

Snooter Knows
By JAMES E. KELLY

HERE'S THE ANTICS A FIRE-CRACKER performed after leaving the hands of a 9-year-old London boy. He flipped a penny fire cracker in a street lamp. The bang ignited an underground gas leak. A four foot hole was blasted in the sidewalk. Houses were rocked and drain covers were blown high in the air. Some 200 children were marched to safety from school.

The boy ran home and climbed in bed.

THE WRITER HAS NO HORROR of being broke. It's no disgrace but very disconcerting to be classed in that category. Since the State of Texas is broke and owes $140,000 our discomfort has been greatly tempered. And too, there is a mark of distinction we should be proud of. We and the State of Texas are sailing along in the same boat. The only difference between us is we have managed our financial affairs in a manner we are not in debt $140,000.

We might add this we read in a newspaper the other day: A true friend is one who thinks you're a good egg even when you're busted.

IT COULD BE THE INCREASE in the postal rate from 3-cent to a 4-cent postage stamp, that brought a remarkable improvement to the appearance of the interior of the local postoffice. Some of the old mail boxes that have been giving such yeoman

Merchants Poll Planned To Set 1959 Holidays

The Martin County Chamber of Commerce will soon mail out special forms to merchant members for the purpose of naming the holidays to be observed in Stanton in 1959.

The confusion resulting from some of the business places being closed here Tuesday, Nov. 11, while some remained open caused H. M. McReynolds, manager of the chamber, to ask for a new list of holidays.

"We need to know which days are to be observed during the coming year and after a majority of the merchants receive a ballot and vote for their choices, then a committee will determine the days favored by the majority and the result will be announced through The Stanton Reporter, official tribune of the chamber of commerce," McReynolds said.

County Invited To Observe Day At Stock Show

Martin County has been invited to have a "day" at the 1959 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, which will be held Jan. 30 through Feb. 8 in Fort Worth.

In a letter, W. R. Watt, president-manager of the show, suggested that Martin County select a cowgirl sweetheart who can be introduced at the Stock Show rodeo. Watt also invited the city to send its high school band so that the students may give a concert on the exposition grounds. Band members will be guests of the Stock Show at the rodeo performance.

Watt expressed the hope that a delegation of citizens, wearing hat bands or badges proclaiming their hometown, would attend the exposition. A special section of seats at the rodeo also will be set aside if Martin County residents would like to sit together. Dale Robertson, star of the TV Western series, "Tales of Wells Fargo," will be featured in all rodeo performances. He will star in a musical act designed especially for the Fort Worth show.

"The days" when various towns are honored add color and contribute much to the success of the Stock Show," Watt said in his letter.

He asked that the Chamber of Commerce or any interested group work with the Stock Show officials to plan the special "day."

"The Stock Show is looking forward to your acceptance and will give your plans as widespread publicity as possible," Watt said in his letter. "All of us will do everything in our power to make your visit enjoyable."

Santa Claus Schedules December Visit To City

It's not too early to start thinking about the annual visit of Santa Claus to Stanton and Martin County, and with just 35 days left before Christmas, the time is already short for shopping.

The jolly fellow in the red suit, black boots, and traditional toboggan will drop in for a chat with the children and their parents on December 20.

ern craft down the principal streets of Stanton, and then drop in the city limits where he will be brought to the courthouse lawn for an appearance. Philosopher Takes A Look At The Election Returns, Comes To Only Vague Conclusions

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw has found out about the election a week ago, which is pretty fast work for him.

Dear editor:

Outside of reading what the political experts and analysts have to say before an election, I guess the next best reading comes from what they have to say after the election.

For example, last week as soon as the returns from the elections around the country came in, the experts rolled up their sleeves and started explaining what had happened and why, and I'll admit they've left me puzzled, although you understand I'm not crediting them with getting me puzzled. I've been that way for years on my own.

One expert said the election results clearly indicated the country is more liberal, another said this isn't true, that he knows of candidates who got elected on the most conservative platform he'd ever heard of.

The main trouble with this is that the pure strains in both parties have about disappeared, mostly cross-breeds left.

