

Bush plans private farewell to Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — His inaugural festivities launched amid thunderous fireworks over a sea of lights on the capital Mall, George Bush is spending his final day as vice president with plans for a private goodbye to the man he says helped make it all possible.

"It won't be too easy," Bush said of what could be his final private moment with President Reagan before he takes the oath of office.

On the eve of his inauguration as the 41st president, Bush was to meet at the White House with the outgoing chief executive as the focus of the nation's leadership was already beginning to shift.

A twilight inaugural extravaganza at the stately Lincoln Memorial on Wednesday was marked by a flyover of Navy jets, a massive fireworks display and music by the Beach Boys and other groups. Many in the crowd waved penlights handed out for the event to represent Bush's campaign theme of "a thousand points of light."

Bush told the crowd that Reagan will be a hard act to follow.

"I am following a great president and a great presidency," he said.

"We're not coming in to correct the ills of the past. We're coming in to build on a proud record."

Bush tried to stress his commitment to social justice during several appearances Wednesday, as hundreds of homeless people protested outside the lavish banquets held for Republican boosters. Protesters outside one banquet at Union Station chanted "Feed the poor, not the rich."

"America is strong once again, but the job is not complete," Bush said at the Lincoln Memorial. "Some are still hurting. And we care."

Echoing a goal outlined at his victory celebration in Houston on election night, he declared: "I will try to be a president of all the people."

After a whirl of late-night partying on Wednesday, the president-elect planned a more subdued day today as the public inaugural festivities continued unabated.

Decision to expel affirmed

Judge rules ISD within its rights

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

Citing that a school district has both the "right and the duty to discipline students," District Judge Gene Dulaney Wednesday upheld the expulsion of a 19-year-old Snyder High School senior.

The student was expelled Dec. 8 by high school officials after telling an instructor the previous day he would like to "whip his ass," a threat deemed a "verbal assault" by administrators and the reason cited for the expulsion.

Dulaney's decision followed two days of testimony prompted by the student, Abel Lee Escobedo, seeking an injunction against Snyder ISD as a means of re-entering school.

The decision to expel had previously been supported by both Superintendent Dalton Moseley, at a Dec. 13 hearing, and the school board, at a Jan. 5 hearing.

Escobedo was represented at both the Jan. 5 appeal and during the two-day hearing in 132nd District Court by attorney Marvin Sentell. Representing the school district was attorney Pete Greene.

In closing arguments Wednesday, Sentell argued that the student's "due process" was incorrectly followed by the district, claiming that the student did not have an adequate chance to defend his actions at the first expulsion appeal hearing before the superintendent.

In his ruling, however, the district judge noted that Texas law requires a "broad leeway" when applied to a school district's actions toward a student.

"A court should not interfere unless there is a clear and obvious abuse or arbitrary action (by the district)," the judge commented.

"The evidence has not shown that the board acted in an arbitrary manner."

Sentell had also challenged the district's reason for expelling the student, interpreting the threat directed toward the teacher as "in reality, only words."

"While I don't feel the court is condoning this conduct," Sentell said, he compared it to a

BEST test readied at WTC campus

The BEST test, a requirement for employment with the Texas Department of Corrections, will be offered for the first time Friday on the campus of Western Texas College to 40 applicants.

Rae Adams, TEC staffer, noted that the first 40 applicants through her office were scheduled this time. She noted several names were taken also for a standby list.

TEC officials stress to applicants that "when" they take the test will have no bearing on future employment potential. "Those taking the test first won't be the first ones hired," noted Jerre Howard, head of the TEC office in Sweetwater.

"TDC will consider all the applicants before making any final decisions."

It is now expected the BEST test will be offered here again both in February and March. Exact dates have not been set but will be announced well in advance of the testing, she noted.

In addition Friday, a typing test which may be included with TDC applications will be offered by WTC personnel.

Twenty are scheduled to take the test at 10 a.m. and 20 are slated to take it at 2 p.m. Testing will occur in Room 7A-102.

To accommodate those taking the typing test, WTC has opened the testing room to applicants both Wednesday and Thursday. The room is to be open Thursday from 1 until 9 p.m.

The testing equipment will include IBM Selectric typewriters. All materials will be furnished for the test.

WTC office careers instructors Joann Snider and Tammy Wesson will be monitoring both the BEST test and the typing test.

