'Happening' has art exhibit, music, readings and displays

Students and faculty members in the Western Texas College Fire Arts Division will combine their talents for holiday enjoyment as part of the 12th annual Christmas Happening Sunday on the college campus.

The Fine Arts Building will open at 1 p.m. as the faculty art show gets underway. A Christmas concert is scheduled for 2 p.m. in the theatre and will be followed at 3 p.m. by a Christmas Reading presented by speech students of Jan McCathern. Refreshments will be served until the building closes about 4 p.m. Other Christmas Happening activities and displays will be in the county museum on campus.

Included in this year's faculty art show will be ceramics by Ty Brunson, oil and acrylic paintings by John Gibson, acrylic paintings by Mike Thornton, oil paintings and drawings by Carol Bullard and acrylic paintings by Jack Price. Brunson and Gibson are full-time instructors on the WTC faculty and Mrs. Bullard is a part-time instructor.

Thornton, now Dean of Adult Education/Extension Services, is a former member of the art faculty. Price is management instructor. Most of the work displayed will be for sale.

The Collegiate Singers will open the Christmas concert with "Carol of the Bells." Other selections in their portion of the program will be "Christmas With You," "Jazz Gloria," "Throw the Yule Log On, Uncle John," and "Sleigh Ride." They will be followed by the choir singing "Caroling, Caroling," "Christmas Day," "Carol of the Bells," "God Res Ye, Merry Gentlemen," and "Ding, Dong, Merrily on High."

Instrumentalists assisting with the program will be a handbell quartet, Marshall Billingsley of Roby on string bass, Frank Romeo of Roby on the cabasa, Blaine Irons on the whip, Stacey Hardegree on the sleigh bells, Davis Stewart on the conga drum and Amy Jamison on the lagerphone. A women's group will also join the performers.

The Collegiate Singers and Choir will be under the direction of Meredith Hudson. Jane

Quadriga to play at college

Quadriga, a chamber music quartet from Texas Tech University, will perform at 8 p.m. today in the Fine Arts Theatre on the campus of Western Texas College.

Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

Quadriga specializes in chamber music, or music performed by a small group. Steven Glaser, who has been featured as a soloist worldwide, is a member of the group.

The other three members of Quadriga, also faculty members in the Texas Tech School of Music, are recognized soloists. Accompanying Glaser, are James Barber on violin, Susan Schoenfeld on viola and Arthur Follows on violoncello. The four musicians combine their talents to perform works often composed by Americans.

Tigers are bracing for Yellow Jacket air force Saturday

Snyder's "miracle" football season continues this Saturday as the Tigers take on the high-flying Stephenville Yellow Jackets in a Class 4A Regional semi-final game scheduled for 1

Snyder coach David Baugh in an interview following last week's win over Sweetwater.

"They'll be tough to stop."

The Yellow Jackets also boast what Baugh calls "a major-college prospect" at noseguard.

Senior 255-pound Mike Frazier anchors the Stephenville defense in the middle.

Stephenville defeated Wichita Falls Hirschi two games ago in bi-district action, 49-40, and slipped past Ft. Worth Brewer in the area round of the playoffs, 28-21, last week.

Snyder defeated Pampa 28-14 in the first week of post-season play, then dropped archrival Sweetwater 17-3 last week to set up Saturday's contest.

Interest in the Tigers' grid season has caused the captain of the 1967 Snyder team, Jerry Rains, to call and wish Snyder continued success.

"I just want these young men to know now that once you're a Tiger, you're always a Tiger," said Rains, who is now a resident of Thorndale, about 60 miles northeast of Austin.

"Even when you've been away from the game as long as I have, the spirit just keeps on going. The fans are as much a part of the team as the players," Rains said. "It takes a lot of support and Snyder turned around a 2-8 season last year to win the District 2-4A title and take a 9-2-1 mark into Saturday's contest. Defense has been the key for the Tigers, and it will take more of the same for the squad to continue in the playoffs.

Stephenville, 11-1 on the season, brings one of the top passing offenses in Texas into the game. It features senior quarterback Cody Ledbetter, who has thrown for almost 2,500 yards and 26 touchdowns this season, and senior split end Jason Poston, who has caught 54 balls for over 1,200 yards and 15 TDs.

"The fans at the game will get to see some real talented football players in those two," said

In Brief

Leaders resign

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — The main opposition leader is hailing "the true end to Communism in Bulgaria," after Premier Andrei Lukanov and his government of former Communists resigned in the face of massive strikes and street protests.

Lukanov, who helped engineer the ouster of Communist leader Todor Zhivkov a year ago, stepped down Thursday and said his successor will come from outside his Socialist Party that includes former Communists.

More waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housing Secretary Jack Kemp has his agency on a reform track, but millions of dollars still are wasted because of management problems, the agency's inspector general says.

In a report Thursday to Congress, Inspector General Paul A. Adams gave Kemp high marks for his efforts to clean up the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The agency was the subject of a congressional investigation last year following an Adams report revealing fraud and influence-peddling in a major rehabilitation program.

Peace effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush today said that he is dispatching Secretary of State James Baker III to Baghdad to discuss an ending to the Gulf crisis.

Bush's talk blended words of warning to Saddam with his surprise diplomatic overtures.

He cautioned Iraq not to misread his motives.

If hostilities break out, he said, "I promise you there will not be any murky ending. I will never agree to a halfway effort."

Applications available for TDCJ officer class

Western Texas College will begin accepting applications for a new daytime correctional officer training class on Monday. The class is to begin Feb. 11 and end March 1. Students will attend classes from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. five days per week. Fees for the 120-hour course are $225.

Application forms may be obtained in the Continuing Education office in the WTC Administration Building. Forms must be completed and returned by Jan. 11. Anyone planning to apply is reminded that the office will be closed from Dec. 17 through Jan. 2 for the Christmas-New Year Holiday.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Swat the Yellow Jackets!"

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

We were in Odessa Wednesday visiting with the publisher of the Odessa American. For the first time in recent memory, the Permian Panthers are not in the state playoffs.

Dave Lyons, who retires next month from his post with the Odessa newspaper, says folks in that football-proud town were disappointed when the Panthers were not able to defend their title.

However, Odessa merchants experienced their best sales day last Saturday since fans were in town instead of following their team.

For the first time in many years, Snyder fans are getting to enjoy the success of the Tigers in the playoffs. Snyder merchants are among their proudest supporters, both in good and not-so-good years.

Because of this long-time support, we suggest local fans be conscious of saving their Christmas shopping for during the week. In fact many Snyder merchants will be open Sunday afternoon to accommodate loyal Tiger fans.

A winning season is good for both school and community attitudes. We've not seen this much community unity since Snyder went to Austin to secure the state prison.

Nobody knows better than the University of Arkansas that sports is a game of highs and lows. The defending Southwest Conference champion made the decision to leave the SWC for the more prestigious SEC.

There was poetic justice this season. Walter Buckel, in the Lamesa Press-Reporter, told about a Hog fan who was lamenting about the dismal season.

"I had two Arkansas game tickets laying on the dashboard of my car. I parked briefly, ran into the grocery store and came out to find my windshield smashed in — and four tickets laying on the dash."

Welfare rolls rise in all but one state

By The Associated Press
In another sign of a weakening economy, the number of people on welfare rose in all but one state in the past year.

An Associated Press survey of welfare rolls in all 50 states found that only Wisconsin had bucked the trend, partly because it enacted pioneering programs to get people off welfare.

Although a troubled economy was the villain in many states, it was not the sole reason — or even the most important one — in others.

Officials in some states attributed the increase to changes in immigration law or to programs that help poor people apply for welfare. Some mentioned changes in federal Medicaid requirements that have brought more people into the welfare system.

And some were simply stumped by the upsurge.

"Our economy is good, so the employment picture is good, so we're not sure what factors are responsible," said Alfred K. Suga, deputy director of Hawaii's Department of Human Services.

