Philosopher Says Balancing U. S. Budget Is Like Balancing The Family Budget

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw must have budgetary problems of his own, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
 I don't know how President Eisenhower handled his son when he was growing up, but if he handled him like he's suggesting Congress be handled, I take my hat off to him.
 As I understand an article I read in a newspaper last night, Ike has drawn up a balanced budget for the next twelve months and has informed Congress if it wants to spend more money than the budget allows, it ought to add enough taxes to cover the extra cost.
 This is a splendid idea for families — I don't know about Congress, what Congress does is not always limited to reason on account of the people — but I don't know of anybody who has succeeded in making it work.
 Say you have a couple of kids and you draw up a budget, carefully including so many pairs of shoes, so many pairs of pants, so many dresses, coats, jackets, etc., and for the first month or two everything is in balance, until your son comes in with the toes busted out of his shoes at least six weeks before they were supposed to play out.
 Maybe Ike could do it, but all the parents I know who say,

"Look here son, a new pair of shoes at this stage of the year wasn't included in the budget. If you want another pair you'll have to find the money for them" — well, most parents just can't bring this off.

And it doesn't have to be something as necessary as a pair of shoes. Say your daughter comes in with the announcement she's been nominated as a candidate for class queen and has to have a new fancy dress for the campaign, the average father would be run out of the house if he suggested it wasn't included in the budget and she'll have to find the money herself for the new outfit.
 That's the problem Ike is up against with Congress. And the problem Congress is up against isn't that Congress just likes to spend the money, it's just that the people like to have these things.
 I guess that's the way it works. In my case, I don't have any trouble balancing my budget on paper, but my 10-year-old tractor hasn't got any appreciation for figures and is liable to blow a gasket any day and throw my budget head over heels. And I think Congress has found the people have gaskets too.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Phillips left February 10 for Palm Beach, Florida, to visit Mrs. Phillips' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fay. Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Fay of Boston, Mass., will meet them there.
 Randy Burnam of Iraan is spending the week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Burnam.

WEST TEXAS PRESS COMMENTS

The Wink Bulletin is lamenting the fact that the number paying their poll tax was 2,198. This, the Bulletin said, was less than half of the eligible voters in Wink and Kermit who troubled themselves to invest in a poll tax receipt. The Bulletin cited two elections to be held in Winkler County in April — the city election and the school trustee election. These elections are already cut and dried. There likely will be other new elections pop up before the year closes.

At a meeting of three members of the Civic Improvement Committee and the City Council, a decision was reached on the best way to improve law enforcement in Post. The agreement was to let the people know all the facts on cost, personnel, etc., in advance of the city election on April 7 at which the people will be given the opportunity to decide if they want the city to employ a uniformed police chief and two uniformed policemen, reported The Post Dispatch.

The City of Stamford has provided ways and means to make a clean sweep of the city. At a cost of $9,000 Stamford has purchased a new street sweeper.

The Stamford American says the sweeper is possessed of all the latest equipment necessary to do the city a first class cleaning job.

At the close of the poll tax payments January 31, Upton County found the number who paid their tax was less than had been in several years. Exemptions and all numbered 1,583. Those who hid behind the "off-year" election year for their failure to pay their poll tax, hardly had the tax office closed down on poll tax payments than a petition was being circulated to call a bond election to build a new school building. This, aside from elections to be held for city and school officials.

Cochran County is preparing to put the "big kettle in the little one" in the way of entertaining the West Texas and New Mexico Police Officers Association. The Morton Tribune says, "If you hear those oft' heard words found in fiction books, 'Cheese it, the joint's jumpin' with cops,' on April 16, your ears probably won't deceive you." Featured speaker at the occasion will be Gov. John Burroughs of New Mexico. The meeting will start at 9 a. m. and conclude at 4 p. m.