And you take all these crosses.

like liberal Republicans and conservative Democrats, conservative Republicans and liberal Democrats, liberal conservatives and conservative liberals, and conservative conservatives and liberal liberals and several who don't know how they got elected, and put them all in the same feed lot in Washington and it's no wonder the Presidency of the United States is considered the most back-breaking job on earth.

If the cattlemen or the horse breeders or hog raisers or dog lovers of this country registered their stock like political parties do, you couldn't tell anymore about what the offspring would be like than you can about what the next Congress will do.

You take two members from the same party, one with a mandate from the people in his pocket to vote conservative, and the other with a mandate to vote liberal, and turn them loose in Washington, and it's about like a football team with two coaches, one sending in word to pass, the other to punt.

Personally, I prefer to run this farm out here on Mustang Draw. Nobody issues me any mandates. Yours faithfully, J. A.

On the Earl Powell Bar X Ranch, 13 wolves have been killed, three wolves were killed on the John Poe and John Cox ranch, adjoining Powell's on the south. In this area there are some 15,000 head of sheep grazing on pasture lands, and sheep and coyotes don't mix.

BIBLE COMMENT

Paul's Field Of Service Widened As He Traveled

When Paul saw the light on his way to Damascus, we are told he was not "disobedient unto the Heavenly vision."

It does not matter how God's call comes to us, whether in Heavenly visions or through normal, human impulses. The important thing is that no matter how it comes, it is by obedience only that we find a way to contribute our greatest service.

Paul the persecutor could have only partly realized at the time of his conversion that the mission for which God called him was one of great magnitude.

His conversion meant that he was breaking away from the old associations. His future, to say the least, was uncertain. He was accepting all the risks and dangers of a new way of life.

But there was no uncertainty in Paul himself. He threw himself into being a Christian with the same intensity with which he formerly persecuted his new brethren.

Nor was there an incompleteness in Paul's conversion. It was from the pagan city of Antioch, the place where the disciples were first called "Christians," that Paul began his journeys as a missionary.

His first journey was small in comparison to his later travels. His companion on that first journey was Barnabas, the same man who endorsed Paul when the disciples at Jerusalem were inclined to fear and distrust him.

Accompanying them was a young man named John whose surname was Mark. Later this companion was the cause of a sharp controversy between Paul and Barnabas. Paul refused to take him on the next trip.

But in defense of John Mark, it may be said that Paul, for whom no danger was too great or terrifying, may have been too exacting a leader.

The world owes a great debt to this John Mark because later he wrote the Gospel of Mark. It is the simplest and most direct of the Gospels and gives us a valuable portrayal of the Master's life and work.

FARM AND RANCH REVIEW

At the annual meeting of the Coke County Game Management Assn., held last week at Bronte, there were over 100 persons in attendance. Harley Berg, state wildlife conservation representative of Waco, was the chief speaker at the meeting. He stated that such animals as the red fox, rattlesnakes and coyotes were enemies of rats and mice.

Berg said the young rattlers are just as poisonous as the parents, except they are not supplied with as much venom. The older snakes are provided with two or more sets of fangs. In case a set is extracted another set will take their place overnight.

He advised parents to warn their children not to put their hand or finger in a hole a snake could crawl in.

In case of getting bit by a pitted viper, Berg warned the victim not to run or drink whiskey as the old timers did in the early days. Instead, they should remain quiet.

The Bronte Lions Club served the guests with a barbecue. Eighty new members joined the 1958-59 Game Management program.

Announcement issued out of Washington reveals that farmers want to retire more cropland under the federal soil bank program in 1959 than the government can pay for.

The Agriculture Department has reported that during a recent sign-up campaign 232,000 farmers offered to rent — and then hold out of production — more than 30 million acres. The government's goal under a program to reduce over-production was 12½ million acres.

This year the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth will offer $57,000 in prizes to be awarded to the various classes in cattle.

The total prize money to be given in awards at the Fat Stock Show will amount to $193,000, the largest in the 69-year history of the Exposition.

To hunters who expect to get in a day or two shooting ducks and geese, the season closes Sunday, Nov. 16. The excellent small grain crop produced for geese and ducks to feed on, and the numerous small tanks and big lakes full of water they caught from the abundant rains falling throughout the area, Martin County should provide good duck and geese hunting.

