Furor over 'Satanic Verses' continues

LONDON (AP) — Iran's president today praised the offering of a bounty for Salman Rushdie's murder but said the death threat might be revoked if the author apologizes to Moslems for his novel "The Satanic Verses."

In London, authorities said they were taking "extremely seriously" threats to bomb British aircraft because of the controversy over the book, which some say slanders Islam.

The developments prompted the United States' biggest bookseller, Waldenbooks, to remove copies of the critically acclaimed novel from its shelves Thursday.

Britain protested to Iran after Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini urged Moslems to kill Rushdie, a British citizen who was born into a Moslem family in India. Iranian religious leaders have offered a total of $5.2 million for the killing.

An Italian magazine quoted

Iran's ambassador to the Vatican as saying that publishers planning an Italian edition of the novel should also be killed and that he would be willing to do the job.

Rushdie, 41, and his wife, American novelist Marianne Wiggins, remained under police guard at an undisclosed site in Britain.

In Tehran, President Ali Khamenei thanked leaders for offering the bounty but also said the death threat might be withdrawn if the author apologized, Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency said.

"He may repent and say 'I made a blunder' and apologize to Moslems and to the imam (Khomeini). Then it is possible that the people may pardon him," IRNA quoted Khamenei as saying. But Khamenei also said, "This wretched man (Rushdie) has no choice but to die because he has confronted himself with a billion Moslems and with the imam."

The report, monitored in Nicosia, said tens of thousands of high school students marched through the center of Tehran today shouting anti-British slogans to protest "The Satanic Verses."

Another protest was held in Dhaka, Bangladesh, where 1,000 Islamic fundamentalists marched through the city chanting "Set fire to the U.S. Mission!" and "Hang Salman Rushdie!"

Opponents of the book say it insults Islam.

WET ROADWAYS — Snyder received almost 1.4 inches of rain during the day and night Thursday, creating slick streets and highways here. Since the rainy weather moved into the area Monday, the city has received some 1.7 inches while select areas of Scurry County have gained more than 4 inches of moisture. The Snyder area has a 30 percent chance for more rain Friday. (SDN Staff Photos)

City charter vote due here in May for 34 revisions

City councilmen and three former mayors Thursday night reviewed 34 proposed amendments to the city's 1952 charter and said they will be voted on individually in the May 6 municipal election.

A notice listing each of the 34 proposals will be published prior to the May vote, it was noted.

City Secretary Jeanne Johnson went over each amendment during the 2½ hour dinner meeting, explaining that most of the changes are to bring the city into compliance with state and federal election laws.

Former mayors Mal Stevenson, who was a city councilman when the original charter was adopted, Milton Ham and John Fagin had drawn the amendments on a committee with Mayor Troy Williamson, City Manager John Gayle and Ernie B. Armstrong, whose law firm represents the city.

A sampling of the more pertinent changes include:

—Proposed Amendment No. 5 formally establishes the four single-member districts already in use.

—Proposed Amendment No. 9, to comply with the state election code, says that council members from single-member districts shall be chosen by majority vote, while at-large members are selected by plurality vote.

—Proposed Amendment No. 10 changes the time of municipal elections from the first Tuesday in April each year to the first Saturday in May, which is stipulated by the Texas Election Code.

—Proposed Amendment No. 14 eliminates references to the city treasurer, in favor of the city secretary.

—Proposed Amendment No. 21 would change the required public notice for an annual public hearing on the city's budget from 10 to 15 days.

—Proposed Amendment No. 23 eliminates references to a city

Yuletide selling ups sales tax

In February, Texas cities are visited by the Ghost of Christmas past as sales tax returns for December are reported, and, for Snyder, the indication was a plus 9.9 percent for the month.

This brought the year to a plus 8.1 percent with two months now counted. In actual dollars, Snyder has now received $156,874 from the 1 percent sales tax as compared to $145,033 last year.

During December, the 1 percent tax equaled $109,412 this year compared to $99,030 the previous year.

Scurry County also received its ½ of 1 percent sales tax allocation. The February payment equaled $50,551 for the period, bringing the year to $78,144.

Across the state, the 1988 Christmas season generated increased sales tax returns for Texas cities. Comptroller Bob Bullock noted also that the broadened tax base has now "evened out," and that any increases shown reflect "a stronger economy and greater consumer confidence."

Bullock's office sent checks totaling nearly $225 million in sales tax allocations.

Across West Texas, the sales tax report was mixed with some cities showing increases and others decreases. A sampling of

Fine Arts Day set at WTC

After a one-day suspension of classes Friday, the campus of Western Texas College is expected to be busy again Saturday as the WTC Fine Arts Division has invited high school students, parents, counselors and teachers to its first Fine Arts Day.

Over $12,000 in scholarships will be awarded by the Fine Arts Division for the 1989-90 school year and seniors interested in applying for these are invited to pick up application forms Saturday.

John Gibson, Fine Arts division chairman, said the faculty plans to offer brief discussions about career opportunities in art, music and theatre and a general overview of the classes offered in the art department.

The music and theatre departments will require on-campus auditions for scholarships and the art department requires that students submit a portfolio of their art work.

These auditions or art work considerations were to be arranged in advance.

Fine Arts Day will begin with registration from 9-9:30 a.m. in the Fine Arts Building. A general information meeting, campus tour, and presentations by Fine Arts faculty members will follow, ending at noon.

On Friday, college classes were dismissed to allow faculty members to attend the annual Texas Junior College Teachers Association (TJCTA) convention in Fort Worth.

"Dear Son,
Just a few lines to let you know that I'm still alive. I'm writing this slowly because I know you cannot read fast. You won't know the house when you come home, 'cause we have moved.

There was a washing machine in the new house when we moved in, but it isn't working too good. Last week I put 14 shirts in it, and pulled the chain and I haven't seen the shirts since.

Your sister Mary had a baby this morning, but I haven't heard if it is a boy or girl, so I don't know if you'll be an aunt or uncle.
Your Uncle Dick drowned last week in a vat of whiskey. Some of his fellow workers dived in to save him, but he was able to fight them off. We cremated his body and it took three days to put out the fire.

