I like the statement COACH LARRY WARTES made before the Stamford, Texas Rotary Club this week, when he appeared as guest speaker for the body of businessmen. Said the coach: "Don't criticize the boys. Any mistakes they make are human. If you have comment then lay it at the door of the coaching staff, because they get paid to take it." COACH WARTES continued: "When a fan goes to a football game he pays his money to pick on the coaches and not the boys." As a former high school footballer who once played on a team that won but a single game, I can agree with another statement the Stamford coach made in his talk to Stamford Rotarians: "Criticism hurts the boys. They put in long hours working out and put their whole heart in the game." The main job of any coach is to make good men out of descent boys.

Young married men got a break Tuesday and the single fellows caught an unexpected blow when it was announced that the drafting of married men would be halted immediately. Single men under 23 years of age will either find a bride or be expected to get a sure call to military service. Marriages should jump swiftly and guys who have been lingering on the bank can now take their choice — either jump into the sea of matrimony and engage in holy wedlock or unholy deadlock or join up for a tour of duty with the armed services. By-the-way, the directive from PRESIDENT KENNEDY includes this paragraph: "Those who claim exemptions as husbands must have a wife with whom they maintain bona fide family relationship in their homes." This means, young men, you can't just marry the girl and move in with her folks.

If you live in Martin County you have heard of DR. ALLEN HAMILTON and his optical clinic over in Big Spring right across the street from the Howard County courthouse. Now is an excellent time to go over for an eye checkup and if you have not yet carried your children of school age over for an examination now is a good time to do so. You will meet a lot of nice people there in the clinic and you can get your glasses the same day you submit to examination if your eyesight requires a glasses prescription.

BOB HERZOG, owner of VOGUE CLEANERS, is going to have MR. MONTGOMERY, representative of the J. L. TAYLOR CO., with him next Tuesday as an expert guest in the material and clothing field. MONTGOMERY is bringing large samples — yard size — to town to display to prospective customers. He will be here only one day. Special appointments can be set up with MR. MONTGOMERY for those interested in scanning the samples, HERZOG said.

Some of the town speeders have been observed racing through the school zones. Better slow down boys — it is not unusual for a special squad car from the State Highway Patrol to "drop in for a visit" anytime now. You can lose your driver's license pretty quickly. Watch for the stop signs, maintain a decent and legal rate of speed, and above all, PROTECT OUR CHILDREN!

Police Chief Murdock Quits

The city council of the City of Stanton has advised The Stanton Reporter of the resignation of Police Chief Johnay Murdock. Mayor Stanley Wheeler read the chief's resignation to the council at a meeting in city hall Tuesday night, September 10. The councilmen voted to accept the resignation of Mr. Murdock as of September 30, 1963. In his letter of resignation, Murdock expressed appreciation for having worked with the official governing body of the city. Previously Chief Murdock had announced the termination date for the services of Dub Weatherford, night city patrolman for the past several months under Murdock. His tenure of duty with the city will expire on September 15.

Mayor Wheeler advised councilmen Tuesday evening that it would require careful study to screen applicants expected to apply for both the chief's place and the night patrolman's job.

Until just recently, the city council hired both men. Harvey White, city secretary, reminded the press that the city had the right to return to the old policy of interviewing, investigating and employing both the chief and the night man. It can therefore be assumed that such an official procedure will be followed in the future.

Bisons Battle Merkel To Scoreless Deadlock

The Stanton Buffs opened the season against a strong, powerful, and experienced Merkel championship outfit on foreign soil last Friday night and when the battle ended in a scoreless tie, the young Martin Countians had covered themselves with courage.

Coach Bill Milam and associates expressed pleasure at the fight demonstrated by the untested Bisons, and the town people had nothing but praise for the players.

Stanton claimed an advantage in the first half of the contest, going in to Merkel territory on more than one occasion. The Bisons were called upon to put up three terrific goal line stands in the final quarter, and they handled the defensive assignment to perfection.

The Badgers called on the offensive talent of their outstanding ball carrier, Weldon Tittle, time after time in the closing minutes of play, but the Buffs stood up as strong as a stone wall. Tittle could not go. Twelve times, the Merkel plungers tried to find an opening in the Stanton line, once from the four, again from the five, and once from the six-yard line. All attempts failed.

Stanton staged its most progressive march in the third quarter after the Bisons gained possession of the pigskin on the Badger 30. The Buffs drove down to the nine yard marker before bogging down.

To indicate the type of defensive play the Milammen turned in during the first two periods, the Merkel team did not register a first down until the last minute of the second quarter.

The Buffaloes got inside Merkel territory three times the first half. They moved to the Badger 40 the first time they went on offense but surrendered the ball on a punt. They took over on the Badger 47 on a punt a short time later but failed to move the pidge. Ronnie Hartsell commanded the spotlight honors for the Bisons. His talent was expressed both on offense and defense. He is an especially good football player. Sports writers also tagged fullback David Dunn as a standout along with Mickey Allen.

