Balloon release set during 'Smokeout' activities Thursday

American Cancer Society volunteers around the state are readying efforts to challenge smokers to "Leave the Pack Behind" during the Society's 14th Annual Great American Smokeout scheduled Thursday.

Smokeout materials are available locally at Li'l Rascals. The materials include "adoption papers," Kiss Me, I Don't Smoke stickers and headless matches.

Debra Hester is the local Smokeout chairman.

Snyder High School FHA is sponsoring a Smokeout campaign also. The group will hand out stickers and has scheduled a balloon release for 12:30 p.m. Thursday in front of the high school.

Sponsored by the American Cancer Society, the Smokeout is a fun-filled, light-hearted celebration held each year on the third Thursday in November to encourage smokers and tobacco users to quit the habit for 24 hours. The effort is the largest health promotion event in the country.

Last year's Smokeout triggered 10.5 percent of the nation's smokers — 5.2 million Americans — to give up cigarettes for 24 hours. One to three days later, according to a Gallup poll, 3.9 million were still abstaining from tobacco. According to the poll, 17.9 million smokers participated by quitting or cutting down for the day.

The Smokeout helps advance the Society's ongoing battle against cancer. "Smoking is responsible for 87 percent of lung cancer cases, and that means 87 percent are preventable by choosing not to smoke," Judy Oskam, chairman of the Texas Smokeout campaign said. "We hope at least one in five Texas smokers will join the Smokeout this year. Texans could make a (see SMOKEOUT, page 8)

Jury chosen for sexual assault trial

Jury selection ended Tuesday afternoon and an eight-man, eight-woman jury began hearing testimony from the state this morning in the 132nd District Court trial of a 31-year-old former Snyder resident.

Gilbert V. Costilla, now of Houston, is charged with aggravated sexual assault of a child.

Costilla was indicted in March by a Scurry County grand jury for an alleged incident with a girl under the age of 14.

District Attorney Ernie Armstrong is prosecuting the case for the state. Costilla is represented by Lawrence Barber of Odessa.

District Judge Gene Dulaney is presiding.

Jobs at risk if Hussein stays in Kuwait, government warns

Associated Press Writer

Challenged by congressional leaders over its new war footing, the Bush administration has begun to emphasize that American jobs could be at risk if Saddam Hussein is allowed to maintain his grip on Kuwait.

Meanwhile, Saudi Arabia said today that it won't take part in a proposed Arab summit until Iraq pledges to pull out of Kuwait.

The Saudi foreign minister, Prince Saud al-Faisal, said any Arab meetings "will bear no fruit" unless Iraq promises to adhere to the resolutions of the emergency Arab summit held in August and of the United Nations.

Prince Saud's statements came on his arrival in the United Arab Emirates where he met with President Sheik Zayed bin Sultan al Nahyan. The remarks were distributed by the official Emirates news agency, WAM. King Hassan II of Morocco has proposed an emergency Arab summit to work out an Arab solution to the Persian Gulf crisis and avert war over Iraq's refusal to quit Kuwait, which it seized Aug. 2.

The Iraqis say Saddam would consider attending the summit if he was consulted on the time and place and if the Palestinian issue is on the agenda.

President Bush was meeting at the White House today with a select group of lawmakers to try to bolster support for his gulf policy. Secretary of State James A. Baker III set the stage with comments a day earlier linking the economy and the Persian Gulf crisis.

"The economic lifeline of the industrial world runs from the gulf and we cannot permit a dictator such as this to sit astride that economic lifeline," he said.

Grid tickets are available

Tickets for Saturday's bi-district playoff game between Snyder and Pampa are now on sale at the SISD administration office.

Prices are $5 for adults and $2 for students. All tickets are general admission for the 2 p.m. battle in Plainview.

Tickets will be available until noon Friday.

Thatcher's leadership challenged by her former defense secretary

LONDON (AP) — In the most serious challenge to Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's leadership, former Defense Secretary Michael Heseltine said today he will challenge her as leader of the Conservative Party, and thus prime minister. Heseltine, who resigned as Mrs. Thatcher's defense minister in 1986, will run in a ballot among Conservative legislators next week. The challenge to Mrs. Thatcher after 11 years in power comes amid growing criticism within the governing party over the prime minister's reluctance to integrate with the European Community.

The party also is suffering in the polls as a result of high interest rates, double-digit inflation and an unpopular local per-capita tax dubbed the "poll tax."

"I am persuaded that I have a better prospect now than Mrs. Thatcher of leading the Conservative Party into a fourth election victory," said Heseltine.

Conflict moves Scout food drive to Sunday

"Scouting for Food Good Turns," a national food drive in which Boy Scouts take a key role, has been moved to Sunday locally.

The drive was originally scheduled for Saturday, but has been moved to avoid conflict with Snyder High School's bi-district playoff football game with Pampa in Plainview.

Foodstuffs gathered during the local campaign will go to Gentle Dove Ministries food bank.

Snyder Jaycees will assist the scouts for the campaign, in which some 80 people are expected to participate.

The "teams" will go door-to-door throughout the city with food bags asking residents for non-perishable food items.

The drive will begin at 1 p.m. and last throughout the afternoon.

Last year, the campaign netted 6,000 pounds of food. Local organizers hope to double that amount this year. Scout officials anticipate the national campaign will result in the largest donation and collection of foodstuffs in the United States. Between the 1983 and 1985, the average number of households seeking emergency food increased by almost 40 percent, Scout officials noted. Seventy percent of those seeking help were families with children.

WTC slates TASP test

The Texas Academic Skills Program (TASP) test will be given Saturday at Western Texas College.

The test has previously been given in Scurry County Coliseum but will be given at WTC this time because of a conflict with the WTC/McDonald's basketball tournament.

The TASP will be given in buildings 7A, 7B and 2C. Students should check their admission tickets for the appropriate location. Signs will be posted on campus to direct students to the buildings.

Henderson chosen president-elect of West Texas SWCD

Charlie Henderson was chosen president-elect of the West Texas Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts during the group's meeting in Colorado City. Henderson, who ranches in Scurry County, will serve in the position for one year. He will then succeed to the office of president for 1992. As member and chairman of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation board in Snyder for the past 10 years, Henderson has been active in district work, attending regional and state meetings. He recently returned from the annual state meeting of the Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Austin.

In addition to his conservation activities, he has been active in other agricultural and community affairs, holding various offices. They include, past president of the chamber of commerce, area chairman of the Cattleman's Roundup for Crippled Children, district chairman for Boy Scouts of America, and a member of the Snyder Noon Kiwanis. He received the Winston Award given by the chamber for outstanding contributions to agriculture. He is vice-president and ag loan officer at West Texas State Bank and is a graduate of Texas Tech University and of the Graduate School of (see HENDERSON, page 8)

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A lot of men don't appreciate the value of a woman's love until they start paying alimony."

There's a lot of interest and concern in environmental matters - and rightly so. We finally started to do our part at the newspaper by refusing to use anymore styrofoam cups. Experts tell us that styrofoam cups last nearly as long as disposal diapers - which usually aren't disposed of at all.

We have to admit our motivation to eliminate the cups was made on Wednesday. On Monday we noticed our supply was down to three sleeves of 50 each. By Wednesday morning, our staff and a few visitors had gone through 150 cups.

There are likely plenty of other areas to be concerned about conservation and the environment, but often the facts contain little good news.

We were reminded of a civic club speaker who told his audience, "Bring you good news and bad news."

"The good news is that if the present rate of pollution of our oceans and rivers and ground water continues, sometime in the next century we will be drinking our own sewage."

