

AS THE 1958 COTTON CROP is rapidly growing to the time of harvest, crop estimators are coming to the fore with their predictions. One local cotton authority places his forecast of the cotton yield at 51,000 bales. Other estimates range from 35,000 to 40,000 bales.

A conservative estimate is made that the irrigated farm will average a bale to the acre, when, in past years, some irrigated cotton produced from a bale and a half to two bales per acre.

Dry land cotton is estimated will make one-third bale to the acre. The cotton growers have been battling an insect invasion but not considered one of too serious nature.

So with all signs favorable as they are at this writing Martin County is due a considerable larger crop yield than it has enjoyed in the past eight years.

THIS SCRIBE HASN'T DISCOVERED any unusual step in the walk bordering on the aristocrat's movement of the Martin County farmers we know nor the corner of a $5 bill fluttering in the wind from their shirt pockets. Some of these farmers (Continued on page 8)

New Stop Signs Put Up In City

Fifteen new stop signs were installed at strategic intersections in Stanton the past week-end.

The city now has approximately fifty stop indicators spread over town. Several signs were also placed in alleys in the business district restricting parking.

Chief L. C. Waits advised the newspaper that the city ordinance dealing with traffic violations and including a penalty for failure to observe stop signs will be fully enforced. He said tickets would be issued after today.

The new signs were requested by City Council by citizens interested in making Stanton a safer place in which to drive. Incidentally, the 15 new stop signs were placed at intersections where Chief Waits has made personal investigations following accidents. The signs have been designed to rest high enough where they can be seen over cars parked along the curb line. The signs rest on concrete foundations.

Waits stated that the speed limit would also be fully enforced and especially around the school buildings. Speed limit in Stanton through a school zone is 15 miles an hour, the chief said.

"We are not going to tag anybody who does not deserve a ticket but these stop signs and the speed limit must be observed for the safety of our citizens and especially the school children."

Waits called for the cooperation of the automobile operators in the city and expressed confidence in the people's desire to help keep Stanton safe.

Hays Gets New 3-Year Contract

Superintendent L. M. Hays received a new three-year contract at the regular meeting of the Stanton Independent School Board here Tuesday night.

Pickett also advised The Stanton Reporter that Jimmy Bickley had been elected to the High School principal's job succeeding Olen Holland. Holland tendered his resignation to the board Tuesday night and it was accepted.

The school board and Supt.

Hays are seeking the services of a junior high principal to take the place of Bickley.

The school board also voted to raise the price of school lunches. Children in the first three grades will be required to pay 30 cents and all other students 35 cents for the noon meal. The prices were raised from 25 and 30 cents. Officials indicated higher costs for food prompted the raise.

Bernard Houston, well known citizen, rancher, and former Martin County Chamber of Commerce president will serve as auctioneer.

The premium money raised at the Chinese Auction Sale will go to F. C. Wheeler, grower of the county's first bale of cotton for 1958. The bale has been on display in front of the bank since last Wednesday. It weighs 501 pounds and was ginned by Farmers Gin and Cotton Company here last Tuesday night.

Wheeler's farm is located three miles north of Stanton on the Lamesa Highway. He has 60 acres planted to cotton and expects a harvest of around 90 bales. His farm is in the irrigation belt.

Last year, Eddie Cook, who farms south of Stanton, won first bale honors. His bale weighed 525 pounds and was ginned on August 28. Cook's premium money last year amounted to something over $900.

ROBERT W. HAMILTON

Robert W. Hamilton, now serving as Chief Justice of the 8th Court of Civil Appeals, El Paso, is a candidate in the Democratic run-off primary Saturday for the high office of Associate Justice Supreme Court of Texas.