A very unusual incident occurred at Norman, Okla., on Jan. 1, 1959 as mentioned in the Matador Tribune last week. The first baby born Jan. 1, 1959 in Norman, was the infant of the mother who was the first baby born Jan. 1, 1940 at Matador. Leading contender for Cleveland County's first baby of 1959, was Karen Rhea Dodd. Her mother, Mrs. David L. Dodd, was born Linda Gilbert, nineteen years ago to Mr. and Mrs. Clay Gilbert, who moved to Ardmore, Okla., from Matador 10 or 12 years ago.

Announcement from a State Highway official as published in The Alpine Avalanche, informs the public the new paved highway from Terlingua west to Presidio County line is expected to be completed in 30 days. The $200,000 state highway project will provide 14 miles of new hard-topped road from the old mercury mining center of Terlingua to the international trading post of Lajitas on the Rio Grande and will be a link in the famed "river road" from the Big Bend Park along the Rio Grande to Redford and Presidio.

HUMPS ARE GREAT! BUT... NOT FOR CARS

'59 MERCURY CUTS THE HUMP IN THE FLOOR WAY DOWN. FIRST CAR WITH REAL COMFORT... EVEN FOR CENTER-SEAT PASSENGERS

For 1959, Mercury's got what the other new cars forgot. For example, Mercury is the only new car that remembers "the man in the middle."

Other new cars still have that big tunnel-hump in the center of the floor. The so-called "6-passenger" models are only comfortable for 4 passengers. Center-seat passengers ride with their legs doubled up. But Mercury has cut the hump in half... shrunk it into a footrest. Seat cushioning is deep and soft. There's solid, stretch-out comfort wherever you sit.

Stop in. See all the ways Mercury turns problems into pleasures: windshield wipers that clear even the center, doors that are easy to get through (wider than in the costliest cars). And so much more... all at a price that 2 out of 3 new-car buyers can afford.

Vocational Agriculture And College Preparation
 By TRAVIS SCOTT, Vocational Agriculture
 Stanton High School

If the United States is to maintain her world leadership in agriculture, it is essential that we maintain an adequate number of college trained individuals in the science of agriculture. High school departments offer basic college preparatory training for those students who plan to become tomorrow's college trained agricultural leaders and scientists.

The nation needs 15,000 college graduates in agriculture annually. We are getting less than 7,000. The shortage will probably continue for some time. Each year we need 2,000 college graduates for replacements in farming and ranching.

The field of agricultural research, which is responsible for most of the rapid progress we have made in agriculture, needs 1,000 research workers each year. Agricultural education, which has the responsibility of educating farm youth and adults, and others connected with agriculture, needs 3,000 new professional workers each year. Agricultural business and industry, which employs approximately 30 percent of the workers in the United States, needs 6,000 workers annually. Each year we need 1,000 for conservation, 500 for agricultural communications and 1,500 for agricultural services.

E. V. Walton, head of the Department of Agricultural Education, states that, "When and if global war comes, the difference between Russia and the United States will not be in technology but in agriculture. Agriculture is the one productive area in which we are superior to Russia. We have had a 40 year lead. It is expedient for us to keep this substantial superiority."

High school vocational agriculture students obtain a background that prepares them for college work in these various fields of agricultural science.

Next week Mr. Scott will discuss "Vocational Agriculture Prepares for Related Farming Occupations."

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

MARTIN-HOWARD SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT
 Jack Buchanan, Ollie Robertson, Bernard Houston, Larry Shaw, J. D. Crawford.

Rootplowing and range seeding was started this week on John Harvard's place west of Stanton. Harvard is participating in the Great Plains Conservation Program and will receive cost share assistance for root plowing and seeding. Harvard plans to plow and seed about 163 acres of rangeland. This land is being seeded to a mixture of native and introduced grasses. Harvard will also build some cross fences to help in obtaining proper use of his rangeland. He also plans a cropping system of cotton, alfalfa, and winter peas on his cropland.

Our soil is not just dirt. It is a factory where every thing needed to feed plant, animals, and human beings is made.

