Farm Land Prices Holding Steady

The price of farm land in Texas and elsewhere is more than holding its own. Apparently, the business recession has not had an effect on land prices any more than the recent seven-year drought.

According to a recent nation-wide survey, good farm land will continue to be a scarce commodity. During the 12-month survey period, only 31 of every 1,000 farms were voluntarily put up for sale. This compares with 57 ten years ago. As recently as 1952, more than 55 percent of all land sales were made by active farmers; now only 50 percent are.

There is a possibility that social security may result in some slight easing of the tight land supply situation, however. The acreage offered for sale by retiring farmers is increasing.

But competition to buy land is becoming stiffer. Bulk of the demand is by farmers wanting more acres for expansion. The survey showed roughly 40 percent of all farm real estate purchases were made by active farmers for farm enlargement. And this percentage is increasing.

Not just farmers are bidding furiously for farm land. More and more city folks are in the market, too. Thirty-six percent of buyers were non-farmers, up from 32 percent five years ago.

Other findings showed the average value of farm real estate increased 6 per cent from the spring of 1957 through the spring of this year.

Total value of all farm real estate in the U. S. is now figured at $116 billion—up $109 billion a year ago, $74 billion 10 years ago, and $35 billion 20 years ago.

Philosopher Finds His Plans And Ike's Have Habit Of Failing To Pan Out Financially

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw manifests some sympathy with Washington this week, his letter reveals.

Dear editor:
 I have decided that running the government in Washington is not much different from running a farm or a family out here on this Martin County grass farm, financially speaking.

Last year, if you'll recall, President Eisenhower sat down to figure up what it was going to take to run the country for a year, and he said that while spending would be up some, this could be handled all right because incomes would be up, consequently taxes would bring in more, and the budget would balance with maybe a half-billion dollars left over.

Now though, with incomes not quite as high and hence tax revenue less, it looks like the government will go in the red around three billion dollars.

That's exactly the way it turns out for me. I can sit down and figure up what my expenses will be, what my income will be, and show a paper profit, but invariably as the year wears on things keep happening.

Expenses are a little more than I figured on, income is a little less, and by the end of the year me and the national government are in about the same shape. It's a funny thing, but I can always see fewer expenses and more income than ever results. Just like President Eisenhower couldn't see a mild recession coming, I couldn't see that tractor tire I was going to ruin. It was a good tire, lots of rubber still left on it, and I figured it was good for two or three more years at the least. I got two dollars on it on a trade-in.

The same thing was true about that piston rod, that cow that got sick and died, the roof that blew off, the fence that fell over, my wife's breaking her eye glasses, those relatives that piled in on us. . . I tell you, you never know what's going to turn up next on this farm or in the White House.

Of the two jobs, though, I believe I prefer this one. It's one thing to have your wife nagging at you when you take off on a little vacation, but a not her thing to have the entire United States population to answer to. Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

BIBLE COMMENT

We Must Have A True Sense Of Values

There are many examples in history of persons who possessed a faulty sense of values. Three of these, recorded by the Bible, are offered for inspection. Two of these people were unable to see earthly riches in their true light. The third had his eyes opened and was thus saved.

The first of these was the rich farmer whose barns were so full he seriously contemplated tearing them down and building larger ones which would hold all his grain. This in itself was not wrong.

But this man planned to keep all his riches for himself. There is harm in this attitude. He was selfish and had no intention of "being rich toward God" or serving his fellowmen. His sin was his self-centeredness.

The second man was a rich young noble whom Jesus loved. This youth had kept all the commandments since his childhood but he was troubled about the question of eternal life. Jesus invited him to leave all and follow Him.

But the young man could not take this decisive step. He turned his back on this opportunity for eternal life because he thought more of his possessions and earthly position. He could not estimate their value in relation to spiritual things.

But the third man, the one who looked, listened and saw his possessions for what they were, was a local official who must have waxed fat on graft and extortion before his conversion.

Zacchaeus paid for the privilege of collecting taxes in a land dominated by Rome. We do not know whether he was honest or dishonest. We do know that the man told the Master that if he had wronged any man he would restore him fourfold.

Zacchaeus discovered a true sense of values, something even death could not take away. He found salvation where the others had overlooked it.

Intermediates filled the choir at the morning service. Porky Britton gave the Sunday School report, Richard Ellis made announcements and Jimmy Hamilton read the scripture. Boys from the 15 and 16-year-old classes served as ushers.