Stanton plays Coahoma here a week from this Friday. The Buffaloes will be idle this week.

James Biggs Named School Board President

James Biggs was elected as school board president Monday night in the regular school board meeting. Biggs, a member of the school board for many years, will take the office left vacant by the resignation of Connie Mack Hood.

Fred Holder was appointed by the members of the board to replace Hood on the school board until his term expires in April, 1964.

The board members voted to set up boundary lines in the school district to avoid an overcrowded condition and to make use of the facilities available at Courtney. The boundary lines will be studied by a committee headed by Beryl Clinton, superintendent. The committee will study the enrollment and set boundary lines for attendance in the first eight grades. All students will remain in the school they are enrolled in now for the remaining school year. The new boundary lines will become effective in September, 1964.

The board checked and approved the 1963 tax roll and the 1963 tax delinquent roll. The board members also voted to purchase the necessary equipment to air condition the high school cafeteria. Because the cafeteria is used by the public, the board felt it necessary to make it a more suitable meeting place.

Members present at the Monday night meeting were Connie Hood, Neil Fryar, Marvin Hampton, James Biggs, G. P. Harrell, and James Eiland.

Cecil Bridges, program chairman, introduced Bobby Pappasan, highway patrolman, who spoke to the group on highway safety. The invocation was given by Rev. C. R. LeMond. F. O. Rhodes directed the song service. One guest, Karl Feltier, minister of the Tarzan Church of Christ and member of the Grady Lions Club was present at the meeting.

Does It Still Take Poll Receipt To Mark Ballot In Texas?

By NEAL ESTES

County Attorney Roy Pickett advised The Stanton Reporter just before press time Wednesday afternoon that ballots used in the special Stanton City Election held at City Hall Tuesday, September 10, had been impounded on a court order signed by District Judge Ralph W. Caton.

Pickett stated that he sought the order to impound the ballots after two local citizens filed affidavits alleging irregular election law practices at the polling place and other procedures such as not having a Texas required poll tax to participate in any municipal election, had been submitted to him.

Judge Caton issued the order at 11:50 a.m. Wednesday morning.

June Graham and Mrs. Roy Simpson were identified as the filers of the affidavits, according to a statement given the press by attorney Pickett.

Sheriff Dan Saunders and his male deputy, were both out of town when County Attorney Pickett returned with the impounding order from Big Spring.

Mrs. Kathleen Lewis and Mrs. Alta Mae Straub, both legal deputies under Sheriff Saunders, went to City Hall, served the papers, and carried the ballots back to the district clerk's office in the Martin County courthouse.

County Attorney Roy Pickett stated that he obtained the impounding papers under Article 9.02, Vernon's Annotated Statutes, State of Texas, at the request of the makers of the affidavits.

The action came on the heels of a resolution adopted by the City Council late Tuesday night to withhold the results of the election and to turn the ballot boxes over to the district clerk.

Councilman Bob Deavenport introduced the following resolution and was seconded by alderman Jimmy Stallings.

"Be it resolved by the city council of the City of Stanton that the returns of the special election held September 10 be certified as canvassed but the results be withheld pending a final determination of the validity of such an election and that the ballot boxes of this election be turned over to the district clerk."

U. S. Congressman Bruce Alger of Dallas has notified local friends that he will be watching the final verdict in the Urban Renewal election here.

The Deavenport resolution passed with three yes votes as compared to one opposed and one city councilman, although present, abstained from voting. He did not state his reasons for failing to cast a vote. Naturally, Mayor Wheeler did not vote, because he cannot vote only to break a tie.

For what it is worth, and as a guide rule to the 393 people who turned out in the hot sun to cast ballots, the election canvass revealed that Ed Robnett and Juil Reid, picked up an exact pattern of votes — 233 each — to take the two places vacated by two resigned councilmen. Their terms will not expire until April 1, 1965, if the election results stand up.

Congress Is Taking Its Time, As It Should

Labor Day is past, fall is approaching, and the major tasks before Congress are still unresolved. We will hear, as indeed we already have, criticism that it is a do-nothing Congress and that it isn't meeting its responsibilities.

It is well, therefore, to bring some thought to the subject to see it in the proper perspective.

The foremost thing to keep in mind is that Congress, or a state legislature, should be judged both for what it refuses to do, as for what it decides to do.

The fact that a bill is introduced in Congress, or is requested by the executive branch of the government, does not mean it should become law. That is what Congress is for. Its duty is to investigate, to gather opinions and evidence, and to deliberate calmly. Then to act or to refuse to do so.

Congress at the moment undoubtedly is reflecting the mood of the country, one of caution and apprehension.