Judge Hamilton, familiarly known in this area as Bob, deserves the support of every loyal son and daughter in Martin County. It is the wish of The Stanton Reporter that Bob Hamilton's friends here in the county he once called home go to the polls and cast their ballots for the former resident and official. Just being for Rob isn't going to be enough. It is going to take a good turn-out at the polls to help elevate Judge Hamilton to one of the state's most precious judicial places. His opponent is running with great organized strength in heavily populated South Texas. In the first primary, Judge Hamilton led all three opponents by a substantial vote, but failed to get a majority sufficient to win without a run-off by just a few thousand votes.

In Saturday's election, Judge Hamilton is going to have to carry West Texas almost solidly to win the court post. There is only one run-off in Martin County. Bob Hamilton needs and will appreciate your continued support and vote on August 23.

Let us all join together and remember to do one thing for sure next Saturday — vote for Robert W. Hamilton for the place he seeks on the Supreme Court of Texas.

The only major race in the state is between former Martin County official Robert (Bob) Hamilton and Edwin Smith of Houston for a place on the Supreme Court of Texas.

Flower Grove School Term Opens Sept. 2

The Flower Grove Independent School District will start the 1957-58 term Sept. 2, according to Supt. M. G. Kilgore. He expects an enrollment of about 240 students, as compared to the 252 at the beginning of last year's term. About 75 of these will be in high school.

"Our enrollment will depend upon the cotton crop," said Kilgore. "We get a lot of transient students during the busy years."

The faculty is composed of 12 teachers, including the superintendent and the principal, Roland Mullins. Courses will be the same as last year with the exception of chemistry which is being added as a full term course for the first time. Kilgore said a laboratory, to be added soon, will cost from $2,500 to $3,000. The school is also building a new teaching area.

Not many teaching changes were made. However, the school will have a new coach. He is H. E. Lewis, who coached at Southland last year.

At one time Flower Grove was a small school district, but it gradually began absorbing other districts until it is one of the largest in this area. Mostly it is in Martin County but also spreads across the line into Dawson County. It now has 83 square miles, though part of it is unsettled ranch land.

SHS Sets "Back-To-School" Highway Safety Program

L. M. Hays, superintendent of Stanton High School, advised The Stanton Reporter this week that the school board, P-TA and school administration have started procedures to set up a "Back-to-School Highway Safety" program.

Governor Price Daniel issued a special message to school administrators this week.

Daniel proclaimed the week beginning September 1 as "Back-to-School Highway Safety Week" and in his message he said "I have proclaimed this special week with the hope that every school in Texas will sponsor a discussion of the Texas fight against death and destruction on our streets and highways.

"Last year 2,539 people were killed and 122,000 were injured in Texas traffic accidents. More Americans have died in highway accidents than in all of the wars in which our Nation has participated."

"As Governor of Texas, I have asked State, county, district, local officials, school officials, teachers and students to join hands this year in a statewide traffic safety crusade."

Governor Daniel said "Our Texas plan calls for the following action: 1. Cooperation of all state officials having traffic safety and law enforcement responsibilities. 2. Organization of county and city traffic safety councils. 3. Educational campaign for greater public awareness and cooperation in safe driving and observance of traffic laws. 4. Engineering improve-

Ceilings Set On Braceros In This Area

Farmers in the three-county area of Martin, Glasscock and Howard may be able to bring in all the braceros needed to harvest the cotton crop, according to a message received at the Texas Employment Commission in Big Spring.

The Secretary of Labor has certified to a shortage of workers in this area and a ceiling on the employment of Mexican National agricultural workers has been established.

The number which may be brought to Martin County is 1,470; Glasscock County 245 and Howard County 735. The employment period will end on Sept. 30. The agency said these figures were subject to revision if sufficient native labor becomes available.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Keaton and Mr. and Mrs. Don Keaton returned home Monday afternoon from a trip to Chama, N. M.

Quick, Heavy Rains Jump Across County

Thundershowers played hop-skip-and-jump over a wide area in West Texas Tuesday night and left welcome moisture in most of Martin County.

