"WE REGARD A MAN WHO TAKES NO INTEREST IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS, NOT AS HARMLESS, BUT AS USELESS."

The philosopher Thucydides of Athens said that in 431 B.C.

Yet there is always the tight little ring in small towns who start sharp-shooting at the country editor when he starts calling for a little fair play and common sense in government. We are not endowed with any special talent to bring about a readjustment of some of the practices sometimes inaugurated. But we do have the moral right and duty to bring to the surface some of the possible mistakes of any administration to the end that smoother cooperation and operation can be brought about. We have no personal axes to grind. But it is beginning to appear that the tight little ring does.

We have had a lot of rain for this country in the past few days. Perhaps that brings on another problem for some farmers. We refer to the possibilities of increased insects. And many of us know that killing crop insects is a lot like a marriage proposal. A little thought beforehand may prevent a pack of grief afterwards. Fortunately, farmers can learn from their previous errors in insect control and making the same mistake twice can usually be prevented. The most common error is spraying the right chemical at the wrong time. Applications of pesticides too early or too late in the season has two inevitable results—wasted money and an insect damaged crop. This error can be avoided by checking with your county agent.

About 311 high school and college students and teachers from 33 states, Panama and Canada will be on the Texas A&M campus this summer for special programs sponsored by the National Science Foundation. And among the group will be some women. Maybe this is kind of an advance corps before integration of the men and women next semester.

It rained again Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning. That gives us a total of six inches in the past 20 days. The ground is wet, spongy, saturated and flowers, shrubs, grass, and yes—the weeds too—are growing greener without use of commercial water. We have had 21 days of cloudy weather on top of the extensive rain. We are hopeful that this area will be spared from a tornado or heavy hailstone attack. Many of our neighboring towns and cities have already been visited by real damaging weather.

When a responsible business or company allows labor to run management, then that's like allowing the tail to wag the dog. In these days of higher prices, increasing taxes, bigger bills, more overhead, higher government costs, now is no time for a responsible organization to put up with the sorry service or personal whims of a non-cooperative man or woman. The public gets fed up fast with this type individual.

The Little and Pee-wee Leagues will officially open in the city next week. Following dedication ceremonies to be held this Saturday night, of the new park, named for George Shelburne, the regular season's schedule of play will be inaugurated. We are again printing the complete roster of the players and running the entire schedule. This is being done because some of our readers reported they failed to take the paper from the last issue of the "Ole Reliable."

Our dog suffered an accident Sunday and we have been concerned about the injury. We have grown to love our canine a great deal and the half bird dog and half shepherd animal, its hurts to see him limping. So as soon as the paper is out today we plan to visit a good vet somewhere in the area, and try and find out if Sol has a simple strained muscle or a dislocated bone in the foot.

Somebody counted up the attractive girls in our county who have either already married in late May

Texas Electric Voluntarily Lowers Price Rate In City

The City Council of Stanton, on June 4, 1963 approved a schedule of reduced residential and general service rates for customers of Texas Electric Service Company. The new rates were presented to the Commission by Mr. Cecil Bridges, manager of the company.

Bridges said that based on the year 1962, the proposed rates will result in an average reduction in residential electric service bills of 7.7 per cent and an average reduction in commercial and industrial bills of 7.8 per cent. These percentages are overall averages. Some bills will be reduced more than the overall average per cent, while some will be reduced less than the overall average. Some bills will not be affected by the proposed rate changes. No electric service bill will be increased by the rates, according to Bridges.

All residential bills for consumption in excess of 70 kwh will be lower on the proposed residential rate than on the present residential rate. Residential bills for consumptions of 70 kwh or less will be unchanged by the proposed residential rate.

Bridges said that the company is in the process of lowering its residential and general service rates in all other areas that it serves. The new rate schedules are to become effective on July 4, 1963.

Phone Company Announces Lower Station Rate Calls

Reduced long distance telephone rates for most evening station-to-station calls after 9 p.m. within Texas will be introduced by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company on June 15, Harry Sawyer, manager of the company announced.

The new rates will provide a maximum charge of 80 cents for a three-minute call anywhere within the state, he said.

Reductions of up to 50 cents on the longest calls within Texas will result from the new schedule.

Along with this reduction there will be a slight increase in most person-to-person calls with the state, Sawyer announced. This will amount to five cents in the basic person-to-person rates on most day and evening calls.

The new reduced station-to-station rates for three-minute calls will fall into three brackets according to Sawyer.

Pope John's Death Mourned By World

Death came Monday night to Pope John XXIII, son of a tenant farmer in Italy, four years, seven months and six days after he began his reign as spiritual leader of the world's Catholics.

Pope John touched the heart of a divided world with his untiring work for unity and peace.

His closest relatives and associates were at his side in the papal apartment overlooking St. Peter's Square, where only nine minutes before an extraordinary outdoor mass for him had ended.

The deep-throated campanone, master bell of St. Peter's Basilica, tolled the sad news to the world and the great bronze door by the basilica closed tight in symbol of the pope's death.

The Pope Is Dead

Pope John XXIII, spiritual of the world's half billion Roman Catholics, died Monday night at the Vatican in Rome.

The death of the Pope brought a sense of sadness and sorrow which was not confined to members of the Roman Catholic Church. Many adherents of other faiths had profound admiration and great respect for the Pontiff who had done so very much to further world peace and bring about Christian unity. Ordinarily the passing of a Pope and the choice of a successor are matters of consuming interest and importance chiefly to members of the Roman faith. They are of secondary interest to others. But with Pope John it was different. Many of us felt like he was one of us. A great fellow doing a good job. Pope John was a man of the people. Being of peasant stock, his down-to-earth attitude, his humility and his friendliness won him the affection and admiration of people everywhere. Members of other church, join the Catholics, in hoping that the forces set in motion by Pope John will continue to operate, now that he has gone, and that his successor—whichever he may be—will show the same spirit of tolerance and understanding. Pope John will be remembered with kindness by millions who felt he exerted a true influence for goodwill in a world often torn by hatreds, prejudices and confusion.

