FINEST CLIMATE ON EARTH WHERE HEALTH, HAPPINESS AND PROSPERITY AWAIT THE HOMESEAKER

Vol. LVL—No. 17

STANTON, MARTIN COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, APRIL 18, 1963

8 Pages—Price 5c

By NEAL ESTES

From an exchange we took this small chuckle recently. "Girl's skirts are so short these days that the men who used to sit in sidewalk cafes and watch the girls pass by are now passing by to watch the girls sit in the sidewalk cafes."

The "Easter Spell" blew in on schedule Friday morning. The temperature started dropping around five a. m. and some garden, flower, shrubbery lovers, and growers of fruit trees made quick plans to protect the plants and trees.

Here's another tip for the home-makers. Did you know that the heavy syrup in canned fruit and sweet potatoes may be used with soft drinks for a delicious cold drink or place in ice trays to freeze into sweet ice cubes—or in jelly to add a special taste. We have been freezing V8 and tomato juice for years in cubes and you will enjoy a tall glass of tomato juice with frozen tomato juice cubes too. For a bit of added zest try a dash of AI sauce in the cubes.

We are pleased to welcome aboard the following old and new subscribers for this year: Bob Boyce, Snyder; Paige Eiland, Stanton; Jack Saunders, Big Spring; Kenneth Holcomb, Rt. 1, Stanton; Clyde White, Rt. 1, Stanton; L. Teenage Loop To Be Formed Homer Howard, Jr. is forming a Teenage Baseball Team. This team is for boys 13 through 15 years of age. The boys will play in the Big Spring Teenage League.

Anyone interested in joining the league is asked to call Mr. Howard at GL 9-2501 or come by the Stanton Hatchery this week and pick up an application blank.

Devonian Discovery In Prospect In Northwest Martin County Well

By JAMES C. WATSON

A Devonian discovery is in prospect for Northwest Martin County at Texas Crude Oil Company and Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1-253 Knox, 12 miles north of Tarzan.

It logged 95 feet of Devonian section which carried varying degrees of gas and oil before it found the water table in that formation.

It is contracted to 12,500 feet, which is expected to take it to the Ellenburger. The drillsite is 6,310 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of league 253, Ward County School Land survey.

The indicated discovery is 3½ miles southeast of the Breedlove (Devonian) pool.

Its best show for production in the Devonian came in a two-hour drillstem test at 11,750-933 feet. That investigation covered only the top 16

City, County Join To Buy Insurance Plan

Forty employees of Martin County and of the City of Stanton are now covered by group life and hospital insurance.

For the first time in history, this insurance plan was placed in effect through Southwestern Life Insurance with Woodford Sale representing the company in the capacity of local agent.

Membership in this insurance local association started on April 1. Sale said.

Sale also reported that the Physicians Hospital and Clinic has approved a group life plan becoming effective as soon as the enrollment is completed. This plan was also underwritten and set up by Southwestern Life.

Sale was named the area representative of the well known life insurance company several weeks ago.

An opening announcement appeared in The Stanton Reporter and several ads have appeared since the opening statement. One is included in our list of growing advertisers in this issue of the paper.

Mrs. F. Walker Leads Local P-TA Meeting

The Stanton Parent-Teachers Association met in their regular meeting, Tuesday, April 9, in the grade school study hall. Mrs. Floyd Walker, president, conducted the business meeting.

The health committee will check the ears and eyes of the grade school students this week. Mrs. Floyd Sorely is chairman of this project. Mrs. P. M. Bristow will assist her.

The principals of the schools gave a report to the group on the purchases made from the money the PTA gave the school system.

An installation of officers will be held at the meeting on the second Tuesday in May. This will be the last meeting of the current school term.

Coach Harlin Dauphin gave a program on "Good Citizenship Strength Through Physical Fitness."

There were about 20 attending the meeting.

Manning Rites Conducted In City Monday

Funeral services for James Sporer Manning, Jr., 46, were held Monday afternoon, April 15. Mr. Manning died Sunday morning at 8:28 a. m. in the local hospital following a long illness.

He was born May 11, 1916, in Fort Worth. He married Corene Cook November 20, 1952, in Lamesa. He has

For Our Children's Sake

By Neal Estes

This newspaper is proud of the reputation it bears as a tribune dedicated to the interest, welfare, and safety of our school children. During the Easter holidays, an egg hunt conducted on the elementary school grounds in Stanton, sparked a need for a genuine, old-fashioned clean-up of the grounds our children play on.

On Monday morning, at the invitation of some interested parents, your editor visited the elementary school grounds and observed the need for improvements. Broken glass littered the ground, jogged bricks, half buried, were revealing. Either hazard could cause serious injury and pain to students playing during the recreation periods on the ground. The playground facilities appeared run down and in need of repair or replacement. Paper cups, boxes, some fragments and shreds of old cartons were in evidence. Perhaps the containers used as traps or disposals for the trash from the building are not sufficient. The fences around the grounds catch a lot of the blowing debris. The ground is hard and uneven and there is little grass. It is not the intention of the editor to fasten blame—to charge neglect—to strike at the administrative officials—but to spotlight this great need for improvement for the sake of our children. Maybe there is insufficient help. Perhaps the school needs a new, full-time employe, a grounds custodian in addition to the two janitors who must necessarily spend the majority of their time on the inside of the buildings. The parents who made an appeal to the newspaper to help get the adult patrons of the school interested in the clean-up program, are interested only in that. They are not out to "raise Cain" or criticize. They have no personal axe to grind. They simply want to plan to make the elementary school ground a cleaner, better, healthier place for our children's sake—for their health—for their morale—for their safety. We suggest that the civic groups, the P-TA, the Chamber of Commerce, all join in this crusade for our children's betterment. The containers used to hold trash, the playground equipment, need replacing. The ground needs to be thoroughly cleaned and then leveled and grass started. Now is a good time to spend as much time on the playground by plowing, leveling, planting and watering, as is spent in the late Spring and Summer months on the football field. Let's get a plan of action. If the school district cannot afford the improvements, then let us form a labor battalion and work as a regular community army of men and women dedicated to helping make the school life of our children more comfortable.

John Calvin Jones, a young Martin County businessman, has joined his dad in one of the oldest businesses in the area and is now actively associated in the local operations of the Jones family enterprises.

Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Jones, this city. He is married and the father of one child. John Calvin Jones is a member of the First Baptist Church and the Stanton Lions Club. He is also active in other community affairs.

Jones will be associated with Paul K. in the operation of the Equitable Life Assurance Society farm and ranch loan service. They will continue to operate farms in Martin County they own.

A series of advertisement has been appearing in The Stanton Reporter detailing the services Paul K. and John Calvin Jones are qualified to give to interested parties. One of the ads appears in this issue of the paper.

John L. Cox Completes Well In Spraberry Trend In County

By JAMES C. WATSON

In the Spraberry Trend Area of southeast Martin County, John L. Cox of Midland has completed No. 1 Phillips.

On potential it pumped 214 barrels of 38-gravity oil from perforations 7,544-56 and 7,568-92 feet, which were treated with 30,000 gallons on fracture.

The gas-oil ratio was 638-1.

Ne-O-Tex Corporation of Midland potential No. 1 Ada Allen, located in the Spraberry Trend Area in southeast Martin, for a daily pumping gauge of 218 barrels of 38-gravity oil, plus 11 per cent water.

The producing perforations 7,138-58 and 8,018-38 were fractured with 60,000 gallons. The gas-oil ratio was 736-1.

FHA Chapter Girls Add To Cancer Money

Mrs. Leland B. Nelson advised the press Wednesday morning that the Stanton Chapter of Future Homemakers of America collected $396.04 in the house-to-house fund drive for the cancer crusade Tuesday night.

Mrs. Nelson wishes to thank all the FHA girls for volunteering to help and for their cooperation and hard work. She also sends her appreciation to the men and women who contributed.

She further stated she was still getting reports from special gifts, business donations, and other communities in the county. A final report and tally will be released soon.

Stanton Lions Hear Talk By Andrews Man

The Stanton Lions Club met Tuesday noon in their regular meeting at the Bellevue Restaurant. Bob Deavenport, president, presided over the business meeting.

Jim Herzberger of Andrews, spoke on "Hydroponics Method of Growing Grass for Livestock."

The Lions Club held their annual broom sale in downtown Stanton Tuesday. Finley Rhodes sales $787.05 of brooms and mops were sold. The local club keeps $204.63, which will go to local community projects.

Two visitors, Grover Springer and S. J. Foreman of the Grady Lions, and 22 members were present for the meeting.

Dallas To Be State FHA Meeting Site

The state meeting for Future Homemakers of America will be held in Dallas at the Fair Park Music Hall Friday and Saturday. This meeting will be attended by three of Stanton High School members of the FHA.

Kay Bryan and Mrs. King left Wednesday to attend the state executive council meeting on Thursday. This meeting is attended by the state officers and area presidents. Kay is the president of this area.

Kay will also be in a devotional in one of the events and will participate in the installation of new officers. She will attend the presidents breakfast Saturday morning. She will also receive her state degree at this meeting.

Carolyn Springer and Charlotte Kuhlman will arrive in Dallas on Thursday to attend the meeting on Friday and Saturday.

Charlotte is a voting delegate for the school. She will attend a business meeting on Saturday morning.

Rabies Case Reported In Valley View

Midland County's first rabies case of the year was confirmed this week and brought from city and county officers a plea to keep all pets under close restraint.

The death of a dog from the Valley View community, five miles southeast of Midland has been attributed by the State Health Department to rabies.

A regiment of dogs have been roaming the streets of Stanton. Residents with small children are especially concerned. It is entirely possible for a small child playing outside to become the victim of maddog bite and for the parents not to even know about it until too late to start the serum.

Editor Neal Estes conferred with Bob Johnson, county agent, this week about the possibility of bringing an outside veterinarian to Stanton for a day to administer anti-rabies serum.

In the meantime, be careful, keep your children under close observation at all times, and above all, try and keep your pets penned until any sign of an epidemic dies down.

Whitaker In Furniture Business Here

George Whitaker has opened a used furniture store in Stanton in the building adjacent to the former Hall Drug location.

Whitaker is making a name for himself in the business circle of the city and by doing so, is following in the footsteps of his dad, Bob Whitaker. Bob Whitaker was one of the most successful businessmen in Martin County, when the family lived here. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Whitaker are now residents of Batesville, Arkansas. He was a former theatre owner in Stanton and also served the town as mayor at one time.

George Whitaker, his wife and son, George Jr., are active participating in all phases of community life.

In addition to the operation of the furniture store, George Whitaker and his wife are also operating the popular Texas Theatre here. George is also serving a radio station in Big Spring as an engineer.

Young Whitaker is running a regular series of ads in The Stanton Reporter. A theatre ad appears in this issue along with some classified advertising.

Yater Funeral Rites Conducted In Big Spring

Funeral services of Wilk Henry Yater, 65, were held Saturday, April 13, at the First Baptist Church in Big Spring. Mr. Yater died Thursday, April 11, in a Big Spring hospital following a long illness.

He was born June 2, 1897, in Grandview. He had been a resident of Stanton several years and had farmed in Martin County until ill health forced him to retire. He was a World War I Navy veteran.

Survivors include the widow; a

Chamber Event Will Be Held Here May 6

The Martin County Chamber of Commerce sponsored Spring Festival will definitely be held in Stanton on May 6.

James Wheeler, chamber director, and chairman of the merchant's committee, made the announcement to the press this week. He stated that he was receiving almost total cooperation from local merchants.

The Spring Festival will start at 8 a. m. on Monday, May 6, and some of the stores will remain open until 6 p. m. to accommodate the public. The festival date coincides with the established Dollar Day in the county, and merchants will use the columns of the paper to bring special Festival and Dollar Day values to the general public next week.

Wheeler advised that door awards would be made at the Pancake Supper, to get underway promptly at 3 p. m. on May 6. Cakes will be served for three hours at fifty cents per order. Tickets for this portion of the event are being prepared by The Stanton Reporter and will go on sale today, April 19. The pancakes will be served in the George Whitaker Used Furniture building.

Some merchants will feature sidewalk sales throughout the day on May 6. Other stores will advertise their values in the newspaper.

Proceeds from the pancake sales will go to the Martin County Library fund, Wheeler said.

Miller Opens Southern Ice House In City

In this issue of The Stanton Reporter an announcement concerning the opening of a local ice house appears.

