HORSESHOE LEGENDS

The Greeks are said to have originated the Horseshoe in the 4th century and since then many legends of "good luck" and "protection" have been created and passed down through the centuries.

To find a Horseshoe is lucky. To dream of a Horseshoe is a sign you will receive unexpected money. A Horseshoe in a bedroom protects against nightmares.

Greeks and Romans nailed Horseshoes against their wall to protect against the plague. Ancient buildings were designed in the shape of a Horseshoe for luck.

According to ancient Saxon superstition, Horseshoes were placed on outside over doorways to prevent witches from entering.

The curved, crescent shape of the Horseshoe has through history been related to solar half circle or U-shaped symbol of good luck. There is the famous Diamond Horseshoe of the New York Metropolitan Opera House.

Horseshoe floral designs, door-knockers and many other uses of this symbol are expressions of good fortune.

Today, Horseshoes are placed over doorways, on walls, etc., with open end of the shoe either up or down, signifying protection to occupants of the building.

My good friend Bill Orson, Lion Tamer for the newly formed Grady-Lenora-Tarzan club, has advised that the organization will observe charter night on the evening of May 13. We are happy to send Bill and members of the Lions congratulations and we are looking forward to a program of excellence from this group.

The dust and wind storm that blew in on Stanton Sunday afternoon at 3:50 p.m. caused the roof on Bob Deavenport's store to leave its moorings unexpectedly. The roof, raised by a high velocity wind, floated to the street in one piece. It was fast and quick and only one witness was in the area at the time. Slow Sunday traffic found the streets of Stanton practically deserted. Bob had some of the merchandise moved from his store across the street to the building formerly occupied by Hall Drug. The store opened on time Monday morning and visitors swarming into the city for the first annual Spring Festival, sponsored by the Martin County Chamber of Commerce, extended Bob's store and all other downtown merchants brisk business.

We can't say too much about the fine Spring Festival turnout. A former resident, and visitor here Monday said: "When old Martin County does do anything, it does a good job." We are proud of our Chamber of Commerce, its very fine and engaging manager, Mauryne Varnadore, and this paragraph would not be complete without a special salute to Jimmy Wheeler, who worked tirelessly for the success of the big show. We likewise appreciated the fine entertainment furnished by members of the Stanton Music Club and their special guests and friends. This is National Music Week and the Stanton group can claim credit for the entire weeks fine calendar of musical programs.

With the aid of Glenn Brown and Glen Madison, your writer got a camera loaded Monday and set out to prove his prowess as a photographer. We must admit our job was shabbily done. Handling a Polaroid camera just isn't as simple as it looks like on those TV commercials. Maybe our trouble, however, was in experimenting with the gadgets too much. We changed on almost every shot and that's not good for camera work — we have the poor shots to prove it. But we plan to run four or five pictures next week anyway. Watch for them. As a matter-of-fact, you need not watch—they will jump up out of the pages at you.

Mrs. Lewis Carlile attended a secretary's seminar in Waco this week. The seminar was sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau. The affair was conducted at the Raleigh Hotel in the home city of Baylor University. Mrs. Carlile is secretary of the local bureau.

Stanton Store Unroofed As Storm Strikes

Sunday was a fine, beautiful day until an old-fashioned West Texas Spring squall bringing winds up to 70 miles an hour and gusts up to 95, roared down from the northeast and did a pretty good job in wrecking one downtown store's roof and smashing tree limbs, TV aerials and damaged some fruit.

High winds ripped down signs, unroofed Deavenport Dry Goods located on St. Peter Street, shook a few utility company power lines and filled a lot of Stanton area houses with sand. The storm brought no hail to Stanton and the rainfall measured just about an inch. The few drops of rain felt in the city when the dust first blew in served notice that a hard downpour was to follow.

The Deavenport roof simply sailed from the building in one solid piece and when the heavy covering finally came to rest in the middle of St. Peter Street it lacked but 15 feet going right through the James Jones Hardware building.

Farmers were dealt a cruel blow in some parts of the area. No hail of any importance was reported in Martin County, but the high winds whipped the cotton right out of the ground. Some crops will have to be replanted.

Soil Testing Makes Profit

Today many cropping and fertilization recommendations are based on soil testing information. And many farmers and ranchmen are making use of the three soil testing laboratories in Texas to obtain this information.

A new bulletin of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service explains just what soil testing is and how it can be used by the producer. "Test Your Soil for Profits" says that soil testing is a scientific method to determine the fertility needs of a particular field. It explains that chemical means are used to determine soil reaction (pH), organic matter, available phosphorus, available potassium, available calcium, and soluble salts. Soil salinity can also be determined by special testing techniques.

Soil tests can be used as a basis for fertilization and liming of soils, according to the bulletin. Also, a soil test can help the producer determine what crop is best suited to his land, how much that crop should yield, and if the soil is infested with nematodes, insects or diseases.

In taking soil samples, obtain one from each major soil type in the field, using a spade, soil auger, or soil tube. Information sheets can be obtained from the local county agricultural agent and should be filled out as completely as possible and sent along with the samples, the bulletin says.

