenty of time to think about his at-bat.

Play was halted because of rain just as Franco came to the plate, with no outs, Alomar on third and Parrish at first. It was an hour and 8 minutes before play resumed.

When the field was being prepared to play again, Franco knew he would be facing the hard-throwing Dibble.

"I had never seen him before," Franco said. "When he was warming up, I concentrated on his body motion. Everybody told me

South wins basketball gold in U.S. Olympic Festival tilt

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — With time running out in the gold medal basketball game at the U.S. Olympic Festival, 5-foot-10 Travis Ford drove through the lane and came up against 7-foot Eric Montross. Ford won.

His lofted layup with seven seconds left gave the South a 121-120 victory over the North and avenged a loss that came during the round-robin portion of the tournament.

"I wanted to shoot right away so if I missed there would be time to get the rebound," Ford said. "Luckily, it went in."

In the women's gold medal game, the East started quickly in both halves and rolled to a 76-54 victory over the West. Also Tuesday, two more festival swimming records fell, a bowler rolled a 300 game and the oldest archer in the competition walked away with the gold.

Braziel's homer starts fifth inning burst

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

HAMLIN — Snyder erupted for six runs in the bottom of the fifth, highlighted by a two-run homer from center fielder Wayne Braziel, to blow open its Area II Little League All-Star Tournament game against Hamlin last night as the hometowners won 11-4.

Pitcher Lee Idom held the Hamlin team in check, including the only girl in the tourney, power hitting shortstop Renee Turner, while posting nine strikeouts in the win.

Snyder drew first blood in Tuesday's other All-Star game taking a quick 2-0 lead after an inning. Hamlin closed the gap to 2-1 after two and the squads were scoreless in the third.

Three runs came in for Snyder in the last of the fourth inning to set the score at 5-1.

Hamlin again fought back to within one with a three-run rally in their half of the third before Snyder's offensive explosion put the game on ice.

"Everybody made a contribution and I'm real proud of you," Manager Mike Jordan told his club after the game.

"They played pretty well," he said after the team had dispersed, "but we'd better play well because the competition is about to get tougher."

Snyder will face Colorado City, 3-1 winners over Sweetwater in Tuesday's early game, in an 8 p.m. matchup Friday here in the tourney's third round.

"They are real tough," Jordan said of the Colorado City stars.

"They beat us in Merkel. It'll be a good game."

Turner, Hamlin's girl shortstop took Idom deep to right center in the visiting half of the fifth inning but Braziel moved over to make the grab.

She also hit the ball hard in both previous at-bats but a Snyder defender was always in the way.

The locals started their big inning with a base hit by third baseman Patrick Jordan down the rightfield line.

Braziel came to the plate next and rode the first offering from Hamlin pitcher Scotty Nichols to straight-away centerfield for a two-run homer.

First baseman Jeff Hobbs was next up taking Nichols to full count before driving a double to the fence in left field.

Hobbs came in on a double from shortstop Jeremy House to almost the same spot at the wall. House advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on a Ben Wells two RBI single that also pushed across Idom who reached on a fielder's choice.

Idom stormed from the Snyder dugout and struck out the side in the top of the sixth to end the game.

Thursday night games in the tournament include Stonewall-Kent, 18-2 losers to Sweetwater in the opening round, against Hamlin at 6 p.m. and Sweetwater versus Rotan, 5-3 losers to Hamlin in first round action, at 8 p.m.

The Area II championship will be decided Thursday, July 19 at 7:30 p.m.

Board picks four prison sites

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas will get 5,250 new prison beds after criminal justice officials agreed to build a maximum security unit in Polk County and three other lockups at Hondo, Pampa and Lamesa.

Justice voted to put a 2,250-bed maximum security prison in Polk County, an hour's drive from death row at Huntsville.

The facility will house about 100 death row inmates, officials said.

medium-security prisons were approved for sites near Hondo, 40 miles west of San Antonio; Pampa, 46 miles northeast of Amarillo in the Panhandle; and South Plains' Lamesa, 60 miles south of Lubbock.

The board has $130 million to spend on construction of the four prisons.

There were eight contenders for the maximum security prison. Six of them also bid for the smaller lockups. Officials offered incentive packages worth millions of dollars and offered to donate land to lure the prisons and their related jobs to their areas.