J. V. Sanders recently completed construction of a concrete water storage tank for livestock water on his ranch north of Stanton. Sanders is in the second year of his Great Plains Conservation Program Contract and is also constructing cross fences now to aid in controlling grazing for proper use of his rangeland.

"Conservation touches every phase of civilized life, and it is everybody's business because it deals with the resources by which we live."—Charles Brannan.

Have you made plans for resting part of your rangeland in 1959? Soil Conservation Service technicians from the Stanton Work Unit report that over 34,000 acres of rangeland were deferred in 1958. In almost all cases, a great deal of improvement was noted in plant vigor, number of new seedlings, seed crop produced, amount of cover on the ground, and general over all condition of rangeland that was deferred. All rangeland in this part of the country needs to be rested for a few months during the growing season at least every three or four years to maintain the productivity of the range and to keep adequate amounts of plant residues on the land to control erosion.

This year, the light, medium- and heavy-duty trucks of the 1959 Chevrolet Task-Force fleet are out to whip anything that comes their way—and they've got what it takes to do it!

Take the panel pictured above, for example. Powered by the '59 Thriftmaster 6 with new economy-contoured camshaft, it's building a sensational economy record, despite the sizzling pace of its work. That's typical of the way Chevies of all sizes are turning-to on the most challenging jobs in America. The way they're made, with tough-built truck components, they make the hardest hauls look easy!

Hot Dish Beats Chilly Winds

For cold days ahead, try a nourishing two-course such as "Creamed Dried Beef with Celery Rice." Made simply and economically, the rice—the packaged pre-cooked kind—and the beef have a natural affinity for each other. It's a combination that's bound to please, too!

Creamed Dried Beef with Celery Rice

3 tablespoons butter	1/4 cup butter
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion	1-1/2 cups (3-1/2 ounce jar) dried beef, cut
1 cup sliced celery (1/4 inch thick)	1/4 cup flour
1-1/2 cups Minute Rice	2-1/2 cups milk
1-1/2 cups water	3/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt	Dash of pepper

Melt 3 tablespoons butter in saucepan. Add onion and celery and saute until onion is lightly browned. Add packaged pre-cooked rice, water, and salt. Mix just to moisten all rice. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat. Then cover and remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes.

Meanwhile, melt 1/4 cup butter in skillet. Add dried beef and saute until lightly browned. Add flour and stir until blended. Then add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over medium heat until sauce is smooth and thickened. Add Worcestershire sauce and pepper. Season with salt, if needed. Arrange celery rice on platter and top with creamed dried beef. Makes 4 servings.

1/2 dried beef seems too salty, rinse in hot water before using.

A LOOK AT LENORAH

By MRS. LYNDELL ASHLEY

Spring must be almost here if Monday afternoon's sandstorm was any indication. I hope that wasn't a preview of things to come.

Rev. and Mrs. M. O. Southland spent Friday and Saturday in Cloudercroft, N. M. Rev. Southland was the speaker for a youth retreat composed of members of the Professional Young People's Department from the First Baptist Church in Odessa.

Everyone is invited to a shower for Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Glendinning and family. The Glendinning home was destroyed last week by fire. The shower will be at 7 p. m. Friday at Grady School. Any kind of household goods can be used.

Mrs. Glen Cox and Mrs. Delmar Hamm met Friday with their group of third grade Grady Cub Scouts. Four boys were given Bobcat badges as newcomers. The boys were Rodney Collins, Elias Martinez, Jr., David Southland and Drannon Geur-in.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Burton were in Sweetwater over the weekend.

Ricki and Shelton Ashley visited over the weekend with their grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Owens of Bangs.

Members of the Lenorah and Tarzan Women's Missionary Union met Tuesday afternoon for a book study at the Lenorah Baptist Church.

Mrs. Younger, associational WMU president from Big Spring, was guest speaker. She reviewed the Women's Missionary year-book, and outlined the duties and responsibilities of each officer and member of the organization.

After the meeting refreshments were served to 15 women.