He paused. "Now for the bad news. If the population explosion continues, there won't be enough sewage to go around."

An inventor from California is trying to make crime pay.

The West Coast inventor has received a patent to deal with car owners who have found it almost impossible to prevent the theft of their car radio.

His novel idea was to make would-be thieves think the radio has already been ripped off.

The patent obtained last month was for a false front for radios that features a tangle of wires which appear to emerge from an empty hole in the dashboard.

The key innovation is the plastic plate's extremely dull and dark finish which makes it look like a hole in the dashboard - even in broad daylight. The retail price is $19.95.

Commissioner posts $200 bond after warrant issued

DALLAS (AP) — County Commissioner John Wiley Price is free on $200 bond after a judge issued a warrant for his arrest on charges that he violated probation last week during an altercation with an off-duty police officer.

Price is slated for a grand jury investigation stemming from the confrontation with Robert Bernal.

County Criminal Court Judge John Orvis issued the warrant Tuesday because of a June misdemeanor criminal mischief charge for whitewashing alcohol- and tobacco-related billboards, said Ted Steinke, assistant district attorney.

Price received six month's probation from Orvis for painting over the billboards in predominantly black neighborhoods. Price said the billboards victimized minorities.

Orvis said Price violated a condition of probation requiring him to "commit no offense against the laws of this or any other state."

The judge signed the order against Price shortly before 2 p.m. Tuesday, according to court clerk Subrina Brenham. Officials allowed Price to post bond on his own.

Price did not appear at Lew Sterrett Justice Center to post the $200. Instead, he made arrangements through the county's pretrial release office to settle the warrant without having to face a crowd of reporters who gathered late Tuesday afternoon at the county jail.

Steinke said the motion filed by prosecutors Monday in effect asked the judge to revoke the commissioner's probation and set a hearing in the case.

"There are two kinds of probation in Texas, and this was non-conviction probation," said Steinke, adding that Price pleaded guilty in the case. "Now, this motion asked the court to go ahead and convict him of the criminal mischief charge and then revoke his probation."

The controversy surrounding the commissioner began Nov. 5, when Bernal told his superiors that Price pointed an Uzi sub-machine gun at his head after the officer shouted "Wiley sucks!" while jogging past the commissioner's house.

Price said he was holding a pellet gun during his confrontation with the officer but did not point it at him. Price also said Bernal called him a "nigger."

Bernal denies using any racial slurs.

"After reviewing the police department's paperwork (from the aggravated assault complaint), and based on witness statements, the police reports and conversations with the detectives who investigated the case, we determined that Commissioner Price had apparently violated his probation, and the motion to revoke his probation was based on that," Steinke said.

Price did not return a telephone call Tuesday from The Associated Press.

Charges dropped against woman arrested for singing

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — At a priest's request, charges were dropped against a woman who insisted on singing hymns of her own choosing during services of Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church.

Elojia Macias, 34, of San Antonio was arrested last month and charged with disrupting a meeting, a Class B misdemeanor, after Monsignor Alexander C. Wangler obtained a court order to prevent her from disrupting services by singing her own songs.

Arraignment was to have been Tuesday, but court records reflect that charges were dropped a week ago after the district attorney's office rejected the case for prosecution.

The church sought the court injunction against Macias after she repeatedly stood in church and sang her own songs loudly and at times off key.

But Wangler said Tuesday that he told the district attorney's office he did not wish to pursue the case and asked that the charges be dismissed.

"She hasn't been back here since (her arrest)," Wangler said. He has been told that Ms. Macias now is worshipping elsewhere, the priest said.

Before her arrest, Wangler and others tried in vain to dissuade her from singing, but called police after she said she intended to continue despite the court order. Police arrested her one Sunday morning as she attempted to enter the church's altar area.

After the arrest, church officials posted a $400 bond to gain the woman's release from jail. Wangler said he sought police assistance only as a last resort to keep Macias from further disrupting Sunday Mass.

N. Dakota farmers sell bread for nickel

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — A nickel will get you a loaf of bread this week in North Dakota, where farmers are demonstrating against wheat prices they say are forcing them out of business.

Members of North Dakota's Farmers Union are selling 5-cent loaves in every county, usually outside the courthouse where farm foreclosures take place.

Some customers are needy and come to buy bargain bread. But most just want to show they support the farmers.

"It appears the crisis in agriculture is getting to be a pretty severe problem, and as a banker I see more severe problems in the future if they don't get their point across," said James Helgeson, who was among the customers Tuesday.

Wheat prices have plummeted because of a worldwide glut.

A nickel is roughly the price farmers get for the wheat in a 1 1/2-pound loaf of white bread that sells for $1 to $1.25 in stores, farmers say. They receive slightly more than $2 per bushel for that wheat — about $1 less than last year and the lowest price in nearly five years.

To dramatize the problem, the farmers are selling store-bought loaves by the score.

"We're discovering that there are some really hungry people in our major cities," said Karl Limvere, a Farmers Union spokesman. "It shows the irony, that farmers can't make any money from their production and yet we have hungry people."

In Benson County, the farmers bought 100 loaves from the rural county's only bakery and sold them under gray skies that some called "foreclosure weather."

"I think perhaps it should have served as an eye-opener to a lot of people, as far as the disparity of prices," said James Wang, a county state's attorney who bought a loaf.

Farmers took a blow under the new farm bill sent to President Bush, which cuts $13.6 billion from farm programs.

The Farmers Union wants price guarantees for family farmers and an increase in the amount farmers can borrow from the government to pay their bills.

Pesticide training program scheduled at Western Texas

An eight-hour training program to prepare individuals to take the commercial/non-commercial pesticide applicators exam will be offered Nov. 20 by Western Texas College in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The training class will meet in two sessions, the first from 8 a.m. until noon and the second from 1:30-5:30 p.m. Instructors will be David Kattes, WTC faculty member, and Tony Pardo and Deanna Holladay from the extension service.

The morning session will deal with agricultural pest control, field crop pest control and weed and brush control. The afternoon session will cover ornamental and turf pest control, plant pest control and weed control.

There is no cost to enroll in the training program. Those interested in attending are asked to call Kattes at 573-8511, extension 247 or 250 by Nov. 19.

The examination required for licensing will be conducted on Nov. 27 at WTC by Ronnie Halfmann of the Texas Department of Agriculture. To obtain a license, applicants must pass a general test, a law and regulations test, and at least one category examination with a grade of 70 percent or above through the Texas Department of Agriculture. There are fees for either commercial or non-commercial licenses.

Winter feeding is course topic

Kent Mills will be discussing a winter feeding program for livestock owners in an adult education course set for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 16-17, at Western Texas College.

Mills is in charge of sales and nutrition for Ezell Key Grain Co. He will begin the course by helping class members calculate production levels required to maintain cash flow and calculating maximum expense allocation for winter costs. Other discussion will include evaluation of available forage and selecting feed supplements according to the forage.

Students will pay a fee of $25 for the 12-hour course. Those wishing to enroll are to call the WTC Continuing Education office at 573-8511, extension 240, in advance of the starting date.

Harrison interested in establishing WET program at WTC

Mike Harrison, physical education instructor at Western Texas College, qualified for Water Fitness Certification at the National Water Fitness Association (NWFA) convention held in Dallas Nov. 7-8.

Harrison won first overall and first in his age group in a competition sponsored by the NWFA at its conference held in conjunction with the convention. The 375-yard course required contestants to go forward, backward and sideways and Harrison covered the course in three minutes and 55 seconds.

