State governor's race said 'too close to call'

From local, wire reports
Eighteen months after it began, Texans got their turn today as the costliest governor's race in state history came to an end.

Republican Clayton Williams and Democrat Ann Richards awaited the voters' decision. One pollster said their 1½-year-long campaign had left four of every five Texans believing it was more negative than past races.

The Houston consulting firm of Tarrance & Associates said the race was "too close to call" after a weekend poll of 1,000 registered voters.

Polls opened at 7 a.m. today and were to close at 7 p.m.

Locally officials were hoping that several key county races would ensure a good voter turnout. Some 1,494 Scurry County voters cast their ballots during the absentee portion of the election.

County races include that of county judge, in which Democratic incumbent Bobby Goodwin is facing a strong challenge from Republican Bob Doolittle, and commissioner of Precinct 2, where another Democratic incumbent, Tommy Pate, is being challenged by Republican Roy L. Idom.

The office of district clerk is being contested between Democrat Elois Pruitt and Republican Patsy Williams. In the only other opposed race, H.M. Lomax is challenged by write-in candidate D.M. Foree for Precinct 2 peace justice.

Other races in the county — those for county attorney, county clerk, county treasurer, Precinct

4 county commissioner and Precinct 1 peace justice — all are unopposed.

The Tarrance and Associates survey also found that 80 percent of respondents said the 1990 governor's race was more negative than past campaigns. Only 6 percent said the race was less negative, and 14 percent

City to contract with In Place for line rehabilitation

Snyder City Council voted 5-1 Monday to enter into a contract with In-Place Linings Inc. of Fort Worth to rehabilitate over 5,000 feet of city water lines.

Paul Zeck was the dissenting vote on the project that will see 5,100 feet of city water lines rehabilitated using a process that would clean and then coat the interior of the lines with cement.

The project would be a "turn key" job for pipe along Ave. T and out Highway 84 to North Elementary. The project would cost an estimated $63,000.

The council went with the turn key proposal as opposed to leasing the equipment for the project for an entire year on the recommendation of city staff. At the end of the project, the council will review its success and discuss the option of a year's lease on the equipment.

The funds for rehabilitation and replacement would come from $304,000 the council has budgeted for general water system improvements.

A motion — introduced by Zeck — was approved to have city staff further study line replacement and its cost and present the study to the council.

Chamber Manager Bill Moss requested $1,400 from the city's hotel and motel tax fund for Western Texas College/McDonald's Basketball Classic, Nov. 15-17. The request was approved. City Manager John Gayle told the council that the fund has approximately $30,000.

Also addressing the council was Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell concerning the process of the county's 911 system. After approval from the council, Mayor Troy Williamson signed an interlocal agreement with the county for the system.

January of 1992 is the target date for the system to become operational. It will be housed at the local police station and will service Scurry and parts of

Republicans sweep SHS student 'ballots'

State Democratic candidates can be thankful their fate isn't being decided by Snyder High School government and economics classes.

In a poll conducted by Milton Ham, social studies department chairman, Republicans outdistanced Democrats by a near three-to-one margin.

"I think this tells us we've got a lot more conservative shift than ever before, a little change in the wind, at least among our younger people," said Ham. "Maybe they are hearing that at home to some extent, but I really wouldn't expect Mom and Dad to vote quite so conservatively."

Ballots were the same as voters across the county are filling out today, with one key exception — the students didn't vote on Scurry County races.

"We didn't want to get into that since it's so close to home," explained Ham.

Students backed Clayton Williams 72 votes to 26 over Democratic gubernatorial challenger Ann Richards.

The students tossed out incumbent State Representative David Counts of Knox City in favor of Sweetwater Republican John Pennington, 72 votes to 39, and did the same in the agriculture commissioner's race, where they selected Rick Perry by a 62-43 margin over Democratic incumbent Jim Hightower.

U.S. Senator Phil Gramm was a clear winner over Democratic challenger Hugh Parmer, 92-9.

Republican Rob Mosbacher pulled in 76 votes to Bob Bullock's 33 in the race for lieutenant governor while "Buster" Brown defeated Democrat Dan Morales 71 to 35 for attorney general.

In a relatively close race, students still picked Republican Beau Bolter over Bob Krueger for railroad commissioner, 55 votes to 49.

In other races, dominated by Republicans according to the student vote, Wes Gilbreath outdistanced Garry Mauro for land commissioner, 67-34; Warren G. Harding Jr. defeated John Sharp for comptroller, 67-41; and Tom Phillips won over Oscar Mauzy for chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Collection audit ok'd

Scurry County Appraisal District Chief Appraiser Ray Peveler told the district's board of directors that there were no problems with the district's tax collection audit as he presented it to them this morning during the board's November meeting.

The report — prepared by Davis, Kinard and Co. of Abilene — was unanimously approved by the board.

Also presented at the meeting were collection reports for Ira and Hermleigh School Districts. As of October, $36,773.67 has been collected for Hermleigh and $98,528.66 for Ira. These figures represent nine percent of the total to be collected for each taxing district.

Peveler told the board that the district will now save approximately $50 a month on copies after making an arrangement with Scurry County Abstract to make deed copies for the district.

In addition, he said that the city has asked the appraisal office to map areas where hazardous materials are present for the entire county. The maps are required by the state.

In other business, the board approved the bills payable.

Present were Peveler and board members Julius Roemisch, Bill Voss and Doug Flynn. Absent were board members John Reed and Mickey Sterling.

Annual awards...

County 4-H youth honored

Scurry County 4-H honored its own Monday night as annual awards were presented at the Senior Citizens Center.

Gold Star winners for the year are Charlie Busby and Deana Schwarz. Outstanding junior 4-H winners are Mandy Breuer and John Busby.

Sonny Harrell was named the Friend of 4-H and Ann Henderson received the Adult Leader plaque. Viola Stirl received a 30-year Adult Leader Award.

Awards were also presented to county 4-H members. Medal winners had to complete a 4-H Record Book, or compete at district or state level in a 4-H event. Completion certificates were also given to the 4-H'ers who completed project requirements in other areas, or complete a project record form.

Food and nutrition awards were given to 4-H'ers who competed in 4-H Record Books or at district roundup in the food and nutrition category. This year's completion certificates are Jenise Judah, Angie Breuer, Mandy Breuer, Jessica Hodges, Deana Schwarz, Charlie Busby and John Busby.

The clothing and fashion revue winners competed in county and district events. In the clothing area, winners competed at district with a method demonstration or completed a record book in clothing. Some of the 4-H'ers also competed in the fashion revue. This year's winners are Jennifer Trevey, Tammy Voss, Jill Voss, Jessica Hodges, Lori Marshall, A'Lise Lloyd and M'Lys Lloyd.

Completion certificate winners in clothing are Charlie Busby, Angie Breuer, John Busby and Jenise Judah.

Winners in the 4-H Horse Project area competed at district and/or state 4-H horse shows and judging contests. The senior horse judging team qualified for state competition in 1990. Also, two individuals competed with their record books in the horse project area.

This year's winners in the horse project area are Debbie

Seven are indicted by county grand jury

A Scurry County grand jury heard 10 cases and returned seven indictments Monday during its November session in the 132nd District Court.

Bond was set at $15,000 for a 30-year-old Johnny Hermsillo, indicted for possession with the intent to deliver a controlled substance. The substance was identified as cocaine in the indictment.

