2 injured in early accident

A Weatherford woman suffered serious injuries but was in stable condition at Cogdell Memorial Hospital following a two-vehicle collision early today at U.S. 84 and Highway 180.

Twenty-three-year-old Vicki Lacquement was suffering from serious head injuries following the mishap, which occurred about 6:07 a.m. Hospital officials were planning on transferring the woman to another hospital in the Weatherford area.

The accident occurred when a 1983 International tractor-trailer driven by Ponce Miguel Angel, 28 of San Antonio, failed to observe a yield right-of-way sign while traveling west-bound on the U.S. 84 service road.

DPS Trooper Rick Campos said a 1984 Ford pickup pulling a gooseneck cattle trailer was heading west on Hwy. 180. The pickup struck the truck's trailer, went under it and came out on the other side. The pickup's cab was flattened.

Lacquement, driver of the pickup, and 24-year-old Richard McCoy of Hico were taken to the hospital emergency room by ambulance. McCoy was treated and released.

In Brief

Lawmaker dies

HANKHAM, England (AP) — A Conservative Party lawmaker and outspoken critic of the Irish Republican Army was killed today by a bomb planted beneath his car, police said.

Ian Gow died shortly after emergency services reached his home, said Inspector Mike Alderson of the Sussex police.

No one immediately claimed responsibility but suspicion fell on the IRA, which killed a lawmaker in an explosion in 1984 and has carried out several bomb attacks in England recently.

3 transplants

DALLAS (AP) — Surgeons at Baylor University Medical Center have performed a trio of simultaneous organ transplants in one day, including Dallas' first single lung transplant.

Gene Gilliard of Seneca, S.C. was listed in critical but stable condition Sunday, said Susan Hall, a Baylor spokeswoman.

Surgeons also on Saturday performed respective liver and heart transplants on 61-year-old Shim Park of Waco and Brenda Strawbridge, 34, of Tyler. Park was listed in fair condition Sunday. Ms. Strawbridge was in serious but stable condition.

A kidney transplant operation was completed Sunday morning. Michelle Kasin, 23, of Richardson was in fair condition late Sunday.

All of the donated organs came from one donor, Ms. Hall said.

Local

Siren blast

A short in a radio receiver caused anxious citizens to flood the police department with calls for a brief period Saturday evening.

The false alarm occurred at the emergency warning siren located north of the city at Parks and Ave. T at about 6:30 p.m.

Officials said moisture from the rain got into a circuit board in the receiver and shorted the system, causing the siren to go off. The situation was corrected within 10 to 15 minutes.

Following late adjustments...

County budget is approved

Two salary adjustments sent county budget officers back to the drawing board late this morning, prior to the commissioners court's approval of the 1991 budget.

Needing another $8,500 to cover the adjustments, the court adjourned at 11:15 a.m. to give County Judge Bobby Goodwin and Auditor Linda Franklin an opportunity take another look at the proposed $13.8 million budget. The court had already given its approval to a $6,000 increase for a part-time employee in the justice of the peace office. A similar situation presented by the county attorney's office resulted in the recess.

Wanda Rushing, justice of the peace-elect, said she will operate with one less full-time employee which currently costs the county $17,500. She requested $6,000 for 17 hours a week part-time help. The request was granted unanimously.

County Attorney Pete Greene said he did not replace a part-time secretary and requested a change of classification of his secretary from a Clerk I to a legal secretary.

Greene said the request for a $2,490 salary adjustment would still be a savings of $4,097 to the county over the current budget.

Greene said the adjustment is necessary to retain competent employees, to foster good employee morale and to save the county money.

Franklin said the budget as presented was within $888 of going over the level that would subject the county to a roll-back. To avoid setting a budget that would necessitate a tax-rate increase of more than 8 percent, Goodwin and Franklin said areas would have to be identified in the budget to find $8,500.

Shortly before noon, commissioners reconvened and also granted Greene's request. To include funds for benefits associated with the two salary adjustments, $10,000 was reappropriated from three capital equipment requests. The funds include $6,000 from precinct 3 and $2,000 each from precincts one (see COUNTY, page 8)

Childhood screening slated

Snyder Independent School District, with the cooperation of Region XIV Education Service Center in Abilene, is conducting an early childhood screening from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Tuesday at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Parents or guardians who have concerns about their child's development are encouraged to take advantage of the free screening.

The screening is for children from the ages of three years to six years. The child must be three years old by Sept. 1, 1990.

Assessment teams from Snyder ISD and the ESC will test each child's cognitive, motor and language development. The screening is to determine if the child is "at-risk" in any developmental level. This screening is only for those children whose parents have some concerns about some area of their child's development.

If a child has already been referred to the Early Childhood Program for indepth testing, it is not necessary for the child to attend this screening.

The screening process should take approximately 30-45 minutes per child. Parents will be asked to provide information concerning their child's developmental history. It is not necessary to bring birth certificates or immunization records to the screening.

Correctional class set for certification

Sixteen correctional officer students are to receive certification today in 7 p.m. ceremonies at Western Texas College.

Guest speaker for the ceremonies, to be held in the Fine Arts Theatre, will be Price Daniel Warden Les Woods.

Candidates for certification are Victor James Cantrell, John Mikel Foss and James Everett Whilite of Abilene; Charles Everett Henderson Jr., Charles Clay Lloyd and Lequita Joyce Northcutt of Colorado City; Willie Dahyl Bradshaw and Kyle L. Scott of Clyde; Wacey Scott Moore of Crockett; David Earl Davis of Hamlin; Thomas Wayne Davis of Haskell; Jeffery Curtis Fenwick of Hawley; Darrell Wayne Decker of McCauley; Guadalupe Costilla Ruiz of Snyder; Rebecca Doris Ruiz of Weinert; and Martha Irene Gonzales of Winters.

Certificates will be presented by J.D. Barham, correctional officer training instructor at WTC. Dr. Harry Krenak, college president, will extend a welcome to family members and others in attendance. Roy McQueen will provide the invocation and benediction.

A reception for the students and their families will follow the program in the theatre lobby.

The group represents the second daytime academy class to receive certification following a three-week, 120-hour course at the college. Sixteen students were certified from the first daytime class held earlier this year.

The graduates will make a total of 170 students to receive correctional officer certification through Western Texas College.

Presently, there are two correctional officers classes being conducted — one daytime class and one evening class.

Applications for the fourth daytime academy class will become available today. That three-week class is scheduled to start Sept. 10.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "It's My Turn in L.A.," the girl who was snubbed by the "in group" in high school and had no desire to go back for her class reunion, inspired me to write. I was just another girl who was not part of the "in group." I wore glasses, had "zits" and never had a date.

At the time of my 10th reunion (in 1983), I was a successful pharmacist and faculty member at a state university. I threw hurt and anger to the wind and decided to attend the reunion — alone. Well, it just so happened that another classmate decided to do the same thing — so he went stag.

An hour before the evening ended, we "discovered" each other. He walked me to my car, holding hands, and I felt like I was back in high school again — with the same excitement and "jitters." One thing led to another, and we married a year later.

Now I have a wonderful husband and three lovely children.

WENDY WEINGART
BENNEWITZ, MILWAUKEE

DEAR WENDY: Congratulations. Your letter was a welcome "upper." This office loves happy endings.