Prison site winners — carrying signs or sporting T-shirts or buttons with slogans — cheered and applauded the board's decisions.

A prison for Pampa — 2 P's in a pod," said one T-shirt decorated with a pea pod.

Jasper, whose supporters wore buttons saying, "For a weekend or a lifetime... Jasper," lost in the bidding, as did the Trans-Pecos area, including the West Texas counties of Pecos, Reeves and Ward, and Angelina County.

Bell and Polk counties competed only for the larger prison.

Board Chairman Charles Terrell said some board members were disappointed that Bell County didn't try for one of the smaller prisons.

Bell County Judge John Garth had stressed his area's economic need, in view of a U.S. Department of Defense announcement that it was inactivating a division at Fort Hood. Terrell said Gov. Bill Clements expressed concern to him about the effect of the military cuts on the county.

But Terrell said Polk County's location is a big plus for the new maximum-security prison, primarily because of its proximity to Huntsville, where prison headquarters and death row are located.

The location "was a great determining factor, because the staff felt very strongly they needed another big unit in that area," said Terrell, of Dallas. "It just made so much sense to do it."

Inmates would be housed at the Polk facility after construction is completed in about 2½ years, Terrell said.

Polk County and Hondo drew opponents as well as boosters for the new prisons.

"I feel a little bit like a traitor" in opposing a new prison, said Ray Spiller, a Polk County resident. But he added, "I haven't found any women with children who want a prison."

Hondo resident Harry Jordan said there was "significant opposition" in his area.

Commander has mixed emotions over assignment

HOUSTON (AP) — Air Force Col. Fred Gregory has mixed emotions about being named to a new space shuttle command after a fellow astronaut was grounded for disciplinary reasons.

"This is a very difficult and emotional time for us. We know that," Gregory said Tuesday. "It's like a mother spanking her child and says this is going to hurt me more than you. It's a bad experience. But these people are mature enough and the group is mature enough to keep striving forward."

Gregory won a shuttle command slot Monday after NASA grounded Navy Capt. David M. Walker. In an unprecedented disciplinary move, Walker and Navy Cmdr. Robert L. "Hoot" Gibson were ousted from shuttle commands and prohibited from flying T-38 training jets for violating NASA rules against participating in high-risk recreational activities.

Gibson was involved in a fatal plane crash at an air show during the weekend and Walker was involved in a near-miss with an airliner last year, NASA said. The suspensions are unprecedented.

"To be pulled up and put in at this point, that was certainly a shock, but not nearly the shock that has gone through our area," Gregory said of his reaction and the reaction of the astronaut corps.

Two-car mishap occurs on 208

Three persons escaped serious injuries in a two-vehicle accident about 4:14 p.m. Tuesday, eight miles north of Snyder on the Clairemont Highway.

Involved was a 1989 Chevrolet pickup owned by Chevron USA and driven by John Thomas of Rt. 2, Snyder, and a Toyota driven by Hans Tharp of Matairie, La.

Investigators said the pickup failed to yield right of way and pulled out in front of the passenger car. Both drivers were treated for minor injuries at the scene.

A passenger in the Toyota, 18-year-old Laura A. Green of New Orleans, was taken by private vehicle to Cogdell Hospital. She was treated for neck, back and shoulder sprains and was released.

Damage to the pickup was moderate and damage to the car was listed as heavy.

Four arrests occur Tuesday

Snyder city police arrested four persons Monday and worked one minor traffic accident.

The first arrest occurred at 11:53 a.m. when an 18-year-old male was charged with misdemeanor criminal mischief. The suspect kicked and damaged a pickup owned by Production Credit Association on Sunday at 5400 College Ave.

Officers arrested two females — one 42 and the other 14 — for shoplifting at Eckerd Drug in Varsity Square Center. The report was made at 7:17 p.m.

A 17-year-old male was arrested at 2500 College about 8:33 p.m. Tuesday on a warrant out of Midland County. He was released to the juvenile probation officer.

At 10:47 a.m. Tuesday in the Wal-Mart parking lot, a 1984 Chevrolet driven by Christie Necessary of 2308 42nd St. was in collision with a 1983 Chevrolet pickup driven by Dana Barnes of Route 1, Hermleigh. There were no injuries and damage was minor.

