

THE SHADES THAT OBSCURED a bad actor who performed in the days of the Old Wild West, were lifted the other day by a Colorado City correspondent in recounting the death of a pioneer Colorado citizen, James W. Shepperd, 85.

The story written by the correspondent to his daily newspaper related that in 1904, the deceased operated a Wild West road show. His star attraction was Cole Younger, a Wild West gunman, who, the previous year, had been liberated from prison for an attempt robbery of the Northfield, Minn., bank. He had the record of killing 16 men and was wounded 30 times. At the time of his death, Younger, carried 14 slugs in his body.

During his lifetime at Colorado City, Mr. Shepperd, made frequent visits to Stanton in the 1930's plying his profession as salesman, and visiting his son, Riggs Shepperd, who at the time was superintendent of the Courtney school.

While at Courtney Riggs Shepperd took an important part in the ground work of a project which today is known as the Rural Electrification Administration with headquarters in Stanton. Following his work on the project, Shepperd was made manager of the Lone Wolf REA in Taylor County, headquarters at Merkel. This led to an appointment to a position with REA in Washington, D. C. Today Shepperd is with REA at Hondo, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Riggs Shepperd made many warm and intimate friends in Martin County during their stay at Courtney. It was (Continued on page 8)

Jim Tom Observes 50th Anniversary With Bank

Friends from all walks of life gathered in Stanton Saturday afternoon to pay a visit to an old friend, Jim Tom, when the directors and official family of the First National Bank honored the man who completed 50 years of service to that financial institution on January 24.

The occasion was a get together in the lobby of the First National Bank arranged by Gordon Stone, one of the nine directors, and J. C. Sale, also a director.

Hired as a bookkeeper in 1909, Tom, except for six months in 1910, has been with the bank 50 years. In 1939, he became the fourth president of the bank.

E. Price, a bank director, presented an inscribed watch to the 68-year-old Tom. The golden time piece was presented Mr. Tom as a token of deep esteem and appreciation for many years of service by those who know him and work with him closely, the bank's official family.

In accepting the watch, Tom said: "You have been good friends all along the line and have helped make the bank what it is today."

All of the nine directors and their wives were present for the presentation party, and many friends and members of the banker's family.

Refreshments were served buffet style. A big cake, lettered with symbols "1909-1959" and flanked by tall white tapers made up the centerpiece for the table arrangement.

On Monday morning of this week, Jim Tom, Stanton's banker, was back at his desk, ready to start the second fifty.

No doubt he will meet the usual problems and make decisions with the same calmness and efficiency that has characterized his first half-century with the First National.

BIBLE COMMENT

St. Paul's Sermon On Love Is Finest

If we omit the sermons in the great parables of Jesus, perhaps the greatest of all Christian sermons is Saint Paul's discourse about love in the Thirteenth Chapter of I Corinthians.

It is a supreme example of brevity, preciseness and simplicity in the presentation of a sublime subject. The subject undoubtedly inspired in Paul the quality of his utterance; but if it were considered only for its style apart from its theme, this chapter would be remarkable.

Although foreign writings often suffer in translation, the English translation of the original Greek has a balance and rhyme; a music that one can feel as he reads it aloud.

Concerning the matter of translation, it definitely does enter into consideration of this wonderful sermon. Perhaps a majority of today's Biblical authorities admit that for the "charity" of the Authorized King James Version we should substitute the word "love," as in the latest "Revised Standard Version."

On the other side of the question, some authorities make much of the various and confusing means of the word "love," while maintaining that "charity" has a simple and clear reference.

However, to one who wants sincerely to put Paul's great sermon into his life, the choice of words won't matter.

Philosopher Says Average Driver Can't Use Enough Gas To Pay For 8-Lane Highway

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw must be a little tax-conscious, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

I was sitting by the fire the other night flipping through a magazine when I ran into an article saying the United States government is looking for inventors, and it went ahead and listed a long string of things this country needs to have invented.

Now I never have invented anything, outside of a few excuses, but I've had a lot of experience trying to keep other people's inventions running, and what impressed me by that list was what it left out. It left out what looks like the Federal government itself ought to be the first to think of and put at the head of the list.

