We found this tip recently about removing old wax from floors—try wiping them with a cloth soaked in turpentine. It works everytime. And here is another sure-fire method of cleaning your kitchen stove — just leave a pan of household ammonia in the oven overnight and next morning you can wipe it clean on the inside. And the best way we have found to clean a coffee pot is to use cream of tartar in the basket once a week — just like making coffee — put in water and a couple of or three teaspoons of cream of tartar in the basket and watch the stain give away to a shiny percolator.

I knew a very pleasant lady who had the habit of looking back and wishing that things had been different after she experienced tragedy. It tormented her and caused her great pain and anxiety. Then one day an interested party who had experienced some of the same symptoms and one who had also suffered heartache and mental anguish advised that bitterness is a waste of time. People can make a career of righteous resentment, but even when it's justified, it doesn't get them anywhere. Resentment about the past is a waste of energy which we should use to fulfill ourselves. They're backward looking emotions and you're not likely to go forward if you are busy looking back.

A Mt. Pleasant, Texas grocer, has the right idea. Wishing his customers health and happiness on New Year's Day, Clyde Ramey, the grocer, handed out packages of black-eyed peas and the traditional 'n' tasty sausage, hog jowl, to the first 100 customers in the store on New Year's Eve. Good health 'n' good luck should go hand in hand toward a boom in business in Mt. Pleasant in 1963. If any Yankees are listening black-eyed peas are what youse guys call black-eyed beans.

No other star in Hollywood history enjoyed the wide spread of success that was Dick Powell's. He had a different career for each of his three decades in the movie capital and excelled in them all. The Arkansas started his career in movies as a way-haired tenor and was featured in musicals. But the musicals paled and Powell found the public fancy passed him by. He knew he needed a new act and he went after it. He next ventured into roles of the hard-talking, steel-nerved dramatic actor, the prototype for a generation of tough heroes. Then Dick Powell formed a company and succeeded in television. He liked to be known as a good businessman. The only time your writer ever brushed up against a real movie star was on a plane flight years ago when commercial aviation was in it's infancy and Dick Powell was aboard. The plane was forced down near Murfreesboro, Tennessee and Powell mingled freely with the grounded air travelers until flight was resumed to New York. We didn't ask Powell for an autograph and we didn't get one, but we did pass a cigarette from our pack to the star and he appeared to enjoy our brand. Powell was just an ordinary fellow and other stars may have led more colorful lives or brought more brilliance to their work. None was better liked.

A subscription renewal is a testimonial of appreciation, goodwill, and really an endorsement of all the things it takes to make up a country newspaper. We are happy to have these folks on the mailing list in 1963: Bill Clements, Franklin, Texas; Ruth Holloway, W. A. Graves, Judge Jim McCoy, and Buna Jones, all of Stanton; W. O. Caton, Waco, Texas; Mr. Caton is the father of Judge Ralph Caton of Big Spring; Mrs. T. J. Poindexter, Bee Heights, South Dakota; (And she writes—we enjoy reading the paper so very much.) And then we greet again for the New Year these subscribers: E. L. Reynolds, Stanton; Woodford Sale, Stanton; Mrs. Claud Edwards, Stanton; V. L. Perkins, Big Spring; Connie Mack Hood, Stanton; W. C. Barhill, Stanton.

It should be obvious to observing Texans now that our state government is going to be in good hands for the next year. John Connally, conservative, has been elected governor (Continued on page 4)

4-H Clubbers Exhibit In Odessa Show

Martin County 4-H Clubbers exhibited steers and lambs at the recent Sand Hills Show in Odessa. Jimmy Robertson exhibited two steers and placed one twenty-seventh in the heavy class. Smitty Smith led the lamb exhibitors placing one lamb twelfth in the heavy class and one lamb took twenty-second place in the lighter division. Also exhibiting lambs were Jimmy Epley, Johnny McIntyre and Pat Garza. County Agent Bob Johnson commented that Odessa was the first show of the year and is one of the best quality-wise because many animals go on to win other shows that even fail to place in the Ector County exhibition.
Smitty Smith's twelfth place lamb sold at auction to Lloyd's Food Store owned by Lloyd Brewer, formerly of Stanton.