Two birthday parties were held last week in the Grady community.

Carolyn Springer was hostess to a party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Denver Springer. Games were played and cake and Cokes were served to the following classmates: Brenda Laird, Tommy Bullard, Marva Cox, Linda Pierce, Pat Thrallkill, Steve Springer, Linda Cox, Pat and Mike Springer.

Another February birthday was that of Bobby Hamm. Classmates gathered for a backyard party at the Hamm residence. After a period of games, the group roasted weiners and made hot dogs. Attending were Carol Ann Pribyla, Judy Overby, Janelle Tate, Barbara Harrell, Carolyn Nichols, Allen Springer, Jerry Cox, Richard Laird, Mike Welch, Pat and Mike Springer and Kevin and Mike Fryar.

The statement covered every "speck" of information relative to the county's annual financial status, unless it could have been the failure to include the fly speck.

THE SALE OF 1959 LICENSE PLATE tags for automobiles is in effect. We have been informed by State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer, the plates will be the reverse of 1958's, and will have black letters and numerals on a white background. Greer stated that four and one-half million motor vehicle registrations were bought by Texans in 1958. "Don't be at the end of that long line. Get your vehicle registered early."

Greer stressed the importance of registering all automobiles and trucks in the home county of the vehicle owner.

"Take your certificate of title and your last year's registration receipt to the tax collector in your home county. Penalty for improper registration of a vehicle can be as much as $200. Don't risk an illegal registration. Remember, too, that a portion of all registration fees stays in your home county to benefit your local community."

WE KNOW SOME MERCHANTS who to all intents and purposes, seem to be satisfied with the business they are doing. At least, that fact stands out predominately in the conspicuous absence of their advertisements in the home town newspaper. Apparently, they are not seeking more trade because they are not inviting it. The merchant who is after more business (not satisfied with what he has) is using the advertising columns of the local newspaper to inform the buying public the kind of merchandise he has to offer, the price of the goods and the quality for which they can buy it. You can't make this column believe there is a merchant in Stanton who is satisfied with the business he is enjoying. The Reporter offers the merchant who wants more business a way to get it. That route is advertising through its columns.

February 16 Deadline For Farm Income Tax
Farmers and ranchers who bypassed the January 15 deadline for filing estimates of 1958 income should file their final 1958 Federal income tax return by Monday, February 16.

Ben M. Hawkins, administrative officer of Internal Revenue Service, Big Spring, said the return should be filed by the February 16 deadline to avoid penalty.

The merchant to make his advertisement appealing to the public must not overestimate the price and the quality of his merchandise. He must be in a position to stand behind all statements he makes in his advertisements — just straight from the shoulder common sense facts. Then keep the people of the trade territory regularly informed of the merchandise he has to sell and a courteous invitation extended to visit the store.

MEMORY SOMETIMES TURNS up funny things. For instance, just think of the days when motorists burned up the road with a speed of 15 miles an hour. Pedestrians stared, horses snorted and ran away with wagon, farmers pulled off the road to keep from getting run over, and a joy ride on Sunday brought down the wrath of the church.

Dear old times never to return.

CONSUMERS ARE NOT WEDDED to any one business establishment. In the old days many merchants held customers through personality. To a certain extent it exists today. But a large per cent of consumers trade around, never glued to any one business.

If a merchant's advertising is attractive and appeals to the customers he goes to that merchant and gives him a trial order. It's up to the merchant, his goods, and his prices to hold the customer.

Cub Scout Pack 110 Honored With Blue And Gold Banquet At Grady

Cub Scout Dens One and Two, Pack 110, were honored at the annual Blue and Gold banquet Tuesday evening at the Grady School lunchroom.

The dinner commemorated the 49th anniversary of Scouting. Denver Springer, Scout Master, welcomed parents and visitors and later presented various awards.

