Disaster Officials Emphasize All Rules For Safety In Tornado Threat

The county's civil defense and disaster committee reiterated precautions to take should a tornado threaten the area.

Time permitting, and facilities available, go to a storm cellar, advised the officials.

If in open country, move at right angles to the tornado's path. The twister moves at about 25 to 40 miles per hour. If there's no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch.

In town, best protection is in a steel-reinforced building. But stay away from windows, or buildings with many windows.

At home, if no storm shelter or basement is available, the southwest corner of the house offers greatest protection.

Lying on the floor of the corner and covering with a mattress offers a measure of protection. If time permits, cut off electricity and fuel lines. Open windows on the north and east sides of the house to help reduce building damage.

Persons in brick or stone houses should seek other shelter.

And, above all, advised officials, don't panic.

After a disaster, don't try to telephone. Stay at home or at the nearest intact shelter. Telephoning and aimless or panicky driving will only hinder rescue workers and medical aid teams.

Sunday Is Father's Day

By GUY BROWN

This Sunday we will all be out to pay our respects to the Dads of America and we hope, in some measure, show our appreciation to the fraternity of fatherhood. I'll be with my Dad and it is my wish that everyone be privileged to enjoy the comradeship for this special day with his Dad.

The best way for everyone to observe Father's Day is to be in church with your Dad on his day. Those of you who have Dads are fortunate indeed and just for this one day in the year, turn your thoughts to him who loves you for he never falters when the going gets rough.

Philosopher Up In Arms Over Suggestion That Time Clocks Be Installed On Tractors

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw is alarmed over a new proposal, which somebody apparently was kidding him about.

Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a newspaper which fell out of a teen-ager's car as he rounded a corner out here near my farm yesterday, Congress is working on a new minimum-wage law, but I couldn't find a word about a minimum wage for farmers.

I was talking about this with a neighbor this morning and he said he had been giving some thought to this problem too and had concluded the way to solve the farm problem is pay a farmer a guaranteed wage.

"Yeah, but how you gonna figure out how many hours he works?" I asked him.

"Easy," he said. "I already figured it out. Just put a time-clock on his tractor, one on his barn door, one on his pasture gate, etc., and at the end of the year he'll have an accurate record of how many hours he worked. Then the government could decide how much per hour he ought to have to hold his own with steel workers, T.V. repairmen, auto repairmen, etc., figure up how much he got for his crops, and send him a check for the difference."

Now I have no objections to getting checks from the government, but I would like to say right now I have absolutely no use for time-clocks. I just don't want any accurate record of how many hours I spend on a tractor. It's un-American. It's none of the government's business.

Farming is sort of like editing newspaper. How would you like to have to punch a time-clock every time you sat down to your typewriter? With the clock running only while you were actually typing? Farming is the same way. If you're entitled to sit and stare at your typewriter, why don't I have the same right to sit and stare at my tractor? Or my grubbing hoe, or my ax, or anything else? You don't pay yourself by the number of sheets of paper you run through your typewriter, do you? No. And I don't want to be paid by the number of trips I make up one row and down another.

Editing and farming both ought to be kept on a high intellectual level. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Pruning Helps Control Trees

Pruning is one way to control harmful growth in trees, says W. M. Keith, landscape architect at the University of Illinois.

If your trees develop diseased, injured or undesirable growth, pruning will help them to regain strength. To get full beauty from large shade, fruit or flowering trees, prune immediately after planting. In this way most of the undesirable characteristics can be corrected before they get out of hand.

Keith says to remove one-third to one-half of the foliage by cutting off secondary side branches. Then remove the sucker growth from inner portions of branches. You can guard against infection after cutting by painting with asphalt-base tree paint.

CLOSE TO ESTIMATE

Final U. S. Nosecount To Crowd 180,000,000

With preliminary population figures now available for 41 states, census officials are voicing confidence that the final national total will come close to the advance estimate of 180,000,000.

