9th Annual Floyd Co. Fair Most Successful in History of Organization

Exhibits in all Departments Unusually Good—Program Interesting and Varied.

FRIDAY THE BIGGEST DAY

Failure of Aviator to Appear Only Real Disappointment of Three Big Days

The Ninth Annual Floyd County Fair proved, as predicted, to be far and away, the biggest event of its kind ever staged in Floydada. Attendance figures cannot be verified, but conservatively estimated, probably ran as high as ten thousand people for the three days. Friday was the largest day in point of attendance. Six thousand people were on the grounds that day.

The program, as given out each day, was strictly adhered to, and carried out without a hitch. Harmony and good feeling prevailed throughout.

The exhibits for all departments began arriving Wednesday afternoon. By four o'clock of Thursday, last hour of entry, the largest display of agricultural and horticultural products ever shown here, filled every available space, the ladies department, including fine arts, textile and culinary exhibits also being full. The Livestock exhibit had probably twice as many entries as any previous year. The Poultry department was hardly so well filled. What entries were made were good, however.

In a short speech at 11 a. m., Thursday, Col. W. M. Massie formally opened the Fair and gave welcome to the visitors. He was introduced by J. D. Price, chairman of the executive committee.

An event that will long be remembered by the little folks was the Doll Parade in the afternoon of the first day. More than a hundred children with dolls in arms and conveyances were in this parade, which was in charge of Mrs. C. H. Featherston and Miss Windsor. Winners in this event are given under the prize awards list.

LARGE DELEGATIONS WERE HERE

Delegations from Plainview, Lockney, Lubbock, Crosbyton, Ralls and other neighboring towns were here daily. Possibly the most notable was the Lockney delegation which visited the fair the morning of Friday. A train of thirty autos composed the delegation, which formed in a parade just preceding the Merchants Trade Parade, the two making a procession a mile in length. The Lubbock delegation arrived in autos at noon. Their Lubbock County Fair boosting was well organized and their visit thoroughly appreciated.

The Merchants Trade Parade was the biggest similar feature ever attempted in Floydada. All the floats and autos were beautifully decorated and won unstinted praise.

H. M. Bainer addressed a large audience at the pavilion at 11 o'clock of the second day, followed by L. L. Johnson. Their talks were pointed and replete with praise and constructive suggestions.

On the afternoon of Friday the principal attraction at the pavilion was the address of Congressman R. L. Henry. Mr. Henry's address here was the first of a series of speaking dates over the plains. He was introduced by Judge L. S. Kinder of Plainview and spoke on economic subjects of the day. He was very much pleased with his reception here. Judge George Foster of Lamesa, followed him and spoke on the subject, "The Possibilities of the Panhandle."

Saturday, "Old West Texas Day," was a day full of interesting events. The opening feature was the livestock parade, which formed at the Live Stock pens and proceeded to the Grounds. The parade was practically a half mile long. Fine horses, jacks, and work teams were features of this parade.

In the afternoon ex-Lieutenant Governor J. N. Browning of Amarillo, addressed the old settlers of the county at the pavilion. His address was given in the usual inimitable style of Judge Browning. At the close of his address a Floyd County Old Settlers' Reunion was organized, with R. E. L. Muncy as its president, R. C. Scott secretary, and W. L. Boerner, W. A. Shipley and R. T. Miller, executive committee. Twenty years' residence in the county is to give eligibility to membership in the organization. "Old West Texas Day" and the "Old Settlers' Reunion" is to be a permanent feature of the Floyd County Fair each succeeding year.

Baseball games, exhibitions by Mollie Bailey's Show, Hart's Wild West Show, Snake shows, and the Virginia Minstrels on the last evening, with other concessions on the mid way completed the entertainment features of the occasion.

No AEROPLANE FLIGHTS
The crowds on every day were everything that could be expected. Some minor disappointments aside from the failure of the aeroplane flights to develop, did not mar the occasion. The failure of the aeroplane flights was the cause of disappointment among many, and peculiarly discouraging to the committee who had the execution of the program in charge. Otherwise the fair came up to all expectations and beyond. For this reason the Fair may be said to have been a complete success.

Baptist Association in Meeting Here

Large attendance Marks Proceedings Each Day.—Much Interest Evidenced.

Baptists of five counties are convened in Floydada this week, at the meeting of the Staked Plains Baptist Association, the sessions having begun Tuesday night.

Matters of importance to the work of the church have had attention in the daily sessions, and two sermons a day,—at 11 a. m., and 8 p. m.,—have been the order to date. Dr. O. L. Hailey, of Plainview, preached Wednesday at noon, and Rev. Balsh, pastor of the Matador church preached Wednesday evening.

