By JAMES E. KELLY

THE VETERAN EDITOR FRANK GRIMES of the Abilene Reporter has taken to his hospital bed at Sanatorium, Texas. Friends hope his illness will be of short duration. The visitors Mr. Grimes has had from Abilene have been many. He reports: "The visits break the monotony of talking 42 to 43 pills per day plus a hip shot."

—SK—
I'M DIFFERENT TO THE FELLOW who publically announces on the streets that he doesn't like to see his name in the newspaper. The newspaper has his number and usually accommodates him in its columns. When a news story breaks with some worthwhile achievement he's the principal participant whose name is omitted and he gets as mad as a wet hen. There is a reason. Down deep in his heart nestles the true nature of the man. He really likes publicity—that is the right kind. I'm different for I like to see my name in the newspapers. Recently I had a visit in my home with E. D. Alexander.

Bisons Seeking Second Triumph

Stanton goes against an old rival, Coahoma, in the Howard County city Friday night.

Fresh from a thrilling 44-0 victory over the Big Lake Owls, the Bisons will be out after their second consecutive triumph.

The Buffs are now standing fifty-fifth in the win-loss column. The loss to Merkel will not go into the district record books nor will the win registered here Friday night of last week over Big Lake count in the championship play Coahoma will also be in the same category.

The interesting feature of the coming Friday night contest will be the fact that there always is strong rivalry between the Stanton Buffs and the Coahoma Bulldogs. A victory over the Bulldogs could well set the Buffs for a long victory march that would extend into district play.

The team is "up" for Coahoma. They will have plenty of backing. (Continued on page 4)

Bisons Start Victory Swing With 44-0 Victory Over Owls

Dry footballs were in great demand here Friday night when the Stanton Bisons tangled with the Big Lake Owls on a wet and sloppy field.

Stanton won the contest 44-0. It was a big night for the local aggregation and put them on the victory path for the first time this season.

The game was characterized by every quarter and taking advantage of fumbles and penalties. The age of Owl fumbles to account for visitors passing attack was weak three of the touchdowns, and they couldn't hold on to the Big Lake won the toss of the coin pigskin long enough to do any and elected to receive. On the kick good on the ground. The Buffs sharp-off, righthalf Joe Aguerro made a ed in the fumble department too but runback of 20 yards to his own 45, they managed to recover the major-only to fumble on the next play, it of their miscues. Stanton recovered the ball and

Cap Rock Electric Co-Op Breaks Power Sales Record

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative broke all records for power sales during August.

The 8,635,390 KWH metered to customers during the month was a million more than the previous peak of 7,630,500 for August of 1959. This brought to 34,929,802 the KWH sold during the first eight months of the year. For the same period a year ago the total was 30,181,666. In all of 1959, sales amounted to 41,433,306, so 1960 is in a good way to establish a new record in business for one year.

In August the system purchased 9,951,480 KWH, making 40,585,720 compared with 8,910,280 KWH in August of 1959, or 35,128,750 KWH for the comparable period of 1959.

Philosopher Not Sure He Can Vote Right Enough To Keep World From Collapsing

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw ponders a serious matter this week, his letter reveals. He'll probably get over it.

Dear editor:

There's one thing about history that I've never been able to understand. Well, that's just a manner of saying it, actually there are thousands of things about history I've never understood, and even more I don't even know about, but the thing that I'm referring to now is this:

How is it that fateful crossroads in history always looms up simultaneously with a Presidential election?

As long as I can remember, I can't recall a time when, every fourth year along in September, the fate of the world wasn't considered to be hanging on the outcome of the election in November.

I don't understand how this comes about, but it does, and what is even more surprising is how the American people always seem to make the right choice. At least they always must have, as so far the world never has collapsed yet after an election in the United States. When

I've often sat and pondered what would have happened to the world if all the defeated candidates for President had been elected and the successful ones had been defeated. I figure the world would have collapsed fifteen or twenty elections ago, but how it could have continued to collapse every four years there after, is a puzzling thought.

Understand, I'm not belittling the importance of the Presidential race, but I sometimes think the candidates and their supporters get a little out of touch with reality. The world is not nearly as collapsible as some people think.

These are critical times all right, and something ought to be done about it, but so far I haven't been able to find anybody who knows exactly what.

For example, take Cuba and Castro. Up to now, the only thing I've read about the Cuban situation that any expert cares to go on record with is this: The United States takes a very serious view of the Cuban situation.

The only trouble with this is that Castro doesn't seem to take a very serious view of our serious view. This makes the situation even more serious, but no nearer solution. Or take the Congo, or China, etc.

I will do my best in November to keep the world from collapsing when I go to vote, but it's an awful responsibility to put on my shoulders, and I may not have the materials to do it with.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

THE FORT STOCKTON PIONEER: "For the first time in four years, Fort Stockton's first day school enrollment has failed to establish a new record for number of students. Enrollment as the fall term got underway totalled 2,068 in the city's six schools. This is four less than the 2,072 school officials had anticipated."