Although the count is falling somewhat short of the target, census aides said privately Saturday they look for a total somewhere between 179,250,000 and 179,500,000. This would mean missing the mark by less than one-half per cent.

For 41 states and the District of Columbia, already counted, the preliminary figures add up to 113,453,790. This is an increase of 14.8 per cent over the 1950 total of 98,902,593 for the same states.

Still to be announced are advance figures for such large states as New York, Illinois and Texas and such fast-growing ones as California and Arizona.

One Census Bureau aide said 177,600,000 people have been counted so far in the 50 states and the District of Columbia. In addition, he said, about 700,000 to 800,000 transients who were counted separately still must be allocated to their home states.

Three States Lose Also, the count of American civilians and servicemen abroad has not yet been added to the total. This will boost the final figure by about 1,000,000 more.

On the basis of the figures now available, three states and the District of Columbia has lost population since the 1950 census. West Virginia is down 7.9 per cent, Arkansas down 7.2 per cent, and District down 6.8 per cent and Mississippi down 0.7 per cent.

The biggest gainers have been Florida, up 76.6 per cent; Nevada, up 75.8 per cent, and Alaska, up 74 per cent.

Milk Top Value In Dairy Month

June is dairy month, the Texas Department of Agriculture reminds. It has dug up some facts about milk and milk products.

There are more than 200 nutrients in milk. Considering its cost per pound, milk offers more food for the money than any other food material available.

Enough energy is provided by one glass of milk to: Play nine holes of golf, clean house for two hours, walk one mile, sew for two hours, or climb 100 stairs.

The record high of almost 60 billion quarts of milk produced in 1957 was enough to fill a river more than 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide and three feet deep.

The river would stretch from Boston to San Francisco. Square quart milk bottles filled with this amount of milk and placed side by side would form a band around the world 140 times. These same bottles, stacked one on top of the other, would reach to the moon 30 times.

The fastest growing milk product in the U. S. today is cottage cheese. There are some 400 cheeses recognized by name today. In spite of its widespread use, cheese was not prepared commercially until about 100 years ago. It takes 10 quarts of milk to make one pound of cheese. The finished cheese contains a large proportion of the milk proteins, the minerals, the fat and the fat-soluble vitamins found in the milk from which it was made.

Ice cream dates back to the first century when Nero sent slaves to the mountain tops for the required snow and ice.

Butter has been churned for thousands of years as a home-made product. The first butter creamery established in the United States began its operation in 1848 at Goshen, N. Y. From that beginning, the butter industry spread across the nation to become a vital part of dairying.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. Britton and Mrs. P. M. Britton was appointed.

The next meeting will be August 29 at the Cap Rock Electric building. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Attending were Shafer, Mesdames Britton, Bristow, Stanley Reid, Glenn Brown, Elmer Long and Bob Lattimer.

Dairy Products Abundant In Food Markets

Dairy coolers at Texas food markets are filled with all kinds of milk products this week, in observance of National Dairy Month, the Agricultural Marketing Service says in its weekly report.

The month-long celebration honors the modern, efficient dairy cows—19,000,000 of them—that provide the wide variety of milk foods. So watch for specials among dairy items, this week and all month. Milk production is at the seasonal high.

Other high-protein foods that are in extra-large supply include pork, beef, broiler-fryers and peanut butter. Many kinds of fresh, canned and frozen fish also are abundant.

A number of fresh fruits and vegetables are available in great volume as the Spring harvest expands northward.

You'll most likely find good buys among cabbage, carrots, celery, corn, lettuce, tomatoes, onions, potatoes, squash, field peas and green beans. Lemons and bananas are feature items in most stores.

Texas food shoppers will find lower price tags on corn, okra, field peas, potatoes and squash, especially the yellow crookneck variety.

Apples, a v o c a d o s, cucumbers, grapefruit and oranges are priced a bit higher this week.

New-crop grapes, plums, peaches and apricots from California are arriving in larger volume daily and prices are on the down-trend. Supplies of cantaloupes and watermelons also are increasing.