Hick's Case Not Considered

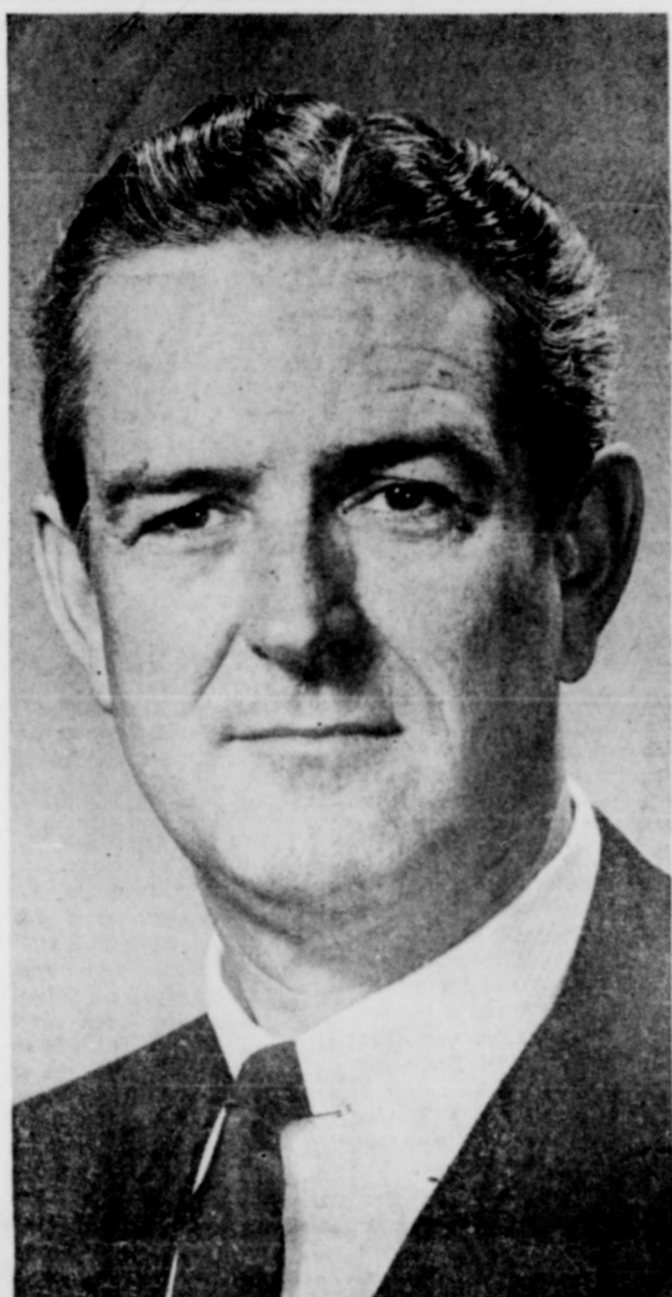

Grand Jury Returns 4 Indictments Monday

A Martin County grand jury failed to indict James Monroe Steward, charged with murder in the death of Travis B. Hicks, because the case was not presented to the jurors by Gil Jones, district attorney. Jones said he did not ask the Martin County body to vote a bill against the alleged slayer. "Hicks," explained Jones, "was killed in Big Spring. I intend to present the case to the Howard County grand jury when it convenes January 27. I will ask for an indictment at that time. If the indictment is voted, Steward will be tried in Howard County."
Steward is presently in the Martin

Judge McCoy Calls Survey Members Meet

County Judge Jim McCoy has issued a call for a meeting of the newly appointed Martin County Historical Survey Committee on January 19 at 9:00 a.m. in County Court Room.

