Philosopher Misses His Newspapers For A Week But Finds Cold War About The Same

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw discusses confusion this week, without clearing it up.

Dear editor:

Every morning the first thing I want to do is get hold of a newspaper and find out what's going on. Who won the cold war the day before, have they solved the farm problem, and things like that.

Well, something happened to my source of supply and I went for a solid week without seeing a paper or listening to a radio or looking at television.

Then I got hold of a newspaper and read it thoroughly and I have a confession to make: I can't tell any more about who's winning the cold war now than I could a week ago, and I know from personal experience they haven't solved the farm problem.

It's like accidentally tuning in a televised baseball game somewhere along in the middle of play with the audio portion of the set not working. You don't know what the score is, what inning it is, or who's playing.

The Congo seems to have gotten along a whole week without me knowing a thing that was going on over there, and to save my life I can't tell you what the situation is now after I've caught up with the news.

We've shot some more satellites up, they're circling the globe on schedule, but I don't feel any different than I did before they went up and there's still as much undone work on this Martin County grass farm as there was before. Reading a newspaper is important, but if you're reading it to eliminate your confusion, you're on the wrong track. I know a man who reads four papers every day and he's as confused as I am.

I'm not suggesting I could get along without newspapers, but I have found that newspapers can get along without me, even if they don't know who's winning the cold war either.

For a while, I figure newspapers ought to carry box scores every day on the cold war, but I know why they don't. Nobody knows what the score is.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

"Four permits to Tex-Sun Homes for construction of four new $17,500 homes in the West Gate Terrace addition have given this year's construction total a healthy boost. The permits for these four new residents and three small permits upped the 1961 construction total to date to $117,583.55. Through February, permits for construction totaling only $46,135 were issued."

STAMPFORD AMERICAN:

"The school needs an auditorium. You need a banquet hall." That statement by Dr. Ike Hudson, president of the Stamford school board about summarized the conclusions reached Tuesday night when school board, city council and other interested parties met to see if the school and city could work together on an auditorium. The city has had plans underway for several months, looking toward remodeling the old city auditorium located downtown. The school board at a recent meeting outlined future building needs and a new auditorium was at the top of the list."

Meat Eating Increased Last Year

Chances are, if you're average, you ate a little more meat last year than in 1959.

And, if the present expectations develop, meat supplies in 1961 will be enough to permit each civilian to have as much meat as in 1960. Retail prices probably will run about the same.

That's the way things look to the Agricultural Marketing Service, which points to the largest-ever January 1 inventory of cattle on U. S. farms—97.1 million head. The number of sows on farms indicates there'll be more Spring pigs, and more pork come Fall. The number of sheep and lambs on hand was 1 per cent smaller than a year earlier.

And look for more "finished" beef in coming months. The number of cattle and calves in the nation's feed lots on January 1 was 6 per cent more than a year ago. Supplies of meat were record large in 1960. Production was 28.3 billion pounds, 3 per cent more than in 1959.

The average person ate about 162 pounds of meat last year — 1.6 pounds more than in 1959. Retail prices average a little lower, mostly because pork was less costly early in the year.

Beef consumption was about 85 pounds per person, a near record. In 1959 it was 81.6 pounds. Veal consumption gained from 5.7 pounds in 1959 to 6.1 pounds in 1960.

Pork production last year was 3 per cent less than in 1959, with the reduction showing up mostly in the second half of the year.

Per capita consumption of pork stood at 66 pounds, almost 2.3 pounds below the 1959 rate. Consumption of lamb and mutton was 4.6 pounds per person, slightly more than in 1959.

Melinda and Bobbie Brewer of Big Spring, visited recently with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hull.

Ouida Farrington of Iowa, has been visiting with Mrs. W. E. Hazlewood, Mr. and Mrs. Connie Farrington, and in Midland with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Farrington.

Dairy Products Reached Peak During 1960

Put 1960 down as a banner year for dairy foods.

The average number of milk cows on American farms declined to 17,549,000, the fewest since estimates were started in 1924.

Yet annual milk production per cow reached a new high — an average of 14,008 8-ounce glasses. Total milk output for the year was 1 per cent higher than in 1959, but not quite up to the 1956 all-time record, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Total output of manufactured dairy products was at a record level. New highs were set by total cheese, both cured and creamed cottage cheese, total frozen products, nonfat dry milk, and dry buttermilk.