Your father didn't have much to drink on Christmas. I put a bottle of castor oil in his pint. It kept him going for quite a while.

I went to the doctor on Tuesday and your father came with me. The doctor put a tube in my mouth and told me not to open it for 10 minutes. Your father tried to buy it from him.

It only rained twice last week, first for three days and then for four days. Monday was so windy that one of our chickens laid the same egg four times.

We had a letter yesterday from the undertaker. He said if that last installment wasn't paid on your grandmother within seven days, she comes up.

Your loving mother,
P.S. I was going to send you $20, but I had already sealed the envelope."

Rainfall forecast tonight

From Local Wire Reports

After receiving almost 1.4 inches of rain during the day and night Thursday, Snyder and the surrounding area retains the chance for rain through Friday night, but Saturday should see the clouds begin to move out of the area.

The official 24-hour rain total for Snyder as of 7 a.m. Friday was 1.39 inches. The rain activity stopped some time after midnight.

The rain chances Friday are listed at 30 percent with overnight lows at or near freezing. Saturday temperatures are predicted to rise into the upper 40s.

By Sunday, West Texas skies are expected to be clear. For the Snyder area, a high in the mid to upper 50s is forecast Sunday.

The clearing trend is expected to be accompanied by warmer temperatures at least through Tuesday.

Some portions of Scurry County have received 4 inches-plus of rain since the wet weather moved in last Monday.

The heaviest rains have been noted around Hermleigh and near the Dunn area.

The City of Snyder's official tally since Monday is near 1.7 inches of additional rain, bringing the year-to-date figure to 2.44 inches.

The showers Thursday were the heaviest for most portions of the county. Amounts reported Friday morning included 2 inches just west of Dunn; 1.4 inches at Hermleigh; 1.3 inches near Lloyd Mountain; approximately 1 inch at Lake J.B. Thomas; and .92 of an-inch at Fluvanna.

The rainfall was expected to end across West Texas Friday and northwest portions of North Texas by dawn Saturday. The rest of the state was to have continued rainfall through Saturday.

The rainfall is being triggered by the flow of warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico moving northward across cooler air at the surface.

The cold front that triggered the precipitation had moved southward out of the state by dawn Friday.

Light freezing rain fell across northern portions of the Panhandle at dawn Friday and dense fog caused problems along the coastal bend.

Strip-searched

AUSTIN (AP) — A Roman Catholic nun arrested during an abortion protest at an Austin clinic last weekend says Travis County jailers abused their authority by forcing her to submit to a strip search.

"There's no reason to check a nun," said Teresse Auer, a 34-year-old doctoral student of philosophy at the University of St. Thomas in Houston.

Sister Auer, a member of the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity who was arrested Saturday with 104 other protesters, said two female sheriff's deputies searched her in a group with three other women.

"They did not touch us, but they looked as closely as possible without touching," she told the Austin American-Statesman.

Plane down

CONROE, Texas (AP) — A twin-engine aircraft went down near the Montgomery County Airport this morning but the four people aboard the plane were able to walk away, authorities said.

Only one of the passengers suffered minor injuries and was taken to the Montgomery County Medical Center, a county sheriff's dispatcher who refused to identify herself said.

"It was a twin-engine and it went down a little northwest of the airport. It was a company plane, but we don't know which company," she said.

One arrested

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP) — A nationally known leader of AIDS advocate groups and co-founder of the AIDS Resource Center in Dallas has been arrested in Hawaii on a warrant accusing him of robbing a bank in this Dallas suburb, police say.

Grand Prairie detective Richard Bender said Thursday that Mike Richards, 42, was arrested Wednesday by Maui County Police Department officers on an arrest warrant issued by a Tarrant County magistrate.

Would-Be Lawyer Should Be Barred From Taking the Exam

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: In case you haven't already been raked over the coals for telling the fellow who flunked the California bar exam 44 times to "keep trying" — here comes the rake.

Abby, no one should practice law who has had to take the bar exam 44 times — assuming he or she passes on the 45th try. Eventually, some people who are marginally qualified will pass the bar exam simply due to learning how to take it. If such a person required 45 tries to do so, I would avoid having him or her as my legal counsel.

How would you like to be operated on by a surgeon who has had to take his state medical boards over 40 times before he or she finally passes them?

Please don't encourage this turkey to keep trying. He might make it, and we already have enough incompetent bunglers out there now, giving the legal profession a bad name.

CALIFORNIA ATTORNEY

DEAR ATTORNEY: You are right, of course. Much as I admire determination, for the reasons you mention, I should not have encouraged a 44-time loser to keep trying.

And speaking of how difficult it is to pass the bar exams, judging from the number of candidates who flunk on the first try, Vermont's bar is the toughest to pass, and California's is the second toughest.

After two years of dating, I'm wondering if maybe I should try to meet someone else. I am crazy about him, but I'm getting older and don't want to spend the rest of my life alone. All our children are grown and away from home and we are both financially secure.

Abby, how can you tell if a man loves you? I'm so afraid I may be living in a fantasy world and will get hurt that I'm considering backing off from this relationship. Please don't tell me to discuss it with him. I just don't have the nerve.

WARY WIDOW IN TEXAS

DEAR WARY: Actions speak louder than words. Of course he loves you. Your question seems to be: "Am I wasting my time — or is this man going to ask me to marry him?"

That's a perfectly legitimate question, and if you're considering backing off because he's made no commitment, take my advice and get that message to him — if you have to mail him this column. (If you send me his address, I'll mail it.)

Global aviation group will study anti-terrorism plans

MONTREAL (AP) — A worldwide aviation agency will study ways to screen radios, tape players and other seemingly harmless devices that could be used to smuggle a terrorist bomb aboard an airplane.

The 33-nation council of the International Civil Aviation Organization ordered the study the same day British authorities in Lockerbie, Scotland, said the bomb that brought down Pan Am Flight 103 was hidden in a radio-cassette player.

