Ask Us

Q—With all of the stories you read about smoking, has there been an actual decline, or are most people still smoking?

A—There has been a decline in recent years. According to figures from the Census Bureau, some 30.6 percent of the Texas population smoked in 1985, compared to 25.6 percent in 1989. Nationally, 25.5 percent of the population was smoking in 1989. National figures from 1985 were unavailable.

In Brief

Texans killed.

MOUNT WASHINGTON, N.H. (AP) — Rescuers contending with low temperatures, high winds and slippery terrain worked today to recover the bodies of three Texas men killed in a fiery plane crash near the summit of Mount Washington.

Jimmy Fred Jones, 33, and Stewart Eames, 27, both of Fort Worth, were identified today as two of the victims, said Fish and Game Maj. Henry Mock. The identity of the third man still was being withheld.

Boat mishap

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — Italian financier Stefano Casiraghi, husband of Princess Caroline, was rushed to a hospital today after crashing his speedboat. The French news agency Agence France-Press reported he was killed.

The report, which quoted unidentified organizers of the speedboat race, could not be confirmed independently.

Neither the Princess Grace Hospital nor the palace issued any official statement, but there were reports from several sources that the 30-year-old Casiraghi died of his injuries.

Parade, pep rally Thursday kickoff SHS homecoming

Youngsters who want to ride their bikes in the Snyder High School homecoming parade Thursday should be in the Kmart parking lot by 5 p.m. that day, officials are saying.

The parade, which kicks off activities preceding Friday night's crowning of the 1990 SHS homecoming queen, is scheduled to get underway at 5:30 p.m. Prizes will be given for the best decorated bicycles.

The parade will travel from Kmart north on College Ave. to the square, where a pep rally will be held.

School officials are also urging all former SHS cheerleaders to attend the pep rally to help lead "Two Bits." Former cheerleaders who can attend are asked to call the school by noon Thursday and talk with cheerleader sponsor Beth Bowen.

Friday, Snyder All-Sports Booster Club will host a steak supper from 5-7 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The meal will include potato salad, beans, rolls, dessert and tea. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children age 4-12, and may be purchased at West Texas State Bank, Snyder National Bank, Allstate Insurance Co., and Chevron.

At 6 p.m. Friday, the National Honor Society will sponsor an SHS exes reception in the school library. Refreshments will be served.

Highlighting homecoming will be the naming of the homecoming queen, which will take place during halftime of Friday's varsity football game at Tiger Stadium. The game is set for an 8 p.m. kickoff as Snyder hosts Seminole.

Tickets for the game are $4 at the gate.

Homecoming queen nominees are Kristi Prather, Dayla Church, Emily King, Angie Burleson, Tonya Mauldin and Theresa Martin. Fathers will serve as escorts.

There will be a dance in the student center until 1 a.m. following the game.

Hazardous materials accident to be staged during seminar

More than 60 safety professionals from throughout the area are scheduled to take part in a hands-on emergency response training Thursday at Western Texas College.

"Amoco Side Kick," a modified petroleum tank truck, will roll over in the college parking lot, spilling its cargo. In this case, the cargo is only water.

The accident is a staged simulation used to sharpen the skills of firemen and hazardous materials response teams from Snyder and the surrounding area. Preceded by two and a half hours of classroom training, the "accident" will occur about 10:30 a.m. in the parking lot adjacent to the administration building.

Firemen, in full protective bunker gear and breathing apparatus, will lay down fire retardant foam, attempt to seal leaks on the overturned 41-foot trailer, and remove the simulated product.

"While the number of highway accidents involving tank trucks is decreasing, public awareness and concern about these highly visible incidents is increasing," said Prentiss Rhyme, manager of Amoco Pipeline's Levelland area office.

"We are pleased to bring this training to the Permian Basin where it is often volunteer firemen from rural communities who first respond to an emergency. Many of these departments do not have the resources to develop a similar program of their own," said Rhyme.

To date, some 8,400 people at 49 locations have been through the course.

The seminar teaches the characteristics of common petroleum products and proper response procedures.

"Being located in an oil producing county means that we must take steps to be prepared should an accident occur," said Snyder Mayor Troy Williamson. "We appreciate Amoco Pipeline Company for making this valuable training available to our area firemen."

Taking part in the training will be fire department members from Snyder, Big Spring, Colorado City, Roby, Sweetwater and Hobbs, N.M. Also participating will be representatives of the Borden County sheriff's department and six oil producing and transporting companies. The training is offered at no charge.

Rain pours past 27-inch mark for year

It's doubtful Snyder's rainfall this year will set any kind of record, but it's certainly in stark contrast to 1989.

Gauges at the water treatment plant recorded 1.42 inches of rain during a 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today, giving the city 27.39 inches for the year.

Snyder received only 11.57 inches for all of 1989 — the driest year since 1954 and the fifth driest in 78 years, according to records.

An average yearly rainfall locally is 20.69 inches over the past 78 years.

While Snyder's 27.39 total to date may be one of the wettest, it is still far behind the record 44.02 inches dumped on the area in 1941.

Area rainfall reports received this morning included 1.4 inches at Lloyd Mountain and 1.1 inches at the Wheat Community, three miles northeast of Hermleigh. Fluvanna received 1.6 inches while Ira picked up 1.2. The area north of Snyder reported 1.4 and the area east of the city received from 1 to 1.3.

Mayor's Race signups due for Buffalo Days

Organizations are encouraged to get their entries in soon for the White Buffalo Days annual Mayor's Cup Race.

The event is one of the highlights of White Buffalo Days, scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 13, at Scurry County Coliseum.

The entry fee is $10 per four-member team. Entries should be in to the chamber of commerce by Oct. 12. The race will be held at 2 p.m. on Oct. 13 in the coliseum ag annex.

Scurry County Pilot's Association will host a fly-in at Winston Field at 7 a.m. to open White Buffalo Days. A complimentary breakfast will be provided for pilots, and will be available to the general public for $3. The breakfast, set from 7:30-9:30 a.m. at the air field, is sponsored by Snyder Jaycees.

Plane rides will be available for $6 per person from 9 a.m. until noon.

At 9 a.m., arts and crafts booths will open at the county coliseum and remain open until 10 p.m.

Food booths are scheduled to begin serving up their offerings, including buffalo burgers, at 10 a.m.

Free entertainment will begin at 1 p.m. and a dance will be held from 7-9 p.m.

The ag complex will be the scene of many events, including the Buffalo Chip Toss, Stick Horse Rodeo, Turtle Race and BB Shoot. Other events include a remote control car race and a putting green.