DEAR ABBY: I know it's a little late, but I wanted to report on another miserable Mother's Day. It started out OK, but when my husband and I stopped off at a local ice cream shop, the clerk asked, "Are you a mother?"

When I responded "No," I was told that if I had been one, I would have gotten a free ice-cream cone. How wonderful!

I can understand stores wanting to share in the Mother's Day celebration, but I resent it. I cannot have children, and I don't need it rubbed in by some clerk reminding me on Mother's Day that I am not a mother and therefore not entitled to an ice-cream cone I didn't want in the first place.

My heart goes out to those other childless women who may have miscarried or lost their only child to death. It's thoughtless to bring to mind a subject that is never far from the surface, especially on Mother's Day.

If shops want to celebrate the occasion, why don't they just give their small gift to any woman of childbearing age (and up), and let it go at that? The pain that is caused to those of us who are not mothers is unforgivable.

BARBARA
DEAR BARBARA: You make a point that I had never considered, and I thank you for it. Moral: Just because you're celebrating, don't assume that everybody else is.

DEAR ABBY: One good story leads to another. I was reminded of something funny when I read the letter from "Appalled in Chicago," whose new secretary couldn't find "Europe" in the dictionary. (She was looking under "U") I can top that:

A few months ago, I dictated a letter to our new secretary who was a college graduate. The secretary was told to address the letter to "John Smith, Esq." When the letter came back to me for my signature, the salutation read: "Dear Mr. Esquire." Sign me ...

DEAR ABBY: The defensive, guilt-ridden smoker who pointed her finger at fat people who tend to over-eat should have pointed out:

(1) A person enjoying a baked potato with three pats of butter has never blown cholesterol in your face.

(2) No one has ever accidentally fallen asleep with a piece of pecan pie and burned down a house.

Dole considers farm labor bill changes after camp visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Secretary Elizabeth Dole saw firsthand the rundown barracks and poor plumbing provided for men and women who work the fields when she made a surprise visit to a migrant farm labor camp in Florida.

So moved was she by the experience, Mrs. Dole is weighing steps to boost enforcement of housing standards and wage laws applying to the estimated 1.5 million migrants who work in the United States.

Survivors dedicate monument

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — When George Marquardt looks back 45 years, he rivets on a millisecond: the vibration of a steeply banking B-29 and the fireball, always the fireball, rising from Hiroshima.

"It was such a terrific blast. It was like the sun had come out of the ground and just exploded," recalls Marquardt, who was pilot of a chase plane that accompanied the bomber Enola Gay on Aug. 6, 1945.

More than half a lifetime later, Marquardt and other members of the 509th Composite Group will gather on the desert west of Salt Lake City to celebrate the peace they believe the atomic bomb brought.

The Aug. 25 dedication of a peace memorial in the town of Wendover, Nev., is expected to draw more than 200 members of the bomber group.

They will include retired Brig. Gen. Paul W. Tibbets, pilot of the Enola Gay, and retired Maj. Gen. Charles "Chuck" Sweeney, who flew the B-29 that dropped the A-bomb on Nagasaki three days after the Hiroshima attack. Nearly 200,000 people died in the bombings, and Japan capitulated five days later, ending World War II.

Among the speakers will be Hideaki Kase, an author and adviser to two Japanese prime ministers. In a telephone interview from Tokyo, Kase said the idea of speaking to his country's former enemies was disconcerting.

"It is very hard to come up with appropriate words," he said.

"What I know is this: Japan during the war also had a program to develop a nuclear bomb, and had we succeeded I'm sure we would have used it. We have no ground to complain," Kase said.

The ceremony will dedicate a 16-foot obelisk honoring the 509th, "all who contributed to bring this dreadful war to an end" and the dead of Hiroshima and Nagasaki "for their sacrifice to mankind's struggle for a more peaceful world."

clothes over wires strung from wall to wall.

Even before the department puts final touches on the initiative, farm labor organizations say they're skeptical the administration will make much of a dent in the well-documented poor living conditions for migrants.

"I'm more than a little skeptical that this will ever happen (but) I would hope it's not just rhetoric that makes the front page for a week and goes away," said Mike Hancock, executive director of Farmworker Justice Fund Inc.

G. Wayne Culver, a department aide who accompanied Mrs. Dole to the Zellwood farm camp in central Florida last May, recalls the conditions:

Toilets didn't work. There was no hot water, windows were broken, and workers made do without closets by draping their Business groups are leery of any plan that would impose stiff new restrictions on farmers, saying farmers already face burdensome regulations concerning pesticides, ground water and food safety.

Insurance board examining ties between 6 failed firms

DALLAS (AP) — State officials are examining the failures of three insurance companies located in the same building — failures regulators estimate will cost taxpayers $30.7 million.

The inquiry covers ties between six failed insurance firms. The three companies in one suite near downtown Dallas were Southern National Life Insurance Co., First National Indemnity Co. and American Equitable Life Insurance Co., The Dallas Morning News reported Sunday in a copyright story.

Susan E. Martin, an attorney with the State Board of Insurance's liquidation division, said the fact that three insurers shared one office appears unusual.

"I personally don't know of any situations where you've got three insurers sharing the same offices," Ms. Martin said. "We're still investigating and trying to evaluate exactly what led to the insolvencies."

The failures of two other insurance companies with ties to one of the executives who had operated in The Crescent tower's Suite 1150 are expected to cost

Texas taxpayers more than $6.5 million, the newspaper reported.

A sixth firm, which complained in 1988 that one of the firms in Suite 1150 unfairly took control of policies worth $1 million a month, has since failed and is expected to drain $8 million from the state treasury.

Suite 1150 now is occupied by a firm that is unrelated to the bankrupt insurance companies.

More than 20 Texas insurance companies have failed in the past two years. State and federal investigators are examining records of more than 60 firms to determine whether the problems are due to fraud or simply the result of Texas' economic decline in the late 1980s.

State records show that insurance failures already have cost Texas taxpayers $180 million. Officials estimate that the final bill will hit $400 million.

Executives and consultants who worked for the three firms that operated out of the suite included two former Texas insurance commissioners. One, Joseph D. Hawkins, is accused in a civil lawsuit of helping to loot more than $11 million from an Dallas-based insurance company.

Charges expected to be filed in death of birds

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — Thousands of protected and migratory birds are killed each year when they fall into open-top oil tanks and pits, said a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service official.

Special Agent Robert Lee of Lubbock said he plans to file charges this week against the owners of two open-top oil tanks near this West Texas town, where he spent the weekend pulling out dead, migratory birds.

"This is war," Lee said Saturday as he retrieved more than 10 migratory songbirds from two large tanks in the middle of cotton fields southeast of Midland.

The Fish and Wildlife Service, after investigations in the Southwest, gave oil and gas companies that use the pits and tanks a one-year grace period to cover or clean them up.

But Lee said that since Oct. 1, 1989, operators of tanks or pits that are killing the birds have been subject to criminal fines under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of 1918. The law makes it illegal "at any time, by any means, or in all manner, to ... kill ... any migratory birds."

Lee, who is investigating bird deaths in three states, said that 17 oil and gas companies in Lubbock and the Odessa-Midland area have been notified that charges are pending for sites where he has gathered evidence of bird deaths. Ten other cases are pending in other West Texas regions, he said.