The association is composed of Motley, Crosby, Hale, Briscoe and Floyd counties. Upward of a hundred visitors have been in attendance, including pastors and messengers from the various churches in the district.

The sessions of the association will continue through Friday night.

Rev. Jno. F. Elder of Floydada is moderator and Rev. I. E. Gates, of Plainview secretary of the association.

Harvest Season Opens in Earnest

Recent Dry Weather Hurries Maturing of all Grain Crops—Heavy Yields Reported

The harvesting season for row crops has opened. With the beginning of this week hundreds of fields of Floyd County maize and kaffir are being gathered. The ten-days of very dry weather ending last week hurried the maturing of crops.

Several threshers are going in the county. The yield averages well with last year's yield, ranging from one to two tons of maize per acre.

Some of the new crop is being placed on the market. The price however, is not encouraging and much of the feed which was expected to be sold as surplus will be fed to hogs and cattle.

Virginia Minstrels Draw Good Crowd Saturday Night

The Virginia Minstrels which showed here on the last night of the Fair, drew a large crowd.

The greater part of the show was considered good by the crowd. Their band was one of the best which has visited Floydada.

This is the first appearance of the Virginia Minstrels here this year, their previous engagement being rained out in the spring.

Floyd County Farm is to be Improved and Occupied

The Floyd County farm, on the Matador road east of Floydada, is to be improved with a modern four-room dwelling and out-houses at an early date. A windmill will also be placed over the well already dug on the farm.

The contract for the dwelling has been let. H. E. Cannady is the contractor. Work will be begun on the house soon.

The farm has been rented to Jonah McPeak, a brother of S. N. McPeak, recently moved here from Hall County. A number of years ago he resided here.

Grand Jury Holds Three Day Term

8 Non-Jury Cases Disposed of this Week.—Special Venire Summoned For Monday.

District court of Floyd County began its September term Monday with Judge Joiner presiding. No jury was summoned for the first week of court, non-jury civil cases taking the time of the court for the first three days following the empanelling of the grand jury. Eight cases were disposed of up to Wednesday night, when court was adjourned until Monday when the criminal docket will be taken up.

The grand jury was in session for three days, adjourning Wednesday afternoon late. Nine bills were returned,—four felonies and five misdemeanors. The grand jury was composed of the following members: W. F. Weatherbee, foreman, A. B. Blount, Harry Weatherly, C. Applewhite, G. D. French, J. H. Tackett, O. F. Batty, A. J. McCoy, T. Z. Reed, M. T. Sanders, R. C. Scott, Will I. Allen.

The J. B. Garten case has been set for next Monday. A special venire of 72 jurors have been summoned. A large array of witnesses from Petersburg and surrounding country have been summoned in the case.

Vote for Sidewalks and Progress the 25th

The people of Floydada have a very favorable opportunity to do their town a mighty good turn on Saturday, September 25th, when they may by majority vote adopt the rules as laid down by the Texas Statutes under which the local town council may compel the building of sidewalks, under certain restrictions, on property adjoining streets.

The provisions of the statute under which it is proposed that Floydada operate for the construction of sidewalks and crossings, have been found not to be injurious to the individual's rights and are a great aid to town building.

Casey Corrects Rumor Concerning his Political Intentions.

The Hesperian received the following communication last night from T. F. Casey, of Lockney:

"To the voters of Floyd County, Greeting: In justice to you and myself I write this correcting a rumor that I have said I would not run for tax assessor in the next primary. You remember I said in my card of thanks after the last primary, that if my mind did not change I would be in the race again two years hence. There I have firmly stood, my mind has not changed. In due time I will make known to you my mind.

"I am positively for justice, equity and "Golden Rule" in all things.

Most Respectfully,
T. F. Casey."

Small Crowd Hears Dr. and Mrs. Southers in "Red Wing"

Dr. and Mrs. Southers presented "Red Wing" last night at the Public School Auditorium, under the auspices of the Methodist Woman's Missionary Society. The crowd was small, but the rendition was excellent according to reports, which state that the characterization, costuming, and presentation of the evening's entertainment was every thing that could be expected.

The entertainment was presented in three parts.

Big Attendance at School Opening

Capacity House at Exercises Monday—More class room Made Necessary

Floydada Public School opened its 1915-16 term last Monday morning under highly favorable conditions. The attendance of patrons of the school was very large. The spacious auditorium could not hold pupils and patrons at the opening hour.

The enrollment on the first day was 360 pupils. Wednesday evening it was 375. It is expected to go above 400 before November.

