Quake kills 230

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Authorities said today that more than 230 people were killed in an earthquake, and television reports said the worst affected areas were woefully short of blood, medicine and rescue equipment.

U.S. military units rushed to two of the worst affected areas with medical supplies and engineering equipment to help clear rubble. Japan and other countries also provided help.

President Corazon Aquino today visited the quake-stricken city of Cabanatuan and declared a state of emergency in the affected areas.

Scores of buildings were destroyed by Monday's temblor and the death toll was expected to rise as rescuers pulled more bodies from the rubble.

Figures compiled by the Office of Civil Defense and the Philippine Red Cross showed 234 people were killed and more than 600 injured in the quake, which measured 7.7 on the Richter scale and struck the country's main island of Luzon, including Manila. Its epicenter was 60 miles north of the capital.

Officials complained that rescue efforts were hampered by a lack of heavy equipment to remove rubble. Reporters said some efforts appeared disorganized with little evidence of government supervision.

The hardest-hit area was the mountain resort of Baguio, 110 miles north of Manila, where 22 buildings, including four hotels, were heavily damaged.

Officials said as many as 1,000 people were trapped in damaged buildings in Baguio, with the Hyatt Hotel sustaining the worst damage. The Hyatt's terraced front collapsed onto the lobby area, and officials estimated about 50 people died.

The quake ripped the city's luxury Nevada Hotel in half, leaving a huge gash in the middle of the structure. Baguio radio station DZWT said 23 people were killed when the commerce building at the University of Baguio collapsed.

U.S. officials said four members of the U.S. Agency for

Stockholders roping starts county rodeo Wednesday

Books open for entry today for the 55th annual Scurry County Open Rodeo which starts Thursday and will continue through Saturday at the Scurry County Rodeo Association arena on West 30th St.

The rodeo is sanctioned by the TCRA and stock will be provided by Smokey Davis and The Rafter D Rodeo Co.

Advance tickets for the rodeo are on sale at Bar-H-Bar Western Wear in College Heights Center. Advance tickets are $4 and tickets at the gate will be $5. Children 12 and under will be admitted free of charge.

A stockholders roping will be held starting at 6 p.m. Wednesday at the rodeo arena.

Starting Thursday, performances will begin each night at 8 p.m. with the finals on Saturday. Also scheduled Saturday is a rodeo parade starting at 4 p.m.

Rodeo events include saddle bronc riding, bull riding, bareback riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, team roping, girls barrel racing and girls breakaway roping.

Entry fee for individuals is $50 and entry for team roping is $80.

Another special attraction is a rodeo dance each evening starting at 9 p.m. Music will be provided by the Jodie Nix band.

City budget will require tax hike

A proposed 1990-91 city budget of $5.2 million — reflecting an increase of 4.87 percent — was reviewed by the Snyder city council Monday night in an almost two-hour meeting.

City Manager John Gayle said the proposed budget represents priorities established during the council's retreat held last spring in Sweetwater.

Major projects include the elevation of two water towers at a cost of $302,000, $60,000 for 37th Street right-of-way acquisition and $220,000 principal and interest for water and sewer bonds.

Gayle said no water line replacements are budgeted for 1991 since $80,000 currently is being spent for 10-inch water main replacements on 37th Street.

In anticipation of a $3.6 million project in 1993 for a new sewage treatment plant, city staffers are recommending a 5 percent increase in water, sewer and sanitation fees. Debt service associated with a new sewage treatment plant is projected at another $320,000 annually.

General fund requirements include a 6 percent increase in ad valorem taxes. Included in the spending portion of the budget is a 2½ percent across-the-board pay increase for city employees. Another major increase in the city budget is a 21 percent increase for employee health insurance and a 41 percent increase for dependents.

Gayle said he would like to request two new patrol cars for the police department at an estimated cost of $24,000, and $9,500 for module bed units for the fire department.

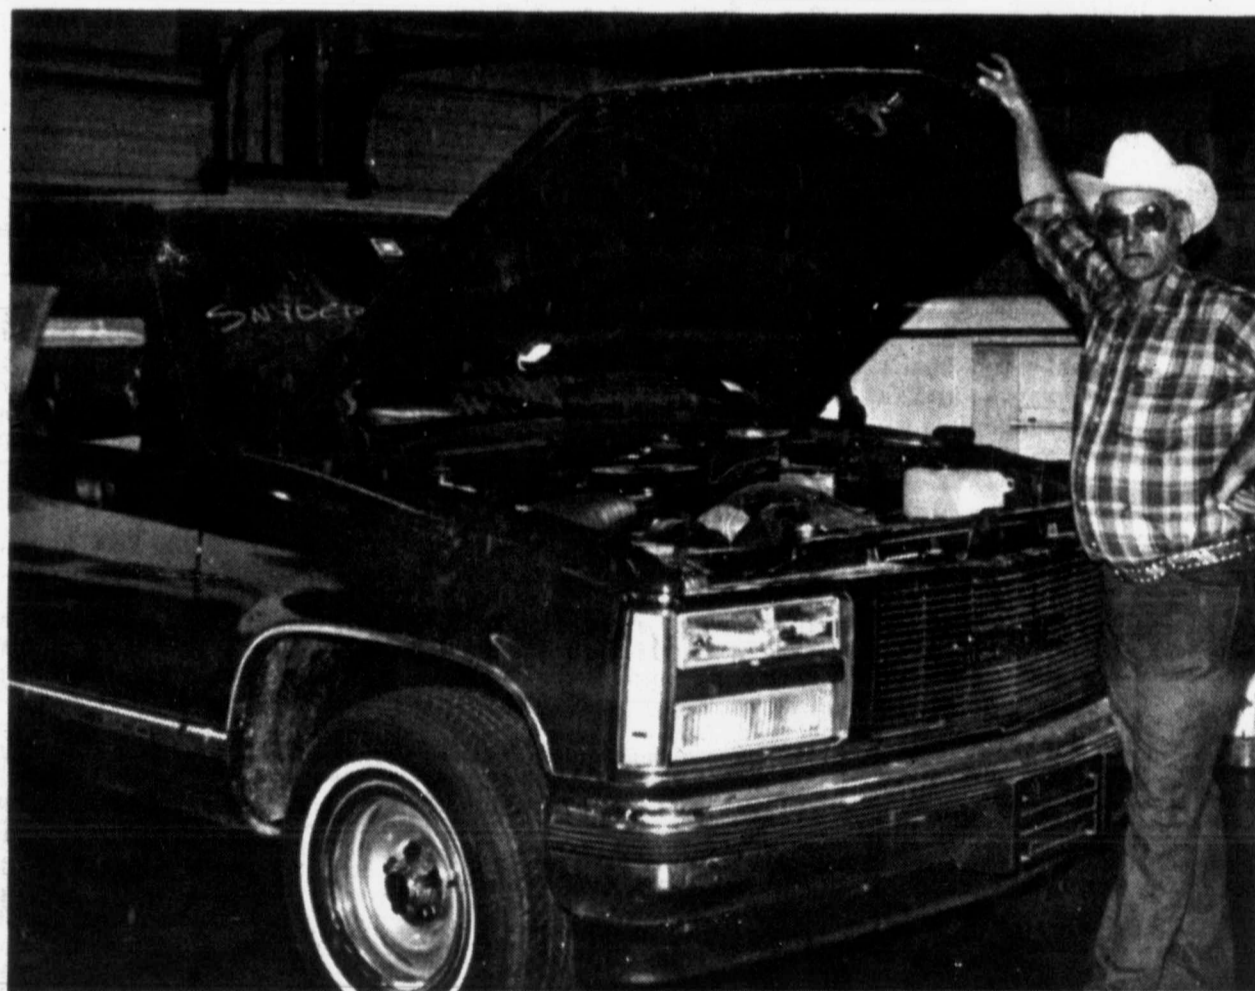

Gayle said he anticipated no new personnel in 1991, but recommended realignment of job classifications for the director of finance, building inspector and code enforcement officer.

The current tax rate is .3594 cents per $100 valuation, and the city is awaiting calculation of the city's effective tax rate. Based on May 11 estimates, which showed the city losing about $12 million or 5.06 percent in tax values, the effective tax rate would be .3645 cents.

The city council has scheduled another meeting for budget study next Monday at 6:30 p.m. The budget is expected to be approved on first reading on Aug. 6.

Present for the meeting were Mayor Troy Williamson and council members Paul Zeck, Joe Coronado, Vernest Tippens and Mike Thornton. Not present were Jack Denman and Jackie Greene.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Marriage is either the beginning of a beautiful friendship, or the end of one."

Soon after the matrimonial woes of Donald and Ivana Trump became public, everybody turned their people watching to the rich and famous trying to see who holds the trump card.