U.S. and British aviation authorities requested the two-day session that concluded Thursday in Montreal following the Dec. 21 bombing over Scotland that killed 259 people on the plane and 11 on the ground.

The council ordered its staff to investigate what measures could be taken to prevent further terrorist sabotage aboard aircraft, and said it will make those recommendations in several months to the 160-member International Civil Aviation Organization, the air affiliate of the United Nations.

The council condemned "all acts of unlawful interference against international civil aviation" and urged member nations to intensify their air travel safeguards.

"A concrete plan of action was agreed to by the members of ICAO, which was our goal," U.S. Transportation Secretary Samuel K. Skinner said at a closing news conference.

British Transportation Secretary Paul Channon described the meeting as marking "a new era of international cooperation to combat the terrorist threat in civil aviation."

A resolution adopted by the council commits the organization to review whether more intensive measures are needed to detect sabotage devices, especially explosives.

It urges quicker research and development on detection of explosives and on security equipment.

The organization's staff also will be considering whether new steps are needed to increase the matching of passengers and their bags as a security measure, to consider the security problem of cargo, mail and courier services using passenger aircraft, and the issue of controlling access to airports.

The staff also will be looking at the security problems posed by radios, computers and other electronic equipment in which explosives or components can be hidden.

Channon, speaking at an earlier news conference Thursday after the announcement of the latest findings in the Flight 103 investigation, said, "This is further evidence of the extent of this serious problem."

Volunteers feted with luncheon

Scurry County Museum volunteers were honored for their service at a luncheon Tuesday in the museum.

Plaques were presented to Elois Davis and Buddy Burnett, long-time volunteer workers in the museum. Their duties include serving as guides for school groups visiting the museum. Other volunteers received lapel pins, presented by Shirley Leftwich, museum director.

Charlotte Greene has been named coordinator of volunteer activities for the museum, Mrs. Leftwich announced, and persons interested in giving volunteer time to the museum are invited to contact Mrs. Greene for information.

"We depend on our volunteers and want them to know they are appreciated," Mrs. Leftwich said.

Museum features local's quilt

A Nine Patch and Hearts quilt made by Joan Bunch and five quilts on loan from the Prairie Quilt Shop in Abilene are currently being featured in the Scurry County Museum.

Also on display is a Friendship Flower Basket quilt from the museum's permanent collection. Valentines and heart-shaped souvenirs loaned by Jo Flynn are featured in the museum's multi-purpose room.

The quilts and valentines will remain in the museum through March 10 and can be seen from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekdays and from 1-4 p.m. on Sundays. Information about museum exhibits and guided tours can be obtained by calling the museum at 573-6107.

In the year ahead it's likely you are going to make some major adjustments regarding your outlook and attitude. Your chances for success will be enhanced by these constructive revisions. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you yield too easily to pressure from another in making an important decision today, the end result could benefit the other party far more than it does you. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Your possibilities for finding people to carry your gripes are extremely slim.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may meet someone socially in this cycle you could find quite captivating in early encounters. However, this person might be different than surface appearances. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be sure to keep promises you make at home today to members of the family who are counting on you to follow through. You'll feel as bad about it yourself if you disappoint them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you have a negative attitude today regarding some responsibilities you must take care of you'll make them much harder than they really are and probably end up doing a bum job.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you plan to do something out on the town with friends today, be sure you select companions whose means are comparable to yours. Keeping pace with heavy spenders could lead to regrets later. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your dress and demeanor may take on added significance today, because others are likely to judge you by your outward appearance, especially people who will be meeting you for the first time.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Usually you have a reasonably optimistic outlook, but today you might anticipate events ending negatively. Don't erroneously paint yourself a loser before you begin. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There's a possibility you might be drawn into an expensive activity today by a friend who can afford what you can't. Don't be too proud to say "No."

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll be a delightful person to be around today as long as everything is being done your way. However, your temperament could do a quick about face when confronted by opposition.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Generosity is numbered among your more admirable virtues, but be careful today you don't carry it to extremes and give more to someone than should be rightfully requested of you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There's a chance today you might be a bit more curious than usual and, uncharacteristically, try to probe into something that a friend is trying very hard to keep secret.

Now is the time to check your SS benefits

Ever wonder what kind of check you'll be getting from Social Security when you retire? Now there's an easy way to find out. Introduced last summer, the Earnings and Benefit Estimator will spell out how much you'll get, in today's dollars, based on your contributions to date and your expected contributions until your retirement.

More importantly, says Wernette Smith, H&R Block office owner in Snyder, the Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement shows you how much has been attributed to your Social Security accounts each year. "If there are any errors in your record, now is the time to correct them," Smith said. "Ordinarily, the Social Security Administration does not correct errors that are more than three years old. This program, however, gives taxpayers an opportunity to go back to the time they began working and make corrections, if errors occurred."

Block is encouraging taxpayers to fill out form SSA-7004, the Request for Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement, since tax time is, traditionally, a good time to review one's financial situation. "Learning how much has been credited to your Social Security account may influence how much you want to save, contribute to a retirement program, or invest during the next 12 months," Smith said. "Since these options can impact on your tax situation, tax time is a good time to review them with your professional tax preparer."

Taxpayers may be asked to finance state racing work

AUSTIN (AP) — Taxpayers are expected to be asked to provide money to keep the Texas Racing Commission operating because the commission, which was supposed to be self-supporting, is nearly broke, a legislator says.

State Sen. O.H. "Ike" Harris, R-Dallas, chief sponsor of the state's 1986 racing act, said Thursday that lawmakers will be asked to fund the commission out of general revenue.

The law would then be changed to require that all license fees and other fees collected by the commission be deposited in the state treasury, Harris said.

The commission is currently required to pay for its operation out of the fees it collects. But too little money has been coming in because of delays in getting pari-mutuel tracks started since voters approved on-track wagering in November 1987.

Legislators said this means the commission is running out of money and could ask for as much as $10 million of taxpayer money to stay in operation.

Two years ago the Legislature loaned the commission $4.5 million from the state treasury to get started. About $3 million of that went to the Texas Department of Public Safety to hire more investigators and to assist in background checks of those applying for racing licenses.