Also included will be the Pete Snyder Store and the Calico Cutie and Buffalo Bill Contest. Other special events will be going on during the day at the Dodson House, located adjacent to the coliseum.

Republican headquarters to open here

Catherine Mosbacher, wife of lieutenant governor candidate Rob Mosbacher, will help open the Scurry County Republican headquarters during a brief stop here Thursday morning.

The Republican headquarters is in the old RS&P Depot, located on 25th St. The opening will be at 8:30 a.m. Coffee and donuts will be served.

Mrs. Mosbacher will talk briefly about the lieutenant governor's race in which her husband is running against Democratic candidate Bob Bullock.

Local Republican candidates are also expected to be at the opening of the headquarters.

State Board of Insurance says...

Public unnecessarily alarmed

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Insurance says a grand jury "unnecessarily alarmed" the public over the health of the Texas insurance industry.

The board's three members also said they want a legislative committee to look into allegations contained in a report issued last week by the special Travis County grand jury.

District Attorney Ronnie Earle released the report, which warned of widespread fraud and lack of regulation. The report said the combination could bring about a "savings and loan type disaster" in the Texas insurance industry.

Earle said he would welcome a legislative inquiry. "I think that's great. We'd be happy to cooperate in any way we could. We figure that the more people who can look at this situation the better," Earle said.

A letter Tuesday, signed by insurance board members James E. Saxton Jr., Richard F. Reynolds and Jo Ann Howard, disputed the grand jury's warning.

"We believe the district attorney unnecessarily alarmed the insurance-buying public with unsubstantiated charges about the overall health of the insurance industry and made overly broad statements about the prevalence of fraud in the insurance industry," they said.

"What is particularly troubling about the grand jury report and the district attorney's comments is that they make very serious charges about the operation of this agency without documentation or substantiation," the board members said.

The insurance board also complained about a new report from the state auditor, which the board members said would question an early warning system for troubled insurance companies.

The board said it already had decided that the system wasn't progressing as planned and hired an independent consultant to "give us guidance on this massive undertaking."

The grand jury's report was issued last week following a six-month investigation.

It estimated that insurance company insolvencies and fraud could cost the state treasury more than $400 million.

"We hereby warn the Legislature and the citizens of our state that the insurance industry is plagued by egregious conduct amounting to a breach of trust with policyholders and by bold embezzlement," the grand jury reported.

The grand jury, which was funded by the Legislature and worked with a special unit of the Travis County district attorney's office, returned 27 indictments against 21 individuals in a term that ended Friday.

Most notable was an indictment against former Dallas insurance executive Robert Walker, who was charged with looting National County Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of millions of dollars.

Youngster's slaying jolts community

KINGSTON, Mass. (AP) — The search for 13-year-old Melissa Benoit ended in a way that has traumatized this picture-book community: The girl's body was found in the basement of her neighbor, a father of two who had helped look for her.

"I'd rather know that it was just some sicko that grabbed her off the street than someone she trusted," said Michelle Ponte, who lives in nearby Plymouth. "I have a 10-year-old daughter who absolutely freaked out when she heard this."

The slaying on Main Street hit just about everyone in this town of 8,500, where trees are hung with pink ribbons in Melissa's honor and dozens of people — including the alleged killer — joined the search after she disappeared Sept. 15.

Melissa's partially clad body was found last week buried in the basement of Henry Meinholz Jr. He has pleaded innocent to murder. The cause of death has not been determined.

Meinholz lives just a few doors away from the Benois on Main Street, right across from the police station. He is undergoing psychiatric evaluation at a hospital.

This town about 35 miles south of Boston is undergoing an evaluation of its own as residents struggle to comprehend a crime few ever thought would happen here.

Meinholz's wife, Jane, a psychiatric nurse, said a funeral was needed, not just for the victim, but for everyone's sense of trust.

"Until Melissa disappeared, I always felt like I was living on the safest neighborhood possible in America," she said. "I think a lot of people in our neighborhood felt that way."

Court records reveal that by Sept. 26, Mrs. Meinholz had told FBI agents — who had already questioned her husband — where to search, saying: "I suggest you bring a shovel."

Meinholz, a bookkeeper at a lumber store, was described as quiet. He was a deacon at First Baptist Church in Plymouth, where his wife is an organist.

But court affidavits reveal a long history of alleged sexual problems that included exposing himself to female hitchhikers and making obscene phone calls.

Harvard psychology Professor Richard Herrnstein said residents' basic assumptions about human behavior were shattered by the girl's death.

"I think what happens in situations like that is that people depend very much on the predictability of other people's behavior," said Herrnstein. "When someone violates those expectations, especially in a harmful way, that's terrifying."

Bill Po, a 65-year-old resident, agreed. "You never think it's going to happen in your town," he said.

Townpeople have come together to console each other. So many attended a funeral Saturday for Melissa that the eulogy was broadcast to the crowd outside.

The curious converged on Main Street near Meinholz' house, especially after police started looking for more bodies on his property. Police stopped digging in his back yard Friday and said they found no evidence of other crimes.

More than 200 people — many of them mothers with children — gathered at the Kingston Elementary School on Tuesday night to talk with mental health officials and police.

Ultimately, Herrnstein said, time is the only healer.

"Again, people will gradually realize that, yes, indeed, people are predictable," he said, "and that will take care of it."

Harris County will build 'boot camp' for offenders

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County will spend about $4.2 million in state funds to construct a "boot camp" for non-violent probationers in order to give judges another option in sentencing young offenders.

Commissioners approved the plan Tuesday that calls for the facility to be operational within 10 months. It will be the first expenditure from the $10.4 million allotted the county in state community justice funds to provide alternatives for jail overcrowding.

The program is designed to provide another option for criminal court judges in sentencing offenders 17 to 25, Larance Coleman, director of the county's Community Supervisions and Corrections Department, said.

Modular metal buildings will be erected at the Humble Rehabilitation Center to house the inmates. Security will be bolstered by electronic monitoring and surveillance.

The 90- to 120-day program is expected to begin with about 200 inmates but will eventually expand to 600-inmate capacity, Jim Lewis, legislative coordinator for County Judge Jon Lindsay, said.

The program will include discipline and heavy labor to build physical strength, in addition to psychological intervention intended to enhance intellect and emotion in offenders.

Intensive group counseling will also be part of the regimen, officials said.

The program will admit offenders considered most likely to violate their probation and others deemed in need of physical and mental challenges.

The plan was developed last year and approved by state prison officials.

The community justice plan will also include expanded pretrial services and electronic monitoring, and a residential treatment center for probationers.