We did learn, however, why the jilted Ivana is unable to squeak by on her prenuptial agreement of $25 million. Her lifestyle just won't allow her to live on such a scant sum.

Her upkeep includes $75 a month for hairstyling, and exfoliating body peels require $55 per month along with $60 for facials.

Daily massages are $50 and a Retin-A prescription to ward off wrinkles is $49 each time it's filled. Fake nails amount to $75 per month and she requires two sets of contact lenses at $225 per pair.

A personal trainer (whatever that is) is paid $100 three times a week. She denies having a surgical makeover, but close observers say weekly hydrating treatments take another $65 and an annual skin peel costs $495.

For recreation, a week on the slopes in Aspen for herself, the kids and the nannies is another $20,000. This does not include airfare and a security guard who makes $60,000 a year.

She also has an expensive estate in Florida which requires a nifty sum for upkeep.

Ivana's black poodle has a monthly grooming fee of $100. It's a dog's life.

The Trump affair has made both genders philosophical. The husband says that marriage is the price men pay for sex. The wife says sex is the price women pay for marriage.

Paying alimony is like having the TV set on after you've fallen asleep.

Chamber discusses fireworks quality

Snyder Chamber of Commerce Director Bill Moss told the chamber board in its regular July meeting Monday that a shipping error may be responsible for complaints received by the chamber concerning the quality of the fireworks at the annual Fourth of July Celebration.

Moss informed the group that a representative from the fireworks company said that because of a shipping error, the chamber did not receive the 349-piece finale to the fireworks display. The representative assured Moss that the chamber would not be billed for the items and promised an upgraded show next year.

As a whole, Moss called the Fourth of July festivities "a success" and said that with the help of Norma Miller, who organized the sale of novelty items, $1,000 was raised to help defray fireworks expenses.

The chamber's executive committee met in executive session prior to the directors meeting to discuss chamber personnel problems brought up in the chamber's tourism and retirement committee meeting last Thursday. According to chamber president Fran Farmer, the directors heard complaints and will further look at the situation before any action is taken.

Larry Schwartz was appointed chairman of the agri-business committee in an effort to revive committee activity.

In his report to the directors, Moss said that the economic development committee had been busy with the city's upcoming vote on a half cent sales tax. Moss also said that members of the committee had traveled to Austin to lobby for Lamesa's bid for a 1,000 bed prison unit. He noted that Lamesa's successful bid would benefit Snyder in "many, many ways."

Moss also said that a representative from Abilene Christian University's small business development center will be in Snyder twice a month starting in September to assist area small business owners. He also announced that Joe Newman of the State Comptroller's office will be in Snyder Aug. 24 to discuss sales taxes for the purpose of economic development.

Moss reported that finalized plans for the AJRA National Finals Rodeo are underway and that the event's program has 70 additional advertising pages compared to last year's program.

Directors discussed forming a city beautification committee and then adjourned.

Q. — Who owns Varsity Square Shopping Center?

A. — The center is owned by a group of investors in Arizona, but it is managed by Gulf States Management Co. of Houston. Their telephone number is 1-800-999-4576.

In Brief

Fatal accident

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Any driver's decision to try to beat an oncoming train at an intersection is "sheer stupidity," an Amarillo police investigator said in the wake of a train-car collision that killed two girls and critically injured one man.

Police said Monday they still hadn't determined who was driving the car that went around crossarms at a rail crossing during the weekend. The accident just before midnight Saturday killed Debbie Bright, 15, of Amarillo and Christy Michelle Moore, 13, also of Amarillo.

Sold for scrap

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — A Norwegian tanker that exploded and burned in the Gulf of Mexico last month has been sold for scrap to a German steel mill, a Houston attorney said.

The 886-foot Mega Borg, which threatened to break up and spew 38 million gallons of crude into the Gulf, was sold for about $2.4 million, attorney Robert Klawetter said Monday. He said the buyers' identities have not been disclosed and that the sale was arranged through a ship broker in Gibraltar.

Penry trial

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A jury was to begin considering the fate of a retarded man convicted in the October 1979 rape-slaying of an East Texas housewife.

Closing arguments on punishment were heard Monday in the capital murder trial of Johnny Paul Penry, 34, who was convicted for a second time July 9 for raping and murdering Pamela Moseley Carpenter, 22.

Redistricting changes loom

AUSTIN (AP) — The chairman of the state Senate's redistricting panel has a warning for elected officials as the Legislature prepares to redraw political districts in 1991: no one is safe.

Over the past decade, Texas' population has grown by about 20 percent, double the national average, but growth has not been even. While 15 of Texas' 254 counties grew by 50 percent or more, 108 counties lost population.

Legislators whose districts grew in population by exactly 20 percent may think their lines won't change, said Sen. Bob Glasgow.

"If they're operating by that criteria, they're going to be really shocked," he said. That's because the ripple effect caused by population loss or gain in adjacent areas can cause the lines to move.

As population increased in South and Central Texas and in the suburbs, it decreased in East and West Texas and in central cities.

This has caused wide variations in the populations of political districts in Texas.

Redistricting is done every 10 years, after the federal census, to correct such imbalances. In Texas, the Legislature will redraw districts for congressional seats, for the Texas House and Senate and for the State Board of Education.

If the Legislature fails to redistrict itself during the first regular session after census data becomes available, the task falls to a board composed of the House speaker, lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller and land commissioner.

Under the federal Voting Rights Act, redistricting plans must be approved by the U.S. Justice Department. They can be challenged in court.

Glasgow, D-Stephenville, said in 1991 redrawing political districts could be more complicated than ever before. But it also could be more open.

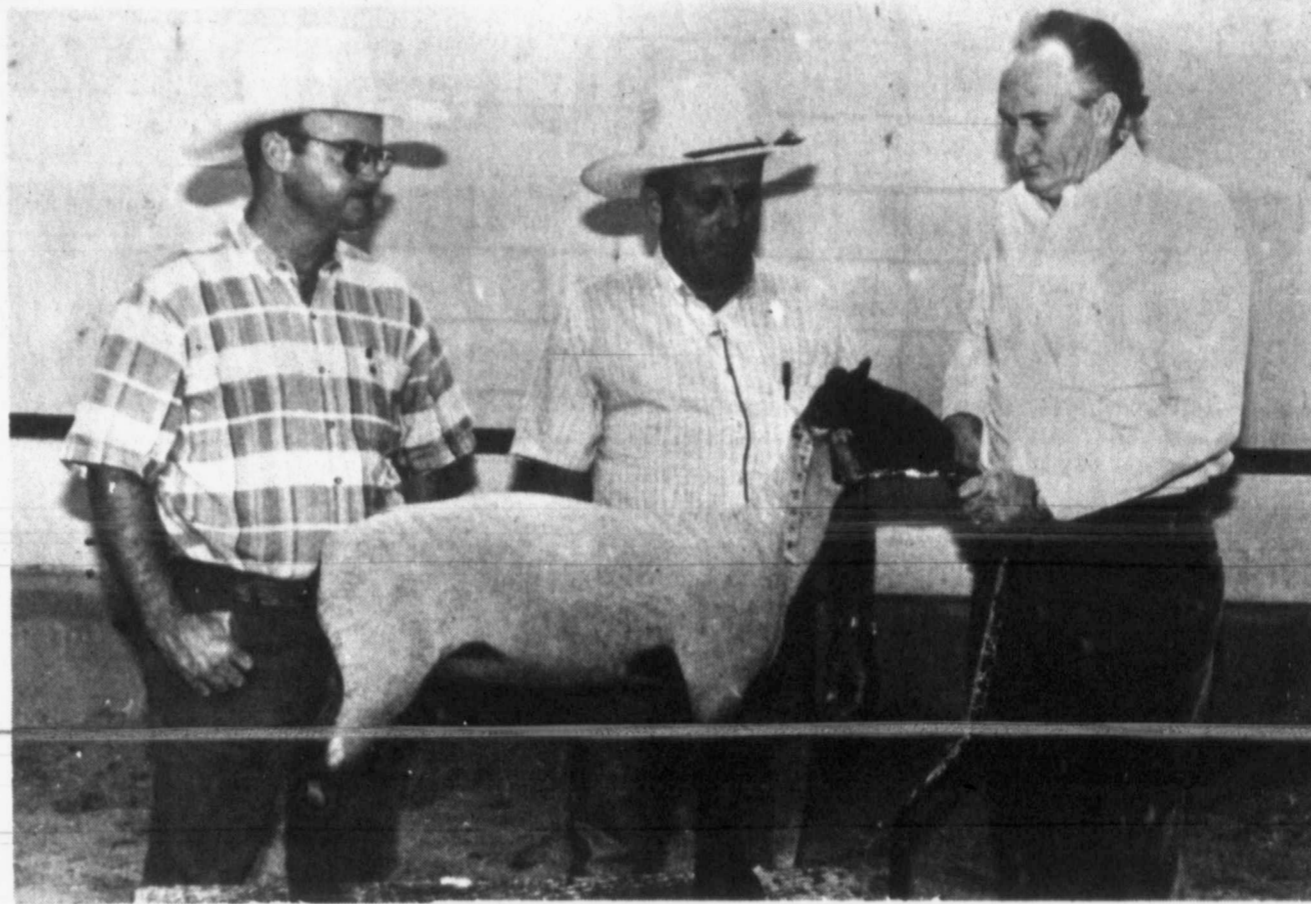

Not only are state and federal courts looking over the Legislature's shoulder, but computers can quickly calculate the demographic effects of moving a district's lines. This has given more people a voice.