The loan was to be repaid by the commission with 12 percent interest by Aug. 31, the end of the current two-year budget period.

The commission doesn't have the money, however, and will have to ask for state help to continue to operate, Harris said.

"Because things have been slow in getting started, they won't have any money in there. They will be broke," Harris said.

"They are going to ask for funding that would change the whole approach, that is to put the (license) money into the general revenue fund," Harris said.

Cities with polluted air are increasing by forty-one %

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air pollution last summer was the worst of the decade and the number of cities where ozone exceeded federally approved levels jumped 41 percent, according to preliminary federal figures.

"This new information shows the clear fallacy in industry arguments that America's air pollution problems are solving themselves," said Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., who made the figures public on Thursday.

A year ago the Environmental Protection Agency listed 68 cities that had recorded peak ozone levels considered unsafe under federal standards. Last summer the number jumped to 96 metropolitan areas plus two areas considered to be rural.

The House subcommittee on health and environment, chaired by Waxman, had requested the data from the federal agency.

EPA officials said the data were only preliminary and had not been thoroughly analyzed. But they acknowledged the findings indicate a significant increase in urban pollution in 1988 and suggested that when the final numbers are evaluated from all monitoring points the number of cities where pollution exceeds federal standards could exceed 100.

The preliminary data submitted to Waxman's subcommittee show peak daily ozone pollution levels last summer were on average 5 percent higher than in 1983, which had been widely regarded as having the worst ozone pollution this decade. Last summer's levels of ozone, a key component of smog, were on average 14 percent greater than those in 1987.

Waxman called the data startling enough to affect the congressional debate on how to strengthen federal air pollution laws.

"I expect this data to give a strong boost to congressional efforts to establish long overdue new pollution control requirements for the automobiles, factories, power plants and other pollution sources which contribute to the urban smog that now afflicts almost every American city," said Waxman.

Waxman's subcommittee has scheduled a hearing later this month on the health impact of the air pollution.

Ozone pollution, caused by a variety of emissions from cars and trucks as well as industrial plants and factories, causes coughing and chest pains and has been linked by some scientists to permanent lung damage.

According to the EPA findings, two-thirds of the agency's 323 monitoring sites reported higher ozone pollution levels last summer than in any other summer this decade.

The information, which was collected by the EPA from state and local air pollution control agencies, covered the period from April through October, 1988.

The additional areas that were classified in 1988 as exceeding federal ozone pollution levels were:

Manchester, N.H.; Buffalo, Glen Falls and adjacent Essex County, and Poughkeepsie, all in New York state; Sussex County, Del.; Altoona, Erie, Johnstown, Lancaster, Harrisburg, Reading, Scranton and Sharon, all in Pennsylvania; Charleston and Greenbrier County in West Virginia; Fayetteville and Greensboro, in North Carolina; Greenville and adjacent Cherokee County in South Carolina; Knoxville, Tenn.; Lafayette, Ind.; Canton, Columbus, Dayton, Toledo and Youngstown, all in Ohio; Lake Charles, La.; Kansas City, Mo.; and Denver.

Parole official is fired

FORT WORTH (AP) — A man who supervised operations of the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles for 36 counties has been fired following an investigation into his arrest on charges of driving while intoxicated and possession of marijuana, a board official says.

Bill Brooks, executive deputy director of the board, said Thursday that Joe Tom New, 43, was fired Feb. 10 after an internal investigation of a Jan. 4 incident in Fort Worth in which he was arrested.

"It was a very unfortunate situation — most regrettable," Brooks said. "I wish we hadn't had to do it."

"But ... there was an internal affairs investigation, and this is based on the results of that investigation. He was terminated for misconduct," Brooks said.

New was arrested late Jan. 4 after a traffic accident not far from the bureau's Region 5 headquarters in Fort Worth, police said.

New was the supervisor for Region 5, overseeing 36 counties, including Tarrant. He has an unlisted telephone number and couldn't be reached Thursday, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported.

Police said New, who was driving without headlights, collided with another vehicle.

After questioning New, police Officer D.K. Yerigan asked him to take a field sobriety test because his speech was slurred and there was a strong odor of alcohol on his breath, police said. He was arrested after he failed the sobriety test, officers said.

Yerigan conducted a routine search and found a plastic bag containing a green leafy substance in the pocket of New's trench coat, according to the police report.

The police crime lab later confirmed that the substance was marijuana, about 0.7 ounces.

Discovering a motive

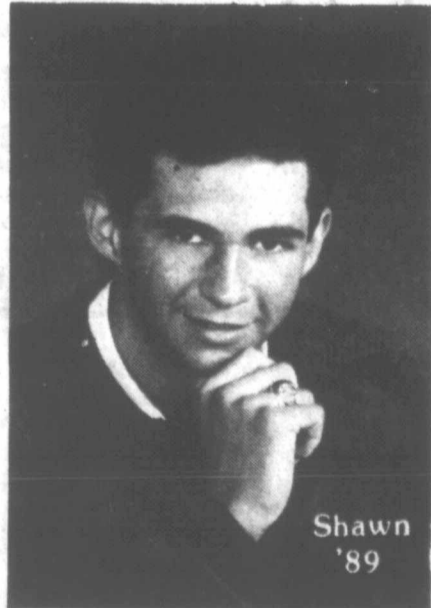

By James Jacoby

It probably does not take a great genius to figure out that this week we have been looking at situations in which the declarer can draw a proper conclusion from the way the defenders play or fail to play their cards. So keeping all that in mind, look at how the play went in this run-of-the-mill two-heart contract.

West led his singleton diamond. East took the A-K and played a third diamond, ruffed by West. Next came the ace and another club, won by East with the king. The defenders now had five tricks in, and all they needed was one more trick to set the contract. At this point, East led a spade. Now isn't that a puzzler?

Not really. In fact, it becomes very easy to sniff out that East is afraid West will not be able to overruff South. The only situation that would cause East to feel that way is if he himself held the heart king. So any thinking declarer should now play the ace of hearts, dropping East's king to make the contract. Is there anything else? Sure. East is wrong not to lead back another diamond. A competent declarer is going to play him for the singleton king anyway, and his partner might have been dealt the heart 10.