Questions And Answers

Q—Is age a barrier in serving as a volunteer worker at a VA hospital?

A—No. In fact, some of the outstanding volunteers have been men and women in their 70's and 80's. Such elderly folks usually have plenty of time on their hands and many of them, through trials of their own, have learned to be sympathetic and understanding. Then again, patients accept and look with affection upon the elderly volunteers, maybe because they are reminded of parents or relatives. Ability and willingness to serve are far more important than age.

Q—$ a veteran expected to retire when he reaches 65 whether he would like to do so or not?

A—That would depend entirely upon the veteran. Many people, because of health or other reasons, plan to retire at 65; many others are both capable and desirous of remaining at their work for many years to come. More and more senior citizens are finding that they have a definite role to play in the modern world.

Q—I have read that elderly people in general will benefit from the medical research programs carried on by the VA. Isn't it true that only veterans can take advantage of VA medical and hospital care?

A—Only veterans can directly receive VA hospital or medical care. But advances made in the treatment of illness or disability through VA research are passed on, like all research, to the world and humanity in general is aided.

Angiograms Not Limited To Ben Casey's Wards

Almost weekly, TV fans hear Dr. Ben Casey give a dramatic order for angiographic studies for his patients.

Long used in neurosurgery, these pictures of the blood vessels are rapidly becoming useful diagnostic aids in other conditions as well. The use of angiography is occlusive cerebrovascular diseases, commonly called strokes, is discussed by Dr. Sheff D. Olinger, a Dallas neurologist, in an article in the May issue of the Texas State Journal of Medicine, published by the Texas Medical Association.

Strokes occur when a diseased segment of an artery becomes obstructed and blocks the supply of oxygen to a portion of the brain. This can happen either suddenly or over a fairly long period of time. Impairment of memory, confusion, personality changes, and paralysis are usual results.

The author discusses the syndrome of "little strokes," stating that this term has led us to presume that the "little strokes" are related to the occlusions of little vessels and are not caused by occlusion of major vessels. Angiographic investigation of this syndrome occasionally produces surprising findings.

Angiograms are obtained by injecting a radiopaque material into the arterial blood stream of the patient and making roentgenographic pictures of the area to be studied, in this instance the head and neck. The doctor is then able to see the blood vessels and often can gain valuable information to aid diagnosis.

The angiogram is only one of several diagnostic procedures used for victims of strokes, and Dr. Olinger notes that there is considerable difference of opinion as to the ability to make accurate diagnosis of the pathologic vascular condition involved. Because identical symptoms can be produced by vascular lesions which differ in degree, location, and character, it is not always possible for the doctor to determine the exact source and character of the cause of a stroke. Even so, the neurologist adds, "Angiography of the carotid and vertebral vessels is the most accurate means presently available for identification of vascular lesions related to strokes."

"There has been a dramatic change in the attitudes toward this group of diseases in recent years," writes Dr. Olinger. In the past, interest in precise diagnosis lagged because even if a physician could pinpoint the cause of a stroke, he had little to offer the patient in the way of effective treatment. Now, with advances in both medicine and surgery, several courses of treatment are available, and to determine the best therapy in each case the doctor must depend on accurate knowledge of the exact location, type, and severity of cerebrovascular damage.

As in almost any procedure of this type there are some risks involved, but Dr. Olinger reports that in his experience, in a series of 450 angiograms, used as routine diagnostic procedure, complications arose in only four patients. "These were performed on unselected cases, many of them constituting extremely poor risks on the basis of their primary and associated diseases," he writes. This low incidence, Dr. Olinger believes, is a minimal hazard in view of the anticipated benefits to the patient in terms of diagnosis, management, and ultimate outcome of the disease.

Bible Comment—

Faith, Good Works Must Go Hand In Hand

In the Epistle of James, there is a profound plea for plain, honest practical Christian living. There ought to really be a great deal more of it in the church and in all relationship of Christians with the world. Faith is primary and basic, but faith and works go together, and until we relate faith to character and conduct we do not come to understand what Christian faith is.

James, like Paul, emphasizes, that fact that God is the source of all goodness. From Him comes every good and perfect gift, and with Him there is no variableness or shadow or turning. His love and His grace are abiding, and every man who in faith accepts the obligations of the Christian life will find the power of God with him to help him.

We cannot too strongly stress this concise definition of religion, found in the Epistle of James: "Pure religion and undefiled before our God and Father is this to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to keep one self unspotted for the world."

It is this sort of religion which distinguished the early disciples. Paul believed in it just as much as James, but the world is still run largely on the basis of self-interest and not always "enlightened" self-interest.

True Christianity represents something deeper and brighter. It has produced humanitarian organizations and movements which lift mankind to motives of mutual aid. This, not self-interest, is the hope of the world's future.

Philosopher Says He's In Favor Of Graduates Who Won't Set The World On Fire

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw may have his tongue in his cheek this week. Maybe it beats a foot.)

Dear editor:

As you know, this is the time of year when graduating classes get to hear a lot of advice and I've been reading some of it from around the country and so far I haven't heard something mentioned which I'd like to bring out myself.

I don't mean to say the advice isn't sound, it is, regardless of how little of it will be taken. In the world's entire history there never has been a shortage of advice, and like everything else we've got a surplus of, the price has never been high.