L. M. Hearn, Grady school principal, gave the invocation. The audience then joined in singing "America the Beautiful."

Rev. C. W. Parmenter was the speaker for the evening. He spoke briefly on the many advantages of Scouting, pointing out that very few boys who are active in Scout work, ever become involved in juvenile delinquency. He also stressed the responsibility of parents to see that their sons are given the training which Scouting offers.

Den One presented a short humorous play and Den Two presented a skit on Scout work. Two piano solos were played by Bobby Hamm and Jerry Cox.

Kenneth Pribyla, Johnny Howard, Pablo Bryant and Buddy Stewart were honored as graduating Cubs who are advancing into Boy Scouts. Their leaders presented them with wall pennants of blue felt on which were sewed all of their badges and awards, making a permanent record of their Cub achievements.

Den mothers in charge of the banquet were Mesdames Delmar Hamm, Glen Cox, O. Robertson, and Boren.

The banquet room was hung with pennants of blue and gold and the table decorations carried out the color scheme with blue and gold place mats and programs. Plate favors were small blue and gold duffel bags filled with jelly beans and topped with miniature flags.

The speakers' table featured an unusual and attractive centerpiece. An almost life size bust of a Cub Scout made of paper mache, tinted flesh color, and wearing a Cub Scout cap and neckerchief was the centerpiece.

Ernest Heck led a song service. Announcement was made of a district Lions convention to be held May 8-9 in Colorado City. All members were urged to attend.

Twenty-three members and four guests, G. B. Sheburne, Doc Ellis of Midland, Mack Jamison and Wesley Cain, both representatives of a cotton classing division at Abilene, were present.

Odessan Injured In Vehicle Mishap

An employe of an Odessa machine company escaped serious injury about 10:30 a. m. Tuesday when the 1958-model station wagon he was driving overturned near here and was demolished.

Driver of the vehicle was Sammy Sidney Park. He was not believed to have been seriously injured.

Patrolmen investigating the mishap said the station wagon went out of control and overturned about five miles east of here on U. S. Highway 80.

Park, who works for the Plains Machinery Company in Odessa, was on his way to Colorado City on business when the accident occurred.

Visitors during the weekend with Mrs. Annie Thomason were her sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wright of El Paso and Mr. and Mrs. Windell Thomason of Midland.

LESABRE, the Buick

you can own for only $200 more than the best models of the leading low-priced cars...

This is in no way a "stripped" car you're looking at. Come in and study the manufacturer's suggested retail price of a Buick Lesabre like this, equipped with Twin Turbine automatic transmission, radio, heater, white sidewall tires, and anything else you want in your next car. Then do the same to the top models of the leading low-priced three, and you'll find the statement above stands up.

Now think how much more you'd enjoy a Buick. A comfortable, substantially built automobile. A car with the finest ride in all Buick history. A car with Buick's exclusive fin-cooled brakes, and the smoothest type of transmission money can buy. A wonderfully quiet and greatly respected car!

Owners report QUALITY outstanding

Your money in a Buick today puts you in on the ground floor of what promises to be a long new time of leadership for Buick cars. "My sixth Buick and the best I ever owned!"... "Best-operating car I've driven in thirty years!"... "Much the best Buick yet!"... Reports like these mean extra pleasure in your Buick ownership... and they mean hard dollar value when the time comes to trade. It all adds up to the best proof in 50 years that: "WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK PEOPLE WILL BUILD THEM!"

New in gas economy, too!

In planning the '59 Buick, the new Wildcat engines, transmissions, and axles were all engineered to work together for greater gas mileage. Across the country owners tell us they are getting 15 to 20 miles per gallon in the '59 Buicks. And in a recent thorough test of Buick Lesabre against another car of comparable size and a good reputation for economy... the Buick won in every case under all kinds of driving conditions.

So we think we've got a new kind of value in this Buick Lesabre. And we suggest you go to your Quality Buick Dealer's and see whether you agree before you buy a new car.

Wilson Makes Appeal For More Funds For Education

(Following is the first of two articles by two of our state's outstanding educators concerning the competitive position of our 18 state-supported colleges and universities and what it means to you.)

