

SNOOTER NOSE

LITTLE ABOUT EVERYTHING AND NOT MUCH ABOUT ANYTHING

THE status of the 3.2 per cent beer in Texas is a bill passed last week in the House of the state legislature calling for an election on a constitutional amendment for August 26. Provisions in the bill make it lawful for those counties that were wet when state-wide prohibition was declared, will be allowed to sell beer and those that were dry will have to hold an election and vote on it. A member of the Senate who is for beer says that when the measure reaches that department a fight will ensue over the local option feature. Proponents of the beer bill will seek to remove the local option provision, making it lawful for all counties to sell it if the election in August goes for beer.

It is possible that the beer bill will have been disposed of by the time this column greets the eyes of the many thousands of readers of the Reporter, but the conductor makes the prediction at this time that when the bill emerges from both houses and ready for the governor's signature, it will contain the local option proviso.

Every side has its good and bad features, and local option does not escape the two sides. For example, through local option, Martin county goes dry. Through the same procedure Midland or Howard county, or both, go wet. Understand us that we do not mean that we will, but there is a chance. In that case two adjoining counties would reap the revenue from citizens in Martin county who drink beer. Get this assertion straight now—we are not making the specific charge that there are any people in this county that would allow their lips to become moistened with the 3.2 per cent beverage that the Congress of the United States has declared non-intoxicating, but there are people who will drink it, as the late figures released on the sale of beer in the states that are selling it will testify. These figures show that for the week the government collected $4,000,000 from barrel taxes and licenses, and that the revenue to state governments was placed at more than $2,000,000, making a total of $6,000,000, beer tax in a week.

The bad feature that would be connected with Martin county voting dry would be the loss of revenue to perhaps Midland or Howard county, of both, that rightfully belonged to this county. As we understand the motive of President Roosevelt and the Congress is to provide measures that will rehabilitate the broken-down financial structure of the country, and the permit to sell 3.2 per cent beer is one of the props erected to help support this structure.

The redeeming feature connected with local option is placing in the hands of Martin county people a weapon to wield in a fight to uphold their convictions. If the people of the county are opposed to the sale of beer in their county, through local option they are given the opportunity to reveal that fact by voting that way, and that would settle it until the time arrived to hold another election, at least.

But whatever might be the wishes and desires of Martin county, would not in the least effect the wishes and desires of Midland or Howard county. Should either one or both of those counties vote permission to sell beer, and Martin county votes against it, whatever money might be spent for beer by Martin county citizens, would certainly go into the coffers of the adjoining county to help swell their finances.

The matter of revenue is agitating the minds of the officials of Martin county to a considerable degree, we are so informed. Not only has the proposition put a load of worry on the minds of the officials of county governments but on the officials of the State of Texas, as some of us newspaper men can testify who published the constitutional amendments for the November election and have as yet received no pay from the state only warrants that say to hold until funds are provided with which to pay them.

Just how this beer selling business is going to turn out in Texas this columnist hazzards no prediction. What

NUMBER THIRTY

Three-Way Move In Business Circle

As plans now stand by the end of the week and first of next there will have taken place a three-way move in the business circle of Stanton.

One of the business places negotiated his move Monday. The Harris Cash Store moving into one of the buildings in the Briscoe-Price block, facing the new highway.

The Wilson 5c to $1.00 Store, will move from the present location, one door north of the postoffice to the Ebbersol building, formerly occupied by the J. Fox Dry Goods Co. The City Cafe, Morris Zimmerman, owner, will move to the building vacated by the Wilson store.

The new location of the Harris Cash Store, was until last week occupied by the J. H. Burnam Funeral Home, which institution has moved into the building next door to the Reporter in the Guitar Estate block.

Since coming to Stanton, better than two years ago, the Wilson 5c and $1.00 Store, has advanced rapidly from a business standpoint. A small stock was purchased at the outset, and the increase of business from the very beginning, has caused Mr. Wilson to increase his stock and add other lines until it was necessary he seek larger quarters.

Workmen are busy this week renovating the interior of the Ebbersol building, and arranging floor plans to accommodate the present fixtures as well as caring for additional fixtures to be installed.

The Harris Cash Store has enjoyed an increase in business since opening for business a little less than a year. More commodious quarters were sought to care for increase of stock as well as provide room for the addition of a full line of dry goods.