In 1981, "if you wanted to draw a plan, you went down to the Legislative Council and they said, 'Yeah, we can get you a plan in three or four weeks,'" Glasgow said.

Now the information is available within hours.

Glasgow said it will be possible for many computer terminals to have access to redistricting data. He wants to ensure that every senator has a staff member trained in operating the computer.

To get ideas from public officials and private citizens, Glasgow and state Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, chairman of House redistricting, are holding hearings around the state. They will conclude in Austin in early September, Glasgow said.

New astronauts optimistic about the future of NASA

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A new astronaut expected to become NASA's first female shuttle commander said she welcomes the Bush administration's scrutiny of the beleaguered agency.

The administration on Monday ordered a review by outside experts of the nation's long-term space goals, the same day the astronaut candidate class of 1990 reported to work for the first time.

NASA has endured a spate of recent embarrassments, including trouble with the $1.5 billion Hubble Space Telescope and hydrogen leaks that have grounded the space shuttle fleet.

Air Force Maj. Eileen Collins, NASA's first female astronaut pilot, said she is not unnerved by problems with sophisticated machines.

"There are high points and low points in any airplane or weapon system," Ms. Collins said. "You learn to get through the bad times."

"If our president feels it's something that needs to be done, it needs to be done," she said.

If all goes according to plan, Ms. Collins would become the first woman to command a shuttle mission. She said she hopes to be flying shuttle missions to help construct the planned space station Freedom.

Ms. Collins was among 23 new astronauts selected earlier this year from among more than 2,000 applicants.

The new astronauts talked to reporters Monday, and several of them expressed confidence that NASA will solve its problems and soon get its shuttles back in flight.

"They'll fix the shuttles. I don't have any doubts about that at all," said Marine Corp. Maj. Terrence Wilcutt, one of seven pilot candidates.

"It's very prudent to shut down the shuttle system until they fully understand the problem," said Dr. David Wolf, a mission specialist candidate.

The candidates will become full-fledged astronauts a year from now, after undergoing advanced training and evaluation. In the history of the program, only one candidate has dropped out during this last leg, officials said.

An assignment on a space shuttle would probably take at least two years after that.

Besides the seven pilots, the 1990 class includes 16 mission specialists. Eleven of the 23 are civilians and 12 are military pilots.

Of the five women selected, three are military officers, including Ms. Collins. The class also includes Ellen Ochoa, of Los Altos, Calif., the first Hispanic woman to be selected.

Navy Capt. Dan Brandenstein, head of the astronaut corps, said he thought the outside review was unnecessary.

"But if it answers some questions and puts some people's concerns at ease, then it's probably the right thing to do," he said.

New bill criticized by PETA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's most outspoken group on behalf of animals has spoken out on Rep. Charles Stenholm's proposal to make it a federal crime to steal from farmplots and research labs.

They don't like it. Ingrid Newkirk, director of People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, said Monday that Stenholm's proposal hurts whistleblowers and violates the First Amendment.

A bill by Stenholm, D-Stamford, making theft of animals punishable by up to three years in prison and a $10,000 fine, was scheduled for hearing by a House agriculture panel today.

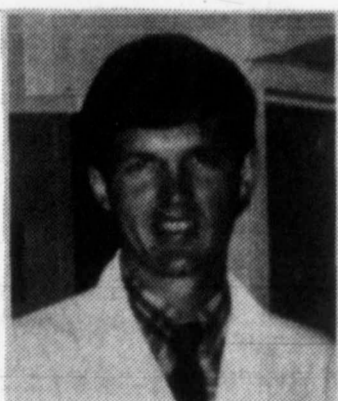

Stenholm became active in the debate over animal research rights after activists last July stole research animals from a laboratory at Texas Tech.

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My wife was diagnosed one year ago with reflex sympathetic dystrophy in her left arm and on the left side of her face. The symptoms appeared immediately after gallbladder surgery. She's been receiving treatment in a pain-control center of a teaching hospital — usually nerve blocks and oral medication. Nothing seems to work. What can you tell us about this disease that will help us find further treatment or a support group that can allow her to live with chronic pain?

DEAR READER: Reflex sympathetic dystrophy is an unusual neurological affliction following injury to bone or soft tissues, marked by pain, sweating and vascular flushing over a part of the body. The cause is believed to be reflex injury to autonomic nerves (those not under conscious control). RSD may progress to shriveling of affected muscles, stiff joints and loss of hair. Because the relation between the injury and the pain is often unclear, treatment is difficult.

Nerve blocks and analgesics often help, but some patients are resistant to most therapy. Your wife could be helped by physical therapy (to prevent weakness and joint contrac-tures), acupuncture or hypnosis. She should ask the staff at the pain clinic for advice about support groups in your community.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Managing Chronic Pain." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Last winter, I had numerous nosebleeds without warning. An ENT specialist couldn't find a problem. X-rays and a CT scan were negative. Could our wood-burning fireplace, which runs often, be the culprit?

DEAR READER: Most nosebleeds are due to thinning, dryness or injury to the delicate lining of the nostrils, especially in the area of the septum, which separates the nostrils. In winter, the dry, cold air will dehydrate the nasal lining, causing cracking and bleeding that may be worsened by home heating with wood. Also, upper respiratory viral infections are more prevalent during the winter and can contribute to nasal congestion and to nosebleeds.

Most nosebleeds are easily treated with direct pressure (pinching the nostrils together) and decongestant nose sprays, such as Neo-Synephrine. Caution (burning the bleeding blood vessel) may be necessary in severe or resistant cases.

Astrograph
by Bernice Bede Osol
Your Birthday

July 18, 1990

In the year ahead you should be able to notice a continuous improvement in several matters that are of considerable importance to you. Be content with your progress instead of trying to accelerate the pace.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be logical and practical in your commercial dealings today, but by the same token, don't discount your hunches. Your inner voice may convey information to you unavailable elsewhere. Cancer, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) One way to guarantee friends will have nice things to say about you is to talk them up in front of others. However, don't use flattery, be sincere.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In career involvements today the race will go to the smart and not necessarily the swift. Use your head so you can be numbered among the winners.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) People who aren't tuned into your wavelength could prove to be rather boring today. Try to associate with companions whose thinking and interests parallels yours.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Timing is extremely important today, especially if you are trying to sell or promote something financially beneficial to you. Don't make your pitch until you have your prospect's complete attention.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Get as much feedback as possible from associates today if you have to make an important decision. The input of others could reveal aspects you've overlooked.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is a good day to talk to your boss about some changes you would like to make you feel could help the operation. Your boss should be receptive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) "Judge not lest ye be judged" is a good adage to keep in mind today when dealing with others on a one-to-one basis. Associates will emulate your behavior.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today if you get involved in a serious discussion with another the debate won't be won by the person who gets in the last word. Instead it will be graded on the quality of the comments.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're an extremely effective communicator today, but don't waste your time on idle chatter. Use your skills to get your points across to those who can help advance your present interests.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone who has your best interest at heart could be of help to you today by showing you a procedure to strengthen your financial position. Listen to this person's suggestions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your possibilities for personal gains look good today, but don't expect to be a millionaire overnight. Be grateful for profitable developments even though they might be small.

Cocker, Benatar to give concert

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Rock 'n' roller Joe Cocker, who lives less than a mile from neighborhoods ravaged by a June fire that destroyed more than 400 homes, will give a benefit performance for fire victims with Pat Benatar.

The "With a Little Help For Our Friends" concert is scheduled for July 31 at the Santa Barbara County Bowl.

"Many of my neighbors and friends, people I have known for years, have been hurt by this tragedy," Cocker said Monday.

One person was killed in the blaze.

ABWA elects new officers

Scurry Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association met at Marth Ann Woman's Club with Jessie Scarbrough as hostess. There were 17 members present as Debra Rogers led the group in the invocation.

Barbara Scrivner, president, called the meeting to order and introduced Ruby Deavers, a Snyder Drug employee for several years. Deavers told the group that Snyder Drug is a Western Union station; is a post office sub-station, pharmacy and gift shop. In addition they offer day photo service and window and delivery service for prescriptions. Deavers is in charge of buying wrapping paper and bows.