Hawaii had one of the smallest increases — 1.1 percent — in the number of households receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children, the benchmark welfare program. New Hampshire had the largest — 46 percent.

"Those numbers are startling," said Tom Pryor, an administrator in New Hampshire's Office of Economic Services. "The primary reason that we see for that increase has been the decline in the New England economy."

Elsewhere in New England, AFDC caseloads went up 25 percent in Vermont, 19 percent in Connecticut, 14 percent in Maine and Rhode Island and 10 percent in Massachusetts.

The Southwest also was hard hit by welfare increases, partly because new immigration rules allowed more non-citizens to qualify for welfare.

The AFDC caseload was up 9 percent in California, where nearly 2 million people were receiving benefits in September. It rose 23 percent in Arizona, 17 percent in Texas and 14 percent in New Mexico.

Many states attributed the increase to their own efforts to reach out to poor people and enroll them in welfare programs. Some have adopted a "one-stop shopping" concept for social services, so that poor people seeking one form of public assistance are given access to others.

Another factor has been a federal mandate that makes Medicaid available to more pregnant women and infants. This has caused huge jumps in Medicaid caseloads — they are up 46 percent in Indiana, for instance — and has also caused a spillover into other programs, such as AFDC and food stamps.

"When someone comes in and asks for Medicaid, we don't just check to see if they are eligible for Medicaid, we check to see if they are eligible for more services," said Sherron Heinemann, spokeswoman for the Texas Department of Human Services.

The government has no current figures for AFDC caseloads nationwide. The average monthly caseload for 1989, the most recent year for which figures were available, was 3.79 million households.

There are more recent figures for food stamps — the Agriculture Department says there were 20.2 million people receiving food stamps in September, up 7 percent from the year before.

Elderly woman wanted on forgery charges in 5 states

AUSTIN (AP) — An 89-year-old woman arrested after trying to pass a phony check at a supermarket is wanted on forgery charges in five states in connection with a check counterfeiting scam, police say.

Sgt. David Maddox of the Austin Police Department said Thursday that Maurine Honeyman of Pueblo, Colo., has been forging checks from charitable organizations and passing them off to merchants who were fooled into accepting them.

"She knew what she was doing. She impressed me," Maddox said. "You would cash a check for this lady."

He said Ms. Honeyman has been operating in Austin and San Marcos for about a month, but has warrants outstanding from Midland County, Missouri, Colorado, Kansas and Arkansas.

The FBI had also issued a federal warrant for forgery, Maddox said.

Police do not know how many Austin or San Marcos businesses accepted the woman's checks, or how much money she might have gotten away with, Maddox said.

"We know it's going to be several thousand dollars" in the Austin area alone, Maddox said. "All told, it's going to be tens of thousands of dollars," for the forgeries in all five states.

Officers arrested the woman Wednesday night at an H.E.B. supermarket while she was trying to pass a check, Maddox said.

Police were searching Thursday for her grandson, known as Paul Borrison or Paul Honeyman, who allegedly helped Ms. Honeyman pass checks.

"She would approach a church or an agency such as the Salvation Army and request assistance," Maddox said. "She would ask that a check be issued for food or clothing or shelter."

"Then they would take the check and counterfeit it," Maddox said. "They would make a copy of it on colored paper — of course, the payee and dollar amount would be altered," Maddox said.

Ms. Honeyman's grandson would then call up a business and convince its manager to accept the check, Maddox said.

"Paul would claim to be from the Salvation Army or church," Maddox said. "He would say, 'We've got this old woman from out of state, she has no place to stay, no bank account.'"

"We've issued a check, we'd like to know if you would help out," Maddox said.

Ms. Honeyman's grandson, 33, is wanted on a federal warrant for interstate flight and a forgery charge from Colorado, Maddox said.

Appeals court grants stay for alleged serial killer

AUSTIN (AP) — Alleged serial killer Henry Lee Lucas, scheduled to die Monday for a 1979 slaying, won a stay from the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Lucas was granted a reprieve Thursday, a day after the same court rejected a stay for the one-eyed drifter on other grounds.

The court did not have the authority to set Lucas' execution date.

Lucas, 54, had once claimed to have killed nearly 600 people in 26 states but he later recanted his confessions to all the slayings except one — that of his mother.

He said Wednesday he might have confessed to as many as 4,000 crimes because of threats against him or promises made to him.

Lucas was scheduled to die before dawn Monday for the slaying of a woman known only as "Orange Socks," which is all she was wearing when her body was found Oct. 31, 1979, next to a culvert near Interstate 35 north of Georgetown.

But Lucas contends he was in Florida at the time of the Orange Socks slaying and was forced by police to confess.

"I tried to explain," he said of his confessions to police. "The more I tried, the more it became impossible to do. I know what they told me. I only repeated it back to them."

The Orange Socks conviction is Lucas' only death sentence although he has at least six other life terms, two 75-year sentences and a 60-year term for other Texas convictions. He also is wanted in Florida on three first-degree murder charges for slayings in 1980 and 1981.

The appeals court said Thursday it would consider a claim by Lucas' attorneys that the trial jury should have been able to consider mitigating circumstances before sentencing him to death, said assistant Texas Attorney General Bob Walt.

On Wednesday, the court had rejected a claim that the trial

Maddox said he knows of only two organizations in Central Texas that issued checks to Ms. Honeyman: the Salvation Army in San Marcos and the First Baptist Church of San Marcos.

"The charities are not really the victims," Maddox said. "Whoever cashes the stolen, forged or counterfeit checks, they are really the victims."

Your Birthday

Dec. 1, 1990

It is important for you in the year ahead to constantly improve upon your managerial and organizational skills. Something exciting could be brewing where these attributes can be profitably expressed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) One-to-one relationships might require all the diplomacy you have at your disposal today. Excuse and tolerate in others that which you want excused and tolerated in you. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Assignments that are difficult to begin with could be made even more intolerable today if you resent having to do them. On the other hand, a good attitude will lighten your load considerably.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Social games or sports that have elements of chance should prove to be rather enjoyable for you today, primarily because you might be a tad luckier than your competition.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's important you find constructive outlets for your nervous energies today. If you keep your restlessness bottled up, it could put you in an irritable mood.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your imagination is easily stimulated today, especially if you talk to people who ask you to improve upon their concepts or ideas. They'll marvel at the multiple suggestions you'll offer.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your sales resistance is rather low today. It might prove unwise to wander through expensive shops that carry merchandise you neither need nor can afford.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your excellent leadership qualities might not be expressed today unless you're faced with challenging developments others can't resolve. When you do take charge, you'll do so effectively.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If there is something disturbing you, it's best to bring it out into the open instead of keeping it pent up and brooding over it all day. Silence could be self-defeating.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There are indications that something beneficial might develop for you today that will give rise to your hopes and expectations. It could also involve a male friend of yours.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Ambition is an admirable virtue, provided you do not take advantage of others in order to achieve your purposes. Be careful today that your actions aren't inclined in this direction.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even though your views contain elements of wisdom your contemporaries lack, proper presentation is essential. Express yourself logically, not emotionally.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Adjusting to developments is much better than letting your frustrations wipe out your momentum. Don't dwell on conditions over which you have no control.

Police: DNA test findings inconclusive

DALLAS (AP) — Investigators say that analysis of blood and saliva samples from former Dallas minister Walker Railey fails to link him to his wife's 1987 attack, nor does it clear him of involvement.

Railey's attorney said he's not surprised at the inconclusive results.

"We believe the attempt to conduct DNA testing on Dr. Railey is nothing more than ongoing harassment," Michael Pezzulli, who has represented Railey in some matters, told The Dallas Morning News. He added the government doesn't have a case against his client.

Dallas Deputy Police Chief Ray Hawkins said Thursday he was undaunted by the results and recently sent another sample of evidence — which he would not identify — to the FBI for testing. Authorities had hoped to compare Railey's body fluids with evidence — possibly saliva from envelopes containing threatening letters sent to the family. In essence, they are trying to re-examine old evidence in the case with newly developed DNA techniques.