Samples should be submitted at least one month prior to the date of fertilization to allow time for testing and return of the results. Under high levels of production or high rates of fertilization soils should be tested every year.

For sophisticated tastes; add slivers of syrup-preserved ginger to chocolate sauce and serve over vanilla ice cream. If the syrup-preserved ginger isn't available, use the kind that comes in packages and wash off its coating of granulated sugar under hot water. The water will soften the ginger and make it easy for you to cut into thin strands. But remember that a little ginger goes a long way, so add with a light hand.

Save That Can For Making A Flower Pot

Don't throw away that empty can! With a little imagination and time you can transform an empty food can into an attractive flower container in a color to match or contrast with the flowers of the season.

The trick is to cover empty cans with colorful, decorative adhesive covering. The result: dozens of striking flower arrangements. You might arrange bright red roses in a 16-ounce fruit can covered with red and white checks. A giant-sized juice can covered with lilac adhesive makes a striking container for a mixed bouquet of lilac and mock-orange branches.

To cover a can, cut a strip of adhesive two inches wider than the height of the can and long enough to go around the can. On the backing sheet of the adhesive, draw straight lines one inch from the bottom of the adhesive. Make a fringe by snipping at quarter-inch intervals from the edge of the adhesive to the one-inch lines.

Pell off the backing and apply the adhesive to the can. Stick the fringe strips to the bottom of the can, and turn the fringe inside at the top of the can.

In making flower arrangements, remember that the container should measure no more than one-third the height of the finished arrangement. Use frozen juice cans for small bouquets, giant-sized cans to hold flowing branches.

Lennox, E. D., Independent: "We spend billions on education believing that higher intellect will solve all of man's problems, but the simple fact of the matter is that it is man's emotions, not his intellect (or lack of it) that cause most of his troubles. A rejected, unloved child becomes a social problem because of an emotional upheaval in his life, not because he has been failed by our educational system. We are only fooling ourselves if we think such problems can be solved by starting at the top and working down. The trouble lies in the basic unit of society—the family. . . ."

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

"My corns are killing me!"
How many times have you heard someone voice this complaint?
How many times have you voiced it yourself?

It may, or may not, be corns that are causing the discomfort. But, painful feet, from a wide variety of causes, rank close to the common cold as one of America's health problems.

Your feet take a lot of punishment in a lifetime of bearing your weight around every day, mostly on sidewalks, hard floors and pavements. In fact, it's a tribute to the anatomical structure of the foot and ankle that this part of the body doesn't cause even more trouble.

There are several points to remember in care of the feet—

- * Be aware of your feet and that they need care and attention.
- * Pay attention to minor aches and pains which can lead to more serious foot problems.
- * Seek professional advice and assistance for foot disorders.
- * Include a foot examination in your annual health checkup.

An important factor in foot health is properly fitted shoes. Corns and bunions often are caused by undue pressure of shoes on localized spots on the feet or toes.

Children's shoes present their own special fitting problems. The youngsters' feet are growing rapidly and shoes must be changed frequently.

There are many foot troubles with a definite physiological basis that require professional attention by your physician.

Some are birth problems, such as club foot or other malformations. There are circulatory problems such as inflammation and narrowing of the arteries of the legs, nutritional diseases such as rickets, metabolic problems such as diabetes or goit, and fungus infections, such as athlete's foot.

Don't neglect your feet. Minor aches and pains may develop into more serious problems if ignored.

Bible Comment—

Bible Is Treasure Trove Of Expression

The Bible is a book amazingly rich in illustrations and figures of speech. There are literary devices to make meanings plain as well as to enrich the expression of thought. We are often given to statement of resemblance which may make vivid in a few words something that much explanation might only make more obscure.

Let us take, for example, one of the clearest and most effective figures in all Scripture, as recorded according to John.

Instead of saying "the disciple is one with me, we are from the same root, we have the same substance, we partake of the same beauty and we have a common part in the fruitfulness of good living." Jesus puts it all in a figure that appeals simultaneously to the eye, the heart and mind: "I am the vine, ye are the branches."

His listeners, all vineyard folk, grasp the fact better than if it had been expressed in a long sermon. They also understood that the vine is of no use unless it bears fruit.

Jesus thus links the lesson of the vine and of union with Himself with the matter of bringing forth the fruit of Christian character and good works.

God has a meaning and purpose for our lives. It is that these lives should be productive and He is glorified when His children fulfill this purpose.

The test of our union with Christ is this fruitfulness of our own lives. "Herein is my Father glorified that he bear much fruit, so shall ye be my disciples."

Philosopher Looks With Disfavor On New Invention To Force The Use Of Seat Belts

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm like a new invention he read about like a new invention he read about somewhere.)

Dear editor:
With so many things needing to be invented, like a salt shaker that works in damp weather or an automobile tail pipe that won't rust out or a light bulb that notifies you a day ahead of the time it burns out, it always puzzles me to see people working on non-essential ideas.

