Search for CEO continues Friday

Cogdell Memorial Hospital's board of managers are to convene in executive session at 7 a.m. Friday to consider chief executive officer candidates.

It is expected that a replacement for the current CEO, Tom Hochwalt, will be named following the meeting.

However, the board — which plans to have the new administrator in Snyder by mid-December — has scheduled three additional meetings "in the event that further negotiations with the CEO candidate are necessary or in the event that the CEO candidate withdraws interest in the opportunity." Those meetings are 6:30 p.m. Friday, 8 a.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday.

The board interviewed four candidates in two meetings last week and had hoped to name a new CEO at a third meeting on Monday. However, board members received additional information on the candidates and decided to study that information and meet again Friday.

Hochwalt has accepted the position of vice president at St. Mary of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock. His resignation at Cogdell becomes effective at the first of the year.

Public invited...

Hazardous waste focus of forum in Sweetwater

Sen. Chet Brooks and Rep. Robert Saunders, co-chairmen of the 1990 Joint Task Force on Waste Management Policy, have invited experts on the importation of out-of-state municipal solid waste and hazardous waste disposal to address a group of legislators on Tuesday, Nov. 20, in Sweetwater.

The public is invited to attend the forum, which will begin at 1 p.m. in the Nolan County Courthouse. Interested individuals may submit written testimony to be entered into the official record for consideration by state lawmakers during the 72nd Legislature which convenes in January.

Senators Steve Carriker of Roby, Temple Dickson of Sweetwater and Bill Sims of San Angelo will be joined on the panel by State Representatives David Counts of Knox City, Rob Junell of San Angelo and Robert Hunjer of Abilene to receive testimony from several experts.

Proposals for a hazardous waste landfill and incinerator in Mitchell and Lubbock counties have generated a concern in the region. In addition, an application has been filed with the Texas Water Commission for a hazardous waste injection well in Fisher County, and is being protested by some local citizen groups.

Anyone wishing more information about the forum may call Linda Bond at 512-463-0130.

Syria, Egypt reject summit; amphibious exercise begins

by The Associated Press
U.S. and Saudi forces today began a six-day amphibious exercise in the Persian Gulf, codenamed "Imminent Thunder" and involving 1,000 U.S. Marines, 1,100 aircraft and 16 ships.

Iraq has termed the exercise a "provocative act" because it is being held close to occupied Kuwait.

Also today, Syria and Egypt rejected a proposed Arab summit on the Persian Gulf crisis, effectively killing chances for the gathering that Morocco's king said was possibly the last chance for peace.

Presidents Hafez Assad of Syria and Hosni Mubarak of Egypt became the latest Arab leaders to join Saudi Arabia in rejecting the summit. They said they were doing so because Baghdad insisted upon keeping Kuwait.

Saudi Arabia said on Wednesday it would not participate in the summit unless Baghdad promised beforehand to leave Kuwait, which it invaded Aug. 2.

In other developments:

—Two American diplomats arrived in Amman, Jordan, on today's regularly scheduled flight from Baghdad. The State Department said on Wednesday two Americans were to leave Iraq, but did not release their identities or further details.

"I'm not a hostage," said one, who was carrying an orange bag that looked like a diplomatic pouch. Two other Americans arrived from Iraq on Wednesday.

—Hundreds of America's most powerful tanks began rolling into the Saudi desert, adding more power to the growing U.S. deployment in Saudi Arabia as Washington seeks U.N. authorization to wage war on Iraq.

—A poll sponsored by an arms-control group found that most Americans oppose going to war without a congressional declaration and nearly half prefer to give a U.N.-ordered embargo on trade with Iraq more time.

—The state Iraqi News Agency announced that President Bush will go "on trial" in absentia next month in Algeria for "inhuman policies and planning aggression against the people of Iraq."

The trial will begin Dec. 10 in Algiers in an international court of justice, INA said. It quoted the secretary-general of the Arab Jurists Federation, Shabeeb al-Maliki, as saying the trial would be held in accordance with rules used by the Nuremberg courts that tried Nazi war criminals.

The exact location of Imminent Thunder was not revealed because of military policy.

Jaycees win honors at fall meeting

Snyder Jaycees won several honors while attending the FASSTRAK Convention in Dallas — including Presidential Award of Honor plaques.

FASSTRAK was the Fall Activation Seminar, Stressing Training Retention and Knowledge. The convention also marked the end of the year's second quarter for the organization.

Danny Engle, No. 122 district director, received a Presidential Award of Honor plaque from National Jaycee President Rusty Molstad, and other top awards for member recruitment and member growth. Engle leads the

Regulators target Drexel in S&L crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — Thrift regulators are demanding a record $6.8 billion from Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. for alleged junk bond fraud. The collapsed investment firm says it's being made a scapegoat for the savings and loan debacle.

The claims filed in federal Bankruptcy Court on Wednesday accuse Drexel and its former junk bond chief, Michael Milken, of "plundering" more than 40 failed thrifts through racketeering, fraud, bribery and numerous other crimes.

The allegations brought by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Resolution Trust Corp. are by far the largest damages sought in the S&L crisis, which is expected to cost taxpayers more than $500 billion over 30 years.

They also, for the first time, pin (see DREXEL, page 8)

Cage classic tips off tonight in coliseum

The annual WTC/McDonald's Classic tips off its three-day run at Scurry County Coliseum this evening.

In today's action, Blinn Junior College of Brenham plays Ranger at 5 p.m., Howard College of Big Spring meets Weatherford at 7 p.m., and Western Texas entertains Temple at 9 p.m.

Tickets, available at the door, are $3 for a day's three-game set, $2 for a single game and $1 for students. Season tickets will be honored.

Western Texas goes into the tournament following Monday's 115-102 victory over Cisco Junior College, which leaves the squad with a 3-2 record.

Friday's games pit Blinn against Temple at 5 p.m., Howard versus Ranger at 7 p.m. and Western Texas against Weatherford at 9 p.m. On Saturday, Blinn meets Weatherford at 3 p.m., Howard plays Temple at 5 p.m. and Western Texas battles Ranger at 7 p.m.

Ira man gets 15 years

A 39-year-old Ira man was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice correctional system by District Judge Gene Dulaney.

Billy Floyd Bennett plead guilty last week in 132nd District Court to stealing three saddles from the rodeo grounds on Gary Brewer Road on Aug. 1. Bennett was later arrested in Pampa after apparently trying to sell one of the saddles.