Scouts try to save campground

HOUSTON (AP) — The working class scouts of Troop 544 have pledged to do their best to raise $8,700 in the next couple of days. Scouts' honor.

That's how much it will take to keep their north Houston campground, which they've used rent free for two years, from being seized by the Internal Revenue Service.

If they raise the money by Wednesday, they can have the campground. If not, the IRS gets it.

The half-acre lot was lent to them by businessman Roy M. Gonzales, whose son is a member of Troop 544. He bought the land for $8,000 in 1988, signing a contract with the Scouts not to sell or build on it for 15 years.

The IRS came after him for more than $16,000 in income, property and sales taxes after his microfilm reproduction company suffered a financial setback, the Houston Chronicle reported.

Going overboard

By James Jacoby

High on the list of common bridge mistakes is failure to play for just the number of tricks needed for the contract.

North cue-bid three hearts to show a big club raise after his previous competitive response of one no-trump. East doubled, and South passed to show minimum values. North then confirmed his club support. If South's spade king were the heart king, he would go on to five, but knowing that three of his high-card points were wasted kept him at an apparently safe level.

When the heart jack was led, declarer could see that a 3-2 split along with a 3-2 diamond split would likely let him score an overtrick. So he won the heart ace and played A-K of clubs and then played on diamonds. Alas, East's J-10-x-x provided a stopper, and declarer had to ruff the fourth diamond. When declarer played a spade back to his king, West won and played a low heart to East's queen. East then cashed the jack of clubs, and the defenders made another heart trick to set the contract.

Four clubs is easy to make. Declarer must suppress his greed for a paltry overtrick and play low on the opening heart lead. Regardless of the subsequent defense, the communication lets declarer make 10 tricks easily. As declarer actually played, good splits in the minors might not help. If the defender with the long club also has the doubleton diamond, he will ruff the third diamond anyway. East-West will then take two major-suit tricks to hold declarer to 10 tricks.

'Radical revamping' of health care system said opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bush administration's chief health official is offering little more than a broad hint of the changes that will be on his list of health care reforms.

It's more clear what won't be on it: national health insurance, for one, and "overly burdensome mandates" that require employers to provide certain health insurance to their workers, for another.

"Those who call for a radical revamping of our health care system — suggesting nationalized medicine — are mistaken," Health and Human Services Secretary Louis Sullivan told business leaders in Atlanta last week.

Sullivan has offered a "fundamental notion" few Republicans usually talk about: "that everyone should be able to obtain necessary health care."

He added that "the present private-public health system should be the primary means by which we achieve this goal."

With those words, Sullivan began what he said will be "a conversation with the American people on what they want from our health care system and what we're willing to pay."

Sullivan was asked by President Bush last January to lead a Domestic Policy Council review of the problems with the nation's health care system.

But Rep. Pete Stark, D-Calif., who is proposing a national health insurance and long-term care plan financed with a 4 percent tax on income, said Sullivan is far behind the curve.

"He knows what the American people want," Stark said. "As every pollster in the country has recognized ... the public wants protection from the economic devastation of medical bills ... and seniors want long-term care."

Stark scoffed at Sullivan's statement that "we must permit the medical marketplace to work. A dynamic economy will find some solutions on its own."

Stark said, "They keep saying private enterprise. We've got private enterprise — that's the problem."

The nation's health care bill is expected to exceed $600 billion this year — about 11 percent of the nation's gross national product.

Yet, an estimated 37 million Americans have no health insurance and are not on Medicare or Medicaid, the public insurance plans for the elderly, the disabled and the poor.

The bipartisan Pepper Commission — 12 members of Congress and three White House appointees — in March recommended a $66 billion plan that would provide health care coverage to nearly all Americans. This would be achieved by requiring businesses to provide health insurance to workers or to contribute to a public plan for employees and non-working dependents.

Stark is a member of that panel but was one of four who voted against the package because the commission did not recommend where the money to pay for it should be found.

Stark also complained that "President Bush has no program and he doesn't want one."

But Constance Horner, Sullivan's undersecretary and the leader of his health care review, said these issues take time to sort out.

"This is a process that is not a purely rational, intellectual process ... It's a process that involves a lot of consultations with people who will be parties to these decisions," including the American people, Horner said.

'Capt. Kangaroo' has no regrets

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Captain Kangaroo Bob Keeshan gave up a career in law when he moved into children's television more than 40 years ago, and he has no regrets.

"What I'm doing is pretty much like being a lawyer," he said. "Most lawyers are actors anyway."

Keeshan was hired as an assistant to Buffalo Bob Smith of "Howdy Doody" fame in the late 1940s. Television was in its infancy then, and few people knew how it would progress, Keeshan said.

"In five years, there were 30 million sets and all the radio actors wanted to become television actors," Keeshan said Saturday at an anniversary celebration for Acadiana Oaks Hospital, where he was guest of honor.

Keeshan, 63, created the role of Captain Kangaroo in 1955.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX INCREASE

The Snyder Independent School District will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1989 by 7.9 percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on August 7, 1990, at 7:00 p.m. at the School Administration Building, 2901 37th Street.

FOR the proposal: Ann Walton, Glen Clarady, LouAnn Bureson, Terry Martin, Mike Jordan.

AGAINST the proposal: None.

PRESENT and not voting: None.

ABSENT: Sam Robertson, Billy Bob McMullan.

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on July 25, 1990. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower,

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	_____	_____
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	_____	_____
Average taxable value	60,000	60,000
Tax rate	1.04	.97 (proposed)
Tax	624.00	582.00 (proposed)

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would decrease by $42.00 or 6.7 percent compared with last year's taxes.

Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would decrease by $.07 per $100 of taxable value or 6.7 percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star basketball game is going

Teen champs in Cisco event

CISCO — The Buffs, champions of Snyder Junior Teenage League play, received a first-round bye in the Texas Teenage League district tournament in Cisco which begins a 2 p.m. today.

Snyder's first game is scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight against the winner of the 2 p.m. contest between Sweetwater and a combined Cisco-Eastland team.

The other first round game pits Tye-Merkel against Hamilton at 5 p.m.

The Buffs, managed by O.D. Brewer, boast a perfect 15-0 regular season mark heading into district competition.

Brewer sees Sweetwater as the team to beat in district play. "Sweetwater is loaded," Brewer said.

"Their No. 1 pitcher was the top pitcher on their varsity team last season and their shortstop was a varsity player, too — both just 15 years old."

Brewer's coaches are Larry Braziel, Reuben Felan and Ricky Hunter.

Players are Raymond House, Jason McAden, Raymond Ware, Chris Sutherland, Terry Hulkowitz, Brian Lickey, Marcelino Aguirre, Brad Hart, Joe Bob McCraye, Greg McAden, Curt Rinehart, John Clinkinbeard, Luis Speedon and Cecil Garcia.

At the conclusion of the regular season Brewer added the Oilers' Richard Morris, Matthew Byrom of the Braves and the Rebels' Stephen Bollinger to his playoff roster.

Ware has been tabbed as the Buffs' starter in tonight's contest.

The winner of the district event will advance to the state tournament scheduled for Aug. 9-11 in Alpine.

to be special, North coach Larry Scott of Snyder says.