Water fitness offers exercise possibilities for persons of all ages, Harrison says, and he would like to demonstrate the techniques for anyone interested. Participants wear some type of personal float and do not have to be able to swim. The exercise they do compares to running or cross-country skiing but because it is done in water there is no stress on feet or knees. Anyone needing more information may call Harrison at 573-8511.

Speakers at the convention included Bonnie Prudden from the School for Physical Fitness and Myotherapy at Springfield College in Springfield, MA. She pioneered water therapy, Harrison said. Also speaking was Dr. Jane Katz, a vice president of the NWFA and author of the book W.E.T. (Water Exercise Therapy).

"I'm excited about offering water fitness at WTC, Harrison said. "I would like to offer it next semester and I need to talk to people interested in it now so we can make plans for the course."

Harrison teaches aqua aerobics at WTC as well as swimming and diving and sponsors the Tiger Shark swim club for young swimmers.

Giant headquarters...

Penney's breaks ground

PLANO, Texas (AP) — Whenever the 3,800 employees at J.C. Penney's new headquarters feel like some exercise, they can walk from one side of the building to the other — a quarter-mile away.

"We call it, within the company, a walking building," William R. Howell, chairman of J.C. Penney Co. Inc., said Tuesday before a ceremony that marked the official start of construction.

The groundbreaking ceremony occurred on the same day the company announced lower third quarter profits. But the bad news barely got in the way of the celebration for the $180 million granite and copper-roofed building.

Completion in late 1992 will end a headquarters move from New York that began in 1987. The new building is as different from the company's former 45-story skyscraper space in midtown Manhattan as New York is from Plano.

"We're laid out flat instead of up in the air," Howell said, noting its low, wide profile.

Each of the building's three floors has 500,000 square feet of office space. There is a playground for the 125-child day care center and a gym for adults. No smoking will be allowed and a recycling center has been included.

The building is surrounded by a 122-acre park with nearly 5,000 trees, a 6-acre lake and two miles of hiking and biking trails.

Weak sales pushed the company's earnings 36 percent below the same quarter last year. In an interview, Howell forecast fourth-quarter sales, traditionally the strongest for a retailer, would "basically mirror what we've been experiencing."

"As long as you have a situation where consumer confidence is down ... you're going to have softer demand," he said.

Your Birthday

Nov. 15, 1990

There are indications you may become involved in a very unique endeavor or enterprise in the year ahead. It will be something you'll have a hand in originating.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't be reluctant to discard old, unworkable methods for better procedures today. Sometimes it makes sense to switch horses in midstream. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Someone you treated considerably in the past may have an opportunity to reciprocate today. This person is very eager to balance accounts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll recognize a good idea when you hear one today and that is why it behooves you to communicate or socialize with progressive thinkers. Make it a point to avoid negative types.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In matters that pertain to your career you should have a slight edge over your competition today. However, if you are going to make your move, do it quickly because time may not be your ally.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A friend of foreign extraction or someone born in a place distant from your place of birth could play a constructive role in your affairs today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This could be an exciting day for you where joint endeavors are concerned. Something extraordinary might suddenly develop that'll please you as well as the other party involved.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Under most circumstances we usually fare better when we have lots of time to ponder a decision, but today it could be the snap judgments you make that will prove the most effective.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Geminis are in a favorable cycle where their financial trends are concerned. Be alert and ready to move quickly today if something unusual unexpectedly develops that could yield a profit.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you might be more inclined to think about pleasure than work. Fortunately, you should be able to enjoy yourself without detracting from or interfering with your serious affairs.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A number of little things you have failed to finish up until this point in time can be concluded to your satisfaction today. You'll enjoy sweeping the decks clean.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something fortuitous might develop for you today through a friend you meet in a chance encounter. You and he/she have always been able to communicate with one another very well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you could be extremely lucky where your material interests are concerned, but not necessarily in other areas. Keep your mind on making money.

By James Jacoby

It would have been better for South to cue-bid three hearts after East's overall, on the chance that North might have Q-x of hearts. Instead he bid three no-trump himself, a somewhat rash action that needed a bit of luck to succeed. East was right to stick in the two-heart bid, if for no other reason than to get a good lead.

The opening lead was covered by the queen and king, and declarer held up. It was obvious to East that a low heart would go around to dummy's remaining nine, so he continued with the jack of hearts. Not knowing the location of the heart eight, declarer felt he was headed for defeat. Then he saw a faint chance. If West's heart 10, obviously a lead from a doubleton, was accompanied by the eight, declarer's seven would become a winner. So declarer played the heart ace and was happy to see the eight from West. Next came the king of clubs. Declarer could handle the 4-0 club break, and with East holding only one ace for an entry, the defenders were able to take only one heart trick and their three aces.

Of course South was lucky, but he had to contribute to his own good fortune. If he had carelessly ducked the second heart, the seven-spot would never have done the work that declarer's bridge guardian angel intended for it.

Americans recruited guerrillas

BONN, Germany (AP) — U.S. intelligence recruited hundreds of guerrillas and laid weapons caches across Western Europe in the early days of the Cold War as part of preparations for a feared Soviet invasion, a newspaper reported today.

Only recently was the would-be resistance network disbanded — and several former high-ranking European officials say some of its hidden stockpiles of arms and explosives still existed just two months ago.

The top secret organization, brought to light last month in Italy and codenamed Gladio there after the short swords used by Roman gladiators, is now under investigation for possible links to right-wing terrorism.

The network is said to have had branches in Italy, Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark, Norway, Austria, Spain, Greece and Portugal. The respected German newspaper Die Welt said today that even neutral Sweden and Switzerland took part.

Soon after World War II, U.S. agents worked with intelligence agencies of "various European countries" in setting up the network and training natives as guerrilla fighters, the newspaper said, without naming its sources.

"Training centers sprang up" in forests in the U.S.-occupied part of Germany, said Die Welt.

At the centers, said the newspaper, "former-prisoners of war, men who had done civilian work for the occupying powers, and young men acquired by chance were trained in pistol-shooting, radio operations and tactics."

Pistols, grenade-launchers, explosives and radios were stored in secret caches to be used by the guerrillas, said Die Welt.

"The network was expanded to all of Western Europe by 1959," said Die Welt. "Money was provided by intelligence agencies."

The operation was designed to be an underground resistance network in case of a Soviet invasion in Western Europe.

LAFF-A-DAY

Tigers edge Andrews, 64-63

Snyder's Birks gets first victory as head basketball coach

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Snyder head basketball coach Bud Birks, in his first season in charge of the Tiger cage program, grabbed his first victory Tuesday as SHS nipped Andrews, 64-63, in a come-from-behind fashion.

"I was kind of tight all day," said Birks. "And I know the players were a little nervous."

The Tigers didn't act nervous as they stormed through the opening portion of the first quarter to snag a 10-3 lead.

By the end of the stanza it was Snyder 18, Andrews 12.

Snyder slipped up defensively, and fell victim to the Mustangs' press in the second period as Andrews went on a 7-0 tear to begin the quarter and take a 19-18 lead at the 6:00 mark.

Jerry Tippens nailed a six-footer for Snyder followed by Andrews' Marcus Morris' hoop.

SHS senior Jeff Wortham hammered inside for a basket to knot the score at 22-22 before the Ponies took off for five unanswered points.

Senior Carlton Sanders of the Tigers slipped in the paint for two with about two-and-a-half minutes remaining in the half to draw Snyder to within a pair at 31-29.

Wortham then scored a deuce off a Sanders steal and dish for a 31-all tie.