As they hopped from Glasscock County, farms and ranchland caught more than one-quarter inch south of Stanton. Herman Fisher reported one-quarter inch on his place 8 miles south of the county hub and rain gauges recorded one and one-half inches of moisture 18 miles southwest of Stanton. Just outside town on the Garden City highway about a quarter of an inch fell.

Good showers visited the western part of Martin County and near the Midland County line one inch was registered.

Stanton and Lenora got moisture measuring four-tenths of an inch. But near Grady the rainfall was more generous with two inches reported to The Stanton Reporter Wednesday morning.

Philosopher Claims He Farms Like World Statesmen Prepare For A Summit Meeting

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw apparently is making excuses for the way he farms, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor: Every once in a while somebody asks me why I don't do a better job of farming.

How come you've got more weeds in your crops, they'll ask me. How come you're always late in breaking your land, late in planting, late in plowing, late in gathering, late in starting over again? How come your fences are down, your gates sagging, etc.?

Well, now, I'll tell you. When a man spends as much time as I do thinking on the international level, he naturally adapts his farming methods to the international plane, and I consider my farm a perfect example of international diplomacy.

For example, say it's time for me to do some plowing and time for the leaders of the world to hold a summit meeting. Do we jump right in? Anybody who knows me or the world knows better. Nobody holds a summit meeting until he knows what's going to be discussed and what the answers are and what conclusions can be reached, just like when I start out on a crop, I don't just climb on the tractor and start. I sit down and figure out how much I think I can make, how much plowing it'll take, what the price may be, what I'll do with the money, etc.

To some people this may sound like over-caution, but that's because they don't think in international terms. In the last 15 or 20 years the world has had eight or ten summit meetings, and if the world is any better off than it was before the leaders met it's hard to tell, and consequently it doesn't matter how long it takes to get ready to meet at the summit. Rushing into a summit meeting is like me rushing into a farming year. Not going to get anywhere anyway, so me and the world leaders both might as well take our time.

The way I figure it, the world and this farm both are going to be here, whether the statesmen are at the summit or I'm under a shade tree.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

FARM AND RANCH REVIEW

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported the past week the cotton crop forecast stood at 4,150,000 bales, 1 per cent above last year. It is the largest crop since 1953 with a yield of 373 pounds an acre.

A record milo maize yield is reported from Haskell County. The crop is on dry land. A farmer at Haskell has 90 acres planted to maize. He harvested a total of 206,120 pounds from the 90-acre tract, an average of 202,092 pounds per acre.

An increase of 6 per cent in the cotton production this year over last year is estimated by the U. S. Agricultural Department. The Texas crop was put at 4,150,000 bales, a sharp rise from last year's 3,832,000 bales. Production per acre in Texas was forecast at 395 pounds compared to 295 pounds last year.

The season's first bale of cotton was brought to Stanton last week by F. C. Wheeler. The ice-breaking bale is the first of an estimated 51,000 bale cotton crop. Several other growers have turned out bales up to the present time and the gins are going to be busier this Fall than ever before, if predictions turn out right.

A shower bath may have been the obstruction in the way of another Martin County cotton grower falling to receive the honor of delivering the first bale in 1958. Lloyd Henson, neighbor of F. C. Wheeler, had a bale ready to go to the gin Wednesday but delayed his trip to town long enough to take a shower bath. Just about the time Henson stepped from the shower the phone rang and the call was from Wheeler stating that he was telephoning from the gin where the first bale for 1958 was then being processed—his.

BIBLE COMMENT

Two Friends Walk And Talk With The Lord

There are many resurrection stories but probably the most convincing is that which tells about the two unknown disciples who met a stranger while on the road from Jerusalem to Emmaus.

It was after the crucifixion of Jesus and the pair were traveling along the road when they were joined by the companion who ate a meal with them. It is this meal, in which all three shared, which proves His presence to be something more than an illusion.

But they did not recognize the stranger and it was not until they ate the meal that the unknown man was revealed to them as the Risen Lord.

He broke bread with them, blessed it and gave it to them, but vanished at the moment he was recognized.