Cheese varieties at new highs were brick and Munster combined, blue mold, cream and Italian. Ice cream output was only slightly below the all-time record high of 1946, while ice milk and Mellorine soured to new peaks, and sherbet output was the fourth largest of record.

Creamery butter production rose 4 per cent over 1959, and canned sweetened condensed whole milk was up for the fourth year in a row.

It all adds up to two things: (1) The dairy industry, including the regal dairy cow, can take a bow for an important job well done; and (2) Consumers have large stocks of nutritious dairy foods to enjoy at reasonable prices. Milk and dairy products are on USDA's March list of plentiful foods.

Good Weather Livens Agriculture

Several days of generally good weather has put new life into Texas agriculture.

The state's great basic industry has come to life with a rush as sunshine and drying winds have made field and ranch work possible in most areas, director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said.

Rainfall has been limited generally to light showers and plants have responded to the stimulating clear and warmer weather.

One half of the Rio Grande Valley cotton crop is planted as weather conditions were excellent for field work, said Joe Rothe, Weslaco. The vegetable and citrus harvests continued strong and cattle are in good condition as pastures and ranges continue to improve.

Corn planting is beginning in South Central Texas but many fields are still too wet and more sunshine is needed before full scale operations can begin, reported Joe Glover from Gonzales.

Signs of Spring are popping everywhere, advised Silver Whitsett from Richmond. But he added, fields are still too wet for general planting. Pastures are improving and cattle are looking better.

In East Texas, Walter Scott from Nacogdoches said, oats, clover and bermuda grass are making rapid growth and the feeding of beef cattle has stopped. Fruit trees are in full bloom.

Winter legumes and small grains are now providing some grazing and land preparation is under way in Northeast Texas, reported John Surovik from Mt. Pleasant. Farmers are busy top dressing small grains, putting out fertilizer and planting coastal bermuda. Pastures are below normal.

Ray Siegmund at Fort Stockton said high winds have dried out the surface moisture but land preparation is in full swing and small grain growing well. He described the condition of livestock as good.

From San Angelo, Roy Huckabee reported adequate moisture; a noticeable improvement in the growth of small grains, cool season grasses and weeds and a good outlook for Spring grazing. Livestock were in fair condition and were still being fed. Fruit trees are blooming and land preparation is under way in most counties.

The few days of sunshine have made a big difference in North Central Texas, advised Ted Martin from Denton. He said small grains are making rapid recovery; that land preparation, especially on the lighter soils, was getting started and that pasture plants would soon be large enough to provide adequate grazing and bring a halt to supplemental feeding.

Small grains made excellent growth in the rolling plains and provided good grazing, said James Simmons from Vernon. He reported an increase in livestock marketing due to the removal of stock from grain pastures. Moisture is adequate and land preparation is picking up speed, Simmons said.

Land preparation made progress on the South Plains and considerable fertilizer was put down, reported W. H. Jones from Lubbock. Some areas reported light wind erosion damage due primarily from the effects of freezing and thawing. Livestock are in good condition.

Surface moisture continues short in the Panhandle but wheat is making good growth, was the word from W. W. Grisham Jr. at Amarillo. He said livestock conditions generally were good and that land preparation was beginning.

Prairie Chicks Along Coast Are Disappearing

The future of the Attwater prairie chicken, native Texas bird of the Gulf Coast area, is discussed in a full length article in the March issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine.

The bird, once plentiful on the coast, now is facing extinction, according to the article. Gun pressure isn't blamed with the disappearance of the bird, however. Civilization has been pushing it back, and its one-time home now is lost. Rice fields and oil wells have replaced the birds over much of the area of South Texas where they once abounded.

Known concentrations are now limited to the Egypt-Lissie Prairie area; the Bernard Prairie north of Eagle Lake; the Nursery Prairie in Victoria and the Southern DeWitt counties, and the Tivoli-Vidauri-Gollad prairies in eastern Refugio and Goliad counties.

Tom Waddell, retired game warden at Eagle Lake, has been studying the Attwater prairie chicken population for years. He says they are getting very scarce. At a recent meeting of the wildlife committee of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, a new program for their preservation was put under way.

Considerable research on the Attwater also has been done by Val Lehmann, wildlife director of the King Ranch. He has written several bulletins, outlining the history of this native Texas bird.

Spring To Speed Coastal Fishing In 10 More Days

Look for coastal fishing to pick up within the next 10 days. This is the suggestion of Howard Lee, director of the marine fisheries division of the Game and Fish Commission.

