TDC employment applicants offered BEST test locally

The BEST test, a requirement for employment with the Texas Department of Corrections, will be offered locally this Friday. The testing will be the first in a series of BEST test dates here. It is expected the employment exam may be given as often as once per month. Those interested in taking the test are advised to first go to the local Texas Employment Commission office to receive an appointment slip.

If they have not already done so, job seekers will also be required to register with the TEC. The BEST test will be given on the campus of Western Texas College and the number tested will be held to 40. Individuals will have to have an appointment slip to be admitted to the test. Actual applications for employment with TDC likely won't be screened until March, according to Rae Adams, head of the local TEC office.

Those taking the BEST test Friday will not learn of test results until March, she said.

The local TEC office is a branch of the Sweetwater regional office and is located at 2501 B College Ave. It is open from 8 a.m. until noon and from 1 until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Martin Luther King Day celebrated

ATLANTA (AP) — Worshipers filling the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.'s church were admonished today to remember the slain civil rights leader's birthday by rededicating themselves to his work.

"It is our hope and our desire... that we will realize it is an unending quest," said the Rev. Joseph Roberts, pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church, where King and his father preached.

Roberts opened the annual ecumenical service that attracted local, state and federal officials to mark the national holiday honoring King. Among those gathered on the podium were members of King's family, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, U.S. Attorney General Dick Thornburgh, actress Jane Fonda, Georgia Gov. Joe Frank Harris and the state's senators and congressmen.

In Washington, President-elect George Bush commemorated the holiday with a glowing tribute to King in a speech to about 300 prominent blacks.

"He lived a hero's life. He dreamed a hero's dreams. He left a hero's indelible mark on the mind and imagination of a great nation," Bush told members of the Inaugural Afro-American Committee.

In South Africa, U.S. Ambassador Edward Perkins unveiled a bronze bust of King on a bushy plot of land in Pretoria where the new U.S. embassy is to stand.

In Groton, Conn., 72 demonstrators were arrested on trespassing charges at the Electric Boat shipyard as they protested the construction of Trident nuclear submarines. The demonstrators cited King's belief in non-violent protest and said the demonstration was held in observance of his birthday.

Elsewhere, planned observances of the holiday included the swearing-in of the first blacks on the Dallas County (Ala.) Commission in more than a century. The ceremony was scheduled for Selma, where King began the 1965 Selma-to-Montgomery march that resulted in passage of the Voting Rights Act.

County endorses Cogdell TDC plan

Scurry County commissioners Monday passed a resolution to support the Cogdell Memorial Hospital board in its "solicitation of interest" in providing medical services to the Texas Department of Corrections.

Cogdell Administrator Tom Hochwalt appeared to explain that the hospital proposes to join the Texas Tech University Medical School's Amarillo branch, Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo and the Amarillo Hospital District in serving TDC units there and here. Hochwalt said St. Mary of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock, which has a management contract with Cogdell, will also be involved in the agreement, in part to provide air ambulance service between Snyder and Lubbock.

Other business in the 10 a.m. meeting included the acceptance of a $26,000 bid from West Texas Equipment Co. in Abilene for a tandem dump truck trailer to be used in Commissioner C.D. Gray Jr.'s Pct. 3, the southwestern quadrant of the county. Gray said the trailer will replace two 1959 model 10-yard trailers, one of which he has already sold.

Pct. 2 Commissioner Tommy Pate reported that the recently appointed committee of which he is a member to consider building covered horse stalls at Scurry County Coliseum had a productive meeting last week but came to no conclusions.

Pate said the committee will meet again soon to discuss the project, which has been proposed as a way to provide better care of the horses that are brought here each August for the AJRA National Finals Rodeo.

County Auditor Linda Franklin reported that the final bills on the Winston Field airport renovation project have recently been paid off, with the county's share of the $1.66-million job being $165,795 or $14,205 less than the $180,000 originally forecast when the project was inaugurated in February of 1987.

1989 blood efforts start here Tuesday

Blood donations will be sought from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday as the first blood drive of 1989 is held at the Towle Park Barn.

At the start of the drive, Mayor Troy Williamson will declare January as National Volunteer Blood Donor Month in Snyder.

Blood drives are jointly sponsored by the local advisory council for United Blood Services (UBS) of Lubbock and the Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

The traditional incentive offers for donors are once again planned.

During the drive, a drawing will be held for a dinner for two at the Willow Park Inn restaurant and a $20 gift certificate.

Each donor will receive coupons good for food items from local restaurants. This will include a malt or milk shake at Sonic Drive-In, courtesy of Sonic and Gandy's Dairies; a medium size drink at Long John Silver's; a DQ Sundae from the local Dairy Queens; and a "dollar off" coupon from Golden Corral Steak House.

In addition, every other donor will receive a coupon good for a regular order at Gill's Fried Chicken.

Every fifth donor will receive a six-pack of soft drink from Dr. Pepper-Pepsi Bottling Co. of Snyder. See DRIVE, page 9

Historical group adds 11 to board

The Scurry County Historical Commission will have its first meeting of 1989 Wednesday with 11 new members to be welcomed and the election of new officers planned.

The meeting will be at 5 p.m. at the Cornelius-Dodson House.

Also Wednesday, bids are expected to be let for the next phase of renovation for the Dermott School building, the commission's latest historical project.

Sufficient funds are now available to renovate doors and windows for the building. Earlier, a new roof was completed at the structure.

The next phase will involve See HISTORICAL, page 9

Competency trial completed today

A 22-year-old criminal suspect was deemed incompetent to stand trial Monday morning in 132nd District Court and he was ordered to undergo treatment at a state hospital for a period of from 60 days to 18 months.

A 12-member jury was seated to adjudge the competency of Ernesto Roberto Aguilar, 22, of 706 26th St.

The state had sought to have his probation revoked based on an incident last June involving the unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Aguilar was on probation for a similar offense dating to September of 1987.

The competency hearing was sought by his court-appointed attorney, Tommie J. Mills.

Testimony from a physician with the Texas Tech University medical school, Dr. E.R. Taylor, was entered into evidence stating that Aguilar, in his opinion, was not competent to assist in his own defense and therefore incompetent to stand trial.

District Attorney Ernie Armstrong noted Monday that the state agreed to Aguilar's incompetency but that such decisions must, under law, be decided by a jury.

The seating of the jury, testimony and deliberation took See HEARING, page 9

House committees are in high gear

AUSTIN (AP) — A special panel was to tackle a state representative's election challenge as the legislative session's second week began, and some House members expressed concern that the issue would result in a strictly partisan battle.

"I would love to see it handled in a non-partisan way, and I think it will be, and I hope it will be," said Republican Mike Jackson of La Porte, whose Nov. 8 election win over Democrat Ed Watson of Deer Park is being challenged by Watson.

"The committee members are all elected state representatives, and they could be in the same situation in another election year. So I hope that they will think about that when they are considering this case," Jackson said.

Watson, who held the District 129 seat for 16 years, lost to Jackson by seven votes — 13,009 to 13,002 — according to recount results.

Watson said there were discrepancies in vote-counting, and that he should have won. He said he's heard "through the grapevine" that a new election likely will be called.