With the large enrollment the School Board found themselves confronted with the necessity of enlarging the class room accommodations. A class room is being cut from the auditorium that will accommodate 50 pupils. Last year it was necessary to build a wood building on the campus to accommodate the laboratory.

The high school department this year has upward of 100 pupils.

Sandhill Wins three-game Series from Center During Fair

Sandhill and Center played a series of three games at Floydada Baseball Park on the mornings of the three days of the fair, Sandhill taking all three games. The first two games were one-sided, 11 to 1 and 10 to 3. The third game was closely contested, the score being 3 to 1.

J. and Mrs. Hammon of Center went to Amarillo Saturday to meet Mrs. Hammons sister, Mrs. Myers, from Corona, Cal. Jake returned home Monday. The sisters will visit the next six weeks at their old home in Illinois. Mrs. Myers was favorably impressed with the Panhandle country.

Floydada Takes Big End of Series

Canyon Visitors Lose Two of Three Games of the Floyd County Fair Ball Series

Floydada Baseball team won two out of three of the North and South Plains Championship series from Canyon played on the afternoons of the three days of the Floyd County Fair. Floydada took the first two games and Canyon was winner in the third. The scores were 8 to 7, 1 to 0, and 7 to 2.

Each day's game was a hard fought battle, and was witnessed by crowds that crowded the capacity of the ball park.

On the first day Voyles for Floydada was pitted against Pritchard for Canyon on the mound. Harry Burrus took the box for Floydada after the fourth. The game was in doubt until the ninth, with Floydada slightly in the lead after the seventh frame.

Both sides did very hard hitting from the opening inning, and thrilling situations were developed with every inning.

The second game was a pitchers' duel between Bob Burleson, who has done valiant work all season for the locals, and Shake Davis, for Canyon. Neither side was able to score for 11 innings. In the last half of the 12th Sam Hale for Floydada parked the ball with one man on base, bringing in the winning run. Receipts for this day showed the largest attendance of the three. The game was the most thrilling seen on the local diamond this year. Each pitcher pulled himself out of some tight places, five hits were made off each, and each had 14 strikeouts to his credit.

Canyon had the third game won from the start. The Canyon boys found Williams' offerings easy from the start, while Pressley for the visitors had his curve ball working good and always worked out of the bad places with good grace. He has been singularly effective against Floydada all the season. The score was 7 to 2.

Perhaps the best fruits of the series were the good feeling toward Floydada which all the players and fans carried away with them. The Canyon manager and team expressed themselves as well-satisfied with the treatment received here, though the loss of the series was a hard dose for the visitors, having had only one defeat chalked against them during the entire season's play previously.

Children's Eyes and Glasses

The eye is the organ that gives us the sense of sight, and makes it possible for us to enjoy the beautiful. Without it man is placed at a great disadvantage; and yet many men who would leave no stone unturned to save the eyes of a horse, will let their children go through childhood or possibly through life, with diseased or deformed eyes and do little or nothing for them. They could barter the horse for more dollars if the eyes were perfect, but they can not see far enough into the future, to realize that the child would have a greater earning power when grown if his or her eyes were perfect, or as near perfect as possible.

Children should not be allowed to enter school before six years of age, nor should the child be allowed to look much at pictures, books or anything requiring close vision for long at a time, as fusion of the vision does not take place until about the age of six, and for that reason children of four or five years of age should not be sent to the kindergarten, as close application of the eyes at this age causes more near sighted people than any other factor. Children are apt to form the habit of holding their books close to the eyes while studying; this causes a strain of the muscles of the eyes, both within and on the outside of the eyeball, which is another cause for near sightedness and is a cause of cross-eyes.

We often have astigmatism in children, and, in order to see, they must hold the book close, and squint the eyelids; another cause for cross-eyes. We occasionally see a child that is exceedingly far-sighted, and who to see properly, requires a lens even stronger than does the average person at sixty years of age.

Poor vision often accounts for the nervous condition, so often found in children, headaches and other pains. Errors in vision very frequently cause cross-eyes and if a child begins to show symptoms of cross eyes, no matter how young, the eyes should be properly tested, and if necessary treated, as such conditions usually increase, and after they have reached the stage where one eye only is used, the other eye loses its vision to a greater or less degree.

If a child needs glasses they should be worn. Reputable eye specialists should be consulted, for there are many children and young persons wearing glasses today who do not need them, and many are wearing incorrect and injurious glasses.

A Curious Mineral

Perhaps the most curious mineral found in the United States is staurolite, otherwise known as the "fairy stone." This is an iron aluminum silicate found only in Virginia and North Carolina, the reddish-brown and brownish-black crystals occurring in well-defined single and double crosses. There is some commercial demand for the crosses as curios, which are worn as watch charms or on chains in the manner of a locket or lavalier—a demand perhaps stimulated by the quaint legend which is told of their origin; the fairies living in the caves of the mountains, on hearing the sad tidings of the death of Christ, fashioned these crosses as mementos of Him.