"The first day of Spring usually is about right for fishing conditions along the Gulf coast to show a marked improvement," he said. The first day of Spring is March 21, on the calendar.

Right now salt water fishing isn't too good, with scattered catches of drum and practically no red fish, he reports.

Water temperature is running now about the same as the air temperature, in the high sixties.

The mackerel run can be expected when the water temperature reaches about 80 degrees. Hotie makers of Port Aransas already are busy, however, turning out this local Spanish mackerel bait, in anticipation of a heavy Spring run.

In fresh water, bass and crappie fishing both have been on the increase for the past 10 days. Some large bass have been taken from many of the lakes throughout the state.

The high crappie run has been on in South Texas for several days. It is expected to begin in Central and North Texas just any day.

This Week In Austin

By PRESTON SMITH

A red-hot issue which will bring the country boys of the Legislature out of their seats is the recommendation of Gov. Daniel that the farm-to-market road program be transferred from the state's general fund to highway funds.

Daniel insists the transfer, whether for two years or permanently, will not damage the program.

But the transfer of the $15 million annual obligation will cut the Texas highway program by that amount annually. The goal will be the primary and state road system, the in-between of the farm-to-market construction program which is perpetuated by the mandatory "mud to pavement" spending program, and the gigantic interstate highway construction program which is sustained mostly with federal funds.

A joker in the state highway program consistently pointed out by the highway department is that after spending earmarked funds for farm-to-market construction, and the state's 10 per cent matching funds for the interstate construction, there remains the state obligation of maintenance of the entire farm-to-market system and the largely federally financed interstate system. But with practically all of the money earmarked for building, there is very little left to keep them from deteriorating through lack of maintenance.

The farm-to-market road program was one of the most important ever adopted by Texas in the development of its outstanding highway system. Texas has something over 30,000 miles of this relatively inexpensive construction, but roads located where traffic would not justify the building of the US-designated or state-designated highways.

No proposal has been made, and none will be made, to abandon the program bearing the name of farm-to-market roads. It has too much support for that. Significantly, much of the support comes from business and industry interests of the cities, which share with the farmers and the ranchers the benefit of good transportation to and from the remotest rural areas.

The program will continue, and more roads will be linked up as needed, whether the money comes out of the general fund's deficit or the highway fund's surplus.

Actually, one of the main problems of the highway department, increasing the load of maintenance cost of the farm roads, is that these roads are so much more convenient in many instances that the heavy trucks insist on using them. The roads are not built heavily enough to support the heaviest legal traffic, and often a truck will seriously damage a strip of farm road by a single trip over it. Thus maintenance is made more necessary, and more expensive.

Conserve Your Moisture! Fertilize As You Plant ...

Authorities at Lubbock Agricultural Experiment Station report that we have the biggest underground seasoning we have had since 1927. The big rains we had last summer brought moisture up to field capacity, and growing crops couldn't deplete it all, leaving a big moisture 'carry-over.' The bountiful subsoil moisture at present indicates that a lighter-than-normal irrigation will be required before planting — even if relatively dry conditions prevail in the near future. You can conserve even more of that moisture if . . . YOU

Kin Of Stantonites In Heavy Indiana Storm

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Geurin of Stanton, recently received a letter from their daughter, Mrs. Carl Heron of Hope, Indiana, telling of a snow storm, which struck the community the last of February.

Mr. and Mrs. Herron and family formerly resided in Stanton. Mrs. Herron is the former Frances Geurin.

The blizzard, which was called the most paralyzing sleet and snow storm in the history of Bartholomew County, Indiana, struck the area Saturday, February 25. A heavy snow fell and climbed to 6-foot drifts before howling 55-mile-an-hour winds. About 3,000 persons were caught in the snow storm and spent the night at the high school gym, and other city buildings at Columbus, Indiana, near Hope.

Cars and trucks were stalled on the highways. Major highways were opened to traffic by Sunday afternoon. During the time the electricity was off and residents were without lights, heat and water, and no way to get food.

Mrs. Herron told her parents that her family had gone to Muncie, a nearby town, and had planned on coming home on Sunday but couldn't because of the closed roads. They arrived home Monday morning, and found their house without electricity or heat. The only type of heat available was bottled gas in the kitchen, so they lived in the kitchen until the fuel began to run low. They spent the rest of the afternoon in the car, parked in the sun to keep warm. Finally gas was delivered and that night the electricity was restored.