But Jackson, seated with other members last week, said, "I'm sure the facts will show I've won the race fair and square."

Sign language course slated that Democrats outnumber Republicans in the 150-member House — 93 to 57. But she added, "I think the committee, and I hope the House, will really decide this on the facts as they see them."

The committee will make recommendations to the House, which can allow Jackson to retain the seat, seat Watson, or call for a special election.

Hopes are that the issue can be resolved within 10 to 15 days, Lewis said.

Also in the House, standing committees are ready to receive bills weeks earlier than usual, because Lewis appointed them on the second day of the regular session. Usually, such appointments aren't made for two to three weeks in the House.

Scheduled to meet this week is a streamlined House Appropriations Committee, which has been reduced from 29 to 23 members under new House rules. The Environmental Affairs and Insurance committees also scheduled meetings.

Forgive the Errors of Others And You'll Know True Peace

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: Did you know there is an international Forgiveness Week? Well, neither did I, until last year. And this is the week.

If you are a card-carrying member of the human race, there is at least one person in your life who needs your forgiveness. Or perhaps it's you who needs to be forgiven. So, get aboard the mea culpa bandwagon. Robert Muller, former assistant secretary-general of the United Nations, wrote this piece especially for International Forgiveness Week:

Saturday: Forgive other nations.

Only the brave know how to forgive. A coward never forgives.

It is not in his nature.

ROBERT MULLER

Many years ago, B.C. (Before Column), I came across this particularly poignant description of forgiveness:

"Forgiveness is the fragrance of the violet which still clings fast to the heel that crushed it." No source was credited, so I searched for years until I finally found it. And here it is:

FORGIVENESS

by George Roemisch

Forgiveness is the wind-blown bud which blooms in placid beauty at Verdun.

Forgiveness is the tiny slate-gray sparrow which has built its nest of twigs and string among the shards of glass upon the wall of shame.

Forgiveness is the child who laughs in merry ecstasy beneath the toothed fence that closes in Da Nang.

Forgiveness is the fragrance of the violet which still clings fast to the heel that crushed it.

Forgiveness is the broken dream which hides itself within the corner of the mind oft called forgetfulness, so that it will not bring pain to the dreamer.

Forgiveness is the reed which stands up straight and green when nature's mighty rampage halts, full spent.

Forgiveness is a God who will not leave us after all we've done.

Don't put off writing thank-you notes, letters of sympathy, etc. because you don't know what to say. Get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." DECIDE TO FORGIVE

Decide to forgive
For resentment is negative
Resentment is poisonous
Resentment diminishes and devours the self.

Be the first to forgive,
To smile and to take the first step.

And you will see happiness bloom
On the face of your human brother or sister.

Be always the first
Do not wait for others to forgive

For by forgiving
You become the master of fate
The fashioner of life
The doer of miracles.

To forgive is the highest,
Most beautiful form of love.
In return you will receive
Untold peace and happiness.

Here is the program for achieving a truly forgiving heart:

Sunday: Forgive yourself.

Monday: Forgive your family.

Tuesday: Forgive your friends and associates.

Wednesday: Forgive across economic lines within your own nation.

Thursday: Forgive across cultural lines within your own nation.

Friday: Forgive across political lines within your own nation.

Tae Kwon Do classes set

A new session of Tae Kwon Do karate classes for adults and children offered through the Continuing Education department of Western Texas College will begin on Wednesday.
 Classes will meet from 7-8:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays in the WTC gym with Greg Stafford as instructor.

Fees are $30 per month for the first member of the family and $25 for the second.

Minimum enrollment for the class is 10, with enrollment limited to 20.

Tae Kwon Do is an ancient art of self defense which has developed over the past 20 years in Korea. It was a demonstration sport in the 1988 Summer Olympics held in Seoul.

"Anyone can learn Tae Kwon Do," Gafford says. "It helps to develop a healthier cardiovascular system, greater strength, better coordination, increased flexibility, and, of course, the ability to defend yourself in dangerous situations."

To pre-register call 573-8511, ext. 240. Fees will be paid at the first class meeting.

Baseball rules, officiating class slated at WTC

Rules governing baseball from Little League through pro will be discussed in a baseball officiating and rules class to be offered by the Western Texas College Continuing Education department.

David Holt will teach the course. Classes will meet from 6:30-9 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday. Fees are $5 per person.

This class is especially geared for the spectator who has a child playing baseball, helping them understand the rules under which the different leagues and conferences operate.

To pre-register call 573-8511. A minimum of 10 students will be required to form the class.

Caution: bad split ahead

By James Jacoby

Last October in Venice, Italy, the United States team of Bob Wolff, Bob Hamman, Seymon Deutsch, Eric Rodwell, Jeff Meckstroth and Jim Jacoby won the World Team Olympiad, which is held every four years. When it was held for the first time in Turin, Italy, in 1960, my father played on the U.S. team. I too played once before, in 1972, and our team that year was runner-up. My teammates Wolff and Hamman were on the team in 1980 and 1984, but had yet to be victorious. This week and later we will look at some deals from the competition involving teams from 56 member countries of the World Bridge Federation.

In today's championship deal, South reached an excellent six-club contract. But he played too quickly. When the heart four was led to East's jack, declarer took the ace and immediately ruffed a heart. Then he played the king of clubs. There was now no way to avoid a second club loser.

Declarer does not hurt his chances if he wins the heart ace and then starts the clubs. If both defenders follow, he will be able to safely ruff a heart in dummy before drawing the remaining trumps. But here, when East shows out, declarer will switch tactics, throwing his heart loser on the ace of diamonds and returning to his hand to pass the eight of clubs through West. It's true that the unfortunate club split means that the slam will now depend on spades splitting 3-3, and they do. It's also true that a 4-0 club split is very rare, but South should have provided for the possibility.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Phares Books. © 1989, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

a shorter prison term and has been placed in a federal witness protection program, the Houston Chronicle reported Sunday in a copyright story.

Shortly after his arrest at Houston Intercontinental Airport in October 1984, Martinez told prosecutors he had information about a Colombian smuggling ring and would testify about its higher-ups.

Martinez was arrested after smuggling more than 1,800 pounds of cocaine into the Houston area and faced up to 300 years in a federal prison.

Federal officials quickly struck a deal with Martinez that included a 10-year maximum prison sentence and putting Martinez and his family in the witness protection program.

The Chronicle said the federal government also has paid Martinez $98,174 in the past three years, including $4,000 in cash

Racquetball classes slated

Men and women who would like to learn to play racquetball are invited to enroll in Beginning Racquetball courses offered at Western Texas College in the spring semester.

The beginning classes are listed under Health/Physical Education on the schedule. Three sections will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, the first from 8-8:45 a.m., the second from 10-10:50 a.m., and the third from 11-11:50 a.m. A fourth section will meet from 9:30-10:45 on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Instructors will be Lee Burke and Kelly Chadwick.

Instruction covers serve, forehand, backhand, ceiling shot, kill shot, a knowledge of rules of the games and court etiquette.

Students must provide their own racquet and one can of Penn racquetballs. Eye goggles are strongly recommended for the student's safety.

An advanced racquetball course is scheduled from 1:15-2:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Burke is the instructor.

within the past several months.