Dusters lock up tournament berth

Western Texas College's Lady Dusters handcuffed highly-touted New Mexico Junior College 68-55 here Thursday to secure a berth in the upcoming Region V Tournament.

The victory put Western in the playoffs for the 14th time in 15 years. Chadwick's bunch completes regular-season play Monday in Big Spring against Howard College, then begins preparations for the Feb. 28-March 2 tournament, to be held in Waco. Coach Chadwick said the reason for Western's victory was apparent. "Defense. When you hold a team like that to 55 points then defense is definitely doing it for you," said the coach, whose Dusters are now 21-8 overall and 8-3 in conference play.

Thursday's win kept the Dusters in second place in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference. In other conference games Monday, Odessa whipped South Plains 96-79 and Frank Phillips edged Howard 85-80. Odessa's win left the Lady Wranglers in first place with a 7-2 mark. Frank Phillips - which must still play Odessa twice - improved to 6-3 while New Mexico fell to 7-4 and South Plains dropped to 5-5.

Thursday's game was a close one through the first half, and it appeared the Dusters were in trouble when standout Nicky Allen got her third foul with 7:23 left. Good all-around team play - including some strong help from the bench - earned the hosts a 33-

29 halftime lead, however. The second half belonged to the Lady Dusters, who outscored the Thunderbirds 14-2 to open the 20-minute period. The result was a 47-31 deficit from which New Mexico, at one time ranked in the nation's top five, could not recover.

"For about eight or 10 minutes there they didn't hit and we hit everything we shot it seemed like," said Chadwick.

Western's defense didn't allow New Mexico its second field goal in the half for over eight minutes.

"They have some players who can really score points and our girls really defended them well," said Chadwick. "Julie did a great job on (Wendy) Gerhart and Valery (Jackson) did a great job on (Tweet) White. It was just a good defensive effort by everybody."

Tonya McCaster, a 6-2 sophomore, led the Lady Thunderbirds with 17 points, but two of the team's top scorers -

White and Gerhart - had just 6 and 4 points respectively. Jole Lund and Janine Caldwell scored 7 points apiece for NMJC, now 23-6 for the season.

Jackson led four WTC players in double figures with 16 points. Roewe bagged 12 while Allen and Stacy Smith scored 11 each. Tami Wilson popped for 8. Western got 12 points from its bench.

Monday's game in Big Spring is the first of a double-header between the WTC and Howard, set to tipoff at 6 p.m. in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Coyotes rip Royalty 88-9

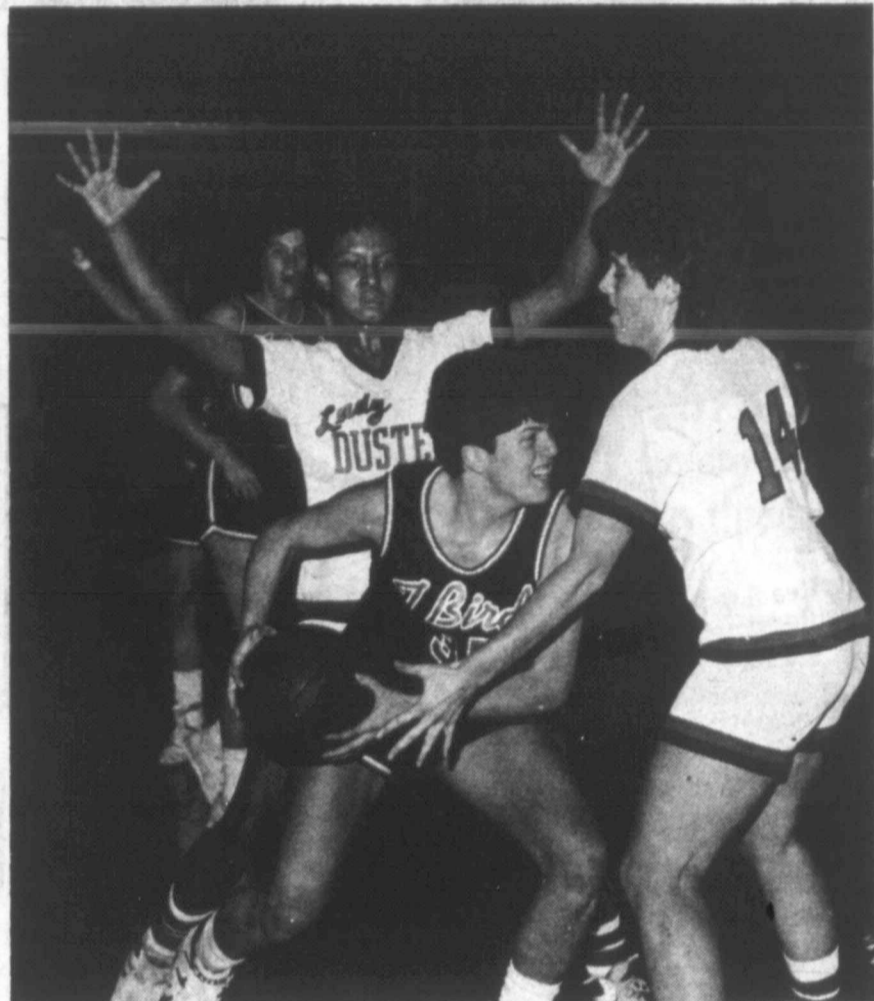

AREA - Coach Bill May had said he didn't believe Grandfalls-Royalty had played the caliber of competition equal to the Lady Coyotes this season and Borden County's 88-9 trouncing of the Cowgirls proved that here Thursday evening.

Borden had three girls to score more than the entire Grandfalls-Royalty team in winning the Class A bi-district ballgame. Elvira Balague led the charge with 25 points. Lisha Sternadel had 14 and Elana Himes bagged 11.

The Lady Coyotes, who held Grandfalls-Royalty scoreless for the entire second half, improved to 24-1 with the victory. Grandfalls-Royalty's season ended at 8-13.