Morris Zimmerman, the oldest cafe in Stanton, is moving from his present location in the Guitar building on the old highway, to a place nearer the new highway. He will be within one door of the new highway affording a convenient place for tourists to eat

SUNDAY SCHOOL PARTY WITH MRS. GIBSON.

Mrs. Keno Davis and Mrs. Martin L. Gibson, were joint hostesses on Monday evening to the Friendship Class, at the home of Mrs. Gibson.

Seven tables played "42" and one table played "Blinch" after which refreshments of hot chocolate and cake were served.

Before leaving a spelling match was enjoyed with the women contesting against the men. Mrs. Nobye Hamilton gave out the words, names of the books in the bible. The women were winners as the remaining men standing went down in defeat at the word "Nebuchadnezzar."

A. & M. EXPERT HERE

Mr. Griffin, A. & M. demonstration agent, located at Big Spring, was in Stanton, Thursday, and at the fruit farm of French Grey, showed the value of sub-irrigation by the use of tile

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Schroder, who have been located at Odessa, are here now with his sister, Mrs. J. A. Wilson and family. Mr. Schroder will assist in moving the Wilson 5c to $1.00 Store into the building recently vacated by the J. Fox Dry Goods Co.

he does know, and it didn't require the services of a sledge hammer to drive it into his head, is that Martin county needs money, and just from what source and how quickly it is going to get it, is a mooted question.

If the conductor of this column should happen to be correct in his prediction, Martin county will be called upon to decide whether beer will be sold in the county through a local option election.

So there boys, you have it. Take your choice of sides.

We are running behind some billion dollars a year or more, we don't know how much. We mean the national government—not our own business. Will some body please figure out just how many glasses of beer the country will have to consume to replace the deficit?

UNSHAKEN IN FAITH

UNSHAKEN FOR A GREATER FUTURE

(Editor's Note:—The Reporter is indebted to Miss Joy Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bell, of Stanton, now a resident of Hollywood, Calif., for the splendid descriptive account of the havoc wrought by the recent earthquake. Miss Bell, is a graduate of the Stanton high school, following shortly her graduation, went to California, where she found employment as secretary in one of Hollywood's prominent loan offices. She has a host of friends in Stanton, who will read the following account with great interest.)

JOY BELL

To you, my dear friends, so many hundred miles away from the quake-stricken area, this terrible earthquake is now, over a month later, just one of the sad happenings you read of in your newspapers every day.

But to the people in Southern California who were so suddenly in the stronghold of something that was beyond the power of man, who were so ruthlessly robbed of home, some parted with loved ones, others wounded and dying, their beloved cities left in a mass of debris—victims of a mighty earthquake that came so quickly, and in thirty seconds only, shook Southern California from Santa Barbara on the north to San Diego on the south, as though Old Mother Earth in her fury wanted to shake this part of her inhabitants off her surface—it is an interval in their lives that even Time cannot erase from the memory.

I am going to relate the earthquake, as I, only one individual shall always remember it. I was not in the worst affected area at the time, but Hollywood received a very severe shock, with thousands of dollars damage, several lives, and many wounded. However, I was one of the few people admitted that very evening into the part where the real damage was done, Compton, Long Beach, and all the little surrounding cities. I was in Long Beach the rest of the night, helping with the relief work, and can accurately describe the tremors for the town continued to shake for days, and that night there wasn't one moment when Mother Earth would rest peacefully at the boiling point, Long Beach.

I was in my apartment, which is on the fourth floor of the building, and was cooking dinner for several guests. It had been unusually warm and sultry all afternoon—one seemed to have a foreboding of impending danger, yet didn't dare mention it. At exactly 5:55 P. M., (on Friday evening, March 10) it all happened so quickly, everything at once, yet it will take time to relate the many many sensations that ran through a person all at once, as the lights flickered, the radio blubbered and stopped, the building was not just rocking, but was fairly bucking up and down, china fell from closets, cooking utensils fell from cupboards, vases were falling with flowers, you could hear people lying, and as all this was happening we were on our way out of the apartment everywhere running, screaming, faint-house, too, running with the rest. It was behind us that we heard all these things. You could hear the falling plaster, and the whole building seemed as though it would collapse any minute.

By the time we reached the ground from the fourth floor the shock was over, but buildings and telephone wires were still swaying. Everyone was hysterical and afraid to go back into the building. However, we finally went back inside. Soon several local stations were on the air, with no program, of course, but to tell the people the earthquake news. They said that the wires were all down, beginning six miles south of Los Angeles, and they couldn't communicate with Long Beach, Compton, and those little towns in the area, and knew that was the most severely affected section of all the country. The Red Cross, the American Legion and other relief agencies were called to administer to the wants of the suffering at once. They were calling for every doctor and nurse in Los Angeles to meet at once at hospitals and form companies to go into the stricken area.