AMS Says Fruit Supply Is High Rate

Larger supplies and lower retail prices than a year ago are in prospect for most processed fruits during the next few months, so reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Canned fruit supplies are expected to total much larger than a year earlier through the end of this marketing season. Stocks in the hands of packers run about a fifth larger than a year ago.

Increases show for apples, apple sauce, apricots, RSP cherries, fruit cocktail, peaches, pears and purple plums.

Stocks of sweet cherries and figs are lower.

Processed citrus juices also are in much larger supply and lower priced than a year ago. Output of single-strength juice has been much higher than last season.

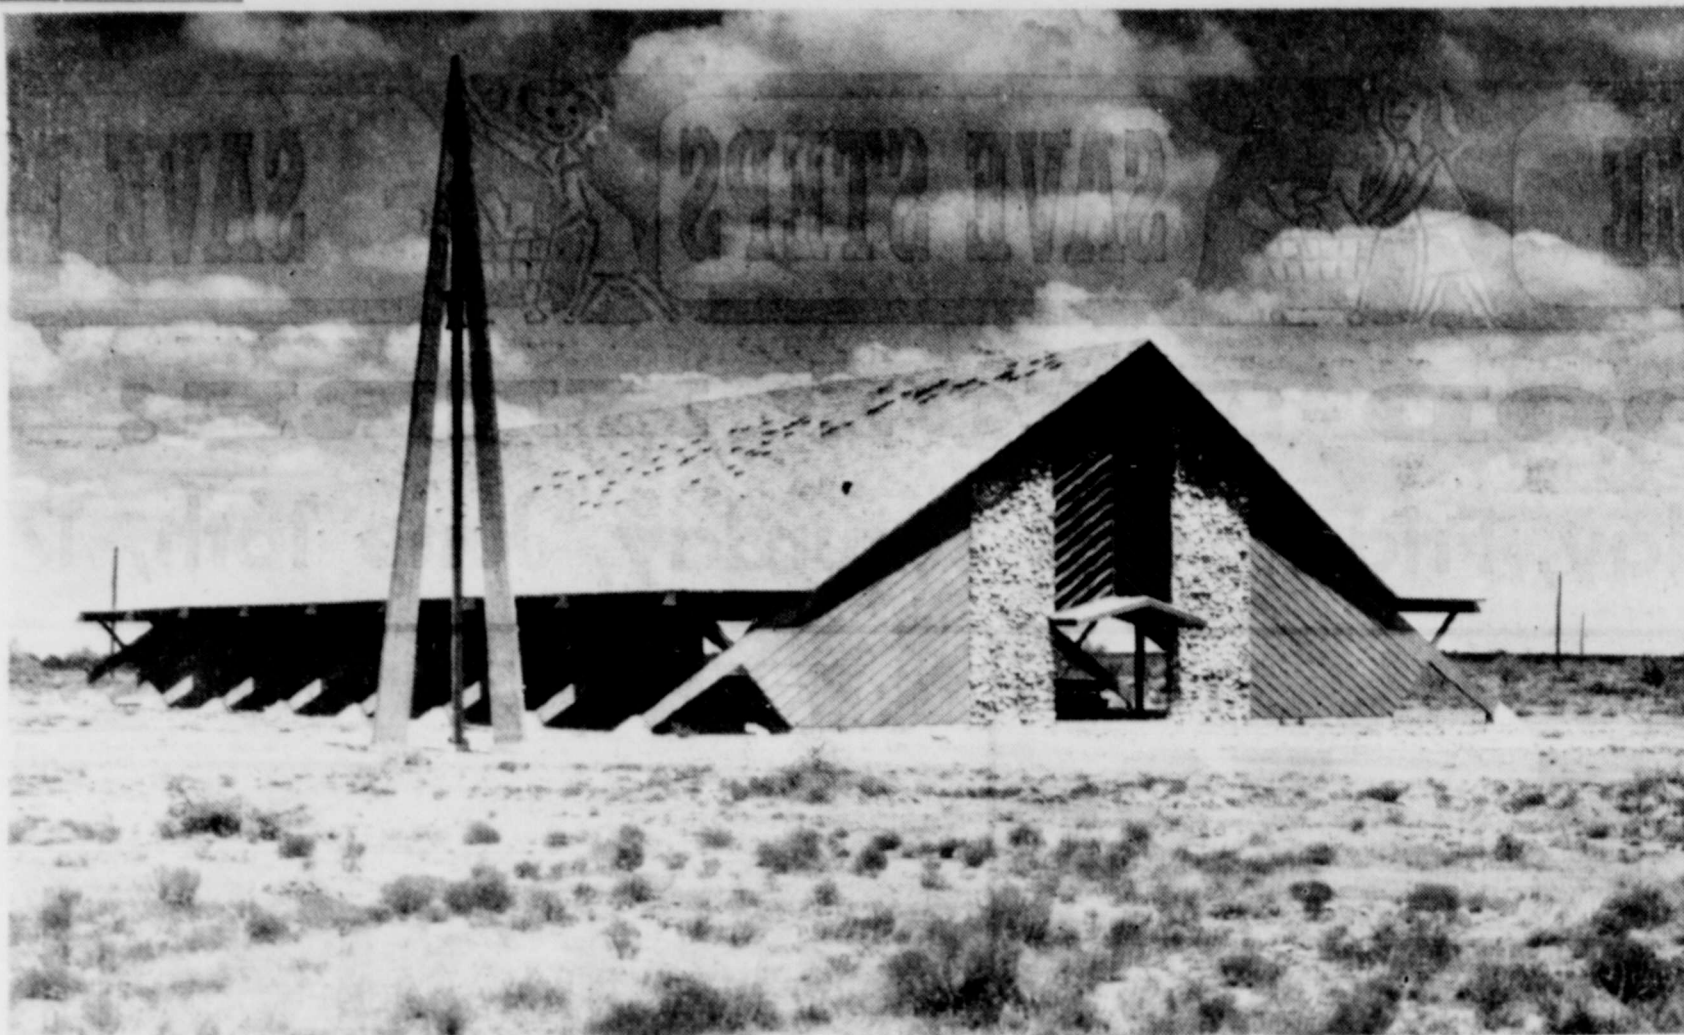

Stocks of frozen concentrated orange juice are larger and production will continue at a high rate into late June.

However, supplies of frozen concentrated grapefruit juice are much smaller than last year.