Barron Wesley evened the tally at 33 on a hoop with 37 seconds left before intermission and Philip Nesley nailed a short jumper for AHS at the buzzer to send the Tigers to the locker room trailing 35-33.

"We just weren't playing defense in the second and third quarters," said Birks.

"We started putting a little pressure on them, picking up the tempo some on defense, and forced some turnovers. Defensive pressure turned the game around for us."

The offensive tempo was faster in the last two quarters for the Tigers as well.

"Well, we had to get the ball past their press," Birks stated. "Once we were past them we had a two-on-one break several times and if you don't get the ball on down, then you've let them pressure you for nothing."

The Tigers slid into a 52-43 hole in the third period before Snyder's full-court press and quick-paced offense took over.

Snyder came to within two points at 56-54 with a Wortham bank shot from inside.

In fact, the fourth quarter soon became the Jeff Wortham Show as the senior post gathered 17 of the Tigers' 21 points in the period.

A successful free-throw by Wortham gave SHS a 64-61 lead with 15 seconds left in the game.

Andrews' Morris notched a steal and a bucket for the Ponies to draw to within a point but the horn sounded leaving Snyder with a 64-63 victory.

Wortham finished the night with 32 points. He hit 14 buckets and was 4 of 7 from the charity stripe to lead all scorers.

Barron Wesley was also in double figures for Snyder Tuesday, accumulating 12 points.

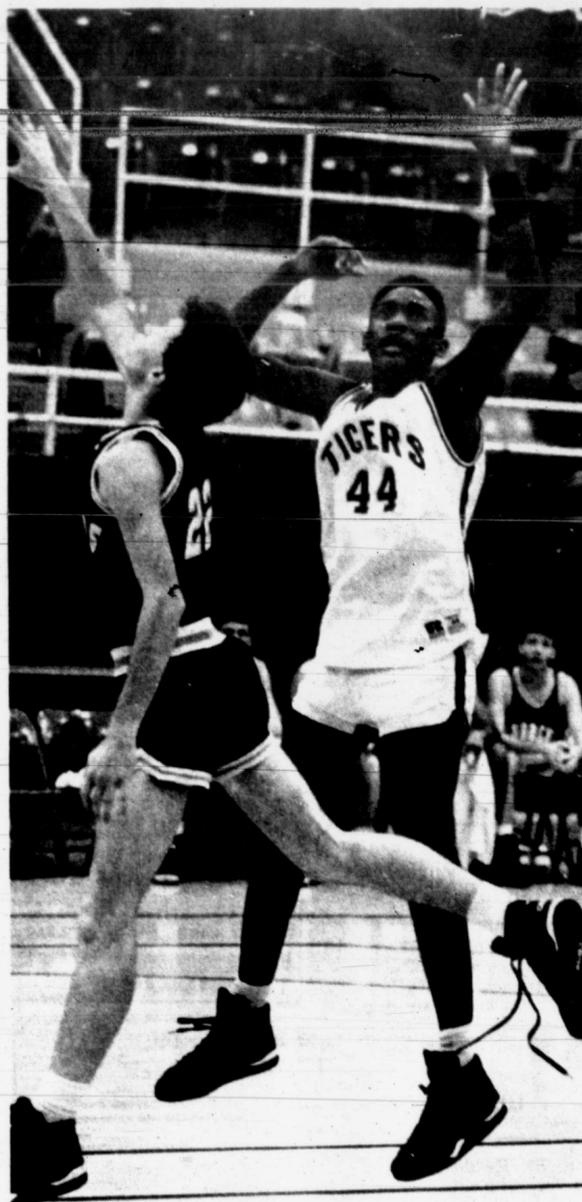

Morris paced the Mustangs with 18 points.

Snyder's JV took a 57-44 decision from Andrews in Tuesday's early game.

Brian Crawford and Brian Clinkinbeard each hit 11 points and Bill Vestal added 10 for coach Ron Huseman's Tigers.

The Tigers' next outing has been scheduled for Friday at SHS. Snyder will host San Angelo Lake View in an 8 p.m. matchup that was moved to Friday from Saturday due to the Snyder-Pampa football playoff game scheduled for Saturday at 2 p.m.

The JV tilt is set for 5 p.m. followed by a girls' JV game at 6:30 p.m.

SHS Lady Tigers lose opener

MERKEL — Snyder's Lady Tigers were derailed by the Lady Badgers of Merkel Tuesday night, 79-53.

Coach Laurie Welch of Snyder, seeking her first win as the SHS head coach, said the Tigers were a little late getting into the game.

"We just didn't show up until the second half," she said. We started off real slow. We missed easy shots in the lane, and those are supposed to be your high percentage shots, and we didn't get back on defense well.

"We didn't start really playing until the second half."

By the beginning of the second half the Lady Tigers had already dug themselves a 50-22 hole.

The Lady Badgers, led by Dana Hellums' 23 points, blasted for 21 in the opening quarter, then 29 more in the second period.

Junior Betsy Taylor paced the Snyder attack with 15 points on the night on six hoops and a 3 of 5 performance from the free-throw line.

Vinnie Clay was the only other SHS cager in double figures. She scored 12 points on four baskets and was perfect in four tries from the line.

Snyder's girls will participate in this weekend's Howard County Basketball Tournament with times and opponents to be announced.

A's Welch tabbed Cy Young winner

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bob Welch had a breakthrough season, a Cy Young award-winning season, by giving almost every pitch a lot of thought.

"No doubt about it, with me it's between the ears," the Oakland Athletics' 27-game winner said Tuesday, describing the key to his 1990 pitching success.

He learned to think "every pitch I throw may be my last," Welch added.

Over 12 previous major league seasons, Welch compiled a 149-103 record but never won more than 17 games in a season. He was 27-6 this season, his third with Oakland.

His victory total was the highest for an American League pitcher since 1968, when Detroit's Denny McLain won 31 games. But the A's right-hander was anything but a runaway winner in the AL Cy Young voting announced Tuesday. One of the 28 voters didn't even rate Welch among the league's top three pitching performers.

Boston's Roger Clemens, his bid for a third Cy Young hurt by a late season arm problem, finished as runner-up. Oakland's Dave Stewart was a 20-game winner for a fourth straight season and a Cy Young also-ran a fourth straight time, this time in third place. Reliever Bobby Thigpen of the Chicago White Sox posted a major league record 57 saves and finished fourth in the voting.

The National League Cy Young winner will be announced today.

"This is special. It's something I cherish," Welch said of his post-season honor.

But, referring to the National League champion Cincinnati Reds' sweep of the favored A's in October, he added, "You'd like to have the other thing, the World Series championship."

Fifteen of the voting members of the Baseball Writers Association named Welch first on their Cy Young ballots. He got 10 second-place votes and two third-place votes for a total of 123 points. Clemens (8-10-7) had 77 points, Stewart (3-7-7) 43 and Thigpen (2-1-7) 20.

Welch's bottom-line figure — the 27 win — must have made the difference. His ERA of 2.95 was considerably higher than the other top finishers in the voting. Clemens was 21-6 with a 1.93 ERA, Stewart 22-11 with a 2.56 ERA.

Welch, in a news conference near his home, said A's pitching coach Dave Duncan deserved a lot of the credit for his success.

"He and I spent a lot of time talking and preparing before I ever went on the mound," Welch said, adding that he learned "to prepare for what goes wrong."

The first batter Welch faced this season, Minnesota's Dan Gladden, provided a reminder about the need to concentrate on the mound. Gladden homered, but Welch then turned things around.

Nutt resigns as ACU coach

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Dee Nutt resigned as men's basketball coach at Abilene Christian University to become assistant athletic director for development.