Jack Miller will serve in Stanton as representative of the Southern Ice Company.

Miller stated that the house, located in the same building it has occupied in the city in the past, has been completely remodeled and new equipment installed. He stated that ice would be available at the dock from 6 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. each day and delivery service would be maintained.

Ice will be sold in block or packaged in sacks, Miller stated.

Mrs. Nelson Reports On Cancer Crusade To Date

In its halfway progress report on the April Crusade, the American Cancer Society reported significant gains in Stanton and all of Martin County in funds raised and in educational effort.

Mrs. L. B. Nelson, Crusade chairman of Martin County Unit reported that to date:

The people to date have contributed $691.45 in 1963.

Volunteers have distributed over 2 thousand pieces of life-saving literature in 1963.

The chairman was optimistic about the end results. "The results so far promise to set a record."

"If this growth is continued to the end of the Crusade, the people of Martin County will find themselves in the proud position of striking a new and telling blow against cancer. There will be more, very much needed, money for programs of research, education and service. More people than ever before in Martin County will have been informed of means of protecting themselves from death from cancer."

Mrs. Nelson warned, however, that "This is no time to relax our effort. Instead, it should be stepped up."

Asking for greater effort in the windup half of the Crusade, the chairman said: "More money for education."

Large Throng Expected To Attend PCA Western Meeting

Stockholders and guests from across a 12-county area of the Permian Basin and West Texas are expected to attend the 29th annual stockholders' meeting of the Western Production Credit Association here Saturday, April 20, at the American Legion Hall.

Registration for the meeting will begin at 9 a. m., followed by the business meeting at 10. A barbecue luncheon will be served to all stockholders and guests at noon. David K. Workman, general manager of the home-owned and operated agricultural financing institution announced.

A throng of 400 or more persons are expected to attend the meeting and luncheon, which will be one of the largest attendances in recent years, Workman said.

"We want to urge all our stockholders to attend this meeting," Workman said. "This is the one time each year that they have the opportunity to gather to conduct the business of their association. We have an interesting and informative program planned, one that all our stockholders and guests will enjoy," Workman declared.

Highlights of the business meeting will be an election of two members of the board of directors and an address by an official of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, discount and supervisory agency for all 37 PCA groups in Texas.

Nominated for three-year terms on the board of directors are two incumbents, Jim Franklin of Stanton and E. G. Branch of Rankin. Both are

Cancer Communication Month

April is Cancer Control Month by Presidential proclamation. During this month the American Cancer Society is seeking funds for important programs of research, education and service. It is also seeking something even more important for the immediate present—to communicate.

It would be just as appropriate to designate April as Cancer Communication Month. Why? As a distinguished health officer said recently: "If someone invented a drug that would cure half of the present cases of cancer the excitement would be beyond belief. We have such a drug: It is communication."

An estimated one-half of all cases of cancer could be cured by finding them soon enough and "doing for them what we already know how to do." However, only one-third is being saved, largely because the individual does not go to his doctor in time for early diagnosis.

The problem of eliminating the gap between one-third and one-half—of adding 88,000 lives to the 177,000 now saved each year—is difficult and distressing. It is a problem of communication and motivation. It is distressing because we are unable to persuade people to act in their own health interest—to present themselves in time for early diagnosis and treatment of cancer. At minimum, this means a health check-up at least once a year.

During April, volunteers of the American Cancer Society will be calling on you. They will ask for funds to support life-saving programs in cancer control. They will urge you to have a health checkup now—if you have not already had one—and do so every year.

We urge you to do both.

Air Conditioned Dog Pen
Relieve your dog from the terrible heat of mid summer with a tip borrowed from the Egyptians. Works just as good 3000 years later. Spread burlap along the sides of dog's pen and wet down with a hose. The evaporation will pull heat from the air and lower the temperature and Fido will love the shade the burlap affords.

X-Ray Game
Well, this is a little far out . . . but then it takes all kinds. Shot in game scares some people who have lost part of a tooth biting down on a Number 8. Answer is easy. Locate an X-ray Machine. (Most doctor's offices have them) and locate the shot. Only problem is the doctor. He'll probably want to come along on your next hunting trip.

The Exchange Desk

DENVER CITY PRESS: "The Yoakum County Water Conservation Association received an official copy of the Texas Water Pollution Control Board order prohibiting oil companies from dumping brine water Monday, and the association is now in the process of raising funds to send its lawyer and hydrologist to the public hearing to be held August 21."

THE MERKEL MAIL: "Merkel Badgers raced to seven first place finishes in Big Spring Tuesday to win the District 6-A track and field championship. The Badgers of Coach Burl McCoy, compiled 153½ points to 113 for the defending champion Rotan. Roscoe placed third with 99-1/6 and Wylie, led by Dean Clark, had 88½ for fourth place."

THE FORT STOCKTON POIONEER: "Oil company tax representatives Monday met with the Pecos County Commissioners Court to request relief from the burden of property taxes on Pecos County taxes, which they assert are being hard-hit by Texas proration laws."

THE MUNDAY TIMES: "Munday will have its first vegetable show on Saturday, June 22. This event is being planned by the Munday Chamber of Commerce in an effort to promote and emphasize the many varieties of vegetables that can be grown and are being grown in Knox County."

THE McCAMEY NEWS: "Rainfall last week measured in McCamey, totaled .71 of an inch at the official gauge at the West Texas Utilities station, announced John Smith, weather recorder."

ANDREWS COUNTY NEWS: "An all-out effort to control fly and mosquito breeding within the city was launched Monday by the city and the city council health unit. Due to the early arrival of warm spring days, city officials were concerned about the longer breeding period than usual afforded flies and mosquitoes."

THE BIG LAKE WILDCAT: "Reagan County shared in the slow, steady rain that fell over West Texas last Thursday, bringing smiles to ranchers, some of whom had received no appreciable moisture since the first of this year. An inch up to 1.50 was reported from over the ranch country. In Big Lake 1.12 was registered, bringing the year's total to only 1.92. No moisture was gauged here in January, 80 in February, and none in March."

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

The death this spring from burns of a prominent Chicago woman whose gown was ignited by a cigarette served as a tragic reminder of the fact that home accidents from fire always are close at hand.