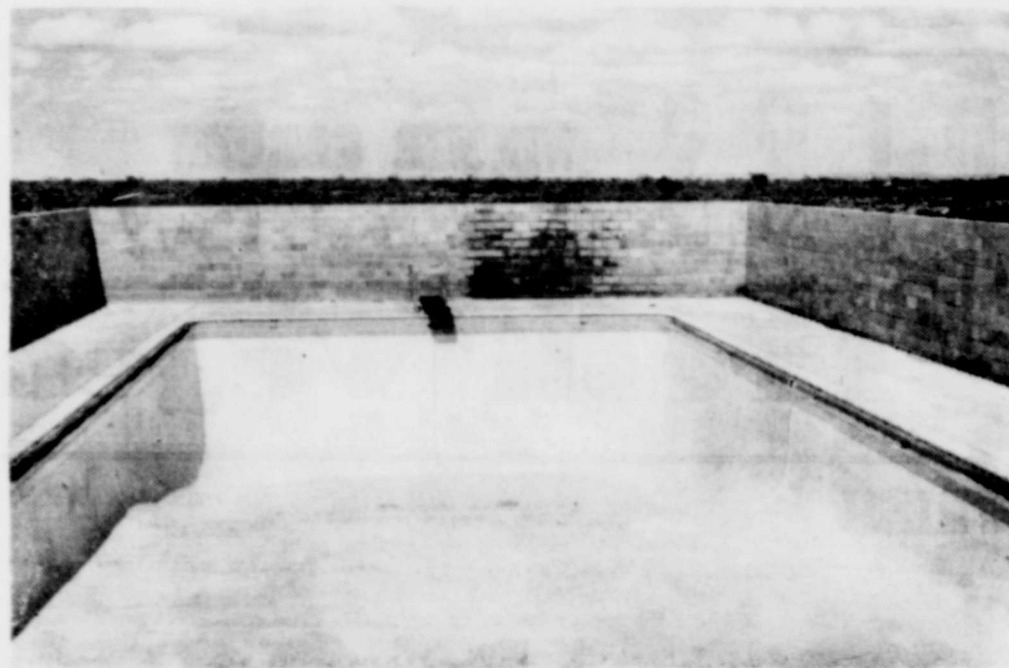

Frozen deciduous fruits and berries are the main exception to the general supply situation for the processed fruits. Supplies will continue moderately lower than last season until the 1960 packs start moving.

Mrs. Prentiss Hightower, Lynch and Brenda, visited Sunday in Midland with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Newberry and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Eckert have returned home from a week's visit in Mason with friends and relatives. They also attended an Eckert family reunion at Doss.

PLACE OF WORSHIP—The tabernacle at the District VIII Baptist Encampment north of Stanton is 120 feet long and 60 feet wide. A 10-foot deep swimming pool, below, with filtering system, diving board and bathhouses, was completed last week.

WILDLIFE—A rabbit lurks in the shadow of a diagonal beam which helps support the tabernacle roof. Dining, kitchen and concessions areas are combined in the building below.

Beautiful New Tabernacle For Baptist Encampment Completed

By FRANK DAVIS

Church encampments traditionally provide a retreat from the noisy distractions in cities to the quietness of nature and wildlife.

Through prayer, self contemplation and fellowship, participants seek a stouter affirmation of their faith. Encampments are like an oasis in a desert of evil and temptation.

Finishing-up work was being carried on this week at such an oasis in Martin County. The District VIII Baptist Encampment is located there seven miles north of Stanton and off State Highway 137.

A 75-foot-long swimming pool, completed by an Amarillo construction company, is the latest addition to the new encampment which serves Baptist churches in an 11-county area of West Texas.

The decision last year to move the encampment from a crowded 12-acre site on the outskirts of Big Spring brought the church retreat near the geographical center of the district.

With 100 acres of land at their disposal, the encampment planners had had these other facilities erected:

1. A 120-foot long tabernacle with unusual diagonal beams holding up the roof. Equipment includes sturdy, but movable, benches.
2. Combination dining hall, kitchen and concession stand.
3. Two church cabins, each of which will accommodate from 30 to 40 persons.
4. A caretaker's residence for O.

R. Smith, who served 11 years as caretaker for the old encampment at Big Spring.

Although a Brotherhood encampment was held at the new grounds the first week in May, the facilities, particularly the kitchen, were not completed. A six-day camp for intermediate girls to begin June 20 will mark the first real use of the encampment.

Counties in District VIII are Ector, Midland, Gaines, Andrews, Yoakum, Dawson, Howard, Martin, Glasscock, Mitchell and Scurry. The counties also are organized into five separate associations.

Judgeship Bill Includes Proposal For West Texas

The omnibus judgeship bill approved last week by the House Judiciary Committee includes a proposal to provide a third judge for the Western District of Texas.

Judge R. E. Thomason of El Paso and Judge Ben Rice of Waco now serve the district, with court sites in Austin, Del Rio, El Paso, Pecos, San Antonio and Waco. The proposal, sponsored by the U. S. Rep. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa, provides no additional court facilities, but it would add a third judge to help share the heavy work load.

Rutherford said he hoped the bill would receive final approval prior to adjournment of Congress expected in five or six weeks.

