

SNOOTER KNOWS

LITTLE ABOUT EVERY THING AND NOT MUCH ABOUT ANYTHING

DURING the battle in the State Legislature over the attempt to pass the pink boll worm appropriation to pay the farmers of West Texas for the expense they had been put to fumigate and sterilize their cotton to protect the balance of the state, it is reported one representative by the name of Long, in the course of his speech against the passage of the bill said: "We should try to keep the schools open rather than pay a bunch of buzzards who are making a raid on the Treasury." That sounds like the remarks that a school boy in his first reader would utter. Surely not from a man possessed with sufficient intelligence to hold a position in the State's law body. How in heck are we going to keep the schools operating if the farmers are not paid their just debts? It's the farmers that pay the bulk of taxes on which the school systems operate. Choke them off from receiving pay for their work and you close the doors of every educational institution in the state. It's just such caliber statesmen (?) as this guy that made the remark that makes most of the legislative sessions in Texas the laughing stock of the country.

§-§ We understand this Bob Long represented the Wichita Falls district, a section where there are many farmers, in fact, we judge, it was the farmer vote that placed him in office. It is quite likely the farmers of that district will swallow the appellation, "buzzards," placed upon them with a great deal of pleasure.

§-§ THAT old theory of killing a snake and placing him on his back with belly up will bring rain in three days has caused the extermination of about all the snakes in Martin county. One friend of the conductor of this column stated he killed a snake about a month ago placed him on his back, and the other day went to see about the reptile and he had dried up and blown away. So that theory has been exploded.

§-§ This rain business has arrived at that point there is no joke to be made of it. Here it is the middle of June and not enough rain has fallen in this section to dampen the feet of a katydid. The grass ranges are as dry as a bone and the cultivated lands in the farming area equally as dry. No crops planted, and it's very likely none will be until it rains as the farmer does not care to lose the expense of his seed, not counting his labor.

§-§ We have had farmers tell us that they have planted crops as late as July 1 and made a fair yield. The government has been planning to hit upon a plan to reduce the cotton acreage. Present indications point to the fact no remedy need come from that source. The elements have the situation well in hand so far as West Texas is concerned.

§-§ THE BIGGEST piece of news for Martin county and Stanton will be found in this issue of the Reporter in the way of a publication from the State Highway Department, asking for bids to place the topping on Highway No. 1. The contract is to be let June 20th, at Austin. The base work to the road has been completed some several weeks, and to the casual observer it looked like the roadbed would be blown away before it was completed.

§-§ Bids call for letting the contract from the Martin county line east of Stanton to the west line. Completion of the road will make it one of the best highways in the state. The road will be considerably wider—almost room enough for three autos to pass if traveling at a low rate of speed.

§-§ WE are not so certain whether or not a Million Dollar rain ever hit Martin county, but if there ever was a rain to spread over this county that would rate at such a value, one now would surely be worth Two Millions or more. This county has been fortunate in having rains fall so frequent in the past that no one precipitation was considered worth a million dollars. Now, in arid sections like McCullough county, one rain is worth one or two million dollars, as our friend Harry Schwenker, editor of the Brady Standard estimates. Speaking of McCul-

Commissioners' Court Glasscock County Pay For 550 Rabbit And 60 Coyote Scalps

Glasscock county, the only County in Texas that doesn't owe any corporation, bank, or individual a thin dime, comes to the front this week with paying bounties on more rabbit and coyote scalps than probably any other county in Texas.

According to Commissioner L. W. Woody of Glasscock county, who was in town, Tuesday, the commissioners' court of Glasscock county are doing a good part by their taxpayers. The court has been for the past several years paying them a bounty on coyotes and jack rabbits killed in Glasscock county.

When the court met Monday of this week they paid for 5,500 rabbit and 60 coyote scalps, allowing 5 cents each for the rabbits and $2.00 each for the coyotes.

The citizens of Glasscock appreciate the commissioners' court keeping up this bounty, and other counties would do well to follow suit.

