Jubilee Offenders To Be Punished

GET IN THE SWING

(Editorial)

Now's the time to "Get In The Swing" for more fun than you've ever had before—the Martin County Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Plans are almost final for the gala event, to be held July 10-18, and enthusiasm grows daily for the festivities ahead. The Jubilee is a grand opportunity for all Martin County citizens to renew old friendships and make new acquaintances.

For those who don't know it—the celebration marks the 75th birthday of Martin County, and each county resident can feel proud of this historic milestone. And all should join hands to salute this period in the county's history.

Jubilee officials hope each county community will join in the fun. Proceeds from sale of the different items of wearing apparel and permits go into a county charity fund, thus making the celebration a worthy one.

So "Get In The Swing" by donning your derbies and bonnets and let's show all Texas we've got just about the finest county anywhere.

GRADY GRADS GO UNDERWATER—Pictured is the graduating class of Grady School, Lenora, Texas, during its recent visit to the Aquarena, San Marcos, Texas. During their visit the students saw a performance in The World's Only Submarine Theatre, took a trip in a glass-bottom boat over the headwaters of the beautiful San Marcos River, and toured Texana Village where they saw many relics of Texas' history. ## Kangaroo Court To Be Established

Bobby Sale Wins New State Honor

Bobby Sale, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sale of Stanton, has been named winner of the State Fair Award of Honor.

The award is intended to give special recognition by the State Fair of Texas to one 4-H club girl and one 4-H boy from each

Plans for a Kangaroo Court to punish law-breakers of rules established by the Martin County Diamond Jubilee executive committee this week were completed, according to Stanton Jaycee president, Robert Herzog.

The first court session will be held Saturday, June 20, and each Wednesday and Saturday following this date through Jubilee week.

Local Jaycees wearing "Key-stone Cop" uniforms will serve as deputies to arrest offenders. A jail will be erected and a water trough set-up somewhere near The First National Bank. The judge and his jury members will be selected on the spot by the deputies, and court will be held on a flatbed truck near the jail.

Offenses range from failure to wear a derby to using lipstick without a permit. Penalties range from a stay in jail to an old-fashioned "dunking" in the trough. And both penalties plus a fine possibly will be imposed if the offense is serious enough or if the offender is a chronic law-breaker.

The Stanton Independent School District Board held its regular meeting Monday night.

The school calendar was adopted for the 1959-1960 administrative year with school opening set for September 8. Two teachers still are needed, and applications are being accepted now.

The board discussed the possibility of constructing new football stands. Previously the board agreed to build a fence around the stadium. Construction on the fence will begin within the next two weeks. Superintendent L. M. Hays will supervise the project.

Other action by the board included a vote to buy athletic and school insurance again and authorization to send Coach Harlin Dauphin and Assistant Coach John Bailey to the Texas High School Coaches' Clinic in Fort Worth later this summer.

The board hired Miss Carolyn Manning to assist in the tax office during the evaluation survey now being conducted.

Tax Complaints To Be Heard By City On 26th

The City of Stanton's Equalization Board has set Friday, June 26, as the date to review tax complaints from citizens.

The board, composed of members of the city council, will meet from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. at the City Hall on June 26. The board recently met on May 27, 28, 29 and 30.

Crop Prospects Brighten With May-June Rains

Martin County crop prospects continued to brighten this week as more rain fell over the county in Wednesday and Friday downpours.

Stanton gauged 21 of an inch of rain Friday following Wednesday's 2.5 inch deluge. Other sections of the county were equally fortunate. Lenora and Tarzan each measured 0.3 of an inch Friday and 1.5 inches and 1.8 of an inch Wednesday respectively.

Wednesday's rains were particularly productive with 1.5 inches falling at Courtney, 1.8 inches five miles west of Stanton, 2.0 inches 10 miles southwest of Stanton, 90 of an inch between Lenora and Wolcott and 30 at Wolcott.

Courtney received 2 of an inch Friday.

The heavy June rains followed a very wet May, greatly improving the prospect of a good cotton crop, particularly on dry-land spreads. Martin County yielded over 50,000 bales of cotton in 1958, according to County Agent Bob Johnson, who predicts an even more productive 1959.

"With the underground seasoning we've had, good weather and with few insects, we could beat the 1958 output this year," Johnson reports.

Year-to-date rainfall totals bear out the optimistic prediction. According to James Eiland, Stanton has received more than 10 inches since January 1. Lenora has gauged 5.87 inches and Tarzan about the same, according to weather watchers in those communities.

Citizens Urged To Cooperate—

Local Field Workers Begin City-County Property Evaluation

The joint property evaluation survey of the City of Stanton and Stanton Independent School District began Monday by field workers appointed by the two taxing agencies.

Stanton city officials and school board members last week agreed to the joint undertaking in an effort to render a fair market value to all property within Stanton's city limits, according to G. B. Shelburne, city judge and treasurer.

Shelburne is in charge of the evaluation and is being assisted by Mrs. James Manning, secretary and tax assessor-collector for the school district. Elmore Johnson and Harlin Dauphin, Stanton football coach, are serving as field workers.

City and school officials both urged full cooperation of the citizenry in the joint effort to place property values on a fair and equal basis. Field workers will call upon all Stanton residents to determine the property values.

Officials feel the field work will take at least two months to complete. Then an evaluation team will place final values on each piece of property within the city limits, using the Texas Assessors' Manual, an evaluation booklet used by most Texas cities in arriving at equitable property values. The manual has been prepared by some leading taxing agencies in the State of Texas.

Several Months Work

The final setting of evaluations will take several months but figures will be complete in time to use for 1960 values. Equalization hearings will be held as usual when final figures are decided.

Field workers Johnson and Dauphin will call upon all property owners. They will carry printed forms to record the various facts about the property such as its age, type of construction, floor space, and type of improvements. These forms will become permanent records for taxing officials and will be posted annually with any changes in property values.

Although the property owner

Howard Avery's Gold Caps combined the eight hit pitching of Farris and the slugging of Womack to streak by the Blue Caps, 10-7. Womack hit a three-run homer. Ed Wilkerson coaches the Blues.

Tech Student Selling Ads For Reporter

Roy Lemons of Gainesville, a student at Texas Technological College in Lubbock, this week is serving as advertising manager of The Stanton Reporter.

Lemons, an advertising major in the School of Business Administration at Tech, is "filling the shoes" of General Manager Neal Estes, who is vacationing in East Texas.

Lemons will be a Tech senior this fall and is serving a journalism internship at The Midland Reporter-Telegram this summer.

Campbell Quartet of Lubbock

The Stanton Quartet, which is made up of Grady Standefers, Claude Greenlee, Mike Anderson and Roy Polk of Midland, will also take part.

Horse Sense—And Tractors

The farm equipment companies of this country put safety high on their list of objectives. The machines are designed to reduce hazards of operation to a minimum. Yet an appalling number of accidents, many of a most serious nature, continue to occur each year.

The prime reason why this is so is simple: Individual carelessness, ignorance, and indifference.

An example, modern tractors have power take-offs. The revolving shaft presents a major hazard if left bare, so shields are provided. But to keep the shield properly in place is apparently an inconvenience to some farmers. So, it has been found, the shields are often removed—and injuries and fatalities follow.

A few years ago, at the Iowa State Fair, a little survey was made on the farm equipment accident question. Of some 600 people who filled out cards, only one thought the machines were at fault. All the others placed the blame on human frailty of one kind or another. They also made various suggestions like these: Slow down. Don't get too tired. Be alert. Follow manufacturers' instructions. Use the shields provided. Stop machines before adjusting or servicing. Use safety lights and reflectors when on public roads at night. Buy good machinery and maintain it properly. Keep children away from the machines.

Advice couldn't be simpler—or sounder. Safety, so far as modern farm equipment is concerned, is just a matter of down to earth horse sense.

FARM & RANCH REVIEW

Rising temperatures call for lighter meals and more liquids.

So when you serve something cold to drink, make it milk. This is a good way to make sure every adult of the family gets that daily pint of milk so necessary to good health, and that youngsters get at least a quart.

The Texas Extension Service suggests for something special, try this flip made with buttermilk. You'll need 6 tablespoons of fresh lime juice, 1/4 cup sugar, a dash of salt, green food coloring, 6 cups buttermilk and some fresh mint sprigs. Combine all ingredients except mint and mix well. Pour into cold glasses and top with mint.

Watch out for the small fry around the farm this summer advises the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. The council calls particular attention to the needless injuries and deaths which are caused from tractor accidents. Don't, the council cautions, permit extra rides on the farm tractor, especially a child.

At the 25th anniversary meeting of the Marfa Production Credit Association last week at Marfa, John Knight, secretary-treasurer of Marfa PCA, reported the PCA started business 25 years ago with a member capital of $45 and an abundance of faith in the future. During the past 25 years the member capital has grown to a total of $1,286,000 paid in capital and surplus and well over $116,000,000 has been loaned to farmers and ranchers in its 9-county territory.

Farm Journal, a leading magazine in its field, has polled its readers to find out just what kind of a government farm they really wanted.

Here's how the votes add up: 55% want total abandonment of supports and controls, and a return to the free market; 15% favor supports on an emergency basis only; 8% want adjustment supports which would permit a gradual return to normal markets over a period of time. In summary, 78% favor plans calling either for no support or for less support.

The farmers of Motley County are crying for dry weather so they can plant their 1959 crops. During the past month of May Motley County received 6.63 inches of rain, almost double the amount received in May 1958.

Wednesday night's rain was spotted over the agricultural belt in Martin County. The precipitation ranged in amounts of three-tenths of an inch at Wolcott in northwest part of the county to 2 1/2 inches falling in Stanton. The section 10 miles southwest of Stanton reported 2-inch rainfall.

No high winds or damaging hail accompanied the rain. The cloud was well charged with electricity from which vivid flashes of lightning illuminated the country around. The roar of thunder following the lightning was deafening.

The progress of growing crops in the county is well on the way and the promise of a good yield in the end is encouraging.

H. W. Cross, farming in north Glasscock County, was in Stanton Thursday. He reported his area received only 5 of an inch from last Wednesday's rain. But

County Philosopher Works Out Some Unusual Notions On Monkeys' Flight Out Into Space

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw adds his two-bits worth to the monkeys' flight into space. This is known as inflation.

Dear editor: As a student of space, by which I mean I guess I've started off into it as much as anybody, I have been very interested in reading about those two monkeys that were sent 300 miles out into space and successfully brought down.

That is, what has interested me most is what a lot of people have imagined the monkeys' reactions were to the flight, and while a lot of words were written about the "press conference" the two animals held in Washington, nobody seems to hit on what the monkeys' reaction probably was.

I can tell you. It was, and I will add it's also what the first space men will say too if they ever get out there and back: WERE SURE GLAD TO GET BACK HOME AGAIN.

I still say travel into space may be sort of like some men going off to war. At the time, it seemed like an exciting thing to do, they were sort of bored with life at home anyway, but after they'd been there a little while, home sounded like the most exciting place in the universe.

And as for the death of one of the space monkeys after it got back, I can explain that. Before it was sent up, it was put to sleep with an anesthetic so a small recording instrument could be placed under its skin, then when it got back, you know, it was given another anesthetic so the instrument could be removed.

Now here's the thing. Monkeys may not be as smart as people, although I'm not prepared to say this as I don't know as many monkeys as I do people, but that monkey wasn't so dumb and he thought, just as they started to give him that second anesthetic, the first time they did this to me, shortly afterwards I was put into a capsule and blasted 300 miles into space at 10,000 miles an hour.

The thought the second time around was too much for him and he died of shock.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

"Can I Stop In Time"

IT'S THAT TIME OF YEAR—vacation time for the motorist. He has his plans all made — where he is going, how to get there, and how long it will require him to make the trip. Hence, when he loads his baggage and family in the car and starts off down the highway, he pushes the throttle to the floorboard and away he goes at a terrific speed. If a tire blows out or some car mechanism goes out of "whack," the car goes out of control and there's a wreck. Very fortunate it may be if the entire family is not wiped out.

We all wonder what contributes to this "speed mania." Yet it's not so surprising. The holiday traveler wants to get to his destination in time for a last minute swim in the lake, or the baseball game, or just a few casts of the old fishing rod before dark.

This same traveler got a late start, he stopped enroute to visit friends or relatives and he must "make up that time," by crowding it a little—just a little you understand.

We wonder if this friend of ours who is "making up time" on the highway knows that . . . Safety is everybody's job. Each individual driver must ask himself—"Can I stop in time."

He can if he will take time to Slow Down and Live.

More car than this Impala Sport Coupe is hard to find at any price.

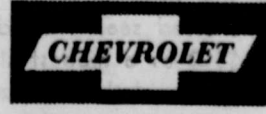

clings to curves like a cat on a carpet!
the travel-lovin' Chevrolet

Nothing else but a dyed-in-the-wool sports car like the Corvette can take a turn with the solid assurance of this sweet-handling Chevrolet. Drive it—and feel the extra smoothness and stability born of Chevy's better balance and supple full coil springs.

It's easy to see where Chevrolet gets its road sense. With big coil springs at every wheel, a firm, wider stance and all of its pounds distributed with painstaking care, Chevy's born with it. The only thing that may be hard to understand is how it can offer the ride it does, along with so many other luxury-car virtues, and still compete in the low-price field.

There's a world of difference between Chevrolet's coil springs at all four wheels and the leaf springs that most other cars still use. Take a Chevy down a snaky back road and you'll feel the difference in the sure way it holds through curves and shoots over rough spots with hardly a ripple. This one's made to travel and loves every minute of it.

We use the word compete only in the sense of price. For with a ride as special as Chevy's, real competitors are hard to come by.

Stop by your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's and sample Chevy's road sense!

Adventures in ADVERTISING

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER
(Also Sometimes Drygoods Selling)

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the world would never have known of Musa-shiya the Shirtmaker and the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched.

Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operated a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu.

When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he hid himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale.

"You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out."

This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

Two column by five inch ads then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked—in colorful pidgen English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads:

"Well here come storek again—but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby—especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makai side, between fish market and river."

Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii.

And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous.

Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.

(Continued from page 1) is not required to answer the field worker's questions, it would be to his advantage to do so, according to survey officials, since a fair value may not be reached if the worker does not see the property and talk to its owner.

This joint effort is the first of its type in Stanton, officials say, and will insure fair evaluations in the future for the first time in history. Larger Texas cities have used this or similar systems for some time.

Share Costs The school district and city council will share equally in the cost of the survey within the city limits. Field workers will receive $15 for each eight-hour day they work.

Officials cite two reasons for making the survey with local citizens: (1) Local citizens are more familiar both with Stanton property and its value and, (2) Survey will be conducted at less cost.

A professional evaluation company bid $8,000 to conduct the survey and officials feel it can be run locally for much less money.

The surveyors agree that some evaluations will be raised and some lowered. After the final evaluations are agreed upon by the taxing agencies and the citizens, annual adjustments will be made in the case of improvements or if fire, destruction or removal occurs.

Present city taxes are based on 35 percent of total evaluation with a $1.50 rate on each $100 of value. School taxes are based on 50 percent to total with a $1.60 rate on each $100. Whether or not the percentage figures will be changed, tax officials cannot say until the final evaluations are made.

Snooter Knows

THEY CAME, THEY SAW, AND were amazed. This could well express the sentiments of the hundreds of men, women, and children, who visited the formal opening of the new, spacious, and modern building of The Reporter-Telegram last Sunday afternoon.

James E. Kelly, editor; Neal Estes, business manager, and M. O. McKay, shop foreman of The Stanton Reporter, visited the opening.

Registering in the lobby the visitor was faced with a galaxy of beautiful bouquets, and the smiling face of Mrs. James N. Allison, Sr., and son, James N. Allison, Jr., stationed at the entrance to the executive offices, editorial offices, mailing room, mechanical department and press room to welcome the guests.

Employees and heads of departments were labeled as guides to take the visitors the rounds of the plant.

The affair was too stupendous for the writer to find words in his vocabulary to describe in detail.

