

SHS groups earn two sweepstakes in choir contests

Snyder High School choir members earned two sweepstakes honors Thursday, the only 4-A school entered to win I ratings in both concert and sightreading.

The SHS choir members were competing in District II South Zone choir competition held in Abilene.

The sweepstakes honors were won by the 72-member Acappella Choir and the 38-member Boys Choir.

Also Thursday, the 52-member Girls Choir won a I rating in concert and a II rating in sightreading; and the 35-member Freshman Mixed Choir won a I rating in concert and a II rating in sightreading.

Choir director Bill Lyon noted that all three contest judges gave I ratings to both the Acappella and Boys Choirs. "That doesn't happen very often," he noted.

Some 14 choirs, represented from 3-A to 5-A schools, competed Thursday.

The Snyder High School combined choirs will be in concert locally May 22 and will perform some of the selections offered for judging at the UIL competition.

Q. — When is the road-work on the Clairemont Highway going to start?

A. — The project is expected to be bid in May by the state highway department.

In Brief

Find artifacts

AUSTIN (AP) — Digging for a large sewer line has unearthed evidence of what experts say could be an enormously important archaeological find, including one of the first Indian settlements in the region.

The digging in Austin's Zilker Park has uncovered stone tools and other materials, possibly 7,000 to 8,000 years old. Experts believe the site could hold a treasure of artifacts dating back at least 10,000 years.

Jobless rate

DALLAS (AP) — Texas' unemployment rate fell to its lowest level in almost 4 1/2 years during March, despite the absence of any real growth in the job market, federal labor officials reported today.

Last month's decline to 6.0 percent matched the rate for November 1984 and reflected U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that almost 7.8 million Texans are working.

"What we're seeing is people coming off the unemployment rolls and moving into jobs with no real growth in the labor force," said BLS analyst Nic Santangelo. "That, in itself, is something of a weakness."

Local

Highway help

Eighth grade students will pre-register for high school next Friday and Saturday at the junior high.

An orientation session for the students will be held Aug. 1 in Worsham Auditorium beginning at 10 a.m. Students will be taken on a tour of the high school at that time, when they will meet the administration and finalize their class schedules.

Bush won't discuss Iran-Contra role

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush today adamantly refused to discuss his participation in the Reagan administration's secret effort to help the Contra rebels, saying the "legal process ought to run unfettered without you or me endangering the trial" of Oliver North.

Bush would not comment on a document, introduced in the North trial on Thursday, that said Bush met with then-President Roberto Suazo of Honduras to tell him of speeded-up U.S. aid. It says Bush informed Suazo of President Reagan's decision at a time that Honduras was playing a key role in supporting the Contras while Congress had forbidden U.S. aid to the rebels fighting the government of Nicaragua.

Three times during his appearance in the White House briefing room, Bush was asked about the document, which was agreed to by the government, and three times he refused.

"It would be imprudent for me to do that and I'm not going to do it," he said.

"I am not going to comment on any aspect of the North trial while it's in progress," Bush said. "If I even comment on your question, it could prejudice the trial...I believe the legal process ought to run unfettered without you or me endangering the trial process. And that's the last question I will take on that subject."

He said the facts contained in the court document have "been available to the independent counsel and the Iran-Contra committees and reviewed by them for any special significance."

The court document shows that Bush's meeting with Suazo was set up by behind-the-scenes discussions among North and other U.S. officials on a plan to seek assistance from other countries to tide over the Nicaraguan rebels at a time when direct or indirect American assistance was outlawed by Congress.

Portions of the document show Bush as an avid supporter.

5-A plays due here Saturday

District 5-A one-act plays will take the stage at Worsham Auditorium Saturday in an area contest hosted by Snyder High School.

The performances will begin at 1 p.m. and will be repeated on the hour. Six plays will be performed for judge Tim Haynes, head of communications at Howard College in Big Spring.

The order of performance will be:

- Lubbock Monterey High School, "Flowers for Algernon."

The public is invited to view the 5-A plays but admission will be allowed only between performances.

The schools were to arrive in Snyder Friday with play rehearsals to begin Friday night immediately following the conclusion of the 4-A area contest scheduled here Friday afternoon.

In that contest, Snyder High School's "Blood Wedding" was to be performed at approximately 3:30 p.m.

Other schools in competition Friday were to be Canyon Randall High School, "Song of Bernadette," and Dallas County, "See PERMITS, page 9"

Travelers injured here in accident

Three out-of-county women travelers were injured in a two-car collision at 1:10 p.m. Thursday at the traffic circle in east Snyder.

The wreck involved a 1987 Ford driven by Ida O. Weatherford of Hartley, in Hartley County near Dalhart, and a 1984 Ford driven by Juanita Campbell of Rowlett, in Dallas County.

The Weatherford vehicle was northbound on the Colorado City Hwy. and the Campbell vehicle was eastbound on Hwy. 180.

Facility expanded for Y-Z Industries

A local industry's plans to expand its assembly and storage areas helped boost the Snyder building permit totals for March, according to reports by the city building inspector's office.

Y-Z Industries was issued a permit to expand its facilities by more than 4,600 sq. ft. at an estimated cost of $65,000.

The company plans to use the space for an expansion of its machine shop area as well as creating additional warehouse space, according to Y-Z president Paul Zeck.

Y-Z designs, manufactures, sells and services its own design of natural gas sampling equipment.

Zeck said the additional building space will increase the company's facilities by one-third. The work will basically consist of the erection of a metal building and concrete slab. It is now underway and is expected to be completed by the end of the month.

The city's building year to date is currently lagging slightly See PERMITS, page 9

Western Co. leaves behind Chapter 11

A Snyder executive of the Western Co. of North America said Thursday that the company's new financial reorganization plan and the recently improving price of oil has him optimistic that a new company expansion is in the offing.

District manager Jerry Thomas said the company, on the Old Lubbock Hwy. in northern Snyder, is "out of Chapter 11 and back to business as usual."

Doing fracturing, acidizing and cementing, the firm has reduced its total number of employees by 30 percent during the oil industry slowdown of recent years but will be able to start expanding its See WESTERN, page 9

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A fanatic is someone who can't change his mind, and won't change the subject."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Middle age is said the time in life when a person wishes someone could start a scandal about them. Roger Enlow, in the Granbury newspaper, told about the guy who played golf every day possible. His routine was well established, and he could be expected home by 2 p.m.

One day, however, he got home at 8 p.m. and felt compelled to explain to his wife. "I left the course at the normal time, but on the way home, I stopped to change a flat tire for a young woman. She offered to buy me a drink, and we ended up at her apartment. I'm sorry and I promise never to do it again."

"Don't hand me that malarkey," the angry wife shouted. "You played 36 holes, didn't you?"

Gene Dow of Colorado City noted that almost everyone was included in a poll or survey during the recent political season. He said a reader brought by this item:

"How many in your family?" the poll taker asked.

"Me, the old man, the kid, the cow and the cat," the harried housewife replied.

"What's the politics of your family?" was the next question.

"Mixed," was the answer. "I'm Republican, the ole man's a Democrat, the kid's wet, the cow's dry, and the cat's on the fence."

O.G. Nieman, in the Hereford Brand, described etiquette as the art of knowing which fork to use to eat the salad of the person seated on your right and which knife to use to put the butter on the bread belonging to the person seated on your left.

Compensation is due Adams, attorney says

DALLAS (AP) — In the wake of a shakeup in the Dallas County District Attorney's office, the attorney for Randall Dale Adams said his client deserves some payback for being wrongly imprisoned for more than 12 years.

Randy Schaffer said Thursday he would like to see Adams compensated in some way, "whether it's the state of Texas, the city of Dallas... he was wrongfully incarcerated."

Schaffer, the Houston attorney who represented Adams during appeals of his 1977 capital murder conviction of a Dallas police officer, said this week's actions by the district attorney's office further stain the city's reputation for injustice.

"First Tom Landry and now Winfield Scott. Is no icon safe in Dallas?" said Schaffer.

Scott, 48, who insulted a colleague and two judges during a last-minute battle to keep Adams behind bars, was fired by District Attorney John Vance Wednesday. Two other assistant prosecutors who worked on Adams' case resigned earlier in the week.

Vance told the Dallas Times Herald that Scott "just did not handle (the Adams case) the way I had told him to handle it... He was convinced he was doing right and I was convinced he was doing wrong."

Scott and Vance did not return phone calls from The Associated Press.

"Apparently, the powers that be just perceived that they could no longer keep him in the office. But I think he was just following orders," Schaffer said. "I guarantee you if he won the recusal hearing (to oust state district Judge Larry Baraka from the case), he wouldn't have been fired."

Adams, whose conviction for the 1976 slaying of a Dallas police officer was overturned last month, was freed after spending 12½ years in prison, coming within three days of execution at one point.

His case was resurrected with evidence uncovered in the Errol Morris documentary "The Thin Blue Line," which strongly suggested that Dallas officer Robert Wood was not slain by Adams, but by witness David Harris.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled the prosecutor in 1977, Doug Mulder, suppressed evidence in the case while at least two witnesses lied on the stand.

Schaffer said the lasting effects of Adams' wrongful incarceration will be felt by the rest of the state.

"I talked to a colleague of mine in Dallas who was picking a jury for a murder case this week," Schaffer said. "I understand during jury selection, 17 prospective jurors were slashed because they said they couldn't be fair to the state. One juror raised his hand and asked if Winfield Scott had anything to do with the case. I think that says a lot."

A source in the district attorney's office who asked to remain anonymous told The Associated Press that Scott was a casualty of the Adams case.

Drug interdiction campaign acknowledged by Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican army troops are staffing vehicle checkpoints all along the 2,000-mile border with the United States in what has been described as the largest drug trafficking crackdown of its kind ever.

"This is a war, and we're going to fight it 24 hours a day under strict land and air vigilance from Tijuana to Matamoros," said Deputy Attorney General Javier Coello Trejo, Mexico's top drug enforcement officer.

"Never before, in Mexico or in any other part of the world, has a similar effort been taken against drug trafficking," he told local reporters when he announced the crackdown the campaign begun April 1.

The Associated Press last week disclosed the existence of the border operation.

Attorney General's Office spokesman Felipe Flores told the AP the United States was sharing intelligence on drug trafficking with Mexico.

But Coello insisted it was strictly a Mexican effort. "There is no involvement, of any type, of authorities from other countries," he said.

The operation comes as Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C. tries to revoke a State Department certification that Mexico is doing its best to stem the drug flow.

More than 3,000 federal and state police, Mexican army troops and air force personnel were deployed in the operation, Coello said. specially-trained 1,200-member narcotics task force also is participating.

Troops are staffing 86 vehicle checkpoints on highways leading to the United States in the border states of Baja California, Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas, he said.

In the air, eight Bell 212 and 206 helicopters, two night spotter Twin Otter aircraft and 20 Cessna planes are patrolling the northern border to detect clandestine drug flights and landing strips, Coello said.

Mexico is a major transit point for drug trafficking from South America to the United States. It is the largest source country for marijuana and second-leading producer of opium poppies, from which heroin is made.

In an apparently unrelated operation on Thursday night, U.S. federal agents seized a tugboat "mother ship" loaded with at least five tons of marijuana and three speedboats headed toward Florida from Mexico.

Compromise reached in mass transit proposal

DALLAS (AP) — In a compromise over this city's mass transportation woes, Dallas Area Rapid Transit officials and state highway planners have agreed to revive a light-rail plan rejected six years ago.

Under the "service road transit mall" scheme, trains would run under east and west service roads of North Central Expressway, officials said Thursday after settling disagreements over plans to solve congestion on the crowded freeway.

"This North Central transit mall solution could ensure that a quality expressway design can be implemented quickly and not compromise highway reconstruction for 20 years," said Dallas businessman Walter J. Humann at a news conference where drawings of the design were unveiled.

City, state and DART officials who feared buried utilities and insufficient right of way would cause problems had rejected the plan in 1983, preferring subway tunnels from Mockingbird Lane south to downtown.

Last June, area voters derailed the subway tunnels by defeating a measure that would have authorized borrowing $1 billion to help finance the underground structures and a 93-mile light-rail system.

A $2.45 billion "pay as you go" plan now calls for building 56 miles of surface light rail, 44 miles of bus- and car-pool lanes and a low-cost line to Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport.

Man Resents Wife's Spending Money the Old-Fashioned Way

By Abigail Van Buren

1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am 77 years old. My wife is 68. We've been married for four years. It's a second marriage for both of us. She is a refined, good-looking woman, but she has some old-fashioned ideas. For example, she thinks a husband should support his wife completely, even if the wife has a very good income of her own.

I am very comfortable financially, but I am no multimillionaire. Her husband died and left her very well off, and although I've never counted her money, I'm sure her assets are greater than mine. The problem is that she saves her money and spends mine like it comes out of a pump. We get along fine — except when it comes to money.

Please understand, I am not cheap-skate, but I don't want to be a sucker either. I have children and grandchildren I would like to leave a few dollars to, but at the rate this lady is going, I won't have anything left. (She has more jewelry than Tiffany's, but she's always buying more.)

Don't you think a second wife in her circumstances should spend her own money? Rush your advice, please. I am considering talking to a lawyer.

GOING BROKE IN FLORIDA

DEAR GOING BROKE: It's too late for a prenuptial agreement, which a man in your circumstances should have had, but it's not too late to reach some kind of agreement about an allowance — or a budget.

A woman who comes to a marriage with a considerable amount of money should not expect her husband to support her in grand style while she sits on her assets.

DEAR ABBY: I am divorced and the mother of one child. I recently took a job as manager of an apartment building in order to support myself and my little one. It doesn't pay much, but I can live in this apartment rent-free, which helps a lot. It is a nice apartment with good security, and I never could afford to live here without this arrangement.

My problem: There is a man in this building who is legally separated from his wife. He is nice-looking, polite, gentlemanly and he lives alone. I have no car, so he gives me rides to the grocery store, Laundromat, etc. He is very kind and caring, but guess what? According to the tenants, the word is all over this building that this man and I are having an affair!

Abby, that is not true. Why can't people of the opposite sex be friends without sleeping together? A couple of tenants made some snide remarks about it to him, too, and I feel terrible about it. He said he couldn't care less what people say. Abby, why do people gossip? And what can I do about it?

IRATE IN NORTH CAROLINA

DEAR IRATE: People gossip for a variety of reasons — among them jealousy, malice and boredom. Ignore the talk and the talkers. Just because a dog barks doesn't mean you have to answer it.

DEAR ABBY: I know people who proudly recite by heart every single gift they have ever given anyone — also every favor they have ever done anyone in their entire lifetime.

I used to admire the terrific memories of people like this until I realized it's much easier to remember a short list than a long one.

BARBARA SACKS, ORANGE, N.J.

DEAR BARBARA: We all know people like that. It's one thing to remember, but to "recite" it is something else.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is being married soon. We have exchanged visits with the groom's parents, but our families have not met yet. Because our daughter and her fiancé have both been in medical school out of state, neither family knows more than a few of their classmates and colleagues.

Would it be improper to provide name tags for family members and guests at our daughter's wedding reception? They would certainly be helpful.

FATHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR FATHER: Improper? I think it's ingenious! I promise that more guests would bless you than blast you. And if anyone criticizes you, tell 'em that Abby said it was a great idea.

Farrell shooting...

Dead man's father files suit

TYLER, Texas (AP) — An attorney for a father whose son was one of three persons fatally shot by the same police officer said he has filed a claim with the City of Arlington seeking $12 million in damages.

Jerry C. Parker, the attorney for Winford Robinson said a "notice of claim" was delivered by mail to Arlington officials on Thursday informing them of Robinson's intentions to pursue compensatory and punitive damages for the Feb. 1 shooting death of his son, Michael Wayne Robinson, 21.

The filing came just one day after Officer Brian Farrell was fired from his job. Arlington police spokesman Larry Barclay said Farrell took a drug intended to help him pass a Feb. 24 polygraph test in connection with the Robinson shooting.

"It is our contention that the City of Arlington through their police department failed to properly plan and execute the police operation in question," Parker said. "But they selected and retained a police officer who was unfit for the position entrusted to him, and that they failed to properly supervise and control Officer Farrell."

At a Thursday news conference, Parker said he and Robinson hope to settle the claim with the city without resorting to a lawsuit. But if they do not reach a settlement, they will file suit in Dallas County, the attorney said.

Parker said the claim seeks damages for "terror and pain suffered by Michael Robinson prior to his death" and "grief and loss of relationship suffered by Winford Robinson as a result of losing his only son."

The attorney said that as a result of the shooting, the elder Robinson was admitted to Brookhaven Psychiatric Pavilion in Dallas in early March for treatment of "extreme stress and emotional problems," as well as a possible heart condition.

Robinson is still a patient at the hospital and did not attend the news conference.

The claim has been the only one filed against the city involving Farrell, a police spokesman said.

Barclay confirmed that the police department received Robinson's claim, but said the department will not comment on it.

Robinson was shot by Farrell as officers attempted to serve three felony forgery warrants at his Highland Park apartment, police said.

Farrell had previously shot and killed Martin Williams, 33, last Aug. 21 as Williams was being transferred from Arlington — where he had caused a disturbance at a store — to Fort Worth. Farrell said he had pulled over and a struggle began when Williams had reached for his gun. Farrell suffered a dislocated shoulder in the fight.

Grand juries that investigated each shooting found no wrongdoing by Farrell.

NTSB official says no foul play in pilot's death in flight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Foul play has been ruled out in the death of a pilot for the Oregon-based Evergreen International Airlines after a Texas coroner called it a homicide.

"Obviously, we don't think it was homicide" or the FBI would be investigating instead of the National Transportation Safety Board, said Dr. Dennis Shanahan, a pathologist for the safety board's Survival Factors Division in Washington, D.C.

The board two weeks ago opened a new inquiry into the death of Evergreen pilot Dean Clinton Moss of Vancouver, Wash., after a justice of the peace in Lubbock County ruled it was a homicide.

The ruling by Justice L.J. Blalack, 66, who also is the county coroner, was challenged by his own medical consultant.

Dr. Ralph R. Erdmann, a forensic pathologist, said his autopsy showed that Moss, 38, bled to death internally for reasons he was unable to determine.

Erdmann told The Oregonian in Portland that homicide could not be ruled out as a possible cause of death, but it seemed unlikely.

Moss was the captain of an Evergreen DC-9 cargo jet hauling Air Force freight from Hill Air Force Base in Utah to Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio.

Moss and his co-pilot reported after takeoff that they could not pressurize the cabin of the airplane, which had a similar problem about two years ago, according to Federal Aviation Administration records.

Moss put on an oxygen breather and went back to the cargo compartment to try to find the cause of the problem. His co-pilot later found him dead in the rear of the plane, still wearing the oxygen equipment.

The plane diverted to an emergency landing at Lubbock where Erdmann's autopsy ruled out asphyxiation and listed the immediate cause of death as a stomach hemorrhage. About a quart of blood was found in Moss' stomach, which was so eroded that Erdmann said he initially suspected Moss had been exposed to a corrosive such as bleach.

However, the doctor said his initial impression was refuted by laboratory studies done by the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology and confirmed by another laboratory in Fort Worth.

"This was a man who had been in excellent physical condition," Erdmann said. "If I had to guess, the bleeding was caused by stress, but I don't know why he was having stress."

Capt. Steve Murray, a spokesman for the Air Force Logistical Air Command, said Moss' plane carried "nothing that could have caused the death."

Evergreen, based just southwest of Portland in McMinnville, has been the target of demonstrations by groups claiming it was involved in CIA operations.

king? If you bear in mind that a defender with A-Q-J-9-8 would lead the queen against three no-trump, that should help you decide to win the trick with your king. That way, should East come on lead, he might not realize that a shift to hearts is the winning defensive play.

Having won the king of spades, declarer leads a diamond. West plays the queen. Is there a choice here? It does no harm for declarer to duck in dummy. On the actual layout of the cards, East may as well overtake partner's queen with the king, but if you give the opponents a chance to make a mistake they sometimes will. Furthermore, if declarer plays ace and another diamond, forcing East to win the king, West will have the opportunity to make a discard. If he throws a spade, East would have to be blind not to realize that a heart shift is mandatory.