At 3 p.m. Tuesday, Delfina Ramos of 802 27th St. reported that someone had broken windows out of a rent house.

At 11:05 p.m., 1:36 a.m. and 5:56 a.m., police received complaints of harassment — the last one by telephone.

Sgt. Jerry Morgan said investigation of the criminal mischief incident which occurred last weekend is continuing. All but one suspect has been interviewed, and Morgan said formal complaints likely would be forwarded to the district attorney Wednesday afternoon or Thursday.

Tons of potato products are tainted with wire

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Thousands of tons of french fries, hash browns and potato puffs destined for fast-food chains were impounded by a food processing company after pieces of wire were found in them.

Metal-laden potato products mysteriously began appearing at Lamb-Weston Inc.'s Hermiston plant June 4, said Steven Johnson, the plant's former quality assurance manager.

"It looks like wire from a wire brush that you use to scrape paint off or something," Johnson said in a telephone interview. "And we found this wire embedded in the french fry after it had been processed. These wires had kicked off the metal detectors."

The potatoes were being processed for fast food restaurants in the U.S. and Japan, but none ever reached consumers, according to a state Agriculture Department official.

Most of the impounded potato products never left the plant, but were stored in a refrigerated warehouse, The Wall Street Journal reported. The paper said about 100 cases of hash browns were sent to McDonald's distribution centers, but were located and returned unused to the plant.

At Lamb-Weston's parent company, ConAgra of Omaha, Neb., spokesman Walt Casey said Lamb-Weston impounded the potatoes, "they notified the FDA, and they worked with the FDA in resolving the problem."

But a state official said the Oregon manufacturer of the spik-ed spuds failed to notify state inspectors of the problem.

James Black, administrator of the food and dairy division of the state Agriculture Department, said the only notification was an anonymous tip to a state field assistant on vacation in the Hermiston area.

Black said the state Agriculture Department is responsible for inspecting plants in the state. He said the federal Food and Drug Administration doesn't get involved unless the product is shipped out of state.

Johnson said at least 18 million pounds of potato products were affected between June 4 and June 27, when he was fired.

"We run close to a million pounds a day," he said. "It was a lot of metal in a lot of french fries... We had 30 cases of metal kicked off on the metal detectors."

Rice University. The United States insisted on language calling for across-the-board cuts in all categories of farm subsidies. But the agreement also contained ambiguous language acceptable to the reluctant Europeans, urging each nation "to make substantial, progressive reductions."

The farm dispute had threatened to disrupt the annual gathering.

British Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd acknowledged there had been some hard words. "But it will be a more successful summit than if everybody had come here determined to sing from the beginning a unified hymn of praise."

In a self-congratulatory final communique to be read by President Bush at the close of the talks, the world leaders patted themselves on the back for a global economy that was still chugging along, although at a decidedly slow pace.

The communique also agreed to a pilot-study to help save the Amazon rain forests, but in a victory for the administration, did not press for specific reduction targets for the pollutants suspected of causing a global warming of the environment.

Dad Drinks the Night Away; Daughter Dreams He'll Leave

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My father lives in another state, and he visits me three or four times a year for two weeks (sometimes) at a time. Prior to each visit, I work myself up into a nervous frenzy because I know he will drive me crazy while he's here.

Dad is 56, single, and I think he's an alcoholic. He hangs out at his favorite club while he's here, then comes back to my place somewhere between "high" and "loaded," and he expects me to stay up with him while he drinks more and talks non-stop about himself. Thank God, I don't have any children.

I don't know how to stop this vicious cycle (which has been going on for five years) without losing him altogether, which sometimes I think might not be such a bad idea.

Please don't recommend intervention, as he doesn't think he has a drinking problem.

FRUSTRATED DAUGHTER
IN NEVADA

DEAR FRUSTRATED: When you stay up and provide your father with an audience while he continues to drink and talk, you are enabling him to drink.

Please, do your father and yourself a favor, and attend some meetings of Al-Anon and Adult Children of Alcoholics. They're listed in your telephone directory. You will get some helpful, eye-opening insights on how to deal with your father, which could provide salvation for the both of you. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: I have just finished reading your book, "Dear Abby on Planning Your Wedding." It was a wonderful book and extremely helpful. After reading the section on "Including Disabled Persons," I had to write and tell you about a wedding I attended recently.