The total tonnage of fertilizer sold during the spring of 1958 was about 15 per cent higher than in 1957. The tonnage of mixed goods increased about eight per cent, while the tonnage of materials was up more than 21 per cent.

Long-Eiland To Show '59 Mercurys

A brilliant combination of interior spaciousness for passenger comfort, mechanical excellence, advanced design and superior performance and economy is presented by Mercury in its totally new cars for 1959 — Mercury's 20th anniversary models.

"This new Mercury is the only medium-priced car designed specifically and exclusively for the medium-priced field—every other medium priced car for 1959 shares its body shell with a low-priced car make," said Ben D. Mills, general manager of the M.E.L. Division and a vice president of Ford Motor Company. "The Mercury for 1959 is a big car—it has size for a purpose—its space-planned bodies provide a totally new experience in passenger comfort in both front and back seats," Mr. Mills declared. "And that's for three people in both seats," he emphasized.

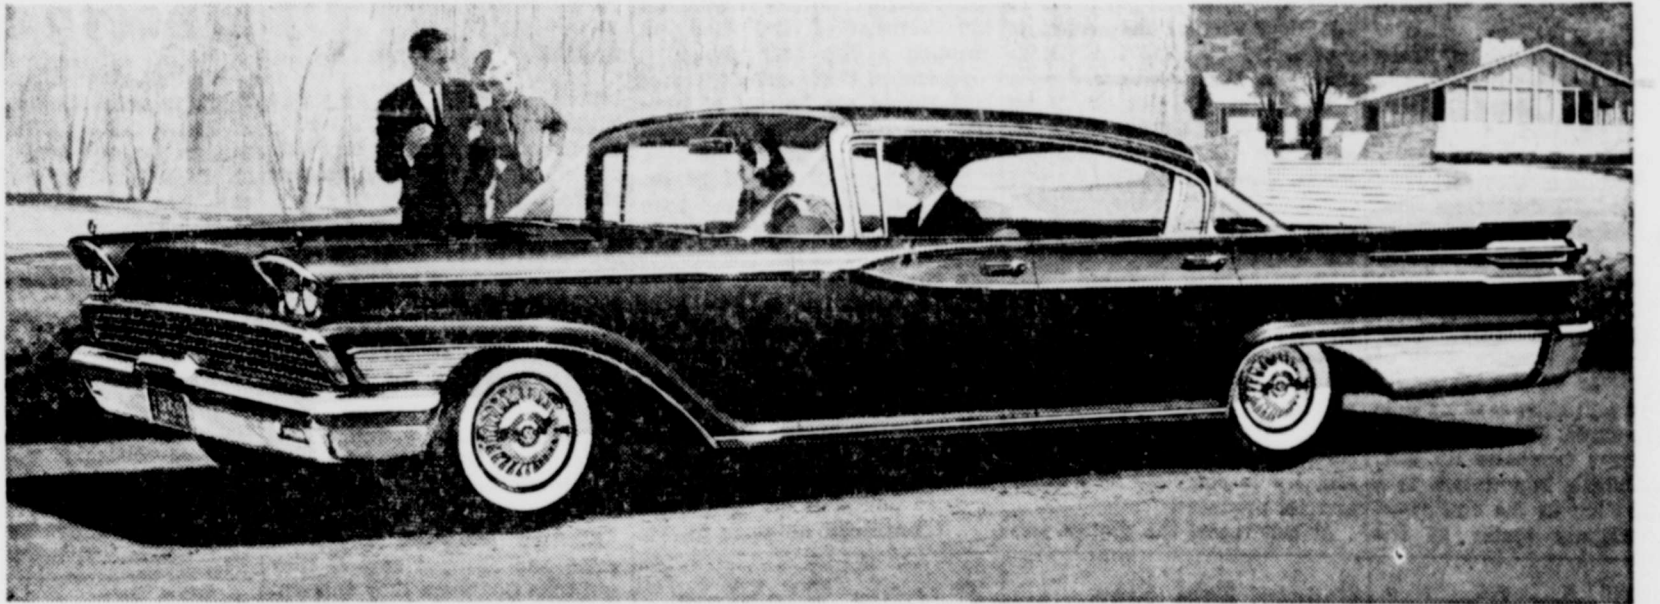

The entire front seat and instrument panel area are redesigned to make it spacious. Major engineering developments result in cutting down almost in half the volume of space taken up by the transmission tunnel hump down the center of the car. This reduction of the tunnel gives Mercury another industry "first" in passenger comfort by greatly increasing leg room for those sitting in the middle of the front seat and by improving cushioning in both front and rear seats.