Irene Brooks, MAWC member, informed the group of game day. The club elected new officers. They are Carol Young, president; Jessie Scarbrough, vice president; Leona Wiggins, secretary; and Genetha Payne, treasurer.

The chapter made a memorial in the name of Clara Mae Noah to MAWC. Pat Faver dismissed the group with the benediction.

COLLECTION OF CHLORDIMEFORM

The Texas Department of Agriculture and two chemical manufacturers will collect leftover supplies of the banned pesticide chlordimeform at eight sites in late July announced Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower.

This is a free collection to get rid of this banned chemical. Names and addresses will not be necessary. Farmers with unopened containers of the pesticide will be refunded by the manufacturers.

Chlordimeform, known by the trade names Galecron and Fundal, was banned by the Environmental Protection Agency in 1989 at the request of its manufacturers. EPA considers it a possible carcinogen. Its use, which was for the control of budworms and bollworms in cotton, is no longer legal.

TDA, in cooperation with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, has picked collection sites in Pecos, Lamesa, Veribest, Taylor, Burleson County, El Campo, Robstown and Weslaco. Some site locations at collection times are:

— July 18; Lamesa; 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Hughes Fertilizer on North 22nd, 1/8 of a mile west of intersection of U.S. Hwy. 87 and 22nd St.

— July 20; Veribest; 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Veribest Ag Supply, 8 miles east of San Angelo on FM 380.

Because of the cooperation from Ciba-Geigy and Nor-Am corporations, the pesticide can be returned to the manufacturers, who will handle the disposal.

All Chlordimeform should be kept in its original container. If the original container has deteriorated, producers should call John Stone of Ciba-Geigy at 800-334-9481. Producers who bring the pesticide in unopened containers will be immediately reimbursed.

No other pesticides should be brought to the collection sites.

The collection program is a cooperative effort of TDA, the extension service, the Texas Water Commission, the Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations and the two chemical companies.

Producers with large quantities should call TDA's Leslie Smith at 800-832-7347 with the amount of the chemical and the disposal site they intend to use, to be sure adequate disposal containers are available.

Now declarer is set whenever West holds the diamond ace. So declarer should take the first trick. Then he forces out the ace of diamonds. East and West cannot put their heart tricks together, and declarer easily makes nine tricks. (He makes an overtrick if he is foolish enough to take the spade finesse.)

It is only fair to mention that some West players, holding K-Q-J-x-x of hearts, might lead a low heart, particularly if they held the diamond ace for an entry. They would expect to find four hearts in the North hand since North looked for a major-suit fit before bidding three no-trump. In that situation, West's best chance to beat game might be to find East with the 10 of hearts or even the nine.

Pyrex outnumbers phones in homes

CORNING, N.Y. (AP) — More American homes have Pyrex bakeware than telephones.

According to Corning Inc., maker of the ovenproof glassware, 97 percent of the nation's kitchens have at least one piece, while only 92 percent of the households have a telephone.

Some 33.5 million pieces of Pyrex bakeware, including mixing bowls, measuring cups, casseroles and cake and pie pans, were sold in the United States last year.

Pyrex, celebrating its 75th anniversary, began as Nonex, a glass resistant to temperature change that could be used for railroad lantern globes. A Corning research chemist eventually discovered that the glass absorbed heat, unlike metals that reflect it. He reasoned that it would be ideal for cooking. Today's Pyrex has changed little, but kitchen uses have expanded to include oven door panels, percolator tops and coffee urn liners.

Pyrex also is found in research laboratories as microscope slides, glass beakers and test tubes and as standard insulation material for all radio equipment. It was used for windows on the Apollo and Gemini space capsules and the base of the mirror on the Hale Telescope on Mt. Palomar near San Diego.

Key decision at trick one

By James Jacoby

Should South take the ace of hearts right away, or is it better to hold up for one round? Declarer's play is immaterial if the suit is divided 4-3 between the defenders' hands. Whatever South does, he will still make nine tricks and his contract. But declarer must make his best play based on the likelihood that opening leader West began with five hearts.

If West has led from a five-card heart suit, it is extremely unlikely that he held the K-Q-J and led a low card. When he has other five-card holdings, it is clear that East holds the nine and one honor. If declarer ducks at trick one, East will continue with the jack.

A's sign Van Poppel

DALLAS (AP) — University of Texas head baseball coach Cliff Gustafson says major league teams make it impossible for high school superstars to choose college over the pros.

"Anytime you're dealing with the prospects of a Todd Van Poppel going to college instead of the pros, you're taking a risk," Gustafson said. "The pros can just keep upping the ante until it's impossible for him to turn it down."

Van Poppel, 18, of suburban Arlington, agreed to a $1.2 million, three-year package with the Oakland Athletics Monday that included a $600,000 signing bonus.

Thirteen other teams passed on the high school senior, who was regarded as the top prospect of the June draft, because he had openly expressed a desire to play baseball for the Longhorns.

Van Poppel had said his goals were to play in the College World Series and the 1992 Olympics.

But the A's drafted him anyway with the No. 14 pick, and then persuaded him to skip college and sign.

"I think Oakland should be commended for the way they signed him," Gustafson said. "They weren't pushy and I don't think the money came up until this past weekend."

Van Poppel's guaranteed three-year major-league contract is the longest ever for a draft pick. He will report to the A's Class A Medford, Ore., team on Wednesday.

Texas Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds, who said he hadn't heard about Van Poppel's decision until a reporter telephoned his home Monday night, said the school will certainly miss the phenom.

"He made the right decision," said Deron Gustafson, who has been an assistant coach with his father's team for seven years.

"There's no doubt about it. I would certainly tell my kids to sign for that kind of money."

Local LL All-Stars to play Wednesday

HAMLIN — Recent rains forced the postponement of Monday's elimination game between Colorado City and Sweetwater in the Area II Little League All-Stars Tournament here.

The winner of the C-City-Sweetwater tilt will face an undefeated Snyder team for the tourney championship and a berth in the next leg of area competition in Abilene.

Snyder was to have played for the crown tonight at 7:30 but wet weather forced the tournament's remaining games to be pushed back at least one day.

Sweetwater and Colorado City are scheduled to play tonight at 7:30, weather permitting, with the winner coming back tomorrow to face Snyder's All-Stars.

Snyder moved into the title game with an opening round bye, an 11-4 win over host Hamlin in the second round and a 7-5 victory over Colorado City Saturday.

Snyder pitchers Lee Idom and Jeremy House each have a win in the event and power-hitting outfielder Wayne Brazier has batted three homers, two against Colorado City, and accounted for six RBI in two games.

Colorado City and Sweetwater each have one loss in the double elimination tournament with Sweetwater's coming at the hands of Colorado City, 3-1, in the first round.

A loss by Snyder in Wednesday's matchup would force a second game Thursday for the title.

Exams are needed by student-athletes

All Snyder public schools students in grades 7 through 12 who are planning to participate on any University Interscholastic League athletic team must fill out a UIL form and may need to take a physical, Steve Krueger, high school athletic trainer, has stressed.

Students who need to take a physical include the following:

—All incoming seventh graders who plan to participate in Snyder Junior High athletics.

—All incoming ninth graders who plan to participate in Snyder High School athletics.

—All students new to Snyder ISD who plan to participate in athletics.

—Student who answered "yes" to questions 1,4,5,6 or 7 on their medical history form.

—Any student who has not participated in Snyder ISD athletics but plans to do so in the 1990-91 school year.