Now federal prosecutors admit that Martinez headed the drug distribution ring in the United States and his cooperation has primarily resulted in the indictment of alleged underlings in his own organization.

Only one person who may have played a larger role than Martinez in the smuggling operation has been indicted. He is Pedro Ortega, a reputed drug exporter who is hiding in his native Colombia.

"Martinez led the government to believe that he could help them catch the big fish," said Kent Schaffer, a defense attorney representing one of Martinez's alleged associates. "Now they realize that he is the big fish."

As a result of Martinez's cooperation, federal authorities indicted 18 people in early 1987 for allegedly participating in the drug ring.

Eight of the defendants went on trial Jan. 9, but U.S. District Judge Kenneth M. Hoyt declared a mistrial last Wednesday after a scheduling conflict left one of the defendants without an attorney.

Federal prosecutors refused to be interviewed about Martinez, the Chronicle said.

Typing skills improvement course slated

Students will be working to improve their keyboarding/typewriting skills in BUS 133 at Western Texas College this semester.

Classes will meet from 6:30-9 on Monday and Thursday nights with Tammy Wesson as instructor. Students in this course need to have a working knowledge of the keyboard.

Spring semester classes will begin Wednesday following registration which began Monday and will continue through Tuesday.

Western Texas is 10-9 overall and 1-4 in conference play while NMJC is 8-10 and 0-3. Both teams need a victory to remain in a position to qualify for regionals.

contest this evening, top-ranked Odessa, 19-0, entertains a hot South Plains squad for the conference lead. South Plains is 19-1 under Coach Ron Mayberry. Odessa is 5-0 in the WJCAC, a half-game ahead of the 4-0 Texans of SPC.

teams according to the standings. South Plains (12-5, 2-1) is at Odessa to meet the Lady Wranglers (12-7, 1-2). WTC Lady Dusters' coach Kelly Chadwick said NMJC's Thunderbirds have it all.

Owls scare TCU; Hogs meet Aggies

by The Associated Press The Rice Owls make a habit of shaking the faith of Texas Christian's Horned Frogs on the Southwest Conference basketball court. And, even though TCU won Sunday to maintain a 4-0 record, the latest matchup proved to be no exception.

When TCU blew a 15-point lead before squeaking past the Owls 70-64 Sunday, all Iba could say was: "See!"

"Rice scares me to death," TCU coach Moe Iba said before the game. "I probably have spent more time worrying about this game than any thus far."

Jones follows La Costa crown with Hope win

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) - Steve Jones describes himself as a "staircase player."

"We pretty much just stood around on offense in the second half," Iba said. "Plus, it seemed like we went forever without a rebound when we really needed one. And, Rice was starting to get in its shooting rhythm."

Boom No. 1 came in the Tournament of Champions at La Costa a little over a week ago when he scored a three-shot victory in an elite gathering of winners only from the 1988 season.

Now, Iba and his Frogs will be clinging to their one-game lead in Southwest Conference action - Arkansas and Texas are each 3-1 in SWC play - for at least a couple of more days.

He was expecting to miss the cut until he scored two eagles en route to a 9-under-par 63 Saturday that put him back in the tournament. And he was playing for second after 87 holes of the 90-hole, five-day tournament.

Meanwhile, Arkansas Coach Nolan Richardson is getting the Razorbacks ready for tonight's meeting with the Aggies.

It made him the first man since Gil Morgan in 1983 to sweep the first two events on the PGA Tour schedule.

Richardson said 6-foot-7 forward Donald Thompson, who is averaging 19 points a game, is "awfully good."

And it came as something of a surprise to the 30-year-old who scored his first career victory less than a year ago.

Arkansas defeated Southern Methodist 93-73 in Fayetteville with a relentless man-to-man defense that wore down the Mustangs.

He was expecting to miss the cut until he scored two eagles en route to a 9-under-par 63 Saturday that put him back in the tournament. And he was playing for second after 87 holes of the 90-hole, five-day tournament.

The Texas Longhorns spent a successful week in Houston, keeping themselves in the conference basketball chase on a winning buzzer shot by Joey Wright and a missed last second shot by Rice's D'Wayne Tanner.

"I wasn't even thinking about Paul (Azinger, the tournament leader)," Jones said. "I was just trying to get second."

Next Sunday, both teams will be in strange environs - neither has ever played in Joe Robbie Stadium, site of the Super Bowl.

But he ran in a 10-foot birdie putt on the 16th hole and then chipped in for birdie on the 17th to get to within one stroke of the lead.

For the 49ers, there are places like home. Better places, in fact - San Francisco is 7-2 away from Candlestick Park this season, including the 28-3 romp at Chicago for the NFC championship. At home, the 49ers were 5-4.

When Azinger three-putted for bogey - missing a 6-foot par putt - on the final hole of regulation play, Jones and Lyle suddenly had a second life.

Next Sunday, both teams will be in strange environs - neither has ever played in Joe Robbie Stadium, site of the Super Bowl.

After Lyle and Azinger missed long birdie attempts on the first playoff hole, Jones rapped in the winner from four feet.

It was worth $180,000 from the total purse of $1 million and pushed his earnings for the young season to $315,000, more than he'd won in any previous full season.

East runs past West 24-6 in Shrine game

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) - The West all-stars managed to contain the East's fleet receiving corps in the 64th annual Shrine game, but they couldn't corral a punter and linebacker on the run.

Two key plays by those players resulted in two touchdowns and a 24-6 East victory Sunday in front of 76,000 fans and dozens of NFL scouts at the nation's oldest collegiate all-star game.

"You have to have big plays in these kinds of games, and they were the ones who got them," West coach Larry Smith of Southern Cal said.

But several players stepped forward to give standout performances and enhance their standing in the NFL draft, among them East running back Lewis Tillman of Jackson State and West strong safety Steve Atwater of Arkansas, selected as players of the game.

Heading into Super Bowl XXIII... 49ers have best road record

MIAMI (AP) - The road to Miami has been a kind one for the San Francisco 49ers, the NFL's best team away from home.

The Cincinnati Bengals, the league's best home team, haven't taken so kindly to safaris outside the Jungle - Riverfront Coliseum.

It's a sign of an experienced team when you can win on the road," quarterback Joe Montana said. "We're not the type team to get flustered."

"In a lot of ways, you are a little better off on the road because you concentrate more on the game," Coach Bill Walsh said. "Maybe there was a day and age where guys went on the road and there was a wild party or whatever. But now you get more football in and more concentration than at home."

If ever the 49ers were ripe to trip on a road trip, it was at Soldier Field. Presented with icy conditions as well as the Bears' bone-chilling defense, the Niners never shivered, never looked out of place. "This is too good a team to be bothered by things like the weather or not having the home field," Montana said. "The best teams in this league can win anywhere. You won't even get into the playoffs without being able to win on the road."

The Bengals won only four of their eight games on the road and just one - against the Cowboys, the NFL's weakest link in 1988 - came after the fifth week of the season. The Ickey Shuffle, the no-huddle offense and AFC crown can't hide those results, which include losses at Kansas City and New England, not exactly NFL powers.