The bride's father had a stroke quite a few years ago and is now confined to a wheelchair. At the start of the reception, when they traditionally play "Daddy's Little Girl," they did something a little different but simply wonderful. The song they played was "Leader of the Band," and facing her father, the bride wheeled him around the dance floor. I don't think there was a dry eye in the house! Everyone applauded.

It was the most beautiful dance I had ever seen at any wedding. I know I will always cherish that special moment shared between that father and daughter!

KAREN CHASE,
BAY SHORE, N.Y.

DEAR KAREN: Thank you for reminding us that with enough love and creativity, there are few problems that are insurmountable.

DEAR ABBY: I hope "Heartsick in Arizona" writes her son out of her will. He apparently prefers his pit bull to his mother, so he certainly doesn't deserve any of her money. Pets are nice, but they should not replace people.

On second thought, it might have been better if "Heartsick" had chosen to have a pet instead of a son.

DEAR READERS: Hold the presses. I just received a letter from Tim Walker advising me that one Edna Gould Williams was graduated with honors from Loma Linda University in June 1988 at the age of 85.

Thus far she holds the record for the oldest college graduate. Belated congratulations to Edna.

"How to Write Letters for All Occasions" provides sample letters of congratulations, thank-yous, condolences, resumes and business letters—even how to write a love letter. It also includes how to properly address the clergy, government officials, dignitaries, widows and others. To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. # Jail taught television reporter lesson

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Now that he's revealed his confidential source, police beat reporter Brian Karem is returning to reporting on jail inmates instead of being one himself.

But the KMOL-TV journalist said after spending two weeks behind bars he'll retain an insight into jail life — and what he considers failings in the legal system.

"It's just amazing to me that attorneys and prosecutors and judges think they are all part of the system and that reporters aren't. We are. The First Amendment is first for a reason," Karem said in an interview Tuesday. "It's been an eye-opener."

Karem, 29, was held in contempt of court for refusing to identify who helped him obtain a telephone interview last year with jailed capital murder defendant Henry David Hernandez.

Hernandez and his brother, Julian, are charged in the March 1989 shooting death of San Antonio police officer Gary Williams.

Henry David Hernandez told Karem he shot Williams in self-defense. Attorneys in the murder trial claimed they needed to know who arranged the interview to determine whether it was admissible as evidence.

Karem testified Tuesday that his confidential source is Deborah Ledesma, a cousin of the Hernandezes now living in California. Ms. Ledesma released Karem from his promise of confidentiality, which he said he made because the woman feared some Hernandez family members.

Ms. Ledesma could not be reached for comment Monday and Tuesday by The Associated Press.

State District Judge Pat Priest, who had ordered Karem jailed for six months, released him from the contempt citation Tuesday after the reporter handed over notes identifying who helped arrange the interview.

Karem, KMOL-TV officials and their attorney, Larry Macon, claimed the lawyers were using Karem.

"We've maintained from the beginning that this was unnecessary, and the information was readily available to investigators if they just asked. They didn't need to use a reporter as the investigative tool," KMOL-TV news director Ron Harig said.

But assistant district attorney Beth Taylor said it was necessary to pinpoint Karem's contact and said his not revealing the name was "a waste of time."

When he interviewed Hernandez last year, Karem said, he never imagined it would result in a jail term.

"The mood was pretty wild," he said of the days following the police killing. "There were cops who were saying they were going to kill these guys."

Karem covered the brothers' arraignment, in which their attorneys asked that no law officers be allowed to talk with the defendants.

"I knew no one had talked to them. I was intensely curious. So I came back and jumped on it," Karem said.

More than a year later, attorneys were filing motions to try to keep Karem out of jail. Courts were hearing appeals in his case. And Karem was in the Bexar County Jail wearing an orange uniform, scrubbing floors and serving food as part of his jail duties.

"Overcoming boredom is the biggest problem," Karem said. "You watch movies, play chess ... I read six books and wrote a lot."

Karem was housed in a low-risk section of the crowded jail where there are no cells and open eating, sleeping and shower areas.