In all, the bill provides for 28 new permanent federal district judges, four temporary ones and three new Circuit Court of Appeals judges. If the bill passes, Texas fed-

Lubbock Leads State In Cotton

The U. S. Department of Agriculture said Thursday that the South Plains dominated cotton production in Texas with the Rio Grande Valley running a close second.

The USDA said Lubbock County remained the leading Texas cotton county with 209,000 bales harvested last year.

Hidalgo County in the lower Valley was in second place with 198,000 bales.

Lamb County and Hale County were third and fourth respectively. Both are in the South Plains.

El Paso County produced three-fourths of the state's 27,400 bales of American Egyptian cotton, the USDA said. Cameron County had 148,000 bales of cotton last year.

eral judgeships would be increased from 11 to 14.

OUT WHERE THE COUNTRY CAN TEAR A TRUCK TO PIECES—

Chevy middleweights get 1/3 more work done in a day!

Where they used to deliver 2,300 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas in other trucks, Petrolane Gas Service of Long Beach, California, can now deliver 3,500 gallons a day! That's 7 days a week usually, over back trails and up into high rock country with maximum GVW loads. And with Chevy's Torsion-Spring Ride paving every foot of the way! "You don't get any more jolting on washboard roads than you do in a passenger car, or any sideway on curves," says driver Bernie Stone. "I used to take some rough roads at from 5 to 8 miles an hour. Now I can go 30 over them." Petrolane has over 200 Chevrolets hauling for them.

If you think we're excited about Chevy's independent front suspension, you ought to talk to the truck owners who are profiting by it. They'll tell you Chevy's torsion-spring design is the hottest thing to hit the industry since trucks began. Drive one—that's the proof, short and sweet.

By NEAL ESTES

My friends and the readers of this column can understand why I have elected to rely on the writings of competent, able, and longtime friends of my family for the contents of this space this week. Editor Ellie Hopkins, Longview, and a friend of my late mother and all members of the Estes family for thirty years wrote the editorial appearing below.

Texas Noblewoman

(An Editorial)

When a good wife and mother dedicates her life to developing the children she has borne into strong and purposeful men and women, she can exhibit a steadfastness of purpose and tenacity of will which in sheer audacity and courage accepts no obstacle and often amazes even the most conscientious and dedicated husband and father. Having set her face to the duty she has chosen, she will not be turned aside by discouragement nor give up her high purpose even though it may appear to others her task long since has been completed.

Such a woman was Mrs. J. G. Estes. The husband she cherished attested to her love and devotion, and the children she reared and taught the ways of responsibility and service do call her blessed. Likewise, the communities in which she lived and served acknowledge the touch of her hand of helpfulness and the inspiration of her life of Christian service.

The mother of six children at an early age, she was frail and handicapped in health in much of her adult life. It was in search of better health that she and her husband, the late Joseph Guinn Estes, moved from East Tennessee to Mineral Wells around the turn of the century, later moving to Commerce where the family was reared.

From early childhood, Mrs. Estes taught her children that there is honor in hard work and self-reliance, that each must assume his personal responsibility to family and community, and that difficulties and obstacles are but trials through which one rises by perseverance and faith to achieve a worthy place in life.

Despite the household demands of a large family, this frail mother set a fine example as a citizen of her community. She was a lifelong Methodist, active in missionary work, a teacher of children in Sunday School, a leader in the Women's Society of Christian Service, a member of garden and civic clubs, and a local, state and national leader in Parent-Teacher Association activity.

Descended from a pre-Civil War family of pioneer plantation owners who settled at New Market, Tenn., Mrs. Estes was cultured, charming and gracious in manner, a true lady of the South who knew how to be gentle and kindly in spirit, understanding and helpful as a neighbor.

She was proud of her family. She had every right to be. She gave them her courage, her tenacity of will, her high purpose to be responsible and useful citizens. And though each son and the daughter long since has become a widely known and accomplished person in places of recognized leadership and service, she never ceased while life was hers to show care for their well-being, to chide or compliment, to suggest and encourage when she thought there was need.