By DR. LOGAN WILSON
President, The University of Texas

Everybody realizes, that our leadership and perhaps even our national survival are being challenged. More of our citizens must be brought to realize that the preservation of our state and nation depends no less upon the strength of our educational system than upon the strength of our military establishment and that in these uncertain times our capacity for self-government, and particularly for strong state government, is being put to the test as never before in history.

My purpose in this writing is not to present the case for The University of Texas primarily, but for the state-supported system of higher education of which our University forms a capstone and integral part. The fate of that system for the next decade or so will be vitally affected by some decisions to be made the next few months. I want to review briefly some basic challenges to be met.

Challenge To Our Nation

In this highly competitive world, there is a growing realization that our American educational institutions are not as strong as they ought to be. Prior to Sputnik, unfortunately, not too much attention was paid to the oft-repeated story of low teachers' salaries, crowded classrooms, inferior libraries and laboratories, easy academic standards, and so on. Since then, fortunately, we have been doing some stock-taking.

What are some of the findings? Here are a few startling ones.

On the average, professors in this country are paid at a rate about two and a half times that of manual laborers; in Russia the corresponding rate is 16 to 1, to take a look at student-teacher ratios, we find the following: Moscow University, 66 to 1; Harvard 33 to 1; Illinois, 54 to 1; California 7.7 to 1; The University of Texas, 16 to 1.

It should also be noted that in this country we are allocating only between 2 and 3 per cent of our Gross National Product to education on all levels, while the Russians are assigning about 10 per cent of the Gross National Product to this important endeavor.

We can afford to spend more on education, but to do so we must assign a higher priority to the importance of teaching and research as crucial enterprises. We must be willing to make some sacrifices and to forego some present comforts for our future security and prosperity.

As someone has said, Americans know the difference between good and bad roads—they must come to know the difference between good and bad education and determine to settle only for the good. Mere talk will not get the job done.

Our educational problems will be solved only by a hard-headed insistence upon investment in improved quality. All of our citizens must take a real interest in educational standards and accomplishments and must be willing to pay higher taxes to support our state schools and make heavier voluntary contributions to support our private institutions.

Challenge To Our State

Even though the world-wide challenge is to our nation, response to it—if we are to keep our present local and state controls—must be from localities and states. We now have the chance to show whether we can and will assume state obligations to match our talk about state rights. But we must respond promptly, decisively, and in full measure.

To begin, we should recognize the importance of having in Texas a system of higher education in which each institution offers opportunities and programs of quality similar to and competitive with those of better comparable institutions throughout the nation. Sensing fully the importance of highly trained manpower to the state's industrial, commercial, political, and cultural development, we must come to regard financial support of education as an investment in our own future.

In my judgment, we need to be more realistic and less parochial about where Texas stands today. A few basic facts in this regard are telling:

Texas stands 7th in total personal income, and 7th in total dollar support of higher education;

Texas is 2nd in the number of accredited institutions;

Texas is in the lower half of states in support provided per student;

Texas is in the lower half of all states in the percentage of per capita income going to higher education;

Although state dollars appropriated for higher education have increased sharply in the last ten years, the increase has not been out of line with the total increase of state expenditures;

In short, we get a grade of about "C" for effort. "Despite several increases approved by the Governor and the 55th Legislature, these conditions still exist." Is this what we want and need for the youth of our state?

To put another question, Can Texas afford to do better? Here it should be noted that in the last year for which figures are available, 36 states had higher per capita state-local taxes than Texas. Moreover, 37 states had higher taxes in relation to personal income, and all of our neighboring states have a tax burden index in excess of ours.

Urgency of Action
The crux of the matter, of course, is that we shall have the quality of higher education in Texas that our citizens and taxpayers are willing to support. In my opinion, Texans need to look at the dividends which an increased investment would bring not just to students but to the state as a whole. This real issue is clear: Much more is at stake than institutional budgets—we are actually deciding the future of our children and of our state. Somehow our citizens and their leaders must achieve a willingness to make the necessary investment through added taxes. I believe that our citizens are looking to their elected representatives to make the right decisions, even though those decisions may not be easy or be popular in all quarters. If we fall in our duty, we shall all be the ultimate losers.