DNA, or deoxyribonucleic acid, is found in body cells and contains an individual's genetic blueprint. In recent years, law officers have been employing DNA analyses, long used in medical research, in criminal investigations to determine whether blood, semen, saliva or other biological evidence implicates or eliminates particular suspects.

"Basically, the FBI laboratory attempted to do a DNA test against a sample that we had," Hawkins said. "Unfortunately, there was an insufficiency of a comparative sample for a real finite conclusion to be drawn. "What that means is that these tests were designed to either point to a suspect or eliminate a suspect," he said. "They didn't eliminate anyone we consider a suspect, but they weren't finite enough for us to point the finger and get an arrest warrant."

Margaret "Peggy" Railey's attorney, Bill Arnold, has speculated that the evidence is saliva on envelopes containing threatening letters sent to the Railey family before the attack. Hawkins refused to specify what they used for evidence.

The police sample was compared to blood and saliva samples Railey gave federal authorities on Sept. 14, after the FBI convinced a Los Angeles federal judge that tests were needed in connection with the unsolved attack on Mrs. Railey.

Hawkins, who supervises the division that is investigating the April 21, 1987, attack on Mrs.

Railey, said detectives will continue using DNA analyses.

"We have one more sample that came from a couple of different sources" that recently was sent to the FBI lab, Hawkins said. He refused, however, to identify it.

"We still think the potential for solving this case exists," Hawkins said. "If we didn't, we'd lay all the cards on the table and see if someone else could solve it for us. But we're not at that point today."

Mrs. Railey, 41, remains in a Tyler nursing home in a vegetative state as a result of being choked nearly to death.

No one has been charged in the attack, but authorities long have considered Railey their key suspect.

Railey, a former Methodist minister in Dallas, is now employed as a real estate escrow agent in the Los Angeles area.

Rare Gershwin, Berlin tunes found in sheet music stack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Smithsonian Institution curators are busy cataloguing a monumental new collection of nearly 200 years of popular American sheet music, including stacks of rare, long-forgotten Broadway melodies by George Gershwin and Irving Berlin.

This bonanza from the nation's musical past, a gift from Fort Wayne, Ind., broadcaster Sam deVincent, consists of 130,000 original editions of illustrated sheet music, nearly 20,000 recordings and boxes of posters, concert programs, newspaper clippings and other memorabilia.

"This is one of the great, legendary collections of sheet music in the world," said John Edward Hasse, curator of American music at the Smithsonian's National Museum of American History. "It contains some of the rarest of the rare."

The scope of the deVincent collection is staggering. It ranges from yellowing reprints of parlor piano pieces of the 1790s to mournful Civil War ballads, the shameless bigotry of minstrel show music, railroad songs and ragtime, military marches, antiwar protest songs, Beatles favorites and political campaign choruses.

The bulk of the collection focuses on the golden era of Tin Pan Alley, from the 1890s to the 1940s, when Gershwin, Berlin, Cole Porter and other great songwriters were churning out Broadway show tunes.

Scores of large cartons in the museum's archives are stuffed with their most memorable hits and some of their most forgettable words and lyrics.

Among the latter is a 1919 Gershwin song titled "Tee-Oodle-Um-Bum-Bo" and a few of Hoagy Carmichael's obscure World War II morale boosters, including "I'm a Cranky Old Yank in a Cranky Old Tank."

Berlin wrote "I'm the Guy Who Guards the Harem (And My Heart's in My Work)" for the Ziegfeld Follies of 1919. And little remembered from his 1933 hit musical, "Easter Parade," is a song titled "I Say It's Spinach."

As America sang deeper into the Depression, Berlin wrote:

"Things don't come on a silver platter."
"What does it matter,

"Long as there's you, long as there's me."
"Long as the best things in life are free,

"I say it's spinach,
"The hell with it, the hell with it, that's all!"

The collection represents a 60-year labor of love by deVincent, retired music director of Fort Wayne radio station WOWO, who began hoarding sheet music as a 12-year-old in Chicago.

By 1978, while Hasse was writing a doctoral dissertation on ragtime music at Indiana University, deVincent's collection had filled his two-car garage and spilled into nearly every room of his home.

"When I saw his ragtime holdings, I was flabbergasted, I was speechless," Hasse said. "I quickly realized the tremendous value of his collection, and made a vow to myself that I would try to help it find a good home someday."

Hasse, who joined the Smithsonian in 1984, played a leading role in negotiating the museum's acquisition of the deVincent collection, which was shipped to Washington in the spring of 1988 in five truckloads.

Man arrested 35 times for DWI

PLAINVIEW, Texas (AP) — Swisher County Sheriff Paul Scarborough is tired of seeing Billy Ray Holley in his jail.

Holley has been arrested on 35 occasions for driving while intoxicated and Scarborough has housed the 47-year-old grade-school dropout three of those times.

"This is getting old," Scarborough said. "This guy has had plenty of opportunities to go into rehab and he has just ignored the chance."

In addition to 35 DWI charges, Holley, a resident of Plainview, has been arrested for theft, assault, fraud, escape and numerous traffic violations.

According to Department of Public Safety records, Holley was pulled over on Nov. 5 for driving erratically and then charged with DWI. He has been held in the Swisher County jail in lieu of bond since that time.

Holley's court-appointed attorney, J. Pink Dickens successfully reduced Holley's bail for the Nov. 5 arrest from $25,000 to $20,000 on Wednesday. But Holley remained in the Swisher County jail Thursday.

"He's done time in jail," said Scarborough. "There is just a limit to how much punishment you can assess."

"Five years is the maximum right now for DWI. But the (Texas Department of Corrections) is only averaging 28 days in jail per year sentenced, so his punishment is about five months. Then he is eligible to parole out."

Scarborough said legislators have tried to make DWI part of the Habitual Criminals Act, which affords life sentences for repeat offenders. But attempts have been unsuccessful, he said.

Self-inflicted injury

By James Jacoby

Here we see a normal high-level competitive situation. West was blessed with favorable vulnerability, so it was natural for him to jump right to four spades after his partner's overcall. He didn't expect his partner to make it, but he hoped that the opponents would make the wrong decision with their own cards. North passed over four spades, and then, when his partner doubled, bid five hearts. There was even an explanation at the table by South that North was showing a better hand for hearts by bidding in this fashion.

This turned out to be a good-news/bad-news type of deal. The good news was that North-South had made a mistake in bidding five hearts, since if they were left to their own devices, the contract would very likely fail. But now the bad news — East, mesmerized by his Q-10-2 of hearts, decided to double.

West got off to the best defense by leading the king of spades. By holding the lead at trick one, he was able to switch to the jack of diamonds. But declarer went up with dummy's ace and played dummy's jack of hearts. East covered and declarer won the ace. He led to dummy's ace of clubs and played a low heart from dummy. East played the two and South put in the seven-spot. That was 11 tricks for plus 850.

Without the double, declarer might still have made the winning play, but it would have been very much against percentages. My sympathy goes to hapless West, who received cruel and unusual punishment when East foolishly doubled.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books. © 1990, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I recently underwent hysterectomy and suffered nerve damage to the nerve that controls the muscles of my leg and foot. I began in a wheelchair and underwent physical therapy. Please provide information on nerve damage.

DEAR READER: Nerve damage is an uncommon complication of any surgery, but it can occur. During your hysterectomy, several of the nerves to your legs were injured because they lay close to the operating field and may have been pinched or inadvertently cut during the procedure.

In my opinion, you should have received a detailed explanation of the event from your surgeon. You should have been told if the nerve damage was temporary or permanent, and you certainly should have been referred to a neurologist or a neurosurgeon for advice.