Hermsillo of 309 36th St. was arrested in the early morning of Oct. 22 after he was stopped for a traffic violation in the 2700 block of Parks Ave. Snyder police Sgt. Robert Harbin discovered what was described as approximately one ounce of cocaine, less than two ounces of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Also indicted was Amanda Carrisalez, 23, of 4100 Eastridge for felony theft. Carrisalez was indicted for taking approximately $2,000 from the Scurry County Library over a period of four months while employed there.

She is no longer employed by the county and has made full restitution of the funds. The funds included fees and fines collected by the library. Bond was set at $5,000.

The theft was discovered by an employee in the county treasurer's office and auditor's office reviewing routine monthly reports. An outside audit following the discovery revealed no other funds missing.

Other indictments included James William Patterson, 37, of the Beacon Motel, for robbery in connection with a Sept. 17 incident involving James R. Patterson of Patterson's Used Cars.

Marlon Randall Clanton, 32, was indicted for burglary of a building for the July 23 entry of a

Court hears guilty pleas

Three local men entered pleas of guilty Monday in the 132nd District Court.

Robert Lee Traylor, 41, of 3801 Muriel plead guilty to two counts of criminal mischief and was sentenced to two 10-year prison terms in TDCJ to be served concurrently.

Taylor was arrested April 9 after he drove his car into the residence and then into a nearby car in which three children were inside.

Vicente Valdez, 23, of 2810 42nd St. was sentenced to 270 days in the county jail and fined $750 after pleading guilty to felony driving while intoxicated.

Randell Wade Free, 27, of 3200 23rd St. also plead guilty to felony DWI committed August 5 and was given a two-year probated sentence and fined $750.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "You still have time to vote."

If there is anything more important to West Texans than voting, it must be a winning football team.

Snyder's Howard Hogue has to be one of Snyder's most avid and loyal fans. Hogue watches the Tigers from his top-row seat against the press box in Tiger Stadium, and he's been doing that faithfully since 1950.

In 30 years, Hogue has missed only one game. Snyder was scheduled to play in Hereford, and he needed to attend a funeral of a close friend in the Dallas area.

In 1975, the booster club honored Howard as fan of the year and in 1978, the Snyder school gave the stock farmer a similar honor.

Snyder attorney Dan Cotton remembers an incident back in the late 1950s that underscores Howard and his love for the Snyder Tigers.

In those days, the booster club was made up of men only and called itself the Quarterback Club. One November, Howard also served as election judge in the Union community.

Cotton was county clerk and was in the courthouse that Tuesday night waiting for the election judges to bring in the voting boxes to be counted.

Cotton noticed that Howard had not yet arrived. They called the Union voting box, but nobody answered the phone. The clerk's staff continued to wait.

With all other voting precincts reported, the clerk's staff became concerned. The sheriff was sent to look for the missing election judge.

Hogue was finally located. He had left the polling place and went directly to the high school to attend the quarterback club meeting.

Explained Howard, "Snyder had played a great game on Friday night and I wanted to see the game film."

Now, that's a football fan.

Ask Us

A—Are city councilmen, preachers or other private individuals allowed to ride with city policemen in Snyder?

Q—A representative of the police department said general policy is that passengers should only be another officer or someone under arrest, due to liability. Occasionally in the past, a city official or member of the city council has gone on routine patrol with an officer. This is not common, however.

Grid contest

Two entrants had three misses in last week's SDN Football Contest. Using the tie-breaker procedure, first and second place winners were determined. Beatrice Jackson of Box 3, Old Post Road won the $50 first prize, and Linda Hughes of Box 143, Ira, won the $25 second prize.

The tie-breaker procedure also selected the third place winner, since two entrants had four misses. Thomas Bullard of Rt. 3 Box 66 won the $15 third prize.

Another contest appears in this issue.

Desert Shield troops criticize rations

IN EASTERN SAUDI ARABIA (AP) — The Army manual for desert warfare says food and water are tactical weapons. In the mess halls of Operation Desert Shield, troops gripe about whether the food weapon is aimed at them or the enemy.

These food critics are anything but diplomatic. "Disgusting," said Marine Lance Cpl. Dale Sturdfan, 20, of Petersburg, Va., carrying a breakfast plate of watery scrambled eggs, rice, a meat patty, bread, apple juice and a cookie back to his desert quarters.

"It sucks. Big time," said Marine Pvt. Stephen Mayfield, 21, of Seattle. "It's better than nothing, though. Out here, beggars can't be choosers."

No topic, even the desert heat, gets more growl time in the bunkers, foxholes and billets than chow.

Although it's a sure bet no American army has ever eaten better, the soldiers in Saudi Arabia have raised complaints about the cuisine to new heights.

Air Force Sgt. Mike Phillips, 29, of Newbury, Ohio, says he's lost 20 pounds since he arrived.

Phillips, a radar operator with the 726th Tactical Contingent, has a simple rule: "If you can't identify it, don't eat it."

Almost all troops, even the Marines dug in closest to the Kuwaiti border, get hot meals for breakfast and dinner.

One type is the Army version of the TV dinner. It's prepackaged and heated in hot water.

When hot food isn't available, troops turn to a staple called Meals, Ready-to-Eat, or MREs in soldierspeak.

Some soldiers say MREs stand for Meals Rejected by Everyone Else. An improvement on canned rations such as Spam and cheese, each MRE comes in a chocolate-brown wrapper as a 2,500-calorie, prepackaged portion that can be eaten anywhere.

The dishes include pork patties, meatballs with barbecue sauce, chicken a la king, ham omelette and frankfurters with bean component. Other goodies in the packets include crackers, peanut butter, a candy bar, instant coffee and flavoring for water.

"To look at them just makes me ill. I'll eat the crackers and peanut butter but that's about as far as I'll go," said Air Force Maj. Carol Darby, 34, of Roseville, Calif.

MREs are one of the most nutritionally complete food packages in the world, claims Gerald Darsch, chief of the food technology division at the Army's research labs in Natick, Mass. The military has ordered 30 million more MREs to support Desert Shield.

One of the biggest hits in the packs is M&M's candies. An Air Force officer wrote M&M's headquarters in Hackettstown, N.J., to say the sure sign that candy is included is a "whoop in the mess tent."

The Army's Research Institute of Environmental Medicine takes food seriously.

"Soldiers must be taught that food and water are tactical weapons. Soldiers must be taught to eat and drink, whether they like it or not, whether they are hungry or thirsty or not," the regulations say.

Researchers found that the amount of calories needed increases in the desert, but the desire to eat goes down.

The biggest complaint is that the food, even meals cooked in field kitchens, is bland. That's understandable if you're making eggs for a couple of battalions at a time.

Marines who hunker down in the dark to eat supper in the sand often carry glass bottles of tabasco sauce to spice up their rations. They have a saying: "In case of emergency, break glass."

Manual offering law for the layman, from alimony to will

NEW YORK (AP) — Do I have to give back the engagement ring now that he's called off the wedding?

Can I really eat all I want at a restaurant's "All You Can Eat" night?

A pizzeria advertises "The Best Pizza in New York," but I disagree. Can I get a refund?

Maybe, maybe not, and no, according to a new legal guide by the state Bar Association that explains New York law to non-lawyers with nary a reference to res ipsa loquitur or collateral estoppel.

"Understanding the Law" is the first book in a question-and-answer format to focus on the law of a specific state, according to Brad Carr, spokesman for the bar association.

The $9.95 guide's questions are drawn from queries received by the bar's telephone referral service. About a third of the callers "don't really need legal assistance," Carr said. "Why call a lawyer if you don't have to?"