THE ANDREWS COUNTY NEWS: "Activity in the county juvenile office was relative quiet during August, according to a monthly report, with all cases being unofficial, that is requiring no court action. Juvenile officer Harold Biggs handled 13 cases during August as opposed to 12 in July. However, the July cases included five official cases in which required detention in the county jail."

THE MUNDAY TIMES reported two men, William H. (Bill) Wright and Billy Frank Fitzgerald, were granted licenses to preach in the Methodist Church. THE TIMES said, "Both men had been recommended earlier by the quarterly conference of the Munday Methodist Church and they appeared before the district committee on qualifications last week."

A parade Saturday morning opened activities for the Loraine community fair, which was sponsored by the Loraine Lions Club. THE MITCHELL COUNTY NEWS reported exhibits included farm exhibits, antiques, women's division and others. Special entertainment included a concert by the Loraine high school band, acts by the Roscoe trampoline group, and singing by the Lionettes.

THE POST DISPATCH: "Burglars, three of them known to be juveniles, have struck at four business places, the Boy Scout Camp and the American Legion Hall since last Friday night. Three juveniles, one 15 and the other two 13 years old, have admitted breaking into Greenfield Hardware, and the American Legion Hall. A break-in at the Boy Scout Camp building, burglaries at Maxine's Gift Shop and Shyles Implement Company and a break-in at the M. J. Malouf Dry Goods Store had not been solved at last report."

THE DENVER CITY PRESS: "The 1960 school year in Denver City schools is off to a flying start, with a new record being set for total enrollment each time a new student enrolls. J. W. Jones, superintendent of schools, said that enrollment of the local district has reached 1,506, a gain of 15 over first day enrollment in the local schools. Jones said the figure represents the greatest number of students to ever enroll in the local district during the first two weeks of a term."

THE MERKEL MAIL: "Bill Day of Ahlens and Randon Winter of Merkel, killed a 5-foot 7½-inch rattlesnake with a shotgun near Bitter Creek, seven miles northwest of Merkel. The snake, which was nine inches in diameter at its thickest point, had 14 rattlers and some had broken off."

Bible Comment

City Of Sin Was Springboard For Christianity

The new disciples of Jesus were called "Christians" first in Antioch, in Syria. This city of outward grandeur and proportions was a city of paradox. The moral corruption of its people beneath the grandeur and the seeming culture was such that when a Roman orator deplored the moral-decay of Rome, he did so by saying that "the Orientals had overthrown the Tiber."

Surely this was a strange place for Christianity to take its rise. The beliefs, character and ideals of these early Christians were so much at variance with the life of the prosperous and licentious city that not only was the contrast so extreme, but it seemed incredible that so small a group, probably called Christians as a nickname or term of reproach, could presume to attain any supremacy. Yet, the great city on the Orontes is a thing of the past, centuries ago gone down in ruin, while the Christianity that the little group represented, coming from Jerusalem and taking hold in Antioch, has spread and taken root in every part of the world.

Yet, the more one thinks of it, Antioch was a fitting place for Christianity to assume its new missionary beginning; for is not the purpose of Christianity to conquer sin and licentiousness, to take root in an evil world and grow, conquering the evil?

Associated with this city of Antioch is the first missionary journey of Paul and Barnabas. When the disciples, at Jerusalem heard how deeply the new faith had taken hold at Antioch, they sent Barnabas, a good man and true, as their representative to this new Christian community. Barnabas went to Tarsus, where he found Saul, the new convert, henceforth known as Paul, and from Antioch, these two men stretched out through Asia Minor in their first missionary journey.

Forecast Up For Texas Sorghum Crop

The Agriculture department forecast a major increase Friday in Texas sorghum production as compared with the prospects a month ago.

The estimate was 276,432,000 bushels, compared with 240,714,000 Aug. 1. Production last year was 277,699,000 bushels.

Estimated production of other Texas crops as of Sept. 1, compared with a month ago and a year ago included:

Corn: 31,234,000, 32,592,000 and 42,728,000.

Oats: 28,730,000, 28,730,000 and 26,473,000.

Rice: 12,937,000 hundredweight, 13,344,000, and 13,136,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin and Mrs. Don Hightower visited recently in San Angelo.

Dawson Cotton Prospects Good

Dawson County expects to produce an estimated 156,000 bales of cotton this fall, Garvin Wilkes, Texas Employment Commission manager, said recently at a meeting of the farm labor committee.

The prediction was based on a yield of 45 bale per acre from dryland and 1.2 bales per acre of cotton from irrigated land last year.

Seasonal migratory labor requirements were established at 18,500 persons by the peak period, the middle of this month, Wilkes said.

Of the total yield expected in the county this year, 12,500 bales will probably be harvested by mechanical means, Wilkes said.

August Accident Report Released By Texas DPS

Five accidents were recorded in Martin County during August, Captain Ray Butler, commanding officer of the Midland Highway Patrol District, said this week.

Butler said three persons were injured in the five accidents and the property damage amounted to $3,900.