Mrs. Herron sent a number of newspaper pictures of high snow drifts, of trees that were broken with ice and snow, and of other wintery scenes, back to relatives in Stanton.

Martin County residents were reminded today that time is fast running out in which to purchase 1961 automobile license tags.

Tags must be purchased and displayed by April 1.

To date a total of 605 license tags have been sold for automobiles, 200 tags for trucks and farm trucks and 27 sets of tags for trailers.

Dan Saunders, tax assessor-collector, said this total represents only a small per cent of automobiles, trucks and trailers to be registered in the county. Last year he said a total of 3,598 sets of plates were issued.

Saunders urged county residents to purchase their tags immediately and to not wait until the last day.

Outdoors In Texas

By VERN SANFORD

How many times have you driven through one of our National Forests, looked up at the giant wall of trees lining the highway and wondered what secrets they hold? What kind of activity takes place amid those thousands of acres of timber and underbrush?

All the while you're wondering, wheels are turning and many things are happening deep in those ghostly woods. Tall pines are tumbling to the ground as automation rips their trunks with roaring saws. Timber is hauled out by the thousands of tons.

Wildlife lives and dies, by the normal acts of nature and by man with powder and lead. In many areas, conservation agencies work to manage and propagate some of our favorite game species.

There's any number of activities, both industrial and recreational, concealed behind that great wall of timber and pine needles.

Some of it helps pay state bills. Only recently Gov. Price Daniel was presented with a check for $636,547.92 from the U. S. Forest Service as the States' share of the income from the sale of 119.4 million board feet of timber and other uses of the Texas National Forests during the fiscal year 1960. This is the highest income from timber since reforestation started on the forests of East Texas way back in 1935. Total income from Texas National Forests for 1959 was $2,346,191.68.

Each county occupied by forests is a 25 percent stockholder, in the gross receipts, according to Federal law. Texas allocates this income to schools and roads on a 50-50 basis. Last year, the Forest Service spent $289,462.69 on the maintenance of some 800 miles of roads on the 630,000 acres of National Forests. In addition, over $104,000 was allotted the State Highway Department for the construction of forest highways.

Forest Supervisor John W. Cooper stated during the check presentation ceremony that watershed protection, outdoor recreation and fish and wildlife management of the forests are possibly of equal or greater value to the State than timber production. Hunting and fishing on the forests are coordinated by the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Some areas of the forests are fenced in. This was done to better control and integrate livestock management with wildlife habitat. However, signs will be posted on these sections to remind visitors that they are still welcome.

Certain special areas are designated for intensive game management and restoration by the Commission. One such area is the Angelina Wildlife Management Area composed of three different sections.

Each year, managed hunts are held on this area. If you passed through the Angelina Forest when deer hunting opened, you might not have realized that a public hunt was being held. Reports indicated that it was a very successful hunt.

If you pass through these forests during the Spring and Summer, you may not get to see the hundreds of families and friends that have spread out their picnic lunches under the shadows of silent pines and hardwoods. Or, you may miss the smiles on the faces of the many weekend fishermen who stretch out on the banks of rippling streams that snake their way through the dense timber land.

You would need to turn off the main highways and byways to feast your eyes on little isolated communities which dot the Davy Crockett National Forest. To get acquainted with the people and their seemingly strange customs that live and die deep in the woods, you would have to do more than just pass by in a speeding auto.

Inside those dark timbered hills live some of the most fascinating plants, creatures, and people you could find anywhere in Texas . . . or the world for that matter.

And the sounds of a forest are equally as fascinating. Whether it be the rustle of leaves, the screech of a feathered friend, the scampering of bushbats high above, the whine of a saw in the distance, or the combination of all these, your ears will be filled with the music of the living forest.

So, with this glimpse of what takes place deep in our great forests, you might now realize that they're not just made up of tall trees and moist soil.

Many a farmer or rancher has his short-term debts completely out of balance with his long-term debts. Good management dictates that he keep his operating or short-term credit in balance with his capital or long-term credit. By doing this he will be able to meet repayments with more ease.

While a Land Bank loan will not reduce your total indebtedness, it has provided the key to a balanced debt load to thousands. Most likely a Land Bank loan is the answer to your credit problem.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD

After hours of fiercely critical debate, the House voted by a surprising 149-to-1 to attack the state's fiscal problems by working first to retire the deficit as an emergency matter.