It is estimated that 2,000 deaths a year in the United States are caused by clothing catching fire, and annually another 300,000 persons are burned severely enough from clothing to require medical attention. Light weight, filmy garments are particularly susceptible to quick burning.

When clothing catches fire the most important factor is not to panic. Smother the flames as quickly as possible by rolling in a carpet or blanket. If nothing is immediately at hand, roll on the floor or ground. Running in panic around the house or yard merely fans the flames.

To help prevent accidental ignition of clothing, check your home carefully for potential fire hazards. Provide adequate guards for fireplaces and all open fires; guards that will prevent a flowing gown or robe from accidentally brushing into the flame. Use no flammable cleaning fluids. Hang clothes well away from stoves or fireplaces. See that curtains are not placed so they could blow into flames.

Smoking habits are the cause of many fires in homes. Don't smoke in bed or when you are sleepy. Supply your home with plenty of ash trays, so that there is an ash tray close at hand anywhere in the house.

Do not place ash trays on easily combustible surfaces such as overstuffed furniture.

There are spray can mixtures available for flame-proofing cloth, and many home safety authorities recommend using sprays on curtains and drapes. Some recommend that the play clothing of small children be flame-proofed, particularly the light dresses of small girls.

First objectives of first aid care for burns are to prevent shock, prevent contamination and control pain.

For extensive heat burns, place the cleanest available cloth over the burned areas to exclude air, have the victim lie down with head and chest lower than the rest of the body, and, if the victim is conscious and can swallow, give him plenty of nonalcoholic liquids, particularly water. Call a physician immediately.

For lesser burns, such as a scorch from an electric iron, soak a sterile gauze pad or clean cloth in baking soda solution, place the pad over the burn and bandage loosely. If the skin is not broken, immerse burned part in clean, cold water to relieve pain.

All burns, except where the skin is reddened in only a small area, should be seen by a physician or a nurse. Estimating the depth of a burn requires professional skill and the burn may be deeper and more serious than it appears.

Bible Comment—

Lord's Prayer Is Model Of Perfection

Prayer and thanksgiving are linked together in Christian life. We cannot be truly thankful except in the spirit of prayer; otherwise our thankfulness may be concerned only with self. Nor can we be prayerful except in the spirit of thanksgiving, for our approach to God in prayer is inadequate unless back of it is what Paul expressed in his cry, "Thanks be to God for His unspeakable gift."

All this is expressed in the Lord's prayer, in the manner in which all prayer should be made.

Let us note a few things concerning this manner. First the prayer begins with God and with reverence toward Him. The first petition is that of God's kingdom come and the second is that His will may be done in earth as it is in heaven.

It is only upon this high plane that the Christian comes to pray for his own needs, and the Christian's prayer is not for daily bread.

The next petition links the Christian with his fellow men and with God; as he prays for forgiveness of his own trespasses he asks only that he may be forgiven as he forgives others.

The prayer for deliverance from evil is an expansion of the prayer for forgiveness. And the Lord's prayer ends as it begins, with adoration to God and contemplation of His goodness.

Paul admonished the early Christians to pray without ceasing. It is easy to pray without ceasing this sort of prayer, for it not only expressed in words but is the constant aspiration of the devout soul.

Philosopher Says He'd Rather Have Federal Help In The Country Than The City

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw seems to be kidding big cities, his letter this week indicates.)

Dear editor:
It's been so long since the big city newspapers and magazines have exercised themselves over the farm problem that I had the feeling something was afoot, and it is.

According to an article in a newspaper I found out here on this Martin County grass farm yesterday where it had blown up against a fence and which I removed at once before the whole thing blew over — I'm no engineer but I know what a few more pounds of stress can do to a fence of mine—big cities are seeking 375 million dollars in Federal grants to help them finance transportation systems for commuters.

As I understand it, so many people work in cities the streets won't hold all their cars and they have to use trains and buses, but the trains and buses are losing money and their equipment is delapidated so naturally the only thing to do is to turn to Washington for money to make up the difference. Cities may denounce farmers for doing this, but they know a good idea when they see it. I can't get any big cities to agree with me, but clearly the trouble is that we've got a surplus of cities. Marginal cities, I guess you'd call them, like marginal farmers.

It looks to me like any city which is so big it can't get its people to and from the working areas every day, is simply too big. In reverse, it's like the farmer who's too small. Both are uneconomic.

Now with the farmer, the city answer has always been, let him give up unprofitable farming and move to town, but it's hard to say that if a city is too big, let it close up and move to a smaller place. You can say it, but it hardly makes sense.

What cities need actually is either wider streets, narrower cars, or fewer people, but nobody seems to be making any progress in any of these directions.

The way it looks to me, big cities don't want the Federal government helping farmers in the country, they want them to move to town and then help them there.

Personally, if it's all right with Washington, I'd rather have the help where I am and avoid all that traffic. It's easier, more comfortable, and you can do it in the shade.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The Reporter has received information from Abilene Christian College, Abilene, that Mary Prudie Story, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Story of Stanton, has been cast in one of the leading roles, that of Maggie Cutler, in "The Man Who Came To Dinner," to be presented as the major spring production of the dramatic arts department at Abilene Christian College.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Marion I. Yell, a girl, Shiren Joy, April 8th.

Valley View Home Demonstration Club is also aiding in Red Cross work. Another feature of outstanding interest concerning the Valley View Club is that several members has assisted others in making frame gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Martin had as their weekend guest Mrs. Martin's brother, Lieut. (jg) Cecil Clendennen. He came over from Kerrville for a visit prior to reporting for active service in the Navy.

Corporal C. M. Edwards, who is stationed at Camp Claiborne, La., has been home on a furlough visiting his wife in Midland and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Edwards of Lenora.

Miss Kathleen McCresless of Amarillo, visited in Stanton this weekend.

In a single ring ceremony read Monday evening in Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Coleman's home, Betty Jo Leatherwood and Lieut. John W. Blocker, Jr., were married by the Rev. H. Clyde Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Jackie Donaldson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Donaldson, visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, in Colorado City over the weekend.

MISS MONA EPLEY

Plans Are Revealed For June Wedding

Plans for a June wedding have been revealed by Miss Mona Epley and Bill Lane of Lamesa, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Terry of Tulia. Announcement of the engagement is made by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Epley of Stanton.