For example, I read in a newspaper last night about a new invention that's now on the market that made me throw the paper down and turn on television.

This new invention is a gadget that gets you from starting your car until you've gotten your seat belt fastened. An electronic device is connected to the starter, and the switch won't work until the seat belt is strapped around you.

Now I haven't got anything against seat belts, they save lives if you're going to have a wreck and if you keep driving you probably are, but if I haven't got sense enough to use one, I don't want anybody inventing something to make me. I have enough trouble starting my car now.

without having to check to see if the wire from the seat belt to the starter is broken. Cars have too many wires anyway, if you ask me. And if it's a five-passenger car, would all five belts have to be fastened before you could start? This sure would require hauling a lot of people around unnecessarily.

The whole idea is a trend that can lead to more and more complications. For example, some smart alec may invent a gadget to keep you from turning on your television set until you've worked 8 hours, or a device to keep you from turning your tractor engine off until you're through plowing, regardless of whether the fish are biting.

If the trend keeps going, and cars get more and more electrical devices, like a radio-controlled system that automatically applies your brakes when a stop light turns red, or a gadget to lock the steering wheel when you try a right turn from the wrong line, etc., the time may come when you have to go into intensive training for years like an astronaut before you're qualified to drive one.

This might be the answer to the traffic problem, but I doubt it. There are only a handful of astronauts now, but sooner or later if they keep hurtling around one of them is going to collide with another out in space.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Questions And Answers

Q—A friend of mine—no relative—died without funds or family recently. Due to our long association, I arranged a funeral and picked up the tab. The deceased had served in the army from 1931 to 1935. Will the VA pay a burial allowance in this case?

A—Not unless the deceased had been in receipt of service-connected compensation at the time of death or had been discharged or retired for disability incurred in the line of duty. Neither service-connected nor disability discharge would be necessary had the deceased been a wartime or Korean Conflict veteran.

Q—What is the procedure for getting a veteran into a VA hospital in a medical emergency?

A—Patients requiring emergency medical treatment may be taken directly to the nearest VA hospital, but if possible the veteran or someone acting for him should communicate with the VA by telephone or telegraph beforehand.

Q—Can a widow of veteran live with another man as his wife but continue to draw a VA pension as long as she does not actually marry the man?

A—No. The law governing widow's pensions was amended in 1962 to declare such a person not eligible for pension.

17,907 Make Decisions, Baptists In Japan Say

The total number of decisions in the Japan Baptist New Life Movement Evangelistic crusade soared to 17,907 Wednesday, leaders in the crusade sponsored by Texas Baptists reported.

The third week of city-wide campaigns and local church revivals throughout Japan closed Sunday with 6,899 decisions recorded in 40 meetings.

Total decisions since the crusade began one month ago have already passed the number of Baptists in the nation when the crusade began. Last month there were 14,000 Baptists in Japan. Tuesday that figure had more than doubled, crusade leaders reported.

One final week in the nationwide crusade remains, with 46 revivals and city-wide campaigns scheduled to end May 5.

The 6,899 decisions in crusades last week was the biggest number of decisions reported during any one week since the crusade started.

In a city-wide crusade in Osaka, about 250 miles west of Tokyo, nearly 1,600 decisions were reported in a 1-week meeting. During one service at the Osaka Jo Gakuin School for Girls, more than 1,200 responded to the invitation.

"They came down the aisles in waves, standing 11-deep in front of the altar," said the Rev. Mel Carter, associate pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas and one of the team evangelists for the Osaka meeting. "When the altar was filled," he said, "they stood in the aisles. It was the most moving experience of my life."

Several of the 40 church revivals reported two, three and four times as many decisions as their total church membership.

The tiny Nada Baptist Mission in Kobe had only five members at the beginning of the crusade, but recorded 128 decisions during the revival. During the first service of the meeting, the Nada church doubled its membership.

The 38-member Hokadate Baptist Church in Hokadate reported 399 decisions. Evangelist Larry Walker of Lewisville, Texas said he had never seen such emotion in a religious service in his life.

More than 550 evangelists, laymen and musicians from the United States, most of them from Texas, are participating in the crusades, co-sponsored by the Japan Baptist Convention, the Baptist General Convention of Texas and the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board.

May Foods To Be Plentiful

There'll be meat galore at food stores throughout the state this May. More-than-ample abundance will show up in beef, pork and chicken, as all three are on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's May list of plentiful foods, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

May plentiful also include carrots, canned freestone peaches, canned ripe olives, and milk foods.

Beef and pork are features of the list. Prices of both are noticeably lower than they were last winter. Broiler-fryers have carried "budget" prices for many months.

The abundance of southwestern-grown carrots can add color and flair to May menus. The winter carrot crop of 6 million hundredweight was a near record.

There'll be more than enough fresh milk, cheese, cream, butter, ice cream, yogurt and other delightful dairy foods. Milk production normally reaches a peak in May.

