DISTRICT THREE, CLASS AA IS the new district the Stanton Buffaloes find themselves playing this season, should make the squad more eager to annex victories. They have been promoted from One A last year to AA this year. Graduation cut deeply into the Buffalo roster. Star performers on last year's team will not be seen on the gridiron in the new district.

YOU'VE OFTEN HEARD THE EXPRESSION, "The shirt he wore on his back," alluding in this instance, that 80 per cent of the wives buy the shirts for their husbands. A survey was made of New England and New York and it was revealed the wives marked up this percentage. The official of the survey said: "The ladies wanted a shirt guaranteed to launder for a year and they wanted top quality at a reasonable price."

It was said that though the shirts are guaranteed for a year, one kind of male will be expected to wear out the shirt before the year is out.

"The man with the particularly tough beard wears out a shirt much faster than the typical male. We know that we are going to have to replace his registered shirt."

We might add that the dogs, cats, automobiles and securities are registered.

County Tax Rolls Work Progresses

Work on the Martin County tax rolls for 1960 is progressing according to schedule, Tax Assessor-Collector Dan Saunders said this week.

Saunders said about 50 per cent of the roll is completed.

Citizens are reminded of the discounts available with prompt payment. Statements will be mailed by October 1, and if taxes are paid in October, the discount is three per cent.

The discount then drops to two per cent if paid in November, and one per cent if paid in December. In January the straight rate must be paid.

Deadline will be January 31, as usual, with one and one-half per cent penalty and interest levied after that date.

Poll taxes for voting in 1961 can also be paid beginning on October 1. Deadline for paying poll taxes is February 1, 1961.

Saunders said residents may pay their poll taxes when they mail in payment of their county taxes, if they wish to. He reminded the citizens, however, that their poll taxes are not included on the tax statement.

Approximately 30 service officers from as many counties are to be present.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. and will last through the afternoon.

Service officers will attend from an area stretching from El Paso, Fort Stockton, Ballinger and Haskell to Lubbock and from there to the New Mexico state line.

Bufs Prep For Opener

Stanton Buffaloes are going through their paces in daily practice sessions this week.

Harlin Dauphin, coach, reported the boys working hard with a fine spirit. He said he is well pleased with the response of the Buffs.

The Buffaloes are working hard to be ready for their first game on September 2 with Merkel at Merkel.

Stanton Buffs are moving up a class this year. They will move up to Class AA this season. The Buffs will be in 3-AA. Last year they competed in District 6-A.

The Buffs are scheduled to scrimmage Rankin on Thursday and McCamey on Saturday, and the coach will probably have a better idea about the capabilities of his boys after these two practice rounds. The scrimmages will both be at 6 p.m. on the high school field.

Dauphin said, "I've never had a bunch of boys work harder. They want to prove they can do the job in AA ball."

Enthusiasm will help in the Buffs' baptism of fire into the higher classification, but Stanton also boasts a 12-letterman nucleus of material.

Returning to anchor a rugged-looking line are Tackles Jerry Polson (200) and Tommy Davis (185) and Guards Arnold and Arvil Fincher, 165-pound twins.

Police Chief Calls For Safe Driving In City School Zone

Stanton Police Chief Dennis Boyette made a visit to The Stanton Reporter this week to plead for cooperation from county car operators when operating vehicles through the school zones.

"Schools open in Stanton on August 29, and the 15 mile-per-hour speed limits in school areas will be enforced," Boyette said.

"It is not my idea to have to threaten the people, many of them parents, who drive cars in and out of the school areas to keep the laws of safety enforced, but rather to seek their support and total cooperation in the effort to protect their children and other children from becoming the victim of a tragic traffic mishap," the chief said.

Chief Boyette stated that particular emphasis would be placed on patrol duty on Highway 89 which runs adjacent to the junior high school, and on the Lamesa Road, which carries traffic north and south past school property.