The instrument panel is moved well forward, providing six inches more knee-room and ten inches more distance from the seat back. Vision is improved both by lowering the hood 2½ inches and by the huge, compound windshield which is more than 60 per cent larger than previous models.

Entrance to the front seat is improved by redesigning the windshield post, which provides 2½ inches more knee clearance and by making the front doors up to four inches wider. Rear seat entrance and passenger comfort are improved, too. More interior foot room is obtained by widening the rear foot wells 4½ inches and simultaneously narrowing the door sills. Mercury is introducing windshield wipers which operate in tandem, both blades going in the same directional sweep at the same time, thus giving full width cleaning with no center blind spot. Blades are longer and clean 43 percent more area than previous wipers, and they clean the center portion of the windshield, for the first time on American-made cars. Wipers are electrically operated.

For maximum economy, Mercury's engines include a 312-cubic inch displacement V-8 with two-barrel carburetor in the Monterey series. It saves both on initial cost and by operating on regular grade gasoline.

service regarding the mail of the patrons the past several years, have been replaced by brand new boxes. Some of the old ones showed up prominently the rough treatment they had endured. Locks on the boxes had become unworkable, leaving the door to stand wide open endangering a bump on the head of the patron who opened his mail box next door. Glass in some of the doors had lost their mooring and fell out, giving a clear vision to the public of the mail in the box.

WELL—NOW WHAT DO YOU SAY? The election is over and you've had time to mull over its results. You didn't care what candidate was elected, nor which one or all nine of the constitutional amendments carried. You stayed at home away from the polls. But you have time to sum up the results of the election and you found the very amendment you bitterly opposed won out. You're hog-tied now. You can't even make a grunt either favoring or rejecting anything the election done. You're bewildered. You're flabbergasted. You are afraid if you do say anything about the results of the election your neighbor will challenge any remark you may make about it. If you do he may say: "You have no kick coming—you didn't vote."

THE VISIT OF A COLEMAN man and wife to the Dallas Fair was a paying one for the couple, especially the husband. TELEPHONE TALK

Ideas For '59

One of the biggest "brainstorm" sessions of the year now is being conducted by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. All telephone employees are participating in "Ideas for '59," a program to encourage new ways to improve telephone service and our business operations.

All telephone men and women are attending "ideas" meetings to offer their suggestions on new and better ways to do their jobs and run the business, whether it is a suggestion for saving paper clips or a better way to design telephone equipment and buildings.

All ideas will be examined by top officials of the company, and suggestions which are accepted will be included in our company's program for next year.

But telephone people who make good suggestions won't necessarily have to wait until next year to see them put into effect. Good ideas with local application, which will help us provide better service or do our jobs better or more economically, will be put into effect IMMEDIATELY.

The company has always encouraged new ideas from employees, but the "Ideas for '59" program provides a system for insuring that all suggestions will be considered and the people making them will get full recognition.

The end result? Better telephone service, constantly improving through the years, for you and all our customers.

A New Family Plan

For some time now, railroads and airlines have been telling people about "Family Plans." Well, I recently heard of an older couple who thought up their own "Family Plan" for get-togethers with their married children living out of town.

Since Sunday always seemed the loneliest day without the family around—and because long distance rates are lower all day—they set up a regular Sunday calling schedule for their sons and daughter. On the first Sunday of the month, Bill, the oldest son, calls and puts the whole family on the line; on the second Sunday, it's the middle boy, Ralph, the only girl (she has a little girl of her own now) calls on the third Sunday. On the fourth Sunday, it's Tom's turn. He's the youngest, and just married.

I didn't learn what happens when a month has five Sundays, but I do know that these Sunday calls turn a lonely day into a happy one for the folks back home.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

IT'S WINNING TEXAS— as it won the Fashion-Wise at the Brussels Worlds Fair!