If you are still suffering a handicap, I suggest you return to the surgeon and demand to be seen by the best specialists available. Although this surgical complication may have been unavoidable, to relegate you to physical therapy without proper explanation is unconscionable.

DEAR DR. GOTT: After many years of suffering and treatment by very competent urologists, I was told I have chronic viral prostatitis and that nothing can be done for it. Do you have any thoughts on the subject?

DEAR READER: Infection of the prostate gland (prostatitis) can be difficult to treat because it tends to recur, and antibiotics do not readily penetrate to the interior of this spongy gland. In your case, you are at a particular disadvantage because of a chronic viral infection against which antibiotics are useless. Thus, you are subject to recurring symptoms of uncomfortable urination, discharge, pelvic pain and fever.

Unfortunately, I have nothing to add to your specialists' rather grim prognosis, except to say that a high fluid intake and periodic prostatic massage (performed by a urologist in the office) may help reduce the frequency and severity of your attacks. Ask your doctor about this.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "The Prostate Gland." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Don't blame Saddam for the next increase in gas prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drivers will pay as much as 5.1 cents a gallon more for gasoline starting Saturday, and they won't be able to blame Saddam Hussein.

A federal tax increase is taking effect, and half of the $25 billion it produces over the next five years will go for deficit reduction. Most of the rest will pay for highway and mass transit improvements.

A family that drives 12,000 miles in a car that averages 22 miles per gallon will pay about $28 more a year.

Flying and shipping by air also will cost more beginning Saturday. The 8 percent federal tax on airline tickets will rise to 10 percent and the 5 percent levy on air freight will go up to 6.25 percent. Those increases, when combined with higher taxes on noncommercial aviation fuel, will bring in almost $12 billion over five years.

Nothing in the law says service station owners must pass along the higher gasoline and diesel tax to consumers — but economics indicates they will.

"Prices will go up at 12:01 a.m.," predicted Dave Haddad Sr. of Pittsburgh, president of the Service Station Dealers of America.

"Half the retailers are making one, two or three cents profit on a gallon," he said. "How can they eat a nickel a gallon? Retailers have no alternative but to increase the price by five cents a gallon."

The new federal tax on gasoline used on highways or in motorboats will be 14.1 cents a gallon; the tax on diesel for highway use, 20.1 cents. Diesel used by trains will face a new 2.5 cent tax. The tax on noncommercial aviation gasoline will rise to 15.1 cents and the levy on noncommercial jet fuel goes to 17.6 cents a gallon.

Some 5,000 elected officials to attend next NLC meeting

HOUSTON (AP) — The National League of Cities meets this weekend to discuss problems facing urban areas, but its board also will be talking about the controversial location of next year's conference.

Although the league had planned to meet next December in Phoenix, the board may decide to pick another site because of a recent decision by Arizona voters to reject a paid state holiday honoring Martin Luther King Jr.

"They will discuss the issue," conference director Diane Ferring said Thursday. "They will make a decision one way or the other."

The issue will be discussed by the board Saturday, the opening day of the meeting.

About 5,500 elected officials from around the country, including some 1,800 mayors, are expected to attend the five-day conference to discuss problems facing both large and small cities.

Ms. Ferring said some of the topics include child care, the environment, airport noise, transportation and federal anti-drug funding.

"We did not specify a theme this year," she said. "But the underlying issue is the changing demographics and their impact (on cities) during the next 10 years."

The conference, which ends Wednesday, will consist of workshops, panel discussions and general meetings. The league is a general interest group representing local governments, Ms. Ferring said.

"This is really our training and education meeting," she said.

Speakers will include New York Mayor David Dinkins, former San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros, Dallas businessman H. Ross Perot and Fort Worth Mayor Bob Bolen, current league president.

On Monday, Dinkins will present a plan to gain national attention for urban problems.

Ex-soldier charged with plotting to kill Bush

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A former U.S. soldier with relatives in Kuwait and Iraq is being held without bail on charges he plotted to kill President Bush and other government officials, and attack military installations.

Jamal Mohamed Warrayat, 32, allegedly discussed a plan to kill Bush, Secretary of State James Baker and members of Congress with an undercover FBI agent.

Court papers also said he conspired, as the leader of a group of seven people, to attack unspecified military installations in North Carolina and Texas.

"At this point in time there is no evidence to show that any foreign government promoted or assisted in this activity," said U.S. Attorney Michael Chertoff on Thursday. He would not comment further or suggest a possible motive.

Warrayat's attorney, Terence Scott, said his client denies all charges. He said Warrayat was born in Kuwait, came to the United States in the early 1970s and served about four years in the Army until 1979. Scott said his client worked as a taxi driver until recently but was unemployed at the time of his arrest.

Warrayat, of Rutherford, spoke to a special undercover agent of the FBI near the end of August, according to court papers, and allegedly told the agent in Arabic that he and members of his group had weapons and materials to carry out small terrorist operations.

During the conversation, Warrayat said his group was ready to attack the government officials and was looking for help obtaining explosives, money and technical training, according to court papers.

Warrayat said he had drawings and diagrams of the military targets that he made while in the U.S. Army, according to the court papers. He said he had several machine guns but needed more weapons.

During the detention hearing Thursday, Assistant U.S. Attorney Donna Gallucio said Warrayat had parents and other family in Kuwait and Iraq. His wife and two children live with him in Rutherford, Gallucio said.

He was arrested at his home Tuesday and was held in a hospital until Thursday because he said he needed treatment for tuberculosis. Warrayat is now in federal custody.

U.S. Magistrate Donald Haneke set a probable cause hearing for Dec. 7.

Poland's Solidarity labor movement was born Aug. 31, 1980, when Deputy Prime Minister Mieczyslaw Jagielski and labor leader Lech Walesa signed an agreement in Gdansk which ended a 17-day-old strike.

Tigers meet Stephenville in Regional semis

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Snyder's football Tigers have been in what they consider to be a must-win situation for seven straight games following a 10-3 District 2-4A opening loss to Estacado.

Since that time the Tigers have been unstoppable, knocking off four consecutive loop opponents, the Pampa Harvesters in bi-district playoff action and Sweetwater last week in Area competition.

This Saturday the Black and Gold run up against the airborne offense of the Stephenville Yellow Jackets in a regional semi-final tilt.

Stephenville boasts one of the most potent passing attacks in Class 4A football with senior quarterback Cody Ledbetter and split end Jason Poston.

Ledbetter, a converted cornerback, has completed 115 of 221 passes for 2,477 yards and 26 touchdowns in 1990.

He has been intercepted just twice, once against Everman after 140 attempts this season, and once on a "Hail, Mary" toss in the waning seconds of last week's playoff win against Ft. Worth Brewer.

Poston also has some impressive numbers on the season. The 6-3 senior has caught 54 passes for 1,234 yards and 15 TDs.

"We will have to make them earn what they get from us," said Snyder head coach David Baugh. "We can't let them make anything easy. That's a big chore against this offense. They've made big plays on people all year long."

Which defensive back in the Snyder scheme will draw Poston on Saturday?

"No one in particular," said Baugh. "They'll line him up on either side or line him up and then send him in motion. We just have to be aware."

Besides his duties as a wide-out, Poston is the 'Jackets' punter and place-kicker. He is averaging over 37 yards a punt and has converted 9 of 13 field goals in '90, his longest being a 37-yarder.

Other than the obvious standouts on offense, Ledbetter and Poston, Baugh points to tailback David Sparks, fullback Scott Smith and halfback Keith Graham as offensive players to watch.

"They are all good football players. Smith is a good blocker out of the backfield."

The Yellow Jackets will line up in what Baugh calls a Broken Wishbone offense.

"They'll only get in a true Wishbone formation when they are on the goal line," he reported.

Stephenville will come at the Tigers in a 5-2 defensive set according to the SHS coach.

Standouts include Graham at safety and noseguard Mike Frazier, a 255-pound senior.

"He is a major-college prospect," Baugh said.