This meeting is being held in accordance with a proclamation by Governor John Connally, declaring January 19 Texas Historical Preservation Day. Over 2,000 committeemen in some 240 County Historical Survey Committees over Texas are expected to convene on that day to elect officers and formulate plans for the year's work.
"Every county has a history all its own, and Martin County is no exception," said Judge Jim McCoy. "The County Historical Survey Committee has unlimited possibility for doing our County a great service in the field of preserving our history for years to come."

When John Connally Takes Oath

Colorful Inaugural Day Forecast For January 15

One of the most popular and colorful Inaugural Days in history has been forecast for next Tuesday when John Connally and Preston Smith become governor and lieutenant governor.

The Inaugural Day festivities are unique because invitations or tickets are not needed to attend any of the four main functions of the day. Despite this, a tremendous demand for souvenir invitations has completely exhausted the supply. More than 60,000 engraved invitations — containing autographed prints of both Connally and Smith—were prepared.
That included a last-minute increase of 15,000. But it still wasn't enough and time is so short that no more can be engraved.

"We want to emphasize that everybody is welcome to all the Inaugural Day festivities," William C. Long said. He is general chairman of the Austin Inaugural Committee. "No invitations or tickets are needed to get into any of the events," he said.
The day's activities begin at 8 a.m. in the Driskill Hotel with the Dedication Prayer Service. The principal speaker will be Dr. Billy Graham.
Others on the dedicatory program are Rabbi Donald Cram, Dr. Monroe Vivion and Bishop L. J. Reicher, all religious leaders from Austin.
Connally and Smith will take their oaths of office from Robert W. Calvert, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, during a program which begins at high noon at the south entrance to the Capitol.
Others in the inaugural ceremony are Dr. Gaston Foote of Fort Worth and Dr. Calvin Groelmer of Lubbock.
The afternoon will feature the longest and most colorful Inaugural Parade in history, beginning at 2 p.m. More than 100 units will march — college and high school bands, civic floats, military and mounted units.
The evening will be climaxed by a gala inaugural reception at the Capitol. Entertainment will be featured in the Senate Chambers and the House of Representatives while the new officers and their wives will receive their guests in the rotunda.
The reception starts at 7 p.m.
The Inaugural Day festivities will be preceded Monday night by the $25-a-plate Democratic Victory Dinner in the Municipal Auditorium, sponsored by the State Democratic Executive Committee.
Entertainment will be the keynote of the dinner, says the SDEC, with Vic Damone as the headline star. Only a few short speeches are planned.
Elected Texas officials will be presented at the dinner, which is being catered by Walter Jetton of Fort Worth.

The poultry and egg index at 196 was up from a month ago and from 1961.

Davis testified that he was led to narcotics addiction by a cough syrup first prescribed in 1958 by a doctor in Corpus Christi.

Davis was taken in custody at Georgetown October 19 after Austin police reported attempts to fill a forged prescription at three Austin pharmacies.

and it is apparent that he plans to keep his administration on an even keel. One of his best friends and top advisers is former governor Allan Shivers. Just a few days ago both men visited Midland to visit with a third friend, Tom Sealy, who is destined to have a big voice in the administration policy. As a matter-of-fact, Sealy supported Jack Cox when he made the race against Price Daniel two years ago, but this time backed Connally. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith's conservative views are well known in West Texas and he will preside over the senate. And the senate will have Senator Martin Dies, Jr., Lufkin, and son of the former head of the Dies Un-American Activities Committee in Washington, as president pro tempore. Young Dies is a chip "off-the-old-block." And then there is aggressive Byron Tunnell of Tyler who will be Speaker of the House of Representatives. Tunnell is another conservative and a good man. So to sum up — no matter what anyone thinks — there will be no give-aways or miniature medicare in Austin this year.

United States would be higher than the three million quoted above.

