

Josephine Bridges Bride Of James H. Roberts Of Lubbock

The home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bridges, was the scene for the marriage of Josephine Bridges and James H. Roberts of Lubbock at three o'clock Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bridges of Denver City, and Mrs. Agnes Carey of Hagerstown, Md.

Baskets of gladioli and white stock were used to form the setting for the exchange of vows. The Rev. W. C. Wright read the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white imported lace over net and satin which featured a short lace jacket with long tapering sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cluster of white gardenias on a white Bible with white carnation on streamers of nylon net. A blue bird of happiness centered the bridal bou-quet. She also carried a fan which had been carried by her great-grandmother at her wedding. She wore the traditional blue garter and had a dime in her white satin and rhinestone slipper.

Delene Bridges of Denver City was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a dress of white pleated nylon over taffeta with lace trim. Her bouquet was of pink rosebuds.

Granville Graves, cousin of the bride, served as best man.

Sandra Bridges, sister of the bride, was the flower girl. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations. George Bridges, brother of the bride, served as ring-bearer.

For the reception which followed the exchange of vows, Mrs. Walter Graves presided at the register. The bride's book was of white satin with wedding bells on the front cover.

The serving table was laid with a white lace cloth over pink. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Pink gladioli formed the center decoration.

For travel, the bride wore a navy suit of silk and cotton with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Lamesa High School and attended Texas Tech. The groom attended the Hagerstown, Md., schools.

Out of town guests for the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Mancil Bailey, Mrs. Walter Bally, and Brenda Bailey of Lamesa; Mrs. Mary Bridges and son Mike of Big Spring; and Delene Bridges, George Bridges, and Sandra Bridges all of Denver City.

Following a wedding trip to New Mexico the couple will make their home in Denver City.

Mixed Fruit Is Always In Season

Here's a Special Occasion dessert... a heavenly medley of colorful summery fruits served in scooped-out pineapple shells. The fruits—golden sliced peaches, ripe, red raspberries, plump boysenberries, tender white grapes and two kinds of cherries—are quick-frozen and packaged as a delightful combination called Mixed Fruit. Serve as a compote or fruit cup, as a sauce over ice cream, sherbet, puddings or, as pictured, in tropical juice, combined with fresh pineapple.

Mixed Fruit Tropical
1 ripe pineapple
1 package Birds Eye Mixed Fruit
1 to 2 tablespoons Cointreau
Cut pineapple in half lengthwise, leaving tuft of leaves attached to each half. Cut out the fruit with a curved grapefruit knife or other sharp knife. Cut fruit into cubes, discarding the core. Chill fruit and shells. Thaw mixed fruit as directed on package. Just before serving, combine fruits and Cointreau, mixing gently. Spoon into the pineapple shells. Makes 6 to 8 servings, depending on size of pineapple.

Bridges Home Scene Wedding
Shower For Mrs. K. Stroup

Mrs. Kenneth Stroup (nee Betty Berry) was the honoree at a wedding shower on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Cecil Bridges at 506 W. Carpenter.

The girls of the house party alternated in serving from the very unusual refreshment table. The bride's colors of blue and silver predominated throughout the home. Blue daisies and Queen Anne's lace formed the centerpiece on the table covered with blue net over taffeta. A shower of blue ribbons and net puffs hung from the chandelier directly above the refreshment table. Silver appointments were used to serve the pineapple frosted punch, blue and white rolled sandwiches and assorted fruit plate. Blue napkins engraved with "Betty and Kenneth" were used to complete the theme.

Miss Jonnie Rhodes registered the guests as they arrived.

The girls in the house party were all attired in formal gowns. They were as follows: Linda Nichols, Jonnie Rhodes, Ann Adkins, Linda Glaze, Yvonne Nichols, Kay Chadd, Judy Reagan, Janelle Jones, Lina Bess Angel, Barbara Jane Smith, Ila Mae Gray, Sandra Shipp and Carolyn Stone.

The honoree was dressed in a delphinium blue dress with slippers dyed to match.

Co-hostesses for the occasion were: Mrs. Guy A. Eiland, Mrs. C. B. Jones, Mrs. Sherman Smith, Mrs. James Jones, Mrs. O. B. Bryan, Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. N. I. Sorrels, Mrs. Tom Ed Angel, Mrs. Glenn L. Brown, Mrs. B. C. Henderson, Mrs. L. C. Hazelwood, Sr. and Mrs. Paul K. Jones.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

EVIDENCE

A trial aims to settle a dispute when the parties fail to do it themselves. For this the court needs facts.