SHERIFF SHOTS MAN AT PADUCAH FOLLOWING ROW

Bill Cook May Survive With Six Shots Through His Body

Last Saturday afternoon Bill Cook was shot six times in various parts of the body at the Cottle County Court house in Paducah by Sheriff Theodore Combest of that county, following an altercation between Cook and a deputy of the sheriff and strange to tell has a chance to recover.

The report of the affair that reached Floydada, and which seems to be fairly accurate, is that the wounded man and the deputy had a fist fight following a misunderstanding over a personal matter, possibly a fence or boundary line. Cook had the best of the fisticuff. Following the fight the sheriff reached the scene. According to his story Cook made a gun play. When he did the sheriff began riddling him with bullets from an automatic pistol, six shots taking effect in the neck, lungs and abdomen.

Cook's father was killed some 19 years ago while he was sheriff at Seymour.

Mrs. W. B. Dare's 5-month-old colt, Tom, which was entered in the livestock division of the Fair on the morning of the first day, died late the same evening, supposedly of pneumonia.

The colt was a 5-month-old, and was one of the prettiest entered. He was expected to be in the winning division of the entries.

Panhandle State Fair Premiums Total $12000

The total premiums offered for the 1915 Panhandle State Fair at Amarillo, September 21st to 25th inclusive, total $12,000, by far and away a larger amount than ever before offered for fair premiums in the history of West Texas, and more than offered by any other fair in the state except the Dallas Fair, which alone is a greater fair than the Panhandle State Fair. These premiums cover livestock, racing agricultural and horticultural products, and kindred others. It is indeed an imposing premium list; and one regarding which the whole Panhandle should be proud.

More than thirty five counties have signified their intention to have county exhibits at the Panhandle State Fair this year; and the officers of the fair are now able to announce that some of the leading race horses in the United States will enter the races during the last four days of the Fair. The amusements will be clean and instructive.

Ample preparation has been made for the comfort of all. The railroads have offered very attractive rates. And in every respect every visitor to the Fair this year will see, hear and do things on a bigger and larger scale than ever before.

C. W. Mitchell is home after a year spent in California, where he visited various cities, spending much of his time, however, at Los Angeles. Mr. Mitchell enjoyed his stay in the Golden West very much, but is glad to be back in Floydada. Of the two Wests Mr. Mitchell likes this the best, he declares.

Hon. Reuben M. Ellerd, of Plainview, was among the visitors in Floydada during the Fair, meeting many of the voters of the 13th Congressional District during his stay here. Mr. Ellerd is spending much of his time going over the district in the interest of his candidacy for the office of Congressman.

Old Time Enemies Meet

Tuesday Fred Estes, a pioneer citizen of Childress but now living in Memphis, came down to visit the Childress County Fair, and while here called on old Kromartie, one of the under chiefs of the Kiowa Indians who are spending the three days here. In talking with the old Indian, Mr. Estes reminded him that some 36 years ago he was given a hard chase by a band of Kiowas near Quanah. At the mention of this incident, old Kromartie's face brightened up and in his broken English he declared, "Ugh! Ugh! me member," and other exclamations, showing that beyond all doubt he was one of the band of 37 Kiowas that gave Mr. Estes and his brother, Joe, a ten-mile chase for their lives, after killing and scalping another man by the name of Joe Earl. On learning that Mr. Estes had played the leading part in one of his old chases, the old warrior became quite demonstrative, shook Mr. Estes' hand warmly and very clearly indicated his pleasure at the meeting. The incident caused the old man to grow reminiscent concerning the days of his youth, and he told how he and his companions used to make war on the white men and take their scalps, but concluded by a rather regretful sigh, "all gone now." Mr. Estes had thought that the reason the Kiowas killed Earl was because they had a grudge against him, but on inquiring of Kromartie, found that this was not true, as they did not know Earl, but killed him merely for pastime.—Childress Post.

Carnival Scrap at Childress

There was a free-for-all scrap on the carnival grounds Wednesday night, on the fair grounds at Childress between the employees of the carnival and some visitors who were said to be rather rowdy. The result was several battered heads and black eyes. One man from Cottle county is said to be badly hurt. The fight broke up the show for the night. Several arrests were made.—Hall Co. Herald.