Mrs. Epley honored her daughter Friday morning with a coffee from 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock. Mrs. Gomer Alsop of Midland, aunt of the prospective bridegroom, was in charge of the bride's book. Mrs. B. A. Liveley of Midland presided at the coffee service and Mrs. Bob Cox served punch.

The serving table was covered with a yellow cloth and an overlay of white. The centerpiece was yellow and white roses in a silver container, flanked by yellow tapers. Appointments were of silver and crystal.

Guests were received by the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Terry, and Mrs. H. R. Brumfield of Ralls, grandmother of the Mr. Lane.

Others serving in the houseparty were: Joanna Epley, sister of the bride-to-be, Marsha Bristow, Linda and Sheila Manning, and Mrs. Abe Lane.

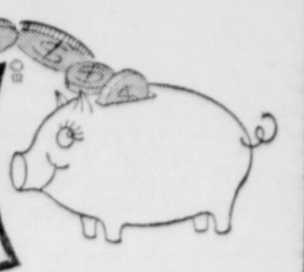

Miss Epley, a graduate of Stanton High School, attended Howard County Junior College and Southwest Texas State College. She is a member of Kappa Lambda Kappa. Her fiancé, a graduate of Ralls High School, is assistant manager of Modern Implement Company, Lamesa.

Pollution Publication For Teachers

A new publication, entitled "The Struggle for Clean Water," is now available to teachers of health education, social science, home economics and science. It is being provided without charge by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The informative bulletin has been produced at this time so summer teachers' workshops can get them in time to include the subject of water pollution in with test teaching materials.

Jean Mott, student at Texas Tech, spent the holidays with her parents. Limited quantities of this publication are available on request from the Public Health Service, Washington 25, D. C.

1962 amounted to $10,619,000. Compared to the same period during the preceding year, this is an increase of about 6.8 per cent, according to the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

The receipts on sport fishing tackle, etc., as reported for the same period was $2,521,000. This is an increase of about 1.9 per cent for the same period a year ago.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

Cotton is the principal cash crop in Texas, and when grown under good management, will return producers more net income while improving soil productivity. Good management in growing cotton means recognizing the needs of both the crop and soil, and then taking steps to meet those needs.

To get the most net profit out of cotton without depleting fertility, it is necessary to maintain adequate organic matter in the soil. Organic matter in the soil is obtained from crop residues, animals, manures, fungi, bacteria, worms, etc. One of the largest sources of organic matter is crop residues — those parts of the plant that remain after harvest. Cotton is a low residue producing crop, meaning that cotton will not replace enough organic matter in the soil to compensate for plant food which has been removed. Cotton should be grown in rotation with high residue producing crops such as grain and forage sorghums or small grains. Research has shown that most of the available nitrogen and phosphorus in the soil is contained in organic matter.

According to a recent soil test summary for the High Plains of Texas, average cropland now contains less than half their original organic matter content.

Organic matter in the soil is very essential to the production of cotton as well as other crops. Decaying organic matter improves the physical condition of the soil by causing small soil particles to cement themselves together into sizable aggregates, thus increasing water intake and improving aeration. Organic matter aids in bringing soil minerals into solution and serves as a source of plant food nutrients.

The most practical way for farmers in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District to maintain an adequate organic matter level in their soil is to use a good rotation system on their land. The needed cropping system for a particular type of soil should be carefully worked out. It has been found that sandy soils generally need more high residue crops in the rotation than do clay soils, mainly due to more rapid decomposition of organic matter in coarse textured soils than in clay soils.

A conservation plan, made with the Soil Conservation District, will help cotton growers to set up an adequate rotation system for their farm. It must be recognized, however, that other management practices will be needed to supplement a cropping system — practices such as control of plant diseases and insects, weed control, planting and harvesting methods, fertilization, and water management on irrigated lands.

You can't beat good management as a solution to most cotton production problems. Every cotton grower should decide on a reasonably high goal for his farm; then work toward it, using all the practices necessary to produce cotton profitably while improving soil productivity.

"Remember, we have the ability to save one-half of those who develop cancer with the knowledge and facilities already at our command. But we are saving only one third."

Mrs. Nelson pointed out that funds contributed by the people of Martin County have helped the overall national cancer research program come a long way in a few years. "But we have not come far enough."

She cited virus research as an example. There are signs that viruses may cause cancer in humans: "We do not know whether these are the original, primary causes of human cancer. But we are getting closer. If a virus is proved an original, primary cause of cancer, then a vaccine may be possible."

In concluding her appeal for a strong finish, the chairman observed: "This is not the time to lessen our effort. This is a time to push ahead."

Grant-Sorley Vows Exchanged In Stanton

Marriage vows were exchanged Friday evening at 7 o'clock by Miss Veronica Sue Sorley and Wilson Wayne Grant. The double ring service was read by the Rev. W. H. Uhlman, pastor, in the First Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sorley of this city, and Mrs. Laura Grant of Houston.

Candles illuminated the nuptial scene which was centered with a white satin covered prie-dieu. The setting was flanked by basket arrangements of white gladioli.

Miss Phyllis Long provided a program of organ music and accompanied Mrs. Charles Swift of Port Arthur who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Wearing a white satin formal gown, the bride was accompanied to the altar and given in marriage by her father. The gown was fashioned with chapel train, scooped neckline. A jeweled crown secured the veil of illusion, and the bridal bouquet was styled of cymbidium orchids. It was carried with a white Bible.

Miss Goldie Grant, sister of the bridegroom, serving as maid of honor, wore a day dress of light blue satin. In identical attire, Miss Jean Mott, was bridesmaid. They carried white pompon bouquets.

Noel Cowan of Brownwood was best man, and Jim Boyson, also of Brownwood, was groomsmen. Ushers were Herb and Mike Sorley, brothers of the bride.

Tapers were lighted by Brenda Grant, sister of the bridegroom, and Tom Sorley, the bride's brother.

Reception

Guests were received afterward in Fellowship Hall of the church. They were registered by Miss Peggy Davenport.

The refreshment table, covered with a blue and white cutwork cloth, was centered with a memory candle surrounded by flowers carried by the bride's attendants. The three tiered wedding cake, embossed with white roses, was topped with bride and groom figurines.

Those serving in the house party were guests from Waco, Fort Worth, Clifton, Houston, Port Arthur, Brownwood, Midland, Lubbock and Plainview.