"We're going to do it in Miami just like we did it here," star running back Ickey Woods said after the victory over the Bills. "Championship teams don't have weaknesses and this team's got no weaknesses. Not here, not in Miami."

Arkansas assistant accepts head football post at Rice

HOUSTON (AP) - Fred Goldsmith, assistant football coach for Southwest Conference champion Arkansas, has accepted the position of head football coach at conference doormat Rice, published reports say.

Goldsmith, Arkansas' defensive coordinator for the past five seasons, has accepted a four-year contract and will fly from Fayetteville to Houston this afternoon to sign the contracts, The Houston Post reported today.

Rice is expected to hold a news conference to make the official announcement Tuesday morning. In addition to Goldsmith's announcement, the school is expected to promote associate athletic director Bobby May to athletic director.

"Obviously, we'd like to wait until Tuesday to announce the new coach," J. Evans Attwell, chairman of the Rice search committee which chose the new coach, told the Houston Chronicle. "But I don't think it's going to come as any surprise to anyone."

Goldsmith, 44, will become the Owls' third head coach in five years and eighth since 1967. He replaces Jerry Berndt who resigned as Rice's head coach and athletic director last month to accept the head coaching job at Temple. Before Berndt, Watson Brown spent two years with the Owls (1984-85) before returning to Vanderbilt, his alma mater, as head coach.

Goldsmith is the second assistant to Arkansas head coach Ken Hatfield to be named to a head coaching position. Quarterback coach David Lee was named head coach at Texas-El Paso last week.

Prior to his stint at Arkansas, Goldsmith served as Slippery Rock's head coach in 1981. He also was with Hatfield for four seasons at Air Force.

Since Berndt took his entire staff with him to Temple, Goldsmith must hire an entire new staff. He is expected to rely heavily on the Texas high school ranks.

Others mentioned as possibilities for the new Rice staff are Tulane offensive coordinator Duke Christian and Houston graduate assistant Tony Fitzpatrick.

Goldsmith jumped ahead of the other candidates based upon a recommendation from Hatfield, Friday's meeting with the search committee and Goldsmith's extensive recruiting experience in the Houston and Dallas areas, the Chronicle reported.

The Post reported that Rice officials canceled a scheduled interview with Notre Dame assistant Pete Cordelli on Sunday.

Stephen F. Austin athletic director Jim Hess also was considered a strong contender for the position. Hess was an assistant coach under former Rice coach Bo Hagan during the late 1960s.

Skiing KITZBUEHEL, Austria (AP) - West Germany's Armin Bittner won Sunday's slalom World Cup ski race edging Olympic gold medalist Alberto Tomba by .22 of a second.

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland (AP) - World Cup leader Vreni Schneider of Switzerland won her fifth consecutive slalom race and posted her 10th victory of the season Sunday.

Second teen arrested in fatal chase mishap

DALLAS (AP) — A second Dallas teen-ager was arrested on a murder warrant early today for his alleged role in a police chase that ended in a crash that killed two young officers.

Officers Lisa Sandel and Mark Fleming were killed when their police cruiser went out of control on a rain-slickened street during the Friday night chase. A police recruit riding in the back seat of the car was seriously injured.

On Sunday night, a mother brought her 16-year-old son to police after hearing they wanted to talk to him in connection with the accident. Police arrested a 17-year-old male on a murder warrant after questioning the first teen-ager, said Detective Roy Hodgens.

The first youth was arrested in connection with the investigation of two counts of capital murder, one count of attempted capital murder and two counts of automobile theft, said Sgt. Murdock. He added that no charges had been filed against the boy.

Hodgens said it was too early to discuss the specific roles the youths may have played in the car theft and chase.

The first teen-ager's surrender came, ironically, just as police and their loved ones were gathering Sunday to mourn the deaths of the two officers.

"Obviously, it would be somewhat of a relief that a suspect is at least being questioned about this," said Sgt. Jim Chandler of the Dallas police public information division following the arrest of a 16-year-old.

"It's hard to accept on its own face that two officers have been killed. When the person that cost or directly resulted in their deaths is out there, you don't feel good about it."

Chandler said a break in the search for someone who might be able to explain how the officers lost control of their car and slammed into an oncoming pickup came after officers recovered a stolen car on Saturday.

"Detectives canvassed the neighborhood and talked to a lot of people out there who provided them with a description," Chandler said. "This juvenile matched this description."

The first teen-ager was being held at the Dallas County Juvenile Detention Center, where he was being questioned Sunday night in connection with the stolen car and the chase that led to the deaths of officers Lisa Sandel, 26, and Mark Fleming, 24, said Sgt. Joe Murdock of the department's youth section.

The second youth was in the Lew Sterrett Justice Center, Hodgens said.

About 200 police officers, their families and city officials gathered Sunday for a 6 p.m. candlelight vigil honoring Sandel and Fleming, who worked in the Southwest Patrol Division.

Many in the group let out an audible sigh when Deputy Chief Terrell Bolton, head of the Southwest Patrol Division, announced at the start of the vigil that a person the officers may have been chasing had been arrested.

Bolton said he thought Sandel and Fleming would like fellow officers to remember them for their hard work and would like the police force to continue doing the best job possible, despite the risks.

"We don't know if we're going to make it home or not," Bolton said. "But we accept that challenge."

Sgt. G. Toliver, who was basic training sergeant for Sandel and Fleming in their police academy training, also spoke to the tearful crowd.

"I know we all wish that we could have been there in their time of need to hold their hand and make everything OK," said Toliver, fighting back tears. "I just hope that when our time comes that we can leave doing such a good deed in the eyes of God."

In her remarks, Mayor Annette Strauss praised the police department and asked the crowd pray for the hospitalized recruit injured in the wreck.

Nathaniel White, 25, a recruit riding with the officers, was in serious condition Sunday in the intensive care unit at Baylor University Medical Center, officials said. White was heavily sedated and was expected to remain so for two to three days, police said.

Willie Earl Henderson, 62, driver of the pickup, was upgraded from fair to stable condition Sunday at Charlton Methodist Hospital in Duncanville, nursing supervisor Kay Anderson said.

Officers with the Southwest Patrol Division, where Sandel and Fleming had worked less than two years, seemed upset by the deaths, but were looking ahead, said Sgt. James Aylor of the division.

"I'm not sure what the mood is," Aylor said. "Everybody regrets it and is sorry that it happened. But everybody realizes the job has to go on."

A Louisiana native who joined the department in March 1987, Sandel attended the University of San Francisco on a basketball scholarship. She later transferred to Kansas State University on a track scholarship and in 1985 graduated from the University of Houston with a business-marketing degree.

Fleming, an Ohio native, also joined the Southwest Division in spring of 1987. He attended high school in Houston before enrolling at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville. He was involved in Police Officers for Christ.

The vigil honoring the two officers was organized by the Dallas Police Association and Police Officers Wives Auxiliary, which planned similar events in memory of other Dallas police officers last year. Five Dallas police officers — three on duty and two working off-duty security jobs — were killed in 1988 by gunfire.

A Dallas County sheriff's deputy was killed in the county jail.