Most commencement speakers, especially at colleges, exhort the graduates to work hard and achieve the amount to as much as the speakers, but they've got to do better than that if the world's going to hold together. Right now, we're at the point where a disarmament conference feels safer if it's meeting close to a bomb shelter.

Now the point I'd like to bring out is that in nearly every graduating class, except of course the one in Stanton, there's always a certain number about whom some folks predict, with about the accuracy of a weather forecast, "Well, they won't set the world on fire."

I tell you, that's exactly the kind of young people I'm looking for. If this world needs anything, it's somebody who won't set it on fire. Go to the moon, orbit the earth, invent a tail pipe that won't rust out, perfect a drip-dry car fender that straightens out its own dents, eliminate racial strife, abolish slums, lower taxes, bring television to Africa, shave Castro, control the weather, grow food in a test tube, desalt the ocean, eliminate flies and mosquitoes, write more books, find a funny comedian on TV, eliminate crime, make honesty convenient, outwit the Russians, bring peace on earth, but don't set it on fire.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Onarga, Ill., Leader-Review: "That the chemical industry spends more of its own money on research and development than any other, is indication of its acceptance of responsibility to continue to spark progress. . . . As General John E. Hull, president of the Manufacturing Chemists' Association, has said, regulators and legislators 'should recognize that without a healthy, prosperous industry there can be no effective contribution to solving the country's economic and public interest problems.' This, we would think is the golden text for Chemical Progress Week, 1963."

Popes Since 1523 Have Been Natives Of Italy

Precedent of four centuries suggests another Italian prelate will become supreme ruler of the Roman Catholic Church on the death of Pope John XXIII.

Only natives of Italy have occupied Saint Peter's throne since Dutch-born Adrian VI died September 14, 1523, after a 29-month reign.

Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini, 65-year-old archbishop of Milan, is most frequently mentioned among possible future popes in speculation stirred by the grave illness of Pope John.

Half a dozen other Italians also often are named.

Cardinal Montini was a close collaborator of Pope Pius XII.

It was after the death of Pope Pius in 1958 that the princes of the church, the College of Cardinals, elected Pope John, an Italian tenant farmer's son whom they knew as Angelo Cardinal Roncalli.

Alfonso Cardinal Castaldo, 72, Archbishop of Naples, is among those considered as a possibility in the succession.

Also spoken often are these Italian cardinals on the Vatican curia, a sacred inner court: Carol Confalonieri, 69; Fernando Cento, 79; Palo Marella, 68; Ildebrando Antonutti, 64; and Luigi Traglia, 68.

There is talk that, should the conclave be deadlocked, the cardinals might turn to a non-Italian, such as Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, 79, French-born dean of the college of cardinals.

Other non-Italians whose names are heard in discussions of papal candidates are Gregory Peter Cardinal Agagianian, an Armenian member of the Vatican curia; Leo-Joseph Cardinal Suenens, archbishop of Brussels; and Paul Emile Cardinal Leger, Archbishop of Montreal.

The College of Cardinals is required to meet in secret conclave not less than 15 days and not more than 18 after a pope dies to choose his successor.

The college at present has 22 members.

U. S. Warns ECM To Drop Poultry Trade 'Barrier'

The United States has warned the European Common Market to remove its latest tariff barrier against American chickens or face economic reprisals.

Christian Heatter, President Kennedy's trade negotiator, sharply criticized the Common Market council's increase of import charges on U. S. poultry from 13 cents to 14½ cents per pound.

The United States had hoped for some slight cut.

Negotiations Asked

Herter formerly called for negotiations to work out an agreement on poultry tariffs. Such negotiations are provided for in an agreement the United States signed with the Common Market last year.

If these talks fail to produce a satisfactory solution, Herter said in a statement Friday, "it must be recognized that failure to obtain this objective would call for our insisting on balancing compensation elsewhere in our trade exchanges."

Members of Congress from poultry-raising areas were irate over the action. Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) said the increase ordered by countries receiving U. S. aid was "too much to accept," and urged the government to take "the most effective reprisals."

The action was taken Wednesday by the agriculture ministers of the six Common Market countries — France, West Germany, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and Italy.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the United States should cut off aid to European countries "and let them carry their own load. That's what it's coming to."

New Pope Will Be Chosen In Conclave

The successor to Pope John XXIII will be elected at a secret conclave of cardinals from all parts of the Christian world.

They will barricade themselves in the Sistine Chapel and adjoining Vatican apartments and will not emerge from the tightly guarded conclave area until a new pope—almost certainly one of their own number—is elected by a two-thirds majority.

There is no foretelling how long the conclave might last. The election of Pope Pius XII in 1959 took 20 hours. Pope John was elected on the 12th ballot in a four-day conclave in 1963. The conclave that elected Pope Gregory X in 1271 took two years and nine months — the longest on record.

New Pontiff 262nd

With the election of the new pontiff — who will be regarded by Catholics as the 262nd vicar of Christ on earth and a direct successor to St. Peter — a cardinal deacon will appear on the central balcony of St. Peter's to announce to the great crowd in the square below

"Nunite vobis gaudium magnum: habemus papam — I announce to you tidings of great joy. We have a pope."

The tens of thousands waiting in St. Peter's Square will break into a frenzy of cheering.

The cardinal deacon will announce the name. Again the crowd will thunder its approval. Then the new pope will step into view, garbed in new tailored papal vestments, and slowly raise his hands in benediction.

Vital Bracero Bill Beaten In House By Liberal Group

The House of Representatives in Washington has voted to end the 12-year-old program under which U. S. farmers have been importing Mexican field workers to do important farm chores in a vast section of the country, including Martin County.