This has been a historic year that all of a sudden, for Congress, was interrupted by domestic and world issues of the greatest import.

The racial crisis, for one, erupted unexpectedly in shocking violence and urgency throughout most of the nation.

Almost as much of a surprise was the conclusion of a limited nuclear test ban treaty with Russia, which for years had adamantly refused to have any part of such a pact.

Then at length, after four years of futile negotiations, fact-finding studies and court battling, the railroad issue was dumped in the lap of Congress.

The haste with which Congress acted on the railroad dispute, just hours before a nationwide strike was set, demonstrates that it can act with dispatch when there is a need.

Whatever else may be said, this Congress will be remembered for having come to grips with great issues that rocked the nation.

The racial crisis, the nuclear treaty, and the tax problem are not easily resolved nor should they be quickly or superficially decided. Perhaps one of the shining virtues of this Congress, then, is its refusal to become untinged in the midst of loud clamor and great issues.

Questions And Answers

Q—A recent VA letter about converting a World War II NSLI term policy to a permanent plan used examples for men aged 40 who carried their insurance up to age 75. Any special reason those ages were used?

A—Probably because the average age of the World War II veteran today is 43. The latest mortality table says if a man reaches 43, he can expect to live another 31-plus years. That same table says women outlive men, so most of us will need insurance up to age 75. We should be prepared in advance and know what we can expect to have to pay for insurance over that span of time.

Q—In my new job I will be traveling for months at a time. Can I have my VA check sent to my bank?

A—Yes, if you follow two steps. One — get forms from any VA office for use in appointing the bank as your power of attorney. Two — notify the VA of your new bank address for check-mailing purposes.

Q—Do all veterans get pensions at age 65?

A—Not all. The veteran must have had 90 days service and a discharge under other than dishonorable conditions. He must meet certain disability requirements, varying with age, and must be considered unemployable. His income must fall within certain limitations.

The drug, penicillin, which is extracted from a mold, gets its name from the Latin "penicillus," which means "penicil" or "small brush."

The name was applied in allusion to the appearance of the mold under the microscope.

City Of Sin Was Springboard For Christianity

The new disciples of Jesus were called "Christians" first in Antioch, in Syria. This city of outward grandeur and proportions was a city of paradox. The moral corruption of its people beneath the grandeur and the seeming culture was such that when a Roman orator deplored the moral decay of Rome, he did so by saying that "the Orontes had overflowed the Tiber."

Surely this was a strange place for Christianity to take its rise. The beliefs, character and ideals of these early Christians were so much at variance with the life of the prosperous and licentious city that not only was the contrast so extreme, but it seemed incredible that so small a group, probably called Christians as a nickname or term of reproach, could presume to attain any supremacy. Yet, the great city on the Orontes is a thing of the past, centuries ago gone down in ruin, while the Christianity that the little group presented, coming from Jerusalem and taking hold in Antioch, has spread and taken root in every part of the world.

Yet, the more one thinks of it, Antioch was a fitting place for Christianity to assume its new missionary beginning; for is not the purpose of Christianity to conquer sin and licentiousness, to take root in an evil world and grow, conquering the evil?

Associated with this city of Antioch is the first missionary journey of Paul and Barnabas. When the disciples, at Jerusalem heard how deeply the new faith had taken hold at Antioch, they sent Barnabas, a good man and true as their representative to this new Christian community. Barnabas went to Tarsus, where he found Saul, the new convert, henceforth known as Paul, and from Antioch, these two men stretched out through Asia Minor in their first missionary journey.

County Philosopher Tells Why The United Nations Finds Itself Head Over Heels In Debt

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw tries to shed some light on international finance this week, his letter indicates.)

Dear editor:

Sometimes the difference between a big man and a little man is that the big man just owes more money.

I don't know why I mention this, unless it was because of an article I read last night while I was going over some bills I was supposed to pay before the 10th of the month.

According to it, the United Nations is 100 million dollars in debt and its financial situation is getting worse instead of better. This has shocked a lot of people.

Now I'm not going into the philosophical purposes of the United Nations, that's out of my field, although if the world ever eliminates war it'll probably be through a single police force, but don't ask me how we can swing it.

What I was interested in is the financial aspects of the organization. I mean, what's so surprising about the fact the UN is head over heels in debt?

You take 75 or 100 countries, each one of which is head over heels in debt, and let them form a super-organization like the UN, and what can you expect?

If 75 or 100 farmers who can't quite make ends meet organized a bank, how long you reckon it'd be before that bank was out of money?

Idealists who are shocked that the United Nations is financially embarrassed just don't understand how the world operates. I'll explain it to them. It goes this way:

The first unit of government a man comes in contact with is the precinct or town or city government, 90 per cent of which are in debt. The next is the county, 90 per cent of which are in debt. The next is the state, 90 per cent for which are in debt. The next is Washington, 100 per cent of which is in debt, the same as London, Paris, Moscow, etc. Under this system, where else would the United Nations be except in debt?