Canned freestone peach supplies are some higher than they have been for the last three years. Prices are lower. They're ideal partners for ice cream or other desserts. And an sprinkling of canned ripe olives can turn spring salads, sandwiches or picnics into something special.

The plentiful foods list is made up each month by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, in cooperation with producers and the food trade. AMS keeps constant tab on supplies of all farm-produced foods.

Scottish Rite Hospital Doing Splendid Work

There is a small, dedicated spot in Dallas that has dramatically changed the lives of nearly 25,000 youngsters from nearly every community in the state — and now it discloses bold new plans to do even more.

This is the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children, which has helped that many children since it opened its doors 40 years ago. President is John McKee, prominent civic and business leader, who has worked untiringly for years in the interest of the little patients.

Doctors are continuing their dramatic work at Scottish Rite in rehabilitating children who have been crippled by one or more of hundreds of different birth defects and diseases.

But some of the vast energies which for years went into the rescue of polio victims, for which Scottish Rite Hospital became famous, are now being put into studies of congenital malformations, or birth defects.

Hospital officials announce that several new case studies have been begun this year that may shed light on why some 6,000 Texas babies every year are born with defects.

Osteopaths Name Doctor Loren H. Rohr President

Dr. Loren R. Rohr of Houston was installed as president at the annual convention of the Texas Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons Friday in Houston.

Dr. James M. Shy, Stanton, served in the House of Delegates during the annual convention of the Texas Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

The convention was held at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel on May 2-4. The house is the policy making body of the association.

Over 300 doctors and guests were on hand for discussion on disaster medicine, recent advances in diagnosis and treatment of strokes and management of low back problems.

Dr. Rohr, who was named the nation's "Osteopathic General Practitioner of 1962," said in his installation speech that the loss of respect physicians of all kinds are suffering is a dilemma of their own making.

"It's time," he said, "we review our prices, our therapy and frequently, the lack of moral code followed in some of our practices."

"Perhaps we're too busy, but we should remember an impersonal attitude toward our fellow man doesn't relieve his fears, anxieties and frustrations. In fact, it insults his inteligence." Dr. Rohr advised doctors to guard against making the impression that all they care about is the patient's money. Money should be considered only as the by-product of good care, he said.

"Sometimes we feel we should automatically be respected, even though we act arrogant, demanding and ill-tempered."

He said he thought in order to keep physicians abreast of modern medical advances it might be a good idea to insist that they do post graduate work annually in order to maintain the right to practice.

Dr. Rohr will be succeeded in his office in 1964 by Dr. J. Warren McCorkle, a Minola anesthesiologist, who has been president-elect of the Texas Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

Variety - - -

(Continued from page 1) Our city was saddened last week with the untimely death of Mr. W. E. Towery. The kindly and well known local citizen was downtown and apparently feeling great the afternoon before his passing. We send our sincere sympathy to the family in their dark hour of sadness. We know how closely knit the ties were among the Towerys, and their loved ones. Mr. Towery was the grandfather of Jeanine Wheeler, wife of James Wheeler, and our capable society editor for several months.

We had planned to attend the Colorado City Tumbleweed Festival until news of the serious illness of our favorite niece reached us Tuesday. We know it is going to be a great show and our town's attractive Judy Pinkerton will represent the Martin County Chamber of Commerce in the queen's contest to be held in the Mitchell County capitol Saturday evening. A large number of citizens from this area always attend the Colorado City affair.

With rain pouring down late Sunday afternoon, we opened the back door and our dog, Sol, bounded through the kitchen and into the living room from the back porch. Our television was dalled to the Lassie program. Suddenly the TV dog let out a low whine and our sleek black canine answered with a barrier-breaking bark. That did it—we put Sol out fast—before he started hunting for fertilizer tanks behind our set.

We are grateful for the recognition Jim Oxford, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, continues to give our chamber and to Mauryne Varnadore. The Midland manager, our local manager, other managers in the area and the chamber presidents, past presidents, and board members, are all working together to create a labor pool for the purpose of attracting industry to this section. Jim Allison, Jr., telephoned us about the project Tuesday and we were enthusiastic about the idea.

A few issues ago, we wrote about Mike Anderson's storm shelter and they almost missed the opportunity to use it Sunday. Mike told us that his wife was enroute to visit friends and relatives in another county when the storm struck. Mike was off with Arthur Meixner, watching him work a quarter horse, when the duster sailed into town. But Mike managed to get home, dashed into the steel shelter and Arthur took the pickup over to his house. Finally, during the force of the windstorm, Mrs. Anderson arrived home, but she didn't think her husband was home for the pickup was gone. When Mrs. Anderson made for the storm shelter, Old Mike opened the door. He told us he never felt better in his life than when his wife walked into the steel walled above-ground room all safe and sound.

Mrs. Carl Clardy has returned home from a Big Spring hospital. The well known Stanton lady underwent surgery a few days ago and she is reported well on the road to recovery. Her friends are glad she is back and feeling great.