Every motorist in Stanton and in all of Martin County should resolve now to make an effort to curb fast driving and proceed through the school areas in a safe and sane manner at all times. Our children deserve this consideration and protection.

Chief Boyette advised the paper that a new three-way traffic control light would be installed at the corner of Broadway and College near the elementary school.

Boyette said: "This new signal will give more time for traffic passage and insure complete safety for children passing to and from through the pedestrian zone."

Editorial Opinion

Monday, August 29, is to be target date for the cessation of careless driving in the county, and we hope, the day will bring the inauguration of slower speeds in the city limits of Stanton by operators of motor vehicles.

We do not mean to infer that speedsters have enjoyed a field day in Stanton the past summer. Such is definitely not the case. Chief Dennis Boyette and his able night men, Jake Bruton and Johnny Myrick have been doing a terrific job in patrolling our town. We are grateful to them for their devotion to duty and the fair enforcement tactics they have employed in keeping crime and traffic violations down in the zero area here.

But we do mean to suggest that all drivers of motor vehicles in the school areas keep a very light foot on the accelerators.

Without preaching, our aim is to direct a dart of thought to the hearts of every qualified driver to REALLY BE CAREFUL FOR THE SAKE AND SAFETY OF OUR CHILDREN!

Kennedy Meat Company Adds New Equipment

The Kennedy Meat Company, owned and operated in Stanton by Hall and Francis Kennedy is now one of the most modernly equipped meat processing plants in this area.

The plant is located on Highway 80 in the city limits.

The Kennedys spared no expense in their enlargement program and they have added latest equipment to speed their custom killing program.

The Kennedys designed some of the interior additions, including a scalding vat.

Other equipment additions include storage vaults, special quick freeze room, electric saw, electric hoist, lard vat, smokehouse facilities, and meat processing equipment.

The plant owners are extending an invitation to friends and customers to come in anytime for a look at the new processing plant.

Hunt Oil Gets Production Show

Hunt Oil Company encountered its best show of possible discovery production so far at No. 1 Cathleen C. Griffin, West Martin County wildcat, 14 miles northwest of Lenorah.

That show came from the section at 10,930-10,968 feet in a section thought to be the Strawn. A 3 1/2-hour drillstem test was run on that interval.

There was a strong blow of air at the surface immediately after the tester was opened. Gas came to the top in 12 minutes. The gas volume was estimated at 95,000 cubic feet daily.

Recovery was 205 feet of distillate cut and gas cut drilling mud, 165 feet of heavily distillate and gas cut mud, 280 feet of heavy gas and mud cut distillate, 80 feet of distillate heavily cut with gas, distillate and salt water, and 180 feet of gas and distillate cut salt water.

Flowing pressure was between 150 and 230 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure in 30 minutes was 290 pounds. The prospector — contracted to a possible 12,250 feet to explore the Devonian — is making hole below 11,064 feet in lime and shale.

The possible strike is 1,190 feet from north and 1,320 feet from west lines of the M. Curtis survey No. 133.

It is approximately 25 miles northwest of Stanton and 18 miles north of Midland.

Slight shows of gas and oil previously had been encountered at 9,100-9,150 and at 9,607-9,647 feet.

The wildcat is 10 miles south of the nearest production in the Breedlove (Devonian) field.

W. A. Moncrief Jr., of Midland has completed a western extension to the Glass (Spraberry) pool in Martin County, 18 miles west of Stanton.

No. 1 George W. Glass finalized for a daily pumping potential of 220 barrels of 33-gravity oil, plus 12 per cent water, through perforations at 8,668-8,672 feet, 8,686-8,706 feet, 8,730-8,743 feet and 8,758-8,764 feet, after acidizing with 500 gallons and fracturing with 30,000 gallons.

It is the seventh producer in the Glass pool. Site is eight miles north of Midland and 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 13, block 30, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Jake L. Harmon of Dallas, Amtex-as Oil Corporation of Midland and Pan American Petroleum Corporation have started swabbing operations of the Wolfcamp at No. 1 Yates, prospective Wolfcamp discovery and Devonian producer in the Breedlove multipool pool of Martin County.