The only debt-free place I know of is the moon, and we're fixing to remedy that just as soon as we can get there.

You know where I can borrow some money on a second lien on a 1946 tractor?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Porter Predicts Last Year Of Democrat 'Fence-Rider'

H. Jack Porter, former Republican national committeeman from Texas, said Saturday 1964 will be "the last year of the fence-riding Democrat."

Porter, called "Mr. Republican" by many, also said in an interview that Gov. John Connally will be "the last fence-riding Democratic candidate for governor."

Porter said U. S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., "will get the nomination if he wants it — I believe he wants it — and can win the presidency because he can take Texas and much of the South."

Porter became Republican national committeeman from Texas in 1952. He stepped down in 1960 because of poor health and devoted his time to his Houston-based business interests.

He has continued to attend meetings of the State Headquarters Committee, and, because improved health now allows it, some believe he will return to the political wars.

"The Democratic party," Porter said, "has passed the point of no return. In order to keep winning it has continued to go after the minority group votes—in Texas as elsewhere. This means that conservatives no longer have any place in the Democratic party."

"Most of the people in the Republican party of Texas are former Democrats. Many of the leaders are former Democrats. At the Republican party group, the fence-riders in the Democratic party are going to have to make a choice and it will be for the Republican party."

For those reasons, Porter said he is supporting the suggestion from state GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell of Republican national committeeman Albert Fay of Houston that the Republican primary in 1964 include presidential straw vote.

Chamber Chatter
By MAURYSNE VARNADORE

Hello, again. Our famous sign has attracted still another fan. The following letter was received this week. "Chamber of Commerce, Stanton, Texas. Gentlemen: This summer while traveling East on Interstate 20, we were amused by a sign about Stanton, but we have been debating about its exact wording. I believe the sign said 'Stanton, the home of 1300 friendly people and a few old soreheads.' If this is not the exact wording, will you please correct us? I'm enclosing an addressed and stamped envelope for your reply. Sincerely yours, Betty J. Parisen (Mrs. Robert S. Parisen.)" Needless to say, the Parisens' have been corrected and sent some of our literature. We do appreciate hearing from anyone who has noticed the sign and we like to hear their comments.

Martin County has been getting some valuable publicity from other sources also. We do thank Mr. Frank X. Tolbert for his article on Mr. Clem Peters' Cave in the Dallas Morning News last September 1. There has been an unusual amount in the Peters' place. This could develop into a tourist attraction if enough effort is put forth.

Be sure to come into town on Saturday, September 14, for our Cotton-Pickin' Daze. There will be good values at the local merchants and also free cakes, so be sure and be with us on Saturday.

Anyone want a dog? We had a stray Border Collie puppy follow us home last Friday evening and he needs a good home. He is about four or five months old I would guess, so if you have lost a dog or need one, let me know.

Romance of the Organ

By the end of the ninth century organ building was so advanced Pope John VIII had one built in Rome. The keys were so large the organist had to pound them with his fists.

Keys shrank to buttons in the 13th Century with the development of the Portative. The organist carried this instrument around his neck and played it by pushing buttons.

Keys of today's compact, graceful electric organs so popular in homes and churches respond to the gentle touch of the player, yet produce all of the music of great organs of the past.

From the New York Times: "It's a toss-up which is worse; the sound of a transistor radio outdoors or the sight of the person who lovingly carries it, usually walking about open-mouthed and/or glassy-eyed. Transistor radios, especially . . . outdoors . . . are a blight on the landscape and to the ears. Adult children and childish adults use them as mating calls and conversation pieces. Sit on the grass or a park bench and a pointy-headed addict will set nearby and blast off. Carriers (remember Typhoid Mary?) play them loudly at ball games, even at music festivals. Passengers play them in buses, and other fanatics play them at the beaches."

Motor vehicle registrations in this country will total about 82 million during 1963, an increase of 3 million over the previous record set last year. By way of comparison, only 8,000 vehicles were registered in 1900, and only 22.4 million as recently as 1940.

Stretch Cotton For Circular Knits Studied

The possibility of using all-cotton stretch yarns in circular knit wear may expand the uses of this valuable fiber.

Research is to be conducted at the School of Textiles, North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering to evaluate the yarns. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has contracted the work which will be based on research by its Agricultural Research Service. The Service recently developed three processes for making all-cotton stretch yarns.

Yarns supplied to North Carolina State College by the USDA will be knitted into rib- and jersey-type circular-knit fabrics. The scientists will determine the effect of yarn structure and fabric construction on knitting performance and fabric properties such as the degree of stretch and recovery, breaking strength, and resistance to tearing and abrasions.