During August 22 rural traffic deaths were recorded in the 24 county West Texas District, Butler said. "This is the worst month we have experienced this year with rural traffic fatalities, in fact it is the most deaths recorded since October of 1959, when 24 rural traffic deaths occurred," Butler said.

He continued, "Another fact, we have had 62 rural traffic accidents the first eight months of 1960 as compared with 66 rural fatal accidents for the same period in 1959, but 20 more persons have died in four less accidents this year."

"We face a rather grim problem, and we solicit the cooperation of each motorist to assist us every way possible, to turn this trend back," Butler concluded.

Ector County recorded seven deaths during August 1960, with Reeves and Ward Counties running a close second with five deaths each. Pecos County had one traffic death during August and Culberson, Howard and Midland had one death each.

Recent guests with Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Greenlee were Mr. and Mrs. Don Greenlee and family, Mitchell and Leslie Ann, of Crane.

Church added two points by carrying the ball over the line standing up.

Big Lake got the ball on their own five yard line, picked up a first down and then fumbled again.

Right end Herb Sorley fell on the ball for the Buffaloes at the Big Lake 25 yard line and four plays later fullback Jimmy Sale carried the ball for the second touchdown with the try for extra points dying short of the goal to bring the score to 14-0.

Another Owl fumble gave the Buffaloes the ball shortly before the end of the quarter, but it was returned in the second quarter when they recovered a fumble by Church on their own 35 yard line. Slipping and sliding on the wet field, the Owls mounted a 32 yard drive only to lose the ball on downs just inside Stanton territory.

Hard driving runs by left halfback Thadd Koonce, right halfback Tommy Newman and quarterback Church carried the ball back to Big Lake ground and another touchdown. Church went for the touchdown and several seconds later garnered the extra points.

The Owls took the ball on their own 34 yard line and moved into high gear for the first time to carry the ball to the Stanton seven yard line, with two first downs along the way for their only serious scoring threat of the night. After two incomplete passes and two short runs the Owls gave the ball back to Stanton as the half came to a close.

When play resumed, Stanton took the kickoff on their 20 and ran it back to the 40 yard line. Eleven plays and three first downs later Newman carried the ball for the fourth Buffalo score. Church running for the extra points failed to make scrimmage and the Buffaloes kicked off.

Big Lake made a fifteen yard runback to their own 35 yard line, but unable to get their war machine moving, kicked on the fourth down.

The Buffaloes racked up a first down and then lost the ball on a fumble, but retaliated two plays later by intercepting an Owl pass which set up the fifth Stanton touchdown by Koonce, with Sale making good for the extra points in the first few seconds of the fourth quarter.

Left guard Arnold Fincher recovered an Owl fumble for the Buffaloes two plays after the kickoff and Newman carried it 22 yards in three plays for another touchdown and then added the extra points.

Stanton kicked the ball, Big Lake received but couldn't mount an offensive. In an exciting play, the Owls punted and raced down field to cover it. They lost the ball on another fumble two plays later.

Stanton took over, ran four plays and then gave the ball up on downs leaving just enough time in the game for the Owls to run three plays and pick up a first down just as the game ended.

TEXAN IN TURKEY—

Sheep Necessary In Lives Of Turks

By Sherty Shelburne

IZMIR, TURKEY — A Texas cow man would have a hard time in this country because over here sheep have it so far ahead of cows in importance it's no contest. Everywhere you go, it seems, the sheep are with you.

Sheep long have been important to the Turkish people for food, in their religion, and in a number of other ways. For these reasons, the woolly critters continue to hold a high position.

The Turkish people consume much more mutton than beef. Pork never is eaten due to a religious belief. Consequently, Turkish meat markets always are well supplied with mutton.

The sheep are dressed whole for the meat markets and are displayed prominently in the market window. They always are hung from the back legs and the window of every meat market has the same appearance.

Sheep are used for ceremonial purposes during one religious holiday period. The holiday season lasts four days with the sheep being sacrificed on the first day. For several weeks prior to the holiday period, sheep are herded about the streets by the hundreds so people can make their selections for the sacrifice.

The sheep in the holiday flocks often are painted on top of the head and possibly down the middle of the back. Some are often outfitted in elaborate costumes or adorned with bright ribbon about the neck.

The holiday isn't necessary to make sheep plentiful in the streets however. It's a common occurrence to see a herdsman lead a flock through a busy city intersection while automobile tires squeal, horns blow, and irate drivers hurl purple passages at the sheep and their master.

Neither the sheep nor the herdsman seem too concerned over all the noise and shouting. They know the sheep were here first and they are pretty certain they are here to stay. They are not so sure about the automobile.

SHEEP HAVE RIGHT-OF-WAY — This waterfront thoroughfare is one of the busiest in Izmir, Turkey, but flocks of sheep are moved along it almost every day, seemingly paying little attention to the speeding automobiles which pass dangerously close.

Sandhill Crane Still Protected Under Texas Law

Although the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has set a 30-day open season on lesser sandhill cranes (known as the little brown crane) for West Texas and New Mexico, it will be illegal to shoot them under existing state laws. This was the announcement this week of Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

This is the first approved hunting season on this species, protected under the migratory bird treaty by Canada and the United States. For a number of years farmers in eastern New Mexico and West Texas have complained of crop depredations by these birds. At the same time, Canadian farmers also complained of crop damages.