Baptist General Convention leaders freeze Baylor funds

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Baptist leaders say their decision to freeze about $1.5 million in Baylor University funding is not meant to punish the school for trying to distance itself from the state governing body.

But the administrative committee of the Baptist General Convention of Texas will keep the money until a further study of the school's recent action can be studied, said Orville Scott, spokesman for the convention.

In a release issued Tuesday night, the state convention said the action was not intended to be "judgmental or punitive" towards the school which changed its charter Sept. 21.

The $1.5 million — part of more than $6 million the school receives annually — pays for faculty supplements, ministerial scholarships and mission work.

Scott said Baylor has already received about $4.5 million. The $1.5 million is what the school would have received for the remaining three months of the year.

Baylor's Board of Trustees on Sept. 21 filed a new charter with the Texas Secretary of State that established a separate Board of Regents with "sole management and control" of the school, the world's largest Baptist-supported university.

The move was an attempt by the Waco school to insulate itself from a feared takeover by church fundamentalists.

Fundamentalist leaders, incensed by the decision, vowed to put up a fight to get the school back.

About 12 of the 15 elected leaders of the Baptist General Convention of Texas met Tuesday to question Baylor University leaders over their decision to remove the 145-year-old school from convention control.

Not all well-heeled bothered by tax

HIGHLAND PARK, Texas (AP) — Shoppers in this deliciously rich Dallas enclave look at it this way: If you can afford a $50,000 Mercedes Benz, surely, my dear, you can afford the luxury tax on it.

"I don't like it, but I think it's fair," said Rick Jones, sorting through designer shirts at the Polo Shop, one of this community's high-priced shops. But Randle Stricklin, a salesman at Cartier Inc., where watches range in price from $1,000 to $20,000, complained the tax burden should fall evenly on all retailers.

"It hits hard," he said. "Why single out luxury dealers, who have suffered in the last 10 years — especially in Texas?"

Elsewhere in the country, merchants who cater to the carriage trade complain that the government proposal to raise taxes on big-ticket items — including expensive cars, yachts, jewelry and furs — discriminates against their wealthy clientele.

Though they protest, many merchants are bracing for a flurry of sales as customers rush to put an extra case of champagne or a pair of sapphire earrings on their tab for the holidays, before the tax takes effect.

The 10 percent luxury tax, part of a $500 billion deficit-reduction agreement unveiled Sunday, would apply to the portion of the price of some luxury items over certain thresholds.

For example, a $6,000 fur — priced $1,000 above the $5,000 tax threshold — would cost $6,100, if the taxes are approved by Congress. Cars would be taxed at 10 percent of the amount above $30,000. The threshold for jewelry would be $5,000.

"If you can afford to pay $30,000 for a car, you sure can afford to pay a few hundred dollars more," said Terri Jung of Austin as she left a Neiman-Marcus store.

"My first answer as a luxury car dealer is, maybe it isn't fair," said Todd Meier, president of Rodger Meier Cadillac, where $55,000 cars are sold from a chandelier-lit showroom. "But overall, as a citizen, I think it makes sense to tax people who theoretically can afford it."

Meier said virtually all of the more than 2,000 new Cadillacs he sells each year would be affected by the tax.

Highland Park, home of the billionaire Hunt brothers and tycoon T. Boone Pickens, sits squarely in the middle of Dallas.

showed out on the second round of trumps, that approach was no good, so declarer continued with his remaining trumps. West, with two discards to make, threw a spade and a diamond, while a spade and a club were discarded from dummy. Declarer now cashed the ace of spades, played his high diamonds ending in dummy, and led the spade queen. Declarer threw a club. West had to win the king and give up the last trick to dummy's spade jack.

West's error was in throwing away a low diamond. If West keeps all his diamonds, he will have a winning exit card when he is eventually thrown in with the spade king, and four hearts will be set. The need to keep extra length in spades is an illusion.

A careless discard

By James Jacoby

South bid his hand well, up to a point. For example, it was correct for him to show his clubs. If North held four or five clubs headed by the Q-J, there would be an excellent play for a club slam. When North showed mild heart support, South might have tried three no-trump. The nine-trick no-trump game is easier. But with a little help from West, South brought in four hearts anyway.

East won the ace of clubs and returned the queen. West ruffed out declarer's king of clubs and returned a diamond. Declarer won and tried A-K of hearts. (If West had started with no more than three hearts, the last club could be ruffed in dummy.) When East

BoSox extend AL race

BOSTON (AP) — After 161 games, the 1990 AL East race is down to the final day of the regular season. Maybe.

The Boston Red Sox need a victory over Chicago or a Baltimore win over Toronto to nail down the elusive flag tonight.

The White Sox spoiled Boston's scheduled party Tuesday, edging the Red Sox 3-2 on Ozzie Guillen's RBI single with two outs in the 11th inning. That trimmed Boston's lead over Toronto to one game, coming about one hour after the Blue Jays downed the Orioles 2-1 on a ninth-inning homer by Fred McGriff.

The Red Sox left seven runners on base in the last four innings, including the bases loaded when Ellis Burks flied out to end the 10th.

That left longtime fans recalling ghosts of the past. The Red Sox are going down to the final regular season game for the fifth time since 1948. And they've won a title only once in four tries.

"I said it would go down to the bitter end, but I hope I'm wrong," Boston manager Joe Morgan said. "The bitter end would be a playoff."

If Boston and Toronto finish tied, a one-game playoff would be held in the Blue Jays' domed stadium on Thursday for the division crown and the right to play Oakland for the pennant.

In 1948, Boston tied Cleveland for the pennant and lost in a playoff. The next year the Red Sox needed to win just one of two games in New York, but lost both.

The Red Sox won the pennant on the last day in 1967. Then, with divisional play in effect, they tied the Yankees on the final day, but lost the East title in a one-game playoff.

"The guys are a little down," said Boston elder statesman Dwight Evans. "We wanted that game tonight. It was a tough game to lose. We're not out of it. We're a little down, but we're not out of it."

"Tomorrow you have to go in saying it's do or die," said second baseman-shortstop Jody Reed. "We don't want to have to go to Toronto for a playoff game."

"I feel we're still in the driver's seat," said Evans, winding down his 18th season with Boston. "We have to come out tomorrow and play hard and take this thing."

"We're going out and break this thing open," said veteran Marty Barrett, who lost his second base job to Reed early in the season.

"It was very tight," slugger Tom Brunansky said after Boston dropped to 20-50 in games in which it scores three or fewer runs. "It was nip and tuck the whole way and little plays meant a lot. Unfortunately, we came up short."