In another Class A bi-district game played in Haskell, Jayton drilled Benjamin 47-27.

Tiffany Bryant led Jayton, 22-7, with 17 points. Bambi Ferguson added 14.

Playoff times are corrected

A couple of tipoff times for playoff ballgames to be held here next week were apparently incorrect in Thursday's edition, it has been learned.

Haskell will play Midland Greenwood in a boy's practice game set to start at 7 p.m. Monday in the coliseum, instead of 7:30 p.m.

Also, the tipoff for Thursday's Class A bi-district game between Roscoe and Rotan will be 6:30 p.m. instead of 6 p.m. Another Class A bi-district game between Roby and Trent will follow immediately.

Tickets for the games, both on Monday and Thursday, are $3 for adults and $2 for students. The gate will open an hour before game time both nights.

Tigers close out campaign against Pecos here tonight

It's not for the playoff berth both teams had hopes of early in the season but that shouldn't make tonight's District 4-4A finale between Snyder's Tigers and the Eagles of Pecos less exciting.

"It's really for pride for both teams. Pecos beat Andrews on Tuesday and now I'm sure they would like to come in here and prove they are better than the third place team," said Coach Larry Scott, whose Tigers tipoff against the Eagles at 7:30 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum.

A junior varsity contest is set for 6 p.m. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Pecos' 65-56 win over the fifth-ranked Mustangs earlier this week didn't change the standings any as far as the playoffs go. Andrews and Big Spring wrapped up those spots last week. But it does mean that the Eagles can finish as high as a tie for third.

The Eagles go into tonight's contest with an 8-5 district record and are 16-9 for the season. Snyder is holding down third place with a district mark of 9-4, and will be trying to win its 17th game in 27 outings. The Tigers have won four straight.

To win its fifth, Snyder will have to shut down a strong Eagle outside game featuring Billy Ray Smith. Smith is averaging 18.9 points and he and teammate Toramy Cobos are among the top 3-point shooters in the district, percentage-wise.

"They've got good strength inside in Gary Moore and Ricky Flores, too," noted Snyder's coach Scott.

To stop the Eagles, Snyder will have to cut down on its own errors. The Tigers committed 26 turnovers in a 59-50 win over Sweetwater earlier this week.

"We've got to make sure we make Pecos work for their shots. We can't let them get hot on us outside and we've got to make sure we rebound and then we've got to give ourselves a chance on offense, not turn the ball over," said Scott.

Snyder to scrimmage in Midland Saturday

MIDLAND - Snyder High School baseball team is expected to scrimmage Midland Lee at 1 p.m. here Saturday - Mother Nature permitting, of course.

Despite rainy weather this week and a bug that bit Coach Albert Lewis, baseball workouts are progressing.

Saturday's scrimmage will be the second for the Tigers, who outbattled Lubbock High 11-3 in seven innings Monday.

The Tigers will also scrimmage Brownfield in Brownfield at 5 p.m. on Feb. 21, and Midland Lee in Snyder at 1 p.m. on Feb. 25.

The roster is expected to change when the basketball season ends Friday night and there is always the hold-your-breath question of grades, but at least seven seniors are currently working out. They are Fletcher, Otto, Dollins, Israel Hinojos, Tracy Odum, Carl McClurg and Simon Gutierrez. Juniors are Garcia, Hernandez, Morton, Bert Merritt and Randy Morris. Two sophomores, Les Rinehart and John Wright, are also on the current roster.

Westerners rally, top NMJC to win final home ballgame

Western Texas' Westerners rallied from 22-point deficit to stun New Mexico Junior College in conference basketball action here Thursday evening, 105-100.

Western trailed 39-17 with 8:30 to play in the first half, but rallied to pull within 6 by intermission. The second half was a dogfight, with Western finally going in front to stay on a Valdimir McCrary bucket with 53 seconds remaining.

Freshman Ken Critton, who recently recovered from finger surgery, gave credit to Western's sophomores.

"The sophomores took control of the game in the second half.

They told the freshmen what to do and we came together as a team and started to play," said the 6-8 player from Dallas.

Western went in front 95-93 when Albuquerque, N.M. sophomore Bobby Spear sank two free throws with 3:03 to play. New Mexico eventually tied the game again at 97-97 on free shots from Norman Haynes but lost it when McCrary scored with under a minute to play.

New Mexico had three opportunities to lock the totals again, but McCrary, a 6-7 freshman from San Antonio, rebounded missed Thunderbird shots each time. After the third board, NMJC's Joe Wray was charged with an intentional foul, sending Bernard Williams to the line. Williams, a 6-2 sophomore from Andrews, bagged both shots to give Western a 101-97 lead with just 11 seconds left.

New Mexico had earned its 22-point lead via the fast break, which Western was finally able to control.

David Smith with 10 each. Reggie Collins led NMJC with 27 points. Haynes and Shannon Wood scored 15 each while Wray and Marc Thompson notched 14 each and Russell Adams added 13.

The loss dropped the Thunderbirds to 13-14 overall and 6-8 in the WJCAC.

Western plays its final regular-season game Monday night at 8 p.m. in Big Spring against Howard College.

Protest reflects turmoil among Polish Catholics

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — The seizure of a Roman Catholic church by dissident Polish parishioners reflects a growing cultural clash between the U.S. church and a new wave of Polish immigrants, a Catholic official says.

About 100 parishioners began occupying St. Michael the Archangel Church on Saturday because they want the Rev. Roman Palaszewski to remain. The priest, part of an exchange program begun with Polish church authorities, has been ordered to return to Poland.

The protesting parishioners claim their new pastor, the Rev. John Bambol, engineered Palaszewski's ouster because the latter was too active in the Polish community.

They said Palaszewski, who has been in seclusion since his removal, brought enthusiasm to the church, knitted together the old and young parishioners, packed the Polish-language Masses and started a Polish-language class for their children.

The drama in Bridgeport has played out at other Polish parishes in recent years.