This is the approach advocated by Gov. Price Daniel and Speaker of the House James Turman. Several who spoke against the deficit-retiring resolution voted for it.

Agreeing to retire the deficit, however, is not the same as agreeing on how to do it. Some new measures, big and broad, have been introduced.

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola has submitted an omnibus tax measure which he says will bring in $293,000,000 over a two-year period. It is backed by Governor Daniel.

Hinson's bill includes levies on natural gas pipelines, power-driven objects and parts, utilities, stock transfers, jewelry and watches, construction materials, soft drinks, beer, wine, liquor, restaurant meals.

According to the governor's office, the bill would provide revenue for an $800 a year teacher pay raise and other spending but is not aimed at wiping out the deficit.

Reps. John Allen of Longview and Forrest A. Harding of San Angelo are proposing an even bigger one. It is a two per cent general sales tax to raise an estimated $317,000,000.

Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas has introduced, as promised, his "Texas as broad-based excise tax."

It is not called a sales tax, but, in the language of the bill, imposes "upon each separate sale at retail of tangible personal property within this state an excise tax of two per cent." It has a long list of exemptions, including some already-taxed items.

CO-OP BILL KILLED — REA electric co-op hopes for more city privileges were tumbled by a 77-to-64 House vote.

Several years ago the Legislature passed a law authorizing co-ops to continue to serve the same customers when a co-op area is annexed by a city. This year the co-ops sought permission to add new customers to existing lines in annexed areas.

Opponents charged that this would put a government-subsidized operation in competition with private enterprise. Spokesmen for private utilities declared they have to pay 27.4 per cent of their income in taxes compared to 1.6 per cent for co-ops.

Co-op leaders say that, after taking electricity to areas the private companies wouldn't serve, they are now in a life-or-death struggle.

ANNEXING CURB PASSED — No longer would Texas cities be able to reach out and annex "all out of doors" under a bill passed 139-to-5 by the House.

It provides that cities would be encircled by a zone in which they would have control of building and sanitation codes, but would not have taxing powers. A portion of this zone could be annexed each year.

Also, cities would be required to get city utilities to an annexed area within three years.

LOAN LAW SOUGHT — House Banking Committee is engaged in one of the sessions' toughest and most difficult tasks — hammering out new regulations for the small loan industry.

A constitutional amendment voted by the people last November removed the blanket prohibition against interest of more than 10 per cent and gave the Legislature authority to set interest rates and regulate the loan industry.

Five bills are under study. In general, they provide for a maximum charge of three per cent per month on loans under $100, less for larger loans. Whether credit insurance should be included in maximum charges allowed is one of the questions at issue.

NEW INSURANCE RATE BILL — As a new approach to auto insurance rates, Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo has introduced a bill to require legislative approval of State Board of Insurance orders.

Hazlewood said his first approach, a bill directing the board to make certain changes in the present auto rate plan, had been "bottled up."

On the other side of the Capitol, the House Insurance Committee voted out favorably a "flexible rating" bill that would take away from the Insurance Board the authority to set auto rates.

A few days earlier, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson issued an opinion that, under present law, only the State Board, not the companies, can set these rates.

Prior to his resignation as chairman of the State Insurance Board, Penn J. Jackson had suggested letting individual companies set up their own merit rating plans on an optional basis.

MOUTHFUL — Texas A&M College exes, famed for their fierce defense of the school's traditions, have a problem.

Sen. W. T. Moore and Rep. B. H. Dewey, both of Bryan, are sponsoring bills to change A&M's name. There's more prestige in being called a "university" than a "college," they say.

Proposed measure would change name to Texas State University and Agricultural Mechanical College, with a view eventually to making it just Texas State University.

LAST-MINUTE FLOOD — Passage of the 60-day mid-point in this session ended the period when bills may be introduced without special consent. A flood of new bills came in under the wire. Among them are measures that would allow voters to put an "X" by the name of the person they wish to vote for instead of scratching all others on the ballot; provide for a 10 per cent merit pay raise for teachers to be awarded by local districts and financed 50-50 by state and districts; provide penalties for law enforce-

How their telephones save Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sauer 2 1/2 hours a day