While the Red Sox still trained thoughts on the East title, the White Sox, runnerup to Oakland in the AL West, were happy with their 94th victory, the team's high since 1983.

"It's not a dream year because we didn't win, but it has been a spectacular one," Chicago manager Jeff Torborg said.

"I wish we could be in Boston's spot with another game to clinch," said Guillen.

"It's a matter of professional pride," Torborg said. "We're not trying to spoil anyone's fun. We're just trying to finish the season the way it should be finished — with some wins."

TERRY STEPHENS

CLINT HAYWOOD

Tigers snag awards for effort vs. Steers

Snyder's Terry Stephens and Clint Haywood top the list of SHS football coaches' award winners following the Tigers 14-14 tie with then-No. 9 Big Spring Friday.

Stephens and Haywood each were credited with 9½ tackles and Stephens added an interception that halted a Steer drive in the Snyder end of the field.

Haywood was also recognized for 13 knockdowns from his guard position including three pins of Big Spring defenders and a QB trap in Friday's game.

Other Snyder defensive players receiving helmet decals include defensive end Will Clay and Todd Iglehart for sacking Steer quarterback Gerald Cobos once each.

Iglehart, Clay, Paul Anderson, Les Rinehart and Damien Haywood each were tabbed for causing fumbles and Blair Williams, Hayward Clay and Brian Brunson all recovered Steer drops.

Defensive backs Terry Snyder and Shelby Bufkin each notched a knocked down pass in the tie.

Offensive award winners feature Brunson and Ed Rios with seven and 10 knockdowns on blocks, respectively.

Rios, the Tigers QB, took out three Steers on a single block on Paul Anderson's 17-yard touchdown run in the third quarter Friday night.

Linemen recognized for knockdowns include center Jeff Black with 10, guard Charlie Richardson with 15, tight end Hayward Clay's 10, 11 by tackle Chad Fox and Clint Haywood's 13.

To draw an award for knockdowns a back must take out at least seven defensive players in the course of the game while a lineman must neutralize 10.

The Tigers had 94 as a team.

Hayward Clay won an award for scoring seven drives, that is taking a defender at least five yards off the line of scrimmage. To get the decal, a player must make at least five.

Players may also be decorated for two pins of opposing players during the game. Hayward Clay and Black each were credited with two and Clint Haywood had three.

The Big Hit of the Week award goes to a pair of Tigers after the Big Spring contest. Damien Haywood's blast into Cobos from his noseguard position and Will Clay's bruising block to spring Mark King on a punt return were rated top hits by the SHS coaching staff.

Brunson, field goal holder Jason Rios and long snapper Bay John Long each were tagged twice for Brunson's two field goals, a 28-yarder in the first quarter to give the Tigers a 3-0 lead, and his 30-yard effort in the fourth period to tie the score, 14-14.

Brunson was also awarded a decal for his 42-yard punting average in Friday's tilt.

Other special teamers to be recognized include Mark King, who made a pair of punt returns for a total of 47 yards and Will Clay for his blocking on those returns.

Lady Tigers drub Levelland spikers

LEVELLAND — Snyder's Lady Tigers erupted for a 15-2, 15-2 volleyball victory over District 2-4A opponent Levelland Tuesday night to up their loop mark to 3-0 and set up a showdown with Lamesa, also 3-0, Saturday in Snyder.

"We went in and kept our concentration and our intensity," said Snyder coach Patty Grimmett.

Amber Bowlin led the SHS attack with 11 points, nine in the second game.

Angee Crawford added eight followed by Robbie Brazier and Liz Greenhouse with five apiece and Camille Thompson's one.

The Lady Tigers made just one rotation in Tuesday's second game.

The junior varsity match, slated for Tuesday, was cancelled due to a shortage of players for the Lady Lobos.

Ryan set to return

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Speculation about pitcher Nolan Ryan's future is over.

Team owner George W. Bush says the 43-year-old Ryan will be back with the Texas Rangers next year, answering questions that baseball's career strikeout king may have pitched his last game for the club.

"Nolan Ryan makes an enormous difference in the Texas Rangers. He is a legend, and the way you build a successful baseball franchise is you've got to have some legends," Bush, son of President Bush, said Tuesday during a Beaumont news conference while campaigning for Republican congressional candidate Maury Meyers.

"You've got to have grandfathers and grandmothers pass on stories to their grandkids. And that's what Nolan Ryan provides for us. He's huge."

JV, frosh tilts are scheduled

Snyder athletic director David Baugh announced Tuesday schedule changes affecting the junior varsity and freshman football games this week.

The SHS JV squad will play Abilene Cooper's sophomore team at the Lee Complex at 7 p.m. Thursday instead of the originally scheduled time of Saturday at 10 a.m.

The freshmen, who were to have had an open date this week, will play Rotan's Yellowhammers there at 7 p.m. Thursday.

The SHS frosh were 20-14 losers to Big Spring last Thursday.

Coach Milton Ham said of the Snyder effort, "They gave a good effort. They really played hard."

Snyder fullback Keith Orosco slammed across the goal line from four yards away to pull Snyder to within 7-6 in the early going.

Big Spring followed with another score to go up 14-6 before Jim Pat Griffin's quarterback keeper from the three-yard line and Orosco's two-point conversion tied the game at 14-14.

The Steers scored again late in the game for the final margin. Snyder had a 60-yard TD pass from Griffin to David Krenek called back in the contest on a holding call.

Bush seeks nation's support for budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush wants Americans to convince skittish lawmakers that backing a $500 billion budget package won't cost them reelection, even though it requires taxpayers to shoulder "a small burden."

"I'm not, and I know you're not, a fan of tax increases," Bush said in a nationally televised address Tuesday night.

"But if there have to be tax measures, they should allow the economy to grow. They should not turn us back to higher income tax rates, and they should be fair," he added, referring to the proposed tax increases on gasoline, cigarettes, boats, liquor and furs.

In a third straight day of public and private lobbying for the agreement worked out by his aides and congressional leaders, the president was meeting today with journalists from around the country.

Many lawmakers already are shunning the package because it will hit Americans hard in the wallet, a fact that could reverberate when voters go to the polls next month.

Bush offered a tepid defense of the plan in his brief speech Tuesday night, saying, "I cannot claim it's the best deficit reduction plan possible. It's not ... But it is the best agreement that can be legislated now."

The $500 billion budget accord, reached Sunday after months of negotiation, shaves benefits to farmers and Medicare recipients and reduces tax deductions for people who earn more than $100,000.

"Clearly each and every one of us can find fault with something in this agreement. In fact, that is a burden that any truly fair solution must carry," Bush said. But he urged Americans to look at the agreement as a whole, not piece by piece.