Despite its promise of direct, simple answers, the guide leans hard on qualifiers. Isn't an "all you can eat" restaurant's refusal to serve more than two helpings of roast beef false advertising? "Probably not," the guide mumbles. "The refusal... is probably reasonable under the circumstances. However, a complaint to management would probably be in order."

But the guide does offer some solid advice — such as never share the same divorce lawyer — and sets out the law in something like black and white.

You cannot work outside the home before the age of 14 unless you are a model, performer or newspaper carrier. You cannot marry before 18 without parental consent, or before 14 even with it. And after getting a license you must wait 24 hours to tie the knot — unless "a party is in danger of imminent death or another emergency of public interest exists."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pianist Leon Fleisher's tragedy was losing his right hand to a crippling muscle disorder. His triumph was showing the world that it hardly mattered.

After building a new life for himself in the past quarter-century as a conductor and teacher, Fleisher, 62, returned to the concert stage last weekend for a bravura piano recital featuring solo works for the left hand only.

His homecoming performance in the Kennedy Center's crowded Terrace Theater was praised by music critics with the same enthusiasm that greeted his Carnegie Hall debut with the New York Philharmonic in 1944, when he was a gangly 16-year-old from San Francisco.

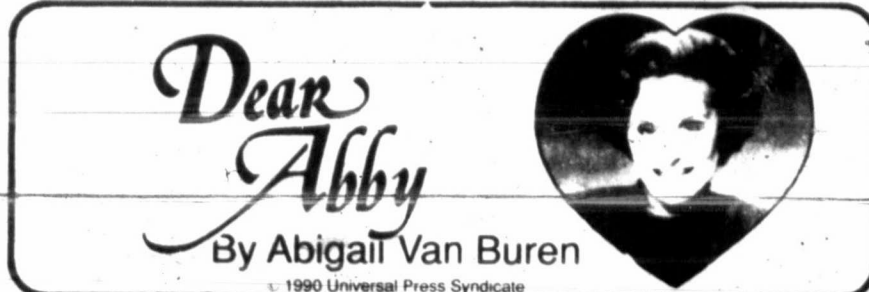

Several works on Saturday night's program were written for other great pianists who, like Fleisher, were unable to use their right hands. They included Russian composer Alexander Scriabin, who suffered the same ailment as Fleisher, and Viennese pianist Paul Wittgenstein, who lost his right arm in World War I.

It was Fleisher's first solo recital in a major concert hall since he was stricken more than 25 years ago.

When Fleisher withdrew from the concert stage in April 1965, on the eve of a European tour with the Cleveland Orchestra, his right-hand fingers had become weak, numb and beyond control.

Among Man's Marital Riches Are Two Wives Too Many

By Abigail Van Buren
1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband is an American, but I was born in the Philippines. Wilbur is 51 and I am 36. We've been married for eight years, and he adopted my two children. (I was a widow.)

Yesterday I got a telephone call from a woman who said, "Hello, my name is Mary Elizabeth ()," and her last name was the same as mine, so I said, "Oh, you must be related to Wilbur." She said, "Yes, he's my husband."

I was so shocked I could hardly speak, then I told her that Wilbur was also my husband. She was very surprised and said she hadn't seen him in many years, but she wanted a divorce so she could marry someone else.

Abby, Wilbur never mentioned that he was married before. Anyway, I took her number to give to Wilbur. When he came home, I told him about Mary Elizabeth, and he just laughed and said he had not thought of her for a long time. Then I said, "Maybe you have yet another wife who would like a divorce?" To my surprise, he said, "Yes, I have. Last I heard she was in San Antonio, Texas, but if she doesn't bother me, I won't bother her."

I asked if he had any children. He said, "No, my first wife gave me a vasectomy for a wedding present."

Abby, now I worry about whether our marriage is legal. He's a kind and decent man, owns his own business and has been a fine father to my children. We were married by a Navy chaplain. But are we really married? Please tell me what to do.

VERY WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your husband should see a lawyer. He has at least two marriages that need to be dissolved before he is free to marry you.

DEAR ABBY: Please help settle a family argument. My husband thought "Traci," our 14-year-old daughter, was spending too much time on the telephone, so he gave her a five-minute limit on all telephone calls. I think this is unfair.

I equate Traci's telephone calls with "hanging out," as we did on street corners before we had telephones and lived near enough to walk to our friends' houses. Therefore, my heart is not really into enforcing Dad's five-minute rule — especially since we have "call waiting." Your opinion, please.

TRACI'S MOM

DEAR MOM: First, some pertinent unanswered questions: How are Traci's grades? Has she been neglecting anything of importance in order to "hang out" on the telephone?

The telephone to some teenagers is a lifeline, so since you have "call waiting" — and if Traci hasn't been neglecting her homework and chores — imposing a five-minute limit borders on cruel and unusual punishment. I think Dad should lighten up.

DEAR ABBY: I am a bandleader who frequently gets requests to play a song in honor of a wedding anniversary. I always get a laugh when on the occasion of the first anniversary I play "Night and Day."

For the fifth anniversary, I play "Saturday Night."

For the 10th anniversary, I play "Once in a While."

For the 25th anniversary, I play "Now and Then."

For the 50th anniversary, I play "Thanks for the Memories."

Any suggestions for anniversaries over 50?

OPEN TO SUGGESTIONS

DEAR OPEN: How about, "We Did It Before and We Can Do It Again"? Or, "Never in a Million Years"?

Everything you'll need to know about planning a wedding can be found in Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. IRS auction will not feature porno films

RENO, Nev. (AP) — When it comes to selling a brothel, the Internal Revenue Service has a few hang-ups.

Condoms and paintings of bare-breasted women are OK at next week's tax sale of the Mustang Ranch. Dirty movies are out.

Among the gaudier items to be sold when the auction of the 100-room bordello and its contents begins Nov. 13 are teddy bears, pajamas, sequined and feathered gowns and pocket-sized ceramic liquor bottles decorated with naked women.

What's not for sale at America's best known legal brothel is a small collection of porno flicks that were found in the purple, mirror-walled Orgy Room when the IRS seized the property Sept. 21 for $13 million in back taxes owed by Joe and Sally Conforte.

"The IRS can't sell anything illegal," said Richard Flakus, IRS chief collection agent in Nevada.

The defunct house of ill repute has sparked interest for use as a nursing home, a halfway house and a girls' reform school, said Dierdre Pagni, an IRS manager.

"A religious group expressed an interest as well," she said, declining to give details.

A U.S. Bankruptcy Court trustee had hoped to operate the bordello and pay off its debts but came up against licensing and cash flow problems, and the IRS padlocked the place before it could reopen. It had operated at a legal bawdy house since 1971. Last month, county commissioners revoked its permit.

The 50 or so ladies of the night who worked there since the IRS moved in have gone on to other ventures.

The IRS hopes to earn at least $1.8 million when the property falls under the auctioneer's gavel.

"We highly encourage the neighborhood yard sale enthusiast to come out and make a bid on anything they may want," Ms. Pagni said, as she led reporters on a tour Monday.

The tour did not include a glimpse of Conforte's Rolodex, which Ms. Pagni quickly snatched from a reporter's glance. The modern version of the former owner's little black book is not for sale.

The beds won't be sold individually. They are attached to the floor and linked to other parts of the place via buzzers.

But for those who want a little of Mustang's colorful history, there are signs posting service charges, Mustang Ranch matchbooks and complimentary coupons.