In August 1987, 1,000 parishioners at a church in New Britain took to the streets to protest the transfer of one of their priests. A month later, Polish immigrants in Portland, Maine, picketed outside their church demanding a Mass in their native language.

One top church official attributed these and many less strident flare-ups across the country to attitudes brought to the United States by Poles weaned on a more politicized church and the Solidarity movement.

"It's two different world views," said the Rev. Peter W. Zenzian, who directs the office for pastoral care of immigrants and refugees for the U.S. Catholic Conference of Bishops in Washington.

"You have a lot of people who were Solidarity members and they were able ... to mobilize quickly and make their feelings known," he said Thursday. "We're more used to getting a committee and studying things. Our processes usually take a little bit longer."

The parishioners in Bridgeport are vowing to occupy the ornate, 89-year-old brick church in a largely Hispanic neighborhood until Bishop Edward Egan agrees to meet with them.

They have maintained their vigil in shifts, their numbers swelling each evening to as many as 200.

Most sit quietly in the candle-lit sanctuary, singing hymns and chanting prayers in Polish.

Some drift to the back of the church, kneeling before an icon of the Black Madonna of Czestochowa, who is revered by Polish Catholics. Nearby is another icon of the Rev. Maximilian Kolbe, the Polish priest martyred in a Nazi concentration camp.

Frustrated by the bishop's refusal to meet with them, two of the dissidents began a hunger strike Wednesday night. They vowed to remain locked in a confessional until their demands were met.

A three-hour meeting Thursday night between members of the group and diocesan officials failed to settle the dispute.

Palaszewski's five-year contract was terminated in December by joint agreement between Franciscan officials in the United States and Krakow, Poland, according to church officials.

The priest was removed in December without explanation. Diocesan leaders, who have said Palaszewski has the right to appeal his transfer, didn't comment on the dispute after Thursday's meeting.

The dissidents, many wearing Solidarity buttons and ribbons with the red-and-white colors of the Polish flag, have made no attempt to disrupt the daily Masses that continue to be celebrated in both English and Polish.

The group includes a number of former Solidarity members who came to this country within the last five years, including Richard Debski, one of the hunger strikers.

"This situation is not only for our church, it is everywhere there are Polish people," said Debski, who was jailed for about five months as a leader of Solidarity in the Polish city of Wroclaw.

INS employees set to work overtime

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Immigration advocates are critical of a reported Justice Department plan to set up a "tent-city" detention center for the thousands of immigrants who have poured across the border seeking political asylum.

"The mass detention of thousands of refugees shows a disrespect on the part of the INS for the refugees' right to apply for political asylum," said Brian Szittai, spokesman for the Refugee Rights Coalition of the Rio Grande Valley, which advocates freedom of travel for asylum-seekers.

U.S. Rep. Lamar Smith, R-San Antonio, said in a statement Thursday that the Justice Department plans a "tent city" at the INS' 347-acre detention center 15 miles northeast of the border city of Brownsville.

That plan apparently is contingent on a judge's ruling on a no-travel restriction put on the asylum-seekers.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela in Brownsville was expected to rule by Tuesday whether the INS can resume a policy of requiring asylum-seekers to await decisions on their cases in the Harlingen District. Vela blocked that policy with a restraining order on Jan. 9, but has said he probably would allow the INS to return to the no-travel policy that prompted a lawsuit by immigration attorneys.

INS District Director Omer G. Sewell said the agency plans to resume its no-travel policy if the judge rules accordingly, but said detention remained only an idea under consideration.

Harlingen attorney Mark Schneider, with the Proyecto Libertad immigrant advocacy office, said he would fight detention in court. Immigration court backlogs and lengthy appeals could keep people in detention for years, he said.

"If you haven't been arrested, you cannot be detained,"

Schneider said. But even as immigration officials said they would work through the weekend and Monday's federal holiday processing applicants, there appeared no end to the line outside the asylum office.

The INS processed 900 asylum-seekers Wednesday, its first day to take applications after moving from Harlingen to the rural detention center.

More than 900 more showed up there Thursday, INS officials said, including about 300 who camped out overnight. By late Thursday afternoon, the INS had processed 510 applications, and spokesman Mario Ortiz said the office hoped to process another 150 before closing for the day.

But when the doors were locked at 6:30 p.m., about 450 applicants were still in line.

Sewell said the agency planned to work overtime through the President's Day holiday to reduce the hardship of those waiting in line outside with temperatures forecast to drop into the 40s over the weekend.

"We're not insensitive," Sewell said. "We know these are people we are dealing with."

The INS estimates that more than 100,000 Central Americans will pass through the area this year seeking refugee status, which is granted to those fleeing persecution. Most of the Central Americans cross the Rio Grande illegally near Brownsville.

"We don't seem to see an end to the numbers," said Sewell, who considers most of the applications frivolous.

More than 10,000 Central Americans have checked in with the INS in southern Texas since Jan. 9. After reporting to the agency, being fingerprinted and declaring their U.S. destinations, they have 14 days to report to the INS District office nearest those destinations.

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 74, very active, happily married, have no financial worries, have a positive outlook and enjoy life. Yet I've been a victim of insomnia for 30 years. Without Serax I get no more than three hours sleep. I've tried all the tricks: yoga, milk, breathing exercises, etc. Is there any harm in continuing the Serax?

DEAR READER: Some people are poor sleepers. This can be a chronic problem that is the source of great anxiety. However, as you've discovered, insomnia is not necessarily unhealthful: You are 74 and suffering no harmful consequences.

Insomniacs tend to have difficulty estimating the amount of time they sleep. For example, they doze on and off and may actually be sleeping for longer periods than they report.

Serax is a drug used for the short-term treatment of anxiety and tension. The fact that you are helped by it suggests that anxiety may play an important role in your insomnia; you may be the kind of person who lies awake at night and ponders the day's problems, or anticipates tomorrow's difficulties. If this is the case, you might be helped by counseling.

I would feel more comfortable advising you not to take sleeping pills for longer than the manufacturer recommends. If you are interested in investigating your sleeplessness, ask your physician to refer you to a sleep laboratory; these facilities are available in many teaching centers and university hospitals.