The study will also include in-service tests on half hose and T-shirts, and correlation of the tests with the physical properties of the fabric, says the Department. Advisors for the tests will be scientists of the ARS Clothing and Housing Research Division, it adds.

Fish & Gas Don't Mix

A tip that will help you catch more fish is to always carry soap in your boat and wash hands if there's a chance you've gotten oil or gas on them. Oil or gas odor lingers long and can transfer to bait easily. Fish hate it, fish will stay away from your hook in droves.

Gem, Mineral Show Slated In November

The gem and Mineral Show, sponsored by the Midland Gem and Mineral Society, will be held November 2-3 in the National Guard Armory on North Lamesa Road. This is the first annual show of Lapidary Arts in Midland. Plans are being made to make the show an outstanding Fall event in the Permian Basin, according to Maylan Baker, Show Chairman.

The show will feature special exhibits, dealers, gem and mineral displays, artifacts, faceted stones, silver smithing and handmade jewelry. Special exhibits will include a mineral and agate display from the Porter Rankin Memorial, also turquoise and handmade Indian jewelry.

Working exhibits will demonstrate cutting and polishing cabachone, faceting and tumbling.

Dealers from 12 states have reserved booth space. They will offer for sale everything from rough rock to finished jewelry.

Individual and group displays are invited in non-competitive exhibit.

Life magazine observes: "When the new Pope announced he would be called Paul, an American Jesuit in Rome said, 'The name is a program in itself. The very name will sit with both the Protestants and the Orthodox.' He expressed a hope lit by the late Pope John XXIII for all Christian churches — that they may be reunited and so multiply the influence of their faith beyond Christendom, as Paul the Apostle first launched its influences beyond Palestine."

Cotton Yields Are Above Expectations

The only relief from heat and drought in Texas the past week was in widely scattered light showers.

John Hutehison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said harvesting was making excellent progress and that cotton yields in many areas were above expectations.

Ranges generally are in the greatest need of rain. Stock water supplies are critical in many areas, he said. Most grazing is limited to dry grass. In many instances stockmen are cutting herds and already feeding.

Moisture still was generally short in the Panhandle but recent rains helped. Some wheat has been seeded. The carrot harvest is on. Range conditions vary from fair to good.

Showers and rain up to three inches fell in four Rolling Plains counties but all counties need moisture. Cotton harvesting is general. Plowing for grain planting is on. Stock water tanks are low in most counties and ranges urgently need rain.

Light sprinkles to three inches fell over the North Central area but did little to relieve the drought. The cotton harvest was delayed in the rain areas. Other crops, grasses and ranges are suffering from the lack of moisture. Stock water is critically short over the area. Livestock are showing weight losses.

Ranges in far West Texas vary from very poor to good with rain especially needed east of the Pecos River. Cotton harvesting is starting. The grain sorghum harvest was still on. Livestock were in fair to good condition.

Widely scattered showers helped in some West Central counties but all counties remain dry. Rain is needed badly to get range plant growth before winter. Livestock are in good condition. Dry grass is still available in most areas. Sheep and goat shearing is progressing. The cotton harvest has started and the peach harvest is about over.

Weekend showers lowered temperatures but left soil moisture very short in Central Texas. The cotton and corn harvest are near completion. Grasses are mature and grazing is short. Many stock tanks are dry. Marketing and feeding are increasing. Peanuts and pecans are holding on but need rain for maturity. Goat and sheep shearing is on and farmers are busy harvesting, shredding stalks and plowing.

The moisture situation in East Texas is critical. Pasture and hay crops are short; cattle are losing weight and are being fed; stock water is short and falling in some areas; and army worms are invading some meadows. Cotton and corn are being harvested with yields ranging from poor to good. The pecan crop will be above average.

Light spotted weekend showers cooled South Central Texas a bit but were too light to change the critical drought conditions. Harvesting of cotton and corn is nearly complete. The livestock market was very active as herds are being shaped up for winter. Livestock are generally in fair to good condition but considerable feeding is necessary.

Moisture is short and pastures and hay crops are suffering in the upper Gulf Coast area. Some ranchmen are feeding. The cotton and rice harvests are about complete and yields generally have been good. Prospects for a good pecan crop are excellent.

Greenwood School Enrolls 139 Pupils In Eight Grades

The Greenwood School, southeast of Midland, had 139 students enrolled Thursday from the first through the eighth grades, Supt. Carroll Watkins reported.

In addition, the school is sending approximately 55 Greenwood students to Midland High School and 10 to Stanton High School.

Watkins announced that Spanish is being offered this year in all grades, and driver training is being initiated for eighth grade pupils.

New teachers include Mrs. Howard Parks, first grade; Mrs. Marjorie Hines, third grade, and Yancy Seago, homeroom teacher for the fifth grade. Mrs. Allyn Shields returned this year to the second grade, and Mrs. Edwin Cross to the fourth.