"Even if you don't like basketball, this is the kind of game you'd like to see," Scott said. "You look at both teams and you've got some of the premier talent in the country."

Scott will direct the North All-Stars tonight against the South, coached by Alief Elsik's Jerrel Hartfiel.

The game, one of the highlights of the annual coaching school, will be played at Texas Southern University's Health and Physical Education Arena.

The annual cage contest, sponsored by Whataburger, will be televised live on Home Sports Entertainment, local cable channel 14 at 7:30 p.m.

"We'll run a fast break offense and it's our goal to score a lot of points," Hartfiel said. "I think it'll be a high scoring game."

Hartfiel will have record-setting guard Troy House of Ingram, Clear Lake's Tim Glover and Tremaine Wingfield of Brazoswood to bolster the South shooting attack.

House averaged 41 points per game last season and set an all-time scoring record with 4,259 career points in leading Ingram to the Class 2A state title.

"It'll be interesting to see how he does against the kids from the bigger schools," Hartfiel said. "He obviously can shoot the ball."

Glover, a 6-1 guard who will attend the University of Pittsburgh, averaged 24 points per game last season.

Wingfield hit 20 points per game last season and will attend the University of Louisville.

"Tremaine is just a complete player," Hartfiel said.

University of Michigan-bound Rich McIver of Brazosport leads the South centers.

"We're not very big but both teams have some outstanding athletes," Hartfiel said.

The North talent will be led by Bedford Trinity's Scott Pierce, Gainesville's Chris Lewis and Stevin Smith of Dallas Spruce.

"Pierce is the tallest guy but all those 6-4 and 6-5 players can get up there too," Scott said.

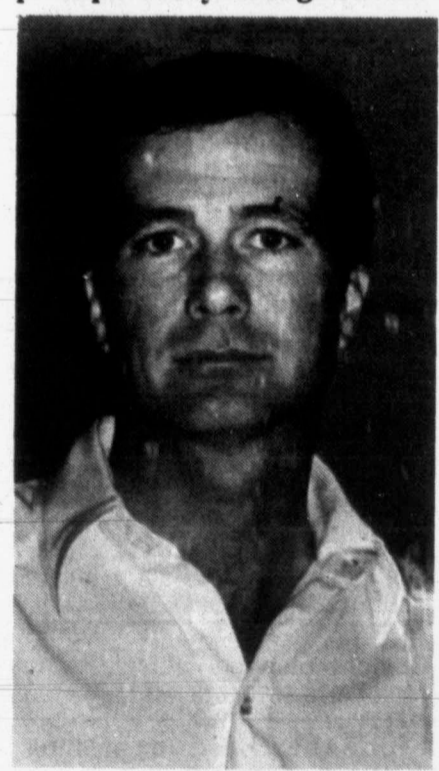

Smith, who averaged 26.6 points last season, will attend Arizona State.

"I have not seen him play but on film he reminds me of a Joe Dumars (Detroit Pistons)," Scott said. "He's a tremendous player."

Scott's Snyder team averaged 57 points per game last season but he plans to have a quicker pace for the All-Stars.

"All but one of these players pressed and ran the ball so I knew it would be easier for me to change," Scott said. "We expect to press and run the ball and play defense all up and down the court."

Scott's appearance as coach of the South squad will be his last game as a basketball coach as he was recently named assistant principal at Snyder High School.

LARRY SCOTT

He led the Tigers for nine years compiling a 167-87 won-lost mark while marching SHS into post-season play three times.

Scott will be replaced by long-time assistant coach Bud Birks. The South rolled to a record-setting 119-109 victory in the 1989 game in Dallas, giving the South a 24-21 lead in the series.

The South's 119 points was a record for a single team and the aggregate 228 points also was a record.

Quarterbacks Steve Clements of the North and the South's Jeff Granger, will battle in Tuesday night's All-Star football game in the Astrodome.

Popular coaches Spike Dykes of Texas Tech and John Jenkins of the University of Houston will be lecturers at the five-day convention.

Goodwill Games...

Yugoslavia takes gold medal

SEATTLE (AP) — On the basketball court and the gymnastics mat, this was a day the Americans would like to forget.

Yugoslavia gave the United States a lesson in the value of poise, precision and patience to win the basketball gold, and the Soviets reasserted themselves as queens of gymnastics Sunday at the Goodwill Games.

Playing as if they invented the game, the Yugoslavs won the gold medal 85-79, the third straight time the Americans have failed to finish first in a ma-reference was apparent to anyone who watched the finale.

"They execute their offense extremely well," U.S. coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "You can tell they know one another very well."

"Their international experience really hurt us," U.S. center Alonzo Mourning said, "because they played well and they passed the ball well and they were able to hit the open jump shots."

The U.S. players, all college underclassmen, are just getting to know each other. The difference was apparent to anyone who watched the finale.

In gymnastics, the Soviet Union won seven of 12 individual medals. Sixteen-year-old Natalia Kalinina led the way with two golds and two silvers. The Americans managed just two bronze by 14-year-old Kim Zmeskal.

The Soviets moved ahead of the Americans in the gold medal race 52-49. The Soviet Union also leads the overall medal chase 142-124.

The United States fared better in baseball, advancing to tonight's medal round with a 15-2 victory over Mexico.

Five of six U.S. boxers won in Sunday's preliminaries, including world 106-pound champion Eric Griffin.

Basketball

The Americans had trouble hitting open shots all night. Playmaker Kenny Anderson was 3-for-12. His backcourt partner, Todd Day, was 1-for-10.

And the U.S. pressure defense didn't bother Yugoslav guards Toni Kukoc and Jurij Zdovc.

The Americans found themselves behind most of the game, even though Yugoslavia lost starting forward Zarko Paspalj, with a sprained right ankle eight minutes into the contest.

Yugoslavia scored seven straight points to take a 74-65 lead with six minutes to play. The last basket came when the Americans' Chris Smith accidentally knocked the ball in the wrong basket while going for a rebound.

Moslem extremists refuse to give up

Hostages begin fourth day of captivity

PORT-OF-SPAIN, Trinidad (AP) — Gunfire broke out today near a government television station and Parliament where Moslem extremists held the prime minister and 30 other people hostage for a fourth day.

The heaviest shooting was centered on the television station, whose employees were taken hostage Friday. Automatic rifle and machine-gun fire was punctuated by what sounded like artillery booms.

"A major firefight is going on," said a diplomatic source, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The shooting at the TV station appeared to be coming from two directions, but it was not clear whether there was any attempt by the security forces to storm the building. Heavy black smoke was rising from Television House at 10:20 a.m.

Early this morning, automatic weapons fire rang out near Parliament, about a mile away, where rebels seized Prime Minister Arthur N.R. Robinson on Friday. The rebels claimed to have wired him explosives and threatened to blow him up if a rescue attempt was mounted.

County budget approved

The proposed county budget is 13.1 percent higher than the current spending document, but the majority of the increase is from the county hospital's portion of the budget. The hospital budget is up $900,000 from $8.1 million and has offsetting revenues. The hospital's request for tax funds had been reduced from $488,000 to $225,000.

The county's portion of the budget is $5.7 million — which reflects an increase of $600,000 over the 1990 budget. To finance the 1991 budget, a tax rate of .3338 cents is anticipated — an increase in the effective tax rate of 7.9 percent.