Operators treated with 2,500 gallons five sets of perforations between 9,968 and 10,063 feet opposite the Wolfcamp.

Earlier, the well swabbed and flowed some new oil from the Wolfcamp through perforations at 10,074 to 10,084 feet, after treatment with 15,000 gallons of acid. The Devonian, from which oil flowed on tests in open hole at 11,948 to 12,012 feet, remained shut in.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of labor 21, league 263, Kent County School Land survey, six miles southwest of Patricia. Phillips Petroleum Company company.

W. L. (Whistle) Lindsay Wins First Bale Cotton Premium

W. L. (Whistle) Lindsay, farmer one mile north of Stanton, captured first bale of cotton honors Monday morning when he brought in his bale to the Farmers Gin and Cotton Company in Stanton.

Because Stanton's gins were not yet in operation, the seed cotton was carried to Planter's Gin in Tarzan to be processed.

The bale ginned out at 500 pounds It was Gregg cotton.

Lindsay, who farms one mile north of Stanton with his father, T. Lindsay, said he covered 20-25 acres to get the bale. The cotton was gathered from an irrigated land.

A special meeting of the agriculture committee of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday, August 30 to make plans for the Chinese auction of the first bale.

The first bale of cotton produced in Martin County in 1959 was grown by Floyd Martin, farmer in the Grady community. His bale was brought in on August 22 and it weighed in at 2,400 pounds. It ginned out at 560 pounds of lint cotton.

Martin's cotton brought $976 by Chinese auction. Floor price was 40 cents a pound. Each bid was one cent a pound and the bale was considered as a 500-pound bale.

Philosopher Finds The Service Station Boys Are In About Same Shape As The Farmers

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw thinks he sees a parallel between farmers and service station men, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

Not that it eases the farm problem to know about this, but other lines of work are having their troubles too.

For example, I read in a newspaper last night that "the entire service station industry is facing its most serious economic test in 15 years."

It went on to explain that the trouble is, "profits have not increased at the same rate as expenses," and also that "oil companies build stations indiscriminately, and thereby increase the number of retail outlets to a point where the competition is so great that no one is making money."

Now I want to say that I sympathize with the service station boys. I know what it is to have expenses mount and profits drop, and I know what over-production can do to you.

True Greatness Is Won By Service And Humility

Learning to live together is the hardest lesson many of us must learn during the course of our daily lives. This task is not unique. Every group has faced the same problem and differences in personalities and personal jealousies.

Even the disciples suffered from these human frailties. Once, when someone had evidently offended Peter, he went to Jesus asking how many times a brother should offend his brother and be forgiven. Peter set, what apparently seemed to him to be a reasonable limit, asking: "Until seven times?"

But Jesus put forgiveness on a much larger basis with his answer "Not until seven times, but until seventy times seven." And it is on this greater plane that forgiveness should be considered if there is to be any true forgiveness at all.

Thus the disciples were taught. They were extraordinarily fortunate in having such a teacher who also knew the meaning of greatness. He defined greatness in terms of serv-

Ike Praised In Defense Of Robert E. Lee

A leading newspaper publisher has praised President Eisenhower's evaluation of Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee as "one of the supremely gifted men produced by our generation."

The President, in his address to the Republican national convention, mentioned that he keeps a picture of the Confederate commander on his office wall. Dr. Leon W. Scott, a dental surgeon of New Rochelle, N. Y., wrote the President that he was shocked by this and said "The most outstanding thing that Robert E. Lee did was to devote his best efforts to the destruction of the United States government."

THE CROCKETT COURIER-DEMOCRAT reported "Houston County definitely is in the running for the location of a pulp and kraft paper plant, although this county is competing with at least two other East Texas locations."

