A press release from Hollywood this week informed that Marlon Brando would soon wind up his acting career. Those of us who admired Clark Gable, Dick Powell, Gary Cooper, Ronald Coleman, and their type can't help but wonder if Brando ever was an actor.

Friends of Allan Shivers, former governor, think he is the only man in Texas who can defeat U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough next year. Shivers defeated Yarborough every time the two men met in previous political campaigns. Shivers supporters have clung tightly to him through the years. Many are still with him for any office he might choose to seek. Sen. Yarborough has made very few public appearances in Texas since he went to Washington and most of these have been in the San Antonio-El Paso sections.

Friday, June 14 is Flag Day. We suggest those of you with small children in the home buy American flags and fly them on these traditional national days. Teach your son or daughter the pledge to the flag and steep them in the heritage of freedom we of another generation learned to love and respect early in life.

Snakes are crawling in Stanton. Reports of reptile visits to yards in the city have been numerous. A small child is being treated in the local hospital for a rattlesnake bite Saturday evening at the dedication ceremonies at the park, your editor spotted a coiled rattler just a few yards from the edge of the crowd, and only a step or two from his automobile. Thanks to the big city light, we spotted the poisonous rattler in time to avoid a strike.

Practically everybody grows five things in the garden—peas, radishes, onions, beans and tired.

It has been said that "God does not play favorites — if He did there wouldn't be so many church picnics rained out."

Is tv ruining the Kennedy image? Every few days the President is appearing in some sort of crisis. His face is seen so often these days that it is no longer a thrill to be told the "President is going to speak." The network commentators, in the main, have turned politicians too. Then we have such lightweight as Downs and Paar and Blair actually attempting to conduct interviews on international policy. The training and educational background of all three of these men put together would not match the ability of one well informed diplomat. Some joker has brought the idea of running a tv series on Kennedy's book—"Profiles in Courage." How political can the network get?

We are pleased to announce the following new subscriptions and renewals and we want these fine people to know that they have helped bring our circulation to a peak we are very proud of. Watson, Midland; J. A. Badgett, Rt. 1, Stanton; J. M. Yater, Rt. 1, Stanton; Milt Yater, Rt. 1, Stanton; Lenorah B. Epley, Stanton; J. C. Epley, Stanton; Mrs. B. W. Brown, Rt. 1, Stanton; G. B. Texas High School Students Attended Austin Symposium

A fascinating vision of a world where the hydrogen bomb has been harnessed inside a nuclear reactor and the Gulf of Mexico yields an almost limitless supply of fuel for an atomic power plant was one of the many wonders of science that was unfolded this week for 500 science-minded Texas high school students and teachers.

They completed Wednesday a three-day meeting on the University of Texas campus listening to and interviewing some of the nation's outstanding scientists who described the latest developments in nuclear physics, nuclear fusion research, bio-physics and atomic "moon probing."

The occasion was the third Texas Nuclear Science Symposium, co-sponsored by the University of Texas and the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, an organization of 10 investor-owned electric utility companies operating in Texas.

One of the speakers, Dr. Martin O. Stern of the General Atomic laboratories at San Diego, Cal., reported important progress in solving a problem that has baffled the world's scientists for 13 years in their efforts to tame the hydrogen bomb for peaceful purposes.

He described successful results of the first experiments with a new type "magnetic bottle" that holds strong promise of advancing the day when the energy source of the H-bomb and the sun and the stars will be harnessed for the production of electric power.

The Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation has been engaged since 1957 in a jointly-supported research program with General Dynamics' General Atomic Division. The program is the world's largest privately-financed research effort in the field of controlled nuclear fusion and is being directed by some of the nation's outstanding nuclear scientists at the General Atomic laboratories at San Diego, Cal.

Glynn Explains Skip-Row Farming

George Glynn, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office in Stanton reports that he is receiving many questions concerning skip-row planting of cotton and feed grains (grain sorghum). "Farmers should keep in mind," he reports, "that the idle rows in a skip-row pattern must not be less than four normal rows to be counted as diverted acres under the feed grain or wheat programs."

He said the ASCS does not expect farmers to be using a skip-row pattern of one row cotton and one row idle, or one row grain sorghum and one idle, and since this would not (Continued on page 4)

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

Water safety in sports is principally a matter of knowing the safety precautions and observing them.

Deaths by drowning could be cut down to almost none if swimmers would observe a few rules — never swim alone, or at night except in well-lighted pools, or just after eating, or when overly tired.

Deaths and injuries from diving could be virtually eliminated if divers would take the trouble to know where they were diving. How deep is the water? Are there any underwater obstructions? Diving accidents almost always are caused by diving into shallow water or unfamiliar water.

