Snooter Knows

By JAMES E. KELLY

SOME OF THE TWO-WEEK VACATIONERS are returning from their jaunt. Most of the complaints one hears is that tired-out feeling the vacationers report — don't want to go back to work. The trouble is they select the point of destination that is so far distant it requires about a week of driving to get there. The relaxation of body and mind is not there. The vacationer finds he spends most of the time driving his car coming and going.

Roy Craig, editor of The Stamford American is one of those vacationers returning who remarked, "Well, here I am back from vacation — not feeling like a new man and not just a rarin' to go back to work." Roy spent the time at Red River, N. M. From the report he gave there were many former Stamfordites there. Presumably, all former residents gave an accurate accounting of themselves—still using the same name they went by while living in Stamford.

Philosopher Passes Up Opportunity To Read Both The Platforms, Sticks With Newspapers

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw decides to shirk his responsibilities, not for the first time, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
A high-brow friend of mine asked me how I'm going to vote in the Presidential election this fall and before I had a chance to tell him it wasn't any of his business he said, "Now the intelligent way is to study the platforms of both parties first, then make up your mind." Whereupon he handed me a copy of both and said to take them home and read them.

For the first time in my life, I felt like farming instead of reading.

One of the platforms has over 10,000 words in it, the other one over 20,000, and the prose in both is not what you'd call immortal literature.

In fact, it sounds like it was written by the same people who wrote some of those nominating speeches at the conventions, and I got to thinking, if it was a requirement that you had to read both platforms all the way through before you could vote, I figure less than 2 per cent of the population would qualify.

But instead of working, I laid the platforms aside and picked up a newspaper and the first thing I ran into was an article that said the U. S. Treasury is paying off part of its debt.

It went on to explain the Treasury will pay off in cash over 10 billion dollars of federal securities maturing next month, and this sounded like good news, until the article further down explained that at the same time it will borrow an additional 9 billion dollars. This means it actually will pay off about one billion dollars of its debt, out of a total of 20 billion dollars still owed.

As I understand this, me and the United States Treasury are in about the same shape. I don't mind paying off a note, if I can turn around and borrow some more to make up for the hole the repayment left.

I'll let somebody else read the platforms. What I want to learn is more about this borrowing technique.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Farmer Income In State Down

Texas farmers took in $2,300,000 from the sale of their produce last year, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said Friday.

Total cash receipts were down 4 per cent from $2,425,000,000 Government payments totaled $23,000,000.

Cotton was the top crop dollar-wise, with cash receipts of $730,000,000. Cattle and calves were in second place with $600,000,000, trailed by sorghum grain with $20,000,000 and dairy products with $120,000,000.

Texas was third-ranking agricultural state in cash returns from farm commodities. Only California and Iowa rated higher. The three states together accounted for 23 per cent of the national agricultural receipts of $32,900,000,000.

THE LORENZO TRIBUNE had a front page story this week on the part the Woman Suffrage issue played in the 1920 presidential campaign. Said the Tribune: "Forty years ago the U. S. was groaning under the same thundering oratory and rolling bandwagons that comprise a presidential election campaign, with one hair-raising difference—women were about to cast their vote for the first time on a nationwide scale."

"Harrassed men of politics had let down their guard and regardless of whether women might become de-sexed or turn politics into a morality play, as opponents of feminism charged, they were going to have their say."

THE ALPINE AVALANCHE reported in an eight column banner over the mast the following: "State Allocates $1,235,000 To Complete River Road Paving." Then the story: "The State Highway Commission has authorized allocation of the river road (from Lajitas in Brewster County to Redford in Presidio County. "Bids on the 28.6 mile project are expected to be called in September."

THE PORT STOCKTON PIONEER had tragedy to report in a page one story the past week. The story: "Only a month out of the state penitentiary, a 28-year-old Fort Stockton man is in the Pecos County jail facing a charge of murder. He is being held in lieu of bail in the amount of $7,500 following a fatal stabbing Sunday night. His murder victim was a 24-year-old tavern waitress who had recently moved to Stockton from Alpine."

THE ANDREWS COUNTY NEWS reported a budget hearing. The story read: "A public hearing on the proposed 1960-61 city budget was scheduled for August 22 by the city council at a regular meeting Monday night."