The two young men in my apartment were ready to go as they belonged to the American Legion. Of course, my girl friend and I were insistent upon going, and as they were afraid to leave us behind, we were taken along. I put on a white dress and cap and white coat for relief work and we left. However, before we left my apartment three more tremors, almost as severe as the first shock, followed each other in quick succession. We didn't know then, as we do now, that there wasn't to be another terrible shock, and every time the building swayed we thought the end of time had come for us.

Six miles from my apartment we came to the area where water mains were broken, light posts shaken down and broken, the town being left in utter darkness, and the people sleeping out in the open for the night, police were holding back all the traffic except relief workers. It was like this for the 25 miles further on into Long Beach, getting worse all the time, with buildings lying across the street, the streets flooded with water, homes demolished completely, people wounded and dying, and the earth still shaking.

When we reached Long Beach we viewed a sight that made our blood run cold. The papers have not half described the horrorfulness of the destruction. Should any of you this summer chance to come out here you can go to Long Beach and even then you will see remains of the earthquake, enough to prove that the papers never published the worst. If only you close your eyes and imagine how it would be to see big fine school buildings, churches, hospitals, hotels, and homes, not just wrecked, but in big heaps of twisted steel and crushed rock and brick, other buildings with the sides shaken out, the town in darkness, the people camping out, and in some homes, death had walked in and taken entire families. There wasn't a glass window left in the town. The quake was during the bank holidays and believe me, the banks were certainly opened—with the whole tops of the building, maybe the sides, and sometimes the entire building completely shaken down.

I will relate only a few of the very sad incidents. We helped a young man and other relief workers to unload debris from his automobile which he had left parked at the curb to go in to a store. He was as white as a sheet and so grief-stricken, for inside that car was his little bride of three days, dead. He picked her up in his arms and knelt to the ground begging God in His mercy to put life back into her body for him.

Several days later there was found, buried beneath a whole brick building, a little girl six years old, who had been sent by her mother to the grocery store for a loaf of bread for dinner. When the earthquake came the child was only half a block from home. The mother, looking out of her kitchen window saw her baby coming home when the shock came so suddenly.

The mother saw the little girl run up beside the building, evidently thinking she would find shelter, from from what she knew not. The mother ran from the home for her child and she was struck by flying brick, and came to in an emergency hospital later, crying for her child, and telling where her baby would be found. Beneath the building the child with her Teddy bear clutched in her arms, was found, as was also the loaf of bread, golden curls soaked with blood, and so cold in death.

These, and hundreds of other are the heart-throbbing stories, intimate stories, of people losing their loved ones. There were over one hundred and twenty-five people killed, each leaving scores of loved ones and friends to mourn their painful parting. For days and nights loved ones that were not dead, were hysterical, not knowing where father, mother, or child were—lost and separated from each other, with hundreds of them wounded, some dying, other wounded in a way that would effect them through life. Some women in Long Beach went completely gray-haired over night.

There was a loss in Southern California of which Long Beach suffered $25,000,000, estimated at $45,000,000,000.

The annual Junior-Senior banquet was held on the evening of April 15th, at the Methodist church basement.

This is one of the high lights of the school year when the Juniors assisted by their mothers, banquet the Seniors. The class colors of purple and gold and the class flower, the rose, was used in the decorations, making a very pretty picture of the banquet hall. Jiggs Hall, president of the Junior class, acted as toastmaster, and very cleverly presented the following program:

Welcome, Clair Eley; Response, Pegues Houston; Music, Rosa Lee Cross; and John Hawkins; Congratulations, leaving scores of loved ones and friends to mourn their painful parting. For days and nights loved ones that were not dead, were hysterical, not knowing where father, mother, or child were—lost and separated from each other, with hundreds of them wounded, some dying, other wounded in a way that would effect them through life. ## SAND BELT GAME HERE SUNDAY WITH COLORADO

KAT KLAW LEAGUE SCHEDULE TO START SUNDAY WITH STANTON MEMBER TEAM TO LAMESA.

The local members of the Sand Belt Golf league, stood by last Sunday, no game being scheduled for that day.