Simple? Well, no. For if the parties could agree on the facts, a settlement out of court would be easy. But as a rule each side has its own story, and the trial judge or jury must hear witnesses and view physical evidence to decide what took place. In doing this the court applies the rules of evidence.

It took centuries for the court to work out rules by which a judge can say what is proper or improper evidence.

1. In "hearsay," for example, someone who did not see the event reports what someone told him about it. Courts seldom allow such evidence, except in rare cases such as where the dying words, say, of a murdered person may be vital.

For one thing, courts frown upon hearsay because no one in court can cross-examine the eye-witness to find out what actually took place, or to judge whether his story merits belief.

2. Irrelevant testimony will also be barred by the judge. It is testimony which has no bearing on the case, even though it may be true enough.

Suppose in a battery case the jury has to find out whether Jones and knocked Smith down or not. The judge would have to rule out any evidence that Jones, say, was rich and Smith poor. Such a fact, even if true, has nothing to do with the "issue." Moreover, such irrelevancies often confuse jurymen or arouse their prejudices.

3. Only an expert like a doctor, an appraiser, a chemist, a pharmacist, or an engineer can give opinions as evidence, and he must show his qualifications as an expert before the judge will let him express his views.

Lawyers keep inadmissible evidence out of court by making "objections." When the judge "sustains" an objection, the jury may not hear the evidence. Or if he does, the judge may "instruct" the jury to ignore it. Should the judge "overrule" the

Idalou Pastor Leads Group On Church Air Trip

Something unique in the way of night services took place at the Idalou Methodist Church recently.

Rev. William McReynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. McReynolds of Stanton, was instigator of the unusual program.

As many of the members of the Idalou Methodist Church are "Flying Farmers" and had urged their pastor to fly down to the coast, or up to Amarillo, etc. he would just take them up on it the next time he was asked to go for a little trip.

Recently Rev. and Mrs. McReynolds, and eight of his congregation took a three day flying trip around the state to visit the Methodist institution. They took off in two Piper Tri-Pacers and a Cessna 182.

The first stop was Dallas for a tour of the SMU campus. They visited the Perkins School of Theology and were driven back to the airport by an Idalou student, David Rackley.

Next, at Waco, a bus from the Orphan's home met them and home officials conducted a visit to buildings and campus of that institution.

At San Antonio, where they were forced to lay over a day because of the weather, the group rented a car, visiting not only the Church's installation but other points of interest as well.

On the return trip, college officials again met them at Abilene and the entire group ate lunch at McMurry. There, they saw new dorms under construction and the college's new chapel.

"We carried our camera along so we could get some pictures to show the rest of the folks," Rev. McReynolds said.

And that's what happened on that Thursday evening. The pictures were shown and the group discussed the trip.

This story appeared in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and was written by a hometown boy, Jerry Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Hall.

FARM AND RANCH REVIEW

The farmers throughout the agricultural belt in Martin County have no complaint to make over the fact their fields haven't soaked in enough of the sun's rays the past week to warm the soil to a degree it will germinate the cotton seed planted. The past week the temperature has ranged in the 90s and 100s.

Insects are assembling in the fence rows whetting their teeth preparatory to swoop down on the cotton plant almost the moment the plant shows its head above ground. Some insects are reported to be working in the cotton. They are usually the "early birds" to take up their positions in the cotton fields—the thrip and the flea-hopper. To halt the progress of these insects the growers are spraying their cotton with poison.

Reports are heard that a little rain shower would be very acceptable by the cotton growers. Apparently, this area of Martin County has been the focal point for small rain clouds to gather, charged with chain lightning creating deafening appeals of thunder—that's all—leaving behind no rain.

It's insect poisoning time for cotton growers. Extension Service specialists are issuing a warning to those who handle poison to use extra ordinary precaution. They point out that the clear, hot, dry weather favors heavy insect infestation. This means farmers will be handling material which kill bugs as well as humans.

The specialists also advise it's a good idea to bathe and change clothing immediately following a highly toxic job and not enter the field for two or three days after it has been treated. Always wear gloves and freshly laundered protective clothing during handling, and stop working if a toxic insecticide is spilled on the skin or clothing for a thorough bath and change of clothing.

Elsewhere in this column mention is made of the grasshopper invasion in the Panhandle of Texas. Since the item was written it is reported that some of the Panhandle grasshoppers have trekked down as close to Martin County as Lubbock.