During the past year, Hemphill added 71 changes were made in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book listings of Martin County businesses, including 20 names added, 19 names deleted, and 32 changes in the ratings of continuing businesses. The changes occurring in Martin County are lower than the rest of the country where a change of business significance is counted about every five seconds.

When the owner or officer of a business enterprise, or his accountant, fills in and mails his financial statement to Dun & Bradstreet, it becomes a part of the credit report on his business and a factor in determining the credit rating of his business. Mailing the statement, rather than waiting for the Dun & Bradstreet reporter's call means a concern's important suppliers will quickly have the latest facts on which to make credit and sales decisions. When the Dun & Bradstreet reporter receives a business man's financial statement in advance of his periodic call, he can make a more detailed analysis of the financial condition of the business and discuss its operation more intelligently.

Back of each listing of a business in the Reference Book is a Dun & Bradstreet credit report. The report includes the following: a history of the business (who owns it, who runs it, and how long it has been operating); a description of what the business does and how it does it; a financial section which usually includes the latest financial statement; and a record of how the business pays its bills.

While credit reports are primarily used by business men who want to evaluate the credit risk of a business before shipping or selling, insurance underwriters also use credit reports to review risks, rates, and coverage for fire and other types of insurance.

Big Auto Year 1962 Highlight

Year Good But Not Up To Hopes

Evidence mounted in the first week of 1963 that 1962 was a good year for business, but not as good as hoped for at the beginning.

Good year-end reports came out about automobile production and sales, steel output, the level of new construction and the payment of corporate dividends.

On the darker sides, losses piled up from a longshoremen's strike that has shut down ports on the East and Gulf Coasts and newspaper strikes which have closed nine dailies in the country.

The brightest results were posted by the automobile industries, which turned out 6,935,390 passenger cars last year, second only to 1955, when 7,942,125 were assembled. The total was 25.7 per cent above 1961.

All five manufacturers exceeded their 1961 output.

6.75 Million Cars

Sales of U. S.-produced cars were estimated at 6.75 million against 5,556,167 in 1961.

With many plants operating only 3 1/2 days or less because of the New Year's holiday, production this week was held to an estimated 112,000 cars, compared with 109,990 last week and 121,953 a year ago.

The outlook for the first quarter of this year is for production of 1.9 million autos, which would make it one of the best first quarters in the industry's history.

While the steel industry's performance wasn't impressive, it managed another record, rising 0.6 per cent from October, to $34 billion. Manufacturers' new orders attained another record, rising 0.6 per cent from October, to $34 billion. Manufacturers' sales rose 1.5 per cent to $34 billion.

Dividends Up

The Commerce Department reported that new construction reached a record $61.1 billion last year, up seven per cent from 1961. Investment in private construction amounted to $43.4 billion, and in public construction $17.8 billion.

It was a good year for many stockholders as far as dividends were concerned. There were 1,066 dividend increases against 902 in 1961 and 1,261 extra dividend declarations against 1,169. Resumptions of suspended dividends numbered 168, compared with 146 the previous year.

Private housing starts were at an annual rate of 1,544,000 units, little changed from October but 13 per cent above a year earlier.

Manufacturers' new orders attained another record, rising 0.6 per cent from October, to $34 billion. Manufacturers' sales rose 1.5 per cent to $34 billion.

Dry Socks, Forever

Many waterproof boots are okay for most wet work, but fall short when the going gets really soggy. Banish wet-sock-worry forever the plastic bag way. After you put on your socks, encase your foot in a good grade of plastic bag, then slip into your boots. No matter what happens your feet stay dry. Use an absorbent light wool sock next to your skin to soak up undue moisture non-breathing bag will cause.

No Bird's Nest

Sooner or later every monofil cast-er slips up and is presented with a monumental backlash that extends down through the entire spool. To nip such bird nest possibilities before they start, tape a piece of clear tape across the spool just a little deeper than your ordinary casting distance. If a heavy fish takes line, the light tape whisks through the guides with no dire consequences. But if you backlash, the tape keeps the tangle in the top of the line where it can be unraveled easily.