This was the way of life of Mrs. Estes, one of God's great noblewomen whom the great and the humble alike come together to honor in revered memory on Tuesday.

Texas has produced no finer example of purposeful and persevering motherhood, successful in its primary purpose of family development, and noteworthy in its outreach in service to church and community. In the lives and service of such noble women is the heart of America made great and the cause of the Lord's kingdom on earth advanced.

Pastor Pays Tribute To Mrs. J. G. Estes

DALLAS — Hundreds of friends from all parts of Texas heard a beautiful tribute paid to the memory of Mrs. J. G. Estes by her former pastor, the Rev. Fred Edgar, at funeral services here Tuesday.

Following is a resume of his eulogy:

"Most people in a lifetime manage to excel in one or perhaps two areas of life. And seldom do we find one who has excelled in many areas of life as Della Marshall Estes, whom we honor this day. To list her accomplishments one must look first at the individual, for that is where her quality of great-

Father Of The Bride Performs Nuptials

Ruby Nell Robinson and Robert E. Patton repeated wedding vows Friday evening at the First Baptist Church.

The bride's father, Rev. W. H. Robinson, read the single ring rite before an arch of greenery. Stands of hyacinths flanked the arch of greenery.

Miss Robinson is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Robinson of Stanton. Patton is the son of Mrs. R. V. Patton, Lawton, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Ernest Hock provided the music. Joyce Anderson sang "I Love You Truly," "Always," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a fitted bodice of Provence lace over taffeta. It featured a scalloped neckline and long, tapering sleeves. The full formal-length skirt was accented with a pannier of Provence lace on each side.

The finger-tip veil was caught to a pearl crown with rhinestone highlights. White feathered carnations encircling an orchid were carried atop a white Bible by the bride.

Following age-old traditions, the bride selected her shoes as something old, her wedding gown as something new. The white Bible was borrowed, and she wore a blue garter that had been made by her mother.

Patricia Ann Patton, the bridegroom's sister from Lawton, Okla., served as maid of honor. She was dressed in a semi-formal dress of blue chiffon and wore a blue carnation corsage.

Bridesmaids were Cathy Patton and Clea May Hayes. Miss Patton, of Lawton, Okla., wore a pink formal with a pink carnation corsage. Miss Hayes of Stanton, was dressed in yellow with a yellow carnation corsage.

Attending the groom was best man Marty Fenn. Wayne King and Robert Deer were ushers.

In the fellowship hall of the church, the new Mr. and Mrs. Patton, along with their parents and attendants, greeted guests.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with eggshell lace over a pink underlay. Focal point was the four-tiered wedding cake topped with a tiny bridal couple. Pink crystal candleholders held pink candles.

Mrs. Henry Graves and Mrs. J. T. Springer were members of the house party.

Friends from Brownwood, Tyler, Odessa, Big Spring and Lawton, Okla., attended the wedding.

Mrs. Patton chose a green suit with white accessories for the wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. She is a 1958 graduate of Stanton High School, where she was a member of FFA and the pep squad.

Patton was recently discharged after four years with the Air Force. He is now employed in Lawton, Okla., where the couple will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Etheredge were in Snyder Sunday where they attended the Etheredge family reunion.

In a double ring ceremony Friday evening, June 10, Shirley Burns became the bride of Don Frazier at the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church in Big Spring.

Miss Burns is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Burns of Ackerly and Frazier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Frazier of Big Spring.

The Rev. Jack Strickland of the East Fourth Baptist Church read the vows before baskets of gladioli flanked with palms, greenery and candelabra.

Shirley Clawson played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Gorman Ramsey as she sang "Because" and "Wonderful One."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta designed with a scooped neckline and bracelet length sleeves. Unpressed pleats billowed the scalloped waist-length skirt.

Hand made satin roses on a band of pearls held the bride's shoulder length veil of silk illusion.