"He is big and quick. Jeff (Black, Snyder center) will have to have a good day for us."

"There aren't that many real standouts on their defense."

Baugh continued. "Just a lot of good solid players."

"What we have to do to be able to beat them, offensively, is to control the football. We have to be able to throw to control it. By doing that we can keep the ball away from their offense."

Stephenville's defense has not lived up to the offense's notoriety this season giving up over 21 points five times on the campaign including 40 to Wichita Falls Hirschi in Stephenville's 49-40 win in bi-district play.

Snyder's defense, on the other hand, has not allowed more than 18 points in any game this year.

Frenship's high-octane offense was able to eek out 18 in a 35-18 loss to SHS Nov. 2.

The Tigers gave up just 142 total yards to Sweetwater last week and allowed Pampa just 151 yards in Plainview two games ago.

Last week's tackle leader, Terry Snyder, took down nine Mustang ball carriers while linebacker Blair Williams recorded two interceptions and a fumble recovery to keep Sweetwater on its heels.

The Tiger offense was a victim of good defensive play by its opponent last week as Bryan Brunson paced the attack with 45 yards and a touchdown.

Brunson hammered out 100 yards in the SHS 28-14 win over Pampa two weeks ago.

Snyder All-Sports Booster Club members will be decorating cars for the trip to Abilene Free of charge.

The decorations will be put on cars tonight between 8 and 10 o'clock at Tiger Headquarters, Iglehart Insurance in the 37th Street Shopping Center.

Saturday's battle begins at 1 p.m. in Abilene's Shotwell Stadium. The winner of the Snyder-Stephenville clash will face the Big Spring-Burkburnett winner in the regional championship round of the Class 4A playoffs.

Cougars play ASU in Japan

TOKYO (AP) — It's not really a postseason bowl game, but for the Houston Cougars, the Coca-Cola Bowl will be as close as they get.

The Cougars, who are on NCAA-mandated probation and thus banned from postseason play, will close their regular-season schedule against the Arizona State Sun Devils.

No. 11 Houston is 9-1, while the Sun Devils, slowed by the midseason injury of quarterback Paul Justin, have won only four of their 10 games.

The Cougars will also be going into the Coca-Cola Bowl with memories of a very good day.

Houston quarterback David Klingler, a candidate for this year's Heisman Trophy, threw an NCAA record 11 touchdown passes and tied the NCAA record for most TD throws in one season, 47, during the Cougars' 84-21 romp over Eastern Washington on Nov. 18.

Two of those throws went to star runningback Chuck Weatherspoon, who picked up his own claim to fame that day — he became the fourth player in Southwest Conference history to rush for 1,000 yards in three consecutive seasons.

Weatherspoon, the Cougars' all-time leading rusher with 3,206 yards, also earned the conference's single-game record for all-purpose yards with 372, while teammate Manny Hazard became the all-time SWC reception leader with 212 catches for his career.

Both teams arrived in Tokyo on Tuesday and began practice the following day. After two days of practicing in the mud, they were spared from heavy rains brought in by an unseasonal typhoon for the final practice Friday, which was held in the Tokyo Dome.

Kickoff at the 60,000-plus seat dome is scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday (Tokyo time, midnight tonight EST).

Over 80,000 expected... Aggies face 'Horns Saturday

AUSTIN (AP) — Two fierce rivals in the third oldest rivalry in major college football play Saturday in a game that could attract the largest crowd ever to attend a game at Memorial Stadium.

Pride, and national rankings are at stake when unranked Texas A&M, 8-2-1, and No. 5 Texas, 9-1, renew a series that started in 1894.

Kickoff in the nationally televised game (CBS) is 11:10 a.m., CST, before a crowd that could surpass the record of 83,053, set in 1978.

The Longhorns lead the series 63-28-5, but A&M has won six in a row, its longest streak against the Longhorns.

Both teams rank No. 1 or near the top in most SWC statistical categories.

But Texas coach David McWilliams said, "It's not a stat game. It's not a records game."

It's Texas and Texas A&M."

"Texas deserves the recognition they are receiving," said A&M coach R.C. Slocum. "But even if they were not ranked high, this game would be an important game."

"There is enough to play for, even without the records. Every year this has been, and will continue to be, a big game," Slocum said.

With its 97th game, A&M-Texas will tie for third among Division I-A college rivalries, trailing Minnesota-Wisconsin and Nebraska-Kansas, according to the Southwest Conference office in Dallas.

This year most of the A&M-Texas records seem to belong to Darren "Tank" Lewis of A&M, a 220-pound senior halfback who holds at least 38 school and conference rushing records.

Lewis also is tied for fifth with Earl Campbell in SWC history with 41 career rushing touchdowns. Campbell at Texas won the 1977 Heisman Trophy.

On defense, A&M junior cornerback Kevin Smith has 18 career pass interceptions, which puts him in a first-place tie with two others in SWC history. Senior linebacker William Thomas holds the A&M school record with 57 "big plays," three more than John Roper, now with the Chicago Bears.

Texas sophomore quarterback Peter Gardner is 184 yards shy of the Longhorns' single-season mark of 2,223 passing yards, set in 1986 by Bret Stafford, and is two passing touchdowns shy of Robert Brewer's mark of 12, set in 1982.

Kicker Michael Pollak has set a school field goal record of 20 in a single season, and Johnny Walker needs 53 yards on pass receptions to reach the Longhorn career record of 1,603, set by Johnny "Lam" Jones in 1976-79.

The Longhorns will play No. 3 Miami in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. A&M is matched against No. 4 Brigham Young in the Holiday Bowl at San Diego.

Michael Richardson's 24 point effort was tops for the WTC men followed by Dominick Byrd's 23, 22 from Jeff Shelley and 17 by Paul Johnson.

Vernon Broughton of Howard led all scorers with 30 points, Thursday.

The Westerners, now 8-4 and 0-1, bolted to a 49-45 halftime advantage and held on to a 104-101 lead until Jeffery gunned a hoop from 3-point land to tie the score at the buzzer.

Dusters fall to HC in WJCAC contest

BIG SPRING — The Lady Dusters of Western Texas College dropped their opening Western Junior College Athletic Conference basketball game, 76-65, to the Howard College Hawk Queens here Thursday night.

Freshman Monica Ramirez canned six two-pointers to lead the Duster attack with 12 points. Sophomore Kelsey Koester wound up with eight on the night as did freshman Sherry Hoffpauir and Becky Hinojos.

Howard's offense was led by Cindy Williams' 22 points and 11 from former Slaton standout Kim Robinson.

The Dusters trailed the No. 14 Hawk Queens by just eight at the half. Western Texas scored five 3-pointers, two each by Hinojos and Koester and one by freshman Diane Mendez, while Howard was shut out from 3-point range.

A key statistic on the game was the total fouls. Howard rang up just 19 while WTC was whistled 30 times, losing Ramirez to fouls and putting Howard at the charity stripe for 42 shots.

The Queens converted 28 freebies for 67 percent while the Lady Dusters made 12 of 18 from the line for the same 67 percent.

The Dusters will return home next week for a two-game stand against the Lady Wranglers of Odessa College and South Plains College's Lady Texans.

Odessa comes in Monday for a 6 p.m. matchup at Scurry County Coliseum and the SPC-WTC tilt is

Probe results set for release

LAS VEGAS (AP) — UNLV may not have much time to celebrate a compromise with the NCAA that allows the Runnin' Rebels to defend their national basketball title.

At the same time school officials announced the team could defend its national championship, their jubilation was tempered by the fact the results of yet another NCAA investigation into the program are about to be released.

UNLV president Robert Maxson said an initial report on a probe involving former prep star Lloyd Daniels is expected in about two weeks. The report has been complete for some time, but the university requested it be delayed until after the resolution of the current matter.

The NCAA has been investigating the recruiting of Daniels since 1987, when allegations arose about the former New York City prep star who never played for the university after being arrested at a crack house. The probe reportedly was later expanded, and NCAA investigators were on the UNLV campus much of last year.