As the race now stands in the Sand Belt association three teams, Big Spring, Midland, and Colorado are tied for first position, and Stanton is 6 points in the lead over Odessa for the cellar position.

In the games of Sunday a week ago, Big Spring golfers swept everything but the greens to take Odessa 32-8, Midland trimmed Lamesa, 23-12, Colorado nosed out Sweetwater 22-18, while Snyder spanked Stanton 28-12.

Of the Snyder-Stanton game the Snyder Signal had the following to say:

Snyder Sand Belt Golfers won from Stanton by a top-heavy score Sunday afternoon in the second scheduled game of the season. The score was 28-12.

The best that Stanton could do was to capture two individual matches as they were losing six individual tilts and all of the foursome matches. Earl Fish and J. W. Roberts, playing in the first foursome, defeated Glaser and Haney, three to two; Fish took his man out, five and four, Roberts winning three and two. In the second foursome Wayne Boren and J. W. Scott took their foursome match on the nineteenth green; Boren defeating Burnam, four and three, while Scott lost to King, two and one. In the third foursome P. W. Cloud and Sam Williams captured foursome honors from Adams and Purser, two up; Cloud defeating Adams, one up, and Williams taking his individual match, one up. In the last foursome Lex Wilmethe defeated C. Burnam, three and two, W. W. Hill, losing his match to Harding, two and one; while Snyder took low ball in the foursome, four and three.

Standing of the clubs after two weeks play:
Big Spring—50
Midland—50
Colorado—50
Sweetwater—48
Lamesa—38

Ranch Notes

(BY HOLD 'EM COWBOY)

John Poe is fording it around looking after his ranching interest in one of Henry's latest model coupes. Being president of a school board and ranching, too, is a combination of jobs that call for a conveyance that has comfort, ease and speed to get around in.

It looks like the sheep men were in for securing a good grubstake this year. Wool is selling from 13c to 15c per pound with prospects for a better price. Then, too, the lamb crop is running from 100 per cent to better.

John M. Gist, Odessa ranchman, who is a breeder of prize Herefords, has sold 105 calves to 4-H club boys, including 60 calves that were sold to parties at Grimes, Iowa. Ten calves went to Hale county club boys; three, to Mason; six each to Lamb, Hockley, Lubbock, Ector; four to Haskell and two to Denton. Gist's club calves won prizes last fall at Lubbock, Plainview, Mason, and Amarillo.

The ranch home of Bert Kincaid, 15 miles south of Fort Stockton, was burned to the ground last week. The fire department of Fort Stockton made a run to the conflagration, but the building was too far gone for them to accomplish any effective work. It was reported no insurance was carried on the home which was a fine house and well furnished.

About 300,000 pounds of Mohair held in the warehouse at Sonora was sold last week at 13 cents for grown hair, and 30 cents for kid.

A 52-cent per hundred rate on wool and mohair from Sonora to Houston and Galveston has been announced by the Santa Fe. The matter is now up to the railroad commission for decision.

Last week steer calves in the Sonora section brought 5 cents, the price paid last fall. The calves were purchased by Jim Phillips for the Kansas City Commission company, and shipped to Des Moines, Iowa.

HOME ECONOMIC DRESS PROJECT HOLDS STYLE SHOW

The Home Economic department of the Stanton school, under the supervision of Mrs. Calvin Jones, held the annual style show at the school this week.

DON'T LOSE YOUR GRIP, YOUNG FELLOW!

No matter what the passing "business conditions" may be, there's one fact that we can't get around, and that is that America is a great business nation—always was and always will be.

Other nations are famous for other things—Switzerland for scenery and tourists, Norway and Sweden for fish, South Africa for mines and cattle. Of course, America has all of these, but America's great central activity and Young America's great opportunity is—business.

Today's unusual business conditions are rapidly passing. The world of business will move forward. Every day thousands of young people are drafted into the great business custom, taking modest positions at first perhaps but arising as swiftly as their talents permit.

Any young man or woman who says, "There's no chance in business today," is worse than foolish. Such weak-kneed ones are whipped before they start.

There is probably more opportunity today than at any time in the past three years.

Some young people, when they finish high school or grade school, are going to loaf around home and talk about hard times.

Others are going to write to some good, well-managed school—we have in mind Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration at Tyler, Texas—get a catalog and begin planning a career. We recommend that T. C. C. catalog—it's a beauty.

Some are going up to business success; others are going down. Every boy and girl must determine his course for himself.