"Everyone will bear a small burden," he said. "But if we succeed every American will have a large burden lifted."

A congressional study released Tuesday said the poor would be hit hardest by the package and the rich would feel its increases the least. The plan's increased taxes and reduced benefits would take an average 2 percent of the earnings of one-fifth of Americans with the lowest incomes, according to the survey by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The president asked Americans to "tell your congressmen and senators you support this deficit reduction agreement." He said lawmakers "worry about your reaction to one part or another."

He also called the budget deficit "a cancer gnawing away at our nation's health" and warned that if it continues unabated, "our economy will falter, markets may tumble and recession will follow."

Earlier, Bush summoned a group of business representatives to the White House and told them "everybody has had to compromise" for the agreement.

Speaking for the Democratic leadership, Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell echoed the president, saying, "This package is a compromise. Neither side got what it wanted."

Democrats, he said in an equal-time TV address after Bush spoke, joined a Republican president to get the agreement. Now, he said, "We hope the Republican members of Congress will also set aside partisan differences in doing what's right."

While it is expected to take a tough sell among many Democrats as well as Bush's fellow Republicans who don't want to endorse tax increases and spending cuts in an election year, some opponents said the president had a good chance of getting the package through Congress.

One, Rep. Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., said that more than half the House Republicans were opposed or leaning against the package but that administration lobbying eventually would sell it.

New Germany will seek world peace

BERLIN (AP) — Germany's president marked the historic unification today of his mighty new country by promising Germans will work for world peace and never forget the victims of the nation's Nazi past.

Random violence in nearly a dozen cities marred the unification celebrations overnight. And about 15,000 leftists protesting the merger rallied this afternoon in Berlin's working-class district of Kreuzberg, and numerous shouting matches with police broke out.

At a formal state ceremony in the Berlin Philharmonic Hall, President Richard von Weizsaecker said: "The Nazi terror and the war it caused inflicted untold serious injustice and suffering on almost all of Europe and on us. We continuously recall the victims."

"No one among us will forget that there never would have been a separation without the war started by Germany under Hitler," von Weizsaecker told several hundred invited guests.

The 70-year-old head of state said Germany wants "to serve world peace in a united Europe." Eleven months after the Berlin Wall fell in a peaceful revolt that cast aside Communist East German overlords, the city that symbolized the Cold War division of Europe rejoiced. It was again the capital of a united Germany.

At midnight Tuesday, before the battle-scarred Reichstag, an estimated 1 million Germans from all walks of life joined in an emotional chorus of the national anthem to usher in the birth of their nation.

In Berlin, police said about 50 people were arrested for fighting or other infractions overnight. A few people were injured when they fell to the ground in the crowd, police said, adding that three warning shots from an officer prevented those who fell from being trampled.

Also today, German leaders celebrated unification at solemn services in the ornate Marienkirche, a Lutheran church, in the former East Berlin. Among those attending were the first chancellor of the new nation, Helmut Kohl, the former prime minister of East Germany, Lothar de Maiziere, von Weizsaecker, and Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher.

In his sermon, Lutheran Bishop Johannes Hempel told the hundreds of Germans from East and West to "accept each other, in praise of the Lord."

NASA's shuttle countdown begins

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA began the countdown today for this weekend's launch of Discovery on a mission officials hope will get the shuttle program back in motion and help restore the space agency's credibility.

The shuttle is scheduled to lift off at 7:35 a.m. EDT Saturday with five astronauts and the plutonium-powered Ulysses probe, which will explore the sun.

The countdown clock started ticking at 3:30 a.m.

"We're looking very smooth at this point," NASA test director Terry Willingham said several hours after the countdown began. "Everybody's looking forward to a good launch. It's been a long, dry spell."

NASA has not launched a shuttle since April because of dangerous hydrogen leaks afflicting Columbia and Atlantis. Discovery is the only shuttle in which hydrogen leaks have not been found and is also the last shuttle to have flown.

Discovery's cargo on that last flight — the Hubble Space Telescope — proved a public relations disaster for NASA. It was not until after the $1.5 billion telescope was in orbit that officials learned its primary mirror was flawed.

Sending Discovery up and safely deploying Ulysses "will be a boost for morale and a boost for NASA," said NASA project manager Willis Meeks.

BACKYARD FRIENDS — Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles are very popular today, but Frank Weaver of 3088 34th St. has been friends with real turtles for some 20 years. Weaver, who speculates he has 12-15 of the slow-paced creatures living in his backyard, said the relationship started 20 years ago when a friend gave Weaver's grandson a turtle and set it loose in the backyard. They eat mostly bugs, but occasionally the Weavers leave rotted fruits and vegetables for the turtles. (SDN Staff Photo)

Gorbachev adviser heads to Iraq on 'special' mission

By The Associated Press

A close adviser to Mikhail S. Gorbachev headed for Iraq today on a special Middle East mission, leaving just hours after Secretary of State James A. Baker III said there was growing world support for a military strike against Iraq.

President Francois Mitterrand also flew to the region today to meet the leader of Saudi Arabia and inspect French troops. Mitterrand will visit the French frigate Duplex on Thursday, then travel to Saudi Arabia for talks with King Fahd and to inspect French forces at the Red Sea port of Yanbu.

Meanwhile, Iraq freed nine Frenchmen taken hostage in the standoff caused by Iraq's invasion of Kuwait on Aug. 2. Several thousand Westerners are being held hostage in Iraq and Kuwait, some as shields against a possible attack.

Mitterrand offered in a speech last week to link an Iraqi pullout from Kuwait to a broader Middle East settlement. In a speech Sunday, Iraqi President Saddam Hussein suggested France as a possible negotiating partner.

The Soviet news agency Tass announced the departure of Yevgeny Primakov, former head of the leading Soviet think tank on Middle East issues.

It said he would visit Baghdad en route to Amman, Jordan, where he would meet with King Hussein and PLO chairman Yasser Arafat.

Tass said Primakov was "on a special mission" on behalf of the Soviet president but did not elaborate. It also did not say with whom Primakov would meet in Baghdad.

The Soviets have joined the United States in demanding that Saddam pull his troops out of Kuwait, although they have urged that no military action be taken against Iraq without U.N. authorization.

On Tuesday, the Soviet military chief of staff reiterated that position during a trip to New York. Gen. Mikhail Moiseyev said current sanctions are working and that Saddam is "in economic and political isolation and he can't survive very long that way."

It appeared, however, that Iraq had no intention of budging in the 2-month-old Persian Gulf crisis. U.S. military sources in Saudi Arabia said Baghdad has strengthened its forces in southern Iraq and Kuwait and has now deployed nearly half its 1 million-man army to defend the occupied territory.