Counting Crows

Crows can count, honest. Up to one. Here's proof and a good tip at the same time. Walk into a woods and call crows. Nothing happens. They know you are there. But have a pal go with you. Both walk in, one walks out, and see what happens. Crows come. They counted one in, one out, everything okay. Some crow hunters claim they (the crows) can count up to two and you have to have three men in, two men out. What's Crow I. Q. in your area?

Dry Matches

Matches sealed in aluminum foil will stay dry for a long, long time.

Mix Before You Camp

With new dried foods, mix in your kitchen and save yourself time and trouble. Potatoes, coco, biscuits, even coffee can be mixed the way you like it with powdered milk at home and repacked for field use. In camp just add water.

Well, fairly easily.

Outdoors In Texas

By VERN SANFORD

Many elements are involved in making a good lake. By good we mean one that will stand up under heavy fishing pressure.

Lake Whitney, on the Brazos in North Central Texas, seems to have all the attributes.

This lake, now a dozen years old, has withstood such heavy pressure. It is located almost midway between Waco and the Fort Worth-Dallas area. This means that it is worked every fishable day of the year.

And still it produces fish.

Lake Whitney Dam backs water up the Brazos to cover almost 50,000 surface acres when it is filled.

Construction started in 1947 and was completed by the U. S. Corps of Engineers in 1953 at a cost of just over $40,000,000.

The dam itself is 17,695 feet long and 159 feet high. It is wide enough to carry highway traffic across it between Whitney and Clifton and points east and west.

Although rainfall fluctuates its depth, perhaps the secret of good fishing in Whitney is the fact that it is filled from an effective watershed of more than 17,000 square miles.

Because of the rich food qualities washed into the lake with each slight flood, fish grow big and sassy.

Principal sport enjoyed by Lake Whitney fishermen is catching largemouth black bass, whites (sandies), crappie and catfish. The lake is loaded with bream, but unfortunately Whitney is underfished for this wonderful little creature.

Whitney is easy to reach. Good roads lead to the lake from every direction, with many access points.

There is a spacious state park which permits public camping. The park is heavily trafficked by weekend campers from many parts of Texas.

The Corps of Engineers has developed recreational areas. They bear such names as Lofers Bend, Towash, Cedar Creek, Kimball and Powderdale.

People of Whitney have had a large part in making this an all-purpose lake. They have developed various types of water sports, including speed boat races, water skiing, boating and swimming. One of the annual features of Whitney is its bathing beauty contest, which has sent a bevy of gorgeous girls into top contests over the nation.

Villages on both the east and west side afford cabin facilities, food and drinks. There are several small airstrips around the lake and numerous family-owned cabins.

Although Whitney is a long narrow lake, it can get rough in bad weather. When it is dangerous to go onto the water, warning flags fly. Put with so many sloughs there always are places that can be fished, even in the foulest weather.

Many eight-pound bass have come from this lake, and many more will be taken, because the water is good. It is the only impoundment on the main body of the Brazos below Possum Kingdom, some 100 miles northwest.

Between the two dams are plenty of places for bass to propagate and grow big.

There also are a number of fishing barges on Lake Whitney. They provide 24-hour fishing in any kind of weather. Some of them are air conditioned in the summer and heated in the winter . . . for year 'round comfort.

Waterfowl shooting is permitted in season and quail are quite plentiful in certain areas. Deer can be found around Whitney too.

Lake Whitney was constructed as a flood control project, with generators in the dam to produce an annual power capacity of some 85 kw-hr.

Whitney is a beautiful body of water throughout its entire length. When you cross the dam you are impressed with the rockbound shores on the west and the rolling hills on the east. A ride up Whitney in a fast boat reveals many beautiful sights where artists could spend a life-time regarding its beauties and moods.

Lake Whitney is good for a Sunday drive, a weekend visit, a camping trip or real honest-to-goodness fishing.