Departmentalization

Watkins explained that the fifth through the eighth grades this year have been departmentalized, with different instructors teaching separate subjects, as is done in high schools.

Watkins, a science major with a Master's degree in Education from Howard Payne College, teaches science courses in the seventh and eighth grades; John Bynum, English, language arts and Spanish; Ed Lee, mathematics and Spanish; Miss Seago, social studies; Bill May, physical education and science, and Mrs. Robert Turpin, music. Lee also will coach the Greenwood basketball

Acetylene To Be Used To Modify Cotton

Treating cotton with acetylene probably makes it more reactive to wash-wear and other fabric modifying processes, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Research to be conducted by General Aniline & Film Corporation under contract with the USDA will seek to determine if the reaction of cotton with acetylene will produce a more reactive fiber. The work will also attempt to determine whether cotton, which is essentially cellulose, should be treated as loose fibers, yarn, or woven fabric.

In the tests cotton will be treated with acetylene and suitable catalysts under high pressure. Samples will then be exhaustively tested to determine their chemical and physical properties.

The research is part of the USDA's constant effort to find new uses and new markets for agricultural products.

Morse, Wallace Trade Cliches

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., in a Senate speech described Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace as a "punk."

In answer, the governor said: "I'd rather be a punk than a big mustachioed pink like him."

In a brief speech in Washington dealing with Wallace's efforts to prevent integration of Alabama schools, Morse said the governor "is a disgrace to the great office he holds." The senator said that in his part of the country Wallace could be described the "the slang word — punk."

In Montgomery, Wallace said "that senatorial drip from Oregon has removed all doubt that he is a psychiatric case who desperately needs treatment."

FARM REVIEW AND FORECAST

Few insect pests are more discouraging or annoying to a homeowner than hungry termites, says John G. Thomas, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Texasans lose thousands of dollars each year satisfying the enormous appetite of this tiny wood-chewing pest, he says. Nothing short of financial or natural disaster is more damaging to the homes of Texans in some areas.

Termites can literally eat a home to pieces if they are allowed to go unchecked, but they can be stopped by several methods, says Thomas.

Prevention is the best way to avoid trouble from termites, he emphasizes. Provide good drainage, ventilation and floor clearance under the houses not of slab construction. Remove wood, paper and cloth waste from around the house. Haul off excess piles of dirt and in short, remove the places where termites might live, he says.

Before the home is completed, effective control of termites can be assured by treating the soil under it with a recommended insecticide for the purpose. By working the chemical into the soil where the building is to stand, control of the pest can be expected for at least five years, says Thomas.

This is the time of the year to plant small grains, says Joe E. Cole, area agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Many small grain producers in Texas have more than doubled their yields during the last few years by the use of fertilizer, he says.

Small grain readily responds to fertilizer. The best way for a grower to determine the most profitable rate of fertilizer to use is by having his soil tested, says Cole. Now, before the grain is seeded, is the time to obtain a soil test.

Your county agent has the soil sampling cartons and will be glad to supply them and other information regarding soil tests, says Cole.

Research has proven that phosphate gives best response when placed in the drill row with the seed at planting time. This can be done with a combination type drill, says Cole.

Nitrogen should not usually be applied to small grain until it is well established. If the soil test shows a severe nitrogen deficiency, ten to twelve pounds of nitrogen can be placed in the drill row with the seed at planting time explains the agronomist. Larger amounts of nitrogen at planting time could affect the germination and reduce the stand, he says. A spring application of nitrogen usually proves beneficial by increasing yields.

Expanding the farm net income doesn't always mean adding more acres to the farm, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Operators generally think that increasing the farm acreage or adding more livestock is the only way to raise their income, says Bates. He admits that in some cases this may be the only solution, but careful analysis of the present farm operation would probably point to other means of increasing the net income, he says.

Bates points out some factors to consider in deciding how to increase the net farm income. First, are the labor and equipment on the farm fully utilized? Some operators increase their profits by cutting back on machinery replacements.

The high fixed costs of baling hay or other harvesting operations may be avoided by hiring custom harvesters. When such harvesting equipment is purchased, it must be used enough to make its operation economical, he reminds.

Could new enterprises or methods provide additional returns from the available land and labor? Sometimes added efficiency in several areas of the operation can materially increase the total returns, says Bates.

Are the present enterprises yielding maximum potential profits? Cases have been observed where additional capital used for fertilizer or fencing for rotation grazing have paid good dividends, he says.

Through better planning on his present acreage, the operator can often add to his income without buying more land, says Bates. A good manager must seek the best way to do things and must make full use of the resources available to him, he concludes.

Four new smut and lodge resistant grain sorghum hybrids have been developed by the cooperative plant breeding programs of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Crops Research Division, Agricultural Research Service.