MATADOR TRIBUNE: "Changes are coming to Motley County as a result of the sale of the vast acreage of the former Matador Land and Cattle Company and later the Red Lake Cattle Company. The expanse of land northeast of Matador, that in the past was one ranch is now many ranches. Fences, windmills, tanks and other improvements are changing the entire area. Cattle are being returned to the ranges as the new ranch owners stock their acreages. Some areas are being put in cultivation but generally the land will be operated as ranches."

Better Hog Prices Forecast

The price outlook for hogs for the next few months is considerably brighter, John McHaney, extension economist, says that prices received by farmers in the last half of 1960 will be higher than those received in the last half of 1959. He says they will not, however, reach the peak prices of 1958, and the usual fall price decline can be expected.

McHaney explains this forecasted price rise by pointing out that the 1960 spring pig crop was down 16 percent from the 1959 spring crop. This decrease was brought about mainly because fewer sows farrowed and fewer pigs were produced per sow.

Spring prices in 1961 will be largely determined by the size of the 1960 fall crop, McHaney continues. According to the present crop forecast, the 1960 fall crop should be smaller than the 1959 crop, thus the prices received in the spring of 1961 should be higher than those received this year.

The specialist concludes with a word of warning for swine producers. He says there are indications that this downturn in production may be the shortest on record, and just because prices may be better in the last half of 1960 and in the first few months of 1961 is no reason to believe that prices will bring satisfactory returns to all producers in the last half of 1961.

Big Airlift To Fly 5,000 To Dallas Meet

More than 5,000 persons will be flown into Dallas August 28-29 in what is believed will be the largest commercial airlift ever attempted. Sixteen U. S. and Canadian airlines are cooperating in flying the large group to Dallas in charter and regularly scheduled flights for a one-day meeting of Deere & Co. dealers of the two nations.

Ector Thornton, owner of the local John Deere agency, will be among the John Deere dealers who will attend the meeting.

Following the meeting on Tuesday, August 30, the airlift will be repeated, returning the dealers to their homes in widely scattered sections of the two countries.

The airlift will make possible the first meeting of all the John Deere tractor and farm machinery dealers at the same time and at the same place.

In addition to the 5,000 persons to be flown to Dallas, about 1,000 will come to the meeting by train and automobiles.

Handling the airlift represented months of planning by company officials. Reservations on regularly scheduled flights had to be blocked out far in advance, and arrangements made for chartered flights in areas not served by regular schedules.

About 100 buses will be used in Dallas to transport the flying implement dealers from Love Field to Dallas hotels and to the State Fair of Texas grounds. The Dallas Memorial Auditorium, located in the downtown area, and the Cotton Bowl and State Fair Coliseum, both on the fair grounds, will be utilized for exhibits and sales meetings.

Among the 6,000 expected for the meeting are dealers from 15 other countries besides the United States and Canada. Because many of the dealers from Canada speak French, a United Nations-type of translating service will be provided. The French Canadians, through ear phones, will hear instantaneous translation of the programs.

Grocery shoppers will find a lot of broiler-fryers available in Texas food markets this September. They are featured among the six items listed as plentiful for the month, reports the Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M College.

Turkeys are another poultry plentiful. Lamb, melons, peanut butter, and a wide array of late-summer vegetables complete the list.

These foods were selected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for special emphasis in this area because the supply of each is expected to exceed normal demand. Homemakers can take advantage of the abundance by serving these foods often.

September broiler-fryer marketings are expected to run about 5 percent more than a year ago. Look for meaty, tender, flavorful young

Lumberyards Feature Back-Breaking Labor

By Shorty Shelburne
IZMIR, TURKEY—I often pass a narrow side street here which I believe is the place where the old saying, "He works like a Turk," must have originated. It is a street where Turkish men perform some of the most back-breaking labor I have ever seen. If the saying didn't originate here, it should have.

Turkish lumber yards are located on the street, most of them wholesale establishments, and much of the lumber they sell is cut from the logs on the spot. Modern machinery is used for many of the jobs but there is one where muscles and sweat are the most important equipment.

