Snooter Knows
By JAMES E. KELLY

WHEN A LAD OF A BOY ON THE farm my father taught me a verse of poetry that turned me an enemy of women for a long time. A boy and his pony and his dog on the farm were inseparable companions. Anything that was said abusive about either the pony or the dog, matched a fight with the boy who was their master.

Especially, I became "unbuckled" at the treatment the lady in the verse of poetry gave to my pony.

Read the verse taught me by my father:
I had a little pony
His name was Dapple Grey,
I loaned him to a lady to ride
a mile away;
She whipped him and slashed
him
And rode him through the mire
I would not lend my pony now
For all the ladies higher.

Party Pledge Does Not Bind Texas Voters

Voting in the Democratic Primary does NOT obligate anyone "legally or morally" to vote for the Democratic presidential nominee in the general election, Governor Price Daniel said today.

The pledge on the primary ballot applies only to nominees selected in that primary for state, district, and local offices, Daniel stated in an interview with a Dallas Morning News correspondent.

Daniel was asked for his views on the matter after a statement quoting him was issued by the State Democratic Executive Committee as follows:

"More than 1,500,000 Texans affiliated themselves with the Democratic Party this year, under provisions of state law. It is the responsibility of all affiliated Democrats to carry their great strength in to the general election in support of the party nominees."

Daniel told the News he did NOT mean to imply that participation in the Democratic Primary obligated a voter to vote for that party's presidential and vice presidential nominees in the general election.

Midland Man To Drill One Mile Outpost Test North Of Stanton

By JAMES C. WATSON

John L. Cox of Midland announced plans to drill a one-mile east-outpost, No. 1 G. M. Peters, to the Billington (Spraberry) pool, one mile north of Stanton in Martin County.

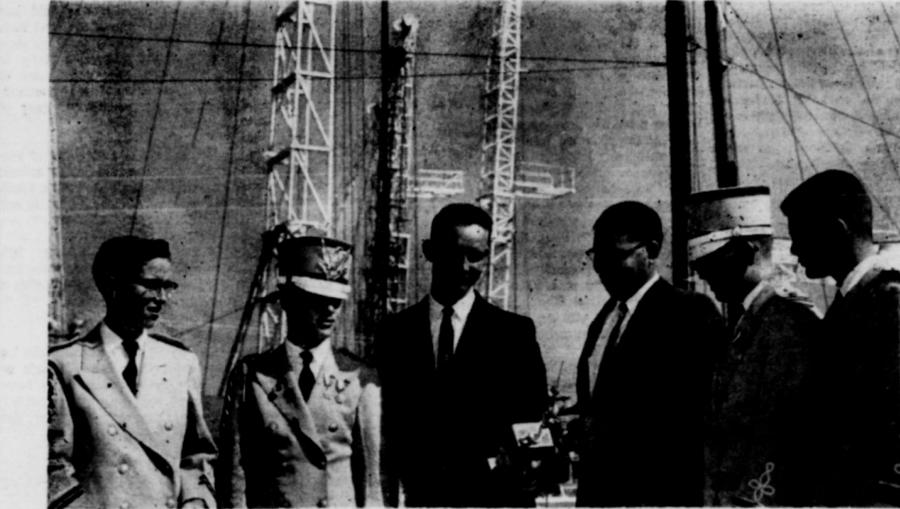

It is 1,320 feet from south and east lines of section 11, block 36, T-1-S, T&P survey. Contract depth is 8,100 feet.

Plymouth Oil Company has plugged and abandoned No. 1 Millhollan South-east Martin County (Spraberry project).

This operation was two miles north-east of Stanton and one-half mile east of nearest other production from the Spraberry formation.

It originally was drilled to 6,707 feet and abandoned there in 1957. During the summer of this year it was deepened to 7,925 feet and completed for a small pumping yield of oil, with little water.

Mechanical troubles and a fall-off in the oil production caused the latest abandonment. The hole is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 7, block 35, T-1-S,

Stanton Voters Approve Bonds

In a record breaking bond issue vote, the qualified franchise holders of Stanton turned out here Saturday to register a ringing majority for the $90,000 propositions.

Ballot casters stamped their approval on a $60,000 proposal for street improvements by a 148-99 margin. The $30,000 proposition for water system improvements carried 142-96. Election judge Chuck Houston said that 249 ballots were cast and termed the figure above the average for any kind of municipal sponsored election here.

The $60,000 is marked as the city's share in an assessment paving program that will provide for a large number of permanent streets. Curb and gutter is to be included. It is hoped that 80 blocks of paving will result from passage of the bond issue.

Water improvements on the agenda will include more mains and many lateral extensions. City officials were of the opinion that the issue would be financed without an increase in the municipal tax rate. The issue is to run for 21 years.

The City of Stanton has virtually eliminated its outstanding general obligations bonds, and has a balance of $18,000 in the interest and sinking fund.

Thank You Mayor

(Editor's Note: The following highly appreciated letter was received by the editor before the bond election held Saturday.)

Stanton Battles DC

The Stanton Buffaloes take on highly touted Denver City on foreign soil Friday night.

Both clubs will take the field even as far as District 3-AA standings are concerned. The winner of the conflict will emerge the leader. Stanton and Denver City are the only teams in the district with a chance to take the title.