Assistant coach Darryn Shearmire will serve as interim basketball coach, athletic director Cecil Eager said Tuesday.

Nutt was 208-201 in 16 seasons with Abilene Christian. He coached the team in 1955-69 and returned for two seasons in 1988.

He resigned after the 1968-69 season to coach to Mexican national team in the 1971 Pan American Games in Cali, Columbia, and the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich, Germany.

Nutt, 61, led Abilene Christian to Southland Conference titles in 1965, 1966 and 1968.

Shearmire, 26, has served as Nutt's assistant the last two seasons. He was a four-year letterman at Abilene Christian and played on two Lone Star Conference championship teams. Abilene Christian is an NCAA Division II member.

Part of the success the Snyder Tigers' have enjoyed on the football field this season can be attributed to a diversity in offensive weapons.

The Tigers' leading ground gainer, senior tailback Paul Anderson, has amassed 742 yards on the season for an average of 5.4 yards per carry and 10 touchdowns.

Senior fullback Bryan Brunson has gathered 672 yards on the ground for 1990 for 6 scores and the same 5.4 average as Anderson.

The starting backfield would be expected to carry the bulk of the offensive load, but the Tigers have gotten great support from the wingback position this year.

Senior Shelby Bufkin and junior Mark King split duty at the spot, with success coming to both this year.

King has gotten the call a total of 35 times and has turned those 35 handoffs into 277 yards of offense.

Bufkin, who galloped for an 80-yard touchdown against Lamesa in the regular season's last game, has accumulated 222 yards and a 10.1 average per attempt.

The swift Bufkin has also scored twice on kick-off returns of over 85 yards and King returned a punt 54 yards for a score in the early season.

If the Tiger ground game gets bogged down, coach David Baugh looks to strong-armed senior quarterback Ed Rios to pass Snyder to a first down.

Rios has completed 39 of 107 attempts this season for 629 yards. His most frequent targets come from the wingback post.

King has gathered in 10 catches for 129 yards in the regular season, including a 26-yard TD reception against Levelland.

Bufkin has just two catches on the campaign but those two went for 56 yards.

Snyder wound up the season with a 7-2-1 record and will put Pampa's defense to the test Saturday at 2 p.m. in Plainview as the diverse SHS attack seeks to move on in post-season competition.

SWC teams ink cage recruits

by The Associated Press

The Arkansas Razorbacks looked today to keep improving their basketball fortunes, which took them to the Final Four last season and have them ranked No. 2 nationally in this year's pre-season Associated Press poll.

Today is the first day of the weeklong NCAA early signing period for several sports, including basketball and baseball. The early signing period ends on Wednesday of next week.

Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson apparently outrecruited Kansas, UNLV, DePaul, Kentucky, Rice and Georgetown for one of the nation's top high school players, 6-9 center John Carter of Atar-Spencer High School in Oklahoma City.

The University of Texas indicated it would sign four players today, while Texas Tech and Texas A&M had their sights on three players each.

The Texas Longhorns have seven scholarships available in 1991-92. They have received oral commitments from Terrence Rencher, a 6-3 guard from New York City; Todd Barton, a 6-9 center from Columbus, Texas; Michael Richardson, a 6-3 guard from Western Texas College; and Rob Garner, a 6-1 guard from Oxen Hill, Md.

Texas Tech had oral commitments from Lance Hughes, a 6-4 forward from Georgetown; Chad Collins, a point guard from San Antonio MacArthur; and Richard Hastings, a 6-5 forward from Liberty Hill.

Texas A&M had oral commitments from Damon Johnson, a 6-5 forward from Converse; Kevin Barker, a 6-9 center from Longview Pine Tree; and Corey Henderson, a 6-6 forward from Houston Lee.

Baylor has commitments from Kenny Kerley, a 6-4 guard from San Antonio Jay; and Andre Branch, a 6-3 guard from Humble Kingwood.

Rice has finished its recruiting for the year with commitments from Ali Bell, a 6-6 forward from Austin Bowie; and David Holmes, a guard transferring from Northwestern.

Gaines under UIL scrutiny

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — The Odessa Permian football program, already banned from the 1990 playoffs for breaking University Interscholastic League rules, is under investigation for at least one more violation, according to Ector County Independent School District officials.

Gary Gaines, who coached Permian to the Class 5A state championship and the top ranking in the country last year, may have received illicit money for doing "The Gary Gaines Show" each week during the playoffs, according to an ECISD investigation.

The money was paid to him by the Permian Booster Club, but KOSA-TV in Odessa, which aired the program, according to an ECISD investigation.

That would be a violation of the UIL Constitution and Contest Rules which prohibit coaches from receiving money or gifts not listed in their contracts for duties related to their coaching jobs, ECISD officials said.

HHS squads get victories

ABILENE — Felix Martinez poured in 32 points to lead the Hermleigh Cardinals to a 65-63 win over Abilene Christian High School here Tuesday.

Hermleigh fell behind 22-15 in the first quarter and outscored ACHS 19-18 in the second to close to 40-34.

Both teams managed 12 points in the third stanza before the Cards exploded for 19 in the final eight minutes.

Hermleigh's Lady Cardinals also notched a win over Abilene Christian Tuesday, 46-34.

Amy Anderson scored 13 and Rebecca Ramey nailed 10 to lead HHS scorers.

Becca Van Rheen paced the ACHS squad with 16.

Both Hermleigh squads hold 1-0 records.

The Cardinals and Lady Cards will both battle Loraine Friday beginning at 6:30 p.m.

U.S. Special Forces team is training Kuwaiti army

IN EASTERN SAUDI ARABIA (AP)—A chill wind blew dust into every pore. At times, visibility on the desert plain dropped to about 100 yards. But there was no morale problem for a U.S. Special Forces team preparing Kuwaitis for war.

American troops elsewhere in Saudi Arabia may be clamoring to go home, but in the shrubless, stony desert wasteland of eastern Saudi Arabia on Tuesday, 10 hardened U.S. soldiers were embarked on a mission that stirred their emotions.

"You have a cause worth fighting for," said the officer commanding the team, which includes both Special Forces and regular Army experts. "Talking with the Kuwaitis you see their concern for their families... for their country. Being a family man, I cannot help being moved."

Staff Sgt. Barry D. Sparlin, 29, of Houston, said it was time to stop Iraqi President Saddam Hussein before he gets nuclear weapons.

"We're here... to prevent our children from having to do the same thing we're here for right now," he said.

Part of the Kuwaiti Army escaped to Saudi Arabia with their tanks after the Iraqis overran their country on Aug. 2. They have been camping in the desert for several months.

For soldiers like Capt. Ali, a 34-year-old tank commander, waiting for the order to attack has become almost an obsession.

"We want revenge," said Ali, who didn't identify himself further because his wife and four children are still in Kuwait. "We didn't have a chance that day when they surprised us. But now we are ready."

The chief U.S. adviser, speaking on condition he not be identified, agreed that all the Kuwaitis need is some equipment: "They're as good as any brigade anywhere in the world, in any army."

The Kuwaitis could use more tanks, spare parts and ammunition for the existing Martyrs Brigade. A second brigade being formed has manpower but no armor. A brigade normally has from 4,500 to 5,000 soldiers, about the number of regular Kuwaiti forces who escaped to Saudi Arabia, and more than 100 tanks.

The U.S. team arrived in the Kuwaiti camp only about two weeks ago, just before the Americans and Saudis agreed on a joint command for operations inside the country and U.S. command of any operations outside Saudi Arabia.