Water skiing — a sport that is growing rapidly in popularity — need not be hazardous. The skipper of the boat should know what he is doing, avoiding dangerous high speeds and skimming to close to docks, other boats and obstructions. Preferably, there should be a second man in the boat, and, very important, the skier should wear a life belt to keep him afloat if he is wind-blown by a smashing fall.

Underwater swimming and spear fishing with artificial breathing apparatus, is another sport that is gaining in popularity. Here again, knowing how to swim well, how to use the aqualung and how to handle oneself under water will prevent most accidents.

In boating accidents, the cardinal safety rule is — stay with the boat. Someone will be along eventually to pick you up, and a long swim to the shore is beyond the capacity of all but a few highly trained athletes.

Sunburn, the universal hazard of water sports, also can be avoided or minimized by using common sense — don't stay out in the hot sun too long.

Knowledge of artificial respiration, with emphasis on the new mouth-to-mouth method, will save many people from succumbing to drowning. It isn't very difficult to apply artificial respiration, if you know how.

There are few water safety problems that couldn't be avoided by the application of common sense, coupled with at least a cursory knowledge of safety rules.

1963 Teacher Crop Expected To Be Short

The 1963 crop of new teachers will total a record 158,357, but there still will be serious teacher shortage next autumn, the National Education Association said in Washington.

In its annual survey, the association said about 40,000 of the new teachers will enter the armed forces, get married, or enter some other occupations rather than taking teaching jobs in schools. The remaining 118,000 represent only about 50 per cent of the 235,000 new teachers expected to be needed next September.

This year's graduate total of 158,357 is an increase of 11.3 per cent over the 142,343 teachers graduated in 1962.

The association reported an encouraging increase in the number of teachers in the important fields of foreign languages, science, mathematics, and the English language.

Bible Comment—

Tolerance Is a Vital Part Of Christianity

If one reads the earlier history of many churches, the impression spreads that there were individuals whose religion consisted chiefly in the delight that they took in disciplining others. In general it may be said that the church has been far readier to adopt Paul's suggestions about discipline than it has been to put into practice Paul's much more important teaching concerning love as the greatest thing in the world.

A good cause is never well served in intolerant attitudes. There is such a thing as being temperate, even in our advocacy of temperance.

At a temperance convention was heard the loud and raucous voice of a rather intolerant man who was haranguing the crowd. My friend, a total abstainer and strongly opposed to the liquor traffic, said to me, "I never hear that man advocate temperance without feeling like going out and having a drink."

If a man so thoroughly devoted to the cause could be reacted upon in that way, what must have been the effect upon others? The temperance cause has been served most ably by those who have first of all practiced temperance, and who in their total life and conduct have manifested the beauties and graces of Christian living.

In his letter to Titus, Paul sets forth the things which, as he puts it, "befit the sound doctrine." It is a plea for temperance, sober-mindedness, love, and patience, for well-disciplined, noble living, the sort of thing that will never bring shame upon ourselves or disgrace upon the church. It is as we make all these constructive virtues evident in our lives that we exert the truest influence on others; while attaining what is best for ourselves.

Philosopher Comes Out Against Standard Work Week For Farmers Of This Country

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw discusses work this week, a subject he doesn't mind talking about, if you follow us.)

I was looking through a farm magazine the other night and ran across a letter by a farmer with a curious problem.

He wanted to know why farmers can't have a standard work-week like city people. "Why can't we have a standard," he asked, "so when we quit work at 6 we won't feel like we're loafing?"

This question brings up so many answers I hardly know where to start attacking it.

In the first place, I've never had any trouble knowing when to stop working. I've sometimes had trouble knowing when to start, but never when to stop.

Maybe city people have to be told when they're tired, but I've never had that shortcoming.

This farmer went on to say he'd like to know what work hours other farmers put in around the U. S., on the grounds a uniform standard could be established and a man could get off his tractor at a certain time each day without feeling sheepish about it.

A man who has to watch his neighbor to know when to stop plowing is in the wrong business. On the other hand, any neighbor who watches me to learn when to start, will go broke.

But this idea of a standard work week for farmers worries me. You let somebody in Washington hear about it, and it won't be long before he'll come out with some new legislation called an Hour-Control Program, with government checks out if you go over or under it.

A farmer's day begins when he wakes up and ends when he goes to sleep, and what he does during those hours is his own business, provided the support price is satisfactory. And any farmer who can't figure out how to spend those hours, without looking over the fence to make sure he doesn't work longer or shorter than his neighbor, ought to move to town and get a job where somebody can make these decisions for him.

I don't want anybody telling me how many or how few hours I can work a week. This is a matter I can decide for myself, even if it takes the first five days to decide what I plan to do last two.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Representative Thomas B. Curtis of Missouri says: "Regardless of the fact that our federal government is the biggest spender, the biggest employer, the biggest property owner, the biggest tenant, the biggest insurer, the biggest lender and the biggest borrower in all the world—we find a growing impatience on the part of many holding high office in our land to make government even bigger."