It is a strange tale indeed but extremely convincing. It puts the evidence of Christ's Resurrection on a higher plane than mere legend or tradition.

One of the two travelers was Cleophas who is unknown except for this reference. The other is not identified but it is possible that he was among the disciples who were present at the Last Supper because he quickly recognized the stranger when He broke and blessed the bread in the same way Jesus had done at the Last Supper.

Most appealing to us is that part of the story which relates, "Did not our hearts burn within us, while He talked with us by the way, and while He opened to us the scriptures?"

"Do our hearts burn within us as we read these things? Does Easter mean for us a joyous meeting with the Christ? Let us hope so. A mere formal belief in the scriptures is of little worth unless He is also risen in our hearts and unless they too burn within as He talks "with us by the way."

DPS Receiving Applications For Patrol Jobs

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, made another offer today to young Texans interested in a career of law enforcement.

These young men must be of good moral character and free of a criminal record.

Among the personal benefits afforded by the patrolmen positions are: two weeks vacation annually, retirement benefits, thorough training, travel and variety of assignments, promotional program and equipment furnished.

Persons interested in learning more about these important jobs may obtain information from the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin. Applications received before the first of September will be processed before the entrance examinations to be given Sept. 16, 17 and 18.

Hamilton Appeals To Texas Voters

The leading candidate for Place One Supreme Court in the first primary has issued a statement urging all voters to take a personal interest in the runoff election to be held Saturday.

Robert W. Hamilton, who led the ticket by more than 160,000 votes in the first primary, said: "Each voter should decide for himself which candidate is best qualified, then be sure to take time to vote on Saturday, remembering that the Supreme Court has a greater potential effect upon our rights as individuals than any other office in our state or nation. Texas is one of the states which allows its citizens the privilege of voting upon members of its Supreme Court and each Texas voter should express his preference in this election even though in some cases this will be the only race on the ballot."

Hamilton is a veteran jurist now serving as Chief Justice 8th Court of Civil Appeals, just one step in rank below the Supreme Court post for which he is candidate. He has 31 years experience in general practice, as county and district attorney, district judge, and including five years as Chief Appeals Justice.

Justice Hamilton was selected as the preferred candidate of Texas lawyers in a secret vote conducted by the State Bar and he led the field of three candidates with a total 476,799 votes in the first primary, less than seven percent short of a majority which would have given him a victory without a run-off.

IN THE COTTON PATCH

By COUNTY AGENT BOB JOHNSON

Dryland cotton in most parts of the county shows light bollworm infestation and damage, except for the spotted damage of a hatch that appears to have been laid about the time of the shower of weeks past. Very few small or newly hatched bollworms have been noted in dryland patches. James Bullard's dryland patch northeast of the crossroads showed little evidence of bollworm damage as did several other fields in the area.

Irrigated cotton patches appeared to have had a medium hatch of bollworms over the weekend, as many small worms about an 1/8th of an inch in length or shorter were found in the top terminals and young squares on many plants. Floyd Smith poisoned Monday for this reason, under the threat of predicted showers, but as you know the rains fell elsewhere.

A looper can be found in almost every patch in the county but loopers with the pale yellowish color of diseased worms can also be found in almost every patch. With diseased worms present the regular bollworm poisoning being applied in a large number of fields, loopers should not occur in very heavy infestations.

Thrips have again shown up in many patches over the county. In coordinating with other persons checking cotton in the county the fact was brought out that perhaps thrips could be causing part of the shedding being noted in many fields. It is true that late infestations of thrips may sometimes cause the shedding of leaves, and even squares and small bolls. Light thrip infestations have been reported from several neighboring counties.

Several growers have been applying 1P-10 to control aphids that have caused spotted honey dew in some of their fields during the week. The heavy fruit set in most parts of the county indicates that little damage is being caused by fleahoppers and lygus bugs and similar plant bugs.