RS 616, RS 621, RS 622, and RS 623 are described as having red coleoptiles, yellow stigmas, red seed and no awns, say L-589, a new publication of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. They also have satisfactory head exertion but during droughts and high temperatures it may not be sufficient to avoid cutting undesirable amounts of leaf material while combining.

The four new hybrids have shown to be equivalent to RS 610 and RS 608 in yields but not as widely adapted as the older hybrids. In areas of short growing season and low rainfall, yields have been poor because of late maturing of the plants.

The publication reports that there has been no head smut found in the pollen parents or any of the four hybrids. The parents and the hybrids were also grown in sorghum disease nurseries and no symptoms of disease were found. The hybrids appear to have Kafir-type resistance to chinch bugs, as well.

Resistance to root lodging was observed during a Gulf storm in 1960 and the hybrids have also shown good resistance to weak-neck and stalk-rot lodging. The plant's extra strength was attributed to their height, which averages 6 to 12 inches shorter than comparable hybrids, and the resulting greater overlap of leaf sheaths.

The leaflet says that certified seed are now available through retail stores. For more information on these new grain sorghum hybrids, ask your local county agricultural agent for a copy of L-589 or write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

Now in effect is a new compulsory school attendance law which requires school children, ages seven to 16, to go to school 165 days out of each 175-day school year.

Before the 58th Legislature passed this law, the minimum attendance requirement was 129 days. This left a wide margin for truancy — especially by children of migrant farm workers who are on the move two to four months out of the year.

Laxity of compulsory attendance laws has been cited as one reason for the high rate of illiteracy among Latin Americans. Texas' rate of illiteracy is high for all races. It has been estimated that almost 10 per cent of the state's population is functionally illiterate.

A recent U. S. census survey showed that the average school child in Texas, with a Spanish surname, did not go past the fourth grade. Average Anglo finished the 10th grade and the average negro completed the eighth.

It will be up to individual school districts to see that children attend school 165 days a year, according to Leon Graham, deputy commissioner of the Texas Education Agency. However, the main responsibility lies with the parents. If a school officer warns the parents of a truant child, they are subject to a fine of $5 for the next day he fails to attend school; $10 for the second offense, after a warning, and $25 for each subsequent offense.

Graham said it is no problem for a migrant parent to enroll his child in any school. No formal transfer is required. "Our schools are here to serve the children of Texas," he said. "All they have to do is say, 'Here I am.'"

SCREWORM PROGRAM PRAISED — Dr. E. F. Knippling — known as the "father of the screwworm eradication program" — addressed Southwest Annual Health Research Foundation trustees at their annual meeting in Austin, and praised the progress of their eradication campaign. But he cautioned them against complacency.

Knippling reported that in August, only 81 screwworm cases were reported in Texas, compared to 5,688 in August, 1962. But a large percentage of the 81 were in the Trans-Pecos area.

Animal health officials feel the Trans-Pecos problem is a direct result of screwworm flies migrating from Mexico. Mexico's northern border has been the target of sterile fly drops for several months now. But newly-gained knowledge that the fly can travel about 100 miles on his own volition is worrying the officials.

Knippling said, "We must intensify our survey efforts to find where fly drops will be most effective; then widen the barrier to prevent infestation."

FALL RAINS MAY POSE PROBLEM — Charlie Scuggs of Dallas, president of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, said his group is beginning to worry about a growing rate of screwworm infestation when fall rains come.

Cool weather and dampness, usually associated with early fall, may couple with shearing and calving wounds to foster screwworms if livestock producers don't take precautions. Scuggs said an "information campaign" will be launched soon.

NEW OFFICERS — Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde is the new president of SWAHRF. The young rancher just completed a term as president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, before he took the animal health post.

New vice-president is Joe Lane of Alpine. T. J. Richards of Paducah is secretary-treasurer.

EDUCATORS MEETING SET — Texas Association of School Administrators and Texas Association of School Boards will hold a joint meeting in Austin on September 22 and 23 to hear talks on education in the Space Age. They will hold seminars on: School dropouts, the migrant pupil, religion and the schools, teaching Americanism-versus-communism, and textbook selection in Texas.

POLL TAX REPEAL — Campaign for repeal of the poll tax as a requirement for voting was launched by the Texas League of Women Voters, with Gov. John Connally and Vice President Lyndon Johnson giving their support to the movement.

On November 9 Texans will vote on a constitutional amendment to remove the 60-year-old requirement that you pay a poll tax to vote. Texas voting will be under the shadow of a proposed U. S. constitutional amendment outlawing taxes on the right to vote in elections of Federal officials. Legislatures of 36 states already have ratified this amendment, and when two more approve, it will go into effect.

Texas Legislature provided Texans a "do it yourself first" route by submitting the proposed amendment to the Texas constitution at the November 9 election. There is no chance for the U. S. amendment to go into effect until after that date.