The proposed tax rate will generate $3 million in tax revenues compared to $2.9 million received in 1990. The hospital's revenues are projected at $10.4 million compared to $9.2 million for 1990.

The budget presented to the court Monday morning contained no salary increases and had no new personnel.

In other business, the court postponed action on naming five persons to the Hermleigh Water Works advisory board. Goodwin said he wished to delay the action until he can visit with the county's consultant concerning a proposed planning grant.

The court also amended the Scurry County Group Medical Fund by $100,000 to take care of two large claims within the group. Franklin said the transfer should take the county to the end of the fiscal year.

The court also authorized the county judge to renew the county's contract with the Big Spring State Hospital. There were no changes from the current contract.

The court also approved the quarterly county treasurer's report. Treasurer Rita Staton said the county had earned $74,028.72 in interest for the second quarter compared to $80,209.89 earned in the first quarter of 1990.

Staton said her office is in the process of developing a county investment policy. One option, she said, would be to invest funds outside the annual depository agreement.

Precinct 4 Commissioner Ted Billingsley said he would be opposed to investment of funds outside Scurry County.

Goodwin presided at the meeting and commissioners present included Billingsley, Duaine Davis, Tommy Pate and C.D. Gray Jr.

thunderstorms with a 50 percent chance of rain. More of the same is expected Tuesday, with a 40 percent chance of rain noted.

The weekend rain caused some minor problems such as flooding in low-lying areas. Gusting winds were blamed for blowing over at least one tree in the city.

Also, an electrical short, said to be caused by the rain, caused one of the city's alert sirens to sound

Saturday evening.

Rainfall reports throughout the county varied greatly, from a trace at Hermleigh, Fluvanna and at the Polar community to 4 inches north of town. Dunn reported 3 inches while the area immediately west of Snyder received 2.25 inches. Ira reported 1.2 inches and a location several miles east along the Roby Highway reported 1 inch.

10-hour weekend crime spree lifts homicides to 40

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas police detectives say they need more manpower to keep up with the rising number of homicides.

Three people were killed during a 10-hour spree of weekend violence that also left two dozen others injured. Police are wondering if the number of July homicides will match the high of 43 registered in June.

There have been 40 homicides so far this month. The 43 slayings last month was a record for the month of June. In June 1989, there were 11 homicides, police said.

"We're all hurting, and we're frustrated," Sgt. Ed O'Bara said. "We need more manpower because we're overwhelmed."

From 10:05 p.m. Friday to just after daybreak Saturday, there were 18 stabbings, beatings and shootings reported throughout Dallas, police said.

Detectives are working 16-hour shifts with an average of 15 new assault cases per day.

"This is an unusually high number of shootings in a long time," said Sgt. Eddie Douglas. "We've been overloaded all summer — all year."

The weekend assaults began with a stray bullet that struck a man in the arm as he walked home Friday night. About 40 minutes later, 38-year-old Michael Williams became the first fatality as he and two other men walked through South Dallas.

Williams was two blocks from home when he saw his wife being harassed by a longtime friend, said Detective Chuck Hudson. Williams told the 26-year-old man to leave his wife alone. But the man threw a bottle at Williams.

A fight broke out and Williams was fatally stabbed in the chest. The assailant fled. Williams died at 12:30 a.m. Saturday at Baylor University Medical Center.

"He didn't provoke anything," Hudson said. "He just wanted to get the man away from his wife."

Police said an arrest had been made Sunday, but no details were immediately available.

Authorities found Robert Johnson, 37, lying face down with a head wound. He died after midnight Saturday at Baylor. Police arrested Eddie Beasley, 25, Sunday and charged him with capital murder.

Big-name doctors contract to provide discount services

HOUSTON (AP) — Artificial heart implant innovator Denton A. Cooley has charged new medical territory in recent years — discount rates for heart operations and cardiovascular treatment.

The Houston heart surgeon, best known for performing the world's first successful artificial heart implant and the nation's first successful heart transplant, is leading the way in medical business practices.

Cooley, 69, says his version of discount heart surgery has been inspired mostly by a desire to offer good, affordable health care.

"The medical directors of corporations and insurance companies need help evaluating care people are receiving," Cooley told the Houston Chronicle.

"I wanted to give them a package at a reasonable cost. I wanted to help eliminate abuse from the health care system," he said.

The Texas Heart Institute, a research organization Cooley founded in 1962 and the base for his six-member heart surgery team, signed its first contract with Tenneco, a Houston oil company, six years ago. It has since negotiated 22 contracts with corporations and insurance companies.

These contracts now account for about 10 percent of the institute's 10,000 patients.

Such deals help Cooley and others who contract out, partly by keeping their operating rooms full.

"If you do a high volume of heart surgery, you can do it less expensively, and you can do it better," said Jeff Goldsmith, a national health care adviser to the accounting firm Ernst & Young. "What a major institution is offering is a quality of better care. But now that is less unique."

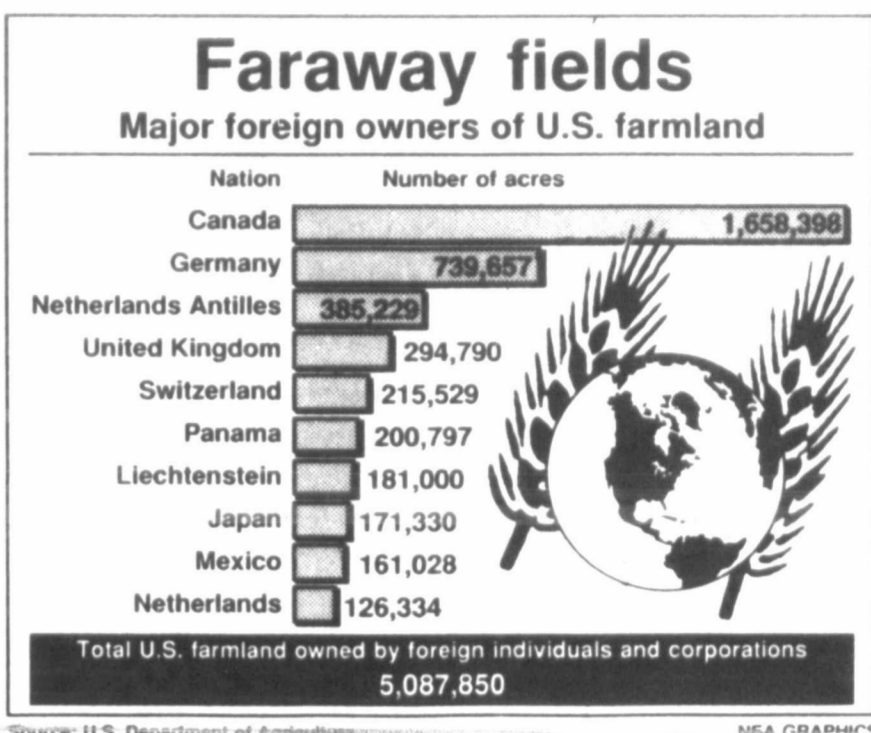

The health providers draw on their names and records for quality care to appeal to employers and insurers intent on holding down medical costs.

Packaged pricing also helps them fend off competition from a growing number of hospitals across the country that today do complicated procedures such as organ transplants.

For the companies, the motivation for choosing recognized leaders is the old idea that "practice makes perfect."