Individuals must have an appointment slip to be admitted to the testing, officials note.

Those interested in taking future offerings of the test are advised to first go to the local Texas Employment Commission office

WTC staffer headed to inaugural reunion

George Bush told Verta Hardegree in 1959 in Midland that he would one day be president, and the Western Texas College secretary left Wednesday with her husband and oldest daughter to watch his prediction come true.

Hardegree, whose mother, Lois Rogers, helped Mrs. Bush take care of the Bush children for several years when the future president was a Midland oilman, was Mitchell County chairman for him last year.

The Hardegrees received a special invitation from the Bush family to attend the inauguration, scheduled Friday in Washington.

Hardegree said she is elated that Bush "has been given his chance at last" to serve as president.

She said her involvement in politics and advocacy for Bush were well accepted by her colleagues at WTC, where she works as a secretary in the administrative offices.

As for their inauguration plans, she noted she and husband Weldon, who farms near Colorado City, and daughter Deana, a junior at the University of Texas-Permian Basin, will attend a Celebration for Young

BCD funds support conservation district

The Board of County Development voted Wednesday to make a $1,000 contribution to the 1989 activities of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, including the district's annual poster and essay contests for high school students.

In a noon meeting at Snyder Country Club, chairman Jack Denman said the contribution, scaled down from $1,500 last year, could be increased if the water district needed more money to finance its programs, which also include co-sponsoring land and grass-judging contests with Western Texas College.

Scurry County's outstanding farmer and rancher are recognized annually by the district, the outstanding conservation teacher is given a plaque and certificate, and the Scurry County Farm and Ranch Tour is co-sponsored with the Chamber of Commerce and Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Other business included chamber director Bill Moss's report that the BCD ended 1988 with a $1,196 budget surplus, having expended $41,454 of its $42,650 budget.

Board members Eddie Johnson, Bill Parker, Max von Roeder and Denman attended the meeting. Jack Smartt was absent.

Ask Us

Q. — What exactly is the BEST test?

A. — It stands for Basic Employment Service Test and is an exam which measures a person's general aptitude for a particular occupation. For TDC employment, the job emphasis will be clerical skills. The test, which can take from 3 to 3½ hours to complete, includes multiple choice questions, some math and "recognition" testing and some tests of dexterity.

The $150 million federal experimental project could bring about 100 permanent jobs to the area and would attract research dollars to the region's two major universities, Fred Mattson, spokesman for El Paso Electric Co., said Wednesday.

Ontiveros' wife says...

Nude photos are humiliating

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The common-law wife of a reputed drug smuggler says Mexican police humiliated her by taking nude photographs of her in jail, but a prosecutor said it is a common procedure to take such pictures.

The prosecutor added that officials will investigate who in Ciudad Juarez's jail circulated the pictures, which he said are supposed to be confidential.

Paige Elizabeth Lacey, girlfriend of reputed marijuana trafficker Gilberto Ontiveros Lucero, said through her lawyer Wednesday that federal judicial police in Juarez stripped her, photographed her nude from the waist up and distributed the pictures throughout the jail after she and Ontiveros were arrested Jan. 9.

"She said, 'I was degraded,'" her attorney, Robert Harris, said Wednesday. He would not allow Ms. Lacey to comment directly to reporters.

Federal prosecutor Genaro Carrillo Elvira said Mexican police routinely photograph prisoners bare-chested as part of the record of their physical exams. In addition to Ms. Lacey, police photographed two of Ontiveros' bodyguards shirtless. Carrillo denied the photographs are intended to degrade their subjects. "These practices are not an unusual thing," he said, adding that only prosecutors and the judge are supposed to have access to the pictures.

Carrillo's assistant, Javier Coello Trejo, said officials will try to find and punish whoever obtained the photographs and distributed them.

Harris said those actions might not be enough to satisfy Ms. Lacey.

"She wants to discuss this with her husband and decide on a course of action," he said.

Ms. Lacey, 23, of Templeton, Calif., was arrested along with Ontiveros and two bodyguards after a 10-day hunt. Ontiveros remains in a Juarez jail on drug-smuggling and weapons charges; his bodyguards remain in jail on weapons charges.

Ms. Lacey was deported Saturday into the custody of El Paso police, who wanted her on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. She posted $6,000 bail Wednesday night.