U. S.-Vietnamese teams search for more MIAs

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second in a series of reports by George Esper, who spent 10 years covering the Indochina war for The Associated Press. Esper is on his second reporting trip to Vietnam since the war ended in April 1975.

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) — While some Americans still await word of a husband, father or son, U.S.-Vietnamese teams patrol the countryside in the biggest effort yet to find remains of fallen airmen and send them on a final, peaceful journey home.

Some families, an unspecified but apparently small number, have been told five teams are investigating and excavating sites where relatives are believed to have crashed during air strikes between 1964 and 1972. This is the fourth joint operation since October.

"Due to privacy considerations of the affected families we cannot discuss the specifics," a statement from the U.S. delegation said. "However, those families have been notified of the investigation and will be fully advised of the results."

The two dozen U.S. specialists will be in Vietnam until Jan. 23 and will leave with 25 sets of remains that are being prepared for repatriation and identification at the U.S. Army laboratory in Hawaii.

Previously, Vietnam had allowed only four U.S. teams in at a time. It has repatriated 63 sets of remains in the past month.

"The U.S. government is pleased that Vietnam has agreed to expand the ongoing effort from four to five teams," the American delegation said. "The U.S. government appreciates the initiative taken by Vietnam to repatriate these remains and hopes to continue the increasing joint cooperation to resolve the long-standing humanitarian issue."

Nguyen Can, acting director of Vietnam's office for MIAs, those missing in action during the long war that ended in 1975, agreed that cooperation has been good and the issue is humanitarian rather than political.

Hispanic radicals of the 1960s join the mainstream

By The Associated Press
Several Hispanic civil rights militants of the 1960s have given up their strident rhetoric to take jobs with the establishment they once denounced, but they still reflect the ideals of the Raza Unida Party.

One of party's founders graduated from the University of Houston law school in December and is studying for the Texas bar exam, and two former party supporters work as top administrators with the Houston school district's multilingual education department and its affirmative action program.

All three said they evolved with society to achieve the basic principles of education and equal opportunity that the Raza Unida Party promoted as its platform. Jose Angel Gutierrez, one of the party's founders and current

"We don't want to use this as any kind of leverage because we understand the feelings of the American families whose loved ones did not come home after the war," he said. "We have our own MIAs, more than the United States."

Can put the figure at 300,000. "We want to solve this question and let bygones be bygones" he said. "What's the good of keeping this alive? It would only let the spiritual wounds of war bleed, and that would not be helpful to any understanding between the two people."

Both governments have sought in public pronouncements to separate the human side of the war from politics, but the MIA issue figures into the process of establishing the diplomatic relations Vietnam seeks.

Washington has said all Vietnamese troops must be removed from Cambodia before it will consider an exchange of ambassadors, economic aid and lifting the U.S. trade embargo.

Hanoi has said it will meet the requirement by the end of next year, perhaps sooner. Vietnam invaded Cambodia in December 1978, overthrowing the murderous Khmer Rouge regime of Pol Pot, and has occupied the neighboring country since.

The United States also has sent word to Vietnam that its cooperation in returning remains would be regarded favorably. In the past, Vietnam slowed the search when it was angered by critical U.S. statements.

Fewer than 10 percent of the remains of Americans listed as missing in Indochina have been recovered since U.S. forces were withdrawn from Vietnam in early 1973.

Vietnam has returned the remains of 172 Americans identified by the Army laboratory. Another 2,383 are missing: 1,747 in Vietnam, 547 in Laos, 83 in Cambodia and six in China.

U.S. officials acknowledge not all cases will be resolved, because much time has passed and many airmen were lost in jungle terrain or at sea.

The United States "will continue its efforts to account for all missing Americans," the delegation said.

director of the Texas Rural Legal Aid Foundation, still finds time to speak out on minority issues. "We're still a nation in captivity. Minorities are used as a reserve labor pool and remain underdeveloped," said Gutierrez, 44.

Gutierrez is a native of Crystal City, the predominantly Hispanic South Texas town that acted as a catalyst for Hispanic consciousness-raising in the state when he helped organize a school boycott of more than 1,700 Mexican-American students in 1969. Those involved in the boycott called for bilingual education and career and college counseling.

He went on to become school board president and then Zavala County judge in the 1970s.

Medical extension of math theory says yes... Is chaos a sign of health?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Subtle chaos in heartbeat patterns may be a sign of health, while monotonous regularity might help doctors predict if someone faces an increased risk of sudden death from cardiac arrest, researchers say.

Scientists hope the theory of chaos, which says orderly patterns can be disguised as disorder, also will help them learn how the brain works and plan the best time to give vaccines to prevent epidemics.

The extension of the mathematical theory into biology and medicine was discussed Sunday during the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The theory, popularized by James Gleick's best-selling 1987 book "Chaos," holds that complex and seemingly random events such as weather, the flow of water in a stream or stock market fluctuations really may result from simple equations or rules. As a result, scientists in many fields have rushed to find examples of this chaos — or orderly disorder — in their fields of study.

Not everyone accepts the theory. University of Wisconsin economist William Brock attacked some of its extensions, which he didn't specify, as "really wild stuff that tends to make us look like we're a bunch of quacks."

Normal heartbeats are commonly viewed as regular and periodic, but the pattern really is more erratic than people assume, said Dr. Ary Goldberger, a Harvard Medical School cardiologist, and Dr. Arnold Mandell, a psychiatry professor at the University of California, San Diego.

Goldberger said his studies found subtly chaotic variations from beat to beat occur in healthy hearts, but such fluctuations are not found in people who face an increased risk of death from sudden cardiac arrest.

Existing cardiac monitoring devices listen for average heart rate and extra beats. But devices designed to detect monotonous regularity — or the absence of subtle chaos in heart rates — might help predict who faces elevated risk for having their heart stop, Goldberger said.

Mandell said pituitary cells are another example of chaos-as-health and order-as-illness. The cells normally secrete hormones in irregular bursts to help control growth, but Mandell's research found that when such cells turn cancerous, they emit hormones steadily.

Walter Freeman, a physiologist at the University of California, Berkeley, said that by implanting electrodes in rabbits' brains, he discovered subtle but orderly brain-wave patterns hidden in the seemingly random electrical activity. Each time a rabbit sniffed and recognized a particular odor, the part of the brain responsible for the sense of smell produced a similar pattern, he said. The discovery "gets to the heart of how brains work" by revealing order in the ceaseless and seemingly chaotic electrical "noise" emitted by the brain as it processes information, Freeman said.

"His work could lead to a new generation of computers that more closely duplicate human brain function, and new ways of diagnosing brain disorders" by looking for deviations from subtle brain-wave patterns, a University of California news release speculated.

Mathematical patterns in the apparently random timing of measles, rubella or mumps epidemics in New York, Baltimore, Milwaukee, Detroit, St. Louis, Copenhagen and Aberdeen, Scotland, recently were found by a team led by William Schaffer, of the University of Arizona at Tucson's evolutionary biology department.

Some critics have accused the team of trying to explain too much with chaos theory. But if epidemics have hidden regularity, it could help public health officials conduct vaccination campaigns when they would be most effective, the journal Science reported earlier this month.

Retailer to return to Dallas area

DALLAS (AP) — Houston-based retail chain Sakowitz make its return to the Dallas market after a four-year absence by stepping into a hand-me-down from another chain.