What this country needs, over and above all other gadgets and labor-saving devices and handier hydrogen bombs, is a new source of tax revenue.

It doesn't make any difference whether it's President Eisenhower in Washington, Governor Price Daniel in Austin, or the governor of any other state, including Alaska, and the mayors of most cities and towns, everybody is looking for a new source of tax revenue.

Right now, everybody seems to be in a rut, and about all anybody can think of is to put a new tax on cars and gasoline. Any time any official has to wrestle with the problem of finding new revenue to balance a budget, he generally comes up with the idea of raising the tax on gasoline.

This makes sense, in one way, as most people will give up nearly everything, including groceries and clothes, before they'll stop driving their car.

But I'm afraid they can go too far in this direction. Of course their argument is that we're building 30 billion dollars worth of new highways across the nation, not counting all the side roads and local highways, and

West Texas Press Comments

Some of the weekly newspapers coming to our exchange table last week reported meetings of their county commissioners court taking up the problem of salary increases for their officials. The Garza County commissioners in meeting have proposed a salary raise for their officials. The proposed raise of salaries for county judge, county attorney, county and district clerk, county sheriff and county tax assessor-collector is from $4,000 a year to $5,400, an increase of $600 a year in each instance, reports The Post Dispatch.

This month the Southern Union Gas Company is celebrating its 30 years in business. In its first year of operation the company granted McCamey a franchise to supply it with gas. But actually it was in 1928 when a group of five Dallas men developing oil and gas in Winkler County built a 20-mile pipe line to a railroad to carry the oil to market. This line was converted to a gas line, January 17, 1929, the actual corporation was formed and Southern Union went into business with Wink, Texas and Oklahoma projects as principal initial assets.

In reporting the burglary of the Lorraine High School, The Mitchell County News stated the robber took $197 in cash after prying open the school safe, but left the nickels, pennies and checks. Night or two following a man was arrested in Abilene who the News said had $187 on him.

Over at Coleman burglars broke into a Chevrolet company, stole the safe, put it in a Chevrolet pickup and escaped. The robbers were detected doing their act by a passerby. They yelled out "get him," but the "eyewitness" took off too fast. He notified the officers but the robbers had gone. A light seen at the dump grounds sent the officers there where they found the safe still unharmed and in the new pickup. Suppose the robbers knowing they had been seen robbing the company, got scared and left.

In this day and time when all eyes of Texas are turned on the water problem, the gift made the city of Coleman by the Santa Fe railroad is a jewel of much value. The company donated to Coleman five miles of six-inch pipe line running into the city. Coleman has been using the line to serve customers since its need by the railway was obviated when it switched from steam locomotives to diesel power, according to the Coleman Democrat-Voice.

Mrs. Jim Miller Stanton HD Club Hostess

Members of the Stanton Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday, January 21 at the county agent's office with Mrs. Jim Miller as hostess.

Mrs. Miller gave a discussion on how families can solve their problems by working together.

Members discussed a district meeting to be held in March in Odessa. Mrs. Jim Miller was elected candidate for delegate to the meeting.

Present were Mesdames Jim Miller, Lewis Carille, Walter Graves, Roy Linney, Henry Ringhoffer, N. L. Riggan, Sam Wilkinson and Stanley Reid.

PERSONALS

Visitors Sunday with the Sterling Tunnells were Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Rich and children of Coahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. G. Tunnell, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Tunnell.

Mrs. Leona Baumgardner of Hawthorne, Calif., has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. Lila Flanagan. Mrs. Flanagan and Mrs. Baumgardner went to market this week in Dallas.

FARM & RANCH REVIEW

Many West Texas county agricultural agents mention in the columns they carry in their local newspapers, the increase of rabid animals in wild life showing up in their respective counties. Stock on the farms and ranches have been bitten. The wild life animal the agents charge as spreading most of the rabies to the fox. However, in this instance, a common house cat that had gone wild and infected with rabies bit a Tom Green farmer, last week.

The agents are urging the farmers and ranchers to keep a close tab on all animals, either wild or domesticated. If any show signs of having rabies, kill it, and send the head to the State Health Department in Austin.