Wedding Trip

East Texas was the couple's destination when leaving on a wedding trip. For her travel suit, the bride wore light blue. Her accessories were white, and she wore the corsage from the bouquet. Galveston is where the Grants will make their home at 324 Avenue F.

A graduate of Stanton High School, the bride attended Howard County

Junior College and Howard Payne College in Brownwood. Prior to the wedding she was employed by Stanton Supply Corporation.

Grant, a graduate of Houston school and Howard Payne College, is now attending the University of Texas School of Medicine in Galveston.

A private reception for the state officials and legislators will follow.

Rains Help State, But More Needed

Rains of early April helped Texas farmers and ranchmen. They were sufficient in many areas to make pastures and ranges green, aid crops and make planting possible. But, said John Hutchinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, more are needed.

By extension districts, this way the situation as reported by district agents at midweek:

Moisture in the Panhandle ranged from short to very short. The condition of dryland wheat was poor. Some fields were being plowed up. The latest showers didn't supply the moisture needed.

Rains were spotted but part of the South Plains got up to two inches. Most of the district is still short on moisture. Irrigated wheat made good progress but some winter killing was noted.

Rains in the Rolling Plains varied from showers to three inches and left moisture adequate in 14 counties and short in 8. Wheat was improving and early stands was heading.

Moisture varying from 50 to 150 inches fell in North Central Texas but more is needed. Crops made as good progress as possible but all need more moisture. Some pastures are beginning to provide some grazing. Feeding is declining.

Some rain fell in Northeast Texas but moisture is on the short side. Wheat and oats are making good growth but need rain. Peaches are setting fruit and prospects are good. Pastures are average.

Moisture ranging from a trace to over two inches covered all but the two extreme western counties in far West Texas. It will help grass and weed growth. Some cotton has been planted.

Dry West Central Texas got rains of one to two inches but considerably more is needed for grass growth, to fill stock tanks and for planting of row crops. Ranges are greening, and livestock are in fair condition with some let-up in feeding. Sheep shearing is well along.

Rains varied in Central Texas and left moisture adequate to short. Oats, corn and sorghums are making progress. Cotton planting is under way. A good fruit crop has been set; pastures are green but grazing is short and stock water is low. Sheep shearing is progressing.

Good rains fell over East Texas. Grazing is short but improving. Cotton is coming up and planting is continuing on the upper Gulf Coast. Corn and grain are up to good stands and rice planting is continuing. Pastures and crops need rain. Oat grazing is good but some rust is reported.

Rain helped South Central Texas but more is needed. Moisture has improved pastures. Corn and sorghum are up to good stands and cotton planting is extensive.

The northern half of the very dry South Texas District received fairly general rains ranging from 1.50 to 2.00 inches. Pastures and crops will benefit but more is urgently needed. Most crops have now been planted. The onion harvest is reaching its peak. Carrots and cabbage moved in volume.

Chamber Chatter

The Bunny Parade was so sweet on Easter Sunday morning. There were 102 adorable children in their pretty Easter finery. Martin County can be proud of the beautiful new crop coming up and this is one that can't be hailed or blown out. Our thanks to Bob Deavenport and his committee for the excellent job in arranging this event.

The Feed Lot Tour that Bob Cox set up with the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce was very successful. Five cars toured the Permian Feed Lot, the Greenwood Feed Lot and the Coyoynosa Feed Lot. It is amazing what can be accomplished in such a small area. We saw approximately 8,000 head of cattle, all in excellent condition. As I understand it, at a nominal cost to the owners, these cattle are made ready for the market. It is a nice thing to know that we are not in danger of a beef shortage in the near future.

The owners and managers of all these lots were most cordial of us and were very cooperative in explaining the operation and in answering our question. It was very educational, especially to someone like me whose knowledge of cattle is limited to the fact that they have a head, tail and four legs. In addition to the tour I saw a part of Martin County that I had not had the chance to see before this. All in all, it was most enjoyable.

The Spring Festival and Pancake Supper, under the able guidance of Jimmy Wheeler, is taking shape. We are happy to see the interest shown and are looking forward to a gala occasion on May 6. The library which is something of value to the whole county, will benefit from the proceeds of the pancake supper, so let's all pitch in and really make this a successful project.

Be assured that your Chamber of Commerce is at work every day of the year to make your community one to be proud of and one in which we can be happy and prosperous. Your Chamber is constantly studying new methods to improve business, agriculture, education and to have a better understanding among its people because it is you, the people, who make up your Chamber. Without you it is nothing.

Bye, now.

Bird Book Revised And Ready

A letter from David Harris of the Houghton Mifflin Company of Boston to the Game and Fish Commission has good news for all who have been wanting a copy of "A Field Guide To The Birds of Texas." April 26, this company, which published the original book for the Commission, is coming out with a slightly revised version of the guide called, "A Field Guide To The Birds Of Texas And Adjacent States."

Essentially, it will be the same popular guide. All information and illustrations of the original will remain. "The alterations are not extensive," writes Harris. "They probably amount to less than 1000 words of new material and the rest of the text is exactly as it was before."

In the first few pages of the new guide a few changes were necessary to indicate its relevance to the wider area embraced by the new title. A few other minor changes have been made to make the volume conform to the company's field guide series, to incorporate a few corrections and refinements, and to bring the text up to date. The jacket also has been revised, according to Harris.

The revised guide will be on the market as soon after April 26 as delivery can be made. So — watch the book stores. You can get a copy of the complete guide to our birds, after all.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO THE FARMER FOR 1963

The PANHANDLE MUTUAL HAIL ASSOCIATION has paid back to the farmers an average of $44 of each premium dollar over the last 4 years for HAIL LOSSES. The loss benefits is the important and simple crux of any insurance policy, and much sweeter than any token dividend or deviation.