Furthermore, action cannot be postponed. By 1970, enrollments will be doubled. We must set priorities now and begin implementing them. Salaries for teachers, scholars, and scientists

Elders Tax Aid Gains Support

A proposal to cut ad valorem taxes for Harris County citizens 65 or older, originated by Tax Collector Carl Smith, has gained the support of South Houston alderman D. T. Sampson.

Sampson asked his colleagues on the South Houston City Council to cut city taxes on homesteads to the older citizens of community in half if they have been residents of the city for 10 years, are retired and living on a pension of $2000 or less annually.

The council took no action on the proposal Tuesday but asked for legal opinion, to be brought to the council in two weeks.

Wiped Out
Sampson said inflation has wiped out savings of many older citizens and financially crippled those older residents whose only income is Social Security.

Tax Collector Smith, who contends that a savings of about $450,000 to these older citizens in the county can be absorbed in the county's continuing equalization program. Wednesday Smith sent in his declaration as a lobbyist before the state Legislature.

He said his reason for becoming a lobbyist is to support his proposal to get the state to enact legislation to permit the cut in ad valorem taxes to the older citizens.

50 Per Cent Cut
Smith's proposal calls for the 50 per cent cut to be made by the county, city, school district and other taxing agencies within the county.

"I don't know if any public official has ever signed up as a lobbyist," Smith said, "but the law now requires anyone—public officials included—to declare themselves if they plan to lobby for any purpose. I make no secret of it. I intend to lobby for this measure because I believe it is fair and necessary."

must be vastly improved. Funds made available for research need to be multiplied. Most existing institutions will have to be expanded and all of them need to be strengthened. Pressures for the establishment of new institutions at the expense of existing institutions should be strongly resisted.

We cannot close our eyes to the fact that we are now in a contest in which brainpower is at a premium. Whether our state continues to move forward, stand still, or regress depends in the main upon what we do to strengthen and improve our educational institutions. Moreover, what we do in Texas will constitute a significant part of the total national effort in determining the fate of our country.

Should we fail to do the needed things, the deferred costs will be too staggering or will come too late for us to meet them. The more we weasel over meeting the challenge, the higher the price we shall pay for or neglect, for, as the philosopher Whitehead has said, "In the conditions of modern life the rule is absolute; the race which does not value trained intelligence is doomed."

(Next: Dr. M. T. Harrington, President of the A & M College System of Texas, gives some facts and figures he believes the people of Texas should know.)

More History Concerning St. Valentine's Day

St. Valentine's Day has long challenged historians to explain how a Christian saint became identified with a pagan custom of exchanging tokens of love.

The anniversary may be simply that so many of us got his ABC's mixed up. The annual department of the "Concise Oxford Encyclopedia" puts Chamberlain's "g" frequently were "Monday" feasible in popular speech.

Among the Germans, the word "galantin" referred to a lover of the fair sex—probably a wolf, according to present-day terminology. But the word often was written and pronounced "valentin."

By a natural confusion of names, the Christian martyr was established as the patron saint of sweethearts, and his name given to the Roman festival at which young men and women chose partners for the coming year.

Some historians argue, however, that there is another explanation for giving the name St. Valentine's Day to the Roman holiday.

The early Christian fathers often had difficulty wiping out pagan festivals. Sometimes they simply appropriated the festivals—and gave them a Christian meaning.

The Church fathers may have taken over the Roman holiday, which was celebrated on Feb. 15, and named it after three saints named Valentine, whose feast day fell on Feb. 14.

Grady Brownies Met February 5

FARM REVIEW AND FORECAST

At the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show just closed in Fort Worth, February 2 was designated as Roy Parks Hereford Day.