Robert T. Sakowitz, grandson of the chain's founder, said his store has signed a lease for a 33,000-square-foot location in the fashionable Highland Park Village.

Foley's officials had explained their withdrawal from the same location by saying the store's small size didn't fit in with the rest of the chain's needs.

But Sakowitz said that won't be a problem for his operation.

Midler's at her sassy best in 'Beaches'

By Robert DiMatteo

BEACHES (PG-13) From her very first scene, Bette Midler takes this movie, puts it in her pocket, and never gives it back. Playing a musical comedy star who makes up in charm and chutzpah what she lacks in perfect looks, Bette is at her sassy best. If, while watching her recent wacko comedy roles, you've wondered what happened to the heart-on-her-sleeve Midler of "The Rose," this movie shows you she's alive and well.

Alas, most of "Beaches" is dead on arrival. It's a shameless hybrid of that women's-picture weeper "Old Acquaintance," "Rich and Famous" (the remake of "Acquaintance"), "Turning Point" and "Terms of Endearment."

Barbara Hershey — fresh from plastic surgery that makes her look more perfectly beautiful, but also less interesting — co-stars as Bette's opposite number, a sleek WASP princess who becomes an earnest, successful ACLU lawyer.

Following the friendship of these two very different women from childhood on, "Beaches" finally arrives at one of those tear-jerker climaxes that, depending on your tolerance for manipulation, will either warm your heart or make you retch.

Through it all, Bette shines. She sings several songs, with each arriving like a present for the viewers. Lainie Kazan livens things up briefly as Bette's brass-lunged mother, and two child actresses are wonderfully effective as young versions of the Midler and Hershey characters. A case could be made that the two or three best written (and most sustained) scenes in the movie are the childhood ones in which the two stars don't even appear. GRADE: ★★½

WORKING GIRL (R) Melanie Griffith — that slightly dizzy, breathy-voiced actress with a tantalizing edge of sexual effrontery — is cast to full advantage in this entertaining romantic comedy. Griffith plays Tess McGill, a guppy among the sharks of corporate Manhattan. Prime barracuda is her boss Sigourney Weaver, a pretentiously self-centered exec who thinks nothing of appropriating Tess' bright ideas for her own.

Adding spice to the stew is fellow exec Harrison Ford: Tess approaches him with her idea, along with the way succumbing to his Gary Cooper charm. Little does she know that he's also Sigourney's main man.

Written by Kevin Wade, the movie is slyly satiric — just like Wade's play "Key Exchange." At its most serious, it suggests that women can bring something humane to the male-dominated world of big business. (The Sigourney Weaver character is more of a cutthroat than any of the male execs.)

The script is just serviceable at times, especially in the later scenes when farcical complications fail to build as effortlessly as they might. But the actors are a lot of fun to watch, and this may be director Mike Nichols' liveliest movie in years. GRADE: ★★

TWINS (PG) As a genetically perfect specimen of manhood raised on a remote island — who suddenly learns that he has a twin brother — Arnold Schwarzenegger shows some warmth and a flair for silliness in this otherwise disappointing comedy.

The brother is played by Danny DeVito — hardly your candidate for genetic perfection. Once the boys get acquainted, they team up to find their long-lost mother, while dodging thugs and driving a stolen car with a prize discovery hidden in the trunk.

DeVito is more subdued than usual, which is nice. He seems to be willing to hand the picture over to Schwarzenegger, who responds with a non-stop show of glee; he often seems to be grinning from ear to ear.

But why? It can't be the script, which is a derivative non-entity; almost every item in it turns up in some other recent movie. There's the same scene of reunited brothers having a tender dancing lesson in "Rain Man," and there's a variation on the twin babies in the hospital scene in "Big Business."

But it's not the borrowings that bother as much as the flatness of their execution. And there's a terrible stickiness to the scenes involving the boys' reunion with their mother: Director Ivan Reitman seems to have decided that, since the comedy wasn't successful, he should at least go for nauseating sentimentality. Bad choice. GRADE: ★★½

Police break up demonstrations in Prague

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Police detained at least 20 prominent Czechoslovaks before using clubs, dogs and water cannon to break up a banned rally by thousands of people, a human rights activist said today.

Among those detained Sunday was former Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek, said Anna Sabatova of the Charter 77 human rights group. Hajek, 75, was a leader of the 1968 reform movement that was crushed that year by a Soviet-led invasion.

More than 5,000 people protested in Prague streets later Sunday to commemorate a student who burned himself to death to protest the invasion.

Communist authorities said "of the most active instigators" were detained. At least one person was badly injured and several others, including members of a West German television crew, were beaten by police.

Sabatova said about 20 prominent activists, including author Eva Kanturkova and Charter 77 activists Ladislav Lis and Rudolf Battek, were arrested before the rally as they prepared to lay flowers in memory of the 20-year-old student.

She said they were released after several hours, but it was not certain whether those arrested during the rally were freed.

The official news agency CTK denounced Sunday's rally, charging it was instigated by "Western subversive centers."

In East Germany on Sunday, police broke up a rally by several hundred human rights activists in downtown Leipzig, witnesses said. They said police arrested about 80 people.

The demonstrators in Leipzig were protesting Friday's arrest of 11 opposition activists, the witnesses said on condition of anonymity.

The West German ARD television network said about 500 people took part.

The police action in Prague came on a day Czechoslovakia joined 34 other countries in signing a landmark accord on human rights at the Helsinki Review Conference in Vienna, Austria.

The U.S. ambassador to the talks, Warren Zimmermann, said Czechoslovakia's Communist authorities had violated the freedom of assembly granted in the spirit of the 1975 Helsinki accords.

In Prague, marchers chanted "Long Live Freedom!" and called for the release of political prisoners as they headed toward Wenceslas Square, jeering at police.

White-helmeted riot police wielding rubber truncheons, some with leashed dogs, attacked about 1,000 demonstrators who had gathered at the square and sang the national anthem.

Demonstrators were dispersed into side streets, but remained there whistling and jeering at police.

Several people were injured in beatings by police, and one man was so badly injured that an ambulance had to be called. Among the beaten was an ARD television crew, a correspondent of the West German news agency DPA said.

CTK reported 91 arrests.

The rally was called as a tribute to Jan Palach, who ended his life by setting himself ablaze in the square on Jan. 16, 1969.

The suicide was a protest of the Warsaw Pact invasion the previous year that crushed the "Prague Spring" of liberal reforms. Thousands of shocked Czechoslovaks attended his funeral.

On Sunday, a second protest of up to 3,000 people in front of the school Palach had attended was also dispersed, activists said.

Windshield said broken

Police are investigating the early Sunday breakage of a windshield and side window of a vehicle owned by Lydia Castillo of 306 20th St.

The incident was reported at 2:46 a.m. Sunday outside the 20th St. residence.

Three people were arrested for public intoxication at 11:53 p.m. Saturday at the Latin-American Center off 13th St. in northern Snyder following a reported disturbance.

Police said a 48-year-old woman, a 34-year-old man and a 31-year-old man were taken into custody.