Also entering a guilty plea was Glynda Moree, 51, of 3103 Cherry. She plead guilty to obtaining a controlled substance by fraudulent prescription and received a five-year probated sentence and a $500 fine. Moree was indicted earlier this month by a Scurry County grand jury for the March 15 offense.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Before giving somebody a piece of your mind, better check to be sure you have enough to share."

It seems like everybody has an idea about what needs to be done to improve public education. Not long ago, we heard a speech by Texas Education Commissioner Bill Kirby, and we liked his observation.

While not denying that problems exist and that there is room for improvement, Dr. Kirby nevertheless scored a significant point with the audience about the system working if only the patrons would take advantage of it.

He cited persons from Asian countries who moved to Texas. Despite the language barrier, the kids still excel and many have become honor students. The reason: parental support.

The system may not be perfect, but a dedicated student can get what he or she wants out of it.

Students have their own idea about what makes a good teacher.

One kindergarten student said a good teacher is one "who teaches kids about carrots, onions, tomatoes, tomato sauce and chili and all those other yucky things that kids don't like."

One third grade student said a good teacher is a man teacher, while a classmate counters that a good teacher is a girl teacher.

Another primary student said a good teacher is one who explains things three times so you can understand. Another kid says a good teacher is one who gives you enough time to finish your work.

Older kids have yet another standard. One said it depended on the quality of their jokes. Another high school student observed, "A teacher with a smile a day keeps the bad kids away."

Another older student put a lot of thought into her answer about what makes a good teacher: "A teacher needs to have intelligence, patience, be mother-like, and have a good mind. Because if they start crazy, it will really be bad after a few years."

132 District Court...

Prosecution rests in trial of Costilla

The state rested its case about 10:30 a.m. today and defense testimony continued at noon in the 132nd District Court trial of Gilbert V. Costilla.

The 31-year-old former Snyder man, who now resides in Houston, is charged with aggravated sexual assault of a child.

State testimony began Wednesday morning and continued until 3 p.m. when court recessed for the day. A four-man, eight-woman jury was selected Tuesday afternoon.

Costilla was indicted in March by a Scurry County grand jury for an alleged incident with a girl under the age of 14.

District Attorney Ernie Armstrong is prosecuting the case for the state. Costilla is represented by Lawrence Barber of Odessa.

District Judge Gene Dulaney is presiding.

Ask Us

Q—How is the AP Top Ten schoolboy football poll selected?

A—The poll is based on votes by broadcasters and print media based across the state. Those taking part are generally from larger cities and/or metropolitan areas.

In Brief

Will sign bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush marks an environmental milestone as he prepares to sign a far-reaching and expensive clean air bill, ending a decade-long debate over whether to require tougher air pollution controls.

Key lawmakers involved in the long and contentious fight for clean air legislation were invited to the White House signing ceremony today.

The bill, which covers 748 pages and will affect virtually every American, cleared Congress easily last month after 16 months of debate and long hours of behind-the-scenes negotiations on a myriad of provisions.

The law will require new pollution controls for automobiles, electric utilities, factories and thousands of businesses. It eventually is expected to cost the economy as much as $25 billion a year, according to White House estimates.

Richards readies for transition to top post

AUSTIN (AP) — Speculation abounds over who Ann Richards will choose for key staff jobs and other appointments when she takes over the governor's office.

Richards on Wednesday was wrapping up a post-election vacation on South Padre Island, said Bill Cryer, her press secretary.

"She starts meeting with transition people tomorrow," Cryer said Wednesday. "Over the next several days, we're going to be meeting about the process of the transition."

Richards takes the oath of office on Jan. 15.

In a column written for the Houston Chronicle and published during the weekend, Richards said she already has assigned aides to begin organizing what she called the Texas School Assembly.

That group, she wrote, "will bring together teachers, administrators, parents and even students to help formulate an equitable solution to our crisis in public education."

Cryer said the Democrat hasn't made up her mind on any of the key appointments she will be making to assemble her staff between now and the time she takes over from retiring Republican Gov. Bill Clements.

"There have been no commitments made or anything like that," Cryer said.

But some Democrats around the Capitol have been speculating on just who might be tapped for which jobs as Richards moves from the Treasury to the governor's office.

A top political appointment for any governor is secretary of state, the individual who oversees elections and by tradition fills in for the governor at a variety of functions.

Sources, asking that their names not be used, say possible candidates for that job are state Rep. Lena Guerrero of Austin, who served as political director for Richards' campaign, and former San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros, who was a campaign co-chair.

Some also have suggested the secretary of state's job might be offered to former congresswoman Barbara Jordan, who offered high-profile campaign help. But Ms. Jordan's health problems and her post at the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs may keep her from the office.

Mary Beth Rogers, Richards' campaign manager and first deputy treasurer, is being mentioned for the post of chief of staff.

Paul Williams, the current deputy treasurer, has been suggested for budget director, as has state Rep. Ric Williamson, D-Weatherford.

School board urged to drop Twain books

PLANO, Texas (AP) — A school district committee concluded that some of Mark Twain's best-known novels contain derogatory racial stereotypes and epithets and should be removed from required reading lists in Plano schools.

Members of the Materials Review Committee for the Plano Independent School District said "Tom Sawyer" and "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" have enough literary significance to merit remaining on a list of books that students may choose on their own to read.

Superintendent Wayne Hendrick will decide whether to approve or study further the committee's recommendation, said Dr. Bill Hollifield, assistant superintendent for curriculum.

The eight-member panel of four parents and four teachers was formed to study the issue after Plano city councilman David Perry filed a complaint last month.

Perry, who is black, said his seventh-grade daughter was hurt and confused when she read the book this year.

The frequent use of the word "nigger," he said, "does great harm to the minds of our children."

In Plano schools, "Tom Sawyer" is read by seventh-graders and "Huckleberry Finn" is part of the curriculum for 11th-graders. The books are about adolescents growing up along the Mississippi River.

The review committee hearings included testimony Monday from the district's Multi-Ethnic Committee.

New death row inmate angry at judge

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A man sentenced to die last week for killing a 15-year-old girl called the judge who presided over his capital murder trial a murderer happy to send him to death row.

Gary Wayne Etheridge, 26, of Freeport, was convicted in the Feb. 2 rape-slaying of Christie Chauviere. The girl's mother, Gail, 50, was robbed and stabbed at least 15 times in the Brazoria County attack.