Coach Don Orr of the Mustangs has indicated his squad will be at full strength. His all-state candidate for backfield honors, Bert Gravitt, the cagey quarterback for Denver City will be out to prove that his almost magic runs against previous weaker opposition were planned that way. Stanton's defensive team will be out to slow Gravitt down and if possible defame his prestige as a schoolboy runner.

Coach Dauphin will send his charges into the fray with Herb Sorley out.

Stanton rested last week. After Denver City, the Bisons will tangle with Tahoka and Stanton before the regular season play terminates.

Stanton Boys In Abilene For RA Meet

Twenty-eight boys and their sponsors from the First Baptist Church attended the Regional Texas Baptist Royal Ambassador Rally Saturday at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene.

Rev. W. H. Uhlman, pastor and Ernest Hock, director of education and music, served as sponsors of the group.

After hearing a message by the Rev. B. P. Emanuel, Southern Baptist missionary to Japan, and touring the Hardin-Simmons campus, the group attended a football game between Hardin-Simmons and West Texas State College.

The Abilene meeting was the first of four rallies which are expected to attract around 6,000 persons throughout the state, said Robert Chapman, state RA director.

The Royal Ambassador program enlists more than 34,000 Royal Ambassador boys in Texas. They participate in programs of study, fellowship and recreation designed to help mold Christian Character.

They Said Yes

Only on two occasions in the six years we have piloted the editorial policy of this paper have we called for endorsement of bond issues.

The Stanton Reporter helped break the ground through pointed publicity and by submitting to the people a lengthy scroll of facts when the $340,000 bond issue was voted to build decent facilities for our school system. We had the help, the backing and the encouragement of a lot of fine fellows in the planning stages of that great campaign for a better educational plant. We wish to remember and recognize those community stalwarts who through deep devotion and in the interest of a great common cause brought the beautiful High School plant into reality. The recognition roll includes such men as L. M. Hays, Ed Robnett, Stanley Reid, Glenn Gates, and others.

In our editorial endorsement of the recent city bond issues we had the backing and support of many of the town's civic leaders. Of course, there were those good people who did not agree with our views and registered their opposition at the polls. To those fine folk in the minority we trust their complete cooperation will be forthcoming in the cooperative campaign for a more progressive community in the future.

Letters To Santa Claus

"Letters to Santa Claus are arriving early this year. The Stanton Reporter will again publish letters and forward them on to the North Pole. You little girls and boys are invited to get your Santa letters in early. Old Santa has more territory to cover, more toys to deliver, and more candy, fruits, and nuts to get ready this year than ever before. Mail your letters now."

The first Santa communication arrived from Lance and Paul Hopper. The boys also decorated their letter with the drawing of a cat on the back. Paul wrote Santa as follows:

"Please send pants and pads and jersey." Lance wrote: "I would like a new windmill, lighting with light lines, control handle and catchers mit."

The second letter was from Donnie Wayne Winslow and he also enclosed some art for St. Nick to look over at his headquarters. He wrote: "I want a big bicycle, train, skates, road grader, boxer, play razor, parakette, play ice box, coffee pot and stove. I am a little boy five years old and I have been a very good boy. See you December 25th."

County Philosopher Will Be Glad When Election Is Over, But Not So He Can Go Back To Work

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw has discovered the election is getting close at hand, his letter this week reveals. That must mean everybody knows it by now.

Dear editor:

It's getting closer all the time to the election on November 8 and I heard a man on television last night say he'd be glad when it's here and past so the country could get some work done.

I don't know what part of the country he's talking about, but it's not my Martin County grass farm out here. I fail to see any connection between electing a President and me going to work.

I thought it was the other way around. When we elect a President, he's the one that goes to work.

One of the troubles with this country is that we take time off to elect an office-holder, then go back to work and forget about him till next time. I don't follow that procedure, I like to keep my eye on him all the time, and any man who can't look over the grass and weeds in his own crop to keep his eyes centered on Washington, is taking the type of short-sighted view that results in farm surpluses.

I don't intend to work any more after the election than I did before, and I'll say this, if whichever candidate gets elected works as hard running the office as either of them did running for it, the fur ought to fly in Washington.

One reason I don't think we'll ever have one government for the entire world is that no candidate for World President could ever make all the whistle stops around the earth. As it is now, Presidential candidates have three months from the time they're nominated till election day to show up in every section of the country they figure they ought to show up in, and they still miss a good many; but if they had to cover the entire world, it'd take em five years to do it and by the time they'd gotten to the last country, the people in the first would have forgotten what they said.

The problem is too big for me. I'll be glad when the election is over, but not because I'm going back to work.

Yours faithfully,

DENVER CITY PRESS: "First step in an extensive long-range plan which may eventually result in complete paving for Denver City was taken by City Council of Denver City Monday. Step authorized Mayor Ike Toler to sign a contract on behalf of the city with R. W. Douglas, Littlefield engineer, for the preparation of a complete master drainage plan for the city."

THE WINK BULLETIN: "A series of acts of vandalism in Wink the past several weeks has been solved with the apprehension and confession of two Wink lads, ages 14 and 12. County Juvenile Officer Jack Roe, Deputy Sheriffs Al Smith and Earl Hill, coordinated with local school officials to solve the cases."

THE POST DISPATCH: "The biggest October rainstorm to flood Garza County's fields and roads in 34 years dumped from 5 1/2 to 10.7 inches of measured rainfall on area cotton fields last weekend causing an undetermined amount of 'grade damage' to the opened cotton. Little, if any, damage was anticipated to Garza's bountiful sorghum crop, already from 80 to 90 per cent harvested before the soggy weather front moved in."