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Sleep-Wake Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had heart attacks in 1974 and 1985, and a cardiac arrest in 1986. I'm 64 and exercise on an ergometer bicycle, a rowing machine and with floor exercises. I eat very little red meat and watch my diet. Am I doing all I can to forestall aging?

DEAR READER: I fervently wish that the aging process could be "fore-stalled," as you suggest. If you discover a method to do this, let me develop it with you — such a scheme would be worth millions.

No, I'm afraid that each of us ages inexorably, under the control of our individual, genetic time-clocks. Experts now believe that people have genetic limits to their life spans. These limits differ from person to person. For example, we are all familiar with families whose members live into their 80s, their 90s or beyond. We may be equally familiar with families in whom people tend to die at younger ages of heart attacks, stroke and diabetes. Evidently, genes place a limit on the lengths of our lives.

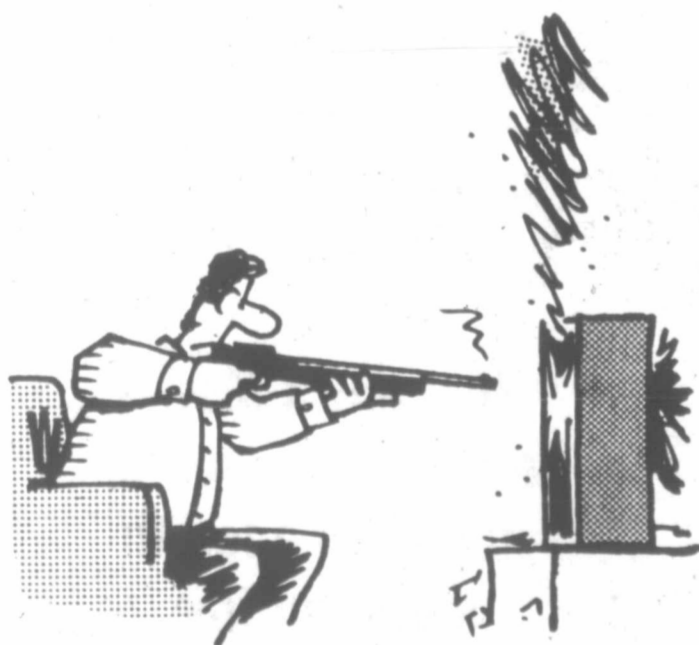

We can, however, readily shorten our lives through alcohol and drug abuse, overeating, smoking and ignoring health problems.

You seem to be taking proper precautions to prevent acceleration of your heart disease. Ask your doctor about additional suggestions. For instance, certain medicines may reduce the work of the heart, your blood pressure, your blood fats, or the tendency of the heart to beat too irregularly or too rapidly.

Until future scientists can find ways to mess around with our genes to lengthen life, we are stuck doing the best we can to reduce the risk factors that shorten our lives. Technically, your question should be rephrased: Am I doing all I can to achieve my genetic potential? The answer appears to be "yes."

Ex-KKK leader says Bush and Reagan endorsements might hurt opponent

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ex-Ku Klux Klan leader David Duke mocked the endorsements of his opponent by President Bush and former President Reagan as his campaign for a Louisiana legislative seat wound up today.

"I respect Mr. Bush and Mr. Reagan. But they do not know the real issues in this race," Duke said Thursday. "These endorsements are so absurd. Who's going to endorse my opponent next, the ayatollah?"

The Republicans rolled out their top guns this week to keep the one-time grand wizard of the KKK from winning a seat Saturday in the state House of Representatives as a GOP member.

Commercial for both candidates dominated the airwaves, including Reagan's familiar voice lauding conservative home builder and longtime Republican John Treen, 62.

Duke, 38, responded with a special half-hour television show to promote his candidacy in the final hours of a race that has attracted national attention, comment and money.

Reporters from as far away as West Germany, where readers are intrigued by the man who in college donned a Nazi uniform and carried a picket sign saying "Gas the Chicago 7," swarmed to New Orleans to interview the glib, good-looking Duke and his mild-mannered opponent.

Turnout is expected to be high, some estimate 80 percent, in the bid to represent the nearly all-white House district in Metairie, a New Orleans suburb.

The backing of Bush and Reagan is unprecedented in a local legislative race, said state and national GOP officials who fear Duke might sully the Republican Party.

"He is not a Republican and should not pass himself off to be a Republican," said Leslie Goodman, spokeswoman for the Republican National Committee in Washington.

Letters from Bush promoting Treen's candidacy were to arrive at homes of the 23,000 voters in the district by Election Day. "I can't help but tell you of the high regard I have for one candidate in the race for the 81st district — John Treen," Reagan said in the heavily played radio spot.

Treen was "ecstatic" about the endorsements, adding, "If Ronald Reagan or George Bush did not think I was a credible candidate and would do a first-class job, they wouldn't have endorsed me no matter who I was running against."

Duke, who sought the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination but registered Republican in the fall, led a field of seven candidates with 33 percent of the vote in the Jan. 21 primary. Treen had 19 percent.

Under Louisiana's open primary system, the top two vote-getters in a primary, regardless of party, face each other in the runoff. The seat opened when Metairie's representative was elected to a judgeship.

Both candidates campaigned at Metairie shopping centers

Thursday and encountered supporters.

One shopper, Gienda Johnson, said she would vote for Treen, explaining:

"I'm 32 years old. We worked hard to get our parents and grandparents to feel a certain way (about racism) ... and then along comes David Duke."

As Duke greeted drivers stopped in traffic, a school bus driver leaned out his window and shouted, "I hope you win, Ace."

Duke has disavowed the Klan, which he left in 1980 after being accused of selling secret membership rolls. He now heads a group called the National Association for the Advancement of White People, which he says seeks equal rights for everybody.

He is opposed to welfare and affirmative action and supports Louisiana's $75,000 homestead exemption.

Treen, whose brother, Dave, was Louisiana governor from 1980 to 1984, was state campaign chairman for Bush's 1980 presidential bid.