Enrollment At Garden City Expected To Equal 1957

Enrollment should stack up on about a par with last year when school gets under way at Garden City Sept. 2 at 9 a. m., Supt. W. A. Wilson predicts. Only two places, both in high school, are lacking to be filled on the faculty of 18. Wilson said he still needs an English and commercial teacher. The science department has been expanded to include four years of work, and a new laboratory has been installed. Three new members of the faculty are Marlin Dodds, a Sul Ross graduate and formerly freshman coach at Coleman, high school coach; Neil Nixon, public school music; Robert Young, high school science. All are graduates of Sul Ross State College. B. L. Murphy is the high school principal and Roy Thruston is the elementary principal. Lunch costs have been reduced from 35 to 30 cents a day, said Wilson, and parents are invited to visit occasionally to note the type of meals. Their charge will be 75 cents. Bus schedules will operate as usual the morning of Sept. 2 except that there will be a return trip starting at 11:30 a. m. Thereafter, the regular schedule will prevail. Football practice will start on Aug. 25, Wilson announced.

Snooter Knows

We have known for 25 years and to this very day haven't noticed any change in their dress that would lead me to believe they had felt any increase in their wealth. But the U. S. Department of Agriculture is producing figures to show the "Farmers' Worth Hits New High, 186 Billion Dollars." It is a gain of nine billion dollars over the year before. The DG's report shows the valuation of farms in 1940 was $53 billion; today it stands at more than $186 billion.

IN THE NOT TOO FAR DISTANT back in years past and along about this time of the season, school children would turn over in their minds when they would hear the school bells ring out the glad tidings that the first day of school was about to start on its new school term. Now the mention of school days is far out of place. The school bell has been removed and the bell consigned to the scrap heap. Modern school buildings have taken the place of the Little Red school house at the crossroads in the community. Some rural schools have folded and merged with other and larger districts.

The ring of the school bell in those days was to warn the children the time of school opening in the morning. Also it toll announced school opening after noon hour. Now the student's warning comes from a peep at the time piece at home or a glance at the watch he carries in his jean's pockets.

In the day of the Little Red School house with its bell in the cupola, the only study period at school was to grab a glance in the book between classes. The study period was carried home after school in the way of an armful of books (depending on the smartness of the pupil as to number books he carried), and the study period started as soon as the dishes were washed and the stove wood carried in after supper.

Sometimes the study period advanced far into the small hours of the morning. In these modern times the only articles of school supplies taken home by the student comprise a lead pencil and fountain pen. The school has provided the student with time to study his lessons at school for the next day and leave the books in his desk. Following closely on the heels of abandoning the school bell went into discard the rooster whose crow at 5 o'clock in the morning was an alarm to arouse the school boy from his slumber and go slop the pigs and milk the cows before breakfast. Science in these modern times had dethroned the rooster from the exalted position as master of the poultry flock. The hens are caged in pens, groomed and fed rations that produce their product in sanitary environments and of high quality in taste and nourishment.

But now the barnyard of yesteryears has disappeared in favor of concrete and brick. The horses and wagons, walking plows, binders, threshing machines have made way for tractor plows, combines, etc. Much of the labor performed in old days on the farm by the school boy, now is accomplished by electric push-buttons. The old school bell and the rooster for a long period of time were held in high respect by their communities. And now at rest, the school bell and the rooster, have cherished memories in the minds of the older heads when they attended school in the Little Red school house at the fork of the roads in the community.

110 Expected At Courtney

School at the Courtney Independent School District will open September 2 in order to coincide with the opening of the Stanton schools.

All the high school students are being transported to Stanton, since Courtney had to close its high school a few years ago because of dwindling scholastics.

This left the school with eight grades and approximately 110 students. Last year an average of seven high school students went to Stanton.

This year's faculty includes Jess Miles, principal, May Belle Littlejohn of Milford, Mrs. Louise Arp, Jess L. Jackson and one other teacher.

Attendance this year is expected to be about the same as last year, though there may be a temporary increase during cotton picking as transient workers come into the area.