A 174-158 roll-call vote turned down the bill which would have extended the "bracero" program until December 31, 1965.

It was the sixth time an extension had been sought for the bill which was originally passed in 1951. The Kennedy-loving, liberal element in the House led the opposition. One wild-eyed New Frontiersman called the bill, "a slave labor measure."

He has obviously never been in this area, and undoubtedly was not aware of the fact that Mexican workers have been under Department of Labor supervision for the past two years and that certain hourly rates have been established for the braceros.

The vote to kill the extension came after only two hours of debate. Rep. John Fogarty, Democrat from Rhode Island, sounded the toughest note of the opposition, telling the House:

"If there was ever a slave labor piece of legislation adopted by the Congress, this is it."

Fogarty called the bill immoral, unconstitutional and harmful to U. S. relations with Mexico.

Rep. B. F. Sick, California, said farmers in the Southwest and West need Mexican laborers to do "so-called stoop labor, which frankly Americans generally have refused to perform."

Rep. George Mahon contended there has been a dramatic improvement in the wage standard and the living standards of farm workers from Mexico.

In a quick survey made by Neal Estes, editor of The Stanton Reporter on Thursday morning the feeling against the New Frontier was running almost solidly against the policies of the administration.

The editor remarked: "The Kennedy ticket will lose Martin County by ten to one regardless of what may be done otherwise for the county — and the chief reason is the defeat of this bill's extension."

Bracero labor is important to the economic existence of this county — it is literally the bread and meat on many tables.

Many farmers feel like the defeat of this measure automatically signals Texas Congressmen in Washington to fight any further give-away programs and to vote against the continued appropriations for the United Nations.

Then the bells of Rome's 450 churches and those of countless churches in varied lands on both sides of the Iron Curtain took up the mournful dirge for the departed pontiff.

The thousands in St. Peter's Square were just beginning to drift away when the sudden booming from the biggest bell in Christendom froze them in their tracks.

The mourning begun in St. Peter's swept around the world and leaders displayed rare unanimity in their praise of Pope John and church leaders of many sects joined in prayers for him.

President Kennedy said the pope's "concern for the human spirit transcended all boundaries of belief or geography . . . his wisdom compassion and kindly strength have bequeathed humanity a new legacy of purpose and courage for the future."

photographer for the Hereford Brand. He was chosen in 1961 as outstanding distributive Education student, edited his school paper for a semester, won the Dorinda E. Bond outstanding journalist award of the Panhandle High School Press Association, and won first in newswriting in interscholastic regional contests. He took second place in the Texas Press Association photojournalism event, this being the first time a student had placed in this contest.

Wain won several other journalism and DE awards, was cited by his hometown Chamber of Commerce, worked fulltime summers at the Hereford Brand, took an active part in high school dramatics, and was president of his church's youth club. This summer he is working for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and plans to enter Texas Tech in the autumn. He is the son of Mrs. Jewell Miller.

Roy McQueen, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McQueen, is another almost fulltime newspaperman while completing his high school work. He started by covering summer sports for the Andrews News, but during the past year he carried virtually a full reporter's load. He also edited the school paper (and made it up mechanically); edited his school's yearbook, getting all state honors. He had eight news stories selected among the state's "cream of the crop," and was a member of Quill and Scroll. Besides, he was a soloist in the capella choir (winning first place in regional competition), was in the National Honor Society, in Who's Who in Leadership; president of the Key Club; a delegate to Boy's State; Life Scout; and on the Andrews Youth Civic Committee.

or plan to wed in June and boy, oh boy, we can assure you that the ranks of the beauties have been badly trimmed. Of course our town and county is noted for beautiful women and we keep attractive and talented girls coming up on all age levels but to have nine of our most glamorous daughters knocked out of circulation at one time sure leaves a gap in the line. We might make another observation here at this time. Most of the boys reared around these parts are smart too — they marry the hometown girls.

Texas 4-Hers Plan Roundup For June 4-6

It's roundup time in Texas, 4-H, that is. The green and white of 4-H will take over the campus of Texas A&M College on June 4 when some 2,000 4-H members, leaders, county extension agents and friends of 4-H assemble for their annual roundup.

The big day will be Wednesday, June 5 when winners will be named in 28 judging and team demonstration contests. Training for the state contests has been underway for many weeks and those participating in the contest have already won county and district honors. To be eligible to participate in the state finals, the team or individual must have ranked first or second in the district eliminations. More than 1,300 individual 4-H Club members will participate in the state finals and many will be shooting for an opportunity to represent their state in national finals later in the year.

Four-H Club members have been coming to the A&M Campus for more than half a century. Their annual visit predates the 4-H emblem and passage of the legislation by the Federal Government in 1914 which established the Cooperative Agricultural Extension Service. Four-H Club work is conducted in the counties under the supervision of the county extension agents with assistance from local voluntary leaders and friends of 4-H.

Recognition for outstanding contributions to 4-H will be extended by the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation to individuals and business concerns in the state. The Foundation will also sponsor the ever popular "chuck wagon barbecue" on the evening of June 4. The first general assembly of Roundup will follow the barbecue.

Winners in the 28 different judging and team demonstration contests will be announced during the afternoon of June 5 and will be honored at the final banquet in the evening. The Roundup will be officially over with breakfast on June 6.

Official Opinion Clarifies Law On Deer Hunt Rights

Of special interest to hunters and landowners who charge for hunting rights is a recent opinion by Attorney General Waggoner Carr. The opinion was given in response to an inquiry by Howard Dodgen, Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Briefly, the opinion confirms the commission's long held view that "A landowner may allow the use of his land for hunting purposes contingent upon a successful hunt, such success being measured at a specified price for each deer, the price being paid in advance and refunded if the hunter does not kill a deer."