The cranes nest in Canada. However, their young are so nearby like the protected whoopers no season has been permitted there. This caused the Canadian wildlife officials to seek the season for West Texas and New Mexico, and such a season was set for the month of January, 1961.

A check of the law books of Texas, however, indicates it still is illegal to kill these cranes within the state. Under the federal law the bag limit had been set at two per day and two in possession.

"... A free and wise society must expect the educator to point courageously at the faults from which it suffers, and to seek remedies for them..." —Robert Ulich

In addition to other business transacted, the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors approved soil and water conservation plans for G. E. Cave, Ed Smith, and Douglas Church at their regular monthly meeting. These conservation plans were for both dryland and irrigated farms.

"While the farmer holds title to the land, actually, it belongs to all the people because civilization itself rests on the soil." —Thomas Jefferson.

Just around the corner is the season for constructing terraces on cropland. There are many farms in this area that should be terraced to protect the land from water erosion and to help hold the rainfall on the land so that it can be used to produce better crops. Leo Batson and Dudley McKaskle are two farmers who plan to construct terraces on their land this year.

Sgt. and Mrs. James T. Murdock and daughter, Nedra, of Fort Worth have been visiting with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Murdock. They spent a week here and then left for Korea, where he will be stationed with the U. S. Army.

Kelsey Meek, who attends Trinity University in San Antonio, visited recently with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Haggard.

Record Harvest Predicted For U. S. Crops

The Agricultural Department said Friday a record harvest now seems likely with most major crops registering gains during the last month.

Based on Sept. 1 estimates, the production index for all crops edged upward to 120 per cent of the 1947-1959 average, to widen the margin over the former record of 118 per cent for the 1953 and 1959 crop seasons.

The department said feed grains and oilseed crops made substantial improvements during the month, while hay and forage, cotton and tobacco showed slight advances.

Food grains, vegetables and sugar crops were unchanged from a month ago.

The department estimated this year's corn crop at 4,182,467,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 1,567,711,000 bushels.

The corn figure is 70,513,000 bushels more than last month's official forecast of 4,111,954,000 bushels. It compares also with last year's record crop of 4,361,170,000 bushels and with the 10-year (1949-1959) average of 3,270,642,000 bushels.

The wheat estimate is 5,743,000 bushels more than last month's forecast of 1,361,968,000 bushels. It compares also with 1,128,151,000 produced last year and 1,092,071,000 for the 10-year average.

The indicated production of other crops compared with last month, last year and the 10-year average, respectively, included:

Oats 1,178,065,000 bushels this month; 1,196,617,000 last month; 1,073,982,000 last year and 1,302,998,000 for the 10-year average.

Barley 414,922,000; 410,967,000; 420,191,000 and 334,266,000.

Rye 31,064,000; 31,064,000; 21,435,000 and 23,164,000.

Sorghum grain 590,613,000 bushels; 538,385,000; 579,170,000 and 261,008,000.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jones have returned home from Franklin where they attended the wedding of Mrs. Jones' nephew, Larry Clements and Elizabeth Hicks.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

Livestock Needs Salt

Occasionally advise a "low-sodium diet" for some heart and kidney patients, and people sometimes ask, if this sort of diet is recommended, why worry if farm animals go without salt for periods of time. It should be understood that a human patient on a low-salt diet is, or should be, under close supervision of a physician. Without a doctor's watching the patient's condition would be floundering with danger.

Medical authorities call attention to the risks involved in low-salt, or salt-free diets, especially during hot weather when the body loses salt through excessive sweating. A person with a low sodium reserve may suffer serious—even fatal consequences. Here is where animal experimentation has erected many glaring danger signals. Chickens, sheep, pigs, horses, cattle and laboratory animals, even fish, suffer when salt-starved. Symptoms have varied all the way from unthriftiness and slow growth or production, to a gradual wasting away and death. These symptoms developed because salt and its two elements, sodium and chlorine are involved in all vital body processes, in respiration, digestion and blood circulation. Shortage change any one of these functions in their essential chemical requirements, and the results can be serious.

Here are a few of the uses of salt in the body of man or beast: The chlorine is needed for the hydrochloric acid of the stomach juice to enable the digestion of protein. The sodium is an important constituent of the bile and is necessary for intestinal digestion of all nutrients. Sodium also figures in the sodium bicarbonate of the blood for carrying poisonous carbon dioxide out of the body through the lungs.

Other functions of salt affect the response of muscles and nerves. In fact there are few body processes that do not in some degree make use of salt.

Blood surely is identified with life itself. Its liquid part, the plasma, contains six per cent salt in addition to two per cent sodium bicarbonate. For robust good health, salt is as essential as any other nutrient. Be sure salt is mixed with the feed and, for larger farm animals, be sure salt is also available free choice at all times.

Question: Are cobalt "bullet" the answer to the problem of cobalt deficiencies?