BLACKLEG OF CATTLE

Dangerous Disease to Young Cattle--Germs Live in the Soil

U. S. Agricultural Bulletin:

Blackleg, also known as black quarter or quarter ill, is a disease of young cattle characterized by bloody swelling under the skin of the fleshy parts of the body. It is not a contagious disease; that is, animals do not contract it by contact with affected animals. It is an infectious disease; that is, animals get it from soil or pastures in which the spores or seeds of the disease exist. The disease is confined almost entirely to young cattle, and other species of animals are very rarely affected. It is seen most frequently in animals ranging in age from 6 months to 2½ years, and well-bred, well-conditioned animals seem more susceptible than scrub stock.

Blackleg is caused by a bacillus called popularly the "blackleg bacillus." This organism produces spores which carry the disease much as the spores or seedling element of ferns spread ferns. The blackleg spores when once established in the soil remain ready to cause trouble for long periods, sometimes several years, until they gain entrance to the animal body, whereupon they grow and reproduce the disease. When this fact is understood, the persistence of the disease in a locality is readily comprehended. Blackleg is a pasture disease, the infective agent being found in the soil, and the germs are taken in with the food and water or through slight wounds in the skin, such as briar pricks or barbed-wire scratches.

The disease manifests itself by swelling under the skin of the fleshy parts of the body, usually the quarters, hence the name "quarter ill." The animal becomes lame and lags behind the herd. In experimentally inoculated animals, they frequently continue to eat as long as they can stand. The swellings, at first hard, hot, and painful, later become cold and insensitive, while the skin becomes discolored and leathery. Gas accumulates underneath the skin so that when pressed with the fingers a crackling sound is heard similar to that produced by placing a piece of paper under the coat and rubbing with the hand. The animal finally goes down, and lies struggling upon the ground, catching its breath in gasps, and expelling it with groaning, grunting sounds. The head is frequently thrown to the side.

After death the animal is found lying in distorted positions, and is usually bloated as tightly as the skin will hold, which causes the legs to stick straight out horizontally in a characteristic attitude. Bloody fluid oozes from the natural openings, is forced in drops from the skin, and collects in large blisters under the outer layers. On cutting into the swollen parts a sweetish, foul-smelling gas rushes out, and a bloody, frothy fluid runs from the opening, sometimes accompanied by the black, mushy, disintegrated muscle, which is forcibly blown out by the pressure of gas. The loose tissue underneath the skin is filled with bloody fluid and bubbles of gas, which appear as a quacking gelatine-like mass. The divisions between the muscles contain the same fluid and have a greenish metallic color, while the muscles are soft and black.

This condition is not general throughout the body but is confined to certain affected portions. The organs seldom show extensive changes. Treatment is ineffective after the disease is once fully developed, and death almost invariably results. Some have advocated cutting into the swellings, roweling, and dragging the animals about. Such measures can not be too strongly condemned. The fluids which are liberated contain the germs of the disease, and as a result more infection is distributed over the soil.

Prevention consists in vaccination of the susceptible animals and proper disposal of dead carcasses. Vaccine is manufactured by various firms. It is also manufactured and distributed free of charge by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. Vaccine and directions for its use are sent direct to stockmen and to the proper State officials upon application by letter to the chief of the bureau.

Blackleg tends to occur in seasons, usually spring and fall, and vaccination should be performed at least one month before the usual time for the outbreak. The best results have followed semi-annual vaccination, beginning at six months and continuing until the animal is 2½ years of age.

Too strong emphasis can not be placed upon the proper disposal of the carcasses. They should not be left for predatory animals and buzzards to tear apart and distribute over the country, but should be buried deeply, without opening, where they die, using quicklime or strong antiseptics to disinfect the carcass and the place where the body has lain.

During the fiscal year 1915, 3,454,628 doses of blackleg vaccine were distributed to stock raisers and farmers in this country. This amount is approximately 45 per cent more than that distributed during the fiscal year 1914. While the percentage of increase of this year's output over that of 1914 is nearly half as great, it does not necessarily follow that blackleg in the United States is greatly on the increase. The difference is due in a large measure to the fact that stockmen in blackleg districts who heretofore did not vaccinate their animals begin now to recognize the practicability of vaccination.

Treating Wheat For Smut

A toll of millions of dollars loss is levied against the wheat growers of the Southwest and Middle West annually through the ravages of smut. This loss is easily preventable and can be avoided if the individual farmers will use the treatment herein given. The "Formalin Treatment" is the one advocated and endorsed by the United States Department of Agriculture, the State and National Experiment Stations, and Agricultural Colleges, and is as follows:

Secure a 40 per cent solution of formalin at any reliable drug store. One pound of this 40 per cent formalin solution, carefully mixed with 40 gallons of water, is sufficient to treat from 2,000 to 2,500 pounds of wheat.