Further, the opinion confirms the authority of the commission to prohibit sale of antlerless and/or doe deer permits. The sale of deer has been prohibited by law for many years. Also, under the law the hunter must obtain the special permit from the landowner before hunting or killing an antlerless deer. The permits may not be sold under any circumstances, nor may they be used on any other land than that for which they were issued.

The full faith and credit of the United States will be pledged to such payment under an unqualified payment agreement endorsed on each of the Notes. Under said Act, such agreement is required to be construed by all officers of the United States separate and apart from said loan agreement and is incontestable in the hands of a bearer thereof.

THE NOTES will be dated July 16, 1963, will be payable to bearer on July 16, 1964, will bear interest from their date to their maturity at the rate or rates per annum fixed in the proposal or proposals accepted for the purchase of such Notes, will be issued in such denominations, and both principal and interest thereof will be payable at such incorporated Bank having trust powers or incorporated Trust Company, as the purchaser designates in the proposal. Such Bank or Trust Company must be a member of the Federal Reserve System, or the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and must have an unimpaired capital and surplus of not less than the aggregate principal amount of Notes designated in the proposal or proposals submitted by the purchaser; provided, however, that such unimpaired capital and surplus need not exceed One Million Dollars. The Notes will provide that they are not valid until after such Bank or Trust Company has signed the agreement, appearing on each Note, to act as paying agent. The Notes will be transmitted to such Bank or Trust Company for delivery to the purchaser upon receipt and disbursement by such Bank or Trust Company of the purchase price thereof in accordance with instructions from the Local Public Agency. After taking delivery of the Notes, the purchaser shall obtain the signature of such Bank or Trust Company upon the Notes as aforesaid. All fees or charges, if any, of such Bank or Trust Company shall be paid by such purchaser.

SAID NOTES will be special obligations of the Local Public Agency and will be secured by a requisition agreement between the Local Public Agency and the United States of America under the terms of which agreement the United States of America agrees to lend the Local Public Agency prior to the maturity of said Notes an amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest of all said Notes and agrees to cause so much of the proceeds of such loan as shall be sufficient to pay the principal of and interest upon any of said Notes to be deposited at the respective Bank or Trust Company at which said Notes are payable for the benefit of the holder or holders thereof. Under the proceedings authorizing said Notes, the proceeds of such loan payment will be irrevocably pledged first to the payment, at maturity, of the principal of and interest on said Notes.

THE VALIDITY of the Preliminary Loan Notes and of said requisition agreement will be approved by Messrs. McCall, Parkhurst, Crowe, McCall & Horton, 1501 Mercantile Securities Building, Dallas, Texas, and such attorney's opinion will be furnished to the successful purchaser without charge.

ALL PROPOSALS for the purchase of said Notes shall be submitted in a form approved by the Local Public Agency and shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to the Local Public Agency, which should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Preliminary Loan Notes." Copies of such form of proposal may be obtained from the Local Public Agency at the address indicated above. Proposals may be submitted subject to completion pursuant to telegraphic instructions which must be received by the Local Public Agency at or before the time above specified for the opening of proposals. In view of certain statutory and policy limitations, no award of the Notes will be made at an interest rate per annum which is not less than four per centum (4%).

PROPOSALS may be for all or any part of the Notes, and separate proposals will be required for each part of said Notes for which a separate interest rate is bid. Said Notes will be awarded at the lowest interest rate or rates offered in the proposals, without reference to premium; provided, however, that, as among proposals specifying the same lowest interest rate, award will be made on the basis of the highest premium per dollar principal amount of Notes specified in such proposals. No bid for less than $50,000 principal amount of said Notes or for less than par and accrued interest (which interest shall be computed on a 360-day basis) will be entertained, and the Local Public Agency reserves the right to award to any bidder all or any part of the Notes which such bidders offers to purchase in his proposal, upon the basis of such proposal; provided, that if less Rumors concerning a special session continue to bounce around the Capitol.

Most persistent rumor is that Gov. John B. Connally will "line-item" veto the appropriations bill, which he contends "short-changes" higher education . . . then call a special session in the fall.

In "line-item" veto he would strike out items he considers unnecessary. Then try to convince Legislators that the money should go to higher education instead.

Soil Districts To Be Named

A five-man committee named recently by President John D. Wells, Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts, will have the job of selecting the state's outstanding conservation districts.

Members of the committee are Doyle Hutcheson of the Hood-Park District, Weatherford, chairman; A. T. Vandiver, Dalworth District, Burleson, vice chairman; John D. Faught, Denton-Wise District, Roanoke; Frank Springer, Rockwall, Kaufman-Van Zandt District; and J. O. Sterling Van Alstyne, Collin County Soil Conservation District.

Lynn Pittard, extension soil and water conservation specialist, said it would be the committee's responsibility to review score sheets of soil conservation districts entered in the annual recognition awards program sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. The top farmer-conservationist chosen and a member of the district's governing board will be guests of the sponsor for a study-research trip to Arizona in December. The schedule calls for the announcement of winners in August.

Judging will be done on the basis of achievements under past programs as well as those planned for the future.

Grassroots Opinion

Beverly, Mass., Times: "As an American citizen you may not own a foot of your native soil, but three acres of crop land and seven acres of grazing are required to keep you supplied with food. It is this fact which is causing government and other agriculture experts — despite current crop surpluses — to view with concern deterioration of the nation's crop and grass lands through erosion, over-cropping and other causes."