During an interview Wednesday on death row, Etheridge blasted State District Judge J. Ray Gayle III, who presided over his trial in Angleton.

"If you could have looked into his eye the way I was looking him in the eye when he sentenced me to die, you could have seen it was like his ultimate experience in life," Etheridge said.

In announcing the punishment last week following the jury's deliberation, Gayle noted that he had dealings with Etheridge since he was in trouble as a juvenile.

"You've really graduated to the big league," the judge said. "But we're going to clean up a piece of garbage. You're nothing but a blight on society ... and you are going to die, young man, sooner or later, by lethal injection."

Etheridge said he wanted to tell the judge that everyone was going to die eventually, but his attorneys told him to be quiet.

"Judge Gayle is a killer, a cold-blooded murderer. The man's hated my guts for years. He's a murderer and he hides behind his judicial robes to justify it," Etheridge said Wednesday.

Victim's daughter against release

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Seventeen years ago, in 1973, Johnny Leroy Harris was sentenced to 2,000 years in prison for killing a policeman shortly after robbing a service station.

But Harris could be released later this month, and the victim's daughter is incensed.

Mechelle Jacobs-Hensley, 31, was in the San Antonio police station Wednesday seeking signatures for a petition she hopes will keep Harris behind bars.

"The jury sentenced him to 2,000 years and they didn't mean him to get out in 17," said Ms. Jacobs-Hensley, who was 14 when her father was killed.

Her father, Patrolman George Jacobs, then 32, was shot the evening of Jan. 10, 1973.

Ms. Jacobs-Hensley said her father saw Harris, then 26, running down the street in heavy sleet and offered him a ride in his patrol car to get him out of the weather.

"As my father turned to open the door for him, he shot him at point blank range in the temple," she said.

At the time, she, her younger brother and her mother were ready for bed and watching television at home. They learned during a newsbreak that a policeman had been shot, but no name was mentioned.

"My mother started to get dressed. I asked her what she was doing and she said my brother and I would have to stay with the neighbors because there was something she was going to have to do. A few minutes later the doorbell rang and it was his sergeant who informed her my father had been shot," she said.

Research book names poisonous plants

NEW YORK (AP) — John and Dolores Alber sold plants by mail and from a retail shop in St. Louis when their first child was born.

They thought they knew a lot about the flower business — until they tried to learn whether their child would be safe around the indoor plants and cut flowers they owned and sold.

They spent two years researching the subject and had enough information to write a book, the recently-published "Baby-Safe Houseplants & Cut Flowers," (Genus Books, $12.95).

It lists common and botanical names of 200 houseplants and garden plants likely to come inside; principal toxins active in the plant, if any; plant parts likely to contain toxins; a description of the plant and a description of effects of toxins on the body.

It will tell you, for instance, that sweet-smelling, innocent looking lily-of-the-valley (convallaria majalis) contains glycosides that act much like digitalis, the drug used to treat heart ailments. When ingested in large enough quantities it can cause a slowing of the heart and heart rhythm disturbances.

It also contains irritant saponins that can cause burning in the mouth, nausea, vomiting and abdominal pain. When cut and brought indoors, even the vase water can become toxic.

They implore you to teach your child never to eat nonfood plants. According to the American Association of Poison Control Centers, nearly 100,000 children accidentally ingested plants last year, requiring treatment. If your child requires a hospital visit, take the plant, or a sizable chunk of it, with you.

College cage teams compete in events

WTC men to host McDonald's Classic

Scurry County Coliseum will be the site for the WTC-McDonald's Classic which is slated to last from Thursday until Saturday with basketball teams from Blinn College, Howard College, Weatherford Junior College, Temple Junior College, Ranger Junior College and host WTC competing.

The Westerners are coming from a 115-102 victory over Cisco Junior College in Monday action when sophomore Dominick Byrd poured in 31 points to lead all scorers, and fellow sophomore Jeff Shelley added 25 points, including three 3-point baskets.

Western Texas, boasting a 3-2 mark for the season, lost to Jacksonville Baptist College and Angelina College and beat Murray State of Oklahoma in last weekend's appearance at the Chaparral Classic hosted by Midland College.

The Westerners will play their first two games of the tournament at 9 p.m., against Temple Thursday and against Weatherford Friday. WTC is slated to play Ranger in the event's finale at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The WTC men will be back on the floor for a Nov. 23 meeting with Navarro Junior College at Dallas Reunion Arena at 4:30 p.m., just prior to a regular-season NBA matchup between the Dallas Mavericks and the San Antonio Spurs.

The Westerners begin WJCAC competition Nov. 29 with an 8 p.m. meeting with the Howard College Hawks.

Dusters play in Hawk Queen Classic

The Lady Dusters of Western Texas College will take to the basketball court after a four-day lay-off to participate in the Hawk Queen Classic at Howard College in Big Spring.

The event is scheduled to run from Thursday through Saturday and will feature women's cage squads from Blinn College, Hardin-Simmons University, Weatherford Junior College, Cisco Junior College, host Howard College and WTC.

Western Texas is fresh from a 2-1 weekend at the Texan Classic at South Plains College in Levelland.

The Lady Dusters nailed down wins over Western Oklahoma College, 61-58, Northern Oklahoma College, 73-69, and lost in overtime to Lubbock Christian University, 67-58.

The Dusters carry a 2-2 mark into Thursday's 4 p.m. opening contest with Weatherford. WTC plays at 4 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, as well, facing Cisco, a team that nipped the Dusters 69-68 in the season debut at Scurry County Coliseum, and Blinn, respectively.

Coach Kelly Chadwick's WTC women will host the Turkey Day Classic November 23 and 24 in the coliseum.

Western Junior College Athletic Conference play begins November 29 when the Dusters face Howard in Big Spring.

Coaches announce weekly grid awards

Blair Williams recorded a team-high 22 tackles against Lamesa in Snyder's 28-13 football win that clinched the District 2-4A title last Friday.

Williams wins a coaches' award for leading the defense in tackles and also for causing a fumble.

The Snyder coaching staff named Williams this week's Big Hit Award winner, as well.

Kicker Bryan Brunson, long snapper Bay John Long and holder Jason Rios all get helmet decals for three consecutive extra-points at Lamesa.

Other special teamers being recognized include Chris Wright for his blocking on kick returns and Paul Anderson for a 78-yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

Defensive players recognized by SHS coaches include defensive backs Mark King and Shelby Bufkin for interceptions, Blair Williams and Will Clay for causing fumbles, Will Clay and Hayward Clay for recovering fumbles and Clint Haywood and King for knocking down passes.