The programs pay off because fewer complications for patients can be expected with surgery and treatment by medical experts, officials say.

Not surprisingly, Canada is the No. 1 owner of U.S. farmland, at more than 1.5 million acres. Germany and Netherlands Antilles are the Number 2 and 3 owners — together the two countries own more than 1 million acres.

Scientists say...

Global warming trend could destroy forests

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — The lush forests of East Texas could look like the barren sand dunes of West Texas if predictions of global warming prove correct, some scientists say.

And such a scenario might be nearer than many Texans think, given mounting evidence of global warming, or the greenhouse effect, scientists say.

Bruce McCarl, an economist at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in College Station, said last week that West Texas landscapes of thirsty soils and treeless horizons could sweep across the lush Sam Houston National Forest of East Texas if a recent study by Texas scientists is correct.

Global warming is blamed on a buildup in the atmosphere of carbon dioxide and other gases, which trap sunlight that normally would be reflected by the Earth. Carbon dioxide is a byproduct of fossil fuels being burned, and its presence in the atmosphere increases the Earth's ability to retain heat.

Ron Hilliard, district conservationist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Odessa office, said last week if West Texas dried out any more than it is now, much of the vegetation would not survive.

"Our summers average between 80 and 90 degrees ... we couldn't handle a 10-degree increase," he said. "Much of the forage that ranchers depend on just couldn't cope with that. Farmers would be in much worse shape, too."

McCarl said that as much as half of the Piney Woods in East Texas could disappear as fossil-fuel combustion and industrial development continue to change the Earth's atmosphere.

"Some data indicate that the tree line, now west of Austin, could move back to east of College Station," McCarl told the Odessa American. "The environment in Houston could be similar to that now west of San Antonio."

Federal geologists have said their studies indicate that the Ogallala Aquifer, a huge body of underground water that stretches from South Dakota to Texas, is being depleted by irrigation pumping at an annual rate equal to the entire flow of the Colorado River.

Tom Ahlbrandt, a geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey office in Virginia, said last week that this has accelerated desertification in West Texas and could result in a region depleted of natural vegetation.

McCarl said his study indicates that temperatures around the world will become hotter throughout the next century. For Texas, forecasts indicate that average annual temperature increases could be between 10 and 13 degrees, he said.

"Adding 13 degrees to the annual average temperature of 57.5 degrees in the Texas High Plains, for example, would make that region more like the current climate in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, which has an annual average temperature of about 73 degrees ...," he said.

McCarl said dryland crop yields could decrease by as much as 44 percent, and irrigated crop yields by up to 21 percent.

"Agricultural benefits to consumers and producers in the state could decrease by $700 million to $3 billion if crop varieties adapted to heat and drier soil conditions were not available," he said.

Ahlbrandt said federal studies show a return of the Great American Desert would threaten agriculture nationwide worth $32 billion.

'Old Man of the Mountain' losing an old friend

FRANCONIA, N.H. (AP) — Niels Nielsen has rappelled down the Old Man of the Mountain for 30 years to protect the crumbling granite silhouette from the ravages of nature and man.

But last week, on his 63rd birthday, Nielsen slipped and fell. He wasn't hurt, but decided to make it his last trip to the 40-foot-tall human profile carved by nature in New Hampshire's White Mountains.

Since 1960, Nielsen has tried to maintain the face by doing such things as scraping algae, binding splits and diverting water. Next year, the youngest of Nielsen's four sons takes over.

"My father kept asking me to come and it became one of the few things he and I had in common," said David Nielsen, 32.

Nielsen began caring for the Old Man while working for the state Highway Department. Since then, he's made sure the face didn't go a year without maintenance.

"You might say I pushed for it," he said. "I didn't want to see it come down."

The state paid for equipment and rented a helicopter to land Nielsen above the Old Man so he could rappel down. Nielsen retired from the department two years ago, when he began to work for free with help from state parks workers.

"I'm not a mountain climber. I'm a mountain hanger," said Nielsen, who lives in Plymouth, 30 miles south of Franconia.

The first recorded sighting of the Old Man was in 1805, by construction workers who thought it resembled Thomas Jefferson. The orator Daniel Webster said of it, "God Almighty has hung out a sign that in New Hampshire He makes men."

The author Nathaniel Hawthorne visited the Old Man in 1832 and wrote: "It seemed as if an enormous giant, or a Titan, had sculptured his own likeness on the precipice. ... The vast lips ... if they could have spoken, would have rolled their thunder accents from one end of the valley to the other."

Today, the Old Man is broken and humbled by time.

The shifting of the earth on Cannon Mountain is splitting its Neanderthal forehead and weakening its Adam's apple. Acid rain has burned its face so badly that the granite crumbles in Nielsen's hands.

Last week, Nielsen killed algae on the Old Man's face with bleach to prepare it for an application of acid retardant.

He is not the first to care for the Old Man.

In 1906, a Methodist minister, the Rev. Guy Roberts, was climbing over the face and discovered its forehead was sliding. Roberts spent nine years looking for someone to help repair the profile.

In 1915, he met Ed Geddes, a quarry superintendent from Quincy, Mass., who a year later climbed the cliffs and bolstered the forehead with steel buckles. But a short time later, the forehead began splitting.

Polk County happy prison to be built in area

LIVINGSTON, Texas (AP) — Sometime within the next two years, Andy Kildow will have almost 2,300 convicted felons living a mile from his Lake Livingston home.

He couldn't be happier at the prospect. Really.

"How would you feel if somebody handed you a $100 bill?" says Kildow, a 41-year-old car salesman. "That's basically what they (the Texas Board of Criminal Justice) are doing, putting money in our pockets. I don't know of anybody who's opposed to it. It's bound to help business."

Kildow and Polk County civic leaders say local businesses badly need the 800 new jobs the prison will create.

Polk County, population 30,000, has long been the state's leading timber producer. Champion International, with mills in Corrigan and Camden that produce mainly plywood, employs almost 1,000 people. The plants remained stable during the state's recent recession because Champion aggressively sought new markets outside Texas.

But local leaders note the county has no major industry aside from the timber business and the fluctuating resort and retirement trade generated from the 90,000-acre Lake Livingston.

Squabble hampers Navy aircraft project

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Officials at General Dynamics Corp. and McDonnell Douglas probably have until February to work out their differences and get the Navy's A-12 Advanced Tactical Aircraft project back on track.

The squabbling has put the $4.7 billion project a year behind schedule and almost $1 billion over budget, the Fort Worth-Star Telegram reported Sunday.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney will prepare his proposed defense budget for 1992 in February.

A Defense Department official said last week that Cheney "has been embarrassed enough by this program, so he's not likely to be too nice if the contractors don't whip it into shape."

"If it didn't involve one of the Navy's pet projects, the tiffs between GD and McDonnell Douglas would be entertaining," said a Pentagon official, who spoke to the newspaper on condition of anonymity.

On July 18, General Dynamics announced that it has lost $450 million on the project. The corporation then transferred its president, Herb Rogers, from St. Louis to Fort Worth to help rescue the program.

The companies are supposed to share in the profits and losses generated from the A-12. But they cannot agree on the losses.

McDonnell Douglas has reported losing about $89 million on the project. Pentagon officials, however, agreed that General Dynamic's $450 million figure is accurate.