FIRST MEETING OF THE SEASON FOR THE STORY HOUR BROUGHT LOTS TOTS

The first meeting for the year of the story hour for the children, held last Saturday afternoon brought out a large number of little tots to enjoy the occasion. Mrs. James Jones was leader. The following were present:

Sterling Stamps, Hugh White, Billy Yater, Wayne Toomer, Stanton Story, James Zimmerman, Jerry Hall, Hazel White, May Ruth Renfro, Betty Sue Renfro, Dorothy Renfro, Helen Renfro, Margaret Gene Clements, Francis Barker, Annie Laura Flanagan, Hazel Gates, Josephine Houston, Margaret Theresa Flanagan, Bernie Word, Curtis Glen Flanagan, Hurley McCamey.

Woodrow Maggart has returned to Abilene for the summer term of school at McMurry.

lough county rains, the reader will remember this column commented on it in a recent issue of the Reporter. Schwenker comes back at us in a way that leaves no gaps down for us to crawl through with an answer. Here it is:

This is a column of education, enlightenment and information. Undoubtedly, and Sauce is too straight-laced to stray ever from the beaten path. When we do hesitate or linger very long along the way, it is simply to lift an errant wheel out of some bog hole to plant him once again on his feet, and send him along the straight-away with a whispy word of admonishment.

This name of long standing has gained for us an enviable reputation among the brethren of the press. Thus we find James E. Kelly, a Frenchman with a Swedish monicker and a Bulgarian disposition, and who occupies the diplomatic post of editor-publisher-owner and chief cheese of the Stanton Reporter, hastening to Sauce's defense, even before Sauce's excuse.

Our far Western friend asseverates that by reason of his own private and personal knowledge of Sauce's truth and veracity, he accepts as facts, and not as fiction, Sauce's estimate of a two-million dollars valuation on our two most recent rains. Further, that McCullough county rains are not the direct result of brain leaks upon the part of the Standard editor, nor yet that the long dry spell has caused said head to become cracked; that, in fact, said head is too hard to either swell, crack or run.

The Stanton editor's indubitable defense is accepted with unaffected modesty by this purveyor of new and used happenings, and is returned in kind. We here and now declare Editor Kelly a blood brother in the Ancient and Honorable Order of Ivory Domes, and fully entitled to all the rights and privileges of the order, including the participation in and unlimited use of as many millions of rains as may be needed to cover his domain.

Does Stanton Want Sewer

The Reporter, for one, says "she certainly do!"

Stanton, since the National Recovery Act passed Congress, is offered an opportunity to build a sewer system, doing away with the septic tank or cess pool method of disposing of sewer material.

Under the terms of the National Recovery Act, the old-liquidating loan provisions have been greatly liberalized. Instead of loans being made on "full and adequate security," they will now be made on basis of "reasonable security" and with the view "to increasing quickly employment." In addition, the Federal administration may, under the provisions of the act, make a definite grant to you of 30 per cent of the total cost of material and labor on the project, leaving only 70 per cent to be borrowed and liquidated from either receipts from the project or other receipts. Due to these liberalities, Stanton might now qualify many projects which would not qualify under the old self-liquidating loan act.

Title Two of the National Recovery Act appropriates three and one-third billion dollars for construction of needed public improvements. Various leaders in Texas want to qualify sufficient Texas projects in order to secure two hundred fifty million dollars of these funds. A partial public works survey of West Texas shows between sixty and seventy million dollars of needed public works projects. Of these projects, however, only about five million dollars of them qualified under the 1932 act and around eighty West Texas communities are at work on these projects which will undoubtedly qualify under the new act.

Political subdivisions must apply; reasonable security must be given, and the loan is for new construction and repairs, and not for refinancing.

Sewer systems, water systems, and improvements thereon can be financed from these funds by pledging to the government sufficient receipts of the project to amortize the loan.

With this idea in view, several of Stanton's prominent citizens have asked that a meeting of the citizens be called to discuss the plan for building a sewer system for the town, and as a result, a mass meeting of the people of town is called for Friday night of this week at the courthouse.

At this meeting it will be shown how a loan from the Federal government can be obtained.

Aside from giving to Stanton a very much needed improvement, the installing of a sewer system will give our home people employment.

IT IS URGED THAT YOU BE ONE PRESENT AT THE MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT!