Quarterback Ed Rios and Anderson combined for a Great Fake Award, that is, pulling four defenders to them with a false move.

Offensive linemen drawing praise included Clint Haywood with 12 knockdowns, Jeff Black with 16 and Charlie Richardson with 20.

Clint Haywood also won a helmet decoration for recording three pins against the Tornados.

JV girls nip Merkel, 39-37

MERKEL — Snyder's JV Lady Tigers clawed their way to a 39-37 win over Merkel Tuesday night here.

Annie Ragland hammered 18 points against the Lady Badgers. Stephanie Fambro scored nine for SHS and Emily Mauldin added 8.

After a slow start, just five points in the first quarter, the Lady Tigers took a 20-16 halftime lead and never trailed again.

The JV girls, coached by Laura Holt, will meet Seminole at 6:30 p.m. Friday at SHS in their next contest.

SNYDER — Desiree Loper 0 2 2 2; Emily Mauldin 4 0 1 8; Annie Ragland 4 8 15 16; Haley Patterson 1 2 2 4; Nicky Riggins 0 0 2 0; Stephanie Fambro 3 3 6 9; TOTALS 12 15 28 39.

Says Dorsett...

Tigers' defense plays intelligent game

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

The Snyder Tigers defensive unit received much of the credit for the football team's 7-2-1 season record in 1990 due to the each man contributing to the total effort.

"To their credit," said defensive coordinator Jack Dorsett, "They have really picked up on things and played as a unit. They've played an intelligent game that has allowed us to make a lot of adjustments on the sidelines during the course of the season."

"That has allowed us to do things in games that we may not have even practiced, but they have still stopped people and let us accomplish our main goal."

Snyder's defensive secondary, a big question mark in the early part of the campaign, has jelled into a group of ball-hawking pass stoppers.

Safety Mark King and cornerback Joe Martinez have claimed five interceptions each and Shelby Bufkin has snatched three from the other corner.

The Tigers, as a team, have set an SHS mark with 15 oskies on the season. "We thought the secondary was going to be our weakness coming in," said Dorsett. It has turned out to be one of our real strengths. We use our secondary people in a lot of our defensive schemes."

Putting pressure on opposing quarterbacks and halting the run is the job of the Snyder defensive linemen, and they do a good job.

"Damien and Clint Haywood are two of the best in the district," Dorsett said of his noseguard and defensive tackle, respectively. "And sophomore Todd Iglehart has stepped in and filled a big void for us at tackle. Our ends, Will and Hayward (Clay) are excellent."

"I don't think Hayward has been blocked twice all season. He can really string things out."

"Will's speed saves a lot of plays for us, too."

Snyder's linemen have registered 23 quarterback traps on the season with Damien Haywood and Will Clay being credited with six each.

Which brings us to the SHS linebackers.

"They are very smart, hard-hitting ball players," stated Dorsett of seniors Blair Williams and Terry Stephens. "They are the key to us making our adjustments on the field and doing what we do."

Williams leads the team in tackles for the season with 78 and Stephens has notched 67.

Williams has recovered five fumbles in '90, including one off a blocked punt for a TD against Dunbar.

Stephens has a sack, and an interception to his credit in the grid season.

Over the course of the Tigers' season, the defensive unit averaged giving up 190.7 yards per contest.

Included in that statistic is a 108 yard performance in Snyder's 14-14 tie with state ranked Big Spring on Oct. 5.

Snyder's defenders will try to halt Pampa's offense on Saturday in the Tigers' 2 p.m. bi-district playoff meeting with the Harvesters.

Westerners to play in Florida tourney

PENSACOLA, Fla. — Western Texas College golf coach Dave Foster's squad will be here as part of the West Florida College National Match Play Championships Friday through Sunday.

A qualifying round on Friday will precede match play Saturday and Sunday in the final appearance of the season for the Westerner team.

Sophomores Brad Stewart and Tony Lara will join freshmen Jon Roseberry, Clint Winn and Mark Wood on the WTC traveling squad.

Other teams set to compete here include host West Florida, Pensacola JC, Paris JC, San Jacinto JC, NMMI, NMJC, Lon Morris College, Grayson County College, Wallace State of Dothan, Ala., and Midland College.

The Westerners' spring schedule will begin the last week in February.

Snyder girls facing CHS in Big Spring

BIG SPRING — Snyder's Lady Tigers will compete in the Howard County Crossroads Basketball Tournament, beginning today with a 2 p.m. meeting with Lubbock Coronado.

Snyder is coming off a 79-53 loss to the Lady Badgers of Merkel in its season opener Tuesday night.

Junior Betsy Taylor and senior

Vinnie Clay were both in double figures for Snyder. Taylor poured in 15 points and Clay was good for 12.

The Crossroads tourney will run through Saturday with the championship games scheduled for 6 p.m.

A win by the Lady Tigers today puts them in a 2 p.m. matchup against the winner of the Estacado-Odessa Permian game played at 10:30 a.m. today.

A loss by SHS will pit them against the loser of the early game.

In other first round action Coahoma battles Abilene High at 9 a.m. and Big Spring faces El Paso Parkland at 6 p.m.

Pentagon will cut 7,500 jobs

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Pentagon has ordered more than 7,500 civilian jobs eliminated at Air Force Logistics Command bases, including 1,213 at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio, said Rep. James Hansen, R-Utah.

Attrition and early retirement are expected to account for many of the jobs cut at the seven bases, an expected result from reductions in military spending in the 1991 Defense Authorization Bill, he said.

Hansen said he was notified of the planned reduction-in-force in a letter from the Air Force Wednesday.

The Air Force letter said Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma City was ordered to trim its work force by 2,196 employees.

Robins Air Force Base in Georgia must get rid of 907 workers; McClellan in California, 811; Newark in Ohio, 709; Wright-Patterson in Ohio, 240; and Hill in Utah, 1,427.

Hansen, who was re-elected last week after a campaign in which he repeatedly reminded voters of his role in protecting defense jobs, said the cutbacks were made inevitable by changing international politics.

After nearly a half century of maintaining a large military to counter the Soviet Union, the United States can now "reconfigure" its armed forces in light of reduced tensions with a crumbling East Bloc, Hansen said.

Although the reduction will affect about 5 percent of the Hill work force, the congressman said he did not consider the announcement "as real dire news" for Utah's defense industry.