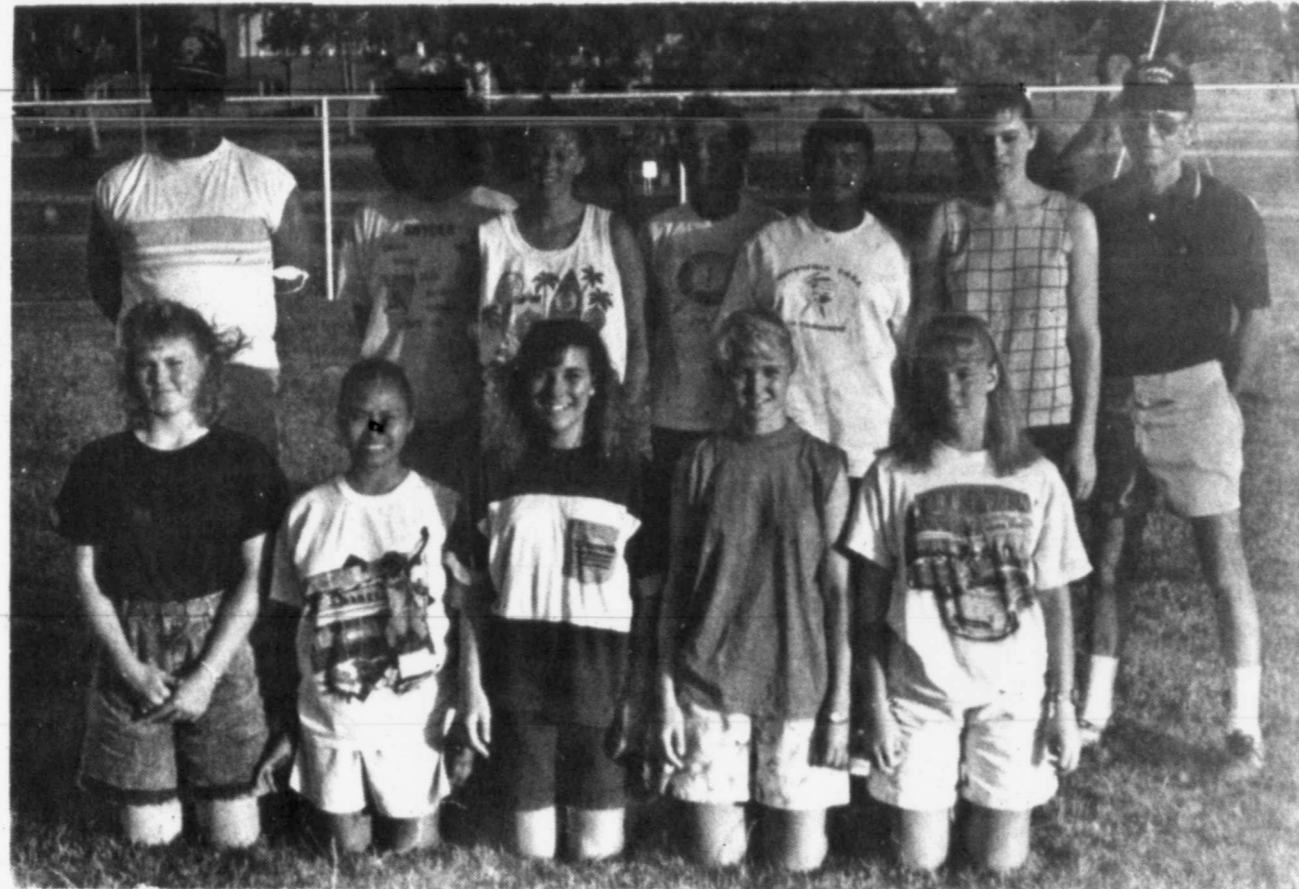

The school district will pay for school physicals through Aug. 15 only. Anyone needing a physical should contact one of the following physicians and schedule an appointment: Dr. Brice, 573-8594; Dr. Burleson, 573-4926; Dr. Cooper, 573-1111; Dr. Pierce, 573-5412; or Dr. Thompson, 573-3591.

All forms should be completed prior to the physical. Doctors cannot give a physical without a parent signature on the forms.

Forms must be filled out by all students planning to participate in athletics, whether or not they need a physical. The forms are available at the high school office and the high school field house. They should be returned to coaches, the athletic director's office or to Krueger.

HEADED FOR THE FINALS — Snyder's girls' softball Division IV All-Stars are playing in today's finals in their area tournament in Midland. The team was 2-1 in pool play to earn a spot in the championship. Snyder also had teams from Divisions I, II and III in the tourney with each holding a winning record following Monday's completion of pool play. Division I girls held a 3-2 slate while Division II and III All-Stars were undefeated after

BALTIMORE (AP) — It seems that Phil Bradley simply can't do anything wrong these days.

Bradley twice failed to lay down an important sacrifice bunt in the ninth inning of the Baltimore Orioles' game against the Texas Rangers Monday night. So, forced to swing away, he delivered the game-tying single.

Two batters later, Mickey Tettleton coaxed a bases-loaded walk from Brad Arnsberg to give Baltimore a 7-6 victory.

Cal Ripken, meanwhile, added another major league record to his expanding list, handling his 385th consecutive errorless chance at shortstop. That broke the mark of 383 set by John Kerr with the New York Giants in 1946-

47. Ripken is three games shy of equalling Kevin Elster's major league record of 88 straight errorless games at shortstop, set in 1987-88 with the Mets.

Since returning from the disabled list on Friday, Bradley is 6-for-20 with two game-winning hits. He had a three-run homer Monday and has driven in nine runs in five games.

His task in the ninth inning was to sacrifice, but he twice fouled the ball out of play.

"You get three strikes in this game, thank goodness," said Bradley. "Luckily, I was able to get a good pitch to hit with two strikes."

Portugal lifts Atros past slumping Mets

HOUSTON (AP) — Mark Portugal gave the slumping New York Mets the second verse of the song they played in Cincinnati—three hits, one run.

Portugal allowed three hits, one run and retired 16 batters in a row over 6 2-3 innings Monday night with a season high seven strikeouts, leading Houston to a 4-1 victory.

The Mets, who have lost four of their last six games, also scratched out three hits and one run in their final game against the Reds before coming to Houston.

"I'm not panicking, but I'm wondering what's going on," Mets manager Bud Harrelson said. "Three hits and one run in two games, I think the players know they're going to have to press the issue."

While the Mets searched for a solution to their slow start after the All-Star break, Portugal revealed in his recent surge.

"I came in from the bull pen and I felt like it was going to be a good outing," Portugal (4-8) said. "Then after the first inning I had to kick myself and told myself I wasn't going to let it go to waste."

Gregg Jefferies hit his 11th homer of the season over the right field fence and Darryl Strawberry followed with a single to right in the first inning.

That's when Portugal started his string of retiring 16 batters in a row that lasted until Jefferies led off the seventh with a single.

Portugal walked the next two batters to load the bases and then got a double play to ease the pressure.

Manager Art Howe replaced Portugal with Juan Agosto, who walked pinchhitter Tim Teufel to load the bases again. Larry Andersen came on to retire pinchhitter Macky Sasser to end the inning.

"It was a great outing for Mark," Howe said. "The Mets were hard on him in Shea Stadium."

It was Portugal's first career victory over the Mets and he wasn't ready to leave the game.

"I'm sure he wasn't pleased but I have to do what's best for the team," Howe said. "It worked out for the best."

The Astros took the lead in the second inning when Ken Caminiti led off with a single to deep second base and scored on Craig Biggio's triple to right field.

Franklin Stubbs' sacrifice roller toward first base scored Biggio with the go-ahead run.

Casey Candaele tripled to center field in the third and scored on Javier Ortiz's single.

Candaele got an infield hit and went to third on Ortiz's single to center field in the seventh and scored on Ron Darling's wild pitch.

Rookie Dave Rohde had his first career three-hit game with a pair of singles and a double.

"I'm very pleased, it's does a lot for my confidence," said Rohde, used in platoon situations since being recalled from Class AAA Tucson. "To sit is real tough. It's hard to keep up any kind of consistency when all you see is bull pen pitching."

Truly says shuttles will be flying again by September

WASHINGTON (AP) — NASA Administrator Richard Truly predicted today that space shuttle flights will resume by the end of September now that scientists have identified unrelated hydrogen leaks on two of the vehicles.

"We were afraid that we had what we call a generic problem, something we had overlooked that might really be a dangerous situation that would have a long-term effect," Truly said on ABC's "Good Morning America."

"As it turned out, it was just the terrible coincidence of two separate, specific leaks. We have found them both and now, since it did involve two orbiters and two payloads, we're now just looking at schedules to see what is the most effective way to get back to flight."

He said a new flight schedule probably will be announced later today or tomorrow, and predicted that flights will resume by mid-August or the first of September.

"The system didn't go down for three years like it did after Challenger, it went down for three or four weeks," he said.

NASA grounded the space shuttle fleet after a hydrogen leak was found in Columbia in May and another leak was found on Atlantis last month. Columbia, which had been poised for launch on an astronomy mission, was rolled back to the hanger and partially dismantled. The part that was leaking has now been replaced. Atlantis remains on the pad and NASA officials said its leak may be repaired without taking the shuttle back to the hanger.

Truly acknowledged that problems with the shuttle and the Hubble telescope could prompt the public to question NASA's competence, but said a management review panel announced Monday is intended to look at long-range plans rather than second-guess recent problems.

He said Vice President Dan Quayle "fully understands that these recent events have been separate events that didn't have anything to do with each other."

"What we talked about most was the future, where we're going in future years and how a NASA of the future might be structured and how we could get advice on where it would move to," said Truly. "We agreed to do something we both thought was the right thing to do and that is get in a few people that have some real top experience in both government and industry management and report to me and take a look at where we might go in the future."