Answer: Tests show these bullets or pellets are effective, but so is the cobalt of trace mineral salt. As for economy, bullet treatments cost about $1.40 per cattle and $2 cents for sheep. With a price differential of $18.00 per ton between plain salt and trace mineral salt, cobalt can be provided in trace mineral salt for the meager fraction of the cost of the bullets, and with all of the other trace minerals as a bonus.

Keeping up with neighbor Jones is a problem.

But keeping up with the multitude of manufacturers of the various and sundry items for outdoorsmen is many times more difficult. It's expensive, too!

There must be a million different products designed especially for those who fish, hunt, swim, ski, hike, go boating, or just plain camp out.

And — friend wife contends that we already have most of these items. But the little woman is wrong there. She doesn't know the half of it — in fact even a fraction of it. There are millions of items we don't have! Trouble with her is that she's looking at the multitude of canceled checks . . . and comparing them with the small bank balance.

However, she is right in many respects. Looking back I find that I do buy nearly every lure that's advertised in the local newspaper. Also I've purchased most of the rods and reels that have been "specialized" in the press. My resistance always weakens when a store runs one of those "introductory" or "special-price" offers. I'm a sucker for such deals. If I can save money I'll buy most anything.

In fact the wife remarked just the other day, that if I didn't quit saving money that way we'd soon be broke. "We just can't afford to save any more," she warned.

There's a merchant in our town whose name is Dan. He has three stores. Biggest is a general-merchandise type of store, but it stresses things for the sportsman — everything from teas to tents.

He's a big buyer and sells at a small margin of profit. Every time he runs an ad his store swarms with customers. Usually I'm one of them. I keep our fishing and hunting gear, as well as our boating extras, in a small storeroom in our fishing shack on the lake. I'll admit the room is pretty well packed.

American Taxes At Record High

Americans paid a record total of 100 billion dollars in taxes to Federal, state and local government in 1959, the Census Bureau said this week.

The payments, which compared with $98,400,000,000 a year earlier, were made during the fiscal years which ended at different times during 1959, varying with the government concerned.

On a per person basis, taxes totaled $567.04, this was less than the 1958 level of $567.86 because the population grew a bit faster than tax collections.

The record for collections per person — $579.19 — was recorded in 1957.

Federal tax collections per person during fiscal 1959 amounted to $381.35. State and local governments collected $185.69.

The biggest revenue producer was, as usual, the federal individual income tax. It brought in $208.20 per person. At the state and $54.59 for streets and highways rank-local level, the biggest taxes were next.

property levies, $87.03 per person; sales taxes, $59.18; and income taxes, $11.31.

Federal tax revenues declined from 68 billion dollars to $67,300,000,000 in fiscal 1959 because of the delayed tax effect of the 1958 recession. However, the drop was more than offset by an increase in state and local tax collections from $30,400,000,000 to $32,700,000,000.

The three levels of government spent $124,800,000,000 during fiscal 1959, or considerably more than they received from taxes. The difference was financed through non-tax revenues and borrowings.

Federal spending totaled $75,300,000,000, while the states spent 17½ billions and local governments close to 32 billions.

On a per person basis, the biggest single item was federal defense spending at $274.37. State and local spending of $99.13 for education and $208.20 per person. At the state and $54.59 for streets and highways rank-local level, the biggest taxes were next.

Stanton Shows 39.1 Increase In Population

Stanton's population has increased 39.1 per cent in the last ten years according to the preliminary report on the 1960 census released this week by the Bureau of the Census.

The population of Stanton on April 1, 1950, according to the Bureau was 2,229. Stanton's population in 1950 was 1,603.

An increase of 23 per cent in the population of Texas was reported. The population of Texas on April 1, 1960 was 9,488,620, the Bureau has announced.

The report lists population of all Texas counties and all incorporated towns and cities having populations of 1,000 or more.

The Texas report shows 54 incorporated places with over 1,000 people in a 54-county area of West Texas. Some of the counties have more than one town included in the report while others don't have any.

The Bureau of the Census did not report on such towns as Ozona and Sanderson which have more than 1,000 population but are not incorporated.

In the report Midland's population is shown as 62,497, which is a 187.8 per cent increase over a population of 21,713 in 1950. Big Spring's population is 30,988, which is a 79.3 per cent increase over a population of 17,285 in 1950.

Other area towns, their 1960 population, 1950 population and per cent of increase according to the preliminary report are: Odessa, 79,123, 29,485, 168.3; Lamesa 11,618, 10,704, 8.5; Abilene, 89,428, 45,570, 96.2; Andrews, 11,626, 3,294, 252.9; Coahoma, 1,217, 882, 51.7; and San Angelo, 57,811, 52,963, 11.

Recent guests with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clements were their sons-in-law and daughters, Major and Mrs. J. W. Smith and children of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Harrison and son of Midkiff.

Pick Up Birds Is Advice From Warden Chief

"Pick up those birds," warns the director of law enforcement, Game and Fish Commission. "Some hunters are careless about recovering their kills when they go into the field to hunt doves and whitewings. These people are detrimental to the honest and responsible hunters and fail to see the damage this causes to the bird crop."