"I kind of look at this as a real light touch," Hansen said. "A lot of these will be handled by attrition" and the likelihood of legislation to allow for "early out" retirements is high.

"When you get right down to it, it won't be anywhere near 1,427 layoffs, in terms of people walking out without jobs," he added. The reduction is ordered for 1991.

Disputed signs to come down

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Lisa Moseley, 28, spent two days this week putting up 300 signs in support of U.S. soldiers in the Persian Gulf. Now, she has been ordered to take some of them down, and she's plenty mad about it.

"If I have to take them down it will be with a scream — the whole city will know I'm taking them down," Miss Moseley said Wednesday after she was told any signs placed on utility poles in right-of-way were illegal.

She said she put up the signs Monday and Tuesday after getting permission from officials in Live Oak and Universal City, two incorporated suburbs in northeast San Antonio near Randolph Air Force Base. The signs read, "We Support Our Troops."

Her brother, Matthew Moseley, is an infantryman serving in the 82nd Airborne.

When she called city hall in Universal City on Wednesday to ask if the city wanted to help pay for more signs, Miss Moseley said, she was told she violated an ordinance prohibiting signs on utility poles within the city's right-of-way. She was given two days to get them down, she said.

"We're very supportive of our troops, but unfortunately it doesn't conform to the sign ordinance," said Michelle Sanchez, codes administrator for Universal City.

"Our sign ordinance doesn't allow handbills or any signage to be posted on public utility poles or property belonging to the public utility company, the city or state," she said.

Ms. Sanchez said she suggested that Miss Moseley ask local businesses to display the signs.

Theft report taken

Scurry County sheriff's office investigated a report by Shana Killian at 11:10 a.m. Wednesday that her purse had been stolen from her car while parked at Snyder Country Club.

Killian said the purse — containing a small amount of cash and credit cards — was taken between 5:30-10:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Police make three arrests Wednesday

Local police action for Wednesday included three arrests and a report of felony theft.

At 1:46 p.m., police received a call from Filomena Diaz of 2701 Ave J. Diaz said that a ring had been taken from the residence. A report for felony theft was taken.

Police took two males into custody in the 400 block of 37th St. at 8:29 p.m. A 22-year-old male was arrested for driving while intoxicated, parole violations, no liability insurance and no driver's license. His 31-year-old passenger was arrested on warrants for failure to appear, no liability insurance and public intoxication. Both were taken to county jail.

At 10:15 p.m., a 27-year-old was taken into custody at police headquarters and transported to county jail on a warrant for theft of services.

Earlier in the day, police investigated a minor accident. Police were called to the parking lot of IGA on College Ave. at 10:32 a.m. where a 1979 Ford driven by Jaunita Eckert of Route 1 was in collision with a 1989 Ford owned by Juan Dominguez of 3006 Ave. F. There were no injuries and damage was described as minor.

much of the blame for the crisis on Drexel.

FDIC and RTC chairman L. William Seidman said the agencies "still have much more to do to ensure that we identify and recover all the losses caused by Drexel. The American taxpayers expect no less from us."

The agencies said the claims reflect total junk bond losses at the thrifths of $2 billion. The alleged damages are tripled under federal antitrust and racketeering laws, for a total of $6 billion. Other claims reflect $800 million in losses from alleged illegal trading unrelated to junk bonds.

Drexel said in a statement that it "has become a convenient scapegoat for the S&L crisis as various agencies and branches of the government attempt to deflect their own responsibility."

"Regardless of the number of zeros in the claims ... Drexel intends to vigorously defend against them," the firm said. "In court the conduct of regulators and others chiefly responsible for the S&L debacle will be the real issue."

district, area and state as the top district director.

Chapter President Rudy Garza received a Presidential Award of Honor plaque from Texas State Jaycee President Jim Murphy. Garza leads the Snyder chapter as the top growth chapter in the state.

Other awards received were Parade of Chapter awards, President's Team, Leaderboard awards and Eagle Corps. Garza and Sylvia Engle received jackets for Eagle Corps in member recruitment.

In competition awards, Elida Garza received second place in the Faith In God competition. In single project category awards, those winning projects included the Labor Day Rest Stop, project chairman Larry Barboza; the First Quarter Awards Program, project chairman Sylvia Engle; the Voter Registration Project, chairman Elida Garza; and the Presidential Visit of Snyder Project, chairman Elida Garza.

Snyder Jaycees rank No. 2 in Area I, No. 1 in population for cities of its size, No. 4 in Parade of Chapters, and No. 7 overall among state chapters. Rudy Garza and Danny Engle were recognized throughout the convention for their successful chapter works.

Upcoming projects for the local Jaycees include a holiday food drive, annual Christmas tree sales, the Christmas shopping spree at Kmart, the Christmas lighting contest, the Calling Santa project and Toys for Tots.

Archie Holman

1916-1990
ANDREWS — Services are set for 2 p.m. Saturday at the Church of God for Archie W. Holman, 74, who died Wednesday in Permian General Hospital following a long illness. Burial will follow in the Andrews Cemetery.

He was the father of Archie D. Holman and Robert M. Holman, both of Snyder.

Born in Cooper, he had lived in Andrews for 45 years, moving from Snyder. He was an Army veteran of World War II. He was a charter member of the 142nd Infantry and received a Bronze Star while serving with Company G of the 36th Infantry.

A member of the Church of God, he previously owned and operated a lumber yard and Holman Construction Co. He was founder of a radio station in Andrews.

Survivors include his wife, Veda Mae; another son, Bobby G. Holman of Gardendale; four daughters, JoAnn Mitchell of Hugo, Okla., Yvonne Underwood of Jourdanon, Mary Ann Price of Odessa and Carolyn Taylor of Mansfield; a brother, John F. Holman of Andrews; a sister, Violet Holman of San Antonio; 18 grandchildren; and 17 great-grandchildren.

Weather outlook worsens...

Shuttle launch said in doubt

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA started loading a half-million gallons of fuel into the shuttle Atlantis this morning but the weather outlook worsened for tonight's launch carrying a satellite that reportedly will spy on Iraq.

The shuttle is scheduled to blast off between 6:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. EST. The exact time of the military mission will be kept secret until nine minutes before liftoff, as was the case with the six previous Pentagon flights.

An Air Force meteorologist today predicted a 40 percent chance of good weather at launch time, down from earlier forecasts of 60 percent. The biggest threat was crosswinds that might exceed the allowable limit of 14 mph. Another concern was scattered clouds.