Bible Comment

'Character' Is Great Theme In Bible
Perfect Being, but in abject, appealing fear and humiliation.

When that ancient Hebrew writer declared that God had made man in His own image, it might equally have been said that man was conceiving of God in his human image; but either way it was a profound conception.

With such a conception of God as the supreme perfection of all that man saw in the promptings of his own soul, man's aspiration toward that Perfect Being became, at least in this truly saintly, the one great goal of life and character.

The power of that self-discipline, as the fundamental element in character, became expressed in a spiritual daring the like of which has seldom been equaled elsewhere in religious experience.

Martin County Listed For More Highway Work

The State Highway Department completed tabulations last week of low bids totaling $19,509,568 for 323 miles of construction and improvement work on Texas highways.

Martin County is included in the group of counties in which there is to be road improvement and construction work.

Henry L. Stafford, Lubbock, submitted the low bid of $171,251 for the grading and surfacing of 11.236 miles on Farm Road 87 from State 349 to Tarzan.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Edwards have been Mr. and Mrs. Leston Edwards and children of Hobbs, N. M. and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reed and Donna Lou of Big Spring.

USDA Says Texas Range In Top Shape

The U. S. Department of Agriculture said this week Texas cattle are grazing on pastures which are in the best condition in years.

Crops likewise are responding well with the moist ground conditions. Dry weather in the Blacklands, South Central and Upper Coastal counties "provided farmers with a chance to poison cotton insects and get sorghum harvest under way."

In the Plains, farmers cultivated weedy cotton and sorghum, prepared wheat land for fall planting and turned wheat stubble.

High Plains onion and potato harvest continued active. Carrots and tomatoes made good progress and cantaloupes are in fair condition.

Winter vegetable plantings in the Winter Garden-Eagle Pass area were delayed because of the heavy rains. East Texas squash, peas, okra, green beans and cucumbers moved in fair volume.

Lower valley cotton harvest was reported about 15 per cent complete. Insect buildup in the Upper Coastal, South Central and Blacklands continues to present a major problem. Sorghum combining neared completion in the lower Valley and high plains sorghum made rapid growth.

Care In Picnicking Is Urged By State

Carelessness in preparing picnic fare may lead to food poisoning that "can turn a strong man into a cramped, tormented weakling," the State Health Department warned this week.

Bacteria called Staphylococci—"staph" for short—are the leading cause of food poisoning, the health authorities said. Failure to keep a picnic lunch chilled as long as possible encourages their growth.

"Conditions are more apt to be right during summer when outdoor eating is in vogue and staph can team up with the heat and lack of refrigeration to spoil food," the agency said.

Some of staph's close relatives, called "Epidemic" or "Hospital" Strains, have caused fatal infections in hospital nurseries.

John W. Kelly has completed seeding 15 acres of Side Oats Gramma and 15 acres of Sand Bluestem on his farm. Kelly in participating in the Great Plains Conservation Program.

"Conservation is the wise use of our natural resources—soil, water, plants, animals and minerals—so that they will yield the greatest service to the largest number of persons for the longest possible time. Men is the greatest resource of all."

It won't be long until this summer is gone and sand storms begin. How about furnishing your land with a "coat" this winter. Small grain cover crops protect bare ground from blowing as well as improving the soil. In addition, cover crops help a soil absorb rainfall more rapidly and slow down runoff to prevent washing. There are many acres of land in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District that are bare due to cotton plowup and fallowed land that should be planted to cover crops this fall.

Rains which fell in the first part of last month have really helped range land in this area. There is lots of moisture in the ground in most pastures which will help produce a good seed crop on native grasses. Ranchers should give as much of their rangeland as possible a rest from now until the end of the growing season. This will allow the plants to improve in vigor and density and to produce a seed crop for seeding bare spots in the pasture.