WHITSON FAMILY REUNION

S. W. Martin, Dies From Heart Attack

S. W. Martin, a highly respected farmer of the Courtney community, and Martin county, died suddenly Sunday from a heart attack. He was sitting in his home joking with some of his neighbors when he slumped over dead with no moment's warning, or suffering. Saturday afternoon the day before his death Mr. Martin was in Stanton, talking to his many friends in a jocular way, as he was always full of fun.

Mr. Martin died Sunday morning, June 11th, at about 9:00 o'clock. Funeral services were held Monday at the Baptist church, Rev. Redrick, a Baptist minister of Courtney, and Rev. Vaughn, pastor of the Methodist church, Stanton, conducting the rites. Following funeral services burial was made in Evergreen cemetery here.

Mr. Martin was born in Coosey county, Alabama on July 19th, 1863. Early in youth he moved to Mississippi where he was married to Miss Annie Vickery, and to this union were born five sons. Three sons, Clyde of Hubbard, Hill county; Otis and Olin of Vernon, Texas, and his wife survive.

In 1927 Mr. Martin moved to the Stanton community, where he engaged in farming at Courtney. He accepted Christ in 1896, and united with the Baptist church.

VERY INVITING. INDEED BUT WE CAN'T GO

Some kind friend, and possibly, an intimate one, sent this editor this week a copy of the Monterey Times, Northern Mexico's only English language newspaper, so the line informed right under the head on the front page of the newspaper.

How we know it must have been a friend the newspaper carried several saloon advertisements, hotel accommodation in which was included the most beautiful of beauty parlors, presided over by the cream of the beautiful feminine facial artists, and a whole page devoted to "Montrey's Real Night Club, the Cabaret every tourist visits," and that which appealed most to our Torredore senses, was the advertisement announcing, a bullfight, "the proceeds of which will go to the family of Jose Trchuleta, Bandillero, who was mortally injured at this ring last Sunday."

And to cap the climax, and the one which will possibly lead us direct to Monterrey into the very near future, was this paragraph in the Times: "All of the cafes mentioned serve the leading brands of beer, wines, and liquors, and in addition there are three first class bars, not counting those at the cabarets. These bars are attended by experts in pleasing the North American taste and guarantees their goods."

The editor of the Monterey Times is Rex F. Redwine, a name that fits in well with the environments that would naturally surround the North American the minute he set foot on Monterrey soil. But if we ever knew an editor by the name of Redwine in the United States we can't now recall it. It's possible he changed his name from the one he went under in the States. We have known several editors that could answer admirably to the name of "Hard Liquor" or after some vinuous spirits that graded well above Redwine.

We suppose to learn the name of the gentleman who sent us the Monterey Times will go down in history as one of those unsolved mysteries.

HAVE PLEASANT DAY AT ODESSA

Misses Allene Kaderli and Imogene Bassett, Woodrow Maggart and Hilton Kaderli, spent last Sunday in Odessa, the guests of Miss Bassett's aunt, Mrs. Cody. The couples enjoyed a swim in the pool at the Country Club in the afternoon returning by way of Midland and attending the performance of "Rasputin" at the Yucca theater.

Woodrow Wilson spent a few days in Stanton this week visiting friends. He was in Big Spring to visit his mother before going back to El Paso where he is employed, and where he is also a student in the School of Mines. Woodrow lettered in football last year and much will be heard from him on the grid the coming term for his team.

TO LET CONTRACT TO FINISH HIWAY 1 TUESDAY, JUNE 20

CONTRACT CALLS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF 13.011 MILES OF DOUBLE BITUMINOUS SURFACE TREATMENT.

This week, there appears in The Reporter a legal publication from the State Highway Department, asking for bids for constructing 13.011 miles of Double Bituminous Surface Treatment from the Howard County line to the Midland county line on Highway No. 1, said bids to be received at the Highway Department, Austin, Texas, until 9 a. m., June 20th, 1933, and then publicly opened.

This piece of news will be received with a considerable degree of gratitude by the many who have been bumping about and dodging the holes in the road base made by the continuous hot dry weather and high winds.

On the same date bids will be opened on the contract to top the road from the Martin county line west of Stanton to the concrete street at the eastern edge of the city of Midland, and from the west edge of the city limits of Midland 1.27 miles.

This means the completed work on the Broadway of America through Martin county and to a short distance west of Midland.