This particular job calls for shaping building timbers or beams from the raw tree trunks, and it is all done by hand. From the removal of the bark to the final dressing of the finished product, it is done with hand tools.

The heavy logs are rolled up two slanting runners to a position on a work rack which stands about six feet high. They are too heavy and cumbersome to be lifted into position.

Once on the work rack, a two man team bends to the task. Sharp hand axes are used to remove the bark with one man working on the bottom side of the log from the ground and the other working on top from the scaffold. When the bark is trimmed away, the real labor begins.

A large toothed saw with a handle at each end is put into use to make a square log out of the round one by sawing down four sides of the trunk.

As the workman on top pushes the long saw, the one on the ground pulls it. Then the top man pulls and the bottom man pushes.

Up and down, bending, pulling, pushing as the big saw bites into the log, they work at a rapid pace hour after hour.

I have watched the men work time after time and seldom do they stop to take a rest. They are at the job early in the morning and they still are sawing at sundown.

Yes, this is it. This is where the saying originated. They really are men who work like Turks.

LUMBERYARD IN TURKEY — Two Turks team up to shape a log in Izmir, Turkey. Much of the yard's cutting is done with modern machinery but all heavy timber is finished by hand—from bark stripping to shaping.

WORKING WITH WOOD

Moisture In Wood
The moisture content of wood is the weight of the water in the wood. This weight is expressed as a percentage of the weight of the wood when dry. Thus, if a green piece of wood is said to have a moisture content of 75 per cent, it means that the water in the wood weighs 75 per cent as much as does the dry wood.

The moisture content of green wood is approximately the same as the moisture content in the living tree. In some species of wood the moisture content is over 100 per cent. In other words, the weight of water in the wood is greater than the weight of the dry wood. Sapwood usually has a higher moisture content than heartwood.

When dry wood absorbs moisture, it swells. When wet wood is dried, it shrinks. The swelling of wood sometimes causes drawers and doors to stick in wet weather. Shrinkage of wood may open cracks in furniture and flooring. Exposed wood can be protected from moisture by treating with water repellents or by coating with a suitable finish. Wood used indoors should be installed dry and be kept dry to prevent swelling

TOTAL NEAR 49 MILLION—

U. S. Schools Expected To Show Two Million Increase

A record 1960-61 enrollment of 48,650,000 in the public and private schools from kindergarten through college has been forecast by the office of Education. It would be the 16th consecutive year of increase.

Lawrence G. Derthick, commissioner of education, said the total for the 50 states and the District of Columbia is nearly two million more than the 46,720,000 enrollment for the 1959-60 school year.

Alaska, Hawaii Added He noted that Alaska and Hawaii were not counted in the 1959-60 estimate made in August 1959. Excluding them, enrollment was about 46,800,000 in 1959-60 and would be about 48,400,000 in 1960-61, he said.

Derthick estimated that 1,636,000 classroom teachers will be needed by the public and nonpublic elementary and secondary schools, or almost four per cent more than the 1,574,000 employed in 1959-60.

The commissioner said rising enrollment rate in kindergarten, elementary and secondary schools are due chiefly to the increased birth rates since the first years of World War II.

"However," he said, "the increase in college enrollments should be attributed mostly to a growing interest in attending college among high school graduates and the college-age population generally, since the rising birth rate has not yet had time to affect college enrollments materially."

Anticipated enrollments in public and nonpublic schools from kindergarten through grade eight are estimated at 34,380,000 for the 50 states and the District of Columbia, an increase of a million.

In grades 9 through 12, the increase will be about 700,000—from 9,590,000 to 10,290,000.

Institutions of higher education, both public and private, will have an increase of 230,000, from 3 1/2 million to 3,980,000.

Lakes Take Drop From '59 Levels

Eight of nine West Texas lakes held less water July 31, 1960, than they did on the same day last year, the State Board of Water Engineers said in a monthly report.