Suppose all your good efforts are for naught. East does overtake his partner's diamond queen and makes the right decision to switch to hearts. That's not the end of the deal, since East cannot lead a low heart. (South would simply play low and the king would be protected.) Instead, he must play the heart queen. Now declarer's king of hearts is swallowed up and the contract is defeated.

Clergy service 'outstanding,' pontiff says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Concluding a lengthy Vatican inquiry into Roman Catholic religious orders in this country, Pope John Paul II says they are mostly rendering "outstanding service."

In a letter to U.S. bishops made public last week, the pope said the evaluation of religious communities carried out between 1983 to 1986 had been largely positive. He wrote:

"Please thank them in my name and in your name, in the name of Jesus Christ and the church."

The Vatican-named commission that carried out the inquiry was headed by Archbishop John R. Quinn of San Francisco.

Its work has "proved to be informative and beneficial both to you and to the religious," the pope said.

Tigers to run in Big Spring

BIG SPRING - Snyder track teams will be off and running at Blakenship Field in Big Spring Saturday for the ABC Relays.

The single-day meet gives the Tigers a final tuneup before the District 4-4A Track and Field Championships, scheduled April 15 in Monahans.

The ABC Relays will be a small affair in comparison to some of the meets Snyder squads have entered this season but should be large in talent.

Entered in the boy's division will be Snyder, Sweetwater, Monahans and Big Spring. Those same schools will enter the girl's division, along San Angelo Central.

"Central could just run away with the girl's (division)," said Snyder coach Patty Grimmett of the Class 5A powerhouse.

Central's girls boast a lot of depth. At the Canyon Reef Relays in Snyder several weeks ago, Central placed in every event except the 1600 meters, and won the 400 and 1600 meter relays - and that was against 5A competition.

The boy's division might come down between Big Spring, and perennially-tough Monahans. The Steers boast some of the district's top runners, including distance men Ben Gonzales and Chris Polyniak and sprinters Dennis Hartsfield and Tony Lewis.

Gonzales' time of 1:55.80 in the 800 meters unofficially ranks as the seventh best in the state this season.

Last week, Snyder's Lady Tigers got some good experience in the Class 5A dominated Big Country Relays in Abilene, despite garnering only a handful of points.

"We had a lot of girls who had their best times or distances of the season, despite the wind. We improved a lot, it just wasn't good enough to place against those 5A teams," said Grimmett.

Snyder showed marked improvement in the 100 meters, long jump and triple jump, and although Melissa Williams' high jump of 4-8 into the wind wasn't up to her usual standards, she did finish higher than any District 4-4A entry.

Snyder boys, who entered the San Angelo Relays last weekend, also enjoyed improvement. Two of the top efforts came in the pole vault and 400 meter dash where Charles Guynes cleared 14-feet and Michael Riggs clocked a 50.88, respectively.

Saturday's field events start at 9 a.m. Running preliminaries begin at 10 a.m. and finals get a 2 p.m. starter's gun.

SHS hopes to get bats swinging in Monahans

MONAHANS - Despite back-to-back victories, Coach Albert Lewis is still bemoaning Snyder's lack of success at the plate. He hopes the team will find the sticks when they take on Monahans at 7 p.m. here today in a District 4-4A baseball game.

"We have some guys that still aren't waiting on the pitch. They're lunging," said Lewis, following Snyder's 16-5 win over Sweetwater on Tuesday. "At this time of the year we shouldn't be having that problem. We've played 16 ballgames and a couple of scrimmages. It's too late to be doing that."

Snyder is hitting .287 through four district games but at least three starters are batting .111 or below. Randy Morris' six-for-nine .677 leads the group. Tracy Odom is batting .444.

Snyder goes into tonight's game with a 10-6 season record. Monahans is 8-5 overall and is also 2-2 in the 4-4A.

In the only other game slated today, Lake View (3-9-1, 1-3) travels to Pecos (8-6, 3-1). Saturday, Fort Stockton (7-5, 3-1) is at Big Spring (8-7, 3-1) and Sweetwater (3-8, 0-4) treks to Andrews (9-5, 2-2).

Toby Goodwin will lead off as designated hitter for the Tigers. He'll bat for pitcher Lee Fletcher, who brings a 5-3 record into the game. The rest of the order has right fielder Willie Garcia batting second, followed by third baseman Morris, Odom, short stop Bert Otto, first baseman Bart Morton, center fielder Tommy Lane, left fielder Israel Hinojos and second baseman Jason West.

At Howard Rodeo in Big Spring...

Accident leaves WTC freshman Moser with a broken collarbone

BIG SPRING - Western Texas College freshman Lorre Moser fell from her horse while completing a barrel run here Thursday and suffered a broken collarbone.

The freshman from Iowa Park had just clocked an 18.47 second time in the event and was coming out of the arena when the mishap occurred.

"She's wearing a brace now and will go back to the doctor later," said Coach Bob Doty. "Of course she'll be out for a while but I really don't have any idea how long."

Moser was one of the three designated women's team members from Western Texas College competing in the rodeo. She is a queen candidate for the WTC Rodeo, which opens April 16 in Snyder.

Thursday's performance here wasn't a particularly good one for Western Texas men's team members, but the women got a strong showing from North Zulch freshman Krista Jeffries. She roped an early lead in the breakaway event with a fine 3.5 clocking and is tied for third place in the barrels with a time of 17.82.

Melanie Graf, Western's other women's team member, is holding down third place in the goat tying with an 11.9.

Men's results weren't as promising, though Michael Gaffney is leading the bull riding.

"He's leading right now, but it will be lucky if it gets back," said Doty, meaning that he did not expect the 65 score to stay in the top 10 and thus qualify for Sunday's finals.

The only other WTC men's team members to compete did not fare well. Jim Blain Kenney took a no-score in the saddle bronc event and Clyde Himes clocked a broken barrier-19.3 in the steer wrestling.

Other WTC students, Donnie Jones and Monte Ashworth, had a no-time in the calf roping and no-score in the saddle bronc, respectively.

The rodeo, being held at the Rodeo Bowl here, continues through Saturday with performances at 7:30 p.m. Sunday's finals are set for 1:30 p.m.

Western's Spear is All-Region V

Bobby Spear, who earlier was named all-conference, has been selected All-Region V, Western Texas College men's basketball coach Tony Mauldin announced.

"It's a great honor when you think about the teams involved and the quality of competition," said Coach Mauldin. "I think that says a lot about Bobby and Western Texas College."

Region V includes all of the colleges in the Western and Northern conferences.