THE FORT STOCKTON PIONEER: "Advance gifts division workers in the fifth annual Fort Stockton United Fund campaign were hard at it this week in an effort to collect the major portion of the total goal of $16,326.30. They picked up packets containing information about agencies scheduled to share in the campaign and pledge cards for givers at a breakfast meeting. Tom Stovall, chairman, was optimistic that the advance gifts division would produce approximately $12,000, or about 75 per cent of the total goal."

MATADOR TRIBUNE: "Top place as chairman of the Matador Community Chest annual fund drive is not an easy job, but C. M. Barton Jr. has volunteered his services for the campaign. The date has been set for Tuesday, November 29 for the kick off breakfast. The quota is $3,000."

THE BIG LAKE WILDCAT: "A spaghetti supper will kick off the Big Lake Grade Parent-Teacher Association's annual carnival on Monday evening, October 31 in the school cafeteria. One of the high points of the carnival will be the crowning of a Hallowe'en king and queen."

Bible Comment—

Lord's Prayer Outlines Ideal World

When we make that petition which is the Lord's Prayer, what do we mean by it and what should it mean to us?

One thing is certain. When we make that prayer in sincerity and truth the Kingdom has already arrived in our hearts and lives. The Rule of Christ, His law of love, and the following of His example, give evidence of our place in the Kingdom which is above all kingdoms, and whose King is supreme.

If that rule is firmly established in ourselves it becomes a yearning, a passion, and a prayer that it might be established in all hearts, and in all the affairs of men.

It is this yearning and prayer that is so well expressed in the interpreting petition, "Thy will be done in earth, as it is in Heaven." There was a time not long ago when Allegiance to the Kingdom of God conflicted with allegiance to most of the kingdoms of earth. In too many countries that conflict still continues, or has been reasserted, under cruel dictatorships in which godless philosophies and attitudes are manifest in suppression and persecution.

But today, in such democracies as Canada, the United States and Great Britain the evidence of almost revolutionary progress is seen in the fact that such conflicts of allegiance have almost completely disappeared.

If it were not for all the evil that democracy has not yet conquered, we might well say: "Would that all nations and peoples were as we are." However, evil carries within itself the seeds of destruction, and

"So far as the world's food is concerned, all peoples must learn together to make proper use of the earth on which we live. Hovering even now over our shoulders is a specter as sinister as the atomic bomb because it could depopulate the earth and destroy our cities. This creeping terror is the wastage of the world's natural resources and particularly the criminal exploitation of the soil. What will it profit us to achieve the H-bomb and survive that tragedy or triumph if the generations that succeed us must starve in a world, because of our misuse, grown barren as the mountains of the moon?" —Dwight D. "It seems to me that we have come to a place on our conservation program where we have to face facts. One of the facts is that up-and-down hill farming of intertilled crops will eventually ruin the soil through erosion. Another fact is that a better farming program based on sound soil conservation practices will produce more food." —R. K. Bliss,

Watershed Management Important To All

The increasing use of soil and water conservation measures for watershed protection has caused many people to ask, "Just what is a watershed?" Jack Barton, extension soil and water conservation specialist, explains that a watershed is the land area from which water drains to a given point.

Small streams have watersheds of only a few acres. This small stream and others like it run into a larger stream. These small streams and the land they drain make up the watershed of the larger stream. Watersheds of medium-sized streams make up the watershed of rivers.

Even the smallest watersheds are important, because their management, or mis-management, affects everything living within the watershed area. Watershed management determines whether water is to be a friend or an enemy, Barton explains.

If water runs off the land too fast, it cuts gullies and carries off valuable topsoil. This soil, along with other debris carried by the stream, can clog streams and lakes in the watershed below. Such sediment greatly increases the cost of filtering water for home use, and it can also interfere with hydroelectric plants. If too much water runs away too rapidly, it causes a flood that damages farms, ranches, crops, homes and utilities, Barton continues. Also, sediment ruins recreation because clogged streams have very few fish in them.

On the other hand, water can be slowed down and used to advantage when needed soil and water conservation practices are observed over all the watershed. Terraces, strip-cropping, more grass and legumes in crop rotations and improved pastures are practices that make more water soak into the soil for use of crops and pastures. Also, water that is properly managed doesn't carry sediments to clog streams and other water supplies.

Barton says that more information on soil and water conservation and watershed protection and flood prevention can be obtained from local soil conservation district offices or from local county agents or the Soil Conservation Service.

"Remember," he concludes, "Soil and water conservation help everyone."

Keep Cotton Dry, Loose And Clean

The final grade of lint in a bale of cotton is determined by the condition of the seed cotton when it reaches the gin. For this reason, cotton should be produced, harvested and handled so that it reaches the gin as dry, loose and clean as possible, says Fred Elliott, extension cotton work specialist.

Picking early in the morning or late in the afternoon when cotton is very moist should be avoided. Loss of color associated with delay in ginning of high-moisture seed cotton accounts for a large part of grade difference between cotton harvested during high-moisture periods and dry periods. To get the best possible prices for cotton, the farmer should harvest it dry and keep it dry, the specialist points out.

Small capacity transport vehicles have no place in the cotton field, Elliott continues. Four-wheel, large-capacity, wood-slatted or wire-sided trailers are recommended.