The A-12 is expected to replace the Navy's fleet of A-6 intruder aircraft. The aircraft is also expected to supplant the F-16 fighter as General Dynamic's most important project.

About 5,000 workers at a plant near Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth are developing the A-12. A similar operation is underway at the McDonnell Douglas plant in St. Louis.

The A-12 has been shrouded in secrecy since the $4.7 billion program began in 1987. There are no pictures of what the plane will look like. But congressional and Pentagon sources say the A-12 taking shape here is at least 10,000 pounds overweight.

"The A-12 is a perfect example of why two competing aircraft companies should not be forced into bed with each other to build an airplane," said Paul Nisbet, an aerospace analyst with Prudential-Bache Capital Funding in New York.

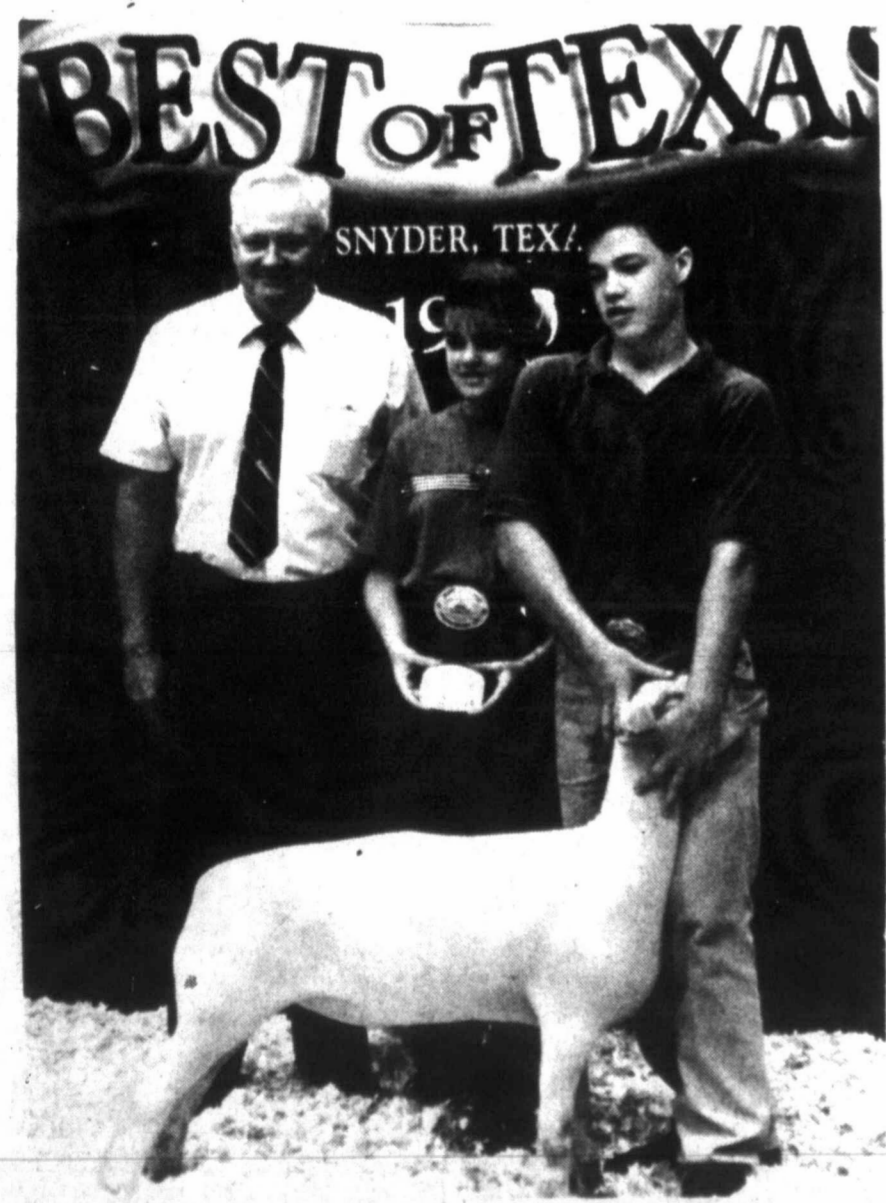

Another obstacle is apparently related to difficulties in developing the composite material that will comprise the bulk of the aircraft.

The companies have been unable to agree on how to share composite information among their own engineers.

Composites are graphite-based materials that have been bonded into aircraft parts. They are strong, lightweight and reflect fewer radar waves than metal.

But Pentagon bureaucracy and contractors' reluctance to part with their inventions have delayed the sharing of information, industry sources said.

"Even when they are forced to cooperate, they are doing so very reluctantly," said one Pentagon official.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT I had cardiac catheterization in 1988 and was advised to have my 90 percent heart blockage repaired by surgery. I cannot bring myself to have the surgery. My problem is further complicated by diabetes and a high cholesterol level. Gynecological problems call for a D&C, yet the heart blockage has me concerned. Can I make it through a D&C, and what type of anesthesia would you recommend? Would you suggest repair of the blockage also?

DEAR READER Your health problems are complicated, and I would be presumptuous to offer specific advice that is best given by the physicians who know you and have examined you.

Your primary problem is almost total blockage of one (or more) of the arteries supplying oxygen to your heart. Surgery might be your best bet.

However, depending on the location and extent of the arterial blockage, you might be helped by non-surgical treatment, such as laser therapy (used to burn away the obstruction) or balloon angioplasty (in which a balloon-covered catheter is threaded into the blocked artery; rapid inflation of the balloon will crack and disintegrate the occlusion).

A cardiologist is the best person to advise you. Don't ignore the problem — because non-surgical alternatives may be available to you.

Your health is also being affected by diabetes and an elevated cholesterol level. Your doctor will want to address these problems, too, with a low-sugar, low-fat diet and — perhaps — medication.

The questions of gynecological surgery and the type of anesthesia are difficult. If such surgery is required, spinal anesthesia, which allows you to be fully awake, is the safest. However, I'll have to leave that decision to the anesthesiologist.

Clearly, you need the services of several specialists. By reviewing your health status and working closely together, the doctors should be able to arrive at a consensus and suggest an appropriate course of action.

To give you more information, I am sending you free copies of my Health Reports "Eating Right For A Healthy Heart," "An Informed Approach To Surgery," "Medical Specialists," and "Diabetes Mellitus." Other readers who would like copies should send $1.25 for each report with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title(s).

DEAR DR. GOTT I'm a 30-year-old male and was diagnosed at the age of 16 with a spermatocoele. It has bothered me about five times over the last 14 years. What exactly is this, and can it impair the reproductive system?

DEAR READER A spermatocoele is a benign cyst that lies close to a testicle. Ordinarily, it is painless and causes no symptoms; it does not affect fertility or sexual performance. Sometimes, spermatocoeles enlarge and feel heavy and uncomfortable. In such cases, a simple operation to remove the cyst solves the problem. You should request a consultation with a urologist.

Streep sings song in movie

NEW YORK (AP) — She does great foreign accents, but can Meryl Streep sing country?

Apparently so, given a little practice.

The 41-year-old Streep belts out a country tune in "Postcards from the Edge," a film based on Carrie Fisher's novel about a drug-plagued actress who, among other things, sings in a Western movie.