Spear averaged 20.5 points and 6.9 rebounds this past season as a sophomore for Western Texas Westerners. The 6-5 standout from Albuquerque, N.M. had earlier been named All-Western Junior College Athletic Conference and was chosen to compete in the Southwest Junior College Coaches All-Star Shootout in Tyler.

Spear, who is being recruited by Southwest Texas State University, Northeast Louisiana and St. Francis (Brooklyn, Mass.) among others, had earned honorable mention all-conference as a freshman.

Ryan goes five; Rangers win

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Nolan Ryan hasn't lasted 23 years in the big leagues being stupid about blowing his arm out.

"I had a 95 mile an hour fastball, but I wasn't getting it over and had to throw too many pitches," Ryan said. "I didn't want to push it."

With that, Ryan took himself out of the game after five innings of his Texas Rangers' debut on Thursday night and watched from the dugout as the Rangers stopped Detroit, 5-4.

The Rangers have won the first two games of the season for the first time since 1980.

About 400 residents from Ryan's hometown of Alvin, Texas, about 30 miles south of Houston, drove about 300 miles in 12 chartered buses Thursday to watch Ryan's debut. Alvin Mayor Allen Gray threw out the ceremonial first pitch.

Ryan threw 107 pitches (39 balls and 68 strikes), allowed seven hits, four runs, three walks and had eight strikeouts.

"I had too many pitches and probably could have lasted another inning, but I didn't want to take the chance," Ryan said.

Ryan left with the game tied 4-4 after five innings along with Detroit starter Jeff Robinson, who threw 105 pitches.

"I had good stuff and walked a few guys I shouldn't have, but other than that I threw fine," Robinson said.

Former Chicago Cub Rafael Palmeiro had the game-winning hit in the seventh inning off loser Frank Williams.

Relievers Cecilio Guante and Jeff Russell earned a victory and a save, respectively.

Ryan, who holds 41 major league records, said he is famed fastball was average although his curve and changeup worked.

Cecil Espy scored three runs for Texas including the game-winner in the seventh inning from second base on Palmeiro's second RBI of the game.

Lady Tigers in San Angelo

SAN ANGELO - Snyder's Lady Tigers hope to make up some ground on the leaders when they tee off in the third District 4-4A golf tournament here Saturday.

The Tigers are currently in third place in the district standings, behind Andrews' 708 stroke total and Fort Stockton's 736. Snyder is 12 shots back at 748.

Cleanup strill struggling as oil spreads

VALDEZ, Alaska (AP) — Oil from the Exxon Valdez threatened a national park and oozed through barriers protecting fisheries as the White House considered drafting the Army for the losing environmental battle in Alaska's Prince William Sound.

With the nation's worst crude oil spill in its third week, others joined in the call for the federal government to take control of the much-criticized cleanup. Exxon made a second public apology and the tanker's captain made bail on charges he was drunk when his ship went aground.

The Good Friday spill of 10.1 million gallons has killed thousands of seabirds and otters in the snowy landscape on the central Alaskan coast. Fishermen have lost millions of dollars.

And despite cleanup efforts by industry, government and private citizens, the spill has spread to more than 2,600 square miles.

"It's just immense," Jim Hayden, who is coordinating the cleanup for the state, said Thursday. "I don't think a spill of this size is controllable."

Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., the consortium of oil companies that owns and operates the 800-mile trans-Alaska oil pipeline and the Valdez terminal, announced Thursday that it would immediately begin requiring random drug and alcohol testing aboard all vessels using the terminal.

Alyeska also said it would require tugboat escorts for all entering and departing vessels to a point beyond Bligh Reef, where the Exxon Valdez ran aground.

Late Thursday the oily sheen was reported lapping at the rocks on islands near Kenai Fjords National Park, a remote refuge 100 miles southwest of Valdez. Ron Smith, a spokesman for a federal-state cleanup effort, said new booms were being put up to protect the area of inlets and fjords.

Closer to the spill site, local fishermen continued their fight to save the salmon fishery at three-mile-long Sawmill Bay, using fishing nets to corral the oil and "super sucker" vacuum trucks to remove it and protect millions of salmon fry.

Rand Little, product manager for the Prince William Sound Aquaculture Corp., said oil breached one of three booms protecting the young salmon. Fishermen were able to repair the breach before damage was done.

But fishermen worried about high tides this weekend that could lift the oil over the booms and complained that they couldn't empty their oil-filled barges because of a lack of pumps.

The frustration with the slow cleanup wasn't confined to area fishermen. Alaska legislators have introduced several bills designed to better prepare the state in the event of future spills. And Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., said his two-day tour of Prince William Sound convinced him oil industry contingency plans for a spill were "essentially a fraud on the public."

Miller endorsed Gov. Steve Cowper's call on Wednesday for a federal takeover of the cleanup.

While Cowper's request for the Coast Guard to head the cleanup is still under consideration, White House Press Secretary Marlin Fitzwater said President Bush may order the military to help in the long-term cleanup of the spill. The administration underscored its opposition to a takeover of the operation.

Exxon Chairman L.G. Rawl issued a second apology for the spill, caused when the tanker Exxon Valdez struck a reef outside the normal shipping channel, but said the company's response to the accident was "immediate and thorough."

On the East Coast, the captain of the tanker that spread the oily disaster was free after his bail was reduced to $25,000 from $1 million. The judge said the former skipper, Joseph Hazelwood of Huntington, N.Y., was unlikely to flee.

Hazelwood, 42, faces charges in Alaska of operating a ship while drunk, reckless endangerment and negligent discharge of oil; an extradition request from Alaska is pending. The misdemeanors carry a maximum penalty of 2 1/4 years in prison and a $10,000 fine upon conviction.

Hazelwood had turned over control of the tanker to a third mate, who was not certified to pilot the boat in the sound.

Bodies of birds and otters are sinking below the surface and washing out to sea, fish and game department spokeswoman Sheila Nickerson said. One survey vessel counted 200 dead birds along one shore, she said.

Dozens killed in Namibia skirmishes; meeting called

WINDHOEK, Namibia (AP) — The commission overseeing Namibia's transition to independence has scheduled an emergency meeting as South African-backed security forces battled anew with black nationalist guerrillas. Dozens were reported killed.

"There is a crisis in Namibia," said a State Department official in Washington who is monitoring the Namibia situation. "We've got a real problem."

Chief Inspector Kierie du Rand, a South African who heads the Namibia territorial force, said 42 guerrillas were killed in clashes Thursday.

Government-run South African Broadcasting Corp. said a "pitched battle ... raged for several hours" between security forces and about 200 guerrillas of the South-West Africa People's Organization.

The fighting began Saturday when a cease-fire was to take effect to coincide with the beginning of Namibia's transition to independence under a U.N.-sponsored plan.

Du Rand said at least 252 guerrillas and 24 members of the security forces had been killed since then.