The new road called for a change of routing through the town of Stanton. Instead of following the old road, the route was changed at the eastern edge of Stanton to follow the T&P railroad, a block south of the original road. The old road with its hardsurface is left intact. With the completion of the new road it will give Stanton two hardsurfaced streets running east and west through town.

In connection with the work on the new improved highway an agreement was entered into between the city of Stanton and the road contractors on the highway project to pave a block on Main street of the town, and this project is ready for the finishing touches which calls for a hardsurface street from curb to curb, intersecting Highway 1 at the postoffice corner and going north one block connecting with the old highway.

It will be noted in the legal notice published elsewhere in this issue that "the contractor shall pay not less than the following listed prevailing rates per diem wages: Firemen, $2.80; Distributors Operator, $4.00; Truck Drivers, $2.80; Tractor Operators, $4.00; Grader Man, $4.00; Roller Operators, $2.80; Spreaders, $2.24; Common Laborers, $2.24; Watchman, $1.60; Water Boys, $1.20; Broom Men, $2.80; Motor Mechanic, $4.00." These rates are based on eight hour working day.

Plans and specifications are available at the office of G. B. Finley, Division Engineer, Balmorhea, Texas, and the State Highway Department, Austin.

Asking for bids on this project was among a number totalling $500,000, in Texas. This covers a mileage of 317, mostly of the bituminous type.

CONTRACTORS NOTICE OF TEXAS HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

Sealed proposals for constructing 13.011 miles of Double Bituminous Surface Treatment from Howard County Line to Midland County Line on Highway No. 1, covered by Job No. M-6-Y-3, in Martin County, will be received at the State Highway Department, Austin, Texas, until 9 A. M. June 20th, 1933, and then publicly opened and read.

The Contractor shall pay not less than the following listed prevailing rates of per diem wages: Fireman, $2.80; Distributor Operators, $4.00; Truck Drivers, $2.80; Tractor Operators, $4.00; Grader Man, $4.00; Roller Operators, $2.80; Spreaders, $2.24; Common Laborers, $2.24; Watchman, $1.60; Water Boys, $1.20; Broom Man, $2.80; Motor Mechanic, $4.00.

These rates are based on an eight (8) hour working day, the rates paid shall be proportional.

Overtime and legal holiday work shall be on same basis as shown above. Plans and specifications available at office of G. B. Finley, Division Engineer, Balmorhea, Texas, and State Highway Department, Austin. Usual rights reserved.

Lamesa Defeats

Stanton 32 To 8

Stanton's golfers in the Sand Belt association, lost everything in their game with Lamesa last Sunday. What it required to defeat our boys the Lamesa players had an abundance.

Haynie and Clayton Burnam lasted to the 18th hole and King went 17 before losing out.

Frank Rose and Bill Totum carded a 67, 5 under par, to win the low ball from Woodard and Haynie.

All four players were shooting in 70's with Rose shooting sub-par golf all the way.

Burnam and King short their normal game but were out-matched by their opponents.

Purser and Harding slipped a little off the usual game due to Bozo's stiff neck and were cleaned out early in the game.

C. Burnam and Adams were shooting their usual game but were nosed out at the end.

This defeat was the first complete route for the Sand Belt team and will probably hurt their chances to stay out of the cellar in the league. But we haven't lost hope.

Snyder comes over here June 25, and we are going to take them like the Yanks took the Argonne—if you don't believe it come out and see.

The Kat Klaw team has a match next Sunday with Lamesa here and they are already planning on what they are going to do to them.

President Roosevelt's Daughter Popularizes New Eating Custom

Mrs. Dall entertaining friends at a "salad first" luncheon.

WASHINGTON—By serving her salads as an appetizer at the beginning of the meal instead of following the meat course, Mrs. Curtis B. Dall, energetic daughter of President Roosevelt, with true Rooseveltian vigor has taken a leading part in popularizing this long-established California custom in the East.

During the past year the West Coast custom of serving salads at the beginning of the meal has been spreading rapidly Eastward and already has become the vogue in many sections of the South and Middle West. Most of the larger hotels have adopted the plan.

Fruit and vegetable salads have long been recognized by dietitians and doctors as necessary in a balanced diet. In communities where salads are served first, statistics show they usually are eaten. When served in the old fashioned manner with or following the meat course, they often are left untouched, the result being that the diner, already satisfied, misses important vitamins which he should have to balance his meal.