Sunday afternoon Intermediates met at the church for games and a sandwich supper. Intermediates took charge of the evening services. Bob Boyce, Joyce Anderson, Patricia Miller and Jimmy Hamilton brought the special music. Raymond Painter read the scripture and Intermediates sang in the choir. Boys from the 13 and 14-year-old classes were ushers.

FARM & RANCH REVIEW

Much hustling, bustling and doing-about is going on in the corral of the Midland Rodeo officials in preparation for pulling off the largest rodeo events in the history of Magnificent Midland.

It's the 24th annual celebration and will be held in Midland Fair Park.

Everet E. Colburn of Dublin, will provide the rodeo stock as he has been doing the past several years.

Durward Lewter, who served Howard County 10½ years as county agricultural agent, later to resign his position and build and operate feeding pens for livestock near Lubbock, announces he will build a 25,000 square-foot slaughter and dressing plant adjacent to his feed lot.

The capacity of the plant will be 25,000 cattle per 120 days. The company will be known as the Lewter, Inc., numbering among those interested in it, Clint W. Murchison, a Dallas capitalist.

There was a time when the only cotton growing area of Texas known for growing boll weevils was in deep East and Southeast Texas. As time progressed the boll weevil enlarged his scope of territory to include West Texas cotton patches but controlled his activities in a mild way.

Now, we are hearing of the Imported Fire Ant invading Southeast Texas, and to devise some means to kill them out and stop the spread of their activities has all the extension service technicians laboring industriously to find a solution.

Since the boll weevil has been known to visit West Texas, we have no guarantee the Imported Fire Ant will not find its way into this area if Southeast Texas doesn't kill him first.

This scribe knows nothing about the Fire Ant, but he does know that on occasions in the summertime there would be a drove of big flying ants invade the area he calls home. If all the windows and doors weren't closed tight they entered the house creating a hasty grab of a flyswatter or magazine to kill them.

These flying ants wasted no time digging little holes in the ground and inspecting unguarded food on the table. When that was done the ants were gone as quickly as they arrived.

The Experiment Station near Beaumont that is carrying on the work of controlling the pests, issues this report:

"Imported Fire Ant colonies may contain 25,000 workers which are ¼ to ½ inch long and build mounds generally about 10-15 inches wide, making mowing or plowing difficult, plus the hazard of bad stings to farm workers. They were brought to this country about 20 years ago from South America through the port of Mobile, Alabama."

Claiming to be the oldest rodeo attraction in West Texas, on July 3 will start on its 75 years of presenting its wild west performance and continue through July 5.

It's the Pecos Fair and Rodeo Assn. show to be held at Pecos. A three-day booster trip will be made in the area in advance of the opening date to advertise the event.

Mayors and county judges living in the area are receiving special invitations to attend.

Congressman J. T. Rutherford of Odessa has informed rodeo officials of his intention to attend the celebration.

Fifty years of 4-H progress in Texas will be presented as a pageant on the opening program of the annual State 4-H Club Roundup scheduled for June 10-12 at Texas A&M College.

Since the first county agent organized boys corn club of 25 boys in Jack County in 1908, the membership has grown to more than 11,000 in Texas.

Coleman County has the distinction of organizing the first beef calf club in 1910.

In 1912, girls for the first time were enrolled in tomato clubs in Miami County.

Around 1911 the 4-H emblem was adopted nationally, and a man who was later to serve as Extension Director in Texas, the late O. B. Martin, played a major role in this development. He was the first 4-H club leader of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

With the passage of the Smith-Lever Act by Congress in 1914, the Agricultural Extension Service as known today came into being.

Reading, recently, in the Top of the Windmill column appearing in the San Angelo Standard-Times, where a Del Rio flying eagle hunter, closed the season with bagging 48 eagles and a coyote, reminded this scribe of the eagle he saw in that area of country.

Two years ago, we, in company with three other comrades, made a trip to Del Rio. Traveling through the Edwards Plateau country, suddenly there appeared ahead of us a flying object resembling an airplane floating along. The sight of the object nearly made the driver lose control of the car. Stopping at a filling station in Rock Springs for a gas fillup of the car and a cold drink (it was a hot day), gave us the opportunity to inquire of the station agent what was the object we saw. He answered — a Mexican eagle — capable of picking up and carrying off a lamb. In some instances, we were informed, a sheep herder was known to have been missing, and it was thought a Mexican eagle had picked him up and escaped with him into the wilds of Old Mexico. That startling information made our group feel thankful this monster of the air, hadn't "turned tail" and carried off the four of us, car and all.