The lakes showing declines are all on the Colorado River or its tributaries—Lake J. B. Thomas in Scurry and Borden counties; Lake Colorado City in Mitchell County; Oak Creek Lake in Coke and Nolan counties; North Concho Lake and Lake Nasworthy in Tom Green County; Hords Creek Reservoir in

The one lake showing an increase is Red Bluff Lake in Reeves and Loving counties on the Pecos River.

During this year's Senate investigations, it was brought out that of the 42,000 school districts in America, only 230 districts had reached their bonded limit. In other words, only one half of one per cent of the school districts in the country have used their available resources to the fullest."

Personal Income Hits Record

The government said a federal pay raise and a spurt in construction work pushed the personal income of individual Americans to a record annual rate of 407 billion dollars in July.

The increase over June was slight, however — one billion dollars or about a fourth of one per cent.

Partly offsetting the effects of the federal pay hike and a pickup in contract construction work here were dips in manufacturing payrolls and farm income.

The Commerce Department's monthly study of personal income was closely in line with earlier economic reports which showed relative midsummer stability in industrial production, employment and retail sales.

These details were given in the report:

Wage and salary payments in the construction industry expanded at the rate of more than 500 million dollars a year. A similar gain was posted for federal payrolls as a result of the July 1 wage increases for Civil Service workers.

However, manufacturing payrolls were down more than 500 million, largely because of lower employment in industries producing primary metals and transportation equipment.

As a result of these and other economic cross currents, the advance in total wage and salary payments was held to 600 million dollars, on an annual basis.

In other income categories, there were offsetting changes in farm earnings and unemployment benefits and an increase in the interest payments collected by individuals.

Lower prices for cattle and calves dropped farm income by 300 million dollars a year. Federal transfer payments—unemployment benefits and Social Security—were up 300 million. This was largely because of the dip in manufacturing jobs.

The other major changes between June and July was a 300-million-dollar increase in interest income.

HOW MANY SLEEP WHO KEEP THE WORLD AWAKE.

—LP— —YOUNG.

There is one kind of sleeplessness which we all have experienced and which seems to have no apparent good cause. You wake up in the dead of night—turn over—try to go back to your slumbers, but somehow you can't do it. Soon, one by one, all the trivial affairs of the day begin to gallop through your brain. Affairs which in bright daylight would give you no thought, but there in the dark, seem so terrifying and important. You try to face the issue by saying to yourself, "I must forget these things." But they persist in popping up and racing around inside your head. You fuss, toss, mutter, and you lie on one side, then the other, then your stomach and on your back. You kick off the sheet, then pull it over your ears. Sometimes the day begins to come before you at last get relief in sleep. In my own case I have found a method which helps me lick this kind of sleeplessness. First I get myself in the most relaxing position I can. Then I say to myself, "nothing is important." If nothing is important, how can these petty things be as big as they seem? It isn't even important that I sleep, and I try to make myself stop going to sleep. I think of those who really believed they were something but who now are just a handful of dust, if that much. They march through my imagination, conquerors, kings, dictators, politicians, actors, musicians, writers. A parade of them who one time tramped the earth, trailing behind them an atmosphere of great importance—all gone! What problems, what failures, and successes they endured and now are nothing. Yet here I lie, letting my petty affairs annoy me. The chances are that I will be asleep long before I get from GROUCHO MARKS to BUFFALO BILL. But if my daytime annoyances are particularly persistent, and this method does not lull me to sleep, I then begin a most enjoyable game. Back in my memory I go to my boyhood days—running barefoot over North Texas pastures—swiping watermelons and eating them on a hot day under the back porch—smelling hamburgers at circus type kitchens on the old Commerce picnic grounds, hooking rides on the back step of the ice wagon that daily passed through the neighborhood—watching kites sail up to the clouds—my first days in school, my first job carrying newspapers for my hometown paper—my first girl, my first dance, the first time I hit a homerun for the high school team—the touchdown that beat Honey Grove, (we called the north Texas town Syrup City) down behind the old barn in the Fannin County city—boy oh boy am I sleepy.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

MARTIN-HOWARD SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT
Jack Buchanan, Bob Cox, Bernard Houston, Larry Shaw, J. D. Crawford.