The weather was fine for fueling, however, which got under way late this morning. Liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen were pumped into Atlantis' huge external tank, which was replaced while the shuttle was grounded during the summer. The fuel would have to be drained from the tank if the launch is scrubbed later.

"There doesn't seem to be any problems with the countdown," NASA spokesman Karl Kristoferson said today. "The weather is the only iffy thing."

Pilot's error led to crash killing all on board

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Pilot error was suspected in the crash of an Italian jetliner trying to land at Zurich's international airport, killing all 46 people aboard, including six Americans, authorities said today.

The Alitalia DC-9, arriving on a 50-minute flight from Milan, skimmed treetops before its fiery crash into a wooded hillside on Wednesday night, five miles short of Klotten airport, police said.

Josef Meier, a spokesman for Swiss air traffic control authorities, told a news conference that witnesses accounts suggested several causes for the crash and that no possible theories, including terrorism, were being ruled out.

But Meier said radar data "suggest the pilot misjudged his altitude." He said the plane was flying about 1,000 feet below the normal altitude during the landing approach.

Investigators reported finding one of the two flight recorders, or "black boxes," which track flight data and cockpit conversations and hoped to learn more about the crash's cause from them.

In Rome, a preliminary count by the airline said six U.S. citizens were among the dead, but the passenger list it released gave only last names and first initials without nationalities.

The jet cut a swath into the forest and broke up on impact, witnesses said. Smoking pieces of wreckage, covered with firefighting foam, were strewn around a muddy hillside.

"The plane was burning like a volcano," said Hanni Steffen, a resident and medic who rushed to the crash site.

Study says Hispanics lost ground in 1980s

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1980s was instead a time of declining incomes and deteriorating living conditions for Hispanics in cities across Texas and the rest of the country, according to a study.

The independent, non-profit Aspen Institute, in a report Wednesday, said overall conditions for Hispanics improved in only one major metropolitan area — Miami — and remained relatively stable in only one other city with a large Hispanic population — San Diego.

But for Hispanics in 11 other cities, the "parity gap" with Anglos widened over the past decade, the report said.

The 13 cities studied are home to two-thirds of U.S. Hispanics. While some of those cities were in regions suffering economic downturns in the 1980s, the report said it found that when things got worse for everyone in a local market, they got even worse for Hispanics.

"While the rich got richer and the poor got poorer, did Hispanics get poorer than Anglos? They did," the report said.

Between 1979 and 1987, the real median family income of Hispanics fell in all but four of the 13 areas — New York; McAllen, Texas; Miami; and Phoenix, where it remain unchanged.

McAllen saw the biggest surge in real median family income, which the study attributed to a partnership between the United States and Mexico that is boosting the local economy. With the exception of McAllen, the greatest declines occurred among Hispanics in Texas, where the economy was hit hard by the oil price shocks of the 1980s, the study found.

In Dallas, Hispanics' median family income fell from $23,274 in 1979 to $19,000 in 1987, while the percentage of Hispanics living in poverty grew from 20 percent to 30 percent over the past decade.

In Houston, Hispanics' family income fell from $25,281 in 1979 to $19,000 in 1987. At the beginning of the 1980s, 19 percent of Hispanics were living in poverty, at the close of the decade, 30 percent were considered below the poverty level.

Hispanics' median family income also fell in San Antonio over the decade, from $19,638 to $16,000, while those under the poverty level grew from 27 percent to 34 percent. In McAllen, median income grew from $15,493 to $20,710, while the percentage of poor Hispanics fell, from 41 percent to 39 percent.

In El Paso, however, family income dropped from $18,176 to $15,075, while the percentage of Hispanics in poverty rose from 29 percent to 43 percent.

In addition to studying income and poverty rates, the report looked at educational attainment, unemployment rates and other factors to judge overall Hispanic-Anglo parity. It said San Diego had the narrowest parity gap, followed in order by Miami, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Denver, Dallas, Houston, Chicago and New York. While the report also examined conditions in McAllen, El Paso, San Antonio and Phoenix, it said comparable data was not available to rank those cities.

Miami has made the greatest progress toward parity, the study said, followed by San Diego, Dallas, Chicago, New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Houston and Denver.

The report warned that the growing gap between Hispanic and Anglo Americans must be closed.

"The nation's competitive position cannot be maintained if a sharp division continues between stable leadership isolated in the suburbs and poor workers and an underclass isolated in deteriorating inner cities," said Solomon D. Trujillo, vice president and general manager of US WEST Communications.

Trujillo is also chairman of the Aspen Institute's Hispanic Americans and the Business Community Program, which issued the report.

The country's Hispanic population is estimated to be 34.8 million in the year 2000, up from 20.1 million in 1989.

Supporters gather at city hall

DALLAS (AP) — About 1,200 supporters of John Wiley Price gathered at Dallas City Hall to vent their anger over the Dallas Police Department's latest quarrel with the outspoken county commissioner.

Police have asked a grand jury to review Price's armed altercation with an off-duty police officer who approached Price while jogging Nov. 5 and allegedly uttered a racial slur.

The officer, Robert Bernal, told his superiors that Price chased him down and pointed an Uzi sub-machine gun at his head.

Price contends he was holding a pellet gun that looks somewhat like an Uzi. He denies, however, pointing the weapon at Bernal, who was not in uniform.

Bernal denies using any racial slurs, but acknowledges yelling a derogatory remark while jogging past the commissioner's home.

A judge has started the process to revoke Price's six-month probation on a misdemeanor criminal mischief charge for whitewashing tobacco and alcohol billboards in minority neighborhoods last summer.

Price is free on $200 bond. Bernal has been assigned to a desk job and ordered to undergo a psychological analysis while internal affairs investigators review the Nov. 5 incident.

The grand jury will begin hearing testimony on the aggravated assault case Wednesday.

Price has been at odds with the police department before.

In September, he said a violent street war would erupt if the city replaced fired police chief Mack Vines with a "good old boy" insensitive to minority concerns.

Price said he and other would shoot at police and "take this whole city."

Vines was fired Sept. 12 hours after he was indicted on a misdemeanor perjury charge of lying to a panel investigating his firing of a police officer.

Vines, who is white, won praise from Price and other minority leaders for an aggressive affirmative action policy and sensitivity to minorities, but rankled some members of his department.

People on both sides of the issue blasted Price's call to arms, and he backed off somewhat. "I probably shouldn't have said it," he said later.