The director encourages every hunter to make an honest attempt to search out any and all birds killed or wounded. He reminds shotgunners that picking a stand is important to the recovery of birds. First, don't shoot a bird if it will fall into heavy brush. "It's best to let the bird escape than to waste it," he said.

Second, if you shoot a bird, be certain to mark it even if it falls into an open field. "Get a line on something in the background and walk straight toward it keeping a sharp eye on the ground. A dove blends well with the soil in most areas."

Those hunters who abide by the law and have faith in rules and regulations can help themselves by reminding irresponsible hunters who leave their birds lie, that it's wrong, and can't be tolerated. If it continues, report them to a game warden.

One reminder suggested by the warden chief is that "even if a hunter fails to recover his birds, he had better keep a close count of them. Wardens will be in most areas, and they will apprehend a hunter for shooting more than his limit, whether he picks them up or not."

March of Dimes Support Urged by Mother Who Lost Birth Defects Baby in 49 Days

(Editor's Note: Mary Strous, young Laureville, Ohio, mother, tells in her own words the tragic story of what happens in a family when a child is born with a serious birth defect.)

By MARY STROUS

Our baby Laura was born on Mother's Day seven years ago. We lost Laura seven weeks later on Father's Day.

She gave a soft little sigh as she died in my arms. My husband and I buried her with the rattle to which she had clung tightly during her brief life.

But Laura, who died of the terrible birth defects known as open spine and too much fluid on the brain, still lives in the hearts of her father, Don and myself. When asked by strangers, we always say we have three daughters (instead of really only two), and I want to explain why.

We feel that each of us, including our tiny Laura, is brought into the world to serve a purpose, even if our stay on earth is as tragically short as 49 days.

For years we were numbed by our baby's passing. But today we recognize that in being asked by The National Foundation to renew our memories of those despairing seven weeks, my husband and I are somehow fulfilling the purpose of Laura's fleeting visit with us.

That purpose is to repeat as forcefully as we can the lessons we have learned:

1. Scientists insist that parents should not be ashamed of the birth of an infant with a congenital malformation; instead, face the situation bravely and seek professional advice. Feelings of guilt aren't justified.

2. There is no medical evidence that birth defects are always hereditary; and

3. There is no evidence that because a couple have had one defective baby, they are likely to have another. Doctors at Columbus, Ohio, near our farm at Laureville, said our chances of having another malformed baby were something like one in 40,000. (Donna Marguerite,

Mary Strous, of Ohio, and daughters Julie Ann, two, and Donna Marguerite, five, study photos of youngest child, Laura, who died of birth defects at seven weeks.

five years old, and Julie Ann, two, who followed Laura after Don and I had reflected deeply and sought advice, could not be healthier or more normal.)

But by no means have Don and I forgotten our helplessness and indeed our self-loathing during those 49 days and nights when we took turns holding Laura in our arms, or sat hour after hour beside her bassinet, watching life drain from her eyes.

We detested ourselves because of torments that something was wrong with us physically, or that a shameful defect had been inherited from our forebears (later proved untrue), and that we were thus responsible for this cruelty to an innocent baby.

Never will we forget the frantic drive, while our baby was dying, to our church so that she might be baptized before she left us. In some way our congregation had learned of the reason for our headlong visit, and the tears of those sorrowing folks flowed with ours.

Our Laura was one of 250,000 babies born each year in our country with significant birth defects; that tragic total is growing with our increasing population. Our baby was one of 34,000 who in addition die annually from these congenital malformations; and that awful figure is also mounting.

At last, something constructive is being done about birth defects. With March of Dimes contributions, The National Foundation is directing a broad study of this devastating puzzle, just as it fought polio and in time found the Salk vaccine to prevent it.

With a donation in January from each of us, in time there will be many fewer Lauras in our land.

Hunters Should Respect Farm, Ranch Property

Have you ever asked, and been refused, permission to hunt on someone's farm or ranch? If you have, you probably could not understand why the landowner refused your request. Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist, says that you were probably the victim of some earlier hunter's discourteous or irresponsible actions. You have a chance to prevent this same thing from happening to some other hunter, continues Cooper.

Landowner-sportsman relations need improving, and the next few months—the hunting seasons—are the best time to accomplish this. Cooper offers a few tips on hunting courtesy that will help you and the landowner become friends.

Ask permission to hunt on any land or water.

Respect property. Obey the laws on bag limits, shooting seasons and shooting hours. Inform the landowner when and where you will be hunting. Do not invite friends to hunt with you unless the landowner has given permission.

Handle firearms in a safe manner at all times. Make certain that you do not fire toward people, buildings or livestock.

Offer to pay for any damages done to the property of the landowner.

Offer to pay for privilege of hunting. Make sure that all gates are closed behind you.

Be courteous and friendly. Cooper concludes by saying that the hunter should remember that the farm or ranch is a place of business for the owner. He will appreciate your respect and interest in treating his property as a means of livelihood.