A 34-year-old man was arrested on a misdemeanor assault charge after giving himself up at the sheriff's office at 11:35 p.m. Sunday in connection with a reported 1:30 p.m. assault on a female relative at Dermott.

3 wrecks noted

Police investigated three accidents in the city during the weekend.

A 1984 Chrysler driven by Nina R. Lavender of Rt. 3 was in collision with a 1982 Ford Granada driven by William A. Reed of 3102 Eastridge at 4:04 p.m. Sunday in the 3000 Block of College Ave.

A 1978 Ford Thunderbird driven by Daryl R. Shafer of Fluvanna was in collision with a 1989 Buick driven by Ione S. Baughn of 4108 Kerrville Ave. at 1:38 p.m. Saturday in the 3200 Block of 40th St.

A 1986 Mazda driven by Bella M. Taylor of 100 37th St. was in collision with a 1977 Dodge driven by Daniel J. McVey of 311 35th St. at 11:11 a.m. Saturday in the 4600 Block of College Ave.

No injuries in rollover

An Austin couple escaped serious injury in a one-car rollover at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday .9 of a mile north of Dermott on U.S. 84.

The Department of Public Safety said a 1983 Subaru driven by Michael M. Engle was west-bound when it drifted into the median, went out of control and flipped once in the barrow ditch on the other side of the road.

Both Engle, 20, and his 20-year-old passenger, Kendra Patterson, suffered apparently minor injuries and did not require hospital attention, a DPS trooper said.

Firearms taken out of pickup

The sheriff's office is investigating a vehicle burglary at the Willow Park Inn in which two firearms were stolen from a Leander man's pickup truck.

Shane Harman told officers at 5:13 a.m. Sunday that his 1985 Ford Ranger had been broken into and a 20-gauge single-shot shotgun and a .3030 lever-action rifle were missing.

A TNM&O bus driver reported Sunday morning that a gunshot had hit his windshield just north of Snyder County Club on business U.S. 84, but a sheriff's deputy who went to the scene to investigate determined that the windshield had been cracked by an errant golf ball.

The incident was reported at 11:35 a.m. Sunday.

W.W. Gregory of Lamesa told sheriff's officers at 10:45 p.m. Saturday that a stock trailer loaded with furniture had come loose from his pickup truck somewhere between Lamesa and Gail.

Gregory said he had noticed the trailer was missing after he had passed through Gail, and he reported Sunday that he had found the trailer, with the furniture intact, on the roadside east of Gail.

New signal system cited in train mishap that killed 110

DHAKA, Bangladesh (AP) — Operators using a newly-installed system may have wrongly signaled two trains that crashed head-on, killing at least 110 people and injuring 1,000 in the country's worst rail accident, authorities said.

About 40 people remained in critical condition today, according to one hospital official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The 10-car express train and seven-car mail train slammed into each other Sunday outside the farming village of Maizdi Khan, sending cars tumbling and tossing passengers into freshly-harvested rice paddies.

The express train was traveling at about 50 mph, the mail train coming to a halt, authorities said.

Communications Secretary Mazurul Karim estimated that more than 2,000 people were aboard the trains, many of them Moslem pilgrims. He said, however, that people routinely ride between the cars and on the roofs, making a precise count difficult.

The government appointed a commission to investigate the collision and ordered that the panel's findings be ready within two weeks. It declared today a day of mourning.

Shortly after the accident, senior officials of the state-run railroad said they suspected operators may not have known how to properly work sophisticated digital signaling system installed five days earlier.

"Human failure and wrong signaling may have caused the two trains to come on the same track, leading to the collision," said one official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

But Communications Minister Anwar Hossain disputed their suspicions, saying more than 200 trains had traveled on the track since the system was installed Tuesday. The track on which the crash occurred share north- and southbound traffic, so trains often must wait on sidings for trains going in the opposite direction to pass.

Rescue workers using two large cranes to pull apart the crumpled wreckage finished the search for victims early today and reopened the track. Karim said no bodies were found inside.

Soldiers, fire officials and villagers pulled at least 100 bodies from the trains on Sunday, and another 10 people died at hospitals, police and railway officials said.

At the scene, sobbing relatives tried to look for loved ones among rows of bodies laid alongside the single track, but were held back by police.

"Oh, God! Bring brother back!" cried Sunil Daniel, pressing his arms against his chest.

Hundreds of injured were taken to hospitals at Tongi, five miles to the north, and to the capital, Dhaka, 22 miles to the south.

The government offered $3,125 as compensation to relatives of the dead and $2,560 to each of the injured.

The express train was headed north from Dhaka to Tongi, then southeast to Chittagong. The mail train, bound for Dhaka, had just stopped in Tongi.

Officials said many involved in the crash were pilgrims traveling to Tongi, where hundreds of thousands of Moslems have gathered for Biswa Ejtema, or World Congregation, Islam's largest gathering after the Haj in Mecca.

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can the mineral oil or petrolatum used in creams and lotions be absorbed in the skin and cause digestive problems?

DEAR READER: Neither mineral oil nor petrolatum is absorbed through intact skin. The danger of these substances comes when they are inhaled, as can be the case with petrolatum products such as Vicks VapoRub if it is incorrectly applied inside the nostrils. Inhaled petrolatum causes a form of chronic pneumonia.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband had an elevated CPK level but diabetes was ruled out. What does this enzyme indicate?

DEAR READER: Creatinephosphokinase (CPK) is a protein enzyme that is present in muscle tissue. Although the blood stream normally contains a measurable amount, most of the enzyme is held by muscles. When muscles are damaged, bruised or injured, they release their CPK into the blood. This causes a marked rise in the blood level of CPK.

In the laboratory, technicians can not only measure blood CPK but can differentiate between the types of CPK that are released from voluntary (skeletal) muscle and from heart (cardiac) muscle. Therefore, CPK determinations are a useful way of diagnosing heart attack.

When cardiac muscle is damaged by a blood clot, the tissue leaks CPK; the amount measurable in the blood-stream gives an accurate indication of the extent of the heart attack — or whether it has occurred at all. For example, if a man has chest pain, faints and falls, striking his arm or leg, the CPK will be high. In such a case, the doctor needs to know whether the elevated CPK is due to the fall or to a combination of the injury plus cardiac damage.

Did a heart attack cause him to faint? The lab can solve the problem. If there was no heart attack, the skeletal CPK will be elevated and the cardiac CPK normal. In the presence of a heart attack, both skeletal and cardiac enzyme levels will be high.

CPK bears no direct relation to diabetes, increased blood sugar. From the information you supply, I conclude that your husband either strained, pulled or bruised a muscle; his heart evidently was not affected. Ask his doctor to explain the type of CPK that was elevated and why. Diabetes is usually diagnosed with an analysis of the blood sugar, not of muscle enzymes.

For more information, I'm sending you a copy of my Health Report "Diabetes Mellitus." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Personal level exercise program

Body conditioning designed for students of various ages to participate in an exercise program at their personal level will be offered by Lee Burke at WTC in the spring semester.

Classes will meet from noon to 12:50 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The course is primarily concerned with flexibility and will use some strength exercises and general body toning. Students should set their own objective as to what they want to accomplish, Burke said.