There are practical items. Like 22 fire extinguishers and nine bottles of emergency oxygen that were kept on the premises.

Copies of personalized license plates on sale would make Conforte cringe.

SCS reviews contracts, fields

SCS Notes

By Michael Squires
The Snyder Soil Conservation Service has completed a field check of all active CRP contracts in Scurry and Borden Counties. For the most part the fields look good.

This has been a good year for grass establishment in most of the area. Some areas received well above average rainfall amounts while others still remain in a drought.

There are some fields out there with some thistle problems. These fields need to be shredded before the tumbleweeds turn loose and seed neighboring cotton fields.

We make every effort to notify the operators if we feel that a problem exists. However, each producer has sole responsibility in maintaining his or her fields in the CRP program and should not wait until they receive a letter from the SCS.

I have seen many fields with excellent stands of grasses, many of which were seeded only this year. We saw a winter kill and set back of Kleingrass this year due to a period of extreme cold temperatures last winter. It appears that the die-off is not as severe as first thought.

I have seen much of the grass green-up, if only just a few stems. This is another example of why there is an advantage in diversity within these seeded fields.

Remember the SCS personnel are here to assist you in any way possible. If you have any question about your CRP contract, do not hesitate to call our office. We will be glad to set up a time to go over it with you and answer all your questions.

Almost all aphids are females that reproduce by parthenogenesis — without sex — resulting in offspring genetically identical to their mothers.

at the finish. If the spades divided equally or if the defender who held long spades also held the king of clubs, the contract would succeed. Unfortunately East had nothing to protect except his 10-8 of spades, and West held tight to his king of clubs, so declarer was down one.

The right play is not so easy to see. At the point where declarer played the jack of spades, he should lead low instead. Now it will not help West to take the ace of spades immediately. (The Q-J will be winners, and finally the king.) Should West duck the spade, declarer takes the king in dummy and returns a spade to the jack and ace. Now what? A diamond will provide a sluff and a ruff, and a club will be away from the king and around to declarer's queen.

Why should declarer assume that West holds the club king? If West did not, he would surely have led a club at the third trick after winning the first two diamond tricks.

Dusters fall in opener 69-68

The Snyder (Tex.) Daily News, Tues., Nov. 6, 1990 5

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Western Texas College women's basketball coach Kelly Chadwick expressed some concern about his point guards as his team started the 1990-91 cage season.

Some of those concerns had to have been quelled after the performance of Becky Hinojos and Sherry Hoffpauir in Monday's season opening 69-68 loss to Cisco Junior College.

Hinojos hit a pair of crucial free-throws with just three seconds left in the game to put the Dusters up 68-67 before Cisco's Tiffany Buris went coast-to-coast and put up a prayer that fell for the winner with no time on the clock.

"It was a real good learning experience for them," Chadwick said of his point guard tandem.

"They made a lot of freshman mistakes, but they did a lot of things right, too."

"Becky hit those free-throws at the end, there, and that, to me, is the mark of a winner."

The WTC coach also pointed out the defensive play of San Angelo freshman Melissa Sutton.

"She had a good game on defense. She was kind of nervous offensively, but all the girls were. Sutton made a smart foul at the end of the game to put us in a position to win."

DALLAS — Western Texas College's men's basketball team was hitting on all cylinders in its Monday season opener against Cedar Valley College here.

The Westerners posted a 148-103 victory with their up-tempo style of play that earned them fifth place nationally in scoring for the 1989-90 season at over 102 points per game.

Coach Tony Mauldin's crew blasted to a 74-54 halftime lead and coasted to a 1-0 record.

A total of five WTC cagers were in double figures Monday including point guard Paul Johnson and off guard Michael Richardson who recorded 29 points each.

Johnson, a sophomore transfer student from Delgado College in New Orleans, hit seven three-point buckets in the Westerners' win and Richardson, a Panola College transfer, made six.

Sophomore returnee Allen Smith added 20 points followed by Jacoby Garmon with 16 and Dominick Byrd's 14.

Cedar Valley's Chris Owens led his team with 26 points including eight baskets and a 10 of 14 performance from the free-throw line.

Tony Greene added 18 points on four threes, a pair of ducacs and 3 of 4 shooting from the stripe.

Western Texas will play in the Midland Classic Thursday, Friday and Saturday and are slated to open at home Monday, Nov. 12 at 8 p.m. against Cisco Junior College.

WESTERN TEXAS COLLEGE — Allen Smith 6 2-20; Tracy Brazier 10-0-2; Chad Landrum 3-0-6; Paul Johnson 9-4-4-2; Jeff Shelley 4-1-1-9; Michael Richardson 11-1-2-29; Dominick Byrd 7-0-14; Stanley Cunningham 3-2-3-9; Jacoby Garmon 8-0-16; Anthony Alexander 1-0-2; Dewayne Williams 4-0-9; Doug Brown 0-1-2-1; Isaac Davine 10-2-2. TOTALS 60-117-148.

an early 17-11 hole but an offensive rebound and a bucket by Diane Mendez knotted the score at 17-all with about ten minutes left in the opening half.

Western Texas eased to within a point just before the half as sophomore Kelsey Koester was fouled getting an offensive board and made a pair of free throws to set the score at 33-32.

Giants drub Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The New York Giants retained their perfect record and have a new-found respect for a strong-arm rookie foe.

Sparked by the passing of Phil Simms, the Giants defeated the Indianapolis Colts 24-7 Monday night to join the San Francisco 49ers at 8-0, the first time in 56 years that two NFL teams have been unbeaten this deep into the season.

But, when the game was over, the Giants talked about Colts quarterback Jeff George, who returned after a six-week absence and lost his fourth game.

"George is one of the few pure passers," said Dave Duerson, who returned George's fumble 31 yards for the game's final score. "He has a similar release to Dan Marino. He can get the ball to a receiver in a hurry. He doesn't play like a rookie, he shows a lot of poise, and I told him that after the game."

"The guy has a rifle," said New York linebacker Pepper Johnson, whose jarring tackle knocked the ball loose and cooled the Colts' comeback hopes. "He has a strong arm. I think when he gets his confidence, gets together with his receivers and his offensive line and he starts going downfield more, he's going to be dangerous. One time he shot a ball past me and I heard it go swish. With a quick release like that, he's going to go a lot of places."

"That's a very good football team," Indianapolis coach Ron Meyer said of the Giants. "They just don't beat themselves."

bucket for the Dusters on a slick pass in the lane from Koester and was fouled in the process.

Jackson made her freebie and WTC went into intermission with a 35-33 advantage.

The hometowners opened a 44-38 margin early in the second half before Cisco talent Pam Wilkerson went to work.

Wilkerson hit for two followed by a hoop from Hinojos for WTC.

The CJC sophomore made a basket from the perimeter followed by four straight points by Buris to narrow the WTC lead to 48-46.

Jackson turned another three-point play for the Dusters with a deuce and a free-throw before Wilkerson's steal and basket pulled the Lady Wranglers to within three at 51-48.

The two teams traded punches down to the 1:40 mark in the game.

With the score tied at 64-64, Wilkerson made the front end of a one-and-one and missed the second shot.

A squandered trip downcourt by the Dusters gave Cisco's Buris an open fast break for two points and a 67-64 lead with :46 remaining.

Monica Ramirez strong-armed a basket underneath to close the gap to a single point followed by Sutton's foul that put Buris on the line in a bonus situation.

The CJC standout, who finished the game with 19 points, could not convert from the line and Hinojos was fouled after the rebound.