TEN REASONS WHY PANHANDLE MUTUAL HAIL ASSOCIATION IS ONE OF THE LARGEST CROP HAIL WRITERS ON TEXAS CROPS:

- All Texas policies are reinsured by the LLOYD'S OF LONDON with billions of dollar assets.
- All liability is mapped and limited by section and township.
- Approximately FIVE MILLION dollars paid to West Texas farmers for losses the last five years.
- A-PLUS (EXCELLENT) RATING BY "DUNNE'S FIRE AND CASUALTY REPORT".
- Required legal reserve (policy holders surplus) maintained at all times and deposits are kept in LOCAL BANKS throughout the West Texas area.
- The PANHANDLE SPECIAL cotton policy DOES NOT have the REPLANT clause and we DO NOT use the PLANT POPULATION adjustment at any time on this policy.
- We DO offer the FB-10 with (Replant Clause) and the Broadfarm policy—full effect on June 5th in Zone 2 at (noon) with replant clause before this date and plant population adjustment at a reduced rate.
- The PANHANDLE Wheat Policy is the only policy with the "Extra Harvest Expense Award" benefits, also with the 10% credit on Tassoca and headless wheat, only 48 hour waiting period and a nice premium saving in most counties.
- Free cancellation on crop failures (See Dates) . . . arbitration clause.
- Your PANHANDLE MUTUAL HAIL ASSOCIATION wants to serve you with "THE THINKING MAN'S HAIL INSURANCE".

Be sure and talk to your PANHANDLE MUTUAL AGENT now to compare and study the coverages and rates, because of the many coverages that are now being offered, you need to know which policy fits your West Texas farming conditions the best.

Comment from the Capital —

$10 BILLION FIASCO

by Vant Neff

How much do you know about Latin America? If you're like most of us, the answer is not a great deal. Yet, we ought to. A lot of our tax money is going south of the border for the Alianza para el Progreso — the Alliance for Progress.

The Alliance is a big, ambitious, foreign aid program for Latin America, advocated by President Kennedy well over a year ago. It's a ten year project with a minimum cost earmarked at $10 billion.

Cuba has caused the Administration great concern since 1961 when the President took office. Castro heads the first Communist government in the World not helped to power by the Red Army.

How can we keep the rest of Latin America from joining this parade to the Kremlin?

The designers of the Alliance feel that money can do it. Money for new jobs, new plants and factories, mechanized farms, modern schools, low cost housing, super-highways and the like. Advocates of the Alliance are sure that when these projects take hold, Latin American republics will emerge as strong, aggressive democracies, well able to resist Red subversion.

Some of the more enthusiastic backers of the Alliance, call it a Marshall Plan for Latin America. However, when you compare Europe after World War II with the banana and coffee republics south of us, there's a world of difference.

Europe had a good balance of industry and agriculture before the war. When the fighting was over, Marshall Plan money and tools planted new crops, rebuilt the bombed-out plants and factories. The Europeans plowed their profits into new industries and markets. Today, in little more than ten years, Europe is more prosperous than in pre-World War II days. Will pouring money into Latin America win the same results in ten years? Let's look at what we have to work with.

Most Latin Americans are farmers with little or no modern equipment to make money at it. Plants and factories are scarce; most of them developed and operated by foreign capital. Only 4% of the land is being farmed. Half of the people can't read or write.

Much of the climate is tropical. This leaves Latin American countries with little ambition to get up and go.

Only one man in four thousand is a trained technician or a professional engineer. In our country, we have a skilled professional for every 180 people.

Latin American countries are one crop countries for the most part. They sell coffee or sugar or bananas abroad. Prices of these crops have been falling in world markets. But the prices of the tools and machinery that Latin Americans need to modernize have been rising.

Farmers and laborers make about ten cents an hour. The annual income is only $270 a year. With the population rising faster than anywhere else in the world, annual income shrinks day by day.

We have pledged $10 billion to pull Latin Americans up by their bootstraps. Private investors, here and abroad, are slated to furnish an additional $10 billion. Latin Americans, themselves, supposedly will put up the rest — $60 billion. Where is this $60 billion coming from? We can't expect the farmers and laborers of Latin America to put much aside for investment. Not with an annual income of $270.

How about rich Latin Americans? No help from this quarter. They have been investing their billions abroad for years. Investments at home are too uncertain. Governments are too unstable. Currencies fluctuate too much.

What about the private investors? Are they backing the Alliance? Not so you can notice. Only $236 million out of a needed $600 million has been invested by private capital in Latin America in the last two years.

We seem to be the only ones that the Latin Americans can count on. In the past year, we have furnished $1,116,000,000 — $116,000,000 over our annual pledge.

Has there been any progress? A good question. To Teodoro Moscoso, director of the Alliance. In fact, there's been so little accomplished that Moscoso ordered his office staff not to celebrate the first anniversary of the Alliance.

At present the Alliance for Progress is turning into a $10 billion fiasco. We are providing practically all the funds to make the plan work, but there has been no progress.

What's the solution? Frankly, your reporter doesn't know. We want to help the Latin Americans as much as we can, and we certainly don't want to see any more Latin American republics turn to Communism.

But before we spend another billion to get no progress, the Administration had better come up with a better plan for Latin Americans than the Alliance.

ALLIANCE FOR PROGRESS

One More Week To Go Six Flags In Great Shape

New Arrivals

"Never has the park looked in such magnificent shape at this time of the year," uttered a happy Charles Suddeth, landscape architect for the mammoth Six Flags Over Texas amusement center.

Warm spring weather and the recent rainfall have yielded the right amount of sunshine and moisture to bring the greenery and flowers to near perfect splendor just one week before the April 20 opening of the historical theme park. Mr. Suddeth has a staff of 41 men engaged on this project.

The monumental effort of completing the near $1,000,000 expansion program as well as painting, overhauling and testing of the numerous rides and attractions dotting the 115-acre park is just about finished.

A recruiting program wherein Six Flags seeks out the finest examples of our youth from Texas and Southwestern colleges and universities to act as hosts and hostesses for the park has resulted in the reception of upwards of 8,000 applications requesting employment during the '63 season.

Approximately 1,250 male and female students will be picked from this group to make up the staff. In addition, Six Flags talent scouts this spring have visited 20 cities from Texas to Florida and flown 18,000 miles in their quest to bring back the best collegiate entertainers for the numerous park attractions, such as the Crazy Horse Saloon and Campus Revue Shows.

The heavy emphasis placed on collegiate personnel by Six Flags has been rewarding and highly successful. Not only do these attractively costumed young men and women lend an air of freshness and enthusiasm to the park activities, but the money they earn working at the park is used, in most cases, in furthering their education.