It is a genuine pleasure for us to announce the continued circulation support of these many subscribers. We are proud of our newspaper family of readers and glad they keep coming back with checks and cash to continue to prove our paper is read in many states and apparently appreciated by a lot of people. ## Armed Forces Day Program Completed

"We are working on what we hope to be the best Armed Forces Day Open House ever for Webb AFB," Col. Harold C. Collins, Wing Project Officer, reported. "Every effort is being made to insure that our visitors will enjoy their visit with the Armed Forces at Webb AFB on May 13."

The Webb open house will start Saturday at 1:00 p.m. and will last until 5:00 p.m. The activities portion of the afternoon will begin at 1:30 with individual and group awards being presented. The air show will open with a sky diving exhibition and will follow a fast paced schedule throughout the mid-afternoon. The same day sky divers will jump again to close the show.

Static displays of aircraft and missiles including replicas of the Polaris and Zosni missiles will be on exhibit.

Inside the big hanger there will be displays of civil defense, academics, civil engineering, hospital, and supporting services equipment.

The Armed Forces Day luncheon this year will be on Friday, May 17 instead of just immediately prior to the open house as it has been in previous years. Col. Wilson H. Banks, commander at Webb, said that he hoped as many people in Big Spring and this area as possible will plan to join their Armed Forces at the Webb Armed Forces Day Open House.

Chamber Chatter

By MAURYNE VARNADORE

Well — Monday was Spring Festival Day in Stanton, and thanks to everyone in Martin County, it was a huge success. Crowds thronged the streets all day taking advantage of the bargains offered by the merchants and in the evening everyone turned out en masse for the Pancake Supper and Door Prizes that were donated by the local merchants.

Under the very fine direction of Jimmy Wheeler, who is chairman of the Merchants Committee, the Spring Festival went off right on schedule. O. B. Bryan's cooking committee was on the job from 11:00 a.m. until 9:00 p.m. The cooks, in addition to Mr. Bryan, were: James Eiland, Tommie Williams, George Costlow, Bob Cain, Bernard Houston, Bob Johnson, Jimmy Stallings, Horace Blocker and Hoy Phemister. While they were busy setting up the kitchen, Paige Eiland, with one of Bob Cain's trucks, was busy setting up the tables, from the Methodist Church, in the street. After the supper he returned the tables and cleared the street for today's business.

Mr. Ed Hall of Dr Pepper Bottling Co., set up a booth and served free Dr Pepper to everyone attending the supper. The Lions Club sold light bulbs for the Crippled Children's Fund and, the Stanton Music Club observed National Music Week, by furnishing dinner and singing throughout the evening. Also Tom Ed Angel played for the crowd.

Our thanks go to the wholesalers who donated the ingredients for the pancakes. They are Lee's, sausage; Kennedy's, sausage; Webb-Davis, oleo, Westex Products, syrup; Morton's Foods, syrup; Laymon Baker, milk; Gandy's, milk; Friendly Food and Thriftway Grocers, coffee, eggs, and pancake mix. And to Cecil Bridges, of Texas Electric Service Co., a big thank you for the use of the cooking equipment, without which the pancake supper could not have been prepared and so conveniently served.

Last, but certainly not least, our thanks to Neal Estes and The Stanton Reporter for the donation of the tickets, printing and very fine publicity.

To all of the residents of Martin County a big thank you for the cooperation and participation in making our First Annual Spring Festival a marvelous success.

Jimmy Wheeler reported that we have approximately $325.99 for the Library Fund. This will be turned over to the fund as soon as all the ticket sales are turned in and counted.

If you enjoyed the Spring Festival and Pancake Supper, let the chamber know about it. Any suggestions to make the next one bigger and better will be appreciated. So come by the office and let's begin to plan for the next one.

I am sure I have left out someone who helped make the Spring Festival a success, so I apologize for the omission. It is unintentional, but that sometimes happens. The Martin County Chamber of Commerce thanks each and every one of you for your support. You were just wonderful.

Bye, now.

Everett, Wash., Herald: "President Kennedy proposes to expand the experimental Peace Corps into a three-pronged offensive against domestic tolls. If eager youth can do good for Nigeria they can do good for Washington. . . . But the problem of idle youth itself, or idle adults, is not going to be solved by putting them all on the government payroll. The leaf-raking jobs of the Great Depression did little in bringing back prosperity."

Highlights and Sidelights FROM YOUR State CAPITOL

Gov. John B. Connally signed 27 bills into law . . . then he and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith left the state. Their departure was to permit Sen. Martin Dies, Jr. of Lufkin to take over as "Governor for a Day."

Each bill applied to a special area of interest. For example:

1. House Bill 16 by Rep. Olen R. Fetty of Levelland interests State banks. It exempts them from the State sales tax and franchise tax so long as federal banks are exempt. Saves them $1,000,000 a year.

2. House Bill 588 by Houston Rep. Tom Bass interests firemen and policemen. It enables them to credit toward "job seniority" time taken off for military service and guard duty. This speeds up their promotions.

3. House Bill 614 by Rep. Amando Canales of San Diego and Rep. Jerry Butler of Kenedy interests hunters. It puts a "No-Hunting" sign on Duval County for the next five years.