Stanton members of the Future Farmers of America, cooped up their capons and transported them to Abilene last week and entered them in the Abilene Fat Stock Show.

The boys won grand champion on a pen of three capons. Another member won grand champion on his 11¼-pound capon over a former member of Stanton FFA Chapter, now of Big Lake.

In the turkey division Stanton FFA Chapter won grand champion and reserve champion.

Results of the Abilene Show revealed the Stanton FFA was the biggest winner in the capon show.

Winter isn't over yet, (you can say that again), warns the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, and they advise rural families to exercise due caution when driving on roads made hazardous by snow and ice. Also to keep a close check on heating stoves and heating equipment and electric wiring. It is easy, points out the Council, to overload such equipment during spells of severe weather.

At the National Hereford Bull Sale at Denver, Colo., a Texas bull, owned by F. Jake Hess of McLean and Jay Pumphrey of Old Glory, copped the top price paid for any animal at the show. The bull brought $15,000. It was the reserve champion of the show.

"Tall oaks from little acorns grow" can well be applied to the growth of Don and Betty Jack Cooper during their membership of the Sonora 4-H Club over a period of several years. They have a flock of about 400 head of Rambouillet sheep. They have leased a ranch south of Sonora to put their sheep on. Each day after school Don goes out to feed the ewes. In connection with their sheep they have seven show calves ready for the show circuit.

Don and Betty Jack are the son and daughter of the late Pat Cooper, Sonora ranchman.

In the wheat section of the Panhandle Country they are asking for rain. Despite the heavy snows falling in that area, the high wind accompanying the fall rolling across the fields to settle in drifts in low places and against brushy spots where protected. The main fields were left bare of the falling moisture.

From the Census Bureau in Washington, D. C. comes the announcement that 11,342,982 bales of cotton were ginned prior to January 16.

Texas ginned 4,232,923 bales last year compared to 3,534,142 bales turned out in 1957.

Senator Preston Smith

The state's number one money question of "will there be higher taxes?" has quickly resolved itself into a new but firm conclusion among lawmakers.

There seems to be little doubt that the 56th Legislature is going to raise taxes.

The question now is "where, and how much, shall taxes be raised this session?"

Rep. Frates Seeligson, considered a top House tax authority, has proposed a general sales tax designed to raise $67 million a year for "aid to education."

Seeligson's general sales tax would apply to most products except feeds, foods and fertilizer. In support of his plan, he says his tax "will hurt the little man in Texas far less than Gov. Daniel's tax program."

The Governor, in his inaugural address, indicated that he could bring the state out of its money doldrums with a smaller tax program than the one used to solve similar problems encountered by the 1955 Legislature.

The Governor, at this time, has not made public the details of his program. Neither has he altered his estimates of the budget requirements of another $65 million a year over and above already anticipated state income during the next two years.

Gov. Daniel is scheduled this week to reveal his emergency action to obtain sufficient general fund money to complete the present biennium ending Aug. 31, with the state's books in balance.

The House of Representatives has considered transfer of money from surplus of a program within the Department of Public Safety and from an unspent, "un-needed welfare fund" in order to provide $2,300,000 for a biennium legislative expense bill.

Even the cigar, which has successfully managed to escape state taxation in many past Legislatures, is being eyed among other items as a likely candidate for new taxes.

Mrs. Sterling Tunnell has returned home from a Big Spring hospital.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT
Jack Buchanan, Ollie Robertson, Bernard Houston, Larry Shaw
J. D. Crawford.

Technicians from the local Soil Conservation office ran contour line on 160 acres for Jess Morrison last week on his farm 14 miles north of Stanton.

"The conservation of our natural resources and their proper use constitute the fundamental problem which underlies almost every other problem of our national life."

Theodore Roosevelt

E. H. Forrester plans to begin rebuilding terraces on his farm in the Brown Community soon. These terraces will be of the level, ridge type designed to hold the rainfall or the land until it has time to soak into the ground.

"Conservation is a sustained effort to make good the mistakes of our pioneer forefathers, who were content to take all they could get out of their immediate environment and then move on to fresh fields for exploitation."