CARD OF THANKS

When sudden tragedy strikes and a loved one has been critically injured about the only comfort forthcoming is from our God, our friends, and those who make such experiences better understood for us from others. In the many crucial hours following the almost fatal mishap experienced by our families when our loved one was seriously burned, the battalion of friends, men of medicine, hospital attendants, the fellows of the press, and the entire staff of The Stanton Reporter, stood by to offer words of comfort. We are happy in the knowledge that doctors in Lubbock have given us the word that our loved one is well on the road to recovery. Thanks is an empty word but it is the one we know best to use to describe our appreciation at a concerned and critical time in our lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Yates, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Glaze

We wish to thank all of our many friends and neighbors for the kind deeds and expressions of sympathy at the loss of our loved one. Your every deed was greatly appreciated and will always be remembered. May God's richest blessings be upon you.

Mrs. Curtis Miller
Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Miller

OLD AND NEW—Ancient wooden ships and horse-drawn dray wagons daily fight the battle against progress in the port of Izmir, Turkey, as modern ocean vessels and new trucks loom alongside to announce the fact that a new era is dawning in this historic sea port. The wagon in the photo is loaded with tobacco. Ocean liner in the background is a modern tourist ship from Italy.

TEXAN IN TURKEY—

Excellent Harbor Of Izmir Draws World-Wide Attention

By SHORTHY SHELBERNE

IZMIR, TURKEY — The busiest place in this city after day is the area along the waterfront where the ships of practically all nations tie up alongside the docks to receive and discharge cargo. It always is a scene of bustling activity and one which never fails to interest the curious foreigner.

Since the earliest days of recorded history, Izmir's excellent harbor has been a prominent feature of writings about the city. It has served invaders as both a means of reaching the city and as a means of escape when they sometimes were repelled. It has served well the needs of all types of sea-faring people, including traders, pirates, fishermen and voyagers. Never in history, however, has it been so heavily used as now.

Because of its fine harbor and good docking facilities and because it is the nearest major port city to an area where a majority of Turkey's exports are produced, Izmir is the country's leading port for exports. It stands second only to Istanbul as an entry port for imports.

Vivid Contrast

The harbor and its docks are another place where the vivid contrast of the new and the old of Turkey can be seen every day. Ancient looking wooden vessels, most of them so old they do not appear to be sea-worthy any longer, line the docks two, three and four deep. They stand alongside sleek and modern merchant ships and ocean liners which dwarf the leaky-appearing hulks.

The old wooden ships bring cargo of coal from the Black Sea area, logs for lumber, tobacco and cotton for the mills, and huge chunks of marble to be cut and dressed into tile for floors and table tops. They depart loaded with tobacco which has been processed in one of Izmir's many plants, with drums of gasoline and fuel oil, and boxes of the Aegean area's famous raisins and dried fruits.

The modern ships from other nations, as well as many which are owned by Turkey, call at the port of Izmir.

Some are merchantmen bringing automobiles and trucks from Europe and the U. S., machinery and heavy equipment for factories and military use, or lumber, oil, gasoline and other items which Turkey finds it necessary to import.

Major Exports

Tobacco, cotton, dried fruits, Turkish rugs and chromium are the major exports.

Ocean liners flying many different flags make Izmir harbor with their tourists.

The harbor is deep enough for the ships, even the largest ones, to tie up against the docks. Loading and unloading of cargo almost always can be accomplished right at dock side.

The one-team, horse-drawn Turkish wagons, which are built so they stand about a foot higher at the rear than in front, back up at the wooden ships to haul away cargo. Often loading from the same ship, and looking every bit 100 years out of place, will be a late model truck of popular American manufacture.

Facing the waterfront is a long row of stone buildings which house the export-import offices, government agencies, tobacco and cotton company offices and other agencies associated with activities of the port. Sharply dressed Turkish officials and business executives make their way through the crowds of sidewalk vendors, native-dressed stevedores and dock workers, loaders, sight seers and passersby, as they come and go to their office. The contrast in modern and traditional dress and the realization that the sidewalk vendors follow their ages-old business directly in the shadow of modern buildings provide space for modern run multi-million dollar shipping businesses, and the fact that here on Izmir's water-front the old brushes shoulders with the new in many different ways.

This is the port of Izmir, Turkey, a place where we can see standing side by side the passing era of "wooden ships and iron men" and the new era of "iron ships and wooden men."

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD

About a dozen state agencies thus far have presented their budget requests for the 1961-62 biennium.

As yet, none has failed to ask for more money than it's presently getting.