The primary election expense to the candidates running in Gaines County will cost $3,344. The county candidate (unopposed) whose fee is the largest is that of county judge. His assessment fee is $594.38. The county's filing fee for district judge is $186.25, but he has to pay a fee in six counties.

The Wink Bulletin reported that some of its citizens howled "dictatorship," and "it's my property and I'll do as I damn please with it," were some of the remarks made since the City of Wink passed the ordinance requiring the builder to obtain a builder's permit.

HDC Met Wednesday With Mrs. Robeson

Mrs. Travis Robeson and Mrs. Mildred Eiland, home demonstration agent, presented the program at a meeting of the Stanton Home Demonstration Club Wednesday, May 21 at the home of Mrs. Robeson.

Mrs. Robeson gave a demonstration on making sandwiches. She told several ways to make tasty sandwiches.

"Fabrics and the Care of Fabrics" was the topic of Mrs. Eiland's talk.

Mrs. Jim Miller was elected candidate for delegate to the state convention in Austin in August.

West Texas Press Comments

The 12th annual Callahan County rodeo attraction staged at Baird last week drew an estimated crowd of 5,000 people the first day of the three-day event. There were two school bands leading the grand opening parade on the first day, six riding club groups and 276 individuals rode in the parade.

The Baird Star said of the event: "One of the biggest and best shows ever held in the Sheriff's Posse arena."

The City of Seminole is up in arms over the abuse given the sewer system by some citizens dumping rags, paper towels, cottons, coffee grounds, and a host of other refuse that clogs up the system. The City is debating the question of raising the sewer rates to pay the expense the city is put to relieve sewer disposal of the clogged condition.

The board of trustees of the Post Independent School District has recommended an $859,129 school construction program. The Post Dispatch says the high school will occupy a 25-acre site and include 20 classrooms, laboratories, shop facilities, a combination cafeteria and auditorium, a gymnasium, and all other necessary facilities. The school trustees also set a $159.58 tuition each for transfer students for the 1958-1959 school term.

Here is wherein the City Commission voted a tax increase of 50 cents on the $100 valuation on its property owners. The property owners had been paying $1.50 tax and the commission voted to increase the amount to $2 per hundred. This increase, says the Alpine Mayor, will bring into the city treasury $18,000 per year. Something had to be done to meet a $25,000 warrant issue due in September.

As a means of softening the tempers of some citizens who had them to rise over the increased taxes the Alpine mayor introduced an example that the $18,000 that would come to the city year, if prorated among the 5,550 citizens would amount to less than one cent per day.

If everything runs smoothly the members of the West Texas Press Association visiting Alpine in August will have the opportunity to walk on 22½ blocks of new pavement. The City of Alpine has approved the construction of this number blocks of new pavement, the work to start immediately. Paving will cost the property owner 70 cents a front foot.

Editor Claude Wells in his Memphis Democrat, spoke in commendable terms of the nice job the people have done in cleaning up the town. Only one kick registered by Wells was the untidy condition of the vacant lots. He advised the City pass an ordinance requiring owners of the lots to clean them up and if refused the city do the work and charge it up to the owner of the vacant lot.

Two gentlemen of the Santa Fe Railway were visitors in the office of the Bronte Enterprise the other day and stated the road was seeking permission from the Railroad Commission

TELEPHONE TALK

Where Are You Going On Vacation?

It's high time to be thinking about or planning a vacation. And when a family plans the vacation together, the planning can be almost as much fun as the "going."

To help plan their vacations better, more and more families nowadays put some dependence on the telephone.

A telephone call to a favorite vacation spot confirms reservations. Another call to an overnight stopping point guarantees accommodations for the family, permitting an extra hour or so of driving.

In the midst of the vacation, these same folks often answer the question of "wonder how everything is at home?" with a telephone call—the personal way to keep in touch.

So, this year, why don't you count on the telephone when planning and enjoying your vacation?

Remember, too, that station-to-station calls cost one-third less than person-to-person calls. And when you call by number, your calls go through twice as fast.

Color Is Here To Stay

I'm betting that I don't run into much of an argument when I say that people like color. And just look at the bright array of color telephones we have to offer you:

You can choose from Cherry Red, Pastel Yellow, Ivory, Rose Pink, White, Moss Green, Light Beige, Aqua Blue, and Light Gray . . . colors to fit any color scheme!