These laws will go into effect late in August.

LOOPHOLE IN THE LOOP—Municipal annexation bill, which has passed both houses, is ready for Governor Connally's signature. It gives every city an "extra-territorial jurisdiction" — from five miles for cities of more than 100,000 population to one-half mile around cities of 5,000 or less population.

It sets up an extra-territorial area of one mile around cities of 5,000-25,000; two miles around cities, 25,000-50,000; and three and half miles around those with populations ranging from 50,000 to 100,000.

Under this proposed law a city could annex in a year no more than an acreage equal to 10 per cent of its size on the first day of that year. In computing this, many have drawn concentric circles around sample cities.

But this is not the limitation it would appear to be.

Actually, instead of extending its whole perimeter, a large city could annex a five mile strip along major highways without approaching the 10 per cent limit.

VOTERS REGISTRATION — A registration system to take the poll tax's place is all but decided by the Legislature.

Senate-passed bill by Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells calls for a 25-cent registration fee in lieu of the $1.50, or $1.75, poll tax. It retains the present system of registering voters each year.

El Paso Rep. Malcolm McGregor tried to include the Texas League of Women Voters' plan for permanent registration, but it was turned down.

House took the 25-cent fee provision out of the bill. So a House-Senate conference committee will have to settle this dispute. Another House amendment would require rural people and those residing in small towns to register every year, if they are over 60 years of age.

At present, these people are allowed to vote without registering at all. Entire registration revision hinges on a constitutional amendment to repeal the poll tax. This bill, by Rep. Abraham Kazen of Laredo, passed the Senate, but is tied up in a House committee.

GOVERNOR FOR A DAY — Sen. Martin Dies, Jr. wanted only a simple ceremony when his came to be Governor for a Day. So he managed to hold the celebration down to a day of greetings in the governor's reception room in the Capitol.

But the simplicity of the event didn't keep the folks from coming to shake his hand and pay their respects. Among nearly 1,000 visitors were many relatives including the senator's well known father and mother from Lufkin.

More than 400 friends came all the way from East Texas in private planes and cars. Only side celebration was the traditional luncheon in the Governor's Mansion. It was attended by kinfolk of both Senator and Mrs. Dies.

CRIMINAL CODE REVISION — The much-opposed revision of the State Criminal Code now has the approval of the District and County Attorney's Association, through an endorsement by its president, Alton Griffin of Lubbock.

Endorsement applies to the House Criminal Jurisprudence committee's version of the State Bar Association's plan for streamlining the code. House version is so different from San Angelo Sen. Dorsey Hardeman's bill which passed the Senate, that it may be a long, hard fight for approval. And there's less than three weeks left in this session. It must end by May 27.

MISSION FOR MIGRANTS — Laredo Rep. Honore Ligarde told the House Appropriations committee that a program of basic education — gradeschool level reading, writing and arithmetic would be:

"One of the greatest bargains available to you today — the renovation of human beings in such a way they cease to be a burden to the state and assume the dignified role of contributing taxpayers."

Ligarde has introduced alternate bills to set up an educational program under the Texas Education Agency, through the urging of the Bureau of Business Research, which bases its index on the 1957-59 average.

Business in general in March was seven per cent below February's level and four per cent below that of March, 1962.

Only three cities — Beaumont, Tyler and Texarkana — showed increases. El Paso and Lubbock remained at their February levels, while other cities showed declines from two to 16 per cent.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

On your next backyard cook-out, don't make your weenie skewer from an olenader branch. Even if your host offers you one peeled and sharpened, tell him politely but firmly: "Thanks, but no thanks."

The things are poisonous—leaves, limbs, flowers, bark and roots.

When a group of hunters suddenly sickened after broiling steaks over an open fire, a doctor detected symptoms of digitalis poisoning. All disclaimed any connection with digitalis, a powerful heart stimulant.

But when the medico learned that oleander limbs had been used to skewer the steaks, he had his answer: oleander branches contain a poison which acts like an overdose of digitalis.

Chances are many of your backyard shrubs and flowers actually are masking powerful poisons behind a facade of beauty.

Of all plants grown in the average American home garden, an expert on plant poisons counted more than 100 which contained poison, some lethal. The same authority counted 54 harmful plants in a single issue of a seed catalog.

A dime package of castor bean seeds, for example, packs a poisonous punch sufficient to kill five children.

One tulip bulb contains enough poison to kill a man. And sweet peas, although seldom fatal, are poisonous enough to keep a victim bedridden for weeks with a form of paralysis.

A poison in elephant ears, so plentiful in Texas, causes a painful swelling and itching of the mouth, tongue and throat when chewed. A growth called "dumb cane" gets its name for the fact that when chewed it causes tongue swelling to the point that speech is impossible.

Admittedly there are few actual deaths attributed to eating poisonous plants. But the potential is always there. And your guess is as good as anyone's as to how much disabling illness is caused by backyard foliage.