Miss Myrtle Miller, Home Demonstration Agent, met with the people of the Tarzan community last week and helped organize a club. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Howard. The purpose of this club work is to learn more about feeding our families, such as planning gardens, sub irrigation, canning, different ways of putting up meats and various other things that are beneficial to the housewife.

Miss Miller demonstrated to the ladies assembled how to make cheese, then gave an interesting lecture on arranging food stuff in our pantries. The following officers were elected: Mrs. T. J. Holloway, president; Mrs. H. B. Shick, vice president; Mrs. Het Wolcott, secy.-treas.

Those present were: Mrs. T. J. Holloway, J. O. McMorries, Mrs. B. A. Shackleford, Mrs. M. G. Dowdey, Mrs. Joe Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Shick, Mrs. T. F. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Sloan, Mrs. Brawner, Mrs. T. Lindsay, Mr. Dowdey and his agricultural class, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Howard.

A meeting of the club was held Wednesday of this week, at the home of Mrs. Holloway.

All who are interested in this work are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

HAS THE MONEY TO PAY

Sterling county, will have enough money to carry on its schools for the full nine months this year.

This is because the people depend on themselves instead of the state for funds. When people lie down and look to the state to pay their bills, they are coming in for a lot of disappointments. We pay for the education of the children whether they get it or not. If we fail to build school houses and pay teachers, we must build more prisons, and pay more

Get Up Nights?

Make This 25c Test
Use this easy bladder physic to drive out impurities and excess acids which cause irritation that results in leg pains, backache, burning and getting up nights. BU-KETS, the bladder physic, containing buchu, juniper oil, etc., works on the bladder pleasantly and effectively, similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box (5 grain size) from your druggist. After four days, if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. You are bound to feel better after this cleansing and your regular sleep. Sold by J. L. Hall Drug Co.

How to train BABY'S BOWELS

Babies, bottle-fed or breast-fed, with any tendency to be constipated, would thrive if they received daily half a teaspoonful of this old family doctor's prescription for the bowels.

That is one sure way to train tiny bowels to healthy regularity. To avoid the fretfulness, vomiting, crying, failure to gain, and other ills of constipated babies.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is good for any baby. For this, you have the word of a famous doctor. Forty-seven years of practice taught him just what babies need to keep their little bodies active, regular; keep little bodies plump and healthy. For Dr. Caldwell specialized in the treatment of women and little ones. He attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby.

Happy Children Are Healthy Children

Keep Them So—Healthy children, bubbling over with energy and fun are the greatest blessings parents can bestow upon civilization if they are healthy, keep them so. If they do manifest the enthusiasm that is their healthful heritage, it is a high time to go orderly about the task of correcting physical deficiencies. When the doctor is called the case diagnosed, and the prescription written, he assumes that the prescription will be filled at a pharmacy where only the purest ingredients will be used, where a registered pharmacist, will compound it accurately. Such is the service this store is prepared to render.

$100,000; with practically all the schools, churches, homes, hotels, and city buildings wiped out. These buildings owned by the state, city, and wealthy concerns are being built back with a speed and courage that is astonishing. But some of the little families whose entire savings were wiped out, left without shelter, clothing or food, and who were taken care of during the first trying days by relief funds, are now left to courageously start all over in these hard times, to rebuild their little homes, motherless, some wounded for life.

It makes our hearts swell with pride to know that California is made up of people so brave, with the blood of the first pioneers still flowing through their veins, undaunted by the tragedy they go about rebuilding, in fact, one of the greatest rebuilding programs in history, is under way—rebuilding homes, churches, schools, and business buildings, erecting them in such a manner as to withstand any earthquake in the future. Any day you go to Long Beach you will find these fine courageous people, working away with smiling faces, and the slogan—“UNSHAKEN IN FAITH—UNFETTERED FOR A GREATER FUTURE.”

How to get to SLEEP

When you can't sleep, it's because your nerves won't let you. Don't waste time "counting sheep." Don't lose half your needed rest in reading. Take two tablets of Bayer Aspirin, drink a glass of water—and go to sleep.

This simple remedy is all that's needed to insure a night's rest. It's all you need to relieve a headache during the day—or to dispose of other pains. Get the genuine tablets of Bayer manufacture and you will get immediate relief.

Bayer Aspirin dissolves always immediately—gets to work without delay. This desirable speed is not dangerous; it does not depress the heart. Just be sure you get the genuine tablets stamped thus:
