By JAMES E. KELLY

MOST OF THE TIME SINCE THE ad hog saw his shadow and scooted back into his hole to remain six more weeks of winter, the weather hasn't fooled him. Frigid weather has followed. A full-grown duster threw himself in one day as good measure. Couple of light snowfalls visited the area, one of which was laden with more rain than snow, much to the delight of the farmer and rancher.

DURING THE MONTH OF JANUARY, from the 3rd to the 30th, the State Health Department, reported a total of 66 cases of rabies. This number were discovered in 36 counties in the state. Out of the 66 animals affected with the disease, only 13 were dogs.

The rabies spread was found to exist chiefly among foxes and skunks.

The emergency measures consists of compulsory vaccination of owned dogs, stray dog impoundment and reduction of wildlife population, chiefly foxes and skunks, which are said to be the principal species involved in infection among Texas wildlife.

Our Public Schools

The need for the public school never changes, but times and conditions may change or require to be changed methods and practices of public education. This is inherent with anything that grows, for growth is the result of change.

Our Texas public school were created 106 years ago. In 1854 the first law was passed establishing the public school. It is a healthy thing in our democratic way of life to have intelligent understanding of the important functions of our basic institutions. This is especially true of schools. The initiative and resourcefulness and the wisdom and leadership that our schools are inculcating in the youth of today are the answer to the problems of citizenship in the years ahead.

Yes, "bring me men to match my mountains." That is the need of our times and must come from the public schools—schools that are strong in virtues required for building strong men and women.

We can be assured of this and do our part in understanding and helping the public schools to fulfill their great obligation to our times by being a participant in the annual Public Schools Week, February 28 through March 4. Schools will hold open house; accept their hospitality, and you will enjoy the experience of going back to school—if but for a day.

Census Time Near In U. S.

For the eighteenth time in its history, the United States is about to count noses.

On April 1, approximately 160,000 enumerators of the U. S. Bureau of Census will begin visiting some 60,000 urban and rural dwellings to list the social and economic characteristics of an estimated 180,000,000 persons.

First direct results of the 1960 census will be a reshuffling of the number of representatives in the State and Federal Legislatures. Later, new factories, schools, supermarkets and hospitals may be built because of what census figures tell about concentrations of people and their needs and wants.

A count of U. S. citizens is required every 10 years, and the first census in 1790 did little more than count 4,000,000 persons, including 500,000 slaves. Thomas Jefferson was the first census director.

Over the years, the Bureau of Census has built a reputation for strict protection of individual records, and answers collected remain confidential by law. Personal identities vanish in the compilation of statistics.

The 1960 census is expected to cost $118,000,000, compared with $135,000,000 in 1950. Savings are anticipated through advance census reports to be sent householders and use of machines to total the detailed information.

A REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

As a public service, The Stanton Reporter thinks the parents of motor scooter owners will be glad to have the following facts about the operation of the scooters in any city, town or on the highways of the state.

A motor scooter is designed and built for only one person—the operator. It is illegal to carry an extra passenger. Personal injury claim can be sued for and collected against the parents of scooter riders involved in an accident of any kind, if they are at fault. All scooters must be licensed.

Owners of motor vehicles must obey all traffic laws and city ordinances, including hand signals and stop signs. Proper lights are required for night riding.

In other words, a good way to lose the family jewels in a law suit, is to fail to have a talk with Junior about the responsibilities of operating a motor powered vehicle in the city limits or on the highways of the sovereign state of Texas.

Philosopher Comes Up With New Plan To Finance More Guided Missiles For U. S.

Editor's note: The Martin County philosopher on his Martin County grass farm on Mustang Draw claims he has solved the problem of financing an adequate defense program. It's doubtful.

Dear editor:

"Where're we gonna get the money?" seems to be the main problem confronting the experts who contend the United States ought to spend more for defense.

Some of the top missile and space scientists have testified they could do a lot more and close the missile gap if they had more money to work with, but on the other hand expert economists have testified that balancing the budget is important to survival too, there is such a thing as getting a nation too far in debt.

Since everybody is in favor of an adequate defense system, and everybody is in favor of a balanced budget, everybody in Washington seems stumped, they don't know where to turn to get more money for guided missiles, so I took off from work out here on my Martin County grass farm the past week and thought, "I now have a solution to the problem. Don't know why nobody has thought of it before."

The way to finance the guided missile program is to do it on the installment plan.

Here's the situation: most Americans seem to be on the installment plan; two-thirds of the cars sold are sold that way, three-fourth of the refrigerators, nine-tenths of the television sets, etc. Nearly everybody has weekly and monthly installment payments to meet, and how they do it nobody knows.

But they do it. Take television. A few short years ago, before television came in, everybody was loaded to the gills with installment payments, yet here came television and everybody bought a television set. They just added it to the load and kept grinding.

So, all Washington has to do to finance the missile program is pass a law adding say five dollars a month to everybody's installment payments. I figure that'd bring in about four billion dollars extra a year, and everybody knows survival is worth five dollars a month.

If not, have them look at it this way: if Russia, figuring we're unprepared, sends over its batch of intercontinental ballistic missiles and blasts this country, some of them are bound to hit most of the electrical power plants, and did you ever stop to think what life would be like every night with the electricity off and no television?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Love Helps To Bind The Cristian Home

Christian home don't just happen. They have to be made and it takes all the members of the family to make them. They cannot be made by parents alone, no matter how good and well intentioned the parents may be. And a love which implies mutual relationships and obligations should bind the family together.

Children need discipline and training, as well as affection and devotion. They need to learn to bear the burdens and responsibilities that would be theirs when they grow up, and it is no kindness to shield them from everything hard or unpleasant.

Sharing ought to be the spirit and practice of home life. Children ought to be trained to understand, and do their part in solving the problems of the home. Helping ought to be a part of every well-regulated Christian home. Little duties should be assigned to all. Hers, too training for the future is all important. The child who has not learned to do things is ill-prepared for life.

These things are inherent in the Christian way, and they are important factors in a happy home.

A home in which love is one-sided is off balance. The test of love is in the trials and hard things of life, and these are not avoidable in the home.

As Paul says, "Love suffereth long and is kind." And on these words Christian homes can be made, and kept.

It's just a matter of relativity—time seems to speed up as a person grows older because he is slowing down.

Nature events things up. A crow can't sing, but he's got 17 times as much sense as a mocking-bird.

"There are times," said Old Sorehead, "when I feel almost as insecure as if I were the Chihuahua in an Ohio zoo that has adopted as a playmate."

FARM REVIEW AND FORECAST

Agricultural legislation passed by Congress last year has real significance for cotton producers in 1960, and future seasons. The law establishes new provisions which cotton producers must follow if they are to maintain their allotments.

First, according to C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, if a farm allotment is under a Soil Bank contract or the Great Plains Conservation Program the allotments will be preserved. A limited number of producers are involved.

The next provision is likely to affect many cotton growers. Operators of farms not under Soil Bank contract or the Great Plains Program have two choices. They must plant at least 75 percent of the allotted cotton acreage or, release sufficient acreage to meet this 75 percent requirement to the county ASC committee for reapportionment to other growers in the county. For example, a farmer with a 50-acre allotment may decide to plant only 38 acres since this is over 75 percent, or he may plant 30 acres and release as few as 8 acres to be distributed to others.

The third stipulation of the new law requires that cotton must be planted on the farm holding an allotment one year in three. This means that producer could release his cotton allotment for two successive years, but the next year must plant at least 75 percent of his allotment in order to preserve the full acreage.

Most severely disabled self-employed farmers who qualify for disability benefits will not receive their first monthly check before May, 1960, according to H. P. Thomas, district manager of the Odessa social security office. The first payment in May is for the month of April.

Farmers who become covered under social security for the first time in January 1955 will have obtained the required 20 quarters of coverage (5 years) in October 1959. After the work requirement is met, the law requires that a person be disabled for six months before payment can be made. A six-month waiting period commencing with October 1959 will permit payment starting with April 1960.

Although many of these disabled farmers will not have paid for the required five years of coverage until they file their 1959 farm self-employment tax return, they should inquire now about disability benefits. This will help speed the handling of the disability claim.

A sharp break in cattle prices is not likely in 1960, but we are entering a period which calls for wariness, is the latest word from John McHaney, extension economist. The small increase in cattle slaughter for 1960, together with a large hog slaughter, will take the bloom off cattle prices.

The USDA's plentiful foods list for March is made up of 16 important foods and is headed by pork and eggs, two high protein foods. Food markets in many areas feature special sales on these foods as the industry tries to bring demand and supply into balance. Economy and wide selection are in favor of consumers who serve plentiful foods often.

stock. C. H. Mates, extension farm management specialist, says if allowable depreciation on livestock is not claimed each year, the operators loses his depreciation. Every ranchman or livestock producer should discuss this question with whosoever makes his tax report. Many tax accountants have devised sheep for keeping continuous depreciation records on the same animals for a period of years, the specialist adds.

Last year 1959 was pronounced a busy year for the State Game and Fish Commission, according to the director of wildlife restoration. Biologists worked with everything from high horn sheep in the Trans-Pecos Mountains to white-winged doves in the Rio Grande Valley and Mexico, and turkey in East Texas.

There were 236 deer, 107 turkeys and 255 javelinas trapped on the King Ranch. About 150 turkeys were trapped on other private ranches and used for restocking purposes.

Storage facility failure, concrete in storage construction, the USDA's views on grain drying, wet grain, insects and marketing grain abroad are some of the topics to be discussed March 2. Three panel groups will cover grain drying, grain aeration and grain storage structures in the afternoon session.

Five state senators plan to see — if they can — which way Texas government is going in the next 10 years, and how much it will cost.

The Cost of Government Study Committee organized Thursday what its members admitted will be a major task.

He indicated he thinks the committee's most useful work will be in charting the long-range course of state government.

Colonel Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that entrance examinations will be given April 12, 13 and 14 in cities throughout the state to young men interested in the patrolmen positions.

The state police director said exams will be given April 12 in Tyler, Beaumont, Harlingen, Midland, El Paso, Lubbock and Austin. And on April 14 the examinations will be given in Fort Worth, Houston, San Angelo, San Antonio and Wichita Falls.

Garrison said young men between 21 and 35 years of age have until April 1 to file applications for these important positions. They must be a graduate of high school, be in good physical condition and of good moral character. Applicants must be not less than 68 inches or more than 76 inches tall and weigh not less than two pounds or more than three pounds per inch of height.

He said requirements are rugged, but that the results will be rewarding for those who are selected to join the corps of well trained law enforcement officers.

Complete information may be obtained by writing to the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin, or by contacting the nearest regional or district DPS office.

Autos Kill 441 Deer In Period From '55-1959

A total of 441 deer, 16 turkeys, and 3 javelinas were killed in Kimble County by automobiles during a five year period from 1955 through 1959, according to a report received by the director of wildlife restoration, Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Robert S. Evins, game warden at Junction, compiled the report with information turned in by various peace officers and citizens of Kimble County.

Of the 441 deer, 27 were does and 171 were bucks. Of the turkeys, three were gobblers and 13 were hens. One of the three javelinas was a female.

An estimated error of 10 per cent was used in determining the number of game animals that had gone unreported or unrecorded. Evins said, "If this 10 per cent error had been included with the number of game animals actually found along the roadside, the total for the five year period would swell to about 500 deer, 20 turkeys, and 5 javelinas." Approximately $49,900 was paid by auto owners for damage caused by car-game collisions.

Of all the deer reported during the five years, 101 were reported in time for the meat to be salvaged. About 7,366 pounds of meat was saved and distributed to needy families in the county, while approximately 19,743 pounds of meat was not reported in time to be salvaged, and was wasted.

"It's not a law violation to accidentally hit a deer on our highways," said the director. "If you do hit one, move it off the road and leave it there, then contact your game warden or peace officer immediately, so the meat can be saved."

"CORVAIR HANDLES BETTER, STEERS MORE EASILY, RESPONDS MUCH MORE QUICKLY AND HOLDS THE ROAD MORE SECURELY THAN ANY STOCK FOUR-DOOR SEDAN EVER MADE IN THE U.S."
—Jim Whipple, Car Life

If you think we're enthusiastic about Corvair, leaf through the leading automotive, sports and science magazines and see what the experts are saying. Then, by all means, drive one yourself.

"Corvair's steering is so light that at parking speeds it feels power assisted; it is so precise as to be absolutely without play, and it is fast enough to allow complete control over every situation."
—Karl Ludvigsen, Sports Cars Illustrated

"Steers like a feather and is extremely quick. . . This is a beautifully designed automobile, engineered by real pros. . ."
—Tom McCahill, Mechanix Illustrated

"Most surprising thing to me outside of the excellent handling characteristics was the feeling of roominess inside. . . I didn't have the sensation of driving a small car and the headroom was greater in the Corvair than in some standard size cars. . ."
—L. H. Houck, Automotive News

"So far as shopping goes, the Corvair is a housewife's dream. It's small and easily maneuvered without any power steering, and so easily parked . . . it's a lot easier to unload a cart full of groceries into a front trunk at the supermarket than it is into a rear one."
—Rosemary Francis, Popular Science

"I want to state as firmly as I can that the Corvair handles as beautifully and is as safe as—if not safer than—any family car on the road today."
—Jim Whipple, Car Life

"There is none of the typical whine normally associated with rear-engined vehicles. Inside the car, the effect is quite unlike anything we have ever experienced. It almost seems that there is no engine, and the general effect is so quiet as to be almost uncanny."
—John R. Bond, Road & Track

"No written word can suffice for the genuine pleasure that you will receive behind the wheel of America's newest and most advanced contribution to transportation. . . It is a great car."
—Don Stewart, Motor Life

Double Ring Rites Unite Miss Nowlin, Mr. Clements

Double ring rites were read for Shirley Gene Nowlin and Courtney Clements Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church, Stanton, with the Rev. W. C. Wright, pastor of the church, hearing the vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Nowlin; parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Jack Jagers and the late H. L. Clements.

An arch of greenery was enhanced with a scattering of white gladioli and was flanked with tapers. Baskets of white glads decorated the altar.

Music was provided by Mrs. Ernest Hook, organist, and Sherry Baker, pianist, who accompanied the soloists. These included Jonni Hill, who sang "The Wedding Prayer" and Jan Smith, who sang "Because of You," climaxed it with "Lord's Prayer."

Flowers To Mothers
As the bride was escorted down the aisle by her father, who gave her in marriage, she paused to give a flower from her bouquet to her mother. Following the ritual, she presented a flower to the mother of the bridegroom as she was led by him from the altar.

The bridal gown, fashioned of white satin and Chantilly lace held a back interest of rows of lace in bustle effect; the front of the full skirt was a lace panel. Long sleeves tapered to points. Seed pearls crusted the bandeau which held in place the fingertip bridal veil; the bride carried a white Bible with a white gladiolia tied in a cascade of ribbons and tiny buds.

For tradition, she named her wedding dress as the something new; Her headdress had been borrowed; a blue garter was presented to her by Miss Hill, and the something old was a strand of pearls. Birthdate pennies were carried in the bridal slippers.

Claudeen Nowlin attended her sister as maid of honor; bridesmaids were Edwenna Shain of Midland and Roberta Fuqua of Sweetwater.

Identically attired, the trio wore emerald satin sheaths trimmed with emerald chiffon streamers which floated from bows on the low back necklines. All three wore emerald accessories and half hats with brief veils. Heart-shaped necklaces worn by each were gifts from the bride, and their bouquets were in the shape of a ring with a tog of gladiolia and satin ribbon.

Jan Tippit was flower girl and Tony Tippit carried the rings on a white satin pillow; both children are cousins of the bride.

Herma Lee Clements was his brother's best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Corky Blocker, Robert Wilkerson and Jimmy Butler, all of Stanton, and Jerry Taylor of New Mexico, and Bill Pittman, Midland.

Reception
A reception honored the couple in the banquet hall of the church, where they were assisted by their parents and the wedding party in receiving guests.

Emerald net with a floor length ruffle made the overplay on the bride's table, where candles lighted the bouquets of the feminine attendants. White frosting roses recanted the three-tiered wedding cake which held a bridal couple.

Serving was done by Betty Smith, Sara Mott, Lucy Miller and Mary Sara Mott, Lucy Miller, Mary Ann Asbill, and Barbara Smith at the bride's book.

Guests attended from Odessa, Big Spring, Monahans, Lamesa, Sterling City, Abilene, Sweetwater, Lubbock, Gatesville, Midland, Roswell and Portales, N. M., and Snyder.

The new Mrs. Clements, graduate of Stanton High School, attended Howard County Junior College and Hardin-Simmons University. The bridegroom, also a Stanton graduate, attended Arlington Junior College and San Angelo Junior College. He is now a student in Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, where the couple will make a home.

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

GOLDSMITH wrote: "And in that town a dog was found, as many dogs there be, both mongrel, puppy, whelp and hound, and curs of low degree." WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE also wrote: "Let HERCULES do what he may, the cat will mew and dog will have his day." SWIFT wrote: "Every dog must have his day." As a long time lover of dogs, and owner of several in our boyhood days, we realize how important dogs are to their owners, and for that matter, to every man, woman, and child in the country. But, a true dog lover and owner of a fine canine animal is not fulfilling the duties of a master, when he lets his canine 'get out of bounds.' Stanton is filled up with man's favorite pets, and some of the owners are not taking proper care of their dogs. Complaints have been registered about the nocturnal medley being staged by the canine chorus. We maintain that only hungry, sick, or mistreated and neglected dogs bark at night. So what? Let's have more cooperation from the owners and to repeat the words of SWIFT, every dog must have his day, but let's make the canines so comfortable the people can have the town at night.

CURTIS ERWIN is one of the finest men in all West Texas. Note aside to CONNIE MACK HOOD—"Let that Aggie pass boy." Truly, you don't blitzkrieg CURTIS politically or otherwise. He is an independent thinker and does not hesitate to express opinions. The other evening over in ALTON TURNER'S grocery store we chanced to meet CURTIS pushing a basket. MARY, his wife, had sent him down town to buy some items, and we remember of seeing a jar of mustard in the shopping cart. Before CURTIS got through lambasting our candidate for president we felt like that mustard was all spread and over our face. Free discussions will keep America free. Anytime everybody goes along with somebody in any kind of contest then this country will have lost part of a heritage we have all treasured through the years, Yes, CURTIS can take the high road, and I'll take the low road, but both of us will be together when the votes are all counted come November.

Congratulations are in order for CONNIE MACK HOOD for the fine job he turned in as master of ceremonies for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet held a few evenings back. HOOD has been drafted for this important chore for the past three years. His keen mind, brilliant wit, and fine looks make him an ideal choice. It has occurred to your writer that the nation needs men like CONNIE MACK in public office in a major capacity. He is currently serving as a member of the school board on the local level, but his ability to serve on a broader level is obvious. Texas needs to start looking around for young men from the ranks of the people. This old bugaboo about seniority in some office being good for a town, community or nation is so much hogwash. Authors of that kind of political philosophy dreamed is up as so much propaganda and to ward off any possible chance for a young American to gain a national office. THERE HAS TO BE A FIRST TERM AND A FIRST TIME for every candidate. What did the incumbents do to unseat the officeholder? Does a man have to die in office before he can be succeeded? Why teach government and civics in school without the guarantee that public office is a public trust and every American boy has the right to run and win if he can get the votes. Now you are saying, "What has this to do with CONNIE MACK HOOD?" Nothing, absolutely nothing, but young men like him are needed and if he ever does decide to seek some sort of high political office we'll sure vote for and support him.

In an interview in Houston Saturday, SENATOR WAYNE MORSE, (D-Ore.) counted SENATORS KENNEDY AND LYNDON JOHNSON out as possible winning candidates for the presidency. It is summarized that he put the k.o. on LYNDON because he was a Southerner and on JOHN because he is a Catholic. WHAT'S MORSE? Anyone finding out the true definition for the long earned individual communicate it to the pad — we'll launch it!

Voters In Democratic Primaries To Be Labeled Party Members

Everyone voting in this year's Democratic primaries will receive a certificate labeling him a Democrat—even if he happens to be a Republican, Sam Houston, Martin County Democratic chairman, reported Friday.

The new "party affiliation" law provides that judges at the polls shall stamp "Democrat" on the poll tax receipt, if any, of each person voting in a Democratic primary.

Exemption certificates likewise will be so stamped.

What about a person more than 60 years old, residing in a place having fewer than 10,000 population, therefore automatically exempt from poll taxes but not required to have an exemption certificate? The law provides that the election judge shall issue such a voter a special certificate showing that the voter participated in the Democratic primary and showing him to be a Democrat.

Suppose a voter has lost his poll tax receipt or exemption certificate? The election judge shall issue a special affidavit of loss. This will show the voter's participation in the primary and the fact that he is a Democrat.

Presentation of a poll tax receipt, exemption certificate, special certificate, or affidavit of loss—duly stamped "Democrat" and indicating that the holder has voted in the party primary—shall be the only means of gaining entrance to Democratic Party precinct conventions.

The new election law also requires that the party-preference space on a poll tax receipt or exemption certificate must remain blank until stamped by an election judge.

The first primary will be held May 7, and the second primary June 4. Absentee voting for the May 7 election will be conducted from April 17 to May 3.

Texas Retail Sales Decline

Sharply lower sales of nondurable goods in January were largely responsible for an over-all 24 per cent decline from December in Texas' total retail sales, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

Total retail sales in Texas were estimated at $1,041,700,000 for January, a decline of 6 per cent compared with January 1959. Nondurable were down 29 per cent for the month while durables dropped only 7 per cent.

"On the whole, lower January sales of the various major categories of nondurable goods paralleled the expected seasonal declines," the University of Texas agency said.

"Volume of apparel sales, which usually falls about 45 per cent from December to January dropped 40 per cent. Drug stores sales, down 23 per cent compared with a normal seasonal 26 per cent decline, was one of the two classifications in nondurable to show a sales gain because of the prevalence of flu over the state and higher purchases of medicines."

Gasoline and service station sales were up 7 per cent.

The report said general merchandise store sales showed the greatest variation from customary seasonal trend—expected to decline about 49 per cent they actually dropped 57 per cent from December and were 3 per cent below January a year ago."

Of 28 Texas cities reporting January retail sales only three showed gains over January 1959—Beaumont up 3, Sherman up 2 and Wichita Falls up 1.

Cattle Sales Must All Be Reported On Income Tax Returns

The sale of cattle is subject to income tax, no matter what use the proceeds are put to, according to Ellis Campbell Jr., Dallas District Director of Internal Revenue Service.

Numerous questions at farm tax schools have pointed up misunderstanding on the part of some farmers. The sale of cattle, land, and other farm capital assets are taxable no matter whether the proceeds are reinvested in similar property or not.

There is one exception in the case of condemnation proceedings or other involuntary conversion. Farmers having a problem in this area were advised to get a free copy of the "Farmer's Tax Guide" from their County Agent or the Internal Revenue Service.

Veterinary Treatment Adapted For Humans

Medical techniques originally devised to treat animal ailments have frequently been successfully adapted for treatment of human beings, according to Dr. R. D. Turk, head of the Veterinary Parasitology Department of Texas A&M College.

In an article in the current issue of the Texas Veterinary Medical Journal, Dr. Turk is quoted as saying that veterinary medicine has often led to newer and better methods of human medication and treatment.

"Steel pins, first used by veterinarians to support broken bones in dogs, are now used for the same purpose with humans," Dr. Turk said. "Veterinarians also pioneered the use of spinal anesthesia, and animal vaccine research has been helpful in developing human disease controls, the Salk polio vaccine being a famous example."

The veterinary professor also said that dicoumaol, now frequently used in human heart cases to prevent blood clotting, was developed by animal doctors seeking a remedy for bleeding disease in clover-fed livestock.

The Birth of Industry

Eli Whitney, best known for the cotton gin, goes into history as the nation's first tool and manufacturing engineer. His 60 years of struggle gave birth to the American Industrial Revolution and mass production.

The American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers presents an annual Eli Whitney award—to the man contributing most to the profession.

With tools he designed and built...a handful of helpers...and a government contract, he managed to supply thousands of muskets to the American War Department. From this meagre beginning evolved the abundance of today's conveniences.

Today—inheritors of his skill—tool and manufacturing engineers—are the backbone of industrial mass production. Their code...precision and productivity, their contribution...better American living.

Social Security Taxes Increased On January 1

A good many people have kept up with the fact that social security rates increased on January 1, 1960. The papers have carried the stories, but there appears to be need for further information. Here is a bulletin on the increase directly from the Social Security Administration's office in Odessa.

Starting January 1, 1960, the social security tax rate was increased from 2½ percent of wages, paid by employees and employers, to 3 percent by employees and a like amount by employers.

The 3½ percent of net earnings paid by the self-employed for 1959 was increased to 4½ percent of net earnings for 1960.

Since its inception in 1935 the social security program has grown phenomenally both in coverage, beneficiary categories, and the amount of benefit payments. Starting as a retirement program for the protection of the aged wage earner, it has now become a family insurance program protecting not only the wage earner, but the self-employed as well, in old-age, total disability, and the family in case of the worker's death.

In 1937 the social security tax rate was 1 percent by employees and 1 percent by employers. This low tax rate was adequate under the restricted retirement provisions on the original Act and sufficient to maintain a self-supporting program.

The self-supporting principle in social security program financing has been sustained through the years by periodically increasing social security tax rates to take care of higher benefit payments, extended coverage, and other improvements.

The new increased social security contribution rates maintain the self-supporting feature of the program and by its actual soundness assures future payments to all eligible beneficiaries.

Those desiring further information are invited to contact the Odessa social security office at 1428 East 8th Street, telephone FEderal 2-9423.

Vel Question Box

The following information was released by the Veteran's Administration and we are passing it along for the news interest it might hold for veterans in this area.

Q—We have a neighbor, a widow of a World War II veteran, who formerly was not eligible for pension. She will be, under the new pension law. We'd like to help her. What points in the new law should we emphasize to her?

A—To qualify for pension, widows and orphans of World War II and Korea veterans formerly were required to show that the veteran at time of death had some service-connected disability. This is not necessary, under the new law which becomes effective July 1. To be eligible, your neighbor need only show that her veteran husband was in active service 90 days or more and was discharged under other than dishonorable conditions, and that her income does not exceed legal limits.

Q—Mostly when you hear about veterans, it's about men. Aren't women veterans also eligible for the benefits VA administers?

A—Yes. Women veterans are eligible for the same benefits and under the same conditions as men. There is no differentiation as to eligibility in the law.

Q—Is a "peacetime" veteran with a disability rated 50-percent entitled to more compensation for dependents?

A—Yes. Peacetime veterans rated 50-percent or more disabled may be entitled to additional compensation for a wife, minor children, or dependent parents.

Q—Is it possible to get a replacement for a lost discharge?

A—Yes. Write to: Department of Defense, Military Personnel Records Center, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis, Missouri. Give them your branch of service and tell them you want a Certificate in Lieu of Discharge.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

With an eye on the growing cost of government and need for new taxes, a committee from the Texas Senate has launched an economy study.

Overall state budget for the present two-year spending period is $328,000,000 more than for the previous two-year period. It was an increase of about 11 per cent. There is every indication that the next Legislature will be faced with demands to raise salaries and expend and improve state services in approximately the same proportion.

Some of the cost increase is attributed to sheer quantity. With Texas population increasing an estimated 26 per cent from 1950-60, there are more youngsters to educate, more patients for state hospitals, more cars wearing out the roads.

More significantly, he percentages of oldsters and youngsters is increasing faster than the percentage of middle-aged people. Older and younger people generally up revenue needs—for welfare benefits and schooling — but contribute less in taxes than income-earning middle-agers.

Some of the increase in costs results from a drive for quality—better schools, hospitals and highways. With undeniable money needs so great, the Senate committee was set up to seek out any indications of extravagance or waste and "see if we are getting our dollar's worth for the money we're spending."

As a starter, the committee, headed by Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney, agreed to hold its own expenses to the bare minimum.

BRIDGES TOO LOW — State Highway Department Engineers are faced with the task of re-designing bridges for the interstate highways to conform with a U. S. Defense Department requirement for a 16-foot clearance.

Texas has 254 bridges in the interstate system which do not meet the newly announced overhead clearance requirement.

U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, which works with the Highway Department in planning the joint federal and state road system, has specified only a 14 1/2 foot clearance.

Bridges cost approximately $140,000 apiece, and re-designing to meet the new standards would cost about 55 per cent of the original cost. By-passes for transport of missiles and other defense equipment are being considered.

We Rate Far Ahead Of Reds In Electric Power Output

The continued argument about whether the United States or Russia is predominant in the production of guided missiles overlooks another important measure of a nation's strength—the production of electric power and its efficient distribution, a field in which the U. S. holds a wide margin of superiority, J. B. Thomas, president of Texas Electric Co., said this week.

At the end of 1959, the United States had more than three times the generating capacity for electric power than the Soviet Union, Thomas reported. This is one of the greatest advantages this country possesses, he added.

A report on Russian electric power developments just released by the Edison Electric Institute sets out the findings of two delegations of American electrical industry leaders who toured the Soviet Union at the request of the United States State Department and makes clear that this country will continue to increase its lead over Russia in electric power supply during the next five years, Thomas stated.

The report estimates that the total capacity of the United States in 1965 will be 245 million kilowatts, as compared with the Russian goal of 110-112 million kilowatts. This is a difference of 134 million kilowatts.

Information in the report, Thomas as pointed out, tends to correct any impressions that Soviet Russia is in any way likely to outstrip the United States in the production of electric power.

In the field of power transmission, Thomas reported that in 1967 Russia had only about 46,500 miles of power transmission lines of 35,000 volts and above. That years the United States, with about one-third Russia's area, had more than five times as many miles of comparable transmission lines, a total of 240,000 miles.

Thomas also said the relative standard of living of the peoples in Russia and in the United States might well be measured by the average residential use of electricity which is about a 400 kilowatt-hours a year in Russia and 3,500 kilowatt-hours a year in the United States.

IRS Officer Bell Lists Tax Errors

With income tax season in full swing, we asked Russell G. Bell, Administrative Officer of the Midland office, to furnish a list of the most common taxpayer errors in filing 1959 tax returns. The errors are:

(1) Many taxpayers are filing a separate Form 1040-A for each W-2 they received during the year. These taxpayers worked for several employers and do not realize that they should total their income and the tax withheld on one Form 1040-A.

(2) Many returns are being received that have not been signed. Some of these are joint returns that must be signed by both husband and wife.

(3) Errors in arithmetic. This is an old complaint and many taxpayers are failing to check their arithmetic again this year.

(4) Claiming a deduction for cigarette tax. Cigarette tax is not deductible in Texas.

(5) Claiming no exemptions for self. The taxpayer is entitled to at least one exemption. A wife cannot file a separate return and fail to claim the exemption for herself in Texas since she must split the total family income with the husband under community property law. A school child is entitled to his or her own exemption in addition to the father claiming the exemption under a special provision of the law.

(6) Failing to observe community property laws in Texas. Husband and wife must file a joint return or split the income under community property law in Texas. Taxpayers who move to Texas from other states find this provision hard to understand.

(7) Many taxpayers are filing a Form 1040-A or Form 1040-W when interest income of more than $200 requires that they file a Form 1040. These taxpayers should get a Form 1040 from the nearest post office, bank or Internal Revenue Service office and file the correct form.

(8) Failure to list dependents. The names of the dependents must be listed in order to avoid delaying the refund.

(9) Taxpayers using the Form 1040-W are reversing the entries on wages and taxes withheld. The 1040-W form is printed backwards from the 1040.

(10) Many 1040-A's are being received showing only the taxpayer's name, the employing companies or company, and the amount of tax withheld. No information on the amounts of wages received is listed. Other 1040-A's are being received where taxpayers who worked for more than one employer during the year failed to total their wages, amounts, and also the amounts of tax withheld. The taxpayer must list his wages and his employers' names or Internal Revenue will have to return his tax form to him to correct the error. The Internal Revenue Service ad-

I Give You Texas

By BOYCE HOUSE

Can you remember when, to keep his straw hat from sailing away—they were called "sailors," by the way—a man had a little black cord, one end of which was attached to the hat and the other end was hitched in the button-hole of the coat lapel? That's one fashion that should never have been abandoned—as far as West Texas is concerned.

Ammeringer, as a member of the Grand Army Band, was on hand when the delegations arrived by train and the band would then lead the parade to McKinley's home. The young musician heard all but one of McKinley's speeches.

When Bryan was to speak in Canton, Ammeringer went to hear him—but did not. The speech was made from the rear of the train. The crowd was so vast that Ammeringer was unable to get close and, when Bryan began to speak, it seemed that "every switch engine in the state was slamming and bumping more cars around than I ever dreamed could be assembled in Canton's modest switchyard. Odd, how they happened to be busy just then."

An interesting sidelight on the Bryan-McKinley campaign of 1896 is provided by Oscar Ammeringer in his "If You Don't Weaken" (Henry Holt and Company). Ammeringer lived in Canton, Ohio, which was the home of the Republican presidential nominee. McKinley, it will be recalled, conducted a "front porch" campaign while Bryan made the most extensive speaking tour the nation had ever seen. After hearing all but one of McKinley's speeches and not hearing Bryan at all, whom did Ammeringer vote for? He voted from Bryan.

Why do people wait until the first norther hits before they take sweaters of winter clothing to the cleaners?

When I was editing a small West Texas daily, I wrote three true crime articles which magazines bought for a total of close to $1,000. And yet you hear it said that "crime doesn't pay."

Mr. and Mrs. June Graham and children are visiting in Durango, Colorado with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Edwards.

Guy Spinks, of Midland, was in Stanton Saturday visiting with friends.

Mrs. Jess Bradley of Colorado City and Mrs. Harvey Baker of Sweetwater visited in Stanton Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mims were in Abilene, Stamford and Sweetwater over the weekend visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pribyla of Bomarton, Texas, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pribyla and Mr. and Mrs. George Pribyla here over the weekend.

Weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Horace Blocker were their sons, L. and Mrs. Norman Blocker of Ozona Air Base and Corky Blocker of Texas Tech in Lubbock.

All About Dogs

Civic Minded Dog

Man's best friend is just that. But dogs often can be the source of a lot of neighborhood troubles because their owners don't care or know about "canine good neighbor policy."

Many dog owners aren't good neighbors simply because they don't realize that dogs don't have a sense of civic responsibility. After all, they don't use human standards.

One of the pet peeves that can upset even the most amiable neighbor is a roaming dog. Dogs become neighborhood runners because they are ignored by their owners.

To train your dog to stay at home simply tie a rope on his collar and then have someone call him from outside the yard limit. When he reaches the edge give the line a strong jerk and shout "no!" Be sure to do this for all four sides of the yard. Don't forget, always praise your dog liberally when he does as you command.

More advice on how to keep your neighbors and dog happy can be found in a new booklet, "Being A Good Dog Neighbor", which you can get free. Just write to Purina Dog Care Division, Ralston Purina Company, Checkerboard Square, St. Louis 2, Missouri.

The booklet also contains hints on stopping a barking dog, female protection and yard manners.