She made both shots and left the Cisco team just three ticks on the clock.

That's all Buris needed as she went sprinting down the court after the inbound pass and pushed the ball at the hoop underhanded.

Irish climb back to top spot

SEATTLE (AP) — The No. 2 Washington Huskies think they're going to be playing Iowa in the Rose Bowl in a rematch of two teams that played at the end of the 1981 season.

They also think they have a strong chance of overhauling No. 1 Notre Dame and winning their first national championship.

"I think it would be great for the school and the team," Washington coach Don James said Monday when asked about a possible national title.

"It would mean a lot. I'd like to see it happen for this institution."

The Huskies (8-1) moved up from No. 7 in this week's Top 25 after they beat Arizona 54-10 last Saturday in Seattle. Washington finished second to Brigham Young for the national championship in the 1984 season.

Washington will play UCLA on Saturday at Husky Stadium and wind up its regular season Nov. 17 at Washington State. Notre Dame has three games left on its regular schedule.

James said the Huskies could win the national championship by winning their last three games and having Notre Dame lose once. He admitted it would be hard to dislodge the Irish from No. 1 if they win their last four games, including a bowl contest.

The Pacific-10 Conference champion Huskies will face the Big Ten winner in the Rose Bowl. Washington shut out the Hawkeyes 28-0 in the 1982 Rose Bowl. That was the Huskies' last appearance in the New Year's Day classic in Pasadena, Calif.

Iowa moved into the Big Ten driver's seat by beating Illinois last Saturday. James said he expected Washington to play Iowa in the Rose Bowl.

Notre Dame regained the top spot in the college football poll because of Georgia Tech's 41-38 victory over top-ranked Virginia. The Irish were No. 2 last week.

They were No. 1 for four weeks before losing to Stanford in early October. Notre Dame fell to eighth after that loss, but four consecutive victories and a series of upsets have allowed the Irish to reclaim the No. 1 spot.

Notre Dame (7-1), which beat Navy 52-31 Saturday, received 37 first-place votes and 1,456 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Washington was second with 13 first-place votes and 1,403 points, and Houston (8-0), the only unbeaten, untied team in Division I-A, was third with five first-place votes and 1,337 points.

Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz was unhappy with his team's performance against Navy. He said the Irish don't deserve the No. 1 ranking.

"We aren't the No. 1 team," he said. "You can't be a great team until you play great on defense, and we haven't put that phase of our game together."

Holtz is known for poor-mouthing his team, but this time he may have a point. With games remaining against No. 9 Tennessee, No. 21 Penn State and No. 23 Southern Cal, the Irish may not hold onto the top spot for long.

Washington was one spot below Houston at No. 7 in last week's poll, but the Huskies moved ahead of the Cougars after routing Arizona. Houston, which is eligible for the national championship despite being on probation, beat Texas Christian 56-35.

Colorado (8-1-1) moved up five places to fourth after handing Nebraska its first loss, 27-12. The Buffaloes got five first-place votes and 1,310 points.

Miami was fifth, followed by Iowa, Georgia Tech, Brigham Young, Tennessee, Florida, Virginia, Florida State, Nebraska, Texas and Auburn.

Rounding out the Top 25 are Mississippi, Illinois, Clemson, Michigan, Oregon, Penn State, Louisville, Southern Cal, Michigan State and Wyoming.

Virginia and three other teams in last week's Top 5 — Nebraska, Auburn and Illinois — plunged in the poll after losing on Saturday. The Cavaliers (7-1) dropped to 11th after holding the No. 1 spot for three weeks.

Nebraska (8-1) fell from third to 13th, Auburn from fourth to 15th after getting clobbered by Florida 48-7 and Illinois from fifth to 17th following a 54-28 loss to Iowa.

Miami (8-2) moved up three places after beating Pittsburgh 45-0, and Iowa and Georgia Tech made even bigger jumps. The Hawkeyes (7-1) rose seven spots and the Yellow Jackets (7-0-1) moved up nine notches.

Arizona, No. 23 last week, dropped out of the Top 25 and was replaced by Michigan State, which beat Indiana 45-20.

The Top Twenty Five teams in the Associated Press 1990 college football poll, with first place votes in parentheses, records through Nov. 3, total points based on 25 points for a first-place vote through one point for a 25th-place vote, and last week's rankings:

Four wrecks occur Monday

Four wrecks — two of them major and with injuries — occurred inside the city limits on Monday.

At 12:07 p.m. at the intersection of 30th St. and El Paso, a 1990 Ford driven by Margaret Seaton of 3001 40th St. was in collision with a 1980 Pontiac driven by Jose Marquez of 2609 Ave. Y.

Damage was moderate. A passenger in the Marquez vehicle, 44-year-old Ester Marquez, struck her head on the windshield, but she refused medical treatment.

At 5:17 p.m. in the 2900 Block of Ave. G, a 1989 Chevrolet pickup driven by Melissa Rossetto of 2602 34th St. was in collision with a 1990 Pontiac driven by Timothy McCright of Route 1, Snyder.

Two passengers in the McCright vehicle, 27-year-old Melissa McCright and eight-year-old Dana McCright, were taken to Cogdell Hospital by private vehicle where they were treated and released. Another passenger, six-year-old Chad McCright, refused medical treatment. Damage to vehicles was moderate.

A minor traffic mishap occurred at 9:49 a.m. Monday at the East Traffic Circle. A 1984 GMC pickup driven by Jessie Neatherline of Wink was in collision with a 1982 Suburban driven by Darrel Bills of Route 2, Snyder. There were no injuries and damage was light.

At 1:19 p.m. in the Field Crest Apartments parking lot, a parked 1985 Ford pickup owned by James Carl Gholson was struck by an unknown vehicle which left the scene.

Burglary string continues here

A burglary and attempted burglary were reported to Snyder police Monday morning.

Ken Toby, manager of the Kingswood Apartments on 37th St., reported at 7:15 a.m. that someone had entered the office through an unlocked window and had taken an undetermined amount of cash.

At 7:44 a.m., an employee of Southern Electric on North College Ave. reported that someone had attempted to gain entry into the firm, resulting in the damage to a door.

At 12:32 p.m., Anita Farmer at Skinney's on East Highway reported that a man had left without paying for $10 in gasoline. The man later returned and paid for the purchase.

City police reported no arrests for the 24-hour period beginning at 7 a.m. Monday.

At 8:44 p.m. Monday, police received a call from a woman who reported that her 13-year-old son had been assaulted at Snyder Junior High School.

At 12:09 a.m. Tuesday, police investigated a report of a woman running down the street screaming and possible shots being fired. Police were unable to locate any disturbance.

Pecos gives up band berth

AUSTIN (AP) — Pecos High School voluntarily relinquished a place in the Class 4A state marching band contest, after being incorrectly declared a winner in regional competition, the University Interscholastic League said.

UIL director Bailey Marshall said Monday that judges had mistakenly broken a tie between Pecos and Hereford in favor of Pecos. The mistake at the regional meet in Odessa was not discovered until after the results had been verified, and Pecos was not obligated to relinquish its spot in the state finals to Hereford, UIL officials said.

Monahans also advanced to the finals Nov. 12 in Austin from that West Texas region, the UIL said.

Marshall said Pecos school officials agreed Hereford should advance to the finals.

"If everybody did this, we wouldn't have problems," Marshall said. "We wouldn't need all those (UIL) rules."

Snyder High School's marching band was second alternate in the competition.