Angola's state news agency quoted SWAPO defense spokesman Peter Muehlinge as saying only 38 guerrillas had been killed and that nine were missing. He said 20 security force members were killed.

Foreign Minister Pik Botha of South Africa said his government remained committed to the independence plan. Pretoria has ruled the territory for 74 years.

A joint South African-Cuban-Angolan commission monitoring the transition is to meet Saturday to discuss the crisis. South Africa's President P.W. Botha said U.S. and Soviet observers would participate.

Chester A. Crocker, the assistant secretary of state for African Affairs, left Washington on Thursday to attend the commission meeting.

South Africa claims SWAPO has sent more than 1,500 guerrillas into Namibia in violation of an accord requiring the insurgents to remain at their bases in Angola.

Ueberroth deal on Eastern faces labor negotiations

NEW YORK (AP) — After days of intense negotiations with Texas Air Corp., Peter V. Ueberroth must wrangle with Eastern Airlines' rebellious unions and wrest concessions that Eastern boss Frank Lorenzo was unable to get.

A group led by Ueberroth agreed Thursday to buy strike-bound Eastern for about $464 million. The deal would give Eastern's 30,000 employees a 30 percent stake in the airline in exchange for about $210 million in contract concessions. Ueberroth, the former baseball commissioner, flew to Washington immediately after a hastily called news conference Thursday afternoon and met with representatives of Eastern's unions. The talks were to resume this morning, said sources speaking on condition of anonymity.

Union officials said they hoped the deal could end the month-long walkout at the nation's seventh-largest airline and get Eastern flying a full schedule.

But some daunting hurdles remain for the deal, announced by Ueberroth and Lorenzo, chairman of Eastern's parent Texas Air Corp.

Eastern's major creditors and the U.S. Bankruptcy Court must approve it. In addition, the deal requires Eastern to reach new work agreements with its three unions by midnight Tuesday.

Ueberroth's group is seeking about $210 million in pay cuts and work-rule concessions from the unions, sources close to the situation said. Lorenzo had sought $125 million in concessions.

"Under this agreement Eastern can be back flying in very short order," Lorenzo said at the news conference. "Eastern is prepared to be back flying within 24 hours ... after agreement is reached with the unions."

The Miami-based carrier has been virtually grounded since March 4 by the machinists' strike that was supported by pilots and flight attendants and drove Eastern to file for bankruptcy protection and reorganization on March 9.

"To sum it up, it's a mammoth challenge," said Ueberroth, who organized the 1984 Summer Olympics in Los Angeles. "I'm convinced that there is a spirit amongst the people in the company that I can help bring together to help this airline."

Although Texas Air has endorsed the Ueberroth plan, others still might submit competing proposals to the bankruptcy court.

Nevertheless, the Ueberroth deal was greeted with cheers by union members, who have vilified Lorenzo as a union buster.

At a crowded union hall in Miami, members chanted "Hey, hey! Ho, ho! Lorenzo's got to go!" and sang "Take Me Out To The Ballgame" as they heard of the sale.

Union leaders were more cautious. "We're reviewing the documents and we'll be making a decision very shortly," said Charles Bryan, head of the machinists' local at Eastern, who was in Washington for the talks with Ueberroth.

In New York, Lorenzo told reporters that under the proposed purchase Texas Air would get about $200 million cash, would be forgiven $185 million that it owes to Eastern and would get $79 million worth of Eastern assets.

A union analysis, on the other hand, reckons the value of Texas Air debt owed to Eastern at $288.6 million. The debt includes loans to Texas Air and Eastern's sister carrier, Continental Airlines, to buy gates at airports in Newark, N.J., Houston and Cleveland, and for aircraft purchases.

North said he tried to talk McFarlane out of testifying

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oliver North testified today he tried unsuccessfully to persuade former national security adviser Robert McFarlane to refuse to answer congressional inquiries about the Reagan administration's secret assistance to the Nicaraguan rebels.

Testifying for the second day in his own defense, North said he told McFarlane that "we should be invoking executive privilege" after two letters came in from Congress in August 1985. North is accused of lying to and obstructing Congress in helping prepare written responses which denied that the National Security Council was involved in soliciting funds or offering tactical advice to the Contras.

"The Congress has a right to ask and the executive branch has a right to refuse to answer," North said he told McFarlane.

The former White House aide said he proposed the approach in the case of the letter from Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., then chairman of the House Intelligence Committee.

"We shouldn't be answering this," North said he told McFarlane as the two discussed what to do about the Hamilton letter.

The proposal, which would have involved having President Reagan invoke executive privilege, fell by the wayside and "I did draft a response" to the Hamilton letter, said North.

McFarlane "took the last two paragraphs of the second page and included it in a draft that he wrote," North said.

The two paragraphs on the second page are not part of the criminal charge against North. He says McFarlane prepared the portions denying that the NSC solicited funds or offered tactical advice to the Contras.

According to testimony earlier in the trial, North later reviewed McFarlane's draft and made editing changes, but didn't remove the denials of NSC assistance to the Contras.

The response was sent to Hamilton and a similar response was sent to then-U.S. Rep. Michael Barnes, D-Md., who also was making inquiries about news reports of NSC involvement with the Contras.

McFarlane pleaded guilty to withholding information from Congress in connection with the two letters.

North says top-level Reagan administration officials put him in charge of keeping the Nicaraguan rebels alive and ordered him to maintain total secrecy about the operation.

The CIA had been supplying the Contras, but by October 1984 when Congress banned further military aid "every bit of that CIA responsibility had been passed on to me," North told the jury at his criminal trial Thursday.

"It was basically a handoff as in basketball,"

The former National Security Council aide took the witness stand in his own defense for nearly 2½ hours. The 12 criminal charges against him focus on his alleged lies to Congress and the attorney general about his efforts on behalf of the Contras.

Then-national security adviser Robert McFarlane told him his role as overseer of the Contra network "could not be revealed," North testified.

The admonition "was reiterated innumerable times by Admiral Poindexter and by Director Casey," said North, referring to McFarlane's successor John Poindexter and CIA Director William Casey.

North said his superiors told him disclosure "would jeopardize the people doing it, the pilots shipping supplies" and others in the aid network. In addition, public exposure would "jeopardize the CIA's ability to move back in" because publicity would make it less likely Congress would restore military assistance.

North's testimony was preceded by a series of new disclosures about the Reagan administration's secret assistance to the Contras. Among the revelations in the written admissions of fact:

—Vice President George Bush was an intermediary in a secret plan approved by Reagan and disclosed earlier at North's trial to slip Honduras an extra $110 million in aid if it would help support the Contras. Bush told President Roberto Suazo that "President Reagan had directed expedited delivery of U.S. military items to Honduras" as well as other steps helpful to Honduras.