Some 145,000 Arab troops, under Saudi command, are part of the more than 350,000-strong multinational force confronting Iraq.

The U.S. officer said he didn't know why it had taken so long to get American advisers into the field.

But he said "the time has been put to good use" and the confusing command structure among the Arab forces had been straightened out. The American team leader said he assumed other U.S. advisers were also based with Syrian troops.

His men had an unscheduled meeting with the Syrians one night: They got lost and drove into the Syrian camp where they were stopped by an alert sentry who checked them out and sent them back to the Kuwaiti camp.

Sgt. Paul Evans, 28, of Vista, Calif., said relations with the Kuwaitis were so good that team members were invited to dinner almost every night. That meant lamb or chicken with rice and potatoes instead of pre-packaged Army meals.

The Americans refused to discuss their role, saying only that they were coordinating activity between U.S. units and the Kuwaiti brigade.

"The Americans are training us on many things we need to face Iraq," said Capt. Ali. "They are very good soldiers — they just want to help."

Ali said Americans were training Kuwaitis to deal with chemical weapons, to communicate with U.S. aerial command posts to call in air strikes, and to use TOW anti-tank missiles more effectively.

A Kuwaiti captain in intelligence, speaking anonymously, said the Americans were also teaching the Kuwaitis house-to-house warfare, which would be essential in liberating Kuwait City.

Form of vitamin A may benefit hearts

DALLAS (AP) — A form of vitamin A common in carrots and many other fruits and vegetables appears to substantially reduce the risk of heart trouble in people who already have coronary artery disease, researchers have found.

The findings, released Tuesday, about beta carotene are still considered preliminary. But they raise the possibility that people whose heart arteries are already clogged may be able to ward off heart attacks and other cardiac problems by consuming the nutrient.

Dr. Charles Hennekens, who directed the study at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, cautioned that the study will have to be confirmed by further research before anyone recommends that people eat carrots to save their hearts.

"This is not for the public at this point, and it's not even for doctors," he said. "It's for the researchers."

Hennekens described the findings at the annual meeting of the American Heart Association.

If the apparent connection between beta carotene and healthy hearts turns out to be true, however, it will add another element to the already strong association between diet and the heart.

"This is an important study, because it demonstrates that nutritional factors other than fat and cholesterol play a role in heart disease," said Dr. Dean Ornish of the Preventive Medical Research Institute in Sausalito, Calif.

"People who consume a low-fat vegetarian diet naturally consume not only beta carotene but other anti-oxidants that may play a role in preventing and reversing heart disease."

Beta carotene, which the body changes into vitamin A, is the nutrient that gives fruits and vegetables their orange color. Especially good sources include carrots, sweet potatoes, peaches and cantaloupes.

The latest results were part of the Physicians' Health study, a long-running project in which 22,000 male doctors have been randomly assigned to take beta carotene pills, aspirin, placebo or some combination of the three.

The aspirin results already have been released. They showed that taking an aspirin every other day reduces the risk of a first heart attack by 44 percent.

The beta carotene experiment was intended to see if the nutrient prevents cancer, and this part of the study is scheduled to continue until 1995. However, the researchers have looked separately at the effect of beta carotene on 333 participants who already had evidence of coronary artery disease before the study began.

These men all had suffered angina, chest pain resulting from obstructions in the arteries that feed the heart.

After six years of study, there were 10 heart attacks among the men who took beta carotene and 17 among the placebo users. Among men in this group who took both beta carotene and aspirin, there were no heart attacks at all.

Overall, those who took the 50-milligram beta carotene pills every other day experienced about half as many "major events" — including heart attacks, strokes, cardiac arrest, bypass operations and angioplasty to open clogged arteries.

"Even if this turns out in future studies to be a benefit, it will still be an adjunct" to other strategies for reducing heart disease, such as lowering cholesterol and blood pressure and stopping smoking, Hennekens said.

The data so far suggests only that beta carotene will prevent further heart trouble in people who already have heart disease. The continuing study with the rest of the physicians should answer whether it will also help people with healthy hearts.

Local police make two arrests; take burglary report

Snyder police made two arrests and investigated the burglary of a residence during the last 24-hour period.

At 11:59 a.m. police were called to Eastridge Apartments where Chris Titus advised that someone had stolen a compact disc player from his apartment. A report for burglary of a residence was filed.

Police arrested a 27-year-old male at 5:15 p.m. in the 2900 block of College Ave. L for violation of operational license.

The day's second and final arrest came at 6:39 p.m. in the 4500 block of College Ave. A 34-year-old male was taken into custody and transported to the county jail on outstanding DPS warrants from Childress for speeding, failure to appear and no liability insurance.

Other police activity included a hit-and-run in the 1900 block of 19th St. at 8:14 a.m. An unknown vehicle struck a city dumpster. Damage was estimated at $25.

At 8:46 a.m., police were called to the 2200 block of Ave. Q where a male subject was harassing a woman. A report for disorderly conduct was filed.

Officers were called to the 200 block of Beaumont at 10:56 a.m. where they charged a male subject for public lewdness.

At 1:45 p.m., Lydia Luera of 320 25th St. reported that her daughter's clarinet had been stolen. A report for Class A theft was filed.

Mary Pownell of Snyder National Bank advised local law enforcement officials at 3:06 p.m. that an envelope containing cash had been found at the bank.

big step toward better health on Nov. 15.

Among the statewide activities: In San Antonio, participants will encounter "Tobacco-Phobia" as local volunteers help cure smokers' fears about ending their habits. Local hospitals will adopt area malls to promote tobacco-free lifestyles, high school students will speak to elementary students about the dangers of smoking, and units from local military installations will compete in a combined armed forces fun run.

In El Paso, basketball fans will get a chance to "Slam the Pack" at a special three-on-three basketball competition. Also, armed forces from Fort Bliss will hold a "Walk Out on Your Habit" physical training walk as they try to cumulatively walk the air miles to Saudi Arabia.

Dallas residents will "Smoke-O-Cop" as volunteers hook up with the Dallas Police Department to help area citizens end their smoking habits.

In Fort Worth, a special "Knock Out Nicotine" event will feature Golden Gloves boxer Stevie Cruz, a poster and essay contest, and rap and cheerleading events.

In Austin, volunteers will help coordinate a five-event olympic-style competition for elementary school children in East Austin.

Saudis boost aid to Syria following their cooperation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saudi Arabia, which is underwriting the U.S. and allied military buildup in the Persian Gulf, has substantially increased its financial assistance to Syria, diplomats and analysts say.

The United States bans aid to Syria because of its support for terrorist groups, although relations between the two countries have warmed since Syria sent troops to join the multinational coalition against Iraq.

Syria remains on the State Department's list of countries that support terrorism and there has not been any move to change it, said an official who spoke on condition of anonymity. Nor is the United States encouraging the Saudis to increase their aid to the Syrians, the official added.

The U.S. official, along with a Syrian diplomat, denied a published report that President Bush had brokered a deal, presumably with the Saudis, to give Syria $1 billion in aid within the past 10 days.

Nevertheless, a Syrian diplomatic source, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the Saudis had raised their assistance to the Syrians. He did not reveal the amount.

"We have always received aid from Saudi Arabia, but we are going to receive more," said the source.

The Saudis have increased their oil production since Iraq invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2 and are expected to earn as much as $50 billion more in revenue this year. They have agreed to pay much of the bill for U.S. and other foreign troops stationed on Saudi soil.

Syria is expected to lose about $4 billion because of the gulf crisis, according to Bushra Kanafani, the charge d'affaires at the Syrian embassy. In addition, Syria no longer gets money from about 200,000 workers formerly employed in Kuwait.