Pair of thefts probed here

Two thefts were reported to the Scurry County sheriff's office Monday.

Verleatha Anderson of 3205 Ave. K reported the theft of $51 in cash and a $50 food stamp book. The items were taken from her purse which was left in a parked vehicle.

Rex Nall of 2800 47th St. reported the theft of items from his pickup while parked at the Scurry County Coliseum on Saturday. Taken were two socket sets and a highboy jack.

The New York Stock Exchange was founded in 1792.

Rapper replies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Luther Campbell of the rap group 2 Live Crew says people should spend more time worrying about homelessness and hunger and less time trying to prove the lyrics to his songs are obscene.

"We have an outrageous amount of people sleeping in the streets and without anything to eat, but we find rappers more important," Campbell wrote in an essay in Monday's Los Angeles Times.

Campbell and fellow 2 Live Crew members Mark "Brother Marquis" Ross and Chris "Fresh Kid Ice" Wongwon were acquitted in Florida last month of obscenity for performing songs from their "As Nasty as They Wanna Be" album.

They could have been jailed for up to a year.

"Our environment is slowly being pulled apart, and we put people in jail for a bunch of words," Campbell wrote. "Sometimes I wonder what starving people in Ethiopia would think about the money we've wasted on taking this to court."

Campbell also said the lyrics from "As Nasty as They Wanna Be" reflect his black culture and are "nothing but a group of fellas bragging."

Borden Counties.

During the meeting, city secretary Jeanne Johnson was presented a plaque by Mayor Williamson for "achievement of excellence" in financial reporting. The award came from the Government Finance Officers Association and is the highest form of recognition in the area of government accounting and financial reporting.

A zone change was approved by the council, changing a section of 24th St. to a residential zone. Ivan Chaney made the request in order to add a carport to his home.

Also approved, on second reading, was an ordinance regarding the city's participation in the Texas Municipal Retirement System.

At the conclusion of the public meeting, the council met in executive session to discuss threatened litigation. No action was taken.

Present were Williamson, Gayle and council members Zeck, Mike Thornton, Vernest Tippens, Jack Denman, Joe Coronado and Jackie Greene Jr.

were unsure.

The race also was the most expensive. Williams reported spending at least $20.4 million, $8 million of it his own. Richards spent at least $11 million. Combined with the money spent by candidates vanquished in the primaries, the final total was expected to hit $45 million.

In their final day on the campaign trail, Richards stumped through traditional Democratic strongholds while Williams got a push from President Bush.

Despite all the attention, the governor's office isn't the only one being filled.

A key area race has 78th District State Representative David Counts of Knox City trying to hold off Republican challenger John Pennington of Sweetwater.

Republican U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm seeks a second term against Democratic state Sen. Hugh Farmer of Fort Worth, and all 27 U.S. House seats are being filled. Democrats hold 19 now.

Texas Republicans are hoping for gains in the Texas House, where they now hold 60 of the 150 seats. Sixteen state Senate seats also are up.

All major statewide offices are being filled.

For the first time in 18 years, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's name isn't on the ballot. Democratic state Comptroller Bob Bullock and Republican businessman Rob Mosbacher of Houston want the job.

The attorney general's race pits two state legislators — San Antonio Democratic Rep. Dan Morales and GOP Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown of Lake Jackson.

A last-minute Houston Chronicle poll showed two very close state races — agriculture commissioner and state treasurer.

Two-term Democratic Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower faces Republican state Rep. Rick Perry, a fifth generation farmer and rancher from Haskell.

In the treasurer's race, Republican Kay Bailey Hutchison of Dallas and Nikki Van Hightower of Houston battled to succeed Richards.

Supreme Court Chief Justice Tom Phillips, the first Republican to lead the state's highest court in modern times, is seeking re-election against Democratic Justice Oscar Mauzy. Two other seats on the bench also are up for grabs.

Five seats are being filled on the Court of Criminal Appeals, including one race certain to make history. The winner of the Place 5 race between Democrat Morris Overstreet of Amarillo and appointed Republican Judge Louis Sturns of Fort Worth will become the first black elected to a statewide office in modern Texas history.

Other major state offices being filled include comptroller, land commissioner, railroad commissioner and seven seats on the State Board of Education.

Your Birthday

Nov. 7, 1990

You might be luckier than usual in the year ahead in ventures or endeavors that require promotion and salesmanship. Your ability to successfully market your wares could be rather remarkable.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll grasp the essence of ideas today, but not necessarily their entirety. This is because your focus is likely to be on your own concept instead of on what you're being told. Scorpio, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This is not an especially good day to go shopping for expensive merchandise. Your desire for instant gratification could distort your value judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Disengage yourself from ideas or plans today about which you do not feel certain. Don't complicate your life by speeding down a road that is probably a dead-end street.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In order to expedite production today you might experiment with some untested methods or procedures. Tying with the unknown could create problems for you instead of resolving them.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) When cavorting with friends today you might feel socially obligated to foot the bill instead of splitting the costs equally. Don't be stingy, but, on the other hand, be realistic.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There is a possibility you may be subjected to more domestic tensions than usual today. If you treat events emotionally, instead of logically, it'll contribute to everyone's discomfort.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Make every effort to subdue your impulsive inclinations today. Be sure your mind is in gear before your mouth starts talking and watch out when you get behind the wheel and go buzzing around town.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today will not be devoid of financial opportunities, although they are apt to be rather elusive. If you hope to capitalize on advantageous developments, don't blink your eyes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your possibilities for succeeding in a commercial endeavor are somewhat limited today. This is because you might deliberately involve yourself with people who can't make effective contributions.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In spite of your better judgment, there is a chance today you may do something that does not serve your best interests where your career is concerned. Watch your step.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your friends might find you a trifle difficult to deal with today, because you may say one thing and do another. Instead of having them wonder what you'll do next, stick to your word.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In order to fulfill meaningful objectives today, continuity of purpose is essential. If you attempt to do things in fits and starts, you'll merely have a lot of beginnings with no endings.

Hometown mourning Martin

WEATHERFORD, Texas (AP) — Flags flutter at half-staff across Mary Martin's Never-Never Land.

It was here, in a still gracious Victorian country home, that the beloved Broadway star was born 76 years ago and where she returned often during a career that won her worldwide renown.

Martin, one of the New York theater's leading ladies for more than 30 years, died of cancer Saturday at her home in Rancho Mirage, Calif.

The newspaper in this town about 30 miles west of Fort Worth memorialized her Monday with a front-page drawing of a smiling Martin and a crying Tinker Bell crouched in the corner.

Critically acclaimed and widely admired for her roles in a number of blockbuster musicals, it was a tune called "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" that launched her career, and it was her stage and screen renditions of "Peter Pan" that made her famous.

And she brought the magic of both back home, in her own special way.

In her book, "My Heart Belongs," she honored her hometown with a chapter titled "My Heart Belongs to Weatherford," and she reminded the folks of that in 1983 when she was here to receive many honors.

On July 4, 1976, America's 200th birthday, Martin came home to unveil Ronald Thomason's statue of Peter Pan that was being placed in front of the Weatherford Public Library in memory of her parents.

Quoting from her most famous role, she said: "I have a place where dreams are born and time is never planned; it's not on any chart, you must find it with your heart, Never-Never Land."

Weatherford, she said, was her Never-Never Land.

On Monday, the home at 414 W. Lee St. had two pumpkins and a wooden swing on the front porch, a "For Sale" sign in the front yard and a family of admirers occupying the rambling, five-bedroom, turn-of-the-century dwelling.