Mrs. R. O. Anderson and children visited with her mother, Mrs. John Bratt at Brady.

Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Pinkston and boys visited over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pinkston.

Visiting over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Parrish and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bevers and Charlene, were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sheemake, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jenkins, and baby, J. H. Parrish, all of Odessa, and Owen Parrish of Midland.

Staff Sergeant and Mrs. L. R. Kelly of Pampa, Florida, are the parents of a son born April 11. The baby has been named Leonard Ross, and he weighed nine pounds, 12 ounces. He was born at the McDill Air Base Hospital in Pampa.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Kelly of Jackson. The maternal grandmother is Mrs. Alveta Puckett of Lubbock, and the maternal grandfather is Herman Puckett of Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Daniel Heredia of Route 1, Ackerly, are the parents of a boy, Leony Eustogio, born April 11 at 9:45 a.m. in the Cooper Clinic-Hospital in Big Spring. He weighed six pounds, 11 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Lozano Salazar of Stanton, are the proud parents of a baby boy born April 10 at 11 a.m. in the Howard County Foundation Hospital. The baby, Abel, weighed six pounds, seven ounces.

Women who cook electrically know...

because it's flameless

There's less work keeping your kitchen clean when you cook with flameless electricity. An electric range makes this chore easier because it cooks with heat as clean as electric light. There's no fuel grime to soil pots and pans or settle on kitchen walls and curtains. Your kitchen stays bright and new-looking with a minimum of washing and care.

Flameless automatic electric cooking cuts down on needless hours of watching pots and clocks. With an automatic electric range, you just set the time and temperature controls and a complete oven meal cooks to perfection, unattended. And with the automatic electric surface unit, cooking temperatures remain constant, eliminating the need for pot-watching.

Electric cooking also is fast, cool, accurate and economical. See your dealer and change now to a 1963 flameless electric range. Electric cooking is one of the nicest things about living better... electrically.

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

A TV savings and loan sponsor must have watched his commercial Sunday night go right out the window in a cloud of ether. The announcer got so carried away with the way his hair was parted and how nice he looked that after he got through reading how efficient the loan company was and could be—HE FORGOT THE SPONSOR.

FIFTEEN was the magic number Monday. It was the 15th of April. Income tax deadline—car sticker deadline — BILLIE SOL got 15 years in the pen and JACKIE KENNEDY is going to become a mother again on the 15th of August.

WE were ready for the LIONS BROOM SALE Tuesday morning. When the truck pulled up downtown and started unloading we hurried to the office—prepared a check for an office sweeper—returned and sure enough—JIM EILAND and CECIL BRIDGES, and TOMMY WILLIAMS were waiting for us. The annual LIONS sale is for a good cause. It is always a pleasure to patronize it.

OUR city is badly in need of a cleaning. As our paving program progresses, who not clean up the yards, lots, and above all—the school grounds?

SEVERAL members of the local society set have either married or made announcements. Some of the announcements of wedding articles are included in this tribute this week. We send our congratulations to all of the brides and brides-to-be, and to their husbands and future husbands.

SORROW saddened Stanton over the week end. The death of JAMES MANNING occurred on Easter morning. W. H. YATER passed away in a Big Spring hospital.

THE flowers in HAZEL and EZELL McKASKLE'S yard are simply a Springtime dream. A lot of artistry appears in the landscape arrangement. Drive by and view the picture of nature's splendor.

I was out at my residence Tuesday morning for a few moments and RAY KELLY drove by and stopped and backed up when he saw the honeysuckle vines blooming on my white picket fence. RAY is a flower lover too. We got him a bouquet and he remarked that the honeysuckle was one of his favorite varieties. Last year our vines bloomed early and for four months we were able to cut shoots from them. We are grateful every Spring when the honeysuckle blooms for the foresight of the lady who was responsible for planting them and who once lived in the house we bought three years ago, the late MRS. MARY WILKIE.

Legion Posts Will Observe Welfare Week

Some 700 American Legion Posts in the Department of Texas will join the more than 16,000 community organizations of the Legion throughout the nation and overseas in the 25th annual observance of Child Welfare Month during April. Department Commander V. F. Taylor has announced.

Child Welfare activities and programs are conducted by The American Legion throughout the year but special attention is focused on this major Legion program during April.

According to Department Child Welfare Chairman James Goodman of Lubbock, our rapidly advancing technology and the effects of continuing international tensions are creating increasingly complex problems for today's children.

The American Legion is seriously concerned with the number of school dropouts and is attacking the youth problems on a number of fronts. "Stay in School" campaigns are being organized in an effort to impress youth with the importance of completing their high school education. The foundation of The American Legion's Child Welfare program is built upon post and unit sponsored activities for children and youth. In addition to trying to prevent school dropouts, the Legion recommends raising of the level of physical fitness of American youth; improvement of adequacy of community facilities for the diagnosis and treatment of mentally ill and emotionally disturbed children; and increased community efforts for the prevention and control of juvenile delinquency.

The American Legion has conducted an extensive child welfare program involving an expenditure of $177 million by the Legion and its affiliated organizations. These funds reflect only a part of the total Legion program on behalf of children and youth.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:

FORD GALAXIE 500 XL SPORTS HARDTOP

YOU'LL KNOW WHY SHE DOESN'T FEEL THE BUMPS...WHEN YOU TEST-DRIVE FORD'S NEW $10,000,000 RIDE

The 1963 Ford gives you a ride every bit as smooth as cars costing hundreds more, and for two reasons: a revolutionary new suspension system... and added road-hugging weight.

It took ten million dollars to develop the new Ford ride. We designed a revolutionary new suspension system for the '63 Ford. Where ordinary suspensions move only up and down to absorb road shock, the Ford suspension moves backward as well. In this double-action suspension system, coil springs up front and leaf springs in the rear combine to give you firmness in cornering and a special smoothness over the road.

We added weight, strength and stability. The new Ford is now actually hundreds of pounds more car than any other car in its class. This remarkable weight advantage is in the suspension, frame, and body. And, as you know, this added weight means a more stable ride.

But a solid, road-smoothing ride is only part of Ford's total performance story for 1963. Look how Ford swept the field this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside and Atlanta 500's and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance precision control, braking power and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.

Before you buy any new car, test-drive a Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery—if it's built by Ford, it's built for performance... total performance.