Another quality reducer, which is closely associated with small transports, is tramping the seed cotton in the trailer. Even the most elaborate and expensive ginning systems cannot remove all of the small "pin and pepper" trash that is ground into the cotton by tramping. Seed cotton should be harvested as clean as possible to permit the use of less gin machinery in obtaining a good grade. Pickers should be cautioned not to allow green leaves, excessive trash, dirt, colored rags, grass and other foreign objects to be mixed in seed cotton.

"Remember," Elliott concludes, "You can help maintain quality in cotton by harvesting seed cotton when it is dry and by keeping it loose and clean."

The nearly four million projects completed by 2,300,000 4-H Club boys and girls in a single year is further proof that the "learn by doing" system is keeping young minds and hands busy. As a matter of fact, youth specialists say that the hundred or so categories of 4-H projects are the very backbone of the organization which has grown steadily for more than a half century.

During the past three decades the number of girls enrolled in 4-H has topped the boys in just about the same proportion, according to figures supplied by the USDA. There are presently some 300,000 more girls than boys in club work. Ages range from 10 to 21 years.

Originally planned to help farm youngsters, the voluntary educational program now claims nearly half its membership from city and non-farm rural homes. Apparently "pride of accomplishment" is a key factor in the success of this particular brand of youth organization.

Right from the very beginning of 4-H, interested parties have donated awards in recognition of top performance in citizenship, leadership and project achievement. This fall more than a thousand expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago will be given to state, sectional and national 4-H award winners. In addition about 200 teenagers will receive college scholarships, and one out of 15 members will win medals in local competition.

Six persons now engaged in Extension work and who are former 4-H'ers will share $18,000 in educational grants to be used in graduate study. Business firms that sponsor programs and awards include: Ford Motors, achievement; Olin Mathieson Chemical, alumni recognition; E. I. du Pont de Nemours, beef; Standard Brands, bread demonstration; Oliver, dairy; Carnation, dairy foods demonstration; Simplicity Pattern, dress review; Hercules Powder, entomology; Arcadian Products Dept. of Allied Chemical, field crops; Betty Crocker of General Mills, food preparation.

Also, American Forest Products Industries, forestry; Whirlpool, frozen foods; Eli Lilly, health; John Deere, recreation; Moorman Mfg., swine; Singer Sewing Machine, clothing leader training; Wm. Wrigley Jr., community relations; Ralston Purina, dog care and training; Pure Oil, public speaking; Chicago Board of Trade, grain marketing.

College scholarships and fellowships in amounts from $500 to $2000 each are provided by: California Spray-Chemical, Homeite Division of Textron, Sperry and Hutchinson, Massey-Ferguson and the National 4-H Service Committee.

Texas Cotton Undergoing Remarkable Revolution

Cotton, the state's most valuable cash crop, is undergoing a remarkable revolution, the Bureau of Business Research said in a special report.

Increased irrigation acreage, the trend toward larger farms, increased mechanization and governmental policies are all important factors which have affected cotton in the last 30 years, the report said.

Texas continues to lead the nation in the production of cotton. The 1960 production of 4,350,000 bales is about 30 per cent of the United States' production. Producers received $69,000,000 for last year's crop, three per cent more than for 1958.

There are about 7,000,000 acres of land in Texas under irrigation and about 2,173,000 of these acres are planted in cotton. The availability of water has contributed to the increased production in the High Plains, the Lower Rio Grande Valley and Trans-Pecos area.

The average size farm has increased from 367 acres in 1945 to 498 acres in 1954. The bureau said that because of increased mechanization and the trend toward larger farms, the amount of capital needed to operate farms has increased substantially.

SON to a younger person backfires once in a while but in a moment of a great event like the World Series the advice of the elderly person can be depended on.

I gave to Neal Estes, general manager of The Stanton Reporter, the chance to prevent embarrassment and shedding crocodile tears when the series wound up. I advised him the Pittsburgh Pirates would win the series. Even though I couldn't spell half the names on the Pirate team, much less pronounce them, the Pirates were my choice. I could pronounce the name of the leading players of the New York Yankees, such as Mickey Mantle, Yoggi Berra and others.

My sympathy has always gone out for the under dog or for the dog who is being trampled underfoot. In this case the Pirates were the under dogs, and as long as I didn't wager on the ball game, taking the Pirates I had nothing to lose.

It was a friendly affair I had with Estes. There were times when it was thought the Yankees would win the series and the gloom was removed from Estes' face momentarily. But in the last game of the series in the ninth inning the Yanks and Pirates were tied. The Pirates hit a home run giving the Pirates a one run lead. It spelled the series had been won by Pittsburgh.

Boy Scouts of America is repeating its effort of 1952 and 1956 in cooperation with the Freedoms Foundation, Inc. of Valley Forge, Pa.

The leaflets carry an imprint of the Liberty Bell with an appeal to "Vote as you think, but VOTE" on November 8, 1960. The reverse side lists the Scout oath and Scout law, together with an enumeration of basic American political and economic rights.

The aim of the 1960 campaign is to surpass the results of 1952 and 1956. Get-out-the-Vote campaigns when the increased voting turnout was attributed, at least in part, to the efforts of the Boy Scouts of America.

Strictly nonpartisan in concept and execution, the purpose of the project is to instill a deeper consciousness of the privilege of American citizenship in the voters and to awaken in the boys participating the awareness of their own personal responsibilities as voters.