The personal income of American families and unattached individuals totaled $419 billion in 1962, up $23 billion from 1961. This rise compares with increases of $14 billion and $16 billion in the two previous years.

Denver City To Enforce Curfew

City and county officers have announced they will start enforcing a curfew laws already on the city books in an effort to halt a rash of recent petty thefts and vandalism here, according to Mayor Ike Toler.

He said all persons under 18 years of age must be off the streets by 11 p.m. weekdays and midnight Saturday unless accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. If picked up, they will be subject to arrest and fine, the mayor added.

Burglaries at two drive-ins here last week end brought total thefts for the month to six, and resulted in the "get tough" policy announced by the city, Toler pointed out.

"We're going to put a stop to this no matter what we have to do," Toler said. "We're going to change our patrol shifts and add

Highlights and Sidelights FROM YOUR State CAPITOL

Texas Research League, a non-profit government study organization that does many administration studies at the request of the state, has issued a report on its year-long probe of the Railroad Commission. Many of its recommendations on agency management and oil and gas programming already are being programmed.

One scheduled change involves the staffing and management of Railroad Commission district offices. Commission now has 12 such offices. Responsibilities with respect to wells and staff members are so varied that the League believes that system unfairly imbalanced.

District 8 in Midland, for example, has approximately four times as many wells as District 4 in Corpus Christi, but each office is staffed with only four engineers. Wichita Falls has more than twice as many wells as Houston, but two less field men.

Four field men watch over 62,148 operating wells in the Midland district, yet 21 men oversee 26,036 wells in the Kilgore area.

League's answer to the problem is to redistrict and cut the districts from 12 to 10.

The huge Midland district would be divided into three areas with new offices at Lubbock and Fort Stockton.

San Angelo, Refugio, Mount Pleasant and Palestine offices would be absorbed by other districts under the operation plan.

PADRE ISLAND PARK PLANS UNDERWAY—If and when Congress approves a $1,500,000 appropriation to meet the land-buying needs of Padre Island National Seashore park, newly-named park superintendent William L. Bowen will begin to acquire land for the proposed 80.5-mile coastal playground.

U. S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall said Bowen will open an office in Corpus Christi some time after July 1 with a small staff.

Bowen, Kansas-born veteran of the national par service, took part in preliminary studies leading to the establishment of the new national seashore area on Padre Island.

COMMITTEE OF 24 AT WORK

Gov. John B. Connally entertained his "Committee of 25" with a coffee, then set them to work. Committee has the year-long task of studying education beyond the high school.

Connally told them Texas needs a "total policy to guide all institutions, all segments of our higher education enterprise." He said this included state, church and private schools, junior and senior colleges and academic and technical institutions.

Committee met and decided to send their chairman, H. B. Zachry of San Antonio, suggestions on how to approach the challenge. They meet again in August.

SPECIAL SESSION TALK DWINDLES—Rumors of a special session to get an appropriations bill more to Governor Connally's liking still are going around. But now predictions are being made about a January session, rather than one in the summer or fall.

Connally said he didn't like the one passed by the Legislature in the regular session because it "short-changed" higher education.

HOME-BUILDING ABUSES—Reported abuses of home building practices and loans were the subject of a recent conversation between Governor Connally and Lubbock District Attorney Alton Griffin, president of the state district and county attorneys association.

Connally said, "It may be that additional legislation will be necessary to get at the heart of the matter."

One reported abuse that concerns them is the alleged practice of "double contracting" wherein 100 per cent home financing is achieved by cushioning appraisals and other real estate sales documents.

APPOINTMENTS—Connally appointed three new members to the State Finance Commission, including S. R. Jones Jr., president of the First Pasadena State Bank in Pasadena, and Rex Baker Jr., president of Southwestern Savings Association of Houston. He also reappointed Taylor attorney Roman J. Bartosh.

Bert Fields, Dallas oil operator, was reappointed and named chairman of the Texas Turnpike Authority, on which he has served since 1953. A new appointee is J. M. Haggard Jr. of Dallas, vice-president of the company that manufactures Haggard slacks of men.

Haggard replaced Armistead Rust of San Angelo.

CARR'S CHORES LIGHTENED—After Aug. 23, the governor will have to make 15 more state board appointments. These 15 citizens named will take the place of just one man—Attorney General Waggoner Carr.

Switch was made possible by a bill, supported by the attorney general, which passed during the recent legislative session. End result will be to pell down the pile of "ex officio" jobs, which have burdened attorneys general in the past, and give Carr more time for his main job as the state's head lawyer.