Met George Lewis last Friday morning in Stanton from his farm south of town, and asked him if any of the Panhandle marauders (grasshoppers) had reached his cotton field. He replied he couldn't vouch their original habitat, but grasshoppers were showing up on his farm.

The infestation of his cotton by thrip is worrying him the most, with the fleahopper a close second. He has been poisoning his field to rid it of these insects.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Texas Board for State Hospitals and Special School is working toward getting a gold star when an economy-minded Legislature hits Austin next year.

Launching a new tight-purse policy, the Board voted to prohibit superintendents from dividing state institutions from (1) using leftover funds without Board permission and (2) making any expenditure of more than $1,000 without Board approval.

Sometimes individual hospitals develop surplus funds resulting from smaller patient loads than had been expected, or other reduced costs. New rule puts an end to no-strings-attached spending of such surpluses. These lapsed funds could amount to as much as one million dollars, according to Board Member W. G. Kirklin of Odessa.

CHILL WIND — Hospital Board's move pinpointed the spot where the state's money shortage is expected to pinch hardest — administration of state's services.

A revenue shortage in excess of $100,000,000 by next year has been freely predicted by various authorities for months.

A survey of the platforms of legislative candidates over the state shows a fairly consistent approach by those making statements on the revenue dilemma. General pattern of promises to voters:

- (1) Continuation or, often, increase in the state obligations for education, welfare payments, road building, soil and water conservation, etc.
- (2) Opposition to certain new taxes or sometimes new taxes in general.
- (3) Cuts in state spending by "elimination of waste, duplication and needless services by state agencies."

Actual achievement or near-achievement of this fiscal goal will put a real squeeze on every state department.

NOT ME — Likelihood that someone may draw the "black bean" of new state taxes has group after group telling the Discrimination is charged because the law applies to wholesalers but not to producers who sell only the output of their own flocks. Suit also objects to the provision that makes violations a criminal offense and the requirement that eggs kept under refrigeration for 30 days or more be labeled "cold storage eggs."

Next Legislature will be asked to change the law so diesel fuel taxes would be collected from the wholesale distributor rather than the user, said a Department official. This is expected to make it easier for taxpayers to keep track of consumption and purchases.

Comptroller Robert Calvert. During the spring, state expenditures got ahead of tax receipts. A month ago the fund was in the red by some $1,250,000. But collection of corporation franchise taxes and insurance company occupation taxes during the month put finances back on schedule.

Now there's more than $12,000,000 in the fund, said Calvert.

Since there is usually only one nominee for each office, Republican primaries do not ordinarily attract a heavy vote. It is widely assumed that many Republicans cross party lines to vote in Democratic primaries where most state offices are decided.

Cantrell's candidacy is generally interpreted as a move to force Republicans to stay in their own primary.

DIESEL TAX CHANGE — Proposed revisions in the diesel fuel tax law was being planned by the State Comptroller's Department.

Next Legislature will be asked to change the law so diesel fuel taxes would be collected from the wholesale distributor rather than the user, said a Department official. This is expected to make it easier for taxpayers to keep track of consumption and purchases.

Senate investigating committee looked into records in the Houston area to discover if small staffs, vague laws or insufficient penalties were causing the state to lose revenue.

OVER THE HUMP — Texas' general revenue fund is back in the black, according to State Comptroller Robert Calvert.

During the spring, state expenditures got ahead of tax receipts. A month ago the fund was in the red by some $1,250,000. But collection of corporation franchise taxes and insurance company occupation taxes during the month put finances back on schedule.

A&M Sets Date For Annual Rural Church Meeting

The 13th annual Rural Church Conference will be held at Texas A & M College, June 23-25. A program to meet the spiritual, economic and physical challenges of rural people has been planned for the three day meeting.

According to Reagan Brown, extension rural sociologist, speakers will include some of the most outstanding rural church leaders of the nation as well as Texas church and lay leaders and Texas A & M College System staff members.

Brown points out that rural churches play a most important part in building community spirit and improving life in rural areas. He says that more than 100 new churches have been built in the State during recent years as a part of community improvement programs in the counties. In addition, hundreds have been remodeled or improved in order to better serve their congregations.

The specialist believes that rural pastors and lay leaders can pick up many new ideas and techniques on how to carry out an effective rural church program by attending the conference. Communities organized under the Extension Service's community improvement program are urged by Brown to consider sending one or more representatives to the meeting.