Regular inspection of your boat and outboard motor pays dividends. Even if you use your boat only a few times a month, you should take it out of the water for a thorough check-up every 30 days. Do so every 60 to 90 days, even if you haven't used it at all.

There are sound reasons for this suggestion. If you accomplish nothing more than cleaning the scum off the bottom, it will be well worth the time and trouble. A bottom encrusted with scum cuts speed a great deal. Far more than the average boat owner realizes. It causes a heavier pull against the motor and hikes fuel consumption.

With the introduction of the high-horsepower engines, continuous maximum boat performance is expected by most outboard owners. One factor, however, often is overlooked by the boat operator. That factor is the condition of the boat bottom.

Most everyone is aware of the effect of salt water on hulls. But not all boat owners realize the reduction in performance that occurs in so-called fresh water.

Billy Ditch, Austin marine dealer, was telling me just the other day about tests recently conducted by Evinrude. They were eye-openers. "One thing most people don't understand," said Billy, "is that results will vary with water and air temperature and according to the foreign matter present in the water."

In salt water the growth usually is in the form of barnacles and other marine life.

In fresh water the growth is not as conspicuous in the early stages. It will first appear as a light film of scum which can be felt easier than it can be seen. However, even this early stage of fouling can result in obvious loss of performance.

According to Billy, Evinrude equipped a 16-foot with a 35 hp engine and checked its performance with various loads. Then it was left in salt water. At the end of 30 days the speed, with one man aboard, had dropped almost 8 mph. With a six-man load it lost 10 mph and would not plane.

This was not too surprising since salt water was involved. But, the next test was in fresh water.

The same sequence was followed. After 30 days the speed with two men had dropped almost 6 mph. A six-man load showed a loss of almost 10 mph and planing was impossible.

In each case, where the hull was thoroughly cleaned, performance was restored.

The significance is obvious. If boats are left at moorings, they should have anti-fouling bottom paint in order that maximum performance can be maintained. This is true for all types of boats — wood, aluminum and fiberglass.

Good, anti-fouling bottom paints are available from many sources and most boat manufacturers provide anti-fouling paint as an extra.

Anyway, Mr. Boater, when you find that your boat gradually is losing speed over the course of a season, don't condemn the motor before you first check the condition of the boat bottom. Just a light film of scum can drastically affect performance.

Moral — clean your boat occasionally.

Obviously, a boat kept on a trailer, or used for short periods of time, will not be affected greatly by fouling conditions. However, two or three weeks of continuous exposure during summer or winter can result in some growth build-up.

Last time we pulled our 16-foot fiberglass Invader runabout out of the water and removed the scum that had accumulated on the bottom, we got a noticeable increase in speed. That improvement was made solely because we removed the scum that was serving as a drag against the powerful 45 hp Crofton outboard motor.

We had heard that the accumulation of dirt on the exterior on an airplane would slow the plane's speed appreciably. In fact, even the paint cuts the efficiency. This seems impossible. But we're a believer now, after our experience with the boat.

So, keep your boat clean and smooth — especially that part that is under the water. How to clean it? It's really simple. Much easier than we thought. Best method we have found is to locate a roomy loading spot, along the shore, where you won't be in the way of others. Then back your trailer into the water and winch your boat into place.

Now, roll up your trousers, or better yet don a swim suit, and give the Old Ark a good scrub-down. . . . right where you are. Being directly over the water you eliminate the problem of hauling scrub and rinse water and of moving buckets of water along with you as you work. All you need to do now is dip down into the lake for plenty of fresh, clear water every time you need it.

We have found that the little metal kitchen scouring pads, like the Chore-Girl, work better than the softer and finer soap filled types.

Another advantage of housecleaning right over the water is you get busy immediately — before the bottom dries and the scum hardens. And, needless to say — this is a good time to give the entire boat a sparkling appearance, from bow to stern and gunwale to gunwale.

Mrs. Joan Long spent the weekend in Big Spring visiting with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hamilton.

'Dream Job' Helps Crippled Tots

Dorothy Buck is so happy today in her "dream job" as a top-rank physical therapist and she's given no serious thought to marriage.

But attractive Miss Buck is more than a physical therapist, fascinating as that field is to a young woman who loves children and has a particularly warm spot in her heart for those disabled by birth defects. At famed New York University Medical Center in New York City she is administrative assistant in the Children's Division. The medical college of the University is aided by the New March of Dimes.

Hers is probably the only "dream job" of its kind in the nation, she says.

"With these tots, new problems arise every hour dealing with walking and crawling and devising new ways of doing both. And that means a challenge every hour. There's nothing routine about my job," the brunette and hazey-eyed therapist says. "And for that I'm grateful."

She tells how she made a career in physical therapy and of her interest in The National Foundation's professional education program which, in this one field alone, offers annually 103 March of Dimes scholarships of $800 each to applicants in all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

She studied first at McGill University, Montreal. Next, this enterprising young woman enlisted in the women's division of the Royal Canadian Air Force and taught physical education and rehabilitation at the Boundary Bay Base near Vancouver. She then obtained a bachelor of science degree in physical therapy at New York University, worked at Bellevue Hospital in New York City with patients stricken with a wide variety of disabilities; and later by attending night classes she telescoped a two-year course into one year in guidance and personnel administration.