"Everyone loved her," said Molly Carpenter, who has lived in the house eight years with her husband Jim and two daughters. The family is preparing to move to nearby Fort Worth.

"She was a remarkable person and part of this town," she said. "You could stand in the middle of the street and scream, 'Who's a fan of Mary Martin's?' and they'd come pouring out of their doors."

Mrs. Carpenter said she met Martin's son, "Dallas" star Larry Hagman, many times, but the Broadway star herself only once, when she came back to Weatherford for the funeral of a friend. About three years ago, Martin had a friend take her picture in front of the house.

She sent the Carpenters a copy which said: "To the Carpenters, in the house where I was born. With love, Mary Martin."

The flag at the old brick post office flew at half-staff Monday, as did others scattered about the city of some 15,000 residents.

Old friends remembered Martin as much for her close ties to Weatherford as for her legendary star status.

However, Marge Ashcroft, a high school classmate of Martin's, told the Weatherford Democrat she keeps thinking of the scene in "Peter Pan" where he encourages the audience to clap their hands to bring back a fading Tinker Bell.

"It kind of makes us want to clap our hands to bring her back," she said.

Dr. Gott
Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I recently had surgery on my throat for Hashimoto's disease of the thyroid. My doctor has very little information to provide. Can you enlighten me?

DEAR READER: Hashimoto's thyroiditis is a common thyroid disease, marked by inflammation and swelling of the gland, leading to hypothyroidism (underactive thyroid, marked by fatigue, constipation and weakness). It is possibly an autoimmune disorder (self-allergy) and is frequently associated with other autoimmune conditions, such as pernicious anemia, lupus, rheumatoid arthritis, Addison's disease (underactive adrenal glands) and hypoparathyroidism (underactive parathyroid glands, which control calcium metabolism).

I assume your surgery was a biopsy of an enlarged thyroid gland. By this technique, your doctor was able to obtain a piece of the gland for microscopic analysis; this, plus blood tests, confirms the diagnosis of thyroid underactivity.

Although no one knows why patients develop Hashimoto's thyroiditis, treatment is simple and inexpensive: life-long therapy with thyroid hormone pills, such as Synthroid.

You should suffer no future consequences from this disease (providing you take the medicine), although your doctor will probably insist on testing you for other autoimmune diseases, too, which would also need treatment if discovered.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My doctor claims he can lower cholesterol, triglycerides and remove plaque from the arteries with his 1-2-3 prescription. This is specifically 1 aspirin, 2 Lipids and 3 EPA (fish-oil capsules). Your opinion of this solution would be most beneficial.

DEAR READER: I'm always skeptical of practitioners who claim health cures for complex metabolic problems. If your doctor's approach were truly beneficial, it would be standard medical therapy. Since it isn't, I'm wary.

One aspirin a day reduces the risk of heart attack, by interfering with blood clotting.

Lipid (gemfibrozil) is a drug used for lowering blood fats, primarily triglycerides; it is not as effective against cholesterol as are other medicines, however.

Fish oil enjoyed wide popularity some years ago as a "natural" compound to lower cholesterol. Subsequent studies failed to confirm this role. Thus, this oil is no longer recommended as a cholesterol-reducing agent.

All in all, your doctor's "cure" leaves much to be desired. Although components of his prescription are appropriate, other newer medicines — such as Mevacor (lovastatin) — would be more effective.

In my opinion, treatment of high blood cholesterol must be individualized, based on many factors, including the patient's family history. I think you will achieve better results by following the advice of a doctor who is less eager to push cookbook prescriptions.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Understanding Cholesterol." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Women Veterans Day slated in Big Spring

BIG SPRING — The Fourth Annual Women Veterans Day will be held at the Big Spring VA Medical Center on Friday, Nov. 16, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This observance is intended to focus attention on the significant contribution of women in the Armed Forces. Because of their traditional roles as non-combatants, the heroism of military women in war have been overlooked, but they too have paid the price for freedom.

This year's Women's Veterans Day is designed to inform the women veteran of her rights as a veteran and to provide an array of health screening examinations, such as blood sugar and cholesterol levels, spirometry testing for the lungs, pelvic exam and Pap smear, general physical examination, mammography, and other examinations.

Rogers recovering

APPLE VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Singing cowboy Roy Rogers, on the mend from surgery, celebrated his 79th birthday at home with his family, says his son, Roy "Dusty" Rogers Jr.

"He's not up to jumping up and down yet," said the younger Rogers, whose father turned 79 on Monday.

The actor-singer underwent surgery Oct. 21 to correct a weak spot in his aorta, the body's main artery.

Some hostages' wives receive calls

DALLAS (AP) — Over the last three days, some wives of Texans being held in Iraq have talked to their husbands for the first time since they were taken hostage.

For Patty Hale, the call came Saturday. For Sarah Amos, it came once Saturday and again Monday. But after three months of waiting, Marjorie Walterscheid's telephone call from Iraq still hasn't come.

The telephone calls followed an Iraqi government announcement last weekend that American "guests" would be allowed to call their families in the United States.

U.S. officials denounced the latest Iraqi move as yet another game being played with innocent lives by Iraqi President Saddam Hussein. But the wives said they were grateful to hear from their husbands, even if it was a public relations ploy.

"It was good to be able to hear him. At the time you get the calls, you're about ready to cry," Mrs. Amos of Gilmer told The Dallas Morning News. Her husband, Charles, is a hostage. "After it's over, it's a big letdown because they're not here in person."

By Monday night, however, Mrs. Walterscheid had heard nothing from her husband, Rainard, a Jacksboro resident taken captive when Iraq invaded Kuwait Aug. 2.

"I'm scared to death, because I know other wives who've been getting them (phone calls) for three days and I haven't gotten anything," she said. "I haven't been getting any sleep worrying about it. Every phone call I think is going to be him. I jump at the phone when it rings, and then it's a big letdown when it isn't him."

State Department officials have no accurate figures on how many of the more than 100 Americans being held in Iraq have been allowed to call their families. Department spokesman Richard Boucher said more than 21 families reported receiving telephone calls by midday Monday.

Boucher said the information conveyed in many of the calls appears to confirm reports that U.S. detainees are being mistreated.

"Consistent with other reports we have received, many detainees said they were losing weight, that the food was poor and that with the approach of winter, they were frequently cold," Boucher said.

Boucher said the hostages also indicated that they have not received any of the mail that the State Department has forwarded to them through the Iraqi Foreign Ministry.

Mrs. Hale of Spring said her husband, Edward, told her during their 17-minute conversation that he was being treated well and fed adequately.

"He spends his days playing baseball with other hostages and jogging and thinking. ... I think he was being very careful with what he said, but I do think he's OK," she said.

Poor school districts ask for ruling

AUSTIN (AP) — Poor school districts are asking the Texas Supreme Court to again declare the state's public education finance system unconstitutional. And some want the court to revise its own finance plan.

"This court has given the state one bite at the apple, and the state failed," said school districts represented by Al Kauffman of the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund.

The Supreme Court has scheduled arguments in the case for Nov. 28. The poor school districts filed legal briefs Monday.

with the court by Nov. 15.

State District Judge Scott McCown ruled the system unconstitutional in September, although lawmakers passed a law meant to reform it this summer.

The law, which gave an additional $528 million to schools for 1990-91, came after the Supreme Court last year scrapped the system on a 9-0 vote.