After serving her salads first, Mrs. Dall solved the problem of getting her children to eat their daily portions of vegetables without protest. At the beginning of the meal, when they are hungry, she found her children not only ate, but loved their vegetables in salad form.

The custom of serving salads first, Mrs. Dall said, appeals most favorably to adults, and especially to men, and because of the great popularity of the custom she has made it a frequent feature of her meals.

YARNS OF COLONEL TRUE

Readers of this newspaper are invited to write to Colonel True and tell him of their own remarkable experience. Address Colonel True, in care of THE STANTON REPORTER. Every person writing the Colonel will receive free membership card in The Amalgated Association of Bull Throwers.

Dear Colonel:

A few lines to let you know about a fast mare I used to own back in the eighties. She went to the post one afternoon in a race and, two minutes before the field of ten horses were sent on their way, she gave foal to a beautiful colt. She then won the race and the colt ran second.

She was later barred from all tracks because she ran so fast she always caught the track rails on fire and blew over the grandstands.

Cal Houston, Stanton, Texas

Sir: I would like to see your fast horse matched with one I owned a few years ago. He was the fastest horse I ever saw, and I guess he must have been the fastest in the world. In the first race he ever ran, when he was ten days old, he gained a lap and a half on himself in a mile and a quarter race, coming in first, second and third in a field of eight.

A couple of days later I entered him in the third race of the day. He won it, of course, and in doing so he ran so fast he also placed in the preceding race.

A mare I owned a few years before that was fast also, but she never won a race. She ran so fast she got in her own way coming back around the oval, stumbling over her own back feet.

My brother, Ocie, used to own a horse that was so fast nobody would enter an animal against him unless Ocie's horse ran backwards. Handicapped in this manner, he lost a few races, but usually won by at least a

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.

Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple: — a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.

Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.

Dear Colonel True:

Several years ago an uncle of mine, noted for his veracity, told me of a corn crop he raised in the Red River Valley. He told me he planted the corn early in the morning and at noon noted it had come up. Just before sundown he and his wife went out and noted the corn was knee-high. His wife stuck a twig from a nearby oak tree into the ground, just the height of the corn stalk, and the next morning went out to see how much the corn had grown. Imagine their surprise when they found the stalk had tumbled out, had two big ears of corn on it, and the twig was adorned with two nibbins and a full crop of acorns.

Can you tell me the variety of corn he grew? I am anxious to obtain some for seed.

French Gray, Stanton, Texas

Sir: From personal experience in the Red River Valley, I would say that the remarkable growth of this corn was not due to the variety of the corn itself, but to the extraordinary fertility of the soil in that section.

While I was farming there, near Clarksville, I once called a horsehoe over the door of my home, for good luck. Later it fell off, the points sticking in the ground. The land was so fertile the horsehoe sprouted and grew into a beautiful arch over the door.

That same year I lost a penny in the fall, through a hole in my pocket and the next spring I plowed up a dollar.

I left there though, because the fences gave too much trouble. I put down a fence one spring, with good bois d'arc posts, but these posts sprouted and grew, carrying the fence up into the air so high my cows could walk under it.

In an attempt to solve the problem, I rebuilt the fence, setting the posts in upside down, but that plan was a failure. The posts grew downward into the ground and eliminated the fence.

The remarkable fertility of the soil there also made the weeds a big problem. Grassburrs grew as big as coconuts and sunflowers along the fences got so big they would shade an eighty-acre field from the sun all

Dear Colonel True:

Last week I played eighteen holes of golf at the Municipal Golf Course, here, blindfolded, using only a putter, and with both hands tied behind me. I took 68 strokes getting around—four under par.

Mrs. Edd Wilkinson, Stanton, Tex
Madam: To some people it might seem that you were exaggerating slightly, but having found golf a very simple game, I have no doubt you accomplished the feat as you say. As for myself, I have played only one game of golf in my life, taking 17 strokes on 18 holes.

This may seem to be impossible, but I assure you it is quite true. I made the first sixteen holes with one stroke each. But on my drive for the seventeenth hole, my ball hit a telephone wire, split in half, one piece falling into the seventeenth hole and the other piece into the eighteenth.