The seed may be treated by dipping or sprinkling. To dip, the seed should be placed in a gunny sack and submerged in the solution, the liquid being in a barrel or tank. The bag or sack of wheat should be allowed to remain immersed in this solution for at least ten minutes, after which it is taken out, allowing the liquid to drain back into the tank or barrel for a short time. The wheat should then be emptied onto a clean place and covered with sacks or blankets for two hours, after which it should be thoroughly dried before sowing.

To sprinkle, prepare a clean place on a canvas or smooth floor and thoroughly sprinkle the space to be occupied by the wheat, with the solution, before the seed is emptied upon it. Now spread the wheat upon the space thus prepared for it, and sprinkle the solution all over it, shoveling the grain in such way over and over, so as to insure that all of the seed will be uniformly moistened with the liquid. Having thoroughly dampened the wheat with the solution, shovel the grain into a pile and cover with sacks or blankets for two hours, after which it should be thoroughly dried before sowing. Do not allow the wheat to remain wet too long before treating, as the germinating qualities may be injured.

Place the dried wheat into sacks that have been dipped in the solution, and it will be found a good plan to sprinkle the grain drill with the liquid before putting the seed into it. Exercise every precaution not to bring the treated seed into contact with grain that has not been treated, avoiding the use of bins that have contained smut infested wheat. The wheat should be treated but a short time before sowing.

COMMISSIONERS' COURT ORDER COURT YARD GRADED

Contract Calls for Seeding Yard in Grass, Trimming and Re-setting Trees

The Commissioners Court last Monday contracted with J. E. Adams, of Amarillo, for grading the court yard, trimming the trees and re-setting any that need re-setting, and seeding the yard in blue grass. The contract price is $1000. Some of the trees are said to be slightly diseased. These will have the necessary surgical attention, also, under the contract. All the work is subject to approval of the court, the seeding being done under a guarantee. Since much lime and other building material have mixed into the dirt on the yard incident to the building of the court house it will be necessary to fertilize some of the ground, Mr. Adams thinks.

The estimate of County surveyor Lider of the dirt necessary to fill the yard at a proper grade is 1750 yards.

The contract with Mr. Adams calls for the construction of a drive way for dray wagons to the coal and storage room, also.

Mr. Adams has handled work of this nature in many counties over west Texas, and his work seems to have been entirely satisfactory at points from which reports have been made.

The improvements on the court house lawn are expected to add very much to the civic attractiveness of the yard and the court house.

Wife of Prominent Lockney Citizen Died at Home Monday

Mrs. Nichols, wife of W. C. Nichols, of Lockney, one of the more prominent citizens of the county, died last Monday morning at 11 o'clock following an illness of long standing.

The funeral services were held Tuesday.

Mrs. Nichols is survived by her husband, four children and several grandchildren. Among her children are: L. R. Nichols and Mrs. Wm. McGehee, of Lockney, Mrs. J. C. Goest, of Lubbock, and Dr. E. O. Nichols, of Plainview.

A Good Special Edition

The best special edition of a weekly paper reaching this desk in some time was the Hereford Brand, 24 pages, last week, which was a treat in every way. As the name Hereford would suggest, Hereford has large specially bred Hereford herds, surrounding it on various farms and more space is given to advertising Hereford farms in this edition than to any other one line of business.

The paper, as a representative of the various industries of the town, is excellent.

Miss Myrtle Turner, of Ennis, left last Friday for her home after a two-weeks visit with the family of J. W. Howard, southwest of town. She was called home by a message stating that her brother had been seriously injured.

Young Lockney Woman Died Friday

Mrs. Mamie Wise, of Lockney, died last Friday and was buried Saturday in the Lockney Cemetery.

Mrs. Wise was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Alford, of Lockney, and had been reared in this county.

Double Drop from Aeroplane Made by 15-Year-old Girl

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 9.—Double parachute jumps from an aeroplane, the first attempts of the kind so far as known, featured Labor Day celebration at the San Diego Exposition. Miss Tiny Broadwick, fearless 15-year-old daughter of Charles Broadwick, inventor of a special chute to make double drops, was the performer.

The Exposition contracted with Charles Broadwick and his daughter for two double drops on Labor Day. The girl was borne aloft 2,500 feet by Oscar Brindley, civilian instructor at the camp of the United States Aero Squadron in North Island, across the bay from San Francisco, and she then rolled out and made the drop.

She wore two of the "pack" chutes invented by her father, and which he has been demonstrating to the government officers in the hope of having them accepted for the army aviators. After the first chute opened, she rode a while, and then cast it off and dropped again until the second opened and bore her gently to earth.