Several farmers, business men and representatives of different government agencies went on a tour of Martin County Tuesday, August 16. The tour was sponsored by the Martin County Chamber of Commerce and was conducted by Jake Hodges, Soil Conservation Service; Gerald Hanson, a local business man, and Bob Johnson, Martin County Agricultural Agent. Many soil and water conservation practices were seen being applied in this county. The first stop of the tour was at T. D. Barnhill's farm, where land treated for Nematode infestation was seen. The next stop was at W. L. Lindsey's place. Lindsey has a stormproof variety of cotton that was of interest to the people on the tour. The tour then went to Gene Clements' farm where crop rotation was discussed using alfalfa and cotton. Clements is an outstanding conservation farmer who uses alfalfa as a summer cash crop and also as a soil improving crop in his crop rotation system.

Range conservation was observed on L. O. Free's ranch. Free used range pitting to prepare a seed bed for reseeding. The pits catch and hold valuable moisture for young grass plants and give them a chance to establish themselves. The tour went through the dryland section of the county and observed crops and conservation practices. They saw a good strip cropping system on Orris Davis' farm. Davis has feed and peas planted in strips. The peas improve the soil and the grain sorghum add residue to the soil to prevent wind and water erosion. Range land that has been root plowed and seeded with a roller chopper was seen on M. H. Nances' place.

The next stop of the tour was on Bob Cox's farm. Cox was putting up ensilage from different types of sorghum crops. Brush control was seen on Doc Campbell's ranch. Campbell used aerial spraying and deferred grazing to reestablish native grass-

Texas Pay To Jobless $365,593,481

More than $365,593,481 has been paid to the state's jobless since the Texas unemployment compensation law was passed in 1936, Texas Employment Commission said this week.

Texas employers, paying the federal unemployment tax, have pumped $520,726,928 into the compensation fund. Another $94,026,261 was added by interest received from the federal government, which by law has custody of the fund.

About $249,159,708 now is available for unemployment benefits, Coffman said.

I Give You Texas

By BOYCE HOUSE

My debating coach in high school days taught commercial law and I recall one of his stories. Mr. Highsaw told about a rancher who had been on a trip. He wired to his foreman, "Am arriving on Tuesday morning train. Meet me. Bring Shep." Shep was his favorite dog. But the telegraph company delivered the message with the wording, "Bring sheep." So the foreman set out in the middle of the winter with several hundred head of sheep and most of them froze to death. The rancher sued the telegraph company. Did he win? Don't ask me—but I do remember the story.

I was leaving the Piccadilly Cafeteria in Austin recently when a man asked, "Didn't you use to live in Ranger?" I confessed this was true. He said, "You wrote me up when I played high school football. I still have one writup." He was Richard Conley now with the City National Bank in Austin who, around 1930, played in the Bulldog backfield.

Only a few days before, as I was leaving T. C. U. stadium after the Baylor game, a broad-shouldered individual asked, "Aren't you Boyce House?" I owned up that I was me and he said, "I played guard at Ranger and you picked me on your all-state team." (His name: W. E. Mitchell, now living in Gladewater.)

You know, every now and then, an old sports writer has his day brightened up.

In the Middle Ages, if a man was accused of a crime, he was tried by ordeal. He was thrown into a river and if he didn't drown, this proved he was guilty and they hung him. If he drowned, this proved he was innocent and they buried him.

In the time of Charles Dickens, if a man didn't pay his debts, he was imprisoned. If a man couldn't pay his debts when he was free, how could he pay them if he was in jail, without a chance to work and earn?

I reckon I'm just stupid not to be able to understand these things.