POST MORTEM—About 300 state labor leaders came to Austin to reflect on the accomplishments—or lack of accomplishments—of the 58th Legislature.

Speakers at the seminar included Rep. Dick Cherry, Waco Democrat, and Rep. Ike Harris, Dallas Republican, and Sen. A. R. (Babe) Schwartz of Galveston.

"The 58th could turn out better than the 59th," Cherry said. "Next time, you'll have the problems of a big tax session and a second-term speaker (Speaker Byron Tonnell, supposedly) running for Attorney General."

As session achievements, Cherry listed the Padre Island bill, Municipal Annexation bill, Tourist Development program, Water Storage expansion and provisions for teacher retirement.

Measures for rural development which did not pass, were among what he considered failures of the Legislature.

GOOD NEWS—Although state and federal animal health officials reported that 72 Texas counties are now tagged "screwworm infested" the report was good news, said Dr. R. G. Garrett, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission.

Garrett said that 333 samples confirmed as screwworms in the March 31-April 27 period represented a decrease of 95 to 98 per cent in the number of cases in years before the screwworm eradication project went into effect.

"We're real happy with the success of the program," Dr. Garrett said. "We hope to be completely successful in wiping out the screw-worm by the end of the three-year program." He said livestock producers were responsible for the stamping out of the costly pest in at least two ways. Through their $3,000,000 contributions and through "excellent" cooperation in reporting cases and sending samples.

"It's strictly a producers' program . . . initiated by livestock producers and wholeheartedly supported by producers."

The three-year, $12,000,000 producer-federal-state program almost has reached the mid-way point in its progress.

BUS DRIVER OF THE YEAR—Records of more than 8,000 school bus drivers were screened before Elmer J. Ashby of the Carlisle Independent School District, Rusk County, was selected "Texas Public School Bus Driver of the Year" by the Texas Education Agency.

In 25 years of service, Ashby transported school children 300,000 accident-free miles, without missing a day for personal or superficial reasons.

'STATES' RIGHTS' BILL IN AIR—The 58th Legislature passed two proposed "states' rights" amendments to the U. S. Constitution. But both are a long way from changing the law of the land.

One would make it simple for the states to initiate other amendments to the constitution; the other would prevent federal courts from ruling on states restricting as population shifts occurs.

To make the grade, both would have to be adopted by 34 states. So far, only 11 have approved the first proposal, and 12 have affirmed the second.

Homes Abound with Potential Poisons, AMA Official Warns

Children, supposedly "safe at home," are poisoning themselves at the rate of nearly 1,500 a day.

"When you consider that more than a quarter million home-used products on the market contain toxins, it is not difficult to understand why more than 500 children die each year from self-administered poisons," said F. J. L. Blasingame, M.D., executive vice-president of the American Medical Association.

Children are naturally curious, especially the very young ones. They are prone to stick into their mouths anything they can get in their hands. It doesn't even have to taste good or look pretty.

Most accidental poisonings occur in children under five. Two-year-olds are the most poison-prone, with one-year-olds close behind. At this stage in life their curiosity is at its height and their sense of fear not yet developed, Dr. Blasingame explained.

Medicine, especially aspirin, heads the list of items children seem to like to sample, accounting for nearly half of all accidental poisonings. In fact, too much of virtually any medicine can produce serious consequences.

Among the supposed non-edibles that frequently find their way into children's stomachs are cleaning and polishing agents, detergents, shoe polish, cosmetics, waxes, insecticides, paint, turpentine, chalk, bleaches, plant foods, plaster, perfume and decorations.

Medicines account for nearly half of all accidental poisoning in United States each year. Discard unused medicine and keep rest out of children's reach.

A primary cause of such accidents, says Dr. Blasingame, is storing poisonous substances in food containers or soft drink bottles. A toddler just naturally assumes that a soft drink bottle contains a treat. He'll drink whatever he finds in it.