Local county extension agents have copies of the program and can supply detailed information on questions dealing with the conference, or information may be obtained by writing to the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, Texas A & M College System, College Station. The Department sponsors the annual meeting.

If You Have An Accident

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

ACCIDENTS always seem to happen to "someone else," but the wise driver is prepared for the day when he may become that "someone."

Clear thinking in an emergency can prevent further accidents and injuries, perhaps even save lives. Remember, even the most careful driver can be involved in an accident through no fault of his own. The following rules, suggested by the Illinois Bar Association, are good ones to know and follow:

1. Never leave the scene of an accident without stopping, no matter how slight the collision. Failure to stop can result in criminal prosecution. Pull off the road, and, if necessary, have someone warn oncoming traffic. At night, use flares, a flashlight or reflectors.
2. Give aid to the injured. Do what you can to make them comfortable. If necessary, move the injured to a safe place, but never move anyone seriously hurt. Have someone phone for a doctor or ambulance.
3. Call the police. Don't admit guilt — a later appraisal may prove the other driver equally or more to blame.
4. If another driver is involved, exchange name, address, license number and insurance information. Don't sign anything.
5. Write down names and addresses of all witnesses, accident details, weather and traffic conditions.
6. Report accident to your insurance company as soon as possible.

Economist Says Farm Exodus To Slow In Future

A Texas A & M agricultural economist has predicted that Texas exodus from the farm to the city will be slower in the future.

Dr. Robert R. Skrabanek says that it is highly probable that the farm population will continue to decline but at a much slower rate than the 26.2 percent — about 369,000 — who have moved to the city from 1950-57.

In the survey made by Texas A & M, in cooperation with the USDA, Dr. Skrabanek said also that the farm population declined more slowly in Texas than in nearby Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana where the loss was 30.2 percent during the same period.

However, compared with the nationwide farm to city movement, Texas' 26.5 per cent has been much higher than the national average of 18.6 percent.

The Texas farm population — 1,018,000 — made up 11.1 percent of the state's population in 1957, with five out of every 100 farm residents in the U. S. residing in Texas.

There was much migration to and from farms during the 1950-57 survey period, Dr. Skrabanek added. An estimated 815,000 moved from Texas farms during that period, but at the same time 314,000 moved to farms.

There were an estimated 199,000 births among farm population during the period and an estimated 67,000 deaths.

The migration from farms was heavier in areas of prolonged drought than in areas where the drought was less serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kelly visited in the home of their daughter, Mrs. J. N. Clark, and children of Andrews last week.

TELEPHONE TALK

by C. W. Fisher, Manager

REMINDER

Just another word to remind you that the new Stanton directory is due August 1, but you only have the month of June to get your listings added or changed. Why not call the telephone company business office and talk with Mrs. Beck about listing you teenagers or a relative living with you so their friends can find them readily. You can have each listed on your residence telephone for a nominal charge of 30 cents a month plus tax. Don't wait until it is too late, call now and have this added convenience for months to come.

FOR PARENTS ONLY

Now that summer is here and the children are out of school, I imagine the family's telephone service is getting an extra-good workout.

I guess teenagers, and even the smaller fry, need the telephone more often during vacation months. They use it to line-up sand lot ball games, swimming parties, movie dates, and a good many other things, as we all know.

It would be hard to find a better time than now to order an extension telephone. Put it in a room where it will be handiest for the youngsters. They'll enjoy the privacy and so will you. Best of all, you'll save yourself no telling how many dashes to answer incoming calls that always seem to be for them.

To order an extension, just call the telephone business office, dial "Operator." The cost is only $1.00 a month for a residence extension, plus tax and installation.

MEMO TO BUSINESSMEN

I heard a businessman remark recently that he's going over his operations with a fine-tooth comb to trim unnecessary expenses. And one item he planned to cut was Long Distance.

I wonder if he wasn't making a mistake. I can understand the desire to cut costs. But, rather than cut Long Distance, he should use his telephone even MORE for out-of-town calling.

Many businessmen have proved it in for themselves, and here's how: Instead of you or your salesman taking a day to visit several prospective customers in other cities, call them Long Distance. It saves travel on the highway, and turns travel time into selling time. And a telephone call is almost as personal as a visit and just as appreciated.

Try it yourself and watch the results. I think in the end you'll agree with our belief that Long Distance doesn't cost, it pays.