—North met in London in mid-1986 with Panamanian strongman Manuel Noriega, who "would try to take immediate actions against the Sandinistas." Noriega offered a list of priorities including "an oil refinery, an airport and the Puerto Sandino off-load facility."

—In an earlier meeting, a representative of Noriega had said the Panamanian leader was offering to "assassinate the Sandinista leadership for the U.S. government." In exchange he wanted a promise from the U.S. government to help clean up Noriega's image and a commitment to lift the U.S. ban on military sales to the Panamanian military. U.S. law forbade assassinations, North told the representative, who countered by pointing to Noriega's help to the U.S. government "the previous year in blowing up a Sandinista arsenal." When North reported back to his boss, Poindexter said the U.S. government "could not be involved in assassination, but Panamanian assistance with sabotage would be another story."

—In early 1985, President Reagan "urged the head of state of Saudi Arabia to continue its support for the resistance. Saudi Arabia subsequently made a contribution of more than $25 million."

—In a scheme initiated by Casey and known as Operation Tipped Kettle, Israel on two occasions secretly supplied the Defense Department with weapons it had confiscated from the PLO. The CIA advised Congress the weapons would be used for various purposes, but "in fact many of them were provided" to the Contras as congressionally appropriated funds ran out. The Defense Department said it would find a way to compensate Israel for its assistance.

Cut your own taxes and save New law makes IRAs less appealing

By George W. Smith, CPA
(11th of 14 parts)

It almost goes without saying that Social Security benefits alone will not always provide a comfortable source of income for retirement. Company pensions and personal savings are sometimes needed to supplement Social Security benefits.

In recent years, one of the best ways to save for retirement was through individual retirement accounts, because contributions to IRAs could be deducted from taxable income, thereby saving current income tax. Also, earnings from IRAs were not subject to current tax. Although IRAs will continue to be an important source of retirement savings for some, dramatic changes in the tax rules have minimized their use for others.

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 changed the rules for IRAs. An individual who is not an "active participant" in a qualified retirement plan may continue to make deductible IRA contributions as allowed in the past. This means that up to $2,000 may be contributed to an IRA. If you have earnings of less than $2,000, you may contribute up to 100 percent of earnings. You may not make an IRA contribution based on investment income; you must have earnings from employment or net earnings from self-employment. However, you may treat alimony as earnings.

If you are an active participant in a qualified retirement plan, you may claim a full IRA deduction only if your adjusted gross income is $25,000 or less for singles; $40,000 or less on a joint return. A partial IRA deduction is allowed for singles with adjusted gross income between $25,000 and $35,000 and for married filing jointly with adjusted gross income between $40,000 and $50,000. No IRA deduc-tion is allowed for an active participant who is single with adjusted gross income exceeding $35,000 or for married individuals filing jointly with adjusted gross income exceeding $50,000.

Taxpayers who are allowed a partial deduction may figure the maximum amount allowed by using a formula that can be found with the instructions to their tax return.

Active participants whose adjusted gross incomes preclude deductible contributions are permitted to make non-deductible contributions. Form 8606, Non-deductible IRA Contributions, IRA Basis and Non-taxable IRA Distributions, must be filled out and filed with your tax return. Earnings on non-deductible contributions may accumulate free from current taxation.

Total contributions to an IRA for one individual may not exceed $2,000 (or 100 percent of compensation if less than $2,000) in a year. A spousal IRA may not exceed $2,250 for both spouses.

If earnings are less than $2,000, the deduction may not exceed earnings. If the maximum contribution arrived at is not a multiple of $10, then it is rounded up to the next highest $10. If the result of the formula is more than zero but less than $200, the deduction limit is automatically $200. An IRA deduction goes on Form 1040A, lines 12a-c, or Form 1040, lines 25a-b.

An IRA for you and your spouse: If you work but your spouse doesn't, contributions may be made for you and your spouse. The maximum contribution is $2,250. A working spouse with low earnings may elect to be treated as having no compensation, thereby becoming eligible to receive a spousal IRA contribution. The spousal IRA contribution may be divided between spouses in any manner they wish as long as no more than $2,000 is allocated to either spouse. However, in figuring the maximum deduction contribution, the adjusted gross-income limits must be taken into account.

Non-deductible contributions: A decision on whether to make non-deductible contributions depends on several factors, such as the availability of cash and the opportunity to earn tax-deferred income outside the IRA.

Most importantly, the decision is influenced by the tax treatment of IRA distributions. If only deductible contributions have been made all along, then all distributions from the IRA are treated as ordinary income. If both deductible and non-deductible contributions are made, a distribution will be treated as partly out of deductible contributions and account earnings and partly out of non-deductible contributions. Only the portion of the distribution that relates to non-deductible contributions is tax free.

This makes sense, since it is a return of previously taxed dollars. But what it really means is that if you put in non-deductible contributions, you may not earmark those dollars when you make withdrawals. Thus, your after-tax dollars are tied up. If you anticipate a need for those dollars in the future, you may want to consider other tax-free or tax-deferred investments, such as tax-exempt bonds or certain life insurance products.

Loyalists slay four rebels; support offered to regime

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Loyalist troops killed four rebel soldiers with cannon fire, witnesses said, and the U.S. ambassador offered Washington's support for the embattled government of Haitian leader Lt. Gen. Prosper Avril.

The situation in Haiti remained chaotic as youths burned tires in the streets and rebellious soldiers fired gunshots into the air. Loyal soldiers guarded the Presidential Palace as the capital remained under a state of emergency.

The soldiers slain Thursday night were members of the elite Leopards commando unit, which on Sunday was among the rebellious military units that staged an unsuccessful coup. Sporadic clashes between military units have been reported since then.

Late Thursday, a witness said an armored car carrying loyal soldiers of the Presidential Guard chased a truck carrying members of the Leopards unit on a Port-au-Prince road.

The rebels fled into a house and the loyalist troops destroyed it with cannon fire, killing the four and wounding one, said the witness, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Earlier, the mutinous Leopards had been riding up and down the road, shooting in the air. The witness said the Leopards who were shot had stolen the truck shortly after a curfew began at 7 p.m. and ran into the house when they saw the Presidential Guards approaching.

The four killings, two of which were confirmed by a Western diplomat, brought to eight the number of Leopards killed since Sunday's coup attempt.

The deep divisions in the military were seen as a sign that more disorder may be imminent because Haitian soldiers rarely kill each other.

It was not known how many members of the 400-man Leopards unit were involved in the mutiny. Also rebelling are members of the 700-man Dessalines barracks, the most repressive unit in Haiti's 7,000-man army.

The rebels were in a standoff with Avril's 1,000-man Presidential Guard. The Dessalines Barracks abuts the neo-classical National Palace, fortified with anti-aircraft guns and cannons. Opposing soldiers stood 200 yards apart.

The nearby U.S. Consulate closed as a security precaution, an official said. Its operations were moved to the U.S. Embassy, which is several blocks away and remained open.