Texas Farm And Ranch Safety Council To Award Rural Heroes

Texans who exhibit exceptional bravery during a time of crisis or disaster are eligible for the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council's "Rural Heroism Awards."

Three properly engraved plaques will be presented to as many state winners during the annual meeting of the Texas Safety Association next March. Certificates with local presentations are planned for all nominees, according to the Council announcement.

Any heroic act involving personal danger or sacrifice to aid and assist others in time of crisis is eligible for entry in the program, provided the act was performed during 1960. Deadline for nominations is February 1, 1961. Nominations may be made by any person or group and they should include complete information and substantiating evidence of the heroic act. This material will be used by the program judge to determine the three state winners.

Nominations should be sent to Heroism Award, Texas Safety Association, 430 Littlefield Building, Austin, Texas.

The Council's Award Committee with L. O. Tiedt of Houston as chairman said that last year's single state winner was J. Manuel Corral, a Mexican bracero laborer who was lowered into an abandoned irrigation well to rescue a three year old boy. This incident occurred in the Dell City area of Hudspeith County.

Acts of bravery occur in many Texas communities each year, and while they do not go unnoticed, the Council wants to express its appreciation to those responsible for making life more pleasant and enjoyable in Texas, especially the rural areas.

Local county agents and teachers of vocational agriculture and Farm Bureaus have, or will soon have, available details on the program.

More Hunter Permits Issued For Antelope

More hunters will be allowed to take antelope this year than at any time since they have been restored to the list of legal game. This was the announcement this week of Capt. E. M. Sprott, director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

West Texas land owners have been given permits to take 2030 antelope in the Trans-Pecos area. An additional 300 probably will be issued in the Panhandle after the census there has been completed.

The Trans-Pecos season will be October 1-7, inclusive. After a census check by biologists permits were issued for 1649 bucks and 381 doe. Several other small ranches also may be added to the list to increase the number slightly.

The hunts are conducted by the land owners, who have charge of the permits after they are issued by the Game and Fish Commission. Prices generally range from $20 to $40 for doe and $40 to $60 for killing bucks. There have been a few instances where even higher prices have been charged on choice hunting sites.

There will be short seasons in the Panhandle also. In Dallam, Hartley, and Moore counties, and Oldham county north of the Canadian River, shooting will be permitted October 14, 15, and 16. In Roberts, Hutchinson, and Potter and Oldham county south of the Canadian, the season will be October 18, 19, and 20.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Moffett and children of Snyder visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Bentley.

Mrs. G. W. Alsup and Betty Alsup of Midland are on a vacation trip to Hawaii. They are to return home around September 20.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cornelius visited recently in Odessa with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thomas and family.

Walter McCain, father of Mrs. George Cornelius, is visiting in Dallas with another daughter, Mrs. Selmer Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stone and children of Midland visited recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Coggin.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD

He will not try to muzzle anyone who wants to complain about the National Democratic Party platform, says Gov. Price Daniel.

But the state Democratic convention in Dallas Sept. 20 is not the place, said the governor, to debate the pros and cons of the national platform. This convention, he said, is traditionally for the purpose of writing a state platform and certifying Democratic nominees for state office.

Edward J. Drake, chairman of the Dallas County delegations, wrote the governor that the Dallasites would like to have a "full and factual" discussion of the national platform at the Sept. 20 meeting.

Governor Daniel said there are planks in the National Democratic platform to which he is definitely opposed. But he said he didn't feel there was enough difference between the Democratic and Republican platform to justify criticizing one with out applying the same criticisms to the other.

Governor Daniel said he was definitely opposed to freeing the Texas Democratic electors, as proposed by some, to vote for whom they please. He said he felt it was a matter of "simple integrity" for the Democratic electors to vote for the Democratic candidates if the party carries the state.

Since the Los Angeles convention, the governor's position has been to work for the Democratic ticket without endorsing the total platform.

SCHOOLS NOT PENALIZED — A ruling by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has provided a way out for Texas schools faced with conflicting state and federal orders regarding integration.

State law provides that a school system which integrates without approval of local voters loses state aid. Wilson ruled that this does not apply if the school is complying with a federal court order to integrate.

However, the ruling did not knock down the state law in question. Wilson said the schools that are not under federal court order and integrate without approval in a local election would still lose state aid and accreditation.

Immediately affected were two large school systems — in Houston and Dallas — both of whom are under court order to begin gradual integration plans.

SALES TAX NEED SEEN — Next year's money needs will be so staggering the Legislature will have to resort to sales taxing, general or selective, to keep the boat afloat.

This prediction is made by Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria, chairman of the Texas Commission on State and Local Tax Policy. Fly was defeated in his race for re-election last May but contended his tax stand had nothing to do with it.

Those who do come back, said Fly, may face the need to raise as much as $108,000,000 in new money. This is the estimated new revenue need if the Legislature enacts bills to raise teacher pay and provide medical aid for oldsters—both programs with wide popular support.