"What is so satisfying about the profession of physical therapy," she explains, "is that we treat the patient as a whole. We don't restrict ourselves to the immediate disability at hand. And in the case of handicapped children, we also find ourselves 'treating' and 'teaching' their parents—telling them that when the great day dawns that Susie or Tommy can leave us, rigorous physical therapy must continue and that father and mother must serve as home therapists.

"For any young woman with the normal desire to help others in difficulty, particularly children, there is no more desirable career than one in physical therapy," she says.

"It's certainly far better than pulverizing a typewriter or taking someone's fractured dictation." Finally, even if Dorothy Buck has no immediate thoughts about marriage for herself, she argues that there's no reason why a physical therapist can't have a career and a family too.

ABSENTEE BALLOT DEMAND SOARS...

Texas Voting Record Seen

If the rush for absentee ballots is an indication, Texas voters may produce some new voting records in the November 8 election.

Scattered points over the state reported record turnouts or the opening of the absentee voting season. Absentee voting ends November 4. Meanwhile, the professional politicians announced new campaign tactics as Democrats and Republicans dug in for the final two weeks of vote-getting.

Bexar County voters cast 233 absentee ballots the first day, the heaviest such total in the county's history.

Travis County officials mailed out 328 ballots the first day amid predictions of a new record in absentee voting. Twenty-two absentee ballots went out the opening day in Lamar county, just three below the first day record set in 1956.

In Fort Worth the Star-Telegram conducted a poll among the first day's 136 absentee voters — a new record. Of the 128 agreeable to the preference poll, 76 gave the Republican ticket an edge to 52 for the Democrats.

The Dallas News interviewed 20 who voted absentee and showed the Democrats leading 11-9.

The Southwestern University campus newspaper conducted a poll among students at the Georgetown school with the result: Nixon 175, Kennedy 49.

In Austin, Gov. Price Daniel reminded voters that their turnout November 8 will affect precinct, county and state conventions for the next four years. Delegation strength in conventions is based on a party's vote for governor in the preceding presidential election.

"In our last two general elections, Texas had a voting population of approximately 5 million persons, but less than half of these people took time to qualify to vote," Daniel said. He said of those who qualified about 500,000 still failed to get to the polls and vote.

Chemicals Give Effective Control Of Mesquites

More and more farmers and ranchmen in Texas "mesquite belt" are resorting to chemicals for control of pasture brush. Diesel oil or mixtures of diesel oil and 2,4,5-T have generally proven effective for controlling mesquite. As a result of this control, many landowners now have excellent pastures where there was only sparse grass before, says G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist.

An example of the success accorded chemical treatment comes from Gonzales County Agent F. M. Stockton. He reports that grass recovery in areas sprayed has been exceptional this year. One of the local ranchers said of the spraying, "The amount of grass that came where there hadn't been grass for six or eight years is almost too good to believe."

J. C. Mayfield, a Val Verde rancher, is another strong supporter of spraying. He treated an area of his ranch 15 months ago, and he says that the results already received made the application economical. "Once the leaves fell off the mesquite, the grass underneath jumped a foot," he explained.

Similar reports are coming in from all over the state, Hoffman continues. Some of these areas will need another application to kill regrowth, but the advantages realized from treatment will far outweigh the monetary outlay. The cost of spraying is usually less than $5 per acre, and this is very economical when you consider that you get excellent weed control as well as brush control, the specialist points out.

Hoffman recommends that landowners interested in trying chemical brush control contact their local county agent. He can help with cost estimates and he can also supply valuable information on application methods.

"Remember" Hoffman concludes, "Less mesquite and brush means more grass, and more grass means more money in your pocket."

More and more farmers and ranchmen in Texas are reporting successful experiences with chemicals for controlling mesquite and other pasture brush. Diesel oil or mixtures of diesel oil and 2,4,5-T have generally proven effective, reports G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist.

'61 Upland Cotton Quota And Acreage Allotment Proclaimed

A national marketing quota of 15,562,000 bales and a national acreage allotment of 18,398,424 acres have been proclaimed by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson for the 1961 crop of upland cotton. Both are increases over those for 1960.

The Secretary also set December 13 as the date for the referendum on 1961 upland cotton marketing quotas. A two-thirds favorable vote will be required to keep marketing quotas in effect for another year. Secretary Benson said, "It is significant that it is not only possible to increase cotton acreage for 1961, but that it is essential to do so in order to maintain a desirable supply situation. We are moving in the right direction when our farmers have more freedom to plant."

The United States is currently seeking to maintain and improve the position of cotton both at home and elsewhere in the face of rising competition from synthetic fibers and foreign-grown cotton. In order to maintain adequate cotton stocks, an increase in the national quota was needed. To produce this quota, based on the average yield of 406 pounds per planted acre for the 1956-59 period, the acreage allotment was set.

The national allotment for upland cotton will be apportioned to the States, the State allotments to counties and the county allotment to farms according to the provisions of law. Individual farm allotments will be made available to producers prior to the December 13 referendum.

If producers approve marketing quotas for the 1961 crop in the referendum, price support will be available to those who comply with their farm allotment at a level within the range of 70 to 90 percent of parity. The exact level will be determined at a later date.

If quotas are voted out, the allotment program will remain in effect and price support will be available to cooperators at 50 percent of parity as provided by law.

Turkish 'Dondugmasi' Cousin To Counterpart In America

By Shorty Shelburne

IZMIR, TURKEY—It doesn't make any difference where you go, half way around the world to Asia even, there's one guy that's bound to show up when the weather gets hot. They call him the "dondurmaci" over here, but to a Texan in Turkey he's just the same old ice cream man who spends the Summer collecting all the nickels and dimes in town.