Besides the ones mentioned, here's a partial list of the most common poisonous plants. Poisonous parts are indicated in brackets:

Monks hood (all parts), water hemlock or poison hemlock (all parts), larkspur (foliage), fox glove, (foliage), Christmas rose (roots), mountain laurel (all parts), golden chain (seeds), all species of rhododendron (foliage), wild black cherry (dried foliage).

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT
Jack Buchanan, Bob Cox, Benard Houston, Larry Shaw, J. D. Crawford.

Livestock men in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District know that it's good business to graze about half the year's growth of their grasses and leave half. There are several reasons behind this kind of thinking.

The first is: If we keep down the shoot, we kill the root! Green leaves manufacture all the food from which roots grow. If only 50% or less of the top growth is removed by grazing, there will be little or no effect on normal root growth. But if as much as 70% is grazed off, root growth will stop for about five days. And if 90% is removed, root growth will stop for 17 days. Thus we reduce the ability of the root to reach moisture and nutrients, and consequently top growth will be much slower.

The man whose pasture looks only half used each fall gets more grazing than the man whose pasture is kept short.

The season reason for proper range use is that nature doesn't like empty space. On pasture this means that she tries to keep the soil covered as long as any soil is left. If man overgrazes his pastures and won't let anything grow that's fit to graze, nature will cover it with plants that are not fit to graze, or that are too short to graze. That's why palatable plants on overstocked pastures give way to weeds and woody plants and low producing grasses.

Nature is always trying to put back the kind of vegetation she had on a piece of ground in the first place. Ecologists call this the natural law of plant succession. These changes can be seen on abandoned fields in pastures that are rested, and other places. If unmolested, these changes will go on until there is a kind of vegetation that fits the soil and climate so well that no other kinds of plants can move in. This kind of vegetation is called climax and consists of a combination of grasses. This combination can be predicted if the soil and climate are known. When a pasture is given a rest, natural plant succession will increase the better higher producing plants.

Of course, the principal factor which limits growth of pasture grasses in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District is water supply. Since man can't make it rain, it is best to store as much water in the ground as possible. Under proper grazing, enough vegetation will usually be present to prevent puddling on bare soil, and more water will soak in. Evaporation will be kept at a minimum, and soil temperature will be lower. The half left under proper grazing will provide a mulch on the ground so that the surface won't seal. In that way water will be stored in the ground to raise more grass.

Col. Collins Says AFB Day Plans Moving

"Plans for the Webb Air Force May 18 Armed Forces Day Open House are moving along well," according to Col. H. C. Collins, Wing Project Officer. "Within the past few days the base project staff has received information on static display aircraft and material that signifies we will have some really interesting exhibits for the West Texas public to see at Webb."

A huge KC135 jet refueling tanker will be on display. This mammoth jet aircraft is the type that is used daily in air to air refueling of operational jet bombers and fighters. The Webb project staff has also received word that they will have a 14 foot replica of the Polaris submarine for display.

Other aircraft scheduled for the open house showing are the F100 and the F102 Century series fighters and the T-39 4-passenger small jet transport.

Capt. Donald Jonker, Assistant Wing Project Officer, reported that he is working on a schedule for a fast paced air show at Webb. This show will include high speed fly-bys, maximum performance jet climbs, aerobatic maneuver demonstrations, and close formation fly-bys.

In addition to the visiting aircraft, Webb will show their T-37 Cessna twin engine jet primary training aircraft and their T-38 Talon supersonic jet basic flying airplane.

Health And Safety Tips

The home gardeners are out in force again this spring for the annual round of digging, spading, mowing, trimming, pruning, transplanting and generally getting ready for another summer of keeping up the appearance of a few square feet of ground surrounding the family homestead.

Your doctor knows that gardening is good for you. It's good exercise for the body and good therapy for the spirit. It also has many minor hazards to health and safety. Most of them can be avoided.

Take it easy for the first few weekends in the garden. If you've done nothing more strenuous all winter than walk to the bus, give your muscles and your wind a chance to regain strength gradually. Some aspects of gardening are hard work that can put undue strains on long unused muscles.

An integral part of gardening is cuts and scratches, from twigs, rough stones, sharp tools. First aid usually is simple: Wash the wound with soap and water and apply an adhesive bandage. Let it bleed a little to wash away impurities. Deeper cuts, of course, will require medical attention.

The home gardener who neglects getting a shot of tetanus toxoid is asking for trouble. Tetanus germs linger in the soil, particularly if there are farm animals around or if barnyard manure is used on the garden. Tetanus, or lockjaw, is a serious condition, but it can be prevented by inoculation.

Sprays, powders and other poisons that kill insects or weeds are very useful in helping make a better garden. They also can be hazardous. Insecticides and weed killers are usually safe if you read the directions and follow them. Keep the unused residue tightly capped and out of the reach of small children.

Power garden tools, particularly lawn mowers, save many an aching back for the home gardener, but they also slice off an occasional toe or finger. Study the directions that come with your power tools carefully. They mean what they say about safety precautions.