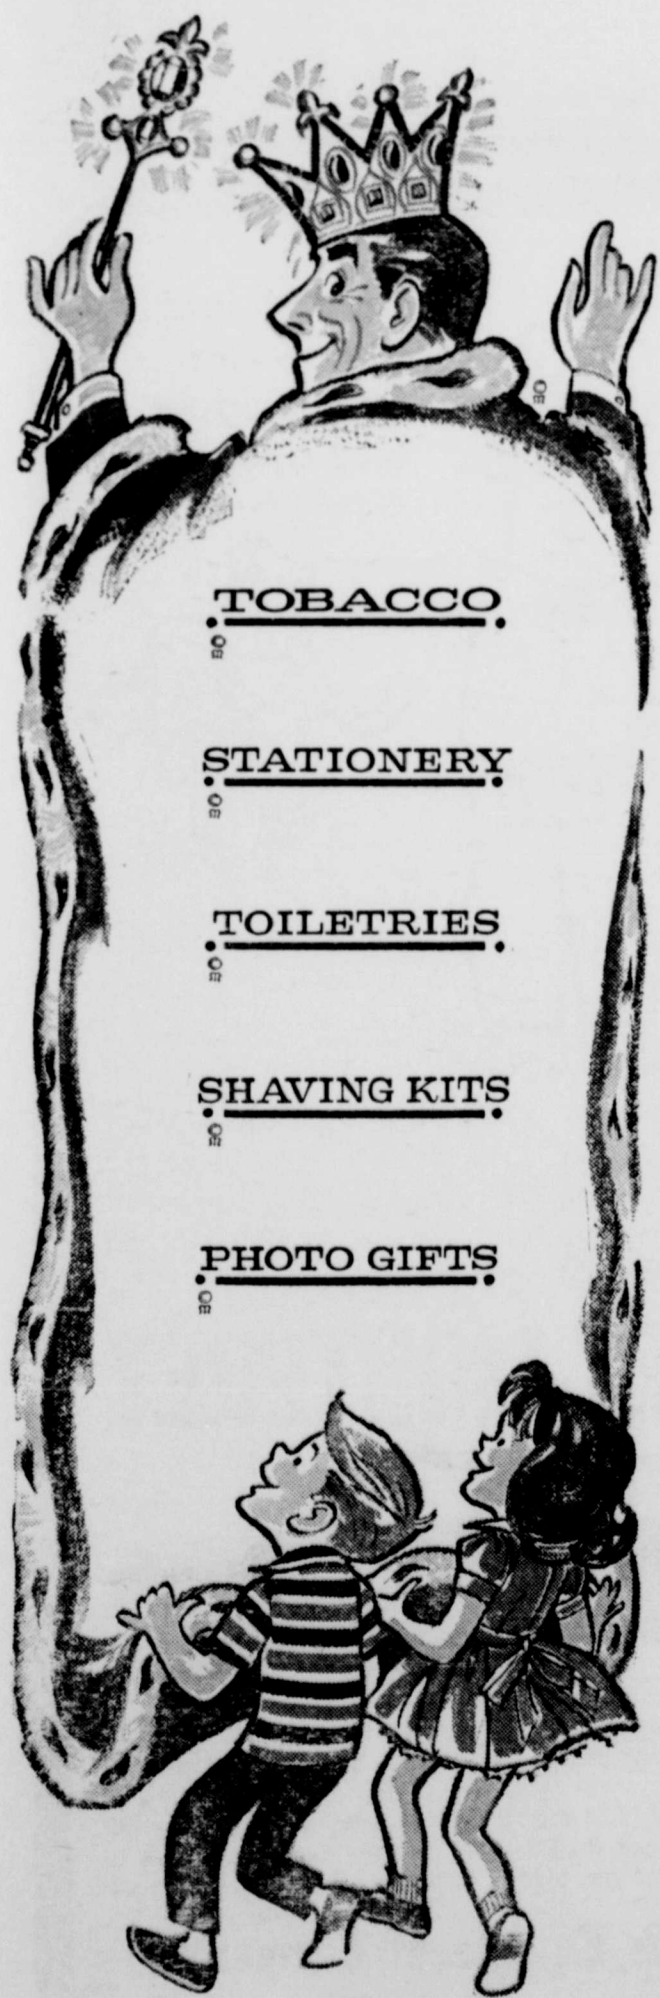

"The facts are clear," he warned. "Between 65 and 70 per cent of all poisonings take place because an item was accessible to a child."

"If we're going to live in modern homes with modern conveniences and modern medicines, we have to develop some up-to-date standards that will make home safe for our children."

Among suggestions for lessening the poisoning hazards in the home, Dr. Blasingame suggested:

- Keep potential poisons out of reach and tightly sealed.
 - Never transfer toxic materials into household utensils.
 - Don't leave your child alone in a room in which you're working with poisons.
 - Give medicines only in a lighted room.
- If your child might have taken a poisonous substance, call your doctor for instructions at once. Don't wait to see what happens.

NEW CHART RELEASED

Study Of Fruiting Habit Of Cotton Plant Cited As Valuable Aid To Cotton Farmer

A new, easy-to-understand chart showing the fruiting habits of the typical cotton plant has been released in this area. The chart is a simplified form of a continuing study by leading cotton research men, on fruiting of the typical cotton plant, under average weather conditions, if unhampered by insects. The chart is divided into seven weeks of cotton blooming and demonstrates that the greatest volume of mature cotton results from the early blooms. More than half of the total bolls and 64% of mature cotton results from the first two weeks' blooms. And 88% of the total mature cotton is picked from the blooms of the first three weeks. For example, in the first week only 8% of the blooms occur, but they develop into 21% of the mature cotton. By contrast, the fifth week has 9% of the total blooms, which results in less than 3% of the total cotton.