Latest report by the tax study group shows that Texas families are now paying less state taxes than the national average. Annual state tax bite on a theoretical "average" Texas family is $115.89 a year. Nationally, the "average" family pays a state tax bill of $235.51 a year.

MEDICAL AID URGED — Legislation to provide state-federal payments for medical care for Texans on an old age assistance has near-top priority on his list, says Governor Daniel.

He noted that there are in state mental hospitals some 3,000 oldsters who are not really mentally ill, but who have no other place to go.

A medical aid program that would make possible the care of these people in nursing homes or their own homes would be "a great step forward," said the governor.

Enactment of such a program, he told the statewide Conference on Aging, is "near the top of the list of unfinished business of this administration."

He noted that a constitutional amendment to make such a program possible was approved by Texas voters nearly two years ago.

INVESTMENT EASING SOUGHT — State Board of Education will ask the next Legislature to pass a law allowing investment of some of the permanent school fund in corporate stocks and bonds.

Object would be to obtain higher earnings from the $400,000,000 trust and provide a hedge against future inflation. Investment in corporate securities has already been allowed under the law for the University of Texas permanent fund, but the pub-

Jobs Decrease During August

Both the number of jobholders and unemployment declined in August in what was a somewhat less favorable job picture. It showed a sizable jump in the idle rate.

The Labor Department reported this week that employment declined from 68,689,000 in July to 68,282,000 in August, a drop of 407,000.

This is a record for August. But the seasonal trend is for the employment total to remain almost unchanged from July.

Unemployment declined from 4,017,000 in July to 3,788,000 in August, a decrease of 229,000.

The total work force declined by 636,000. Most of the drop was in agriculture as expected.

The rate of unemployment to the total work force rose from 5.4 per cent in July to 5.9 per cent in August—the highest such idle rate since last November.

Seymour Wolfbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor, said, however, that the ideal rate does not take into account the early automobile industry model changovers this year. He said the department never has been able to adjust properly for seasonal changes in the auto industry.

On the over-all job picture, Wolfbein said that employment is continuing to move along "at a very high plateau." But, he said, this bright picture on the employment side is tempered by reduced job holding in the steel industry.

As for unemployment, Wolfbein said the idle figures have not "satisfied expectations," for improvement.

He said that unemployment while declining 229,000 in August should have declined on a seasonal basis by some 500,000.

Non-agricultural employment, at 61,826,000, represented the highest total in history. Non-farm payroll employment, at 53,360,000, set a record for August.

CHILDREN ARE THE TOMORROW OF SOCIETY.

—WHATELY.

Try and keep in mind this new school year and always that America's future depends on the boys and girls of today. We must give them every opportunity.

We had a nice personal letter from Supreme Court Justice ROBERT W. (BOB) HAMILTON this week. JUDGE HAMILTON will be the principal speaker at the Northeast Texas Bar Association when that group meets in Mt. Pleasant on September 17. In his letter to the launcher he also sent a "hello" to JIM KELLY.

It is a happy privilege to welcome BOBBY SALE, son of MR. and MRS. J. C. SALE to the sports staff. BOBBY is well qualified to handle the chores. Unfortunately BOBBY had to give up football due to injuries received a few days ago but his team and school spirit is just as strong as ever.

We send sincere sympathy to JACK ROGERS in his hour of sorrow. JACK'S 86-year old Dad passed away in Big Spring Saturday night and funeral services were conducted in the Howard County city on Monday afternoon. JACK is a pharmacist. His only brother, DR. LEE ROGERS is the mayor of our sister city to the east.

A feature story on GUY (GUYBO) BROWN, our favorite young reporter is scheduled to appear in the coming issue of the official publication of the West Texas Press Association. GUY was our guest when the annual convention was held in Pecos recently. Both MAC McKAY and the writer enjoyed watching GUYBO having fun and mixing and mingling so wonderfully well with our brothers in the fourth estate.

Congratulations are in order for O. B. BRYAN. O. B. cited for two decades of service to CAP ROCK ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE at the recent annual meeting held in Big Spring. BRYAN received the plaque from employees and GLENN GATES made the presentation. O. B. BRYAN was employed as the first manager of the CO-OP on July 8, 1940 and has held the position continuously since that date.

REV. ELLIS TODD, pastor of THE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH, was by the office for a visit this week. REV. TODD brought along an interesting suggestion. As soon as the mats are received the newspaper will launch a new column to be devoted to a religious subject.

In a few days the general manager of the newspaper will accompany JACK BENTLEY on one of his runs for BRASWELL MOTOR FREIGHT LINES, INC. The other day we were talking with JACK about his truck route and the idea hit us that we could get a good story and possibly some pictures. Truck lines operate today with top level executives arranging the date and time for a trip. We must have permission to do the assignment from the traffic manager. If forthcoming we'll be off with JACK sometime in the next few days.

Stanton football fans are urged to go to Coahoma Friday night to back up the Buffaloes in their effort to add a second straight victory to the string. The Bulldogs fell before the Bisons last year and it would be nice if the boys could clip them again this season. Let's all be in the stands cheering for the Bisons come Friday night in Coahoma!