Roy Parks has lived and ranch-ed near Midland since 1918. He was born at Breckenridge, where he lived until he was 12 years old. For a short time he resided in Fort Worth, where his mother, Mrs. Montie Parks, now resides.

Roy Parks was elected president of the Texas and Southwestern Association in 1954, and served two years. He also served as president of the Texas Beef Council. He was active in founding the Midland show and rodeo, and the Sand Hills show at Odessa.

In June of 1955 Roy Parks was honored as the recipient of the Swift & Company plaque for his "faithful service and tireless efforts, not only in the livestock industry of Texas, but of the entire West."

The Martin County cotton grower may not know it, but here's where he is going to be told. His 1958 cotton crop turned out over 14,000 bales better than his 1957 crop. A report from the U. S. Department of Commerce conveys the information that the 1958 cotton crop produced 55,386 bales compared to 40,452 bales produced in 1957.

Dr. F. E. Smith, assistant director of cotton research at Texas Woman's University, told the House appropriation committee about a project testing sheets made from Texas cotton.

Eighteen bales of Texas cotton, which ordinarily is not used in making bed sheets, were woven into sheets. These sheets along with major quality brand sheets made from cotton outside of Texas are in use in the TWU dormitory.

"Each week," Smith said, "the girls turn in an old sheet and get a clean one. They don't know which is which."

"We haven't published the results yet, but there are signs that the Texas cotton sheets have better abrasive resistance to wear than the other sheets."

Grasshoppers are likely to be more widespread in the west and mid-west this summer but are expected to be less destructive than in 1958, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. However, weather conditions between now and hatching time will have a strong bearing on numbers and a check will be made to determine the areas where control measures are needed.

"Should I follow Plan A or B?"

This is a big question of many cotton farmers. Those who don't completely understand the plans or can't decide which to follow are advised to see their local county agents or other authorities who can explain the plans and possibly help individuals make a wiser decision.

Nine-year-old Connie Swinford, whose parents own a ranch near Wichita Falls, won the grand champion Hereford steer honors of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth. The steer was sold to Amon G. Carter, Jr., director of the stock show board for $6,000. The reserve grand champion owned by Ronnie Martin of Lubbock brought $3,000.

'Right-To-Know' Bills Given Support Of Area Press Group

Members of the West Texas Press Assn. got behind three right-to-know bills Sunday at Levelland.

Resolutions backing three bills aimed against secret meetings of public bodies and altering or refusing to yield public records were adopted. At the same time, members pledged vigorous individual support.

They also went on record as protesting an Internal Revenue Service ruling that some types of public service advertising are not deductible as a business expense. WTPA members looked upon such a course as a dangerous entering wedge to restrict freedom of press by edict.

Bill Rives, sports editor of the Dallas News, used the Southwest Conference gag rule as an example of how seemingly innocuous rules can become an obnoxious gag. He cited some instances of how coaches and others had criticized officials with the result that the conference adopted a rule there could be no such criticism. This became a refuge against any sort of criticism or debate.

"The right to criticize is basic and is American and thank God for it," he said. "We are protesting not an incident but a principle." This should be applied in many other areas of news coverage, he told the concluding luncheon gathering of 125.

WTPA members dealt with several operational matters during their mid-winter meeting. W. H. Graham, Jr., Farwell, explained about the problems as well as advantages of a total offset printing operation. Panels took up the matter of more effective and productive special sections, especially as a means of selling communities on themselves.

Don Kretsinger, Pecos, headed a panel on local news, emphasizing the necessity of good, lively and balanced news for continued support of the public. Various areas of news coverage such as sports, crime, schools, business, etc. were discussed. Jim Hapenny, Odessa, led a panel on how some papers were meeting the problems of street sales and home delivery in circulation. Special circulation campaigns were also outlined.

The annual convention of WTPA will be held in Big Spring on Aug. 6-7-8, Joe Pickle, president of the association, announced. The mid-winter program was arranged by James Allison, Jr., Midland.