This fruiting pattern clearly demonstrates the importance of keeping insect infestation to a minimum. It is essential that squares be protected, and cotton experts agree, that a systematic planned program using Hi-Yield ACTIVATED KILLZALL (Toxaphene, DDT, Methyl Parathion) has demonstrated its effectiveness in protecting these squares from insect destruction, and in allowing the plant to fruit normally.

Cotton farmers who have not been satisfied with their lint average are invited to try this superior quality cotton insecticide. Hi-Yield ACTIVATED KILLZALL is made with a NEW process which greatly increases the killing power.

Pre-Dinner Party Plans

The recipe for a successful dinner party calls for two carefully planned menus—one for food, another for the table setting. Make sure glassware is sparkling and table linens spotless.

To give glassware a party-sparkle, wash and rinse, then polish glasses with a tea towel which has been lightly starched and ironed. A light starching smooths down the fuzz and helps eliminate lint-shedding on glassware.

Table linens should be lightly starched for body and freshly ironed. Your automatic washer is ideal for most linens, but fragile fabrics and family heirlooms should be washed and starched by hand.

For automatic washer starching, prepare two quarts of heavy hot starch solution. Fill tub with warm water, add hot starch solution and agitate briefly to mix. Put clean, damp linens into washer and agitate two or three minutes. Turn dial to final spin cycle.

The Launching Pad

WE have received more moisture since the last issue of the paper was published and we can say now that we have had a wet, cloudy weather pattern for the past 30 days. Approximately seven inches of rainfall has been recorded in Stanton. In other county areas not that much rain has visited the farms and ranches, but the moisture has been bountiful in all sections of Martin County. On Saturday evening the residents experienced a real, old-fashioned, popping electrical storm, touched in spots with torrential rains and two or three twisters were seen in the skies over the Basin. One tornado was sighted south of Lamesa but drifted on in the sky toward Big Spring. It was a threat to behold. The Saturday evening storm broke up the dedication program scheduled for the opening of SHELBURNE FIELD. We might mention here that the storm wasn't the only thing that broke up your editor at city park Saturday evening. As we went to stop in our car, a coiled rattler barred the door on the driver's side. Needless to say, the rattler did as good or better job than GOV. GEORGE WALLACE did in Alabama for awhile, but soon we had the snake routed and the federal troops did the same for the governor. Yes sir, it's a mighty uncomfortable feeling having a possible tornado stirring overhead and a reptile threatening on the ground. We are going to have the dedication rites this Saturday night but we hope without the interference of storms and snakes.

It is gratifying to any man to know that some of the teachings and instructions and time spent with the younger generation pays off. For the past several months JUDY PINKERTON and LYNCH HIGHTOWER have worked at the newspaper. LYNCH was in charge of our mailing list and has always been reliable and dependable. JUDY was our protegee in editorial and she accomplished a great deal while working on Saturdays. Both of these young Stantonites were members of the 1963 senior class. JUDY has accepted employment with a Big Spring bank and LYNCH is working in Seminole for an oil company. We can claim some pride in the knowledge that our two seniors were qualified to go almost immediately from the classroom to the fiercely competitive business world. We like to think that perhaps they learned something about life off campus here in the office of THE OLE RELIABLE.

GUY BROWN, son of the GLENN BROWNS, is attending the Boys Baseball Summer Camp in Dallas this week. GUYBO, also a fledgling journalist, talented pianist; better than average ball player, and known by members of the WEST TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION as the lad who once interviewed ELVIS PRESLEY, while the rock and roll singer crossed Texas on a train, enrolled in the school on June 2. He attended the camp last year too. JOHNNY CARRIGAN operates and managed the camp. CARRIGAN'S CAMP is located on the beautiful 1,000 acre campus of the UNIVERSITY OF DALLAS. A second session will start on June 23. If any youth in Martin County wishes to attend the world's finest camp in baseball for boys eight through 20 years of age, we suggest they contact GUY.

VIRGINIA and JAY DEE HOUSE will leave today for SIX FLAGS OVER TEXAS, located between Dallas and Fort Worth. They will take one of their two sons, REGGIE, and the sons of MR. and MRS. HOMER LEE HULL, BRADFORD, DENNETH, and GARY. VIRGINIA is our very efficient society editor and this family trip will be the first of other weekend trips she and JAY DEE plan to make during the Summer. We have been kidding her about staying off that new big tower-type ride they have up there on the grounds of SIX FLAGS—the sky hook. She vows she is going to give the thing a ride—and knowing VIRGINIA, we bet she does. We are banking on JAY DEE keeping both feet on the ground. One HOUSE up in the air is enough at any one time.