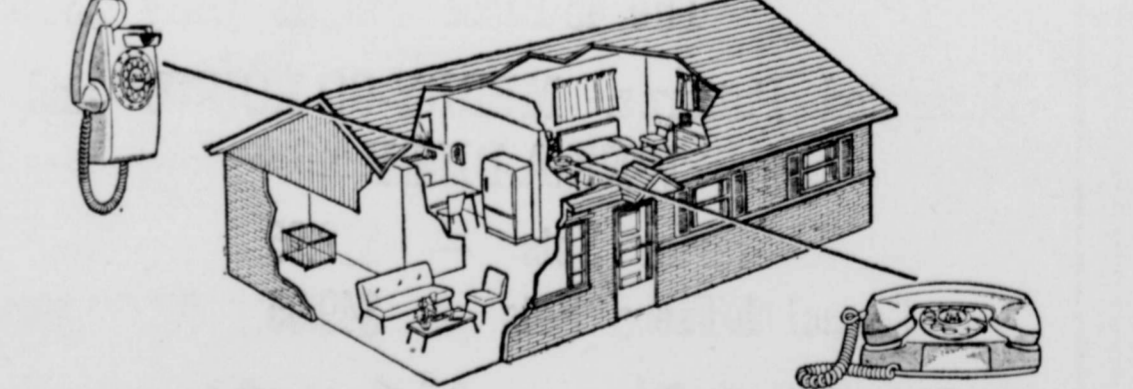

By DON DAVIS, Telephone News Writer

"I called a department store to order a place setting of china I saw advertised. I'm going to give it to a friend who is getting married."

"As a photographer, I have calls at home in the evening to arrange for props and models. So I use our Princess phone in the bedroom, where it's quiet."

The Sauer use their phones — a white Princess model in the bedroom and a green wall phone in the kitchen — about 50 times a week to help them get things done.

As she speaks of the Princess, Mrs. Sauer's eyes light up. "It's so small and lovely. And the way the dial lights up is great." The Sauer use their bedroom phone when they want quiet and privacy. This phone also gives Mrs. Sauer a sense of security when she's alone at night.

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

SOME Texas cities are having trouble strictly enforcing the blue laws. Customers are having just as hard time trying to get luxuries from stores on Sundays. Last Sunday in a large city in Texas a little girl visited a drug store to buy some shampoo for her mother. The druggist said, "Sorry, young lady, we can sell you cough syrup on Sundays but not shampoo." He explained it was against the law. The child returned to her mother, who sent her back, this time to ask for a bottle of "shampoo cough syrup." She got it.

BIRTHDAY greetings go this week to MRS. FLOYD McARTHUR. MAXINE observed the day on Monday, March 13. By-the-way, go by her gift shop and look over some of the new patterns in Franciscan ware. She has them announced in this issue of the paper.

TWO worthy drives get underway soon. Funds for the RED CROSS and for the CANCER FUND. Plans are being worked out for both campaigns now. We have just concluded two successful campaigns — for the MARCH OF DIMES and GIRL SCOUTS. We must not overlook the HEART FUND either. It comes up in April too. Doctors and research teams have not yet been able to scratch the surface toward finding the cause of heart disease or cancer. We have the SALK vaccine for polio—and yet, more money is contributed to the MARCH OF DIMES than to both the other campaigns put together. Why is that?

THE campaign for library funds is doing nicely. On April 4, residents will vote on the question of whether or not the city can deed land to the county for the purpose of having a county library building constructed. Let's all vote affirmative. The people connected with the library drive, headed by MRS. GLENN BROWN, have all worked long and hard for the project.

IN the summer of 1955 we started writing a book. In January of 1956 our association with this publication started. Before coming to Stanton, in the six month period spent in Dallas in our home, in Longview, in the penthouse quarters over our brother's newspaper, and in Mineola, at 'FRIENDLY PINES'—the two-story peeled pine family lodge on the banks of Rockfalls Lake, we put together more than 200 pages of our novel. After arriving in Stanton, the writing pace slowed down. We were too busy with our work to think about much of anything else. We abandoned the idea of writing a book. But in 1960 a series of events started developing that caused us to get out the old script—revise some of it—and take off again with renewed determination to finish the effort started six years ago. We have found a world of good material in Stanton and almost every evening we find time to add a page or two. It sure would be nice to write another "MAIN STREET." SINCLAIR LEWIS must have written his famous novel while hanging around the courthouse square in a town about the size of ours.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jones were entertained with a birthday supper Sunday evening, March 5 at their home. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cox of Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hazlewood, and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. James Jones and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jones. Lendon Hightower, a student at Clarendon Junior College in Clarendon, visited over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss Hightower.