During a jailhouse interview this week with Juarez newspaper El Fronterizo, Ontiveros gave the newspaper the bare-chested photos of Ms. Lacey and the two bodyguards. He said police intended to humiliate his common-law wife, who is eight months' pregnant.

The newspaper printed all three photographs at the top of the front page in Tuesday's editions. Carrillo then announced he was launching an investigation into how the pictures were circulated.

Stepmom Wants to Close Book On Wicked Fairy Tale Image

By Abigail Van Buren
 © 1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a widower who is the father of three young children, so now I am a stepmother. I love these children and they love me, but here's the problem:

I hope you won't think I am being childish or silly, but while reading bedtime stories to the children, I am deeply hurt when I come across a character in the story who is described as the "wicked stepmother." Abby, this is terribly unfair to all the kind and caring stepmothers.

Is there anything we can do to stop perpetuating this ugly myth? How can we good stepmothers combat the "wicked stepmother" label?

A NOT-SO-WICKED STEPMOTHER

in the family feels the way I do about him.

What should I do? Please hurry your answer.

CONCERNED IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR CONCERNED: According to Arthur Groman, my legal consultant, there are specific provisions in the law of California governing the obligation of children to support their parents who are in need. There is also a provision of law that any adult person abandoned by a parent prior to the age of 18 may bring an action to be relieved from the obligation of support. Because of the nature of these laws, you should consult a California attorney.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a daughter who is 14 years old, and already she is 6 feet 2 inches tall. We have heard that she will continue to grow until she is 16 years old.

She feels very self-conscious being so tall for her age. Abby, can anything be done to stop her from growing taller?

WORRIED IN HAWAII

DEAR WORRIED: Ask your family physician to arrange a consultation with a pediatric endocrinologist. In recent years, the medical profession has learned much about how to "discourage" (as well as "encourage") growth.

***

CONFIDENTIAL TO "EUNICE IN NEWARK": Not all men cheat on their wives. But it's a fairly safe bet that the man who says they do cheats on his.

Annual earnings doubled in 1988

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — AMR Corp., parent company of American Airlines, on Wednesday reported preliminary unaudited record net earnings for 1988 of $476.8 million, more than double the $198.4 million it earned in 1987.

AMR also said its 1988 profit-sharing fund will total $121 million. The fund will be paid to employees in March.

AMR's earnings per share for 1988 were $7.92 primary and $7.66 fully diluted. The 1987 share earnings were $3.28, primary and fully diluted.

AMR also set a net earnings record in the fourth quarter of 1988 with net earnings of $116.7 million, or earnings per share of $1.93 primary and $1.87 fully diluted. This compares to a 1987 fourth-quarter net loss of $805,000, or 5 cents a share.

AMR's operating income in 1988 was $806.5 million, up 74.9 percent from the $461.1 million in 1987.

A quick-to-fix meat loaf

By NANCY BYAL
Better Homes and Gardens
Food Editor

Who would believe a meat loaf this good could be ready in just 30 minutes! Buy pizza sauce for easy seasoning and pre-shredded cheese for a fast filling. But the biggest time-saver is your microwave; it cooks the meat loaf in 21 minutes.

MOZZARELLA-STUFFED MEAT LOAF

- 1 beaten egg
- One 8-ounce can pizza sauce
- 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup toasted wheat germ
- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
- 1/2 cup shredded mozzarella cheese (2 ounces)
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 tablespoons dried parsley flakes
- 1/4 cup shredded mozzarella cheese (1 ounce)

In a large bowl combine egg, 1-3rd cup of the pizza sauce, bread crumbs and wheat germ. Mix in beef. On foil, pat beef mixture into a 9-by-8-inch rectangle.

In a small bowl combine the 1/2 cup mozzarella cheese, Parmesan and parsley. Spoon cheese mixture down center third of beef mixture parallel to 8-inch side and to within 1/2-inch of edges. Use foil to bring short ends of beef together; seal edges and ends of roll. Roll from foil seam side down onto a microwave-safe meat rack in a 12-by-7 1/2-by-2-inch microwave-safe baking dish. Cook immediately, or cover and chill overnight.