I thought about it last Winter and had convinced myself this was one place where I wouldn't hear an ice cream man. With almost 15,000 miles between me and the last popsicle party I had to finance, I thought I was safe. No such luck.

Just as soon as the sun warmed things up last Spring the first guy to crawl out from his Winter hiding place was the ice cream man—Turkish type. He's at least a cousin to the guys who make the neighborhoods in the cities in the States because the sign on his ice cream cart says "Amerika Dondugmasi," which is just another way of saying he's an ice cream man with American-type ice cream novelties.

The Turkish version of the ice cream street salesman is a little less mechanized than those in the States, but his methods of operation and his products are the same.

The ice cream cones sold over here are much smaller than those in Stanton. Cones come in red, green, pink and other colors and the ice cream is available in as many colorful flavors. The price is about the same as in the States.

After observing ice cream men in various parts of the United States as those in this city, I've reached two definite conclusions about all of them. One is they are the most popular guys in any town with the kids on a hot afternoon. The other is they will show up no matter where you may be on the face of the earth.

IN TURKEY, TOO—Leave it to an ice cream man to find a crowd. This scene is near a central bus terminal in Izmir, Turkey. The ice cream man, naturally, is ready to be of service. The boy behind him with the long-necked containers on his back is selling lemonade.

By VERN SANFORD

For years a high chain link fence marked the back boundary of the Austin State Hospital grounds.

Sturdy and forbidding, with its turned barbed wire at the top, it was a fence that suggested the plight of the people it confined. It was a depressing, prison-like, mile-long fence that paralleled Lamar, one of Austin's busiest boulevards.

Now, each spring, Austinites make a point of driving out Lamar to see the mass of climbing red roses covering the fence. Today this long stretch of roses is a symbol of the change that has come to state hospitals during the past 10 years as a result of volunteer services.

University engineering students donated and planted the rose bushes. Thousands of people over the state have landscaped the grounds, redecorated the dining halls and reception rooms, built swimming pools, given parties, conducted classes, wrapped gifts and in hundreds of other ways brought beauty and warmth to state hospitals and schools.

In its fall report, the State Hospital Volunteer Services Council shows that the volunteers gave 163,994 hours of time to state institutions during the past year. Figured at only $1 per hour and adding in contributions of food, clothing, prizes, furniture, etc., volunteers enriched life in state institutions by more than $38,996 during the year. This does not count considerable sums collected for all-faith chapels at several schools and hospitals.

Last year, 36,000 citizens went into 18 different state hospitals and schools to do volunteer work.

Impact of these volunteers is twofold, says Miss Helen Colburn, coordinator of volunteer services for the State Hospital Board.

First, they help to create a pleasant environment which gives patients a better chance to respond to medical treatment.

Second, the volunteers learn the problems of the hospitals and schools and are an effective force in educating the community as to needs and goals.

"State money can't be spent for pictures or parties or swimming pools," said Miss Colburn. "It has to go for beds and food. But these other things are important. Patients respond to environment, and they respond to people. And they know the difference between people who are paid and people who come to help them out of sheer kindness."

Right now the volunteers are getting ready for their biggest undertaking of each year—Christmas. It means securing, wrapping and tagging about 26,000 gifts to keep a three-year record of having a gift for each patient in the state system. It means decorations, trees, parties and caroling. In some cases it means setting up shops where patients can get gifts to send to their families—often more ardently desired by the patient than a gift for himself.

Board also refused by a 2-1 vote to allow insurance companies to disregard penalties against drivers involved in accidents presumably not their fault. This must be decided by a court, said Strain and Price.

Very few drivers seem to mind paying higher accident insurance rates because they are involved in accidents. But many do resent the assessment of a penalty based on traffic tickets issued. Especially tickets they feel were not warranted.

Still others contend that they are insuring their cars against accidents and not insuring themselves against traffic fines. Therefore if they are paying a premium for fines they are paying to be reimbursed for those fines.

AVERAGE SPEED LAWFUL — Average speed of Texas passenger cars on rural roads is 55.9 miles per hour, reports the State Highway Department.

This is below the legal limit of 60 miles per hour on most stretches of highway.

Average speed of buses, however, is 60.7 miles per hour. Trucks average 51.2 miles per hour. Legal limit for trucks and buses is 55.

Statewide speed survey is taken by the Department each year with concealed radar devices. Department found that 19.5 per cent of passenger cars were exceeding 60, a 2.6 per cent decrease from last year.

STUDENTS GALORE — Texas is getting set for a bumper crop of college graduates in the sixties.

Commission on Higher Education reports the highest ever enrollment—90,635 students in the 18 fully supported state colleges and universities.

This is up 5,391 from last fall and a 60 per cent increase over 10 years ago. Biggest enrollments (in state schools) are at the University of Texas, Texas Tech, North Texas State, Arlington State and Texas State.

Biggest gains this year were UT and Arlington State.

ROAD LAG AVERTED — Release of additional federal funds will largely prevent an expected winter slowdown of highway work in Texas, State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer announced.

Only the November bid letting will be affected, said Greer.

This month the Highway Department tabulated low bids totaling $19,030,137 for highway work. Next month the contracts are expected to total only about $12,000,000, but by December the total should be increased again to about $17,000,000 or $18,000,000.