About 170,000 U.S. troops are leading a multinational force arrayed against Saddam across the border in Saudi Arabia and on ships in the region.

'Food or fuel' decisions anticipated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Americans may have to choose between heating their homes and buying food this winter as they face soaring fuel costs, a proposed new energy tax and scarce government aid, advocacy groups say.

"We're going back into the 'food or fuel' problem of the early '70s for low-income and senior citizens," says Edwin Rothschild, an energy specialist at Citizen Action, a consumer and environmental group.

The average heating bill of $800 — common in much of the Northeast — will be closer to $1,200 this winter, he predicted.

Federal officials said Tuesday that barring a further flareup in the Persian Gulf, there will be more than enough heating oil and natural gas to meet demand this winter.

The question, however, is whether millions of poor and elderly Americans will be able to afford it. The hardest hit region will be the Northeast, which relies heavily on oil for residential heating.

The wholesale price of heating oil has soared from about 56 cents a gallon before Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait to $1.03 a gallon last Friday, although the price dropped a bit this week. Retailers have absorbed some of the increase, but consumers still face much higher heating bills this winter.

And budget negotiators are adding to the cost spiral. The new deficit-reduction plan adds a 2-cent energy tax on all refined petroleum products, including heating oil.

Clair Jarvis of the American Association of Retired Persons said elderly people on fixed incomes may need to spend money on fuel that otherwise would go for food and medicine. "In the long run they will suffer physically," said Jarvis, a retired minister from West Virginia.

Oil distributors say they also are victims of the oil market.

Vera Haskins, vice president of Mauger & Co. Inc., — a Philadelphia area distributor, said her company so far has passed only three-fourths of the price increase on to customers. Nevertheless, the price has jumped 40 percent since in July to $1.28 a gallon.

"The hope is that prices will go down," said Bernard Smith, executive director of the New England Fuel Institute, which represents heating oil dealers in the region.

The price crunch comes as the federal government and many states — faced with their own budget concerns — are cutting public assistance programs aimed at helping low-income families

pay. hea
Federal energy subsidies for low-income families have been cut in half since 1985. The $1.05 billion provided for this fiscal year will help only one of every four low-income people who qualify.

"We think the states should be picking up more" of the money, said Janet Fox, director of the office in the Department of Health and Human Services that administers the fund.

But state officials are looking to Washington for help.

Massachusetts says it cannot afford to add state money to the federal program this winter. Rep. Edward Markey, D-Mass., urged Gov. Michael Dukakis this week to reconsider.

"For many Massachusetts families on the margin, the oil price shock will push them over the margin," Markey wrote. He said it was time to increase aid, not cut it back.

Bullock: federal tax hike to cost Texans

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas state government will lose more than $200 million over the next three years under the proposed federal budget agreement, Comptroller Bob Bullock says.

Bullock said the higher taxes proposed for such items as gasoline, alcoholic beverages and cigarettes will drive down consumption by Texans and thereby reduce the amount of state taxes collected from their sale.

The cost to Texas state government would be $42 million this year and $164 million in the 1992-93 budget period, the comptroller projected.

"It may make the bottom line look better in Washington, but it only puts us further in the hole in Texas because we depend on these consumption taxes more than the federal government does," Bullock said Tuesday.

Texas has neither a personal nor corporate income tax. Much of the state government's revenue comes from a general sales tax and so-called "sin" taxes on alcoholic beverages and tobacco products.

A loss of revenue for the state caused by lower consumption of those products could hit particularly hard during the next two-year budget cycle.

Already, the Legislature is bracing for a budget deficit estimated at more than $3 billion to continue services at the present level.

And lawmakers raised taxes just last June to help pay for a $528 million increase in state aid to public schools. Those hikes included increases in the sales tax, the tax on mixed drinks, and the taxes on cigarettes and other tobacco products, including chewing tobacco and smoking tobacco.

If approved by Congress, the budget deal announced this week in Washington would increase federal taxes on gasoline, diesel fuel, cigarettes, beer, wine and liquor.

The federal gas tax would rise 12 cents a gallon, the cigarette tax by 8 cents a pack, the tax on beer by 100 percent and the 3-cent tax on a fifth of wine goes up to 25 cents.

Criticism of the budget agreement rolled in from across Texas on Tuesday.

State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower called the plan a "disaster" for rural Americans.

He said higher fuel costs would hurt farmers who need it for production and rural residents who don't have mass transit services. "Any increase in the gasoline tax is money out of their weekly food budget," he said.

"The worst thing about this proposal is that it equates the painful sacrifices it forces on working families and the elderly with the minimal hardship the very rich will face when they have to shell out an extra hundred for their next Mercedes," Hightower said.

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Ann Richards said the plan would hurt the elderly. "The increase in Medicare deductible and premiums will literally force thousands of Texans to choose between food and shelter on one hand, and medical care on the other," she said.

The Texas Motor Transport Association, which represents the truck and bus industry, also complained about the fuel tax increases.

"The price of fuel has increased by as much as 35 percent within the last six weeks because of the Persian Gulf crisis. Now Congress wants the truck and bus industry to help pay for reducing the budget deficit with the substantial fuel tax increases," said Robert Floyd, the group's president.

INS officer said arrested in Mexico

MATAMOROS, Mexico (AP) — Mexican police have released a high-ranking U.S. immigration official they detained for more than 24 hours after investigators allegedly found cocaine on a man with him at a hotel bar.

The incident began Sunday night when Mexican Federal Judicial Police arrested four people at the Hotel Del Prado. One of those arrested was Cecilio Ruiz, an assistant district director for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service's Harlingen District of far southern Texas.

"Basically, it appears that Ruiz was socializing with some friends when the MFJP moved in with an investigation," said E. Michael Trominski, INS Harlingen District Director. "One of his acquaintances was in possession of a small amount of cocaine."

The judicial police allowed Ruiz to return to the United States on Tuesday morning, Trominski said. No charges were filed against him.

"He was in the wrong place at the wrong time," said Don Wells, U.S. consul in Matamoros.

Ruiz, the assistant district director for detention and deportation, is in charge of the INS' 347-acre minimum-security detention camp near Port Isabel. He could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Officials said they did not know how much cocaine was involved.

"The police assured us that his name was cleared and that he had absolutely nothing to do with the possession or use of the cocaine," Trominski said.

Mexican officials also confirmed that Ruiz was detained in the course of a drug investigation.

Ruiz was "with someone who had cocaine," said Mario Pampini, an MFJP agent in Matamoros, located just across the Rio Grande from Brownsville.