Phenix City, Ala., Citizen: "From what comes out of Washington these days, the watchword of economic growth seems to be 'change or perish'. So what happens when industry suggests constructive change? At once the unions throw up roadblocks."

Junction City, Ore., Times: "Sunshine! Time to get at the garden, the flowers and shrubs and all those grubby tasks! But as the man says, before messing around with any of these new weedicides, pesticides, insecticides, bug-killers and such, Read the Label!"

than $50,000 principal amount of Notes is to be awarded to any bidder, such bidder will be relieved of the obligation to purchase such Notes upon written notice to the Local Public Agency within two days after notification of such proposed award. If only a part of the Notes bid for in a proposal are awarded by the Local Public Agency, the premium, if any, offered in such proposal shall be prorated, and said Notes will be issued in denominations in the order of the lowest denominations specified in such proposal; provided that one Note may be issued in a small denomination than is otherwise specified. The further right is reserved to reject any or all proposals.

SECTION 102(g) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1452), provides as follows: "Obligations, including interest thereon, issued by local public agencies for projects assisted pursuant to this title, and income derived by such agencies from such projects, shall be exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States." In the event that prior to the delivery of any of the Notes to the successful bidder therefor the income received by private holders from obligations of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law hereafter enacted, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase said Notes.

replace Bill Murray. One thing for sure, he adopts to changes easily.

In two short hours, Langdon resigned as chief justice of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals; withdrew from the race for the State Supreme Court place which Judge Frank Culver of Fort Worth is expected to leave; was sworn in as Railroad Commissioner; announced as a candidate for re-election in 1964; and went right to work.

Then he and Commissioner Ben Ramsey made the announcement the oil and gas industry was waiting for—a 28 per cent allowable for June.

GOVERNORS' CHOICE — Langdon's appointment was the third he has received during three administrations.

Gov. Allan Shivers appointed him 112th District Judge in 1954. He was elected to that bench twice. Then Gov. Price Daniel appointed him Chief Justice of the El Paso Court in 1959. This post he resigned to accept Governor Connally's appointment.

BILLS VERSUS LAWS — A quick tabulation of the results of five months of labor by the 181 members of the 58th Legislature reveals that only about 31 per cent of the bills passed both House and Senate, to become laws.

A total of 1,723 bills were introduced. Of these, 543 were passed to law. Most of the weeding-out was done by committees. They reported as favorable only 786 bills as compared with 906 in 1961.

SUPREME COURT BACKS COMMISSION—State Supreme Court upheld the Railroad Commission's right to authorize an operator in a particular oil field to conduct a survey of another operator's well to determine if it were illegally slanted.

Case at bar was L & G Oil Company (headed by H. G. Lewis Jr. of Kilgore) versus the Railroad Commission et al.

L&G charged that Railroad Commission order permitting Tidewater Oil Company to authorize Sperry-Sun Surveying Company to run a slant-hole survey on an L&G well in the East Texas field was illegal.

The 129th District Court in Austin had supported the Railroad Commission's order.

But while the Supreme Court affirmed the right to give the order, it said it was improperly worded and sent the case back to the trial court.

Two members of the high court, however—Associate Justices Meade F. Griffin and Joe Greenhill—disagreed with their colleagues.

"To allow a citizen or corporation—a potential foe in litigation—to go upon and take notice of another's property without even so much as an opportunity to be heard, is a clear violation of the due process clause of the Texas and Federal constitutions," they stated.

DATE MIX-UP—On or about August 1, Secretary of State Crawford Martin has to start publishing proposed amendments to the constitution that will be up for a vote in a special election on Saturday, November 9.

Martin checked out the first three amendments scheduled for the ballot: One to decide whether to abolish the poll tax; one asking whether to extend the Veterans' land Program and increase bonds; and one asking voters whether the state should increase from $54,000,000 to $60,000,000 state funds that can be spent each year on federal-state assistance for old folks, children, blind and disabled.

Then he came to a fourth—a proposed amendment to authorize a retirement and benefit program for Jefferson County drainage district employees. One clause referred to a November 9, 1963, election. Another set the election for November, 1964.

Martin couldn't decide which date was right, so he referred the matter to Attorney General Waggoner Carr.

FORMER SPEAKER LANDS JOB —James A. Turman of Gober, former speaker of the House who ran for lieutenant-governor in 1962 and was defeated by Preston Smith of Lubbock, was around Austin for a long time after his term as speaker ended on January 7.

Many political potentates predicted he would be named Secretary of State — he wasn't. Then they said he would head Governor Connally's proposed Commission on Excellence in Higher Education, but that bill didn't pass.

Turman came out fine in the long run. Last week, he joined the U. S. Office of Education in Washington, D. C., as a Special Consultant-Expert to the Commissioner of Education.

Turman once was assistant to the president of Texas Women's University in Denton.

STOCKS SALES GRANTED—State Securities Commissioner William M. King announced a sharp rise in the number of companies registering stocks with his board in April.

Sixty-three companies — 21 Texas firms included — were granted permits to issue $22,634,384 worth of securities in the state.

HIGHWAY CONTRACTS RECORD SET — A $5,200,000 contract for construction of a 12-mile stretch of Interstate Highway 20 in Kaufman County broke all records for the State Highway Department.

Contract was one of 64, representing $33,000,000 worth of road improvements, let by the State Highway Commission on May 27.

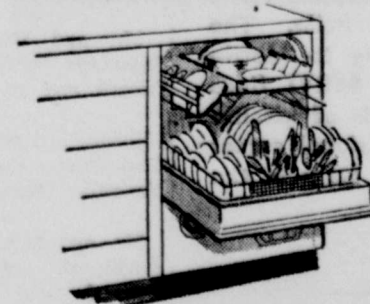

UNEMPLOYMENT DOWN—Economic pictures drawn by state agencies this week began to look like "Texas Brags."