Grades will be based on participating and attitude in class and absences can be made up with the instructor's approval.

The course is listed as HPE 112-407 on the schedule.

Volleyball class set at college

Volleyball is a popular year-round sport for players of all ages and men and women who would like to improve their game are invited to enroll for a recreational volleyball class at WTC this spring.

Tony Mauldin, Westerner

basketball coach, is to teach the class from 8-9:15 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Students will learn the basic skills of the game and also the rules and etiquette involved.

The course is listed as HPE 112-413. It does require a $10 lab fee.

Activists: Texas solons would vote to outlaw most abortions

AUSTIN (AP) — An abortion rights leader says her group may have a fight on its hands to convince lawmakers in the future not to rewrite the state's abortion statutes and that her group will work to change the lineup of individuals who might make such a decision.

Phyllis Dunham, executive director of the Texas Abortion Rights Action League, agreed that the current Texas legislature probably will outlaw abortions if such given a chance by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court agreed last week to revisit the Roe vs. Wade case, a Dallas lawsuit that led to the landmark ruling establishing a woman's right to abortion.

Before the Roe vs. Wade case challenged Texas' abortion law in 1973, the statute was known as one of the toughest in the United States. It remained virtually unchanged since it went on the books in 1854 and permitted abortion only when a woman's life was endangered.

The Supreme Court's decision on the abortion matter is not expected until summer or fall, after the 71st Legislature adjourns.

Ms. Dunham said the 1990 elections are a chance to choose lawmakers that more accurately mirror public sentiment about abortion.

"As far as the Texas Legislature is concerned, in their attitudes toward abortion they are much more conservative — anti-abortion — than their constituents," she said. "The vast majority of them are Anglo males from affluent backgrounds who may not be able to understand ... the drastic effect limiting access to abortion has on women's lives."

Activists on both sides of the issue believe most current Texas lawmakers, if given a chance by the U.S. Supreme Court, would ban abortion as long as there were exceptions for rape and incest or to save the woman's life.

"I think we'd put it back on the book," Rep. L. B. Kubiak, D-Rockdale, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Kubiak, an abortion opponent, said his interest is due partly to his adopted children.

Ms. Dunham said she expects a "tremendous fight."

"We probably have nine to 11 pro-choice votes in the Senate (among 31 members), maybe 40 to 50 votes in the (150-member) House," Ms. Dunham said. "Draw your own conclusions. It looks grim."

Bill Price, director of the Texas Coalition for Life, said a major obstacle to passage of an anti-abortion law is Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, who has the power to keep such legislation from coming up for a vote.

Hobby, a Democrat first elected in 1972, is considered no friend of the anti-abortion movement and is blamed by Price and others for preventing several previous attempts to restrict abortion.

But Hobby did not hinder a bill before the last legislative session that restricted abortions in the last three months of pregnancy.

Hobby will leave office in 1990. That, along with the timing of the Supreme Court's decision, make the 1990 elections important to activists on both sides of the issue.

Although a major legislative battle over abortion is not expected for at least two years, opponents and supporters of legalized abortion are planning to officially unveil their 1989 legislative packages later this week, to coincide with the 16th anniversary of the Roe vs. Wade decision Jan. 22.

Basic firearms course planned

Basic firearms has been scheduled as a new Continuing Education course at Western Texas College starting Jan. 23.

Joe Cheyne, jail administrator at the Scurry County jail, will teach the 36-hour course. Instruction will cover firearms safety, care and cleaning, shooting principles, and handguns and shotgun day and night range.

Fees will be $45 per person. Classes will meet from 6:30-9:20 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays through Feb. 23 and for three hours on two Saturdays, Feb. 4 and Feb. 18.

Enrollment in the class will be limited to 25 persons, with a minimum of 10 required.

Call 573-8511, ext. 240 to reserve space in the class.

Weight training set at college

Techniques to properly and safely train the body will be studied in Tony Mauldin's weight training course at Western Texas College in the spring semester.

Students will set their own goals, Mauldin said, and they will be encouraged to set realistic goals so these can be reached. Students will also receive nutritional tips to enhance performance.

Weight training meets from 1-2:15 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Weight control class planned

A weight control program involving both exercise and learning is scheduled at Western Texas College this semester.

Lee Burke, instructor, says students will spend the first part of each class meeting in an informational sharing setting. Information will be directed to tips and myths concerning dieting, the betterment of the self-image, and a safe approach to an exercise program that can be used throughout life. The aerobic portion of the class will be a walking protocol determined by the present condition of each participant.

Classes will meet from 1-1:50 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Students will need comfortable clothing including well-fitting shoes. Grades will be based solely on participating and attitude in class.

The class is listed as HPE 112-409 on the spring schedule. There is a $10 lab fee for this course.

Elementary PE course offered

Students planning to major in elementary education can gain credit toward their degree by enrolling in elementary physical education (HPE 234) at Western Texas College this spring.

Taught by Lee Burke, this course is designed to teach the philosophy of physical education in relation to the overall elementary program. Students will learn how to develop a unit of teaching and how to organize, teach and evaluate that unit. Other instruction includes the physical, social and psychological development of young children and why some skills are better than other.

Classes will meet from 11:30-12:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Conditioned water makes the difference ...all around the house.

You can have high quality conditioned water that works for you...as much as you need... whenever you need it... with the Culligan® Mark 89 and Mark 812 Water Conditioners.

These rugged, heavy-duty Culligan water softeners are designed to meet every water softening need—whether you live in the city or the country. They make even the hardest water a soft touch.

With the Mark 89 and Mark 812, you'll have unlimited conditioned water on tap each month, automatically. And our Custom Guest Cycle gives you the extra supply of soft water needed when you temporarily have more people at home.

Conditioned water for better living.
Hard water is a problem for over half of all American homes. Tiny particles of calcium and magnesium can cause soap residue on laundry, dull dishes, clogged plumbing pipes, even dry skin.

So when you install a Culligan Mark 89 or Mark 812 Water Conditioner in your home, you'll see a difference in every room of the house. Everything you wash with water will feel and look cleaner, fresher.

Clothes laundered in conditioned water take on a new brightness. They last longer, too, because there's no soap residue to stain and weaken fibers. Dishes, glasses and cookware rinse to a sparkle. You won't see a dull, sticky film on shower tiles or bathtubs. Even your skin and hair will feel softer, because conditioning eliminates hard water impurities that clog pores and cause dryness.

Conditioning saves money, too. You can use less detergent, shampoo and other cleaners—you may not even need fabric softeners or hair conditioners. Since all your "working water" is automatically conditioned, you won't have to use expensive rinse additives in your dishwashing or washing machine cycles.

Best of all, conditioned water reduces mineral deposit build-up in plumbing pipes and hot water heaters. You save on plumbing repairs, and your water heating costs could drop by as much as 29 percent!

It's easy to make a Culligan Conditioner part of your home.
A Culligan Mark 89 or 812 can be conveniently installed in the basement, utility room, garage or other location by your Culligan service representative. He or she will always be on hand to provide the very best service.

Remember, when you buy a Culligan Water Conditioner, it belongs to you. So take it with you when you move. Culligan reinstallation service is always available from our 1,350 dealers worldwide.