Asked what was most difficult, Karem joked, "wearing the Bexar County underwear. I tell you, that's not fun."

He described the food as "unidentifiable," and though he said after his release he immediately wanted a pizza and beer, he opted instead to celebrate with a fajita and margarita.

Karem, who planned to take off the rest of the week and spend it with his wife Pam, 29, and their 18-month-old son Zachary, said he would go through the experience again to keep a promise to a source.

Support from fellow journalists helped keep Karem's spirits high when he was in jail, he said. "I can't even describe all the emotions I had when I saw the support that I got."

Local journalists rallied outside the jail last week urging Karem's release. The Society of Professional Journalists adopted a resolution urging Karem's release.

Karem lost two Supreme Court bids to remain free while he appealed the contempt of court citation. His appeal, which was still before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, now becomes moot.

A graduate of the University of Missouri journalism school, Karem became a reporter in 1982. He went to work for KMOL-TV in 1988 after working for newspapers and television stations in the Midwest and Texas.

His plight the past year involving the Hernandez interview has attracted national attention. Karem said he's not even thinking about what it could mean for his career.

Lymphoma linked to mesentery disease

DEAR DR. GOTT: A friend has been diagnosed with sclerosing mesenteritis. What do you know about this, and what treatment is given?
 DEAR READER: The mesentery is a thin membrane that attaches to the abdominal organs and helps hold them in place. The mesentery contains blood vessels and nerves. Under certain circumstances, this filmy membrane can become infected and contract. Called retractile mesenteritis, the condition leads to thickening and scarring (sclerosis) that distorts intestinal loops. Symptoms include abdominal pain, fever, weight loss and vomiting — all of which suggest intestinal obstruction and infection. The condition is chronic and extremely rare. Its cause is unknown. Surgery, to remove inflamed portions of mesentery, does not cure the condition, nor are antibiotics effective. Some physicians have tried cortisone to relieve symptoms, but the results are inconsistent; the drug does not appear to affect the prognosis or progression of the disease. About 15 percent of patients with retractile mesenteritis subsequently develop malignant lymphomas (lymph node cancer). The cause of this association is not known. At present, retractile mesenteritis is an obscure affliction for which no treatment is available. I believe patients with this condition should be under the care of gastroenterologists. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Managing Chronic Pain." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title. DEAR DR. GOTT: Last month, my husband was referred to an orthopedic doctor in our medical office because of foot pain. He was diagnosed with a heel spur and placed on Feldene for three months. I don't like the idea of him taking a drug so long, and the drug is expensive, also. What's the best treatment for a spur?
 DEAR READER: Calcaneal spur syndrome is pain caused by a calcium deposit that forms where the deep tissue of the heel attaches to the calcaneus (heel bone). The deposit usually results from injury or strain and is common in runners. The spurs often affect both heels and need not cause pain; indeed, they are often discovered by accident during foot X-rays taken for other purposes. However, when spurs do cause pain, it is made worse by weight-bearing exercise. Treatment consists of temporary restriction of sports activities, as well as orthotic appliances worn in the shoes to reduce tissue strain — or the injection of cortisone into the painful area. Feldene (and other similar non-cortisone anti-inflammatory drugs) help, in some cases, to reduce the inflammation and pain from the spur. However, I suspect your husband will obtain faster and more permanent relief from a cortisone injection. Also, Feldene is associated with a high incidence of stomach irritation and, as you've discovered, the drug is expensive. Ask the orthopedic surgeon to consider an injection, or make arrangements for your husband to see a podiatrist. © 1990 NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN

Mayor also trapped in traffic

HOUSTON (AP) — Motorists being held hostage in their cars by motorcades whisking world leaders to their meetings during the economic summit can find solace in the fact that even the mayor was caught in the traffic snarl. "One word of consolation is that I've been stuck in that myself," Mayor Kathy Whitmire said. "One thing I would say (to motorists) is: You're not alone. "The rest of us are dealing with it. I saw several members of the Houston Host Committee who had been stuck in the traffic jams created by the closing of roadways," she said. But security for the heads of state attending the summit is "extremely important," she added. The three-day economic summit being hosted by President Bush at Rice University enters its final day today.