The Reporter-Telegram plant involves an investment of $1,000,000. That statement in itself will give the reader an idea of the magnitude of the buildings and its equipment.

Sunday in advance of the formal opening, The Reporter-Telegram published a 136-page edition in 38 sections printed on the newly installed Scott Multi-Unit newspaper press. Salty Johnson is the master mind who operates the gigantic piece of machinery. James N. Allison, Sr., is publisher, and W. H. (Bill) Collins, is editor.

THREE BUFFALOES ARE marked to lead a herd of eleven bison who will make up the 1959 season's starting football squad of the Stanton High School Buffaloes. They are Dwayne Thompson, Norman Donelson, and Buzzy Brewer, selected as the tri-captains of the Stanton Buffaloes.

Congratulations go to these three lads for the fine record they made playing on their football squad, and the excellent results they attained participating in other athletic events. Their efforts won them the high honor of being selected tri-captains of next year's Stanton Buffaloes.

THE MALE CITIZENRY OF Martin County has been notified by proclamation, issued May 15, by Jim McCoy, County Judge of Martin County, that an organization has been set up known as "Brothers of the Brush" into which every male citizen is urged to become a member. The purpose of the organization is for each member to adorn his face with some sort of a growing beard to publicize Martin County's Diamond Jubilee Celebration — the event to be held July 10 to 18. The wearing apparel accompanying the beards (if you have the articles) may comprise the old-fashioned Prince Albert coat, "hard boiled hat" or derby, stove-pipe hat or top hat.

Something like a month remains before time set for the Jubilee — not too far distant for some male to get under the wire with a respectable growth of brush. The beards will help the looks of some, while others will not have to improve their mask to hold up our bank. These proclamations are in every business place in Stanton

West Texas Press Comments

Many farmers in the Munday area of Knox County report their crops were completely hauled out and washed out by the storm that visited the community Sunday of last week. One farmer whose potato crop would have been ready to harvest in a few days, lost it by hail.

A sad story in the Slaton Slatonite relates about the severe wind and rain storm that visited that section Tuesday of last week. The Slatonite said about 45 minutes of rain, hail and very high wind left its mark on Slaton. Roofs were torn from houses and other buildings, smaller buildings were picked up and set down several feet from their former location, cotton was ruined and trees destroyed. Rain totaled three inches.

The newly organized Chamber of Commerce at Big Lake is stepping out to do important things for its town. The Retail Merchants Committee of the organization had made arrangements to set up a Welcome to Big Lake service for newcomers, comprising a package which will include greetings from local participating merchants. A committee of women will deliver the packet of slips from individual merchants to each new family who moves to Big Lake, according to the Big Lake Wildcat. The membership of the new Chamber of Commerce has reached 131 and still is growing.

The Andrews school board has made across-the-board salary increases of $300 to local classroom teachers. The salary schedule adopted will provide a beginning salary of $4500 for a teacher with a bachelor of arts degree and a salary of $4800 for the teacher with a master's degree.

Mary Alice Cretsinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atchison of Graham, has been chosen to take part in the summer internship program sponsored by the Texas Press Association. Presently enrolled at Texas Technological College in Lubbock, Miss Cretsinger is majoring in journalism. She will work on the Pecos Enterprise. Publisher of the newspaper is Joe B. Pouns.

Under provisions of TPA program, an intern is hired by the newspaper for a 10-week period following the close of school. At the end of the training program, the newspaper will provide a $200 scholarship for the student, to be applied against the coming school year.

With its issue of last week the Post Dispatch started its 33rd year of publication. Editor Charlie Didway said: "Newspapering is not all fun and glamor. Mostly it's hard work, and some of that unpleasant. It's no way to win popularity contests — but newspaper folk take a lot of professional pride in trying to put out as good a reading newspaper as they know how, even if it hurts."

Last week the Van Horn Advocate started its 49th year of publication. Its 49 years demonstrate the people of Van Horn like to have their local newspaper "stick" around. Gene Dow, the present editor-publisher, bought the Advocate from O. R. Bennett, Sept. 1, 1958. Dow is the son of Melvin Dow, editor-publisher of the Wink Bulletin.