U.S. Ambassador Brunson McKinley called on Avril at the palace and expressed support for his government.

"The United States is reassured by democratization under Avril," an embassy statement said.

Since coming to power six months ago in a coup, Avril has restored some constitutional rights suspended in 1987 and approved the establishment of an electoral council to prepare for elections.

The embassy statement said it "appears probable" that Sunday's coup attempt was organized by exiles linked to ousted dictator Jean-Claude Duvalier, who fled to France in 1986.

At midmorning, hundreds of youths poured into the capital and began building piles of burning tires and cardboard in support of the mutiny. Soldiers fired into the air, sending the youths scurrying.

The rebels are demanding that Avril step down. They accuse the government of favoritism toward the Presidential Guard in pay and living conditions and of arbitrarily dismissing senior officers in a crackdown on drugs and corruption.

The government has blamed Sunday's coup attempt on a "vast campaign against drug trafficking, contraband and corruption" that "collided with the interests" of those who oppose democratic change.

Texan testifies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of Cooper Lake are asking Congress to spend $31 million next year to help finish building the long-awaited Northeast Texas reservoir that will supply water to communities from the fringes of Dallas to Texarkana.

Backers of the project, on the drawing board for more than three decades, testified before a House appropriations committee Thursday that water from the reservoir is needed by communities from East Texas to Irving.

Donald W. Abernathy, vice president of the Sulphur River municipal Water District, said the member cities — Commerce, Cooper and Sulphur Springs — have all had to ration water during the 34 years the project has been under consideration.

"In the 34-year delay, all cities have rationed water, laid temporary water lines, dug water wells, and hauled water by truck, just to get by while the Cooper Lake and channel reservoir was being completed," Abernathy testified.

DR. GOTT

PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 40th birthday is coming up. Is there anything different I should be doing from now on to maintain my health? What tests should I get for "baseline" information, and what schedule of tests should I have regularly now?

DEAR READER: The answer to your questions could best be provided by your personal physician, who knows the state of your general health and can suggest an appropriate program for health maintenance.

In general, a person approaching 40 should have the following: a complete history and physical examination (including a Pap test for women), a complete blood count (to detect anemia and abnormal white blood cells), a chemical screening battery (including cholesterol) and a test for hidden blood in the stool. Some doctors would add a cardiogram, a chest X-ray, mammogram and a flexible sigmoidoscopy to investigate the lower intestine.

I think it's wise to address other issues as part of the health maintenance program: Patients should stop smoking, maintain an ideal body weight, be fastidious in selecting sexual partners, reduce dietary fat, engage in regular exercise, attempt to cut down on stress, limit alcohol consumption, avoid mind-altering drugs and be alert to subtle body changes that could indicate potential trouble.

If you have no current health problem and are taking good care of yourself, you do not — in my opinion — need another exam until you are 50. (If you are a woman, you should have an annual Pap test and learn breast self-examination.)

Finally, you will want to make sure that you have adequate health insurance.

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Insuring Your Good Health." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: One doctor told me I have Parkinson's disease, another said it was a tremor. What concerns me is that my grandson, 12, has the same problem with shaking hands. Isn't he too young for this?

DEAR READER: Your grandson is too young for Parkinson's disease, a progressive neurological disorder, usually beginning after age 40, marked by slow movements, muscular rigidity and resting tremor.

Perhaps you and your grandson have benign hereditary tremor. This is an annoying but harmless tremor that affects the hands, head and voice; it runs in families and tends to worsen with stress and age. Mild tranquilizers will often reduce the severity of this common affliction.

Perhaps you and your grandson should be examined by a neurologist who can establish the cause of your difficulties.

DEAR DR. GOTT: About a year ago my tongue started burning. I've tried vitamins, herbal teas, antibiotics and it's still going on. What else can I do?

DEAR READER: Glossitis, or tongue inflammation, can cause burning and has many causes, including irritation and infection. Badly fitting dentures or the chronic use of astringent mouth washes can irritate the tongue; many types of bacteria and yeasts are associated with glossitis.

Also, vitamin deficiencies (especially B-12 deficiency) can cause the condition. One variant of the disease, Moeller's glossitis, is a chronic tongue inflammation seen primarily in middle-aged women. Its cause is unknown.

You need professional advice, rather than self-treatment with the methods you mention. See a dentist.

Civil disobedience arrests increase by almost 60%

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Nuclear Register says the number of arrests for anti-nuclear civil disobedience increased by nearly 60 percent in 1987 to a total of 5,300, with about 120 persons having served, or serving, prison sentences. Many of the demonstrators have claimed religious motivations.

A watermeal, the world's smallest-known flowering plant, could slip through the eye of a needle, and more than 5,000 of the rootless water plants could be packed into a thimble, says National Geographic World.

White House official:

Global trade to affect future farm plan

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — President Bush is strongly committed to achieving a level playing field in the arena of agricultural exports, says a top agriculture adviser.

"We're not any longer going to be soft in our approach to world markets for our agricultural products," said Cooper Evans, Bush's special agriculture adviser.

Efforts to increase agricultural exports will be a key part of the nation's farm policy under the Bush administration, he told South Plains cotton producers at Thursday's annual meeting of Plains Cotton Growers Inc.

But as negotiations with major U.S. trade partners such as the European Economic Community and Japan move toward eliminating trade barriers, Evans said, the global market will affect domestic farmers even more.

"We're moving toward an era where more of our domestic farm policy is influenced very heavily by treaty and less of it by legislation," said Evans, a former Republican Congressman from Iowa who advises President Bush and U.S. Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter on farm policy. "That's a very important change."

Evans said the administration's aim in trade negotiations is to knock down trade barriers to U.S. agricultural products so domestic producers can adequately compete in the world market.

At the same time, however, some current price support programs constitute trade barriers to our trading partners, like target prices for commodities such as cotton.

"You as producers and we in this country must begin to give some real serious thought to what our domestic farm programs might look like in a world where distortions of world trade is taken far more seriously," Evans said.

Exporting more U.S. farm products would also help reduce the billions the federal government pays farmers annually in price supports and other programs, Evans said.

Congress this year faces the task of reworking and extending the 1985 Farm Bill, a job that will be affected not only by current foreign-trade negotiations but by the need to whittle the huge federal deficit.

In particular, decisions about setting new target prices for U.S. agricultural products will be governed by budget concerns, Evans said. The Office of Management and Budget has said that if deficit-reduction targets are to be met, target prices must be reduced 10 percent next year.

"As a former member of Congress, I think that would be very tough for Congress to do," Evans said.

Other possibilities suggested by the OMB include keeping the target price stable but reducing the number of acres eligible for price supports.

"Regardless of what evolves there will continue to be a strong safety net for farm income and farmers. You can count on that," Evans said.