L. Sprague, Catherine de Camp...

Master storytellers continue to enchant fantasy readers

PLANO, Texas (AP) — Master storytellers L. Sprague de Camp and his wife of 50 years, Catherine Crook de Camp, have a cottage industry busier than a lemonade stand at the gates of Hades.

They're trying to satisfy the booming market for fantasy fiction — a market de Camp helped create in the 1930s.

Five decades later and shortly after his last sword-and-sorcery book ("The Honorable Barbarian," Ballantine Books, $16.95), de Camp has another book at the printer ("The Pixilated Peers"), a science-fiction novel in progress and is working on his autobiography, "Time and Chance."

At the same time, the de Camps, both 82, are popular speakers at science-fiction conventions.

They help raise money for libraries in their new home town, a Dallas suburb, and are administering the commercial empire of Conan the Barbarian, the sword-wielding strongman created by the late Robert E. Howard.

David G. Hartwell, editor of the World Treasury of Science Fiction, said de Camp is one of the first generation of fantasy and science fiction writers.

"He is still published both in hardcover and in paperback by major New York publishers and has no trouble finding an audience for his work," Hartwell said from his home in Pleasantville, N.Y.

The de Camps manage their hectic careers from separate dens. They recently moved here from a one-acre estate in Villanova, Pa.

"I could either write books or keep up the grounds but I couldn't do both," de Camp said. "We were beginning to find the stairs, the winters and the upkeep of the lot just a bit much for octogenarians."

He still pulls weeds, but de Camp now has more time for writing — a profession he entered by accident after selling a short story to a magazine in 1938.

"I said: 'Whee, why hasn't somebody told me about this before? It sure beats working.'"

De Camp holds degrees in engineering and economics and has worked in many fields. But he has spent most of the past five decades toiling before a typewriter.

His style was influenced by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Thorne Smith, P.G. Wodehouse, H.G. Wells, Lord Dunsany and Lewis Carroll, de Camp said.

As a result, his works are literary, scholarly or whimsical.

De Camp has written or co-written about 100 books, including popularizations of science and technology. Mrs. de Camp has collaborated with him on 16 books and has written three books of her own, including two on managing money.

"I'm his business manager," Mrs. de Camp said.

The de Camps have donated 120 of their books and numerous files to the University of Texas at Austin, she said.

The archive "is probably one of the most comprehensive author files in existence and documents the lengthy career of an extremely popular and successful American author," said Harold Billings, director of UT Austin's General Libraries.

De Camp's classics include "Lest Darkness Fall" and the Harold Shea stories, co-written with Fletcher Pratt.

Fantasy accounts for nearly 10 percent of fiction sales in the United States, Hartwell said.

Fantasy sales have outstripped science fiction, because rapid advances in technology quickly turn science fiction into fact, de Camp said. And, he said, "You don't have to think" while escaping into the pages of a fantasy story.

De Camp, though, is happy to live in the present, with no illusions about the romance of living without today's conveniences.

But as for computers, the de Camps get by without them. They write on matching Smith Corona electric typewriters, and de Camp keeps a file of thousands of index cards referring to magazine articles he has read.

The de Camps don't spend much time in front of the television. However, Mrs. de Camp admits a fondness for another fantasy — the prime time soap opera "Dallas."

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 40-year-old female recently diagnosed with having a fibroid tumor of the uterus the size of a grapefruit. While my doctor recommended hysterectomy, I opted for the hormone Lupron Depot to reduce the tumor's size with eventual removal through the vagina. My Lupron injections will continue for several months prior to surgical removal. I've also considered a myomectomy, instead of hysterectomy, in the hope I can continue a normal sex life, yet have read there is a 10 to 30 percent chance fibroids will recur. What are the pros and cons of this procedure?

DEAR READER: Fibroids are benign growths arising from the muscular wall of the uterus. When small, they rarely cause symptoms other than increased menstrual flow. As fibroids enlarge, however, they can lead to menstrual hemorrhage (and anemia), excessive menstrual cramps, lower abdominal discomfort and painful intercourse. Fibroids, even big ones, may spontaneously degenerate (shrink and disappear). Therefore, treatment is reserved for women with large, symptom-producing fibroids that do not regress with time.

Lupron (leuprolide) injections reduce the level of estrogen in the body; this treatment usually shrinks fibroids, which appear to be stimulated by estrogen. As you say, Lupron may make removal of fibroids easier because they are smaller. Under these circumstances, many gynecologists would opt simply to remove the fibroids (myomectomy) through the vagina, rather than subjecting the woman to the more complicated and dangerous hysterectomy.

Also, hysterectomy is permanent; although it effectively reduces any possibility of future fibroids, it makes pregnancy impossible. Thus, women who wish more children invariably choose the limited, non-hysterectomy approach.

Hysterectomy does not, in the vast majority of women, reduce sex drive or sexual pleasure. However, like any surgery, it is best avoided if at all possible.

Fibroids tend to recur. If you eventually decide on myomectomy, you may experience future growth of new fibroids that would possibly require further Lupron treatment or limited surgery.

In my opinion, your best bet is hold your course. I believe you've made a wise decision to use medicine and reject hysterectomy. If, at a later date, your fibroids return, you can always re-think the issue and change your mind.

Your Birthday

Oct. 4, 1990

Exciting improvements in your social life are likely in the year ahead. There could also be improvements in material conditions, but you might not fully capitalize on your opportunities.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Just because an associate can speak louder and faster, it doesn't make this person's ideas or concepts better than yours. If you believe you are right, stand by your guns.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually when you have difficult assignments to handle you do things in a methodical manner, but today there is a good chance you'll create complications for yourself that could be avoided.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You might not function too well as a social chaperone today, because of your inability to exclude guests who don't get along well with one another.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Timing is extremely important today, especially if you are hoping to finalize a matter of consequence. You must not try to close prematurely nor wait until the opportunity has passed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Under most conditions you are an open-minded individual, but today you're not apt to be receptive to the suggestions of others, even people you know are trying to help you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Financial developments might see-saw a bit for you today. There is a possibility you could gain in one situation and take a drubbing in two others.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It will take resourceful measures to circumvent negative developments today, but it can be done if you put your mind to it. Think your way through or around negative obstacles.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You will be more effectively motivated today if you think about the rewards you can garner from your labors rather than the difficulties you may have to endure in order to complete your tasks.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A friend who is usually rather easy to get along with could be the person you'll have the greatest difficulty in pleasing today. Bite the bullet and do your best anyway.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) An objective of importance can be achieved today, but perhaps not with the totality for which you hope. Don't let this serve as an excuse for abandoning the endeavor.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You might not have too much tolerance today for people who are not in complete accord with your ideas. Unfortunately, those you encounter could feel equally as protective about theirs.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you get involved in a joint venture at this time, make sure the requirements for both parties are equal. If the venture is out of balance, it's not likely to work.