Dr. Glenn Frank

Range chiseling and seeding is being done on about 2500 acres of depleted rangeland on Glenn Brunson's ranch 25 miles south of Stanton. These chisel furrows are about five feet apart and 12 inches deep. They will serve as a means of getting more rainfall into the ground and as seedbed preparation for the mixture of native and introduced grasses being seeded. Brunson is participating in the Great Plains Conservation Program and will receive cost-share assistance for this and other conservation practices such as brush control and net wire diversions.

A straight line is the shortest distance between two points and a straight furrow on rolling land is the shortest line to soil destruction.

Bill Blakley Against Urban Renewal Plan

Former U. S. Sen. William A. Blakley of Dallas denounced urban renewal this week as a wrongful collaboration between the government and private enterprise.

Addressing a joint meeting of Dallas bankers and certified public accountants at the Melrose Hotel, he declared:

"I believe private enterprise should be private enterprise and pay its own way — and that government should stay in the field of government and collect and spend only the minimum amount to do so."

Noting that urban redevelopment programs provide for use of eminent domain to condemn property for new, "non-governmental" uses, Blakley added:

"Here we have private enterprise apparently elated over the prospect of using governmental authority to take away from fellow private enterprise interests their property without their consent — and to use public money to do the job — money collected from all the taxpayers of the U. S."

Blakley observed that there "are now 62 programs for federal aid to state and local government, not to mention the government support of non-governmental operations," of which urban renewal is an example.

He said, "I do not believe we can afford non-essential spending until we first return our government to a sound fiscal basis — which is nothing more than paying the cost out of tax revenues."

Carolyn Stone Named 1959 SHS Homemaker

Carolyn Stone has been named the 1959 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow of Stanton High School.

She received the highest score in a 50-minute written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating girls.

Tuesday morning in an assembly meeting, she was presented a homemaker pin, which represents the slogan, "Home is Where the Heart Is." Making the presentation was Jimmy Bickley, principal.

Miss Stone's examination paper will be entered in competition with those of other school winners in the state to name the state Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The test is designed and judged by Science Research Associates.

Each state Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship, an educational trip April 4-10 with her school advisor to Washington, D. C., colonial Williamsburg, Va., New York City and Minneapolis, and she will be a candidate for the title of All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. The school of each state winner will receive a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. A $500 scholarship will be awarded each state runner-up.

The 1959 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be announced in Minneapolis April 10 at the American Table Dinner in the Leamington Hotel's "Hall of States."

THIS IS ENOUGH TO HAVE snakes in your boots. A group of snake hunters over in the vicinity of Rotan in Fisher County, digging for the reptiles "dug up" a red rattlesnake the first that had ever been seen. The rattler was red-headed, and rose-hued from fangs to tail.

One member of the group of snake hunters gave an account of the number snakes he had killed in one day on his place—98—and the 30 he had killed at his barn and around the house last fall are enough for one season.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE IN session a week in Austin, adjourned last weekend with the "ghost failing to walk," interpreted in English, meaning the members failed to get paid their salary checks. It was said that about 50 members of the House were broke and had to borrow money to pay their bills. A teenage page said he loaned a member a dime to pay for the coffee "I brought him from the drug store." But he was optimistic, "I'll get it back."

IN FISHING AROUND TO FIND something that could be used in calling attention to folks the very importance of paying their poll tax and be ready for most anything to happen electionwise during this new year. We read a paragraph in an editorial by The Memphis Democrat in which it said it was entirely possible your vote alone could change the course of history. It has happened, and here is how it happened, says the Democrat:

"More than a century ago, one vote sent a certain man to the Indiana State Legislature. A vote cast by this legislator sent Edward A. Hannegan to the United States Senate. And the vote cast by Senator Hannegan was the margin by which Texas was admitted to the Union. One vote was also the margin by which an Indiana Congressman was elected—and a single vote, cast by the same Congressman in 1876 made Rutherford B. Hayes, President of the United States."