This will mean fewer workers laid off for the winter by contractors doing state highway work.

SHORT SNORTS — Texas Railroad Commission announced that the eight-day oil production pattern will continue through November, making seven consecutive months of wells shut down 22-23 days a month. Daily allowable will be 2,967,596 barrels.

Texas' cotton acreage allotment for 1961 will be 7,849,196 acres, the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture announced. This is a slight increase over this year's 7,377,151 acres.

IN TEXAS YOU PAY 90¢ TAX ON TEN GALLONS OF GASOLINE!

HOW DID YOU VOTE?
No matter how you voted, these facts on gasoline taxes are important to you:

- Everywhere in Texas, car owners pay 90¢ tax on every 10 gallons of gasoline they buy!
- Gasoline taxes across the nation amount to a 50% sales tax—and that's five times as high as the tax rate on luxuries like diamonds and mink coats!
- Since World War II, there have been three increases in the Federal gasoline tax alone. This brought the Federal tax to 4 cents a gallon, in addition to the State tax of 5 cents a gallon!
- In the last ten years gasoline taxes have skyrocketed 51%—yet the price of gasoline itself has risen only 5.5% during the same period!
- Each year the average motor vehicle owner in this state pays $78 for gasoline taxes alone. That's just a few dollars less than the average week's pay for most people!

HIGHWAYS AND GASOLINE TAXES

Your gasoline retailer, naturally, favors construction of the roads that the motoring public needs. He believes in fair and reasonable taxation for this purpose but feels that taxes on gasoline have now reached unreasonably high levels. He also believes that all special taxes on the motorist should be used only for highway purposes. Yet last year, out of every automobile tax dollar collected by the Federal Government from highway users, more than 40 cents went for non-highway purposes. If these automotive tax revenues were dedicated for highway purposes, there would be no need for the latest increase in the federal gasoline tax.

The Gasoline You Buy Is Taxed Too HIGH!

THE ONLY CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE OF A MAN'S SINCERITY IS THAT HE GIVE HIMSELF FOR A PRINCIPLE.

—LOWELL.

LP—
We endorse the quotation totally. LOWELL didn't define principle or principles. Evidently, he was a man of the world. Our conclusion falls into a category that even city men from the University or Highland Park districts in Dallas understand, accept, and are ready to fight and die for.

LP—
JAKE BRUTON, one of the best peace officers in West Texas and a man who has served this city well when called upon to help out in emergencies is continuing as a special officer for a trucking organization operating in the area. JAKE will continue to be available when called upon. He held down the top police job after the resignation of DENNIS BOYETT. With the appointment of JOHNNY MYRICK as chief, JAKE is back full time with his old place. He was not an applicant for the chief's job.

LP—
REV. W. C. WRIGHT, Pastor, FELLOWSHIP BAPTIST CHURCH, was highly complimentary of some of our recent editorials. BRO. WRIGHT has always been a good supporter of the hometown journal and on many occasions has found the time to pause and tell some member of the staff of his appreciation for the work we are trying to do for the community.

LP—
MRS. DOUGLAS AGEE, wife of the new doctor at PHYSICIANS HOSPITAL, paused in STANTON DRUG the other morning to tell us how much they appreciated the story about DR. AGEE in the last issue of the paper. We know this fine couple will like our county and it was a pleasure to welcome them here.

LP—
MRS. GLENN L. BROWN is author of a very interesting article appearing in the current issue of THE TEXAS CLUBWOMAN. The magazine enjoys a statewide circulation and is the official publication of federated clubs. MARY BROWN'S article is about MRS. JOHN PRIDDY, one of the finest and best known women in all West Texas. Recognition of this outstanding Texas lady was truly deserved and MRS. BROWN deserves credit for her thoughtfulness in composing the article.

LP—
JIM KELLY was sufficiently mended to come home from DR. SANDER'S hospital in Big Spring last week. He is back in his favorite chair up on 'Capitol Hill' spending time watching TV, reading some, writing some, and no doubt, making mental jaunts back through memory lane occasionally when he used to be a frontier editor in the Indian Territory up north of Red River.

LP—
The political pot is boiling. Local characters are pretty excited about the big race. One ardent admirer of NIXON said: "He will be another EISENHOWER." A Democrat standing close by retorted: "That's exactly what we don't want." Second NIXON man remarked: "Your MR. ROOSEVELT discovered IKE and he thought enough of him to make him commander-in-chief of the Allied Forces in the Second World War—that's where he got his start." Second Democrat: "You said start—don't you know JACK KENNEDY says we are standing still?" Third man for DICK NIXON spoke: "One thing for certain we ain't in war yet." Then a KENNEDY man: "No, and we are not going to get in one—KENNEDY is going to make everything and everybody happy." Then a wag spoke up: "We need 'em both up there in Washington—one of them to fill up the sacks while the other one plays Santa Claus."

LP—
Speaking of Santa Claus—we are reminded that letters from small fry are coming to the newspaper. We are delighted to have them and after printing them will pass them on to the guy who always makes Christmas for the children—that jolly, genial man up in North Pole land with the little round belly that shakes when he laughs like a bowl full of jelly. Right now—the letters or three Martin County youngsters are speeding toward Santa's headquarters. (Note to parents:—Please write plainly and thanks.)

LP—
In writing thirty to our column this week we would like to quote POPE who once penned these words of truth: "FEAR IS THE INTEREST THAT CONSCIENCE PAYS TO GUILT."