RELATEDLY, we want to send our best personal congratulations to NORMA NELSON for the fine job she turned in as CANCER CRUSADE CHAIRMAN. NORMA previously helped the permanent chairman, JENDO TURNER, with a fund drive. She made the goal the other time and she made the goal the second time this year. NORMA will also head the P-TA next year, and we have promised her that we are going to join. MRS. NELSON helped us out here in the newspaper office for several weeks a few years ago and we are anxious to witness her ability as a presiding officer. The wife of DR. LEE NELSON picked up journalism quickly and we are sure she will give forceful and energetic leadership to the school organization for parents and teachers next Fall.

M. O. (MAC) McKAY, our faithful linotype operator has been pretty much under the weather the past week. MAC visited DR. LELAND NELSON for the proper medicine—got the prescriptions filled at STANTON DRUG and he appears to be on the mend. MAC worked to get the paper out last week with a high fever. We won't let this show of loyalty go unmarked. As a matter-of-fact, a lot of not-so-fraternal colleagues of ours in the newspaper field, have tried from time to time to persuade MAC to join up with their organizations. In our book, the labor pirates have about as much chance of getting him away from me as a snowball does surviving the blistering heat of the down-under place. Some of these days—about the time the two of us reach the end of the rainbow—we are going to cover up our respective typewriter and lock the keyboard on the Linotype machine and go searching for a few rainbow trout. That time, we hope, will be a long way off, but all things good come to those who wait.

FOR the past sixteen months we have been fortunate in having another fine youth, HOWARD JENKINS, JR., working with us at the newspaper office. He is a graduate of CARVER HIGH SCHOOL, Midland, and one of the most intelligent lads we have ever known. He is doing a swell job for the paper.

FARM REVIEW AND FORECAST

All irrigation waters contain salts and even water with low levels of certain salts can be harmful, says W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Each time water is applied to a crop, salt is applied and if it is allowed to accumulate, production will be affected, points out Bennett. Not only is the total salt content of the water important but the types of salts present can also lower the quality of irrigation water.

For example, calcium and magnesium salts are not as harmful as sodium salts, says Bennett. Even if the content of sodium salts in water is small, it can be very harmful.

Therefore, Bennett recommends that irrigation water be tested for total salts as well as for chemical composition. Such knowledge can aid the farmer in using irrigation water to his best advantage by determining what water management practices may be needed, he says.

Tests are available through Texas A&M College to determine water quality. They may be submitted with Form D-617 which can be obtained from your local county agricultural agent. He can also assist you in taking the sample and submitting it.

The 1963 Poultry Conference will be held June 19-20 at the Memorial Student Center on the Texas A&M College campus, says Ben Wormeli, poultry husbandman with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The Poultry Conference is designed for commercial producers, hatcherymen, breeders, hatchery and feed servicemen and related poultry industry personnel, Wormeli explains. The program will concern both commercial egg production and broilers, he adds.

Breeding, health, feeding, environment and management factors that influence bird performance will be topics of discussion, selected on the basis of current interest and information, Wormeli says. Speakers for the conference are from the Poultry Science Department, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Veterinary Microbiology, the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, and the Agricultural Engineering Department.

Out-of-state speakers are Lowell Linkford, extension poultryman with the University of Arkansas; Dr. A. B. Watts, head of the Poultry Department at Louisiana State University; and Dane Kimmell, Peterson Farms, Inc., Decatur, Arkansas.

Linkford will discuss "Arkansas Random Sample Test Results" and "Rat-rodent Control Programs." Dr. Watts will speak on several phases of poultry nutrition and Kimmell will discuss "Environment Factors that Challenge Hatchery Supply Flock Performance."

A special feature of the conference will be the chicken barbecue planned for Wednesday night, June 19.

"The Poultry Conference is a good place to meet and exchange ideas with poultryman from over the state," says Wormeli.

Telephone Community in Fannin County has been named the top rural Texas community for 1963 and first place winner in the Texas Community Improvement Program. Reagan Brown, extension sociologist, made the announcement and listed Flint-Gresham, Smith County; Colmesneil, Tyler County and North Alamo, Hidalgo County as runner-ups.

Each community will receive a cash award for the high state placing from funds provided by the electric utility companies operating in Texas. The awards are $50, $450, $350, and $250, respectively, for the communities as listed.

Brown said this has been our greatest year in the "grass-roots — do it yourself" community improvement program. More than 10,000 families participated in the community improving activities carried out in the 269 communities entered in the 1963 program, he said.

The community improving program is based on local effort aimed at increasing and managing income; improving farms and homes; improving health conditions and services and increasing social participation. Heavy emphasis, Brown said, is placed on rural-urban relations, beautification and other efforts which make communities a better place to live.