Many demonstrators outside city hall Wednesday called for Bernal's firing.

Governor denies reprieve for woman dying of cancer

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements denied a request to allow a terminally ill woman out of prison to spend her last days with her 7-year-old daughter. The woman set a fire in 1985 that killed her husband, two of her children, and a friend.

Peggy Marie Taylor, 37, had been turned down twice for an emergency medical reprieve, but the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles reversed an earlier decision and recommended Monday that she be allowed to leave prison.

But Wednesday, Clements denied the request. "She was responsible for the deaths of four people, and this was a particularly brutal, heinous offense," said Knox Fitzpatrick, associate director of the criminal justice division of the governor's office.

"She showed callous disrespect for human lives."

By Wednesday morning, he said, the governor's office had received 35 phone calls and a petition with 63 signatures opposing Mrs. Taylor's release.

On Tuesday, sitting in a wheelchair at the Gatesville unit of the Texas Department of Corrections, she talked about her hopes of hugging her 81-year-old father and reading to her young daughter, Elisa.

"It's been real hard to have a terminal illness and be away from your family," she told a Dallas Morning News reporter. "The people here have been very good to me. But being away from my daughter has really hurt."

Agents from the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms arrested Mrs. Taylor and charged her with arson on Sept. 5, 1985 — about six months after a fire raced through the family's one-story frame house in Rowlett, a suburb on the northeast edge of Dallas.

Her husband, Eddie Taylor, 37, and an employee of his heating and air-conditioning repair business, Earl Schultz, 51, were found dead in the dining room.

Two of Mrs. Taylor's daughters also died in the blaze. Angela, who celebrated her 11th birthday the day of the fire, was found in her bedroom. Tonya, 9, was found in the bathroom.

Mrs. Taylor and daughter Elisa, who was 16 months old at the time, escaped the fire. The girl now lives with Mrs. Taylor's brother in Wichita Falls.

Larry Johnson, a cousin of Mrs. Taylor's late husband, was among those who opposed her release from prison.

"She is a conniving con artist," said Johnson, who lives in Rowlett. "There have been numerous times in the past where I've had Peggy crying in my living room all day because she is dying of cancer and she has recovered."

"We've seen the act before."

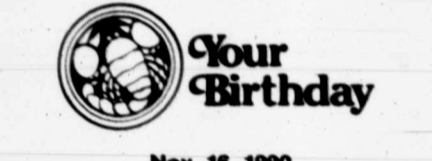

But Myra Crouch, the mother of Mrs. Taylor's first husband, Wayne, and grandmother of the two girls who died in the fire, called Clements' refusal "a crying shame."

"We're all real upset over it," she said. "But Peggy's not going to quit until she takes her last breath."

Prosecutors Mark Hasse and Marcus Busch told the jury that Mrs. Taylor killed her husband because she feared he would discover she had stolen several thousand dollars from his business.

They theorized that she arranged to get Taylor drunk to the point that he fell unconscious on the floor. Then, the prosecutors said, she poured gasoline on him and set him afire.

Thatcher at bay: down slippery slope from Rome to crisis

LONDON (AP) — When Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher set off to a European summit in Rome last month, it looked like business as usual: another spat with the continentals, more "Maggie Isolated" headlines, and home.

But the Oct. 27 meeting of the European Community leaders was for Mrs. Thatcher the crest of a slippery slope, and provoked the most serious challenge to her leadership through 11 years in power.

Now Mrs. Thatcher is fighting for her political survival.

Former Defense Secretary Michael Heseltine announced Wednesday that he will challenge her on Tuesday for the leadership of the Conservative Party and the prime ministership.

Things of course had not gone that wrong that quickly for the Iron Lady.

The crisis is a culmination of economic troubles at home and a questioning of what was once a major Thatcher asset — the gritty nationalism she calls "batting for Britain."

An AP analysis

Mrs. Thatcher returned from Rome in a feisty mood, saying the 11 other leaders were living in "cloud cuckoo land" for agreeing to set up a single currency, perhaps by the year 2000.

It is a move she rejects as undermining national sovereignty and leading to a federal United States of Europe.

"No, no, no!" she shouted Oct. 30 in the House of Commons about proposals for greater political union of the 12-nation community.

Two days later, her deputy prime minister Sir Geoffrey Howe, veteran of more than 30 summit meetings by her side, resigned.

He said he could take it no longer.

As Thatcher loyalists waited with trepidation for Howe to elaborate, the Tories were driven into a humiliating third place in a special parliamentary election in the northern city of Bradford.

Bradford, which the Tories had held since 1983, was the latest in a string of electoral drubbings. It came just weeks after the Conservatives lost a previously safe south England district, Eastbourne.

Then on Tuesday, Howe unleashed one of the most scathing attacks ever delivered on a British prime minister by a senior colleague.

Fraternity presidents are subpoenaed

AUSTIN (AP) — The presidents of the 29 fraternities at the University of Texas have been subpoenaed to appear before a Travis County grand jury that is investigating allegations of hazing.

County Attorney Ken Oden and the grand jury issued the subpoenas Wednesday, saying there is "rampant disregard of the hazing statutes" among some fraternities.

The subpoenas were delivered the day after a University of Texas fraternity was suspended by university officials amidst allegations of hazing by Sigma Nu members.

The subpoenas demand the names, addresses and phone numbers of all members and pledges and recent photographs of any who are not pictured in the university yearbook. The subpoenas also call for any records of internal investigations by the fraternities of allegations of misconduct since January 1988.

Oden began investigating the hazing allegations more than two months ago.

"We have had an incredible number of criminal allegations made against UT fraternities in a very short period of time," he said. "There is significant evidence that a number of organizations at the University of Texas at Austin are out of control."

The subpoenas order the fraternity leaders to report to the grand jury on Nov. 20, but several attorneys representing fraternities said Wednesday they might challenge the legality of the subpoenas.

Stormie's family will share final services

WHITE SETTLEMENT, Texas (AP) — The stepfather of heart-liver transplant patient Stormie Jones said the family can cope with her death by knowing that her pain is over and her brief life may help extend life for others.

Alan Purcell said the 13-year-old "served her purpose" by helping medical science learn more about treating others similarly afflicted.

"The way that we have coped with it is: the pain's over with. The pain that she went through, she knew she had to go through, but she didn't want to. Nobody wants to go through pain," he told a news conference Wednesday during which funeral arrangements were announced.