Partly as a result of the gulf crisis, years of frosty relations between the United States and Syria have thawed somewhat in the past few months.

Si Steinberg said improved

Snyder resident Si Steinberg, injured last week in an automobile accident in El Dorado, Ark., is reported improving and in good condition.

Steinberg, 91, suffered a broken hip and collar bone in the Thursday afternoon mishap and was first admitted to the hospital's intensive care unit.

Friends reported today that Steinberg had begun physical therapy and could be transferred to a Lubbock hospital within two weeks.

Proposed embargo extension disputed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain, Canada and other friendly governments are complaining about an attempt by Congress to prevent U.S. subsidiaries in their countries from doing business with Cuba.

The issue centers on whether the United States has the right to control the activities of American businesses abroad. The countries where these subsidiaries are based have told the Bush administration and Congress that the proposed law would infringe on their sovereignty.

"It is the government of Canada which makes the laws and policies that govern international trade and commerce by Canada-based companies," Canadian Justice Minister Kim Campbell said recently. The amendment was included in a bill governing exports. It is awaiting President Bush's signature, but strong State Department objections to other sections of the bill could lead to a veto.

At issue is about $320 million in two-way trade between Cuba and the U.S. subsidiaries. The trade is divided about evenly between exports to and imports from Cuba, according to a Treasury Department study.

Over the past 10 years, U.S. companies doing business in Britain have accounted for almost 27 percent of the trade. Treasury figures show. Switzerland is next with 25.6 percent and Canada third with 19.9 percent. Argentina and Bermuda are next in line.

Too much TV linked to high cholesterol levels in children

DALLAS (AP) — Grade-school children who watch two hours of television a day are at increased risk of having high cholesterol levels, and the risk climbs the more they watch, researchers said.

Children watching television four hours a day are four times as likely to have high cholesterol as are children who watch less than two hours, the researchers reported Tuesday.

Previous research showed that children who watched too much television exercised less, were overweight and had bad diets.

"We made the next step — to look at TV and cholesterol," said Thomas K. Hei, who reported the findings at the annual meeting of the American Heart Association.

"The message is if you can't get your children to stop watching TV, maybe get them to exercise more and keep them from unhealthy food," said Hei, a student at the University of California, Irvine.

The study of 1,077 suburban Southern California children demonstrated that television habits are the best clue to identifying children with high cholesterol, said Dr. Kurt V. Gold of the University of California, Irvine, who directed the study.

In families with a history of heart disease or high cholesterol levels, television habits "facilitated the identification of nine out of 10 of the children with cholesterol levels above 200," Gold said.

"It provides another tool to help us identify the many children with elevated blood cholesterol levels who might otherwise go undetected."

Peggy Charren, the president of Action for Children's Television, blamed television commercials shown during children's shows.

Student will not cut hair

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — An American Indian, who claims his cultural identity of wearing long hair is being violated by the Lubbock Independent School District's dress code, says he will not cut his locks despite a district judge's ruling.

Judge Bradley Underwood denied a motion Tuesday by two students and their parents for a permanent injunction against the LISD's new dress code.

The policy prohibits boys from wearing longer than shoulder-length hair, rat tails, pony tails, braids and designs in their hair.

"Everyone at school was real disappointed," Yacatico said of Underwood's decision. "People asked me what I was going to do. I told them I wasn't going to cut my hair."

"I think we will keep fighting this. I still feel the same way about (the dress code). That won't ever change."

The LISD was sued by Michael Kelley, father of Yacatico, a sophomore at Lubbock High School, and Kathy Buckberry, mother of fifth-grader Michael Buckberry.

Michael, an honors student, has worn a rat tail for the last three years.

Yacatico claims his cultural heritage of wearing long hair is being denied by the dress code.

The elder Kelley said he will consult with his lawyers before committing to an appeal.

Meanwhile, officials from the LISD are hoping the dress code doldrums are behind them.

"I don't think that we have any reason to gloat," said LISD Superintendent Mike Moses. "I think that we have reason to feel good about the fact that our need to have some policies to regulate student behavior and student dress has been recognized by the court."

"We are just ready to move on."

Edwin Price, a lawyer representing the boys, said the parents have not decided if they will appeal the decision.

"It's a close call," Price said. "I am a bit surprised. The judge has indicated to us that previous cases, which state (that) hair is not a sufficiently important issue for intervention of an appellate court, are still good law."

Murray Hensley, a lawyer representing the school district, said Underwood's ruling was a victory for the students.

"It has been the position of the school district all along that the dress code gives the schools a better environment for learning," Hensley said. "If that is the case, the students will be the victors because they will get a better education."

Hensley said he expects the plaintiffs to appeal.

"That is the indication I have gotten," he said. "So we will just respond to what they want to do."

After Yacatico and Michael were removed from class for violating the code earlier this fall, the elder Kelley and Mrs. Buckberry appealed to the school board to allow their sons back in class.

Their pleas were denied by unanimous votes at separate meetings in front of about a hundred upset parents and students protesting the policy with signs and chants.

The parents won a temporary restraining order against the LISD's hair policy for boys three weeks ago. But Underwood's decision puts them back at square one.

Plaintiffs attorneys claim the dress code violates the Texas Equal Rights Amendment because girls' hair length is not restricted by the code.

children couldn't be worse," she said.

"We have never sold kids the foods that anyone wants them to eat. We sell candy, we sell high-fat snacks and we push fast-food restaurants."

The average American child watches 23 hours of television per week, Charren said.

The children in the study who watched two to four hours of television a day were average viewers. Hei and Gold found that the children's risk of having elevated cholesterol levels was 50 percent higher than children who watched less than two hours of television per day.

The two researchers sent questionnaires to parents whose children had had their cholesterol tested. The questionnaires inquired about the children's television viewing habits and the family's history of heart disease.

Nearly all of the children in the study were between ages 2 and 12, with an average age of 7, Hei said. They were mostly white and upper-middle class, he said.

The American Academy of Pediatrics, which supported the study, says any child with a cholesterol level over 175 should be treated.

"Since cholesterol levels tend to rise somewhat when a child reaches adulthood, many of these children could have dangerously high levels in later life," Gold said. A level above 240 is considered high for adults, and levels between 200 and 240 are "borderline high," according to the American Heart Association.

"It would be wonderful if you could buy a TV set that only operates when the people watching it are exercising," Gold said.

"We have lobbied hard in hopes that it won't get passed." A Swiss embassy spokesman said his government has taken similar steps.

A State Department official said the reaction among countries that would be affected by the legislation has been uniformly angry.

"They have been complaining to us in no uncertain terms on a number of occasions," said the official, who asked not to be identified.

Gramm to head fund-raising committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Phil Gramm says his Republican colleagues have given him an opportunity to change the shape of the Senate and the direction of the country.

Gramm was chosen Tuesday to lead GOP candidates' fund-raising efforts.

But observers say Gramm's new leadership post also positions him for a possible run for president in 1996.

Gramm, in secret balloting among his Republican colleagues, defeated Kentucky Sen. Mitch McConnell, 26-17, for the chairmanship of the National Republican Senatorial Committee.

The committee, which raises money for Republican Senate candidates, gives Gramm a stepping stone for higher leadership positions and a chance to help the GOP regain control of the Senate with the 1992 elections.

Gramm, who said he raised between $16 million and $18 million for his 1990 re-election — more than any other Senate candidate ever — said putting the Senate in Republican hands would be tough, "but I wouldn't have run if I didn't think it was possible."