However, the Bush administration's decision to have an outside panel study the nation's long-term space goals is getting a cool reception from some lawmakers.

"After a weekend of rumors that the administration was going to ask some fundamental questions about NASA, we now find it will create yet another group," said Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., chairman of a subcommittee that oversees the space program.

The panel, which is being appointed in response to a spate of recent embarrassments to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, will report to Quayle, head of the National Space Council.

"Is it too much to ask that in the wake of these multiple mistakes that President Bush should do what President Reagan did not do after the Challenger tragedy — give personal attention to the problems at NASA," Gore said.

Rep. Michael Andrews, D-Texas, also said strong leadership, not another study, is needed to solve the problems in the space program.

Sen. Barbara Mikulski, D-Md., chairwoman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee that has oversight responsibility for NASA, summoned Truly and former space agency Administrator James Beggs to a hearing Wednesday.

NASA needs congressional support to continue the $32 billion space station scheduled for a critical design review this year, a planned Earth study called "Mission to Planet Earth," and the president's announced goal of a permanent manned base on the moon and an expedition to Mars.

Two-vehicle mishap Tuesday sends Snyder man to hospital

A two-vehicle accident shortly before 7 a.m. Tuesday sent one Snyder man to Cogdell Hospital emergency room for treatment.

The mishap was reported at 6:47 a.m. in the 400 Block of College Ave.

Involved was a 1969 Chevrolet driven by James Fredrick DeFreese of 709 32nd St. and a 1977 Chevrolet driven by Juan Palos Sifuentes of Rt. 3, Snyder.

Treated Tuesday morning for a knee injury in the hospital emergency room was 44-year-old Leon Gutierrez of 1101 30th St. He was a passenger in the vehicle driven by DeFreese who refused medical treatment.

Sifuentes was traveling south on College Ave. and DeFreese was turning into Town and Country Food Store when the accident occurred.

One minor mishap occurred Monday morning in the 1200 Block of 25th St. Involved was a 1987 Grumman mail truck driven by Samuel Crenshaw of Colorado City which struck a parked 1983 Chevrolet owned by Hilton Ward of 3700 Muriel.

At 3:43 p.m. Monday, an employee of Line and Line Oil Co. reported the theft of two 14-inch Dean tires from the firm's storage area.

At 4:47 p.m., Juan Gutierrez reported that someone had broken into a vacant rent house at 412 30th St.

At 8:55 p.m., officers were called to Wal-Mart where a 19-year-old male was arrested for Class C theft, shoplifting.

At 10:06 p.m., city officers responded to a reported fight at the Plaza Cafe on U.S. 84. Officers arrested a 30-year-old male for public intoxication.

At 12:01 a.m., a reckless driver was reported in the 1000 Block of 28th St., and police were called to Cogdell Hospital to check on a report of a woman sleeping in the lobby. When officers arrived, the woman had already left.

Pennzoil to invest in Chevron shares

HOUSTON (AP) — Pennzoil Co. has announced that it will invest the remaining $480 million from its $2.6 billion Texaco lawsuit in additional Chevron shares.

The investment would give Pennzoil just under 10 percent of Chevron's stock, Pennzoil officials said Monday.

In a letter written to Pennzoil shareholders and filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission Monday, Pennzoil also griped openly for the first time about how Chevron management is running the company.

Chevron declined to comment on Pennzoil's latest statement of intentions Monday.

The San Francisco oil giant has been fighting Houston-based Pennzoil since last year, when Pennzoil used its Texaco spoils to accumulate 8.8 percent of Chevron's stock. Chevron filed suit, claiming Pennzoil lied when it said it was buying the stock for investment purposes only.

Pennzoil said Monday it does not currently plan to acquire 10 percent or more of Chevron, a larger stake would trigger Chevron's "poison pill."

2 accused drug smugglers extradited

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — In a move sure to anger cocaine bosses, the Colombian government has extradited to the United States two more men accused of drug trafficking, one a native Texan, police say.

Both were sent to the United States on Monday night, bringing to 19 the number of suspects extradited since August, when the government declared war on cocaine traffickers.

President-elect Cesar Gaviria promised Monday to fight poverty in Medellin slums, where drug traffickers are hiring teen-agers as assassins in their war to stop extraditions, the fate they fear most.

The Texas native extradited was identified as Eduard George Mitchell, a U.S. citizen wanted on drug smuggling charges in Wisconsin. The other suspect, Jose Gil Zapata, is a Colombian charged in a Florida court with cocaine trafficking, a police spokesman said in a telephone interview.

Gil Zapata was arrested on Jan. 15 in Medellin, headquarters of the Medellin cocaine cartel, the spokesman said.

Mitchell, 44, was arrested in northern Colombia on Jan. 22. No other details were given on the arrests. Eleven other drug smuggling suspects are still in Colombian jails awaiting extradition to the United States.

Two Baptist Press editors walk out of closed meeting

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Two Baptist Press editors today walked out of an early morning subcommittee meeting after they learned it was a closed meeting.

A lawyer for Alvin C. Shackleford and Dan Martin said today his clients were told they could respond at the meeting to the charges of biased reporting which resulted in requests that they resign their jobs at the Southern Baptist Convention's news agency.

But attorney Frank Ingraham said his clients were unaware at the time that the subcommittee meeting was closed to the general public and the press.

After they learned the meeting was closed, he said Shackleford and Martin said that, as journalists, that they felt they should not participate in a secret meeting. He said that, as employees of the SBC, the two editors did submit their written responses and then left the meeting.

Fundamentalists claim Shackleford and Martin have been unfair to their part of the 14.9 million member SBC and have needlessly emphasized political controversy within the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

SBC fundamentalists were expected to flex their majority muscle later today when the full Executive Committee considers the dismissal of the two editors of the Baptist Press, the denomination's news agency. The committee members will have to vote on whether the meeting should be open or closed.

Fundamentalists, who believe in a strict interpretation of the Bible, and moderates have been involved in a power struggle for control of the nation's largest Protestant denomination since 1979.

The fundamentalists appeared to have gained the upper hand last month in New Orleans when the Rev. Morris Chapman of Wichita Falls, Texas, was installed as president of the SBC.

Within hours of Chapman's taking office, fundamentalists began to press for the removal of Shackleford, director of the Baptist Press, and Martin, the agency's news editor.

Shackleford, 58, and Martin, 51, have refused to resign and have asked for time to be heard by the 77-member Executive Committee. Shackleford has said the struggle is as simple, and important, as free speech.

"We are basically asking for a right to focus on the real issue, and that is the Baptist right to know," Shackleford said. Critics say the news service has become biased in favor of moderates.

"It (the meeting) will be too short for a broad ranging discussion of the role and function of a new service," Martin said on Monday. "They (fundamentalists) are saying we are biased and are not presenting their viewpoint fairly."

"No one has told me what their criticisms are directly. They have criticized us on some stories. Last year, we ran 1,298 stories and there was criticism of less than 10 stories."

Launching commercial satellites said risky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imagine you paid a company to move your belongings from California to New York. In Kansas, the truck breaks down. You end up paying someone else to haul your stuff the rest of the way — but it takes another couple of years.

To add insult to injury, the first mover goes to court to forestall any attempt to get your money back.

Farfetched? Well, that's about what is happening in the nervous, competitive, megabucks business of launching satellites for profit. And the moving company in this case — the giant Martin Marietta Corp. — claims it may have to get out of the commercial launching business if it loses in court.

Martin Marietta is one of only three major American companies in that infant of private enterprise and the only one lifting the heaviest satellites. Should Martin Marietta's prediction come true, the European consortium Arianespace, the Chinese, the Soviets — and someday the Japanese — all will be waiting, rockets at the ready.

Here is what happened:

For $111.5 million, Martin Marietta agreed to launch a satellite for Intelsat, the international communications consortium. The satellite, valued at $157 million, lifted off from Cape Canaveral, Fla., on March 14 aboard Martin Marietta's Titan 3 rocket.

Once in orbit, the satellite and the spent Titan were to separate and a much smaller booster attached to the Intelsat 6 was to take it on the next 22,000 miles of its journey to its work station. But Martin Marietta had miswired the rocket, the separation didn't take place and the satellite was trapped in a useless orbit.

Engineers were finally able to split the two and Intelsat 6 is awaiting a 1992 visit by NASA astronauts who will attach a new booster rocket and send the satellite on its way. This will cost Intelsat another $90 million.

According to a suit filed by Bethesda, Md.-based Martin Marietta in federal court in Baltimore, Intelsat demanded damages. Martin Marietta called that "unlawfully coercive demands."

The launch firm said its contract called only for a replacement launch at an undisclosed price "in the event the Titan 3 mission fails for any reason." Intelsat could have bought insurance but didn't.