Many agencies cite Texas' growing population as justification for expansion. They say, in effect, that they are in the same position as the housewife who has to put another potato in the pot to set another place at the table.

Others seek to woo state funds with a "bread cast upon the waters" approach. They contend that money spent on developing the state's resources will come back multiplied in the form of increased state revenue.

Almost all emphasize the difficulties of luring and holding highly trained personnel at present state salaries. Some say, too, that they've been working with a too-short stick for years and need some "keep up with the times" improvements.

Budget proposals are presently being studied by the Legislative Budget Board and the Governor's budget staff. Each will make recommendations, and the final decision will be made next year by the Legislature.

With a money-short, tax-fighting session ahead, it won't be easy for anyone.

These budget requests have been added to those already under study.

STATE PARKS — An investment in state parks is an investment in the Texas tourist industry and a potentially rich source of additional funds for the state treasury.

This is the theme of the State Parks Board in asking for a $2,000,000 appropriation for the next two years. This is almost double the present spending level.

Of this million-dollar-a-year appropriation, the Board proposes to use $700,000 a year for improvements, $300,000 a year for administration.

Texas, says parks director Bill Collins, spends less on its state parks than Rhode Island. He cited figures showing that Texas would get $81,000,000 a year more in tax revenue if each out-of-state visitor stayed in the state one more day.

GENERAL LAND OFFICE — A bigger budget is asked by the General Land Office and Veterans Lands Board to assure the state's realizing full value from the resources of state-owned lands.

A two-year budget of $3,042,339 is asked.

Land Office noted the state now has clear title to 8,000 square miles of tidelands. It wants to employ three oil scouts and a geological director to explore and the development of the tidelands' mineral resources. Altogether, 29 new land office employees are being asked.

Land Office claims that for every dollar it has spent in the past 22 years, $90.18 has been returned to the state treasury in revenue.

AGRICULTURE — Complexities of increasingly scientific farming put greater demands on the State Department of Agriculture, says Commissioner John C. White.

Farm Prices Make Gains

The Agriculture Department reported that farm produce prices rose four-fifths of 1 per cent between mid-June and mid-July.

The department said the advance was led by seasonally higher prices for dairy products, with higher prices reported also for most vegetables, cotton, hogs and potatoes.

Most important price declines were reported for cattle, peaches and wheat.

This increase in produce prices came after two consecutive months of declines.

The prices farmers received in mid-July were slightly more than 1 per cent below a year earlier.

Prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and family living declined by one-third of 1 per cent. A reduction in the seasonally adjusted index of farm rates was primarily responsible for this decline. Wage rates rose, but less than usual. The prices paid by farmers were the highest for any July of record, but were 1 per cent below the high recorded in April.

MORE TRAFFIC, MORE CRIME

Expansion Sought By DPS Highway Patrol, Ranger

More traffic and more crime in Texas dictate a larger force for the Department of Public Safety, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director has reported.

Garrison told a joint panel of the legislative and governor's budget boards he wants 200 new highway patrolmen, 10 more Texas Rangers, four more narcotics agents, and four additional intelligence agents in the 1962-63 biennium.

The DPS presented a budget of $16,461,260 for 1962 and $17,720,166 for 1963.

Cost Is Cited

The General Revenue Fund does not support the DPS.

If the legislature grants the additional Rangers, they will cost the state $110,560 during the biennium.

Garrison praised state narcotics agents for a "magnificent job of drying up" illegal drug traffic in Texas. "We know unless we sit on the narcotics problem and continue to sit on it, it's going to get worse," he said.

Garrison added he would not be a narcotics agent if the state paid him even $1,500 a month. "You've got to catch a peddler selling," he said.

The DPS also is asking for increases in its identification and criminal records division, Garrison said the department is trying to make itself better able to present "scientific testimony" in court, because such evidence stands up better.

Recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions give the criminal "so many avenues of escape," the DPS chief said.

The department said there will be nearly 29,000 more major crimes committed in Texas in 1963 than in 1959. The 175,852 major crimes reported in 1959 represented a 45 per cent increase during the past five years.

Drop Is Noted

Reviewing accomplishments of the DPS, the request said the traffic death toll per 100,000 vehicle miles dropped from 6.4 in 1955 to 5.3 in 1959. The department expects a 25 per cent increase in "routine traffic police patrol" and a 45 per cent rise in commercial traffic patrol by the end of the next biennium.