"We have absolutely no idea what is in the report," Maxson said Thursday. "But Coach (Jerry) Tarkanian says there are no infractions."

Despite the looming Daniels case, UNLV officials and fans were ecstatic Thursday over an agreement with the NCAA that overturns the organization's ban on the Runnin' Rebels defending the title they won in April with a 103-73 trouncing of Duke.

In exchange for the unprecedented action by the NCAA, the university agreed not to compete in the 1991-92 postseason tournament and not to appear on live television during that season.

"This is a great feeling," Maxson said. "We have to live up to our word now and not be whiners."

UNLV wasted no time in agreeing to the new sanctions, which were offered as one of two options by the NCAA Committee on Infractions in an effort to resolve the 13-year battle between Tarkanian and the NCAA.

The other option would have been for the team to compete in this season's tournament without Tarkanian and also give up a chance to play in the tournament next season.

"We regret that next year's team is not eligible," Maxson said. "But we felt it was terribly important our national champions be allowed to defend their title."

UNLV returns four starters from last year's team and is ranked No. 1 in the country going into its first regular season game of the year Saturday against Alabama-Birmingham in Vancouver, British Columbia. Three of those starters are seniors and will be gone by the time the sanctions take effect.

Maxson credited Tarkanian with offering to make the necessary sacrifices for the 1991-92 team if his present team were allowed to defend its title.

"Coach Tarkanian emphasized he would do what he had to do to let his kids play in the tournament. I give him 100 percent of the credit," Maxson said. "Coach Tarkanian has told us all year that he has a very special relationship with these players. He put his money where his mouth is."

Tarkanian, who was in Vancouver promoting Saturday's game, did not take phone calls but released a statement saying he was satisfied with the NCAA decision.

If not for the NCAA's change of heart, UNLV would have become the second national basketball champion to be barred from defending its title; the first was Kansas, which won the 1988 NCAA title but had to bypass the '89 tournament because of recruiting violations.

"I would hope that people will see this as a positive thing," said Steve Morgan, the NCAA's associate executive director in charge of enforcement.

Snyder cage teams set to host Indians

The Snyder Tigers and Lady Tigers will each battle Seminole in a high school basketball doubleheader tonight at Scurry County Coliseum.

The Lady Tigers tip things off with their 6:30 p.m. matchup against the Maidens while the Snyder boys tangle with the Indians at 8 p.m.

Snyder's Lady Tigers, 2-3 on the year, have been off since losing to Abilene High, 71-29, Nov. 20.

Dessie Ware's seven and six points from Vinnie Clay were tops for Snyder against the 5A Lady Eagles.

The Snyder boys are 2-3 in non-district play after Tuesday's 61-51 victory over Big Spring.

Senior post Jeff Wortham hammered inside for 25 points against the Steers and Eric Braziel contributed 13 in the win.

District 2-4A competition begins for the Tigers Jan. 11 when they host Lubbock Estacado. The Lady Tigers begin loop play hosting Levelland on Jan. 4.

MSU calls Jenkins about coaching job

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston football coach John Jenkins says he has been contacted by Mississippi State about the Bulldogs' vacant coaching job. Jenkins, who was in Tokyo preparing for Houston's game there against Arizona State, told KRIV-TV in Houston that Mississippi Athletic Director Larry Templeton telephoned him about the job Thursday.

"Larry Templeton did contact me here in Tokyo," Jenkins said. "He talked at length about the opportunity that would be there at Mississippi State. Right now, my full attention is on winning this final game against Arizona State and ending our season at 10-1."

Templeton told KRIV on Wednesday that Jenkins was one of the people he wanted to talk to about job.

Rockey Felker resigned Monday after five seasons at Mississippi State. He was 21-34 overall, but only 5-28 in the Southeastern Conference. The team was 5-6 this year, 1-6 in the SEC.

U.N. gives Iraq ultimatum...

Get out of Kuwait in 6 weeks or face attack

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Security Council has given Iraqi President Saddam Hussein six weeks to pull his troops out of Kuwait before the United States and its allies in the Persian Gulf are free to launch a military strike.

The council voted 12-to-two Thursday evening, with China abstaining and Yemen and Cuba opposed, to give Baghdad "one final opportunity" to end its aggression against Kuwait, which began with the Aug. 2 invasion.

If Iraq has not withdrawn its army by Jan. 15, restored the emir of Kuwait's government and freed all hostages it holds, the U.S.-led multinational force may use "all necessary means" to force Baghdad's compliance.

It was the first time in 40 years the council had sanctioned force to counter aggression; the first and last time was when it gave its blessing to U.S.-led allies in Korea.

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein scoffed at the resolution and said Iraq was ready to resist even the most advanced U.S. war systems.

"The Americans are still influenced by Rambo movies, but this is not a Rambo movie. This is something different," he said Thursday. "We do not underestimate American military power, but we scorn their evil intentions."

Thirteen foreign ministers attended the extraordinary council session, with Secretary of State James A. Baker III presiding, making it one of the highest-level council meetings in history.

"Today, we have started the countdown of the 'pause of good will,'" said Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze. "We are confident that before the time is up a turn toward peace will have occurred, and that the pause will usher in a transition to a political settlement."

If not, said British Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd, "No one can accuse the council of impatience. The military option is reality, not bluff. If it has to be used it will be used, with the full backing of the council."

In Washington, President Bush called the U.N. vote "a very strong and powerful message. It will go around the world loud and clear that this guy's got to get out of there."

Joining the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union in voting for the resolution were France, Canada, Colombia, Ethiopia, Finland, Ivory Coast, Malaysia, Romania and Zaire.

Chinese Foreign Minister Qian Qichen said China, which supported 11 previous U.N. resolutions, did not veto the measure Thursday because it shares outrage over Iraq's aggression, but that China could not sanction an allied attack.

"The United Nations ... should act with great caution and avoid taking hasty actions on such a major question as authorizing some member states to take military actions," he said.

The resolution made no mention of a U.N. military command or any U.N. role in overseeing a possible international military operation. The Soviet Union has said Soviet forces only would be committed to a military operation under U.N. auspices.

Shevardnadze later told reporters the Soviet Union would not consider committing any troops at this time. He cited painful memories of World War II. The Iraqis appeared intransigent.

"If war is imposed upon us by the United States, this will be our destiny," said Iraqi Ambassador Abdul Amir al-Anbari.

Langman, of New York City, was among the first paratroopers to set foot on a Saudi airstrip nearly four months ago as part of Operation Desert Shield. The 82nd was considered a tripwire if Saddam Hussein chose to expand his aggression beyond Kuwait and into Saudi Arabia.

"Now that they're talking about an offensive, it looks like we've got a mission again," Langman said. "Guys want to kick some butt."

Air Force Scott Grant, 25, of Toledo, Ohio, arrived in Saudi Arabia on Thursday. But he was just as eager to learn that the United Nations had issued an ultimatum.

"Now something's going to be done," Grant said.

The biggest boost about the U.N. action is knowing a date for something to happen, according to soldiers who have been sweating it out in the desert.

"The worst part of all has been not knowing," said Lt. Jackie Jones, 25, of Springfield, Va., part of a Patriot missile battery with the Army's 18th Airborne Corps.

"This sets a date. It gives us a timeline. It's a big motivating factor," she said. "The longer you stay over here with nothing happening, the more lax you're likely to be."

"We're not here to babysit," said Ms. Jones. "We'd just like to get on about our business and go home."

Rights march set in Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County Courthouse will be the gathering point for a march to focus on human rights here Saturday — the second such march since Sammy Gomez was fatally shot by police in 1988.

The march will begin at 1 p.m. at the courthouse and will end at a cemetery on 17th St. where Gomez is buried.

Sara Ortiz, a local League of United Latin American Citizens member, said caravans from as far away as Houston and San Antonio are expected, and buses are being chartered from McAllen, El Paso, Odessa and Lubbock to bring people to the march.