"I don't want to call it a pre-emptive strike," said Martin Marietta corporate spokesman Elliott H. Miller. "We did this because it became clear they were going to file a civil damage suit. We are asking the court to essentially declare that the provisions of our contract are enforceable."

A question at the heart of the suit filed by Martin Marietta is what constitutes a launch. Miller says that under terms of the contract with Intelsat "when the engines are fired, that constituted a launch."

Intelsat has until Sept. 4 to file an answer. A spokesman, Tony Trujillo, said the dispute is unfortunate because "we don't have an ax to grind." He would not comment on the suit.

In its complaint, Martin Marietta said that if it is forced to pay damages on the failed launch it may have to raise prices to an uncompetitive level or "terminate its commercial launch business."

To date, Martin Marietta has sold only four launches on the Titan 3 and its competitors are saying that the company might be getting out of the commercial launch business anyway. It has plenty of military customers.

"It's been a very competitive business," said spokesman Miller. "One of the differences in competition has been the entry of foreign — really government-owned and supported — competitors such as China and now the Soviet Union."

Bush: deficit balloons

NEW YORK (AP) — News that the White House boosted its projection of next year's budget deficit caused barely a blip in the bond market, while the stock markets roared ahead to a record-high close.

The reaction Monday — or lack of one — wasn't unusual, corporate economists say, considering the executive branch's horrendous track record on deficit figures.

"Private estimates both on Wall Street and elsewhere have been very large, and the market knew that," said James L. Kochan, chief bond market strategist at Merrill Lynch & Co.

Kochan said White House budget reports "have always been viewed with a high degree of skepticism as being somewhat tainted or being overly optimistic."

The White House increased its forecast of the deficit for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1 to $163.8 billion — $231.4 billion if savings and loan bailout costs are counted.

The figure is $10 billion higher than the Bush administration's informal estimate of a month ago and up sharply from January's $100.5 billion estimate.

News of a greater deficit often weakens bond prices because it implies the need for more government borrowing, which in turn can drive up interest rates. Higher rates tend to decrease the value of fixed-return investments such as bonds.

But bond prices closed virtually unchanged Monday.

The stock market, meanwhile, continued its rally, with the Dow Jones industrial average closing at 2,999.75, up 19.55. Analysts said the market was driven by prospects of lower interest rates, as well as by a belief that corporate profits for the second quarter will be higher.

Jerry Jordan, chief economist at First Interstate Bancorp in Los Angeles, said Wall Street typically has two reactions to White House projections of budget shortfalls, "both a yawn for the market."

"If the White House is simply coming up with projections that are in line with what private forecasters have been saying, then it doesn't affect the market," he said. "If it's different than what the consensus is, then we just disregard it because it's politics."

Besides, "Everyone knows the White House doesn't have any authority on budgetary matters," Jordan said, adding the real work takes place in Congress.

Water bills reflect mistakes

HOUSERVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A pair of neighbors feared they would be taking a bath on bills for more than 140,000 gallons of water, but the local water company says it wasn't trying to soak them.

The Lemont Water Co. billed Eugene Emerick for 79,000 gallons of water during the second quarter of 1989. For John Paul Devereaux, it was a 64,000-gallon question.

"I was wondering what I did with all that water," Emerick said. "I think I'd have to bathe three times a day and drink water all day to use that much."

When Devereaux got his bill, "The first thing I did was go downstairs and look at the cellar to see if it was flooded."

Devereaux said his normal water bill totaled $17 per quarter. The inaccurate bill he received this month was for $70.15.

Emerick said his bill was $80 before the mistake was caught. His real bill totaled $17.54.

Cindy Rose, a spokeswoman for the 2,000-customer water company, said computer errors were responsible.

"There were too many zeroes on there," Rose said.

What made the bills even harder to understand was that Centre County had 12.42 inches of rain during the April-June period covered by the bill — 9.8 percent above normal.

Devereaux did win three swimming events at the Centre County Senior Games this summer, but he said he didn't have a pool to account for his big bill.

"With this rain, we haven't even watered the garden," he said.

Jogger testifies at trial of youths charged in her attack

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman who was gang-raped and viciously beaten by marauding youths in Central Park climbed unsteadily onto the witness stand to describe the lasting effects of an assault she does not remember.

The 30-year-old investment banker testified Monday that her battered body gives her constant reminders of the attack 15 months ago.

The woman, whose identity is not being disclosed by the media because of the nature of the assault, was making her first public appearance at the trial of three teen-agers accused of taking part in the so-called "wilding" attack.

On the witness stand, she listed lingering physical problems, including impaired balance, loss of her sense of smell and vision troubles. Despite plastic surgery, she has a long, jagged scar on the side of her face where she was beaten into submission.

Antron McCray, Raymond Santana and Yusef Salaam, all 16, are charged with attempted murder, rape, sexual abuse, assault, robbery and riot in separate attacks on the woman and two men who were jogging through the park on the night of April 19, 1989.

The youths looked at their hands, fiddled with pens or stared into space during her 10-minute testimony.

Three other youths face trial later this year. Prosecutors say some of the accused youths said a mob had roamed the park seeking random victims.

Assistant District Attorney Elizabeth Lederer showed the woman the T-shirt she was wearing when she was attacked. It is now almost completely brown with dried blood.

"That's the shirt that I used to wear," the woman said.

Police have testified that the T-shirt was used to bind and gag the woman while she was raped and bludgeoned.

The woman has recovered enough to return to work at Salomon Brothers Inc.

State Judge Thomas B. Galligan told the sketch artists in court not to portray the woman clearly. He said her worries about being identified from sketches were justified.

Defense attorneys did not cross-examine the woman.

The three youths are being tried in an adult court.

Rain helps farmers, ranchers

by The Associated Press

Some South Texas farmers say the rain they need to sustain their crops can occasionally do more harm than good.

Len Wilson, district extension agent for the 16-county Coastal Bend area, said the region hasn't had more than a half-inch of rain yet. And he said cotton farmers preparing to harvest this week hope it stays that way.

"It's not a good time," Wilson said. "As badly as we need rain — we're very severely dry — but at this time, rain would be harmful."

Wilson said the drought cut production of grain sorghum, corn and cotton by at least 50 percent. Cotton growers who normally reap a bale and two-tenths per acre now are looking at a half-bale, he said.

"Our production is so severely down, it's just almost a shot in the dark as to say how much (money has been lost)," he said. "If it rains now, then it just fouls up the harvest — it just slows you down, and could hurt the quality."

But heavy rains swamped San Antonio Monday, dumping anywhere from 2 inches to 5 inches in rural areas and delighting many farmers and ranchers who hadn't seen rain for weeks.

"It's very positive and really gets the spirits of everybody up real high, because golly, this is the first time we've had any appreciable rain in a long time," said Ed Koliba, Texas Agriculture Extension Service director for a 19-county South Texas region.

The rains came too late to help most corn, grain sorghum and dry land crop yields, and may slow corn harvests for a few days, Koliba said. "But in general, it's going to be more good than harm," he said.

North Central Texas farmers may have had the best news of all from recent rains and temperatures in the 80s, down from the 100-plus temperatures of a few weeks before.

"Those farmers that got a rain are just tickled pink. Those that didn't get one are still looking up at the rain, hoping," said Ken Stokes, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Dallas.

Bankruptcy judge okays Southmark reorganization

DALLAS (AP) — A federal bankruptcy judge says Southmark Corp.'s restructuring plan is fair and equitable, but offers no assurances that federal regulators will not take further action against it.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Stephen Felsenthal approved the plan Monday, bringing one of the nation's largest bankruptcy cases near an end.

Under the plan, the company will liquidate almost all of its holdings except for San Jacinto Savings Association, a $3 billion thrift based in the Houston suburb of Bellaire.

But Felsenthal said Southmark has no guarantees that federal regulators will not seize the insolvent thrift. However, he said the reorganization plan improves the prospects for creditors recovering a fraction of what they are owed.

"It is in the public interest," said Felsenthal, who also noted that he believes the plan does not rely on San Jacinto's future.

"Reorganized Southmark should be able to perform under the plan even if (San Jacinto) is seized after confirmation."

Court order stops utility from cutting trees

MOTHER NEFF STATE PARK, Texas (AP) — A Central Texas man who is attempting to stop a utility company from cutting down trees on a road leading to the state's first state park said he stood in the road and begged and pleaded with the crew not to cut down trees while authorities were preparing a court order to stop the work.

Clay Davis said he heard the utility trucks come to the area early Monday and saw men begin cutting branches hanging over Leon River Road.

Davis has attempted to halt the cutting along the tree-shrouded road in the name of historic preservation.

"If you've ever seen a grown man cry, I cried this morning," Davis said.

Neither rain, the Davis family nor Coryell County Sheriff Gerald Kitchens could stop utility workers from trimming tree branches for a line of new poles and power lines on the road, about 30 miles southwest of Waco.