Magazine drops lawsuit

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) — Star magazine is dropping a lawsuit accusing Don Johnson's bodyguard of shooting at a helicopter that flew overhead as the former "Miami Vice" star married Melanie Griffith last year.

Attorneys for the tabloid asked for the dismissal Monday, three months after the district attorney's office refused to file charges against Johnson or bodyguard Greg Isaacs.

"It was an economic business decision," said Jonathan Hellman, attorney for the Star's new owner, News America.

Neither Name Nor Nose Reveals a Person's Faith

By Abigail Van Buren

1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have a question for a new friend and need help in devising a subtle approach. This new friend has the potential to play a significant role in my life. If the answer is yes, or if it is no, I couldn't care less either way, but I would like to know if he is Jewish.

How can I find out if he doesn't volunteer? His last name is questionable. He is from a large family in upstate New York. His nose tells me nothing. His father is French and I don't know about his mother. His complexion and hair are very dark. He has jokingly referred to Jews as "Hebes."

Abby, how can I ask without sounding too concerned, which I really am not.

CURIOUS DOWN SOUTH

DEAR CURIOUS: It's a good thing you are not drawing your conclusions on the basis of his name or his nose because both are easily changed. Having a French father doesn't tell you anything about his religion. There are French Jews, Mormons, Christians, Moslems, Buddhists and atheists. And don't draw your conclusions on the basis of hair color or complexion; Jews come in all colors.

Also, some Jewish people jokingly refer to Jews as "Hebes." But if, as you say, this new friend has the potential to play a significant role in your life, if you're still seeing each other in December, ask if you can attend Christmas services with him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been wanting to write this letter for years, but I'm finally getting around to it. I used to respect the signs that read "Parking for Handicapped Only." No more. In my community, many drivers have special license plates issued to handicapped people, and do you know what one person's handicap is? Hard of hearing! Why on earth would a person who is hard of hearing need a special place to park?

I also know a man with a handicapped license who is supposed to be disabled. He goes dancing four nights a week until 1 a.m. Why should he be given a special place to park?

Another person I know borrows a car from a handicapped relative so she can park in reserved-for-handicapped spaces. Those places are meant for people who are in wheelchairs, walkers or crutches.

Is there no decency left in this world?

DISGUSTED WITH CHEATERS

DEAR DISGUSTED: I, too, am disgusted with cheaters, but may I remind you that not all handicaps are visible. People with heart conditions or emphysema may "appear" to be hale and hearty, but they can't walk a block without needing to stop and rest.

DEAR ABBY: Add this to your collection of unbelievable hospital bills: In 1953, my wife gave birth to a baby girl. Before checking out of the hospital, we were presented with the following bill:

Birth and hospital care ..... $129.00
Circumcision ..... $25.00
FRANK IN HAMBURG, N.Y.

To order "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Parents ordered to send girl to school

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — A 7-year-old girl suffering from language disorder must return to school but not to the special education classes she had been attending, a justice of the peace ruled.

The girl's parents, John and Gladys McKenna, contended that their daughter, Kathleen, didn't belong in special education. They said her language disorder, asphasia, means she needs to be in a speech and language program.

The McKennas kept their daughter home from school, protesting her placement in special education classes.

Justice of the Peace Eloy Cano, in ordering the McKennas to send Kathleen to school, said Monday he would like to see her placed in her neighborhood school, Treasure Hills Elementary.

The school district previously had insisted that Kathleen be placed in the special education program at Stuart Place Elementary School.

Cano's order came after a hearing on the school district's charges the couple was violating the state's compulsory school attendance laws.

School officials and the McKennas met Tuesday to discuss where the child would be enrolled.

The McKennas said they were pleased with Cano's decision.

"In the past everybody has been worried about someone else other than Kathleen, and finally someone is worried about Kathleen," said John McKenna.

McKenna said the girl "has been shuffled around the city" to different schools each year.

"We're afraid she'll suffer some emotional damage from being in a classroom with children below her emotional level," McKenna said.

At the hearing, Roberto D. Perez, guidance center director for the school district said the district's main concern is that Kathleen be in school, not her placement.

Retarded teenager said killed by hit-and-run driver

CLEBURNE, Texas (AP) — The body of a retarded teenager, apparently killed by a hit-and-run driver, was found in a ditch behind the youth facility he lived in for the past three years.

Melvin Jackson, 15, ran away from the privately-owned facility, Odyssey Harbor, after a soccer game Monday.

His body was found dead Tuesday in a ditch along nearby U.S. 67.

"I don't think anyone really knows what happened," Odyssey Harbor Director Amine Varga told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "The boys had been playing soccer and the ball accidentally bounced up and hit him. He was angry and he stomped off into the woods."

Paint chips and other evidence found at the scene indicate that Jackson was hit by a large vehicle, probably a pickup truck or van, said Keene Police Chief Reagan Scherencel.

Odyssey Harbor, which treats emotionally abused children, has 105 clients on three campuses.

Ms. Varga said Jackson, who was mentally retarded, had been a resident at Odyssey Harbor since his parents' custody was terminated three years ago. He was originally from Dallas County, she said.

"Usually he would stomp around in the woods and come back. He was not a delinquent," Ms. Varga said. "He was very happy. This was the first home he had that had some permanence to it."

Jackson's body was discovered by a Keene police officer passing by. The teenager had probably been dead for several hours, the police chief said.

"We haven't got a final report from the Medical Examiner's Office yet, so we don't know for sure. But, the medical examiner's investigator said he felt like it must have happened sometime between 10 and 11 p.m.," Scherencel said.

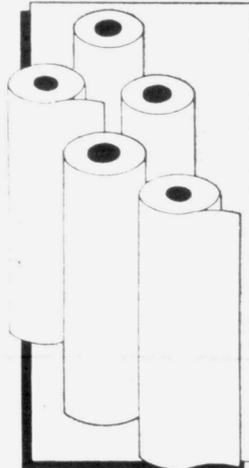

"Whoever hit him knew they hit him, no question," he said. "They did enough damage to him that there had to be body damage to the truck."

While police are checking all leads, Scherencel said he hopes that someone will come forward with more information.

"We could use somebody to step up and say 'I know somebody with an orange pickup or van that has had body damage,'" he said. "That would really help us a lot."