Bees, wasps and spiders also are cut for the spring season, and now and then you may get stung. In most instances the sting will be painful for a short time and then fade. If you are allergic to insect stings, ask your physician about desensitizing injections.

Big Spring Rodeo Dates Scheduled

The Big Spring Rodeo Association set the nights of May 29, 30, 31, and June 1, as the date for their annual World's Championship Rodeo. The stock will again be furnished by Elra Beutler and Son of Elk City, Okla.

The events scheduled for this year promise to bring in many of the top notch rodeo performers of the nation.

A colorful rodeo parade, including sheriff's posses from the area, will kick off the four-day activities on the afternoon of May 29.

NOW there stood by the cross of Jesus his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary, the wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalena. When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom he loved, he saith unto his mother, Woman, behold thy son! Then saith he to the disciple, Behold thy mother! And from that hour the disciple took her unto his own home.

—John 19:25-27

It is the hope of your editor that those of you who have living mothers pay just and dutiful honor to them on Mother's Day, Sunday, May 12. We trust that each home will be happier for having a mother there to preside and truly make domiciles castles of security. We are grateful for the silent ministry of mothers in America. Their actions transcend the eloquence of their words. It is wonderful to recognize the beauty, the dignity, and the worth of motherhood. With some of our mothers the days are becoming fewer. Your editor's mother has passed on, but the memory of that beautiful life she lived, still sustains us in some of the most trying hours of our life. So in memory of our late mother, we dedicate these lines to the other wonderful mothers everywhere, and we trust the sons and daughters will gather Sunday to pay proper respect and to show the love and appreciation for America's mothers.

FOUR grand ladies gathered in Stanton on Monday for a class reunion. It was the first time in 50 years, since 1913, that they had assembled. The four were: MRS. FLORENCE LARKIN BEHELER of Fort Worth; MRS. STELLA JONES WILLINGHAM of Plainview; MRS. WILLIAM O. CATON of Waco; and MRS. MABLE HAYNIE DINGWALL of El Paso. We enjoyed our brief visit with the 1913 Stanton High School graduates and we know they had a time they will never forget.

JUST a few more miles-per-hour and an increased punch would have caused the wind storm striking Stanton Sunday to turn into a roaring tornado of hurricane force. At times, the big trees in the yard of the place adjacent to our house, actually bowed to street level. The tree trunks bent like huge bows. We were fortunate — all of us — and are thankful that the storm subsided before a great amount of damage was recorded.

J. (JOHN) HOLDER of Cisco, a long-time resident of Martin County, visited in our office Monday morning. MR. HOLDER, looking chipper, and short of several pounds, expressed a fond admiration for the people of this city and area. He was back for a visit and to take in the first annual SPRING FESTIVAL, sponsored by the MARTIN COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. MR. JOHN has been a staunch advocate of friendship among men. He has been our loyal subscriber and we count him a personal friend.

WE have nothing but admiration for the BOB DEAVENPORT'S and those good neighbors who made trip after trip across the street to ferry merchandise from the east side of St. Peter Street to the west side after the store's building was unroofed during the Sunday storm. The goods were carried to the building formerly used by HALL DRUG. BOB and DOROTHY worked late and the store was opened for business on Monday morning. Yes, the old show biz adage: "The play must go on is true in the dry goods business too."

SEVERAL members of the STANTON VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT are concerned about the increasing number of people driving automobiles who have started chasing the fire truck again. For a time, this public nonsense, and menace to the fire fighting volunteers, almost completely ceased. But the "tourist" have run berserk again. The answer will be forthcoming if another parade of sight-seers converge on the next fire in the city limits. A repeat performance of the mess caused here last Saturday night when a house burned on Lamesa Road in Stanton, will not be tolerated. Firemen must have the right-of-way. The police will tag any motorist interfering with the operation of the volunteers in any manner in the future.

Notice Of Special Meeting May 10, 1963

The Farmers Cooperative Society of Stanton will have a special meeting of it's stockholders, May 10, 1963, at the Cap Rock Electric. A bar-b-que supper will be served before the business meeting. The public is invited to attend the supper.

The Board of Directors have declared all book credit on the 1958-59 gin season be paid at this time. The dividend checks will be passed out at the close of the business meeting.

The Board of Directors and the staff at the gin would like to take this opportunity to thank each of our customers for their steadfast belief in the cooperative way of doing business, and for having the insight to see that in the very near future, as long as we keep our freedom of life and liberty, that the cooperative way will be the only way in which the farmer can handle his own business in a way most profitable to him. Who have the right to gin their cotton, crush their seed, press their cotton, and market their cotton if it isn't the grower himself? How can we put others out of business by attending to our own business? The cooperative way is the only way in which you can get all of these services at cost, and have all the profits returned to you.

The Regular Annual Meeting will be held in August as usual, with dividends being paid on current business.

Again let us sincerely thank you for your past patronage and say that we look forward to serving you in the future.

Sincerely,
DIRECTORS, AND STAFF OF THE
FARMERS COOPERATIVE