Davis has been trying to get the road listed on the National Register of Historic Places, citing the natural beauty of the parkside property and the politics under which the six-mile road was built 51 years ago.

He accused the utility Monday of trying to hurry completion of the expansion to beat a court order and other efforts to preserve the road. "They knew I was going to get a court order," said Davis. "I stood there begging and pleading for them not to cut the trees."

Davis called Sheriff Kitchens, who showed up with an unofficial copy of the temporary restraining order that a Gatesville judge had approved Sunday night.

Utility manager Ron Golden of McLennan Electric, who was not at the work site, radioed his men to continue working until the official order was served.

Golden had given written notice on Thursday that he planned to resume the work he halted temporarily on May 23 amid a public flap Davis initiated. He said he was not aware of Davis' weekend efforts to win court intervention.

"I had no knowledge of the injunction," said Golden, whose notice did not specify when work would resume. "There was no injunction when the boys went down there to work this morning. Contrary to the way it looks, we're not trying to run over anyone, and we're not trying to do damage to anything that is environmentally or archaeologically significant."

Sandy Gately, a Gatesville lawyer who represents Davis, said even if Golden was unaware of the order, he should have cooperated when he received the unofficial copy. And she believes a rush job at the site was apparent.

"I was surprised to find them putting up electric poles in pouring-down rain," she said. "And I was surprised at the size of the crew out there."

Golden said it wasn't "pouring-down" rain. He said workers "all have raincoats. If we didn't work in the rain, nobody would ever have power."

Judge Bob Cummings ordered a 9 a.m. hearing Friday to decide whether he will grant the temporary injunction.

The petition states that Davis has "suffered irreparable and immediate harm and damage ... from defendant having trimmed and topped trees along the roadway, some of which may be as much as 225 years old, destroying scenic beauty of integrity of the roadway."

Golden limited his responses to Davis' petition, saying he wants to wait for the hearing.

"I would prefer never to cut a tree," said Golden, adding that this project has not required felling a single one. "But a tree and a power line are totally incompatible. If you provide services to people, it's an unfortunate occurrence, but that's the way it works out."

The road cuts through an area rich in ancient Indian campsites dating back 8,000 years or more. Also, the park was established in 1923 as the first official state park, on land donated by former Gov. Pat Neff in honor of his mother.

By legal battles...

School choice program slowed

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The nation's first program allocating state money to poor parents so their children can attend private schools is nearing its autumn startup, but critics are planning a last-ditch effort to block it.

The school choice plan, which has drawn praise from the Bush administration and Republican Gov. Tommy G. Thompson, faces a court hearing this month that could determine its immediate fate.

The hearing is the result of a lawsuit, urged by state School Superintendent Herbert Grover and filed by opponents of the plan, that challenges the constitutionality of using state money for private schools.

The Wisconsin Supreme Court declined to immediately review the lawsuit and referred it to Dane County Circuit Court, which has scheduled a July 28 hearing.

If the court blocks the program, it will start a legal battle that will probably delay implementation.

"The arguments they're making amount to grasping at constitutional straws," said Clint Bolick, spokesman for the Landmark Legal Foundation Center, a Washington-based advocacy group assisting in the fight against the lawsuit.

Even if they win the court battle, program organizers still face a battle with Grover over requirements for the 10 private schools that have applied to accept the students. That battle has prompted a second lawsuit challenging Grover's authority.

Plans that allow parents more choice over where to send their children to school have gained momentum in the last five years.

Minnesota and Iowa were among the first to offer tax credits to parents sending their children to private schools. Wisconsin's voucher system would be the nation's first to directly provide government money for the purpose.

The program was approved by the Legislature in April and signed into law by Thompson. It has been hailed by Bush administration officials as a national model for overhauling public education.

Pastry chefs say 'let them eat cake'

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether Marie Antoinette ever really said, "Let them eat cake" remains in doubt, but 17 pastry chefs have created in wondrous constructions of chocolate and marzipan the cake she might have had in mind.

Cakes that no peasant in pre-Revolutionary France likely ever got to taste surrounded a life-size ice sculpture of a guillotine and two cannons at the Plaza Hotel on Monday.

Pastry chef Martin Howard of the Hudson River Club in New York designed three necklaces of chocolate jewels spilling out of chocolate jewel boxes. Pascal Scirrotto of Restaurant Deja-Vu in Philadelphia made a croque-mouche, a towering, traditional wedding cake then and now in France.

There even was a cake of three kinds of caviar, cream cheeses and Scotch salmon from Bruce Sobol of Caviarteria in New York.

The fifth annual Bastille Day celebration, though two days late, ended with the selection of three of the chefs as the U.S. team for the International World Cup Pastry Competition next January in Lyon, France.

Businessman accused of killing two Bengal tigers

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas businessman has been charged by federal authorities in the deaths of two endangered Bengal tigers that allegedly were slaughtered for their furs.

Joe Eldon Mills, 49, is scheduled for arraignment later this week. He was released Saturday on $5,000 bond following his arrest.

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service officers claim that both tigers were anesthetized and killed with an ice pick to the skull.

The indictment accuses Mills of six counts of violating the Endangered Species Act and with illegally transporting Bengal tigers for commercial gain.

"We think he killed these critically endangered tigers in order to sell them as rugs to people who want exclusive interior decorations," John Neal, the wildlife agent in charge of the investigation, said.

Reader Says Toothless Lady Deserves No Biting Remarks

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the little old lady who left her false teeth (dentures) on the lingerie counter of La Vogue's Department Store in Hoquiam, Wash.: The people at the store went to a lot of trouble tracking down the owner. They learned that she was a visitor from San Francisco, so they carefully wrapped the dentures, marked the package "fragile," insured it, and mailed it back to her. Seeing the humor of the situation, they wrote to you, mentioning that they had never received a thank-you note for their trouble.

Abby, I am also an older person who forgets things constantly, and although my own teeth are securely fastened, I wouldn't fault a little old lady for failing to write a thank-you note. Anyone who could forget her false teeth, as she did, should be forgiven. So I hope the kind people at La Vogue's Department Store in Hoquiam will not cease being kind to old people who are forgetful because of this one incident. May I offer them my thanks for their kindness to the little old lady from San Francisco. I could sign this, "A Little Old Lady From Huntington Beach, Calif." but my name is ...

JUANITA

DEAR JUANITA: Thank you for your thanks to the generous people at La Vogue's Department Store. I received a wonderful letter from William L. Bitar — one of the three bachelor brothers who operate this family-owned store, founded by their father, a Lebanese immigrant who came to this country years ago as a peddler. Mr. Bitar's letter (in part):

"Dear Abby: Amazing! The reaction to the dentures story was tremendous. It had our little town of 9,000 in an uproar with laughter and humorous remarks. Everybody is talking about it. People come into our store and ask the clerks, 'Have you found any false teeth today?'"

"Our mayor, Phyllis Shrauger, said, 'Dear Abby has put Hoquiam on the map! Now the talk on the street is about false teeth instead of the timber industry and owls."

"Every man, woman and child in the United States must read 'Dear Abby.' Our store has had phone calls from New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, California, New Mexico, New Jersey, North Carolina, Seattle, Los Angeles, etc.

"A lady from Pennsylvania told us a hilarious story about her grandfather misplacing his dentures. She plans on visiting our store on her next trip out west.

"A man from Baltimore wanted to thank us for caring enough to locate the owner of the lost dentures so we could return them. A dentist phoned from Las Vegas to say that the dentist must have done a lousy job on those dentures, or that old lady wouldn't have taken them out in the store.

"We had a lot of fun with that story. Thanks for printing it, Abby. We've been in business for 79 years, and have never had so much publicity.

"As for the little old lady in San Francisco, we forgive her. She was probably so overjoyed at getting her teeth back, she forgot to thank us."

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONCERNED SISTER: It is not true that people who threaten to commit suicide seldom do. Tell your sister that when she feels life isn't worth living, she should call her local suicide prevention center. A trained member of its staff will talk to her about her problem. It is listed in your telephone directory, or call directory assistance.

Most teen-agers do not know the facts about drugs, AIDS, and how to prevent unwanted pregnancy. It's all in Abby's new, updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill.

Appeals court won't issue stay

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — An appeals court refused to grant a stay of execution for a death row inmate scheduled to die before dawn Wednesday for the 1980 slaying of a Houston man during an attempted robbery.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals declined to give a stay

Monday to Mikel Derrick, 33. The appeal was headed for the U.S. Supreme Court, assistant Attorney General Bob Walt said.

Derrick, 33, a native of Buna, near Beaumont, was convicted of the Oct. 11, 1980 stabbing death of Edward Sonnier at Sonnier's Houston apartment.