The little girl performed the feat with absolutely no fear, as she has made numerous single drops in the chutes made by her father. These, made of silk and linen, fold up snugly in a compact pack, like a knapsack, weigh only seven pounds and are worn on the back, securely fastened to a sort of vest, through which the arms are slipped.

Lubbock Fair Boosters Visit Floyd County Fair

A large delegation of Lubbock County Fair Boosters visited Floydada last Friday noon, spending two hours here seeing the Fair and telling about the Lubbock Fair which is to be held September 28-30.

The Lubbock people came in cars, and were accompanied by an excellent band. Members of the local Fair exponents headed the Lubbock Fair parade which formed on the square and marched by way of the pike to the grounds where they scattered for a short time, doing individual work, and viewing the exhibits.

About 100 people were in the Lubbock delegation. The band was an excellent one.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentling. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

F. A. Vanderlip
On The Business of Banking

The farmers of this nation to come into their own must study business. We must, as a class, understand the fundamental principles that underlie every industry, its functions to society and its relation to agriculture for there can be no intelligent co-operation without understanding. Mr. F. A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York, when asked "What is a Bank" said in part:

"The first and most familiar function of a bank is that of gathering up the idle money of a community, small sums and large, and thus forming a pool or reservoir from which responsible persons may draw as they have temporary use for money. It is evident that this makes large sums in the aggregate available for the employment of labor and the development of the community. But much more is accomplished than the use of the money actually deposited in the banks, for by the use of drafts, checks and bank notes the efficiency of money is multiplied several times over. A very large business, for example one of the great beef packers, may use very little actual money; on one side of its bank account will be entered the checks and drafts it is daily receiving from everywhere in payment for meats, while on the other side will be entered the checks it draws in payment for cattle, etc., its only use of money being for small payments, to labor and otherwise.

If there were but one bank in a community and everybody paid all bills by drawing checks on that bank and everyone receiving a check immediately deposited it in the bank, the amount of money in the bank evidently would not change at all and the entire business of the community would be settled on the books of the bank. And the situation is but slightly changed when there are several banks, for they daily exchange among themselves all the checks they receive or, each other, which practically offset themselves, although the small balances are paid in cash. This is called "clearing" and in every large city there is a "Clearing House" where representatives of the banks meet daily to settle their accounts with each other.

A bank is constantly receiving from its customers, particularly those that are shipping products to other localities, drafts and checks drawn on banks in other cities, which it usually sends for deposit to a few correspondent banks in the central cities with which it maintains permanent accounts. In this way these scattered credits are consolidated and the bank draws upon these accounts in supplying customers with the means of making payments away from home. As each local community sends and buys about the same amount abroad in the course of a year, these payments largely offset each other. It is evident that the banks are very intimately related to the trade and industry of a country. The banker is a dealer in credit much more than a dealer in money, and of course his own credit must be above question. He exchanges his credit for the credits acquired by his customers, and lends credit for their accommodation, but he must conduct the business with such judgment that he can always meet his own obligations with cash on demand. This is the essential thing about bank credit, that it shall always be the same as cash."

Henry N. Pope
On Waste in Cotton Marketing

Henry N. Pope, lecturer Texas Farmers' Union, when asked to estimate the annual loss due to improper methods of marketing the Texas cotton crop said in part:

"The waste in cotton marketing begins at the gin and it follows the product through every step from the gin to the mill and it aggregates an enormous waste which could be prevented, amounting to not less than five dollars per bale. Samples taken from the bale by the cotton buyer amount in the United States annually to 100,000 bales, which is known to commerce as the "city crop". At normal prices, that cotton is worth $60 per bale making a total of $6,000,000 per year. Experts calculate that storage for cotton can be provided at a cost of $1.50 to $2.00 per bale for the permanent structure. This loss, amounting to $6,000,000 occurs annually and the saving of this item alone within two or three years would provide all the cotton warehouses that the South can possibly use at the time of its greatest need for storage and with the largest crop that it can possibly produce, for cotton will move continually from September to March and at no time, nor under any circumstances, would there ever be more than one-third or one-fourth of the total crop under shelter.

As a consequence of the cutting of the bale for the sample, the cotton must be repacked at the compress. The ragged condition caused by much sampling and exposure in the gin yards, or in the back yard, or in the cotton yards, or on the railroad platform, or elsewhere, from the gin to shipside, results in an accumulation of dirt and trash in "pluckings" on compress platforms and in cotton yards in increased insurance, in damage from exposure, in increased fire hazards and the deduction for the tare which always exceeds the actual weight of the bagging and ties by ten pounds at least—I say that these several items of waste and graft amount in the aggregate to a sum not less than five dollars per bale, every cent of which is calculated in advance by the purchaser, and is deducted from the price which the spinner pays the farmer. None of this appears in the bill of lading but is all in the transaction and it all accrues to the loss of the producer.