He said Stormie "served her purpose, if that's the way you want to put it" by being a "guinea pig" on three or four experimental drugs. Some of those drugs now help others in Purcell's family who have cholesterol problems, he said.

"They know that the liver has a big portion to do with cholesterol," said Purcell, a General Dynamics worker.

"They also know that cholesterol has a big impact on the quality of life and the length of life," Purcell said Stormie knew that death was near.

"She had a lot of illness, a lot of time in the hospital. She's missed going to school," he said. "She really wanted to go to school."

He said Stormie "went out fighting" and remained brave during her final two years, which were especially difficult.

"As far as the hurt and the pain that she felt internally whenever her liver would not function, most of that she learned to live with and really didn't tell anybody, wouldn't show the pain," said Purcell, 29.

Stormie had been hospitalized at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh with a sore throat and high fever Saturday night. Doctors suspect a viral infection in her transplanted heart caused her death Sunday.

Many doctors and staff members from Children's were expected to attend services at 2 p.m. CST Saturday in White Settlement, a suburb on Fort Worth's west side, Purcell said.

Stormie's family has opened her funeral to the public.

A private graveside service at Laurel Land Memorial Park in Fort Worth is for family members and invited guests only, Purcell said.

"The hospital and all the staff who work with Stormie took it hard, very hard," Purcell said, "because this did come as a shock to everybody."

The family has received cards, letters and gifts from around the world, said Purcell, adding he knows many well-wishers will want to attend the open services Saturday at West Freeway Church of Christ.

The city of White Settlement plans to build a permanent memorial to Stormie, said Mayor James Herring, who will give the eulogy at Stormie's service.

James Conley, benevolent minister at West Freeway Church, said his church has established a fund through an area bank for memorials.

"I'd like to thank everybody in the world for all their support, all their prayers," Purcell said.

Dear Abby

Man Who Loves to Dance Moves Only to His Beat

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am an older gentleman who loves to dance. When I go to dances, I am constantly pestered by older women who want to dance with me. I turn them down, politely, of course — because most of them are terrible dancers!

I go to public dance halls to show off my dance skills. When I dance with a woman, I make her look like a professional dancer, so women half my age are willing to date me. Therefore, I don't waste my time with older women.

Last year I took a job teaching ballroom dancing at $25 an hour. I made excellent money — but I was dancing with older women and fat young women, which I hated. I quit because it was punishment to dance with poor dancers.

There are some older women who dance well, and I get plenty of requests to escort them to fancy functions. Some of these women are widows with fortunes and big homes. I would marry one of these older women on the condition that the house would have to require two maids, and I would be in charge of hiring and firing those maids.

Meanwhile, I am living comfortably and am faring well dating younger women. What more does a man need in life?

THE BIG DIPPER
IN LAS VEGAS

DEAR B.D. IN L.V.: How about a little compassion and humility?

DEAR ABBY: For the third or fourth time this year, I have received a chain letter. I throw them in the trash basket, but I have known several people who get terribly upset about not answering them. Some of them have been people who could not really afford the stamps to do so but were afraid of the threats of terrible things that would happen to them.

I am tired of being told I will die immediately or lose my job if I don't send this on, none of which has happened because I believe only the Lord knows when my time is up. But other people go to pieces over this. I would turn them in to the post office if there was an address, but there isn't. What can we do about this stuff? I won't sign my name because I'd be sure to get a dozen more.

END OF THE CHAIN

DEAR END: Please do not discard a threatening chain letter. Chain letters are clearly in violation of the law. Send them to your postmaster with the envelope in which they were mailed. The postmark may provide a clue in locating the sender.

DEAR ABBY: Why do some people of the Jewish faith write "G-d" instead of "God"?

Have you ever seen or heard of it? Please educate me. I would feel foolish asking anyone else.

PUZZLED IN CANADA

DEAR PUZZLED: Orthodox Jews consider it disrespectful or sacrilegious to trash anything with the word "God" written on it. Therefore, instead of writing "God," they write "G-d" so the recipient need not worry about disposing of it. (Orthodox Jewish tradition holds that anything with "God" written on it must be respectfully buried.)

To get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Over two years ago, my 13-year-old son developed bronchiectasis in his right upper lobe. His doctor prescribed antibiotics for one week every four weeks for the rest of his life. He also uses mechanical percussion on his chest daily. Corrective surgery would mean cutting into the muscles and nerves of his arm, and we want to avoid this if at all possible. Do you have any suggestions?

DEAR READER: Bronchiectasis is a chronic lung infection, marked by extensive inflammation that destroys portions of the bronchial passages. Although related to bronchitis, it is more severe and has a predilection for the lower lungs, where it dilates small bronchial tubes, which fill with pus; adjacent scarring often shrinks the lung tissue and decreases pulmonary volume.

Bronchiectasis can be inherited, but most forms are acquired from repeated attacks of pneumonia, bronchial obstruction (from foreign material or tumors) or inhalation of noxious chemicals, such as hydrocarbons and talc. Children with cystic fibrosis, an inherited disease marked by excess bronchial mucus, may develop bronchiectasis because they are particularly prone to repeated lung infections.

Symptoms include chronic cough (which increases over time and is associated with persisting shadows on the chest X-ray), the presence of blood in the sputum (hemoptysis) and progressive shortness of breath.

The diagnosis is usually confirmed by a bronchogram, a special X-ray that demonstrates bronchial destruction.

Treatment varies, according to the patient's age and the severity of the infection. Broad spectrum antibiotics (which kill a variety of microorganisms) are the preferred choice for mild-to-moderate bronchiectasis. After a course of full-dose antibiotics, patients often require long-term antibiotic therapy, either at a lower dose or with a "pulsed" program of cyclic full-dose antibiotics. This latter treatment is apparently the one your son's doctor has chosen.

Also, because patients with bronchiectasis have increased bronchial secretions and often cannot clear the lungs of this infected mucus, respiratory exercises, such as postural drainage (when a patient coughs in a head-down position) and mechanical percussion (when the chest is forcefully struck to dislodge mucous plugs) may be necessary.

Finally, surgery to excise the affected portion of lung is reserved for cases that are advanced, do not respond to medical therapy or in which life-threatening hemoptysis occurs. In general, surgery is considered in middle-aged patients because in the young, antibiotics are usually effective, and, in the elderly, the risks of surgery increase.

From the information you provided, I believe your son is receiving appropriate treatment. I agree with your plan to avoid surgery unless absolutely necessary.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Living With Chronic Lung Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.