"Only an early, clear, unambiguous and strong judgment accompanied by a clear alternative to be implemented by the state will be sufficient to guarantee these plaintiffs an efficient system of education," said the MALDEF school districts.

Those school districts asked the court to order the state to implement a plan that includes creating county tax bases for schools. The plan would take effect unless the governor and Legislature come up with an equitable system by April 1.

The Legislature meets in regular session beginning in January.

The MALDEF school districts also suggested other alternatives, such as having the court issue guidelines for any school finance plan. The suggested guidelines would require consolidation of school districts, or tax bases of the districts, if they have property wealth per student of $500,000 or more.

The plan also must provide immediate state funding for school facilities, said the school districts.

As a less-favored option, the MALDEF school districts recommended that the court return the matter to the state district court for work on an alternative plan.

Volvo agrees to pull 'monster truck' ad

AUSTIN (AP) — An ad by Volvo showing one of its cars withstanding attempts by a "monster truck" to crush it has itself been crushed after the commercial was challenged as misleading.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox Monday warned against misleading advertising, after Volvo Cars of North America withdrew an ad showing a Volvo withstanding attempts by a "monster truck" to crush it.

"We're not trying to pick on Volvo," said Mattox, who thanked the company for its cooperation after he challenged the ad.

"What I hope by taking the action that we've taken today is that other advertisers will understand that ... ads that mislead the public are not good for the company because they're ultimately going to get in trouble, they're going to be punished and they're going to end up having problems. And they're not good for the consumers," he said.

William Hoover, senior vice president of Volvo Cars of North America, said the company does not want to mislead the public and emphasized that Volvos are safe.

"We agree that the consumers in the state of Texas, as well as consumers throughout the country, deserve better advertising," he said.

Hoover added, "The mistake was not with the claim that Volvos are safe cars, because there are numerous independent studies that substantiate that Volvos are in fact among the safest, if not the absolute safest, cars on the road today."

Under an agreed court judgment, Volvo will not make claims about their vehicles that are not proven through evidence; will run corrective newspaper ads in the form of a letter to consumers; and will pay the state $316,250 in investigative costs.

Volvo admitted no fault and no legal violations.

In the ad, filmed in Austin in June, a Volvo appears to be the only car left standing after being run over by a large-tire pickup. The ad is a dramatization of a 1988 Vermont event, according to the company.

However, the ad is not billed as a dramatization. And Mattox said the other cars in the ad were weakened structurally, while the Volvos were reinforced with steel or wood.

Hoover said Volvo did not know the cars were modified until told by the attorney general. The modifications were made to ensure the crew's safety and to allow the Volvo to withstand the number of runs required by the truck in filming, according to the company.

Some of the shots of the "Bear Foot" running over the Volvos also may have been fabricated, Mattox said.

The ad was broadcast nationally, and a print ad also was produced.

"Volvo was touted as a car that you can believe in. Unfortunately, these ads, you could not believe in them," Mattox said.

NASA aiming for next week

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA expects to send space shuttle Atlantis into orbit with a spy satellite next week.

Forrest McCartney, director of Kennedy Space Center, said Monday "the best guess" is Atlantis will lift off on its secret military mission around Nov. 16.

Liftoff had been scheduled for Nov. 9 but was delayed because of undisclosed problems with the satellite, which reportedly will spy on Iraq.

The shuttle actually was supposed to have gone up on a 10-day mission in July but was grounded all summer by hydrogen leaks.

NASA still plans to launch Columbia in early December, even though the agency likes to have at least three weeks between flights, McCartney said.

Work will be speeded up so Columbia's flight can be completed by Christmas, saving the agency on holiday pay and allowing it to shut down certain operations at Kennedy Space Center for maintenance, McCartney said.

"But we will not cut down on the normal inspections and data that we look at," he said.

Columbia will carry the $150 million Astro observatory aloft during its mission. The shuttle, like Atlantis, was grounded since the summer by hydrogen leaks. Both shuttles were cleared for flight after fueling tests last month.

McCartney, meanwhile, denied on Monday that employee drug use is responsible for a series of accidents this year involving shuttle equipment.

A bag containing about a gram of cocaine was discovered under a desk in a shuttle hangar on Friday. NASA is investigating the incident.

McCown appointed to Selective Service

Snyder area resident Carman A. McCown was recently appointed as a member of the Selective Service System's local board which serves Scurry County.

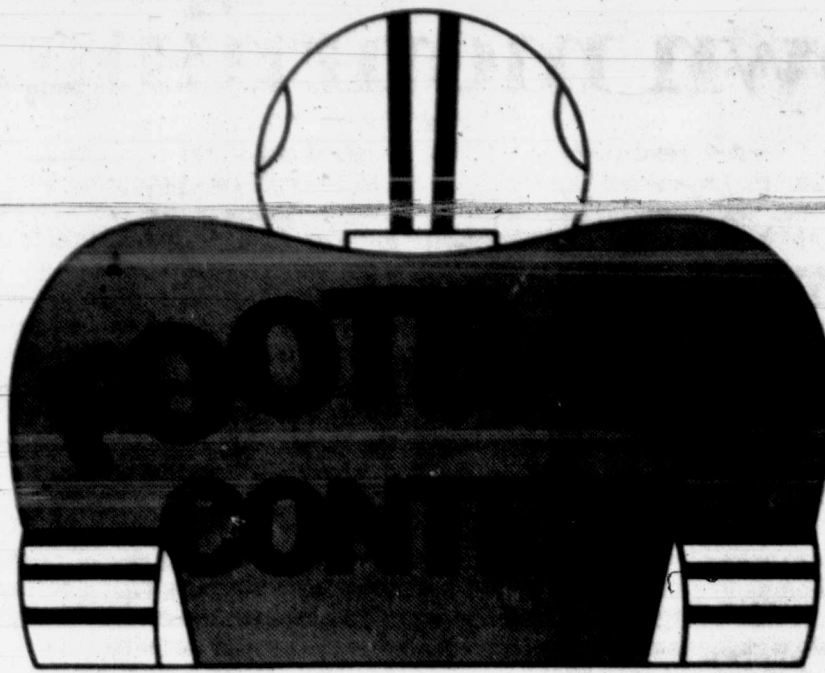

The local board, although in an inactive status, would be responsible for deciding claims for certain classifications, such as conscientious objection, hardship and religious ministry, should a draft be reinstated by Congress and the president.

Board chairperson, Martin Pena, Jr., welcomed McCown. McCown is also active in the Snyder Lions Club, and Masonry, 32nd Degree Scottish Rite, Shrine Suez Temple.

In addition to initial training, McCown will receive training in the changes of the law, regulations, responsibilities, and related agency policies and procedures.

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played around the country this weekend. On the entry blank at the bottom of the page, fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only...opposite the name of the business firm on the entry blank. Then clip out the entry blank and send it to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, Snyder Daily News, Box 949, or bring it by the news office at 3600 College Ave. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 5:00 p.m. Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

To avoid splitting the prize money a TIE-BREAKER slot will be provided on each entry blank. Pick the total points of the score for that game and in case of a tie the one who picks the winner and the nearest number of total points will receive the prize money. The same formula will apply to second and third place winners. In the case of a perfect score, the formula would apply for that cash prize.

There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted for any one person. More than one will disqualify all that person's entries. Entries must be on the official entry blank (No Copies Please). Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing except in the case of the tie-breaker. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number and watch for the winner's story in next Tuesday's SDN. Employees of the SDN and their families are not eligible to enter.