To cook, cover loaf with waxed paper. Cook in the microwave on 100 percent power (high) 5 minutes. Give dish a half-turn. Cook, uncovered, on 70 percent power (medium-high) 12 to 16 minutes or until no pink remains, shielding ends with foil as necessary to prevent overcooking and giving dish a half-turn every 5 minutes. Tent with foil. Let stand 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, cook remaining pizza sauce on 100 percent power (high) 1 minute or until heated through. Spoon over meat loaf. Sprinkle top with 1/4 cup mozzarella. Return to microwave. Cook, uncovered, on high 1 minute or until cheese melts. Makes 6 servings.

Measuring lean and fat

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — There are several ways to determine how much of a person's weight is lean tissue rather than fat.

One method that involves no discomfort is to measure the radiation someone gives off while sitting quietly in a chair.

"The body's muscles and organs contain potassium," says Dr. Gilbert Forbes of the University of Rochester's Medical Center, "but you don't find potassium in fat tissue." One of the isotopes (naturally occurring varieties) of potassium is radioactive, Forbes explains, so everyone emits some radioactivity. By measuring it and applying a formula, researchers can calculate a person's lean tissue weight.

nose at the club finesse. For one thing, it might not work. For another, trying the club finesse would botch his communication for ruffing a diamond. So he played ace of clubs and ruffed a club, ruffed a low diamond and ruffed another club as East discarded a heart. He now played K-Q of spades, throwing hearts from dummy. Then he played his last spade, throwing a club from dummy, and waited for East to discard. If East let go a diamond, declarer would play king and a diamond, and East would have to play away from the ace of hearts. If East threw another heart, declarer would simply duck a heart all around. The play was logical, since it was quite unlikely that East would overcall two diamonds on only a five-card suit without the heart ace.

Ford Motor Co. began selling its ill-fated Edsel Sept. 4, 1957. The medium-priced luxury car proved so unpopular it was taken off the market in 1959. Since then, the word "Edsel" has been associated with costly failure.

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Our son, 17, is 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds. A year ago he began having attacks where his left side gets numb, his speech gets slurred and his thinking gets slow. They last about 10 minutes. They are coming more frequently. A cardiologist found MVP, a neurologist said he had migraines (although his head doesn't hurt), and told us not to worry. Well, what happens if he has an attack while driving?

DEAR READER: Driving could be a problem. I'm not sure whether your son is experiencing neurological abnormalities from mitral valve prolapse (MVP, a weakened valve in the heart), small seizures (such as epilepsy) or migraine equivalents (nerve problems without the typical headache). Until a diagnosis is established and treatment undertaken, I do not believe that your son should operate machinery. Also, I do not believe the neurologist's advice (not to worry) was appropriate under the circumstances. You ARE worried and you have every right to be.

The three conditions I mentioned are all treatable. However, without therapy, I think that your son is at some risk during certain activities. He needs a diagnosis. Request another opinion. In particular, ask for your son to be referred to a diagnostic clinic in a teaching hospital. Let me know what the specialists decide.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I recently underwent coronary bypass. The diet I was prescribed post-operatively calls for very limited quantities of sodium, cholesterol and sugar. What's the point of limiting sucrose if I don't have to limit other sugars such as fructose and lactose?

DEAR READER: Refined sugar serves little purpose in the body other than providing "empty" calories. Also, sucrose is poison to diabetics. Fruits, which contain fructose, also provide additional substances — such as vitamins, minerals and fiber — that are healthful. Similarly, although milk has lactose, it provides many nutritional elements, such as calcium and protein.

I think that your doctor was simply attempting to reduce your caloric intake, at the same time allowing you nutritious food and permitting you to have substantial dietary selection. His prescription against salt, cholesterol and refined sugar makes sense to me. If you follow his advice, you'll be eating a more healthful diet and, I hope, reducing both your weight and the likelihood that your bypass grafts will become clogged by atherosclerotic plaque.

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Eating Right For a Healthy Heart." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 92369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Garlic, onions cut cancer risk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Garlic and onions can put a crimp in your social life, but they also could provide unexpected protection against cancer, according to a study published by the National Cancer Institute.

The study compared foods eaten by stomach cancer victims with the diet of healthy people in Linqu, China. Researchers found that the strong-smelling vegetables "can significantly reduce the risk of stomach cancer."

Published this week in the Journal of the National Cancer Institute, the study says researchers used questionnaires to compare the dietary habits of 685 patients with stomach cancer with those of 1,131 other people, matched by age, gender, occupation and education, who had no diagnosed cancer.