Texas Employment Commission also has a glowing report. It announced that the number of job-seekers dropped from 191,000 in March to 171,500 in April. Number of employed was 3,543,100 — 56,100 more than the March figure.

More than 20 sheriff's posses, three bands, queen contestants from neighboring towns, and several colorful floats will help make up the parade through downtown Big Spring that will kick off the Rodeo Association's 30th Annual World's Championship Rodeo. The parade route was announced today by Parade Marshal Malcolm Patterson. The parade will form at South 12th and Main, proceed north on Main to Second, west on Second, and south on Securoy to 12th.

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

NOW IS AS GOOD A TIME AS ANY TO REMIND SOME OF THE SO-CALLED, SELF-STYLED FOLKS TOSSING THEIR WEIGHT AROUND AS LOCAL BIGWIGS THAT THEY ALSO HAD A BUBBLE IN PECOS, TEXAS THAT DIDN'T ONLY BURST — IT BUSTED!

TWO very important agencies of this great United States have been alerted. It sometimes takes time to conduct investigations and launch charges, but one thing we Americans know and can depend on—death is sure—taxes must be paid—an occasionally Uncle Sam changes the reputation of some guy from respectability to rascality!

ON June 1, I switched morning daily newspapers. THE LUBBOCK AVALANCHE JOURNAL will be the publication I read with my bacon and eggs from here on in. My reasons for changing to the Lubbock publication were good in my book. First, there is more news early in the mornings in the A-J than in the other morning publication I have been receiving. And too, I find the same news in my afternoon daily that I read in the morning daily I have been subscribing to. That makes it old news to me. And too, a Stanton guy works for the AVALANCHE-JOURNAL. He is JERRY HALL. And then our Congressman lives in Lubbock, our State Senator lives in Lubbock and our Lt. Governor lives in Lubbock. We like to keep up with GEORGE MAHON, H. J. (DOC) BLANCHARD, and PRESTON SMITH. They are all our personal friends. Most of their thinking is conservative. No wild-eye stuff. Down fifty miles south of Stanton, we don't hear much about our county, our office holders, or much else other than what appeared a few hours before in the columns of our own newspaper.

POSSIBLY you are one of us solicited from time to time for a contribution to the VOICE OF AMERICA. It's a good thing, if it works. But in recent months we can't get our broadcasts through to Cuba. Cuba has begun Russian-style jamming of the U. S. broadcasts. The Cuban regime has concentrated its jamming efforts against the Florida-based standard broadcast band transmission. On March 25, two Cuban transmitters began broadcasting a steady tone on the same wave length as the Florida transmissions in attempts to foul up reception of Cuban listeners. To jam U. S. broadcasts, the Cubans are presumably using equipment received from Russia. On the air, it makes a noise like an electric razor buzzing at varying speeds. Maybe the Russians don't have missiles still on the island, but our messages are certainly being down-graded. The answer: Let the Cubans feel the blockade in full force!

GEORGE SHELburne FIELD will be officially dedicated here Saturday night at 8 p.m. The new Little League Park is located on city park property and presents a very neat appearance. It will be useful, beneficial and full of good service for the youth of our community in years to come. Those three terms, useful, beneficial and full of good service, might also be added to the many other fine qualifications GEORGE SHELburne possesses. We wish to commend those responsible for rewarding long and intelligent service to the City of Stanton by JUDGE SHELburne for seeing that this memorial properly honors his name. No man has been more loyal, more fair, more consistent and more devoted to his God, his church, his family, and his community than MR. GEORGE. It is with a declaration of complete sincerity that your editor adds his best wishes to those of other, may we say on this occasion, SHELburne fans.

STANTON and Martin County loses a splendid couple this week. REV. and MRS. ELLIS TODD will be in Haskell next Sunday where he will preach at the FIRST METHODIST CHURCH. REV. TODD, for the past three years pastor of the FIRST METHODIST CHURCH in Stanton, was assigned, at his request, to the new pulpit by the bishop at Abilene last week. REV. TODD talked with us and told us that the presiding officer of this district had assured him of reappointment to his charge in Stanton, but that he personally felt like it was the Lord's will that he move on. It is with deep regret of most Methodists and a large segment of our county people, that we say goodbye for awhile to ELLIS TODD. The genial man of the cloth was a friend to all. He knew no strangers. He loved and mingled with his fellowmen from all denominations, all walks of life, in many places on many occasions. It has been said that he was possibly the best pastor Stanton Methodists have had in many years. Personally, we have not been nearly as good a church goer as some in the Methodist Church in Stanton, but we have not been guilty of churchhouse hypocrisy either. We are going to miss the sight of BROTHER TODD walking the streets of Stanton—visiting with the people as he passed. And up at the local hospital they are going to miss his presence there, because he visited the sick there daily. We are going to offer the warm hand of welcome to BROTHER TODD's successor here and we are sure he will be an outstanding preacher. Let us wish ELLIS TODD and his faithful wife a sincere farewell and greet BROTHER LE MOND and his family with the friendly fellowship our town is noted for.

THE new Stanton Superintendent-elect, BERYL CLINTON and his wife were in the city this week looking for a house. The educator stopped for a brief moment in downtown traffic to say hello. The CLINTONS are looking forward to coming to Martin County and in a few days, just as soon as BERYL finds the time to compile some facts and details of his life and the lights and highlights of his professional career we hope to present a nice picture of his story in the columns of the "OLE RELIABLE."