The Fort Stockton Pioneer reminds its readers that the wooden nickels, dimes and quarters souvenirs of the Fort Stockton Centennial celebration, are ready for distribution June 21. Operators of service stations, motels and cafes will ask tourists to purchase this wooden money.

The Crane News last week, besides its regular 8-page edition, published a 4-page display advertisement of the grand opening of a new grocery store. And in his editorial column, Editor A. D. Adair, mentioned a trip he and an employe made to Houston to bring back and install in the News' office a Linotype. This gives the news two Linotypes, a sure sign of the progress the News is making in its news coverage and taking care of the additional coverage asked by the merchants.

Just what a newspaperman gets who learned the trade by starting to work in the back end of the shops—the mechanical department to be exact. The shop foreman and Linotype operator of the Post Dispatch bought a newspaper at Knox City. This left the Post without a shop foreman or operator of the big Intertype. Charley Didway is editor of the Post. To lift the Post out of a hole, Didway rolled up his sleeves, hung up his editorial toga and seated himself at the Intertype, a position he held for three weeks, or until the Post had found another foreman and Linotype operator.

But Didway no more than completed his duties in the back shop when he adorned his editorial ermine and assisted his owner-publisher Jim Cornish, publish a 16-page edition of the Post's second annual Cotton Week edition.

An Abilene daily newspaper recently published a story about Baird and a picture of J. L. Ault, editor and publisher of the Baird Star. He was sitting at a Linotype performing his task of setting type for his weekly newspaper. Ault is filling the exalted position of Mayor of Baird.

A bit of historical fact printed about Baird was it was established in 1880 and named after Matthew Baird, a director of the T&P Railroad.

The Van Horn Advocate issued a 5-column 12-page tabloid section of the regular edition of eight pages devoted to the closing exercises of the Van Horn High School. The Journalism class of the school compiled most all the information and wrote most of the stories contained in the graduation section, reported the Advocate.

The directors of the Van Horn Chamber of Commerce have selected a new slogan for their town. It is, "Van Horn, Haven on the Highways." W. D. McElroy is the winner of the $15 first prize offered by the Chamber.

One of the largest cattle transactions completed in this portion of West Texas, was consummated Monday and Tuesday when Tom Good of Big Spring delivered to Kilpatrick Brothers of Beatrice, Neb., at the loading pens of the Santa Fe Railroad in Lamesa, 3,628 choice white face yearling steers. Because the loading pens at Lamesa were inadequate, it was necessary to divide the baby beves into two herds, loading one Monday and the balance Tuesday. This required two crews of cowboys and two chuck wagons. There were eighteen cowboys on the job. Good received approximately $91,000 for the shipment.

BIBLE COMMENT

The Last Supper Of Jesus Accents Fellowship Among All The Faiths

The Last Supper of Jesus with His disciples stressed the communion as the symbol of fellowship in the Christian Church.

This is marked to such an extent that denominations, or sects, are called "communions," even in their very separateness which denies the unity that ought to be in Christ.

For that, of course, there are historic reasons, which to a large degree are being overcome by many who in mind, soul and heart accept as fellow Christians all who love the Lord, regardless of barriers of organization and formal creed.

But there ought to be even deeper implications of fellowship as we contemplate that Last Supper in the upper room.

That Last Supper was the celebration by Jesus and His disciples of the Passover, the most sacred rite in the Jewish religion, which was their heritage as Jews and which Jesus said He had not come to destroy, but to fulfill.

The fact ought to give the Last Supper a significance that it has never had, either for Jews nor Christians, and a meeting place in fellowship that they have never found.

Surely the supreme task of all who believe in Christ and the fellowship of the upper room is to bring to reality and fullness in the world the spirit and the practice of brotherhood.

We know that there was one person present in that room with Jesus who renounced that spirit, who betrayed his Master. What we do not realize is that everyone who professes to share in the communion, but who does not live in its spirit of brotherhood, is more akin to Judas than to those who loved their Master.

To partake of holy communion "in remembrance of Jesus" is not merely an act of conformity, an expression of outward faith. Its reality is found only in a renewed commitment of the soul to the Christian way—the way of brotherhood.