"I was beside myself with fear," Streep said in the Aug. 6 issue of Time magazine. "My knees were going a mile a minute and my upper lip was uncontrollable."

Washington Today...

How to defeat Supreme Court nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Right now, people across the nation are examining President Bush's choice of David Souter for the Supreme Court. But in a few weeks the jury will narrow to 14 men on the Senate Judiciary Committee.

And maybe, if Souter gets in trouble, just three of those 14.

The early line is that Souter is a shoo-in. He's got no fingerprints, as people say. He hasn't taken sides on the tough issues.

And the presumption always is to favor the president's nominee unless his or her opponents convict the candidate of being politically or morally unsuitable.

Two of President Reagan's nominees, Robert Bork and Douglas Ginsburg, failed for those reasons, in that order. The rejection of Bork, who refused to withdraw even when his fate was sealed, was a nasty partisan affair that senators don't want to repeat.

Unless... The two most likely committee members to come out against Souter would be Sens. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio.

Kennedy and Metzenbaum are the most liberal members of the committee and, perhaps, the Senate as a whole. With no women on the panel and no blacks in the Senate, Kennedy and Metzenbaum are the ones women's groups and civil rights groups will count on to represent their viewpoints and ask critical questions when the hearings begin Sept. 13.

In his years as a prosecutor and judge, Souter hasn't had to confront issues such as abortion and government programs to help minorities, although he once made a speech critical of affirmative action. Conservatives seem confident he'll stand with them once on the Supreme Court, although some anti-abortion people are wary.

Sen. Charles E. Grassley, a strongly anti-abortion member of the committee, says he'll be putting the abortion question to Souter. The liberals will too.

How far Souter will go in answering the questions is another matter, given his refusal to answer any substantive questions during the first days after his nomination. As a sitting federal judge, he can respond that almost any specific question is inappropriate to answer.

"I would be willing to predict that the public is not going to know" how he's going to vote on the court, said Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., a committee member who Souter visited last week.

If Leahy's wrong, and opponents — probably liberal — find an Achilles heel on the nominee, Kennedy and Metzenbaum would seek support first from the Democratic moderates on the panel. Those include Leahy, committee Chairman Joseph Biden, D-Del., and Sens. Paul Simon, D-Ill., and Herb Kohl, D-Wis.

That would give them six votes, two short of what would be needed to get the committee to oppose the nomination.

Five of the six Republicans on the committee would be extremely unlikely to go against the Republican president's nominee. He can count on support from Sens. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.; Orrin Hatch, R-Utah; Alan Simpson, R-Wyo.; Gordon Humphrey, R-N.H., and Grassley.

That leaves two Democrats and one Republican as the swing votes.

Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., helped doom the Bork nomination three years ago when the senior Southerner opposed President Reagan's nominee.

Retarded man's family says he may have been lynched

WAXAHACHIE, Texas (AP) —

The death of a 36-year-old retarded man has been ruled an accident caused by a deviant sexual practice, but relatives and friends say he may have been lynched.

The naked body of Tommy Phillips was found on Jan. 27 hanging from a tree outside a group home where he lived. A sock was stuffed in his mouth and his hands were loosely tied behind his back.

Authorities at first ruled the 36-year-old's death a suicide. But the Department of Public Safety later ruled the death an accident caused by a deviant sexual practice. Phillips had the mental capacity of a kindergartner.

The Dallas Morning News reported Sunday that after the death, several employees received threatening phone calls at home and at work and were told to leave town. The group home closed in April.

A woman who worked at the home said: "They got what they wanted. They got us out of the neighborhood."

The DPS report said Phillips rigged the noose, crammed the sock in his mouth and tied his hands behind his back to increase his sexual excitement when masturbating.

Experts say the activity sometimes causes death accidentally when the noose prevents pressure from being released on the neck.

Lt. Ed Richards, a DPS analyst who prepared a 3-page report on the case, says he's comfortable with his conclusion.

The report notes that Phillips' IQ was too low to rule it a suicide. The report also said he had a history of stealing, running away and of "aberrant sexual behavior that would make him vulnerable to a pervert."

The Ellis County Sheriff's Department concurs with the DPS report, the newspaper reported.

But people who knew Phillips say that conclusion is ridiculous. Staff members at another group home where Phillips lived said he was incapable of the detailed preparations involved in the hanging.

They say the report ignores the fact that Phillips was severely scalded six months earlier by someone who reportedly threatened to kill him if he talked about it.

An independent forensic pathologist hired by The Morning News said that it would have been almost impossible for Phillips, who had an IQ of 34, to devise and complete the task.

"The only thing that would be more inconceivable would be to call it a natural death," said pathologist Linda Norton.

Pat Gray Body works in Big Spring uses latest state-of-the-art equipment

"We try to put ourselves in the customer's place," says Pat Gray, owner of Pat Gray Body Works. "When your car has been in a collision, you're just thinking about one thing: Get it fixed. Get it fixed as quickly as possible and get it fixed right."

That's why Pat Gray Body Works has invested in state-of-the-art equipment for every step of your job from computerized estimate through high tech collision repairs systems to the final factory-perfect finish. "And we provide written guarantees on our work," says Gray.

While the customer waits, Pat Gray prepares computer-generated estimates "that are speedier and much more accurate than hand-written estimates". The computer scans the latest catalogues of OEM (Original Equipment Manufacturer) parts, then computes time and labor costs for specific repairs, producing quick, accurate estimates. Insurance companies will act on these estimates, says Gray, moving your job forward quickly.

Collision repairs at Pat Gray's start with the Kansas Jack Magna Rack III, a revolutionary system for unibody cars that literally reverses the collision action by pulling it out the way it went in and then squares and aligns each section of the car. With its advanced gauging and analysis system, the machine can achieve repair results that are correct within one or two millimeters.

The next step is the Hunter computerized four-wheel alignment system. This impressive machine features a rack equipped with four sensors, one for each wheel so they can be adjusted individually. The machine operator is given precise analysis through computer screen read-out. The ultimate in precision, the Hunter relates all four wheels to a common centerline to insure precise alignment and a perfectly centered steering wheel.

The final step is repainting. Pat Gray Body Works is the only body shop in the area equipped with the Blowtherm Ultra Spraybooth Oven, which is described as "the finest automobile refinishing machine made." Gray stocks factory tinting formulas but custom mixes the paints as needed to achieve any variances caused by sun and other factors, thus matching any car's finish perfectly.

Written warranties are provided for all repairs: lifetime warranty on workmanship and five years on paint jobs. The shop backs new parts warranties from the manufacturer.

Pat Gray Body Works, located at 700 N. Benton in Big Spring, offers free wrecker service on collision repair jobs in the area, including service to Snyder, Lamesa, Colorado City and Sweetwater. Phone (915) 263-0852 or 263-2374.

Actor's wife saw script first

NEW YORK (AP) — Patrick Swayze says his wife spotted the script for "Ghost," his first hit movie since "Dirty Dancing" in 1987.

"It made me cry," actress Lisa Niemi, Swayze's wife of 15 years, said in the Aug. 6 issue of People magazine.

Swayze said he kept his wife in mind during steamy love scenes with co-star Demi Moore.

"I used Lisa a lot, that core feeling about the person you love," he said. "It's there all the time. All you gotta do is call it up."