A color extension telephone is practical as well as good-looking, too. Here in Stanton, an extension costs just $1.00 a month plus a one-time installation charge of $2.50. If you order yours in color, there's an extra one-time only charge of $10.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Mr. Thomas declared: "The social security system is self-supporting, financed by the social security tax contributions made by workers, employers and self-employed persons." He added that the payment into the social security trust fund combined with the interest earned by the trust fund assures the financial soundness of the system, leaving no doubt as to its solvency and full capability of making benefit payments to the present 11 million beneficiaries and the millions more to be added in the future. American Cotton Congress Starts Next Week (June 5-7)

Several hundred people are expected to attend sessions of The American Cotton Congress which meets in Harlingen, June 5-7.

The program will be of particular interest to farmers and other people interested in hearing how U. S. cotton can be sold instead of piling up as surplus. "We already know how to grow cotton better than anybody else, now experts will tell us how to sell what we grow," Burris Jackson, Congress president, said.

These experts include Lamar Fleming, Jr., Board Chairman of Anderson, Clayton & Co., leading cotton firm; Thomas C. Mann, Assistant Secretary of State for Economic Affairs; and Marvin L. McLain, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

The Congress' program also includes a tour of Mexican cotton-producing areas and stops at gins, oil mills and a Mexican Agricultural Experiment Station. Following the tour, the Mexican Cotton Association will entertain the Congress in Matamoros.

Entertainment for ladies attending the Congress includes a beach party at Padre Island and a shopping tour of Old Mexico.

And an extra treat may be on hand for the people expected. They may see the first bale of U. S. cotton of the year delivered to Harlingen. Last year the bale, worth several thousand dollars in prizes, was delivered there, June 11.

There is no hard and fast membership in the American Cotton Congress. Anyone interested in cotton and its problems is welcome to attend.

Soil . . .

States is at least as old as the Nation. Washington, Jefferson, and other early leaders recognized the danger. Patrick Henry said, "He is the greatest patriot, who stop the most gullies."

Grass is now being seeded on the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District grass demonstration plot. The Cap Rock Electric Co-op has furnished the land West of their office to the Board of Supervisors for the grass planting. Twenty-three different varieties of grass will be planted so that cooperators may see a comparison of the grasses normally grown in this section of the state. Both native and introduced grasses will be planted.

cles that they will not let a bunch of sissy male designers, who evidently don't like women, tell us that we either wear their newest insult to our femininity or else. We can still buy our own materials and either make our own clothes or wear last year's dresses or one from the year before for that matter."

This controversy waged among women over this new wearing apparel designed for them by men designers, has aroused our curiosity. We have yet to see a lady all dressed out in this new togery.

AN AWARD OF HONOR IN RECOGNITION of the valuable services rendered in behalf of supporting a certain cause was never bestowed upon an individual more deserving than Jo Pickle, editor of the Big Spring Daily Herald.

The presentation ceremonies were held recently in Big Spring. The award came in the form of a special plaque presented to the Big Spring editor by Jack Y. Smith, president of the State Mental Hospital Development Assn.

On the plaque presented Pickle, was this inscription: "In recognition and grateful appreciation, for the unselfish and generous contribution of time and effort made in behalf of this association for the betterment of conditions in our state-supported mental institutions."

The tribute paid Pickle by the president of SMHDA, revealed the true character and worth of the Big Spring editor, not as the state hospital association recognizes him, but as other organizations and clubs within the immediate confines of his own community, and organizations and clubs in various sections outside of Howard County recognize him.

In his tribute paid Pickle, the president of SMHDA said: "We have never had a program that needed to be put before the people that Mr. Pickle did not exercise leadership. Our association has never called on him to help when he did not respond immediately, generously, and with tact and understanding. We feel that his work of informing the public has been of untold value to the mission of our association."

Graduates . . .

What does the future hold for you? For each of you, the answer will vary with individual talents, aptitudes and ambitions. But for all of you, this is true: Right here in your own home town, you will find broad scope for growth, progress and outstanding achievement in the career of your choice. Whatever your aim may be . . . from industry to retailing, from banking to journalism . . . you will find here a world of opportunities to build solidly for success. When you look to the future, look first at home!

Congratulations!

Graduation time rolls around once again, and members of the graduation class of Stanton High School have merited the rich reward of receiving a diploma.

For the graduates, the auspicious occasion marks the end of an era in their still young lives. The 12 years to the seniors doubtless seems a long time, but they have laid the groundwork for a better and more abundant life and it is with this thought in mind that we send the grads a hearty congratulations.