People in the control, or cancer-free, group each year consumed at least 25 and sometimes more than 50 pounds of allium vegetables, a genus which includes onions, garlic, leeks, chives, ramps and scallions.

The cancer patients generally ate less than 25 pounds of the vegetables.

The study also found that the risk of stomach cancer declined as the habitual consumption of such vegetables increased. In other words, the more onions and garlic you eat over a lifetime, the less your chances of stomach cancer.

"Persons in Linqu tended to be exposed to mild doses of allium vegetables over long periods, likely beginning in childhood," the study said. "Our study suggests that all or part of such exposure has resulted in a reduction in stomach cancer risk starting at an early age ... and continuing throughout life."

The anti-cancer effects of onion-like root vegetables have been suggested in studies dating back to the 1950s. A 1979 study, for instance, found a reduced amount of stomach cancer among residents of a Georgia county famous for growing vidalia onions. A study in Greece showed that gastric cancer patients usually ate fewer fresh vegetables, including onions, than those who were cancer-free.

"Several experimental studies have suggested that compounds in allium vegetables can protect against cancer in laboratory animals," the NCI Journal study said. It said a variety of studies have shown that chemical compounds extracted from onions and garlic tend to reduce, alter or prevent cancer in laboratory rats, mice and hamsters.

But the study said the precise anti-cancer element in allium vegetables has not been pinpointed.

The Chinese study found that "reduced risks were associated not only with intake of all allium vegetables combined, but also with individual allium foods, suggesting that these vegetables have a common chemical component (possibly allyl sulfides) that is protective in humans." stomach cancer.

The statistical study was conducted by a National Cancer Institute team led by W.J. Blot, and by researchers from the People's Republic of China.

It's official...

Texas to get supercollider

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas has officially been named the winner of the seven-state battle to host a proposed $5.9 billion superconducting super collider.

Energy Secretary John H. Herrington Wednesday signed an official "record of decision" during a ceremony attended by Texas Gov. Bill Clements.

The official action certifies the decision to build the massive physics installation around the city of Waxahachie, about 25 miles south of Dallas.

The collider is envisioned as a 53-mile underground ring that would use 10,000 magnets to whirl beams of protons into each other at energy levels 20 times what is possible in today's most powerful machines.

The facility will be used by scientists to explore the nature of matter and energy. It is to be called the Ronald Reagan Center for High-Energy Physics, although it remains uncertain whether Congress will give the go-ahead to begin construction.

Congress agreed last year to spend $100 million on the collider, but it decreed that none of the money be spent on construction. In his budget proposal for the coming fiscal year, President Reagan requested $250 million for the collider, including $90 million for research and development and $160 million for construction.

Herrington had declared last Nov. 10 that Texas was the "preferred site" for the project, but a waiting period was required before the choice was made official.

"Texas has been chosen as the super collider site because it is the superior site from an overall standpoint," Herrington said at the signing ceremony.

Some of the states that lost in the bidding have questioned the Energy Department's selection process.

Democratic Sens. Paul Simon of Illinois and Dennis DeConcini of Arizona are among those who have asked Congress's investigative arm, the General Accounting Office, to review the department's site selection process and to determine whether the choice was influenced more by politics than by merit.

Victor F. Weisskopf, a physicist who attended the signing ceremony as part of a separate award presentation, said the super collider would allow scientists to explore "how this great universe was started and how it has developed."

"We need the superconducting super collider ... to help all the scientists of the planet to penetrate deeper into the mysteries of matter," he said.

Other states losing in the bidding race were Colorado, Michigan, North Carolina and Tennessee.

Baptists bring in harpist

Greg Buchanan, world class harpist, will perform a Christian concert at 7 p.m. Friday at Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

Buchanan's performance will be enhanced by a dramatic testimony of his personal salvation from a life of drug and alcohol addiction to a ministry of music.

He has performed at the Denver Billy Graham Crusade, The Christian Artists Music Seminar, Insight For Living, the Gospel Music Association's Dove Awards, the National Religious Broadcaster's Convention, Gaither's Praise Gathering, and the Christian Booksellers Association convention.

Buchanan plays a top-of-the-line Salvi Harp. He has six recordings to his credit.