But the job also puts Gramm in a "key spot for directing congressional campaign money," said James A. Thurber, professor of government and director of the Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies at American University.

Smokers Have Excuse They Need to Break Smoking Habit

By Abigail Van Buren
1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: Tomorrow will mark the 14th Annual Great American Smokeout, a one-day campaign to encourage smokers to quit smoking for 24 hours, just to prove they can do it.

Last year, more than 19.5 million smokers tried to quit for the day. This represents more than 39 percent of the nation's 50 million smokers. Breast cancer used to be the biggest killer for women. But the No. 1 cause of cancer death among women and men today is lung cancer. An estimated 142,000 will die of lung cancer in 1990.

And now, a word about smoking-related diseases — emphysema, chronic bronchitis and heart disease: This year an estimated 390,000 will die from one of these. This total exceeds the number of U.S. battle deaths in World War II; it is nine times as many people who die in automobile accidents every year!

A congressional study has reported that health costs from the adverse effects of smoking have reached a new high of $100 billion a year in increased medical bills and lost productivity. The loss in death and disability cannot be measured. (And how does one measure the amount of heartache, remorse and guilt suffered as a result of a preventable, self-induced tragedy?)

What about "secondhand" smoke? Is it damaging to non-smokers to be in the presence of those who are smoking? Yes! Furthermore, studies reveal that the children of smokers are more prone to lung problems and allergies than are children of non-smokers.

For years I have begged my young readers, "If you smoke, quit now. If you don't smoke, don't start!" Yet an estimated 3,000 to 5,000 kids light up for the first time every day. Why? Peer pressure, no doubt.

Quitting "cold turkey" is the hardest way to quit, but my readers have told me it's the most effective, and in the long run, the easiest way. Cutting down is less traumatic, but the temptation to smoke is often too powerful to resist while smoking just one, two or three cigarettes a day.

Those who are heavily addicted may require help to break the habit. Call your local chapter of the American Cancer Society for information.

So if you're hooked on cigarettes and have been telling yourself, "One of these days I'm going to quit," why not start tomorrow?

It won't be easy, but it will be the best Thanksgiving present you can give yourself — and those who love you.

LOVE, ABBY

P.S. A favor, please? If you quit tomorrow, even for 24 hours, I want to hear from you. Then write again and let me know how long you were able to stay "clean." Good luck. Keep me posted. I care.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I received a good chuckle from the letter in your column about the two less-than-perfect juncos who fell in love. We have been married for 23 years. I am not sure if the results of our childhood traumas had anything to do with our meeting and falling in love, but he's blind in one eye and I wear an artificial right leg.

Dr. Gott
Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a hiatal hernia and acid stomach and, unfortunately, my favorite foods are lettuce, raw cabbage, tomatoes and fresh fruits. They all produce gas, and I feel bad after eating them. In spite of this, I continue to eat them and suffer the consequences. Could the vegetables and fruits aggravate the hernia and make me feel this way?

DEAR READER: Yes. Not all people with hiatal hernia are troubled by raw fruits and vegetables, but some are.

Hiatal hernia is caused by a weakness of the muscular ring in the diaphragm through which the esophagus passes on its way to the stomach. Without the ring's valve effect, gastric acid is free to enter the esophagus, causing heartburn, chest pain, bloating, gas and sour stomach. This condition is called "reflux," and it occurs in most (but not all) patients with hiatal hernia.

No one knows why some patients with reflux develop symptoms after eating raw vegetables or fruits, others after eating spices, a few after eating chocolate and many after drinking alcohol or caffeine-containing beverages. These reactions are highly individualized, and most patients quickly learn which foods to avoid — or suffer the consequences. The foods don't aggravate the hernia, as you suggest, rather, they increase acid secretion and cause reflux.

You may be helped, if you choose not to restrict your diet, by the following suggestions:

- Chew your food very thoroughly.
- Attempt to vary your diet and consume non-irritating foods simultaneously with the fresh fruits and vegetables. For instance, don't eat a salad by itself; eat it along with "safer" foods.
- Take antacids, such as Maalox or Gelusil, for your acid stomach.
- When used frequently, these acid neutralizers soothe the esophagus and often relieve symptoms of reflux.
- Ask your doctor to prescribe medicine, such as Tagamet or Zantac, which reduces gastric acid. With these drugs, you may be able to enjoy your meals.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Hiatal Hernia." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Researchers say...

Aspirin, cocktail will get you drunker

CHICAGO (AP) — Taking a couple aspirins with a cocktail can get you drunker, doctors warned today.

Aspirin blocks the action of a stomach enzyme that breaks down alcohol before it reaches the bloodstream, researchers reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"It's important that people be warned not to mix those two — not to take aspirin before they drink, or rather, not to drink after they take aspirin," Dr. Charles S. Lieber, director of the Alcohol Research Center at the Bronx Veterans Affairs Medical Center in New York, said in a telephone interview Tuesday.

He and his colleagues studied aspirin and alcohol absorption in five healthy men ages 30 to 45.

Each man was given a standard breakfast, then an hour later, a glass of juice containing three grams of alcohol per kilogram of body weight — about a drink and a half for an average-size man, Lieber said.

The men underwent the procedure again, but first took one gram of aspirin — the equivalent of two extra-strength tablets — with breakfast.

"There was a 34 percent increase in the blood level of alcohol," Lieber said.

The same effect could occur on an empty stomach, but previous studies have failed to show it, possibly because alcohol remains in an empty stomach so briefly, the researchers said.

Women would probably be more susceptible, said Lieber, who has reported previously that women produce proportionally less of the enzyme in their stomachs.

Prey in dog training exercise...

Former inmate sues State of Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — A former Texas inmate who is suing the state because he says he was forced to serve as prey in dog-training exercises has suffered nightmares since his parole, his mother said.

Doris French, mother of parolee Walter Gilchrist, said she has heard her son "screaming in the night. I'd have to go wake him up."

Gilchrist, 33, sued the state prison system Tuesday, seeking to halt the use of prisoners as "dog boys" and gain unspecified compensation for alleged physical and emotional pain.

He was sentenced in Austin to a 10-year term in late 1987 for narcotics possession and now is on parole, said his lawyer, Jim Harrington.

The lawsuit says Gilchrist was compelled to serve as a dog boy about 20 times over a three-month period in late 1988.

In the hunts, the lawsuit says, the inmate would get a head start on a pack of dogs, climb a tree, tease the dogs, then jump among them and fight until prison officials arrived to pull the animals away.

"Every 'hunt' was an exhausting and excruciating painful ordeal," says the lawsuit. Gilchrist suffered bruises from dog bites, Harrington said, adding, "Emotionally, it was a very grueling experience."

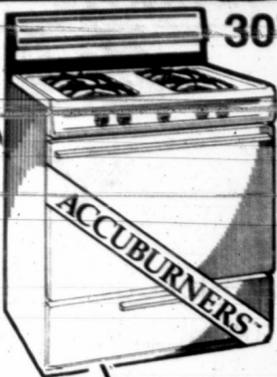

Gilchrist had a special disadvantage in defending himself against the dogs because he had a "barely functional" left hand that had required major reconstructive surgery after a construction job injury, the lawsuit said.

Harrington said Gilchrist felt compelled to participate in the hunts because he feared not doing so would result in him serving more time in prison.

Gilchrist is living with his father in Denton County as a condition of parole and could not attend a news conference on the lawsuit, Harrington said. Gilchrist's mother and brother appeared on his behalf.

"He just wants to gain back his self-esteem, because you know, when you're a dog boy in the Navasota state prison, you just feel pretty low," said Ms. French.