You never had it so beautiful and so all-out new... 59 FORDS

AWARDED THE GOLD MEDAL for beautiful proportions by the Comité Propriétaire de l'Exposition de la Brussels World's Fair

Expect to be dazzled when you see these totally new Fords! Each one of Ford's 19 new models is completely and refreshingly changed in every square inch. Each, in its own way, is the world's most beautifully proportioned car. Each has Thunderbird elegance.

Look for something new and just right in size... and you'll find it! The lowest-priced Fords are 6 stunning inches longer... have 2 extra inches of smooth-riding wheelbase.

Expect something wonderful in savings. For instance, Ford prices for '59 are traditionally down-to-earth prices. (Every model's priced below the equivalent model of Ford's nearest competitor.) Ford's aluminum mufflers—standard equipment—last twice as long as conventional mufflers. Ford's standard V-8 and Six save up to 5¢ a gallon because they require only regular gas. Ford cars need oil changes only every 4000 miles. And Ford's new super enamels never need waxing.

Look for something special in performance. New V-8's concentrate their new punch at speeds from 30 to 70 mph, where you need it most.

Look for newness everywhere... right down to the new Tyrex tires. Let your Ford Dealer show you. You've never had it so new!

Stanton Supply Will Show '59 Studebakers

"Once again, Studebaker—with its revolutionary new Lark series of 1959 passenger cars—departs from presently-used styling themes to establish a completely new concept of distinctive, functional, modern design." R. C. Vest, local Studebaker dealer said. The new cars are on display at Stanton Supply Company this week.

The philosophy responsible for the all-new Studebaker places its emphasis on "common sense" design.

"We resolved that our 1959 Larks would not be newly styled just for the sake of style," explained Duncan McRae, director of styling. "We determined to design an all-new, completely functional car—a car that meets the specific demands of today's driving needs—a car the motoring public has urged us to build."

"Its basic design theme was to reflect elegance, tasteful simplicity and functional purpose," McRae stated.

The dominant design theme of the new 1959 Lark by Studebaker is its distinctive grille. To either side of the grille on a level with the large single headlamps are new combination parking-directional light and air scoop units.

Accentuating the graceful, flowing lines of the Lark—a single, stainless steel molding sweeps back from above the headlamps along the sides of the car and continues in an unbroken line around the rear. Along the sides, this molding serves as a rub-rail to protect the finish from doors of other cars opening against it in tight parking areas.

On Lark Regal models, chrome moldings encircling the side windows enhance the car's tasteful, luxury look.

Smart new horizontal-oval tail-lights provide illumination to the sides as well as to the rear.

In keeping with the new Lark's clean, uncluttered, classic design—the hood and deck lid are free of meaningless ornamentation.

A LOOK AT LENORAH

By MRS. LYNDELL ASHLEY

Well, the "Frost is on the Pumpkin" and winter is just around the corner. There's something extra special about this time of the year. The smoky, blue haze on the hills, and leaves turning red and yellow as if they'd been touched by the brush of an unseen artist. A season for poetry, good books and a fireplace.

A season, too, of hard work for the farmers as they hurry to take advantage of sunny weather. The gins have been night and day. Thus far Lenorah Gin has processed 5,441 bales of cotton. Planter Gin reports 2,110 bales and Wolcott Gin 2,793 bales. Ginners estimate that approximately 70 per cent of the harvest has been gathered. So far, the recent rains have not caused very much damage to the cotton and the grade conveyor continues, the harvest will be over in a few more weeks.

Several folks from this community attended the annual 4-H Barbecue last week and a number of our young people brought home achievement medals. Those receiving medals included Steve Springer, Carolyn Sprinker, Betty Hardin, Zelma Odum, Virgil Barber, Tommy Bullard, Carolyn and Charlotte Kuhlman.

The basketball tournament at Elbow begins Tuesday and will continue through Saturday. The Grady teams will participate and many of our people will attend. Both the boys and girls teams won their games Friday when they played Union.

A school of missions will be held in the Lenorah Baptist Church November 16-20. Study course books will be taught to all age groups. The young people of the church plan to meet Saturday to work on the church yard. All available hoes, rakes and willing hands will be needed. Committees were appointed Sunday to begin planning the church's Christmas program.