The 27-year-old Gomez, a rape suspect, was shot and killed on May 13, 1988, by former police officer Billy Ray Williamson. Two Mitchell County grand juries later cleared Williamson of any wrongdoing.

Gomez's parents, however, have filed a federal civil lawsuit alleging a coverup in their son's death. That case is scheduled for trial in May.

Among those speaking during 5 p.m. ceremonies Saturday at the cemetery will be Reuben Sandoval, a San Antonio attorney representing the Gomez family.

LULAC previously staged a march in Gomez's honor on Nov. 4, 1989. Ortiz said Saturday's march will focus on minorities statewide who have been abused by police.

Snyder police activity for Thursday was quiet.

At 3:39 p.m., police were called to Furr's Plus where an employee said that a video tape had been stolen from the business. A report for Class B theft was filed.

Police were called to the Cogdell Memorial Hospital at 5:30 p.m. by an emergency room employee who advised a female assault victim was being treated. Contact was made with the victim who said she may be in at a later date to file a report.

A disturbance in the 500 block of 28th St. was reported at 7:38 p.m. A woman said that she had been fighting with her brother who had left the scene.

Another disturbance report was answered at 9:29 p.m. at 29th St. and Ave. L. A caller said that a male and female were fighting in the street. Subjects were gone on the arrival of officers.

At 11:07 p.m., police were called to Allsup's where an employee said that subjects in a blue Buick may have left the business without paying for cigarettes.

In the other Region I semifinal game, Big Spring, a 17-7 winner over Hereford last week, takes on Burkburnett, which knocked off Ft. Worth Poly a week ago, 27-20.

A pep rally is scheduled for the Tigers beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday at Willow Park Inn where the Snyder team will eat breakfast before heading to Abilene.

Admission to the game is $6 at the gate. All tickets are general admission.

The Tigers will be the home squad and will take the field in their black uniforms. Fans will sit on the west side of the stadium.

Womack will provide piano accompaniment.

The Christmas Reading will be a new project for speech students at WTC. Using "Twas the Night Before Christmas" for a central theme, students weave their own Christmas memories into the reading.

"We learned this technique at a workshop we attended at Baylor University in October," Mrs. McCathern said. "Dr. Elsa Pinau from Southern Illinois University introduced workshop participants to the idea and our students were so enthused they wanted to use it for the Christmas program."

Students participating will be Christi Wilcox from Monahans, Scott Carothers from Patton Springs, Andrea McKinney from Colorado City, Charles Pitcox from Talpa and Joe Gloria from Sweetwater.

Scurry County Museum will be open from 1-5 p.m. and will host Santa Claus for visits with children from 1:30-4:30 p.m. The museum is featuring a "Christmas in Toyland" theme and will have a toy exhibit.

Admission to the Christmas Happening is free.

Fire extinguished

Snyder Fire Department dispatched units to a grass fire south of Ira Thursday afternoon.

Local firemen spent just over one and one-half hours containing the fire on an oil lease, three miles south of Ira on Highway 350.

Cause of the blaze, reported at 4:51 p.m., has not yet been determined but fire officials note that the fire originated near electrical wires.

New insurance regulations...

Insuror, consumer groups brace for trouble

DALLAS (AP) — Natural and economic disasters have helped set up another showdown in the Legislature over the tumultuous Texas insurance industry.

Independent insurance agents, who have seen more companies this year refuse to write policies for Texas homeowners and drivers, hope lawmakers will end state regulation of rates. They say that will spur competition and cause rates to go down.

Consumer advocates say deregulation will lead to higher rates. They want the Legislature instead to even things out by enacting rules for county mutuals and other insurers that are now unregulated by the State Board of Insurance.

The new Legislature will likely face several insurance matters. A special committee of the Texas House and Senate will meet next Wednesday to decide which of 50 policy proposals will be introduced when lawmakers convene in January.

"The problems in insurance in Texas are wide and deep," Sen. John Montford, the Lubbock Democrat who chaired the joint committee, said earlier this week.

The industry's troubles caught public attention with the $54 million failure of Dallas-based National County Mutual Fire Inurance Co. in 1988 and the struggle to reform workers' compensation laws, which took the Legislature two special sessions last year.

Nineteen Texas insurance companies failed in the state's last two fiscal years, up from 5 in 1987. Fort Worth-based National Benefit Life Insurance Co. will close its doors Friday.

The number of companies to be placed in the supervision or conservatorship of state regulators has declined from 58 in 1987 to 31 this year.

Some of the problems in the industry have been aggravated by natural disasters. Insurance companies in the past year have been stung by huge payments for losses in Hurricane Hugo and the San Francisco earthquake. Flood and storm losses have been heavy in Texas during the last two years.

Insurers have also been beset by higher payments for medical costs and large jury awards in lawsuits.

"They just haven't been able to raise the rates to keep up with that," said Ernie Stromberger, executive director of the Independent Insurance Agents of Texas.

Several large national insurers, including Crum and Forster, Allstate and Maryland Casualty, began cutting back homeowner and automobile coverage, the so-called personal lines, to Texans this spring.

Consumers haven't felt the pinch yet because Texas law requires insurers to renew a customer's policy for one year after deciding to pull out. But independent agents are scrambling to find companies who will pick up the slack.

"I think Texas is facing an extreme problem in companies not making their product lines available to our customers," said William Harrison, an independent insurance agent in San Antonio.

Some insurers find Texas an expensive place to do business because the state has strict regulations that aren't found elsewhere, Stromberger said. A company that launches a nationwide property policy has to exclude Texas or spend money to make it meet state rules, he said. "The expense of doing business is a direct result of the complicated regulatory system we have here," Stromberger said.

Consumer advocates say the state has helped keep insurance costs down. They say insurance is still available but at a higher cost generally from insurers who are not regulated by the State Board of Insurance.

Unregulated county mutuals and Lloyd's companies, have taken customers who are better insurance risks and offered them lower premiums than allowed by state regulators, said Tim Curtis of Texas Citizen Action, a consumer advocacy group.

That leaves regulated companies, who have a harder time making rate adjustments because they must be approved by the State Board of Insurance.

Abnormal gene related to breast cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An abnormal gene found in some families can lead to a high susceptibility to breast cancer, according to a study published today.

The finding is a major step that puts researchers closer to understanding the inherited tendency to develop malignancies, says a study in the journal Science.

The inherited genetic mutation was discovered by studying the genes in a small group of families that experience in generation after generation of an exceptionally high rate of six types of cancer, including breast cancer.

"Up until now there have been no inherited genes isolated and identified which provided susceptibilities to some of the common adult malignancies," said Dr. Stephen Friend of Massachusetts General Hospital Cancer Center.

Scientists have long questioned whether a single mutation in a single inherited gene could advance the tendency to develop cancer. Friend said the study settles that question.

"This shows that the answer is yes," said Friend. "If you are born with an inactive region in one gene, then that gives you a hidden susceptibility to malignancies."

Although the breast cancer is the most common disease related to the mutated gene, Friend said it is not the only genetic cause of breast cancer.

"There are multiple genes for breast cancer," he said. "This happens to be the first, but it won't be the last."

Female breast cancer strikes about 130,000 American women annually and kills about 41,000. Friend said that "it is unclear at this time which of those many women have the ... mutation."

Friend, who was lead author of the study, said the mutation was found on what is called the p53 cancer suppressor gene. For people who inherit a mutated p53 gene, he said, "their chance of getting a malignancy by age 60 is 90 percent."

Dr. Andrew Feinberg, a University of Michigan Cancer Center researcher and co-discoverer of genes related to a rare kidney cancer, said the p53 discovery adds a step in the cascade of cell changes that is thought to lead to some cancers.

"From a scientific viewpoint, it is very important because it helps us understand the sequence of events that lead to cancer," said Feinberg. However, he emphasized that there are a number of other steps, still unknown, that cause a normal cell to become cancerous.