The bride carried a white orchid nestled in feathered carnations atop a white Bible borrowed from her sister.

Mrs. Gene Burrow was her sister's matron of honor. She was attired in turquoise silk organza over cotton tulle and carried a bouquet of white pom pom mums.

A niece of the bridegroom, Carolyn Hammon, was flower girl and she wore a dress of pink ruffled organza. Ring bearer was Brent Burrow, nephew of the bride.

Sam Arrington served as best man. The reception was held at the Desert Sands Restaurant where guests were greeted by the new Mr. and Mrs. Frazier, their parents and matron of honor.

A three-tiered white wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Members of the houseparty included Ann White of Cleburne, Dee Maberry, Dorothy Baker, Arlene Hartin and Miss Greenlee.

Guests were present from Midland, Odessa, Lubbock, Cleburne, Stanton and Ackerly.

For the wedding trip enroute to Manhattan, Kansas, where they will reside, Mrs. Frazier wore a pink Irish linen sheath with white embroidered bodice. Accessories were a pink linen cropped jacket and cummerbund. She pinned the orchid from her bouquet to her jacket.

Mrs. Frazier is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Texas Tech for one year. Frazier also graduated from Big Spring schools and attended Howard County Junior College. He is now serving with the U. S. Army at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dosier have had as guests his mother, Mrs. Annie Dosier of San Angelo, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Summerfield of Edison, California.

ness starts. She was a person who was clean and fine and wholesome. She was the kind of person who radiated dignity, pride, goodness. To be in her presence would make one lift up his shoulders, stand a little straighter, and raise his source a little higher. Yet one did not wonder long as to the source of her strength and poise, for it was her faith in God and man expressed in the 23rd Psalm, in the 14th Chapter of St. John. She received goodness and strength from God, let it permeate her whole being and then passed it on to her whole family and to all who knew her.

"Her life as a wife and mother is the second area of life where she excelled. Mrs. Estes had a desire to share with her family the good things of life. And she saw to it that each of her children lived up to their God-given potentialities. Because she wanted good things for them and for the other children of this world, she took an active part in school, PTA, and the Scouts. And, of course, her place in the church was all-important. She was a leader, a teacher, and active in the missionary program of her church. She was an honored member of the Highland Park Methodist Church of Dallas.

"To the very end of life she was concerned with civic and social issues of the world. She was vitally concerned with the issues and candidates of local, state and national elections. She was a woman honored and respected by people in all walks of life.

"We are here today to honor her, to pay tribute to her good work, to express our thanks for her life; but all this is impossible for she blesses us. Her good work and her life make us better than we have ever been before. She is a perfect example of what Abraham Lincoln said in dedicating the Gettysburg Cemetery in 1863:

"In a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead who struggled here have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. . . It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced."

"Our friend has gone home to God. Some day we shall see her again and thank her for what she meant to the lives of each one of us here."

The Mail Bag

June 12, 1960

Dear Neal and Mr. Kelly:

Things are going along at a pretty decent pace in this part of the country. Of course, a fellow can't really put his heart in any complaining when he has but one more week to stay in a place. It's sort of like being in the Army. Most men set a fast pace in griping for the first 23 months of a two year hitch. Then when they realize they're about to get out, things aren't so bad any more.

Now that Nancy and I are getting ready to leave, we've managed to say a few kind words now and then for Yankeeland's snow and Republican newspapers. Not many, mind you, but a few.

At any rate, I'll need a change of address for The Stanton Reporter. You can send it to 5120 Linden St., Bellaire, Texas. Bellaire, as you perhaps know, is one of the towns surrounded by Houston. In case Dad hasn't told you, I'll be reading copy for the Chronicle in Houston. Should be a good job.

Copy editing can be enjoyable at times, although I don't intend to confine myself to that for the next 40 years.

But we can talk about the newspaper business next time I'm in Stanton. And I trust that that time will come soon. Until then, adios. Sincerely, Leroy Gibson.