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Percy III visited with Mr. and Mrs. Benny Welch Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Yates and son recently moved from Stanton to Lubbock.

John Ray Ory has returned to North Texas State College, where he is enrolled in summer school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ory.

Lessons From Rome

(An Editorial)

Pope John XXIII, spiritual leader of the world's five hundred million Roman Catholics, has drawn the attention and concern of people all over the earth to Rome in recent days by the gallant fight he has put up against the ravages of a stomach tumor and the complication of peritonitis. At the midnight hour Saturday he was reported moving inexorably toward the end, but attendants said the death agony still could last for hours.

While hearts were bowed in sadness in and out of The Vatican and prayers continually were offered up by the faithful around the world, Pope John in his last agonizing days has given the peoples of the earth some powerful lessons in personal sacrifice and devotion to a cause that transcends all things earthly. People everywhere have been encouraged in body and spirit by his stout resistance to disease and by his example of dedication and surrender to duty and responsibility even in the midst of his final struggle with that greatest of all human enemies, death.

The world has been made to sit up and take notice of the humbleness and sincerity and simplicity of a man of faith who, in alternating periods of consciousness and coma, deep pain and sedation, continued to use all lucid moments to bless those around about him and to remember in words of concern and prayer and hope the three great causes to which he had dedicated his heart and life, the church, the Ecumenical Council, and peace.

One of his solemn expressions was a word of hope that his life would stand as a sacrifice to these great causes. His love for and dedication to the church was supreme. His ideas and innovations have opened new doors in the centuries-old wall of separation between Rome and the rest of Christendom. His leadership has established new ties with other church groups, so that they have ventured into conversations through the Second Vatican Council and which are rippling out from it to cities and towns throughout the world.

He has often shown himself anxious for the future of the Ecumenical Council, which some regard as the greatest event of his reign. It has been scheduled to convene in September to resume its task of modernizing the church and working toward Christian unity. His death will suspend it and his successor can either reconvene it or leave it in suspension.

It has been one of the great aims of Pope John to become the Pope of Peace. He has put in much study, prayer and preparation aimed at helping bring peace to the world. Under his leadership, the Roman Catholic Church has made overtures to several Communist countries, and there have been numerous contacts for discussion and exploration of ideas and possible avenues of understanding. For whatever it was worth, Soviet Premier Khrushchev Friday sent Pope John a message expressing concern for his illness and praising his efforts for world peace.

It has been good for the world to witness the action of one of its great leaders who, even in the agonizing step-by-step approach to the end, has shown unremitting devotion to duty in all conscious moments. His example serves as a powerful reminder to all Christians of every church fold that while life lasts God has promised none of his followers surcease from honest toil, rest from responsibility, release from pain, or escape from physical death; rather, in all these earthly experiences that are common to man. He has promised to see His own safely through the valley of the shadow of death and victorious resurrection to new life in the perfect New World beyond.

It is widely regarded as a measure of Pope John's greatness that, in less than five years of reign, people of virtually all persuasions have come to admire and respect him so that he has often been called the "Pope of Unity." And who could deny that the people of the world would be blessed by a unity of understanding that would bring about lasting peace and a unity of faith among Christians that would call all men to the saving grace of God through Jesus Christ the Lord.

Baptist Girl's Auxiliary Holds Annual Coronation

The First Baptist Church observed Girls' Auxiliary activities last week. The highlight of the observance was a coronation service in the church.

Stanton High Students To Appear On TESCO Symposium

Stanton high school will be represented this week end at the third Texas Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas, Cecil Bridges, manager of Texas Electric Service Company announced.

Attending the four-day session that starts Sunday in Austin will be Benny Womack, a science student and Robert G. Young, member of the school faculty. They will attend the meeting as guests of Texas Electric Service Company.

The symposium is being jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. The Foundation is made up to 10 investor-owned electric utility companies in Texas, including Texas Electric.

Some 500 selected high school science students and teachers will attend the sessions on the University campus at which some of the nation's outstanding nuclear scientists will speak.

"The Foundation, which is co-sponsoring with the General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corporation the world's largest privately-financed research effort in the field of controlled nuclear fusion, is also seeking through its sponsorship of science symposiums to contribute to scientific education and understanding in Texas," Bridges said.

"These meetings sponsored by the Foundation seek to bring to Texas high school science students and teachers the latest information on nuclear physics and nuclear fusion research through lectures by outstanding scientists. They also provide the students with an opportunity to obtain answers to their questions on scientific careers and college curricula."

Speakers at this year's symposium will include two General Atomic scientists from San Diego, California: Dr. Martin Stern, acting chairman of the experimental physics department and Dr. R. W. Pidd, manager of the direct conversion program. Featured speaker for the Tuesday evening session will be Dr. W. W. Beeman, professor of physics and biophysicist from the University of Wisconsin.

Other speakers on the symposium program will include Dr. E. L. Hudspeeth, professor of physics and director of the nuclear physics laboratory at the University of Texas; Dr. R. N. Little, Jr., professor of physics; Dr. J. David Gavenda, associate professor of physics and Dr. W. T. Guy, Jr., professors of mathematics, all of the University of Texas; Dr. W. O. Milligan, professor of chemistry, Rice University; Dr. Richard E. Wainerli, associate dean of engineering at A&M College of Texas and Howard R. Drew, executive vice president of the Texas Atomic Research Foundation.

Topics to be covered during the three-day session will include nuclear physics and nuclear reactors, nuclear fusion research, direct conversion and solid state physics, physics and mathematics, X-ray, electron and neutron diffraction methods, neutron activation analysis and biophysics.