The next process is official grading of the cotton sample. In my judgment the farmers are losing from fifty cents to one dollar per bale by the grading of the cotton buyer, who naturally will give himself the benefit of the doubt in order to protect his own business with the mill. A cotton buyer, uncertain as to whether a bale of cotton is strict, middling or middling fair, will buy it at the lower grade rather than the higher. We must allow that there are many dishonest men in the cotton trade, as in other vocations, and that a large number of them will take advantage of the farmers' ignorance and possibly grade the cotton much lower than its actual grade."

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

Henry N. Pope
New President of the Farmers' Union.

The farmers of today are divided into two classes—the old and the new. The old farmer represents the ancient regime—a regime that has passed into history. The new farmer is the modern business agriculturist and combined with his knowledge of raising the products of the soil is an understanding of the marketing end of agriculture, as well. The new farmer is the worthy son of a noble sire; he is the modern embodiment of the old farmers' progressiveness. To the stock of information which has been handed down to him from generations past on production, he has added a knowledge of disposing of these products in a practical and business-like manner. And where his forefathers lived "to themselves alone", he has learned the lesson of co-operation not only with his brothers who till the soil, but with all lines of industry whose interests are identical with his own.

It is to this new type of farmer that the new president of the Texas Farmers' Union belongs. In selecting Henry N. Pope as the official head of their organization the farmers of Texas have chosen a man whose policies are in keeping with progressive methods and whose far-sighted wisdom will lead the Union safely over the shoals which beset every association which numbers among its membership men of different minds and varied opinions. Mr. Pope has been the state lecturer and organizer of the Texas Union for several years and in this capacity has met and solved many problems connected with the organization which comprises practically the entire agricultural population of Texas.

It is the opinion of President Pope that it needs no prophet's eye to see the vast change for the better in rural life and conditions that is now in progress. A thorough student of economic conditions, he believes that the evolution of farming methods will steadily continue until the farming interests of the state and nation are placed on a firm financial basis and agriculture takes its rightful place as the foundation upon which all other industries are built.

President Pope invites the continued co-operation of the business interests of the state in helping to solve the problems of the farmer and is especially grateful for the assistance and encouragement being extended by the bankers and business men in trying to finance and market the future cotton crops of Texas. He will endeavor during his administration of the affairs of the Farmers' Union to bring about a closer understanding between the men who follow the plow and the men who direct the financial affairs of the state, hoping that when his tenure of office shall have expired, he may retire with the assurance that the gap of misunderstanding which has so long existed between the farming and allied industries may be bridged over in such a manner as will bring progress and prosperity to the entire citizenship of Texas.

Urges Parents to Continue
Their Children in School

University of Texas, Sept.—Dr. A. C. Ellis, Director of Extension, University of Texas, who has made a detailed and exhaustive study of the financial value of education, has facts and figures of a surprising nature to present to Texas parents here on the verge of the opening of the scholastic year.

His statement follows: "Of nearly five million uneducated men and women in America only thirty-one have become successful enough in any kind of work to find a place in the lists of eight thousand of the leaders of various enterprises in America. A study of this list of eight thousand shows that only one child in one hundred and fifty thousand without an education has been able to become successful in any line of work, while children with a common school education in proportion to their numbers have accomplished this four times as often; those of high school education eighty-seven times as often and those of college education eight hundred times as often. The question which every thoughtful parent must ask is, 'What chance am I giving my children?'"

"No matter at what sacrifice," Dr. Ellis concludes, "nor how strenuous the effort involved, these facts show that no boy or girl in the grammar school should stop until he has finished the high school, and no boy or girl in the high school should give up his education until he has gotten all the benefits that he can from college or university training."

No Extra Session, Says
Governor Ferguson

Abilene, Sept. 9.—Judge J. F. Cunningham of this city visited Governor James E. Ferguson at Sweetwater yesterday and gave out an interview of his conversation with the governor, in which the governor is reported to have said, among other things that there would be no extra session of the legislature unless some unforeseen emergency arises. That while the great storm had destroyed about half of the cotton on the penitentiary farms, and there would be a deficit in that department this year, he had reduced the expenses about $400,000 this year; that the convicts this year were making all of the shoes they wear, and next year would be making all of their clothing.

"He said he felt like the state ought to be restricted into new congressional districts, but did not think that $150,000, which an extra session of the legislature would cost, ought to be spent for that purpose. Besides, the legislature in three sessions had failed in this matter."