The p53 gene is one of a group of genes that control cell growth. The gene, in effect, blocks the uncontrolled division of cells, hence, suppresses tumor development. If this function is lost through mutation, then the cell lacks one of the controls that keep division in balance.

University halts all heavy metal concerts

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — University of Texas at El Paso officials, concerned that the lyrics of heavy metal music may promote drug use and school dropouts, have suspended heavy metal concerts at a campus arena.

The decision drew an angry response from the school's student newspaper, but reaction on campus Thursday was mixed.

UTEP President Diana Natalicio ordered the heavy metal moratorium Monday after a nurse complained about drug use and violence she saw at one of the shows at the UTEP-owned Special Events Center.

The nurse, Jill Field, coordinated the first aid station at a Nov. 14 Judas Priest concert.

"The university tells kids 'don't do drugs' and 'stay in school' and then hosts this kind of event. That's too much of a dichotomy," she said.

A committee of staff and students will meet Monday to review scheduled concerts and possible upcoming concerts, said Carole Barasch, media relations director. She did not know what criteria would be considered.

The student newspaper, the Prospector, criticized the decision in an editorial Thursday.

"Banning heavy metal concerts from this campus is not going to rid this campus of the 'undesirables' that administrators feel tend to gather at heavy metal shows," the editorial said.

Eric Lowenburg, a senior, said the UTEP administration is misdirecting its authority.

"It's basically putting a restriction on freedom of expression. Just by putting a moratorium on a heavy metal rock band the administration is not going to stop drug use," Lowenburg said. "They should put a heavy restriction on what goes in and comes out of the concert."

But Yvonne Ochoa, a UTEP freshman, said she doesn't mind the temporary ban.

"I don't like heavy metal music anyway. I agree with it because I think there is a lot of drug use and drinking at those concerts," said Ms. Ochoa, 19.

Glen Williams, UTEP's vice president of finance and administration, said the moratorium was not meant to be an outright ban of such concerts.

"We decided to put a moratorium so we could review shows on a band-by-band basis ... and make sure that we are creating an image we think a higher learning institution should have," he said.

Dear Abby

Man's Secretive Past Casts A Shadow on Ex-Employee

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For several years, I worked for a man who had a lot of trouble with the truth. Apparently, he is still lying. Although I no longer work for him, the woman he has been dating called me recently for some information about him. I acknowledged that she had guessed the truth about one area of his past, but I immediately regretted I had said anything.

When she started quizzing me further, I suggested that she ask him directly — which she has never done. She seemed annoyed with my refusal to tell her more than I had. It seems that she plans to go to Houston (without telling him) to track down the whole story. I told her that the answers she wants are not so bad, but I felt that the telling of his story was up to him. She still insisted that she had no intention of asking him.

Although I am not in touch with this man, I've considered contacting him to tell him that he needs to be honest with this woman — especially since she has already guessed some of the truth. I've also thought of calling her back and suggesting that he may be annoyed when he finds out she made a trip to Houston — the people at that end will probably tell him. I also hesitate to do that. Shall I just keep out of it and not call anyone? Thanks for helping.

UNEASY IN NEW MEXICO

DEAR UNEASY: Your last idea was by far your best. Don't call anyone. And in the future, the less you say to anyone concerning a third party — especially to a stranger on the telephone — the better.

***

DEAR ABBY: I own a small pet shop in Illinois. Today when I came to work, I noticed a box in my parking lot. When I opened the top, a large cat jumped out! A note inside read, "Hi! My name is Bear. I am very friendly. I know you will find a good home for me because you love animals, too."

Well, I didn't find a good home for Bear, because the frightened animal slipped out of my hands and into the street in the middle of traffic and was killed instantly.

Abby, people have dumped boxes of sick kittens, malnourished puppies, half-dead rabbits, baby hamsters and guinea pigs at my store with no note — nothing! As far as I am concerned, these people have no hearts and no brains: My veterinary bills for these animals have run into the hundreds of dollars in the two years I've been in the pet shop business. I simply cannot afford to take care of other people's problems.

Abby, please tell your readers to take these animals to the local Humane Society so they can find homes for them or euthanize them. Although "putting down" an animal is not an easy thing to do, it's far more humane than letting a cat fry in the heat in someone's parking lot or get killed in traffic.

LOVES ANIMALS IN CHICAGO

DEAR LOVES ANIMALS: Thanks for giving a voice to the voiceless.

***

DEAR ABBY: Who said, "I'd rather be right than be president"? I say it was Wendell Willkie. My husband says it was Adlai Stevenson.

EUNICE AND SHELDON

DEAR E. AND S.: You're both wrong. It was Henry Clay, who campaigned unsuccessfully for president five times. (P.S. I think what this country needs is a person who can be right and be president at the same time.)

Grandmother shocked to find porno sex film on kids' tape

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — State Consumer Protection attorneys are trying to remove a video tape marketed for children that contains graphic film footage of a couple engaging in sex.

A McAllen woman who bought her four grandchildren the animated video tape at a toy store learned too late that cartoons were not the only thing the video was showing the children, ages 2 through 6, according to a lawsuit the Texas attorney general's office filed Thursday.

Judge Raul Longoria of the state's 370th District Court immediately issued a restraining order prohibiting the toy store and the California-based manufacturer from marketing the tape with packaging that states it is "fully animated" and "just for kids."

The video is titled "Filiation's Ghostbusters, Spirits, Spooks and Specters." But after the cartoons end, a grainy pornographic video with the title "Squeal of Fortune" plays for about 10 minutes.

"This consumer found to her dismay, and after her grandchildren had viewed the film several times, that the film contains almost 10 minutes of sexually explicit adult scenes at the end of the feature presentation," according to the lawsuit Assistant Attorney General Al Alvarez filed in Edinburg.

The woman reported the problem to the pastor of her church, who then contacted Alvarez, director of the state Consumer Protection Division office in McAllen.

"The big problem now is we're talking about the height of Christmas season," said Alvarez. "We're talking about people going into toy stores to purchase toys for children. Video formats like this one, VHS tapes for children, are very popular in terms of a gift. We're having this particular gift being distributed without the consumer purchasing the gift knowing that it contains sexually explicit material."

Alvarez said the video apparently has been distributed nationwide. He said the attorney general's office in California also received a complaint last year from a woman who had bought a copy of the same video tape in Massachusetts.

The woman filed a complaint with the state of California, stating that her young cousin, described only as "a little boy" became upset while watching the tape in her Hyde Park, Mass., living room last Christmas Eve.

She wrote: "He had come running out into the kitchen saying, 'I don't like this. It looks funny, bad, bad,' he said. Meanwhile, my guests & relatives & myself heard these strange noises."

"I went in & I saw the tape ... I quickly pulled it out of the VCR & explained that the Ghostbusters are not like that, that the film was broken & I had to return it."

Noel Bloom, chairman of Woodland Hills, Calif.-based Celebrity Home Entertainment Inc. producer and distributor of the video, said the company recalled the tapes almost a year ago. He said the company had received four or five complaints nationwide, similar to the Texas woman's.

Bloom said the company does not know how those tapes were altered. He said he suspected "some sort of sabotage" by an employee of a company that duplicates the tapes for Celebrity Home Entertainment.

No one was available to comment late Thursday afternoon at the Kay Bee Toy Stores corporate office in Pittsfield, Mass.

The McAllen woman bought the video at the company's Kay Bee Toy and Hobby Shop at McAllen's La Plaza Mall. Alvarez said the toy store probably is one of many toy, video and variety stores marketing the tainted video.

He said the state could amend the suit later to prevent other stores from selling it.

The restraining order also prohibits sale of the video "without first disclosing to the consumer that the film contains sexual explicit material involving people engaged in sexual intercourse, fellatio, and anal sex."

Judge Longoria set a Dec. 11 hearing date for the case.