WE WEREN'T IMPRESSED with the way the weather performed a couple of days last week. The weatherman cares less what we think—he has his job to do. But, balmy Spring weather was holding forth when suddenly there drifted in from the north a clear sky clouded over with sand on the wings of a high cold wind. When nightfall arrived Old King Cold had the weather bathed in a temperature that skidded the mercury to 15 degrees above zero. During the night a skimpy amount of snow fell. Only from traces of white clinging to fringes on dirt roads and in grass, revealed the snow. Not enough moisture to damper the eyebrow of a bull frog.

Our complaint to register was it reminded us of the day that followed the ice storm in 1950, which threw the country into seven years of drought.

ACCORDING TO AN OPINION made by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, a minor charged with a serious traffic violation can be put in jail if unable to make bond. The opinion was asked of the Attorney General by the County Attorney of Scurry County. The Snyder attorney called attention to a law passed by the 1949 Legislature. The law said minors could be punished by fines up to $100 for driving while intoxicated or for violating any state traffic law. A minor could not be jailed for failure to pay such fine but his driver's license could be suspended until the fine is paid.

The attorney general said the amount it is claimed the business interests of Texas are contributing each year to the business of the shoplifters.

In these days of modern equipment installed to arrange stocks of merchandise convenient for customers to help themselves, affords good shelter for the shoplifter to hide while pilfering merchandise. Even with the merchant's eyes wide open the seasoned shoplifter gets by with his work.

Rumor is afloat that at this session of the State Legislature a bill will be introduced to make things tougher for the shoplifter. If it becomes a law the professional shoplifter will be put in jail, discourage the amateur or juvenile, and reduce purchase costs for the legitimate customer.

The new bill imposes stronger penalties, and makes identification of the habitual shoplifter simpler. It also allows detention of suspected shoplifters, for a reasonable cause, within the store. Present law makes it risky for the merchant to stop a suspect until he gets to the sidewalk.

The Texas Council of Retailers tell this joke on a manager of a store. While $15 million is no joke, merchants are still chuckling about the store manager who reprimanded his clerks for not helping a young lady who was struggling to get her baby carriage through the front door. He assisted her himself and discovered a few minutes later that he was an accessory to a crime. The young lady had stolen the vehicle in his store.

Tex-Harvey Oil Company of Midland has filed potential test with the Railroad Commission of Texas for its No. 6-14-B Floyd, Strawn oil discovery in the Spraberry Trend Area of East Midland County.

Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 120 barrels of 43 gravity oil, through a 24/64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 2.948-1. During the 24-hour potential test, the strike flowed 30 barrels of acid water. No formation water was made.

The flow came from open hole section from top of pay at 10,267 feet to total depth of 10,438 feet. The casing point in this project has not been reported. The open hole section was fractured with 20,000 gallons.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 14, block 31, T-3-S, T&P survey, 16 miles southwest of Stanton.

This new pay discovery is surrounded by Spraberry sand production.

Gordon P. Street No. 1 White wildcat slated for an 11,500-foot bottom three miles southeast of Stanton in Southeast Martin County, reported three dry drill-stem tests in the San Andres formation between 3,491 and 3,660 feet.

More hole was being made below 3,695 feet. Location is 660 feet from south and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 21, block 35, T-1-2, T&P survey.

1949 law created an entirely new offense, not in the jurisdiction of the juvenile courts and "such minor who fails to make bond pending trial will be treated as adults and may be confined in jail."

Plans - - -

(Continued from page 1) the Jubilee program here during the week next summer of the Old Settlers Reunion. A general chairman will be named at some later meeting to head the celebration; a board of directors will be elected and committee chairmen and their workers will be named.

Preliminary discussion at the Monday night session indicated that each day during the Old Settlers Reunion would be designated for some special event, a historical pageant depicting the history of Martin County would be staged nightly on the football field. Local people will be called upon to serve in the cast. No speaking parts will be assigned. A narrator, some local person probably, will recite the historical highlights of the county as various scenes unfold.

The producing company will send a director to the county several weeks before the pageant is presented for the opening night. The company is said to have 25,000 costumes and with such a wardrobe to select from, costumes for every man, woman and child in the entire county who might want to play in the pageant will certainly be available.