Billy Houston's Memoirs Draw Area Attention

Rancher Billy Houston's World War II memoirs gained area headlines Sunday when the Big Spring Daily Herald published a D-Day anniversary story.

Houston, who ranches South of Stanton on the Claude Houston ranch in Glasscock County, was a recorder in the AEF headquarters information section in Algeria on D-Day. He recorded radio messages of D-Day announcements and last week dug them out for publication.

D-Day came June 6, 1944, and it was a day of celebration for most Europeans, for it marked the beginning of the long drive to retake Europe from the Germans. Houston's memoirs vividly recall the event of D-Day, as follows:

REUTERS at 8:10 a. m.—"The German-controlled Calais radio said this morning 'This is 'D Day'."

RADIO VICHY at 8:30 a. m.—Anglo-Americans attacked the Seine estuary early this morning (June 6). Heavy bombers attacked the Calais and Dunkirk areas. Great numbers of landing craft and other American light naval units were observed off eastern Normandy.

BRITISH BROADCASTING CO. at 9:40 a. m.—From the Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force: "Under the command of General Eisenhower, Allied naval forces, supported by strong air forces, began landing this morning on the northern coast of France."

REUTERS at 9:55 a. m.—SHAEF announced that "General Montgomery is in command of the Army group carrying out the assault."

REUTERS at 10 a. m.—Allied air activity in the early hours of daybreak was intense in the London district. The roar of planes brought people from their beds... Bombers were seen flying south...

GERMAN OVERSEAS SERVICE at 9:45 a. m.—The focal points of the attacks are in the entire area of Normandy and the most important points along the Seine bay. Considerable parts of the parachute formations... have been annihilated...

REUTERS at 10:45 a. m.—Hitler is taking personal command of all anti-invasion operations.

GNA at 10:55 a. m.—Additional strong landing formations... got a considerable beating by counter-attacking German reserves.

AMERICAN BROADCASTING STATION IN EUROPE—Communique No. 1 by SHAEF: "Under the command of Gen. Eisenhower, Allied naval forces, supported by strong air forces, began landing Allied armies this morning on the northern coast of France."

REUTERS at 12:50 p. m.—General Montgomery: "I have absolute and complete confidence... We are a great Allied team... I don't believe any other two nations (U. S. and Britain) could have done it."

GSA at 1 p. m.—British propaganda is very reticent with regards to the invasion... mainly confining itself to quoting German messages. London had promised 700,000 words a day... once the invasion is in progress.

REUTERS at 1:47 p. m.—Berlin: Tanks have landed in the area of Arromanches.

BBC at 3 p. m.—A leader of an American squadron said "I have never seen so many boats in all my life. At one harbor I sighted destroyers, cruisers, corvettes and other craft. Behind these came line after line of escorted landing craft..."

GNA at 3:45 p. m.—German forces launched a counter-attack which knocked out 35 enemy tanks at Annelles... these enemy tanks had been landed with great pains in the face of strong German artillery fire... Innumerable barriers on the beaches are rendering enemy landings extremely difficult."

BBC at 5 p. m.—A military observer watched troops going ashore and said "When the order to fire was given to the fleet it seemed like Hell had been let loose... Our assaulting infantry surges slowly ahead... wave after wave of khaki-clad figures surged up the beaches."

REUTERS 6:45 p. m.—A vicious battle is raging north of Rouen between powerful Allied paratrooper formations and German forces... the paratroops landed behind the Atlantic wall defense.

REUTERS—The invasion had been postponed for 24 hours. Weather conditions held up operations.

BBC at 8:25 p. m.—This evening the Soviet broadcast that "the moment has arrived when the main Anglo-American forces have joined the Red Army in the march to final victory."

GSA at midnight June 6—Allied losses are growing from hour to hour. Fighting is very hard because Anglo-American invasion troops are putting up a very stubborn defense, doing their utmost to hold positions they have won.

REUTERS at 12:55 a. m.—9th Air Force bombers, fighters and troop carriers flew more than 4,750 missions today (June 6).

REUTERS at 1:50 a. m.—The German Overseas New Agency said early this morning "The Allies now hold a bridgehead..."