Wallace G. Klusmann and Dr. Dixon D. Hubbard on June 1 will become specialist in wildlife conservation and area livestock specialist, respectively, for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In making the announcement, Extension Director John E. Hutchison said both were filling vacancies caused by resignations some time ago. Klusmann will have headquarters at Texas A&M College. Hubbard will headquarter in the district offices at Lubbock, the director said.

"Sugar already on hand or committed to the United States for 1963 totals 566,000 tons more than last year's entire national consumption," reported Under Secretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy in comments made recently regarding the upswing in domestic sugar prices.

"These new commitments have been made within the past few days," he added, "and the speculative bubble in sugar is bound to burst in the face of this plentiful supply."

"Speculators may be able to keep the bubble going for a while, but not for very long," he declared.

At the same time, he warned that people who load up high priced sugar may sustain losses when the price goes down.

"Current Congressional hearing on the sugar situation," he said, "will show plentiful supplies and this will help restore stability in the sugar market."

He noted that a relatively tight situation in world sugar supplies early this year created uncertainty in the market, and gave speculators a chance to bid up prices.

A constant summer problem of every dairy farmer is the control of flies. This problem can best be solved by eliminating the places where flies breed, says Shannon Carpenter, area dairy specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

For example, barnyard manure should be spread every three or four days to prevent flies from breeding in it. Manure can be stored in compost piles if it is treated chemically with equal parts of calcium cyanamide and superphosphate at the rate of one pound per bushel of manure, Carpenter explains.

If flies do become a problem, chemicals can be used to kill them. Dairy barns can be sprayed with five percent methoxychlor or two and one-half percent solutions of malathion as often as needed, the specialist says. Care must be taken that these materials are not used in the milk room and that they do not contaminate feed and water. When used as recommended by the manufacturer, fly baits containing malathion or dieldrin are safe to use in the barn, he adds.

The control of weeds on irrigation borders has made level benches and similar conservation practices difficult to use by farmers. Therefore, the discovery of an efficient, inexpensive, chemical weed control system which is not hazardous to cotton is needed, explains Progress Report 2268, of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

It reports an acceptable method for controlling annual weeds less than three inches tall. The method is post-emergence foliar sprays of Karmex DL with a surfactant. Two summer applications have provided complete control of weeds on the High Plains.

Home Demonstration Club Activities

The Lakeview Home Demonstration Club met Thursday, June 6, at the home of Mrs. E. P. Madison. Mrs. Roy Price, president, was in charge of the business meeting.

Roll call was answered by eight members. The members answered with "Things Made from Cotton."

A program on cotton was presented by Mrs. Madison and Mrs. Lee Castle. The ladies each gave talks on cotton and material things made from cotton. They gave demonstrations of cotton fibers. The group was told how to remove the letters from cotton bags.

The club plans to meet at the regularly scheduled time during June and July and to vacation during the month of August.

Punch and cookies served served to one visitor, Mrs. Claude Russell, and the members: Mrs. Lee Castle, Mrs. Horace Tubbs, Mrs. Walter Hildreth, Mrs. W. D. Bryant, Mrs. Floyd Martin, Mrs. Roy Price, Mrs. Bill McIlvain, and Mrs. Madison.

Students Swell Jobless Rate For Summer

The Texas Employment Commission predicted Thursday that unemployment in the state will swell during the summer months because of an influx of students into the labor market.

Commission administrator R. L. Coffman said unemployment during April dropped by 19,500 to a level of 171,500.

"We have a shortage of jobs (for students), so we can expect unemployment to reach about $195,000 by the middle of June," Coffman said.

The commission report showed non-farm employment at 3,237,500 in April, up from 3,205,000 of March.

The unemployment rate in April was 4.6 per cent, compared with 5.2 per cent in March and 4.3 per cent in April, 1962.

The lowest percentage of unemployment was recorded in Austin, with 2.9 per cent, while the highest was at Laredo, 10.1 per cent.

Other cities showed Abilene, 6.5; Amarillo, 3.4; Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange, 7.5; El Paso, 5.3; Galveston-Texas City, 6.4; Houston-Baytown, 3.8; Longview-Kilgore-Blade-water, 4.9; Lubbock, 3.8; San Angelo, 4.7; Texarkana, 5.9; Tyler, 4.2; Waco, 4.8; and Wichita Falls, 4 per cent.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

Most people do.

They count on advertising in print to give them the information they want on products that interest them—information on features... designs... and prices, for example.

People not only read about products and services, they show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples; they tear out ads to take along when they go shopping.

People read an ad because they want to (it's never forced on them). They can even check back later; the message is still there.

When you add it all up, print advertising—the kind you read in the pages of this newspaper—makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of consumers, print makes sales.

Most people read and then buy. Don't you?