Garrison said without proper enforcement the new freeways in Texas are "death traps." If the new patrolmen receive the legislature's okay, the ranks of the highway patrol will swell to 993.

Donal Barnes of Odessa visited over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Barnes and family.

Birth Rate Below 1959 May Figure

The U. S. birth rate in May, for the ninth consecutive month, ran below the rate of a year earlier.

The National Office of Vital Statistics this week gave the tentative total of registered May births—subject to correction by the end of the year—at 335,000 compared with 338,000 in May 1959.

The office said that during the first five months of this year there were an estimated 1,676,000 births, 1.9 per cent or 1,709,000 fewer than those of the comparable 1959 months.

The number of births in May was only about 0.9 per cent below those of a year earlier, but the rate dropped 2.2 per cent, from 22.6 to 22.1 per 1,000 population reflecting an increase in the whole population.

For the five months ended with May the decrease in numbers of births was only 1.9 per cent but the rate fell from 23.5 to 22.5, a drop of 4.3 per cent.

Marriage increased.

There were an estimated 120,000 in May 3.4 per cent more than in May 1959. The rate per 1,000 population was 7.9 in May this year and 7.7 a year earlier.

GAME AND FISH

Executive Director Howard Dodgen declared the commission's top echelon employees are "grossly underpaid" for highly trained persons, some with master's degrees.

STATE COLLEGES — Three colleges, East Texas State, Stephen F. Austin State and Sam Houston State Teachers College, have told the Commission on Higher Education they need more money.

Expected enrollment increases, need for higher faculty salaries and need to lower the student-teacher ratio were cited as reasons for the requests.

East Texas is asking $2,446,555 for the first year, $2,547,125 for the second year of the 1961-63 period. This compares with a present annual budget of $1,676,424.

Stephen F. Austin asks $2,063,719 the first year, $2,048,603 the second, compared to the present $1,244,370 a year.

Sam Houston wants $2,970,261 the first year, $2,992,190 the second. Present annual spending is $2,040,677.

These requests, along with those from state-supported colleges and universities, will be studied and screened by the Higher Education Commission before a recommendation is presented to legislative and executive budget officials.

WHERE TO GET IT — With new spending requests piling up, the search for new money-making plans is ranging far and wide.

Four broad-based tax plans are being considered by tax hunting subcommittee of the Governor's State Finance Advisory Commission.

They are: (1) a payroll tax, paid half by employers, half by employees, (2) a utilities customers tax adding a percentage of all utility bills, (3) a business activities tax which would combine some of the features of payroll, gross receipts and corporate income taxes and (4) a transfer which would be similar to a sales tax.

Other ideas suggested to the panel include higher taxes on liquor and beer, sales tax on soft drinks and restaurant meals and a tax on sporting equipment.

Melons Bring Colorful Zest In Many Ways

Looking for a colorful and zesty way to add new life to your summer dinner table?

Then the abundant supply of fresh cantaloupe now on the market can be the answer to your wish.

Whether served chilled with salt or pepper, sugar, lemon or lime juice or presented in combination with any number of fruits or berries, cantaloupe fits admirably in any meal as an appetizer, salad or dessert.

A half-cantaloupe, which contains only about 40 calories, makes a natural bowl for berries. Slices of cantaloupe in the shape of half moons or circles lend a decorative touch to salads.

Another tempting treat catching the public fancy is cantaloupe balls served with tea or punch when the club or friends drop in for a visit.

Or a Cantaloupe Sundae may be your summer dessert specialty. It's simple to prepare — just toss a scoop of vanilla ice cream in a half melon.

Another easy-to-fix treat is cantaloupe combined with fresh berries and wine and topped with meringue.

Folks in the Southwest especially will be interested in the many delicious and attractive ways to prepare cantaloupe. This melon is seasonally plentiful this month, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Expected production of cantaloupe is much greater this year than in 1959 in all producing states of this region.

New Mexico and Texas showed the greatest increases. New Mexico will more than double its crop output this summer while Texas shows a production increase of 40 per cent. Substantially more production also is expected in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and Kansas.