TOURISTS — Texas' first formal effort to attract tourists will get underway now that Governor Connally has appointed the seven men to head the new Texas Tourist Development Agency.

Interestingly enough, most of the seven are natives of other states, indicating that Connally felt they would know best how to bring other Americans into Texas.

Frank Hildebrand Jr., former Louisiana, Baytown, Houston and Dallas news writer, will be executive director. For the last year, he has been chief of the travel promotion section of the Texas Highway Department.

On the advisory board which will help Connally direct Hildebrand are Bill Berger of the Hondo Anvil Herald and president of the Texas Press Association; Chris Fox, El Paso banker; James M. Gaines, San Antonio radio-TV executive and president of the Texas Tourist Council; John McCarty of Dallas, vice president of advertising for Frito-Lay, Inc.; G. A. (Pop) Mabry, Houston, public relations director for Humble Oil & Refining Co.; and John Powell, Austin hotelman.

AGING — State Senator Walter H. Richter of Gonzales was named by Governor Connally to head the Governor's Committee on Aging.

Secretary of State Crawford Martin headed this committee while he was in the Texas Senate. Many of its recommendations have become law, but Connally said much remains to be done.

On his list of assignment the governor suggested work to remove from state mental hospitals about 2,100 persons over 65 who are senile, but not really mentally ill. Many feel they have been sent to the mental hospitals simply because there is no other place for them to go. Effort will be made to transfer them to nursing homes.

Because people are living longer, the number of Texans over 65 increased 45 per cent between 1950 and 1960. Population increased only 24 per cent.

TALKING BOOKS — A new record was set in August on circulation of "talking books."

These are the albums of phonograph records distributed by the State Library under a federal-state program to aid the blind. Current magazines and popular books are read onto records and distributed free to the blind persons.

During August a total of 6,374 albums of records were distributed. State Library also distributes books in Braille as a part of this service. GAS — Natural gas continues to be one of the major cash crops of Texas.

Texas Railroad Commission reports that in June, 21,044 gas wells and 125,169 oil wells produced 573 trillion cubic feet of gas. The lion's share, 406 trillion, went into transmission lines.

Of all the gas produced, 39.83 per cent was exported to other states, and 30.99 per cent was carried by pipelines for use in Texas.

An economy class plane ticket from New York to London now costs $270. Pan American World Airways, convinced that lower rates are the road to more traffic, proposes a thrift fare of $160 — a whopping reduction of $110. But this needs the unanimous approval of all the transatlantic airlines which make up the International Air Transport Association, so there's no sure way of telling at the moment whether Pan Am's idea will be given a trial.

Jaeger, W. Va., Industrial News: "In Russia, we learn from a bulletin of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, neglect of farm machinery has been made a criminal offense. It is not difficult to understand the need for drastic steps. When the machinery belongs to the State, and the land belongs to the State, and the crops belong to the State, who cares what happens to any of them? . . . American farmers, however, discovered for themselves long ago, that neglecting their machinery is a crime — not against the State, but against Nature and their own welfare—despite the quick availability of parts at modest cost. . . . 'In the sweat of thy brow,' says the Good Book, 'shalt thou eat bread. But the Russians wouldn't know about that.'"

WHEN schools opened in Delaware for the fall term, the day started the same way it has for years. Pupils listened to a reading of five verses from the Bible, then recited the Lord's Prayer. This ritual, required by state law, is being continued this year in Delaware despite U. S. Supreme Court decisions that such practices and laws are unconstitutional. And several other states intend to keep right on calling for Bible reading in the public schools. The members of the Supreme Court may not like prayer but the people—the Christian people do. Who cares what a man with the background of a JUSTICE DOUGLAS thinks? He should resign and get off in a wilderness somewhere with his young bride and start thinking about getting some religion before he dies. Here's a question we have wanted to ask of some of the New Frontiersmen for a long time—does Russia have a Supreme Court? The high tribunal in the U. S. has become a convenient "dodge" for those in favor of some of this anti business to use when they want to put their own political motives into operation. Is the day fast approaching when the rulings of the court will be merely the opinions of NINE OLD MEN with red wrinkles and pink ears?

IT is nice to know that one of America's most famous shortline railroads, the cogwheel route making the ascent of PIKE'S PEAK from Manitou on the outskirts of Colorado Springs, has refused to surrender to featherbedding. Private enterprise is not dead in Colorado. The railroad has received the first of two $243,000 rail cars built in Switzerland to update its operations. The new 80-passenger cars are powered by diesel-electric motors and are equipped with the most elaborate braking and other safety devices ever found on any U. S. railroad. Many generations of Texans have made the ride to the top of PIKE'S PEAK on the cogwheel line. We can continue to look forward to making that trip in newer, finer, safer cars. And you won't find a man on the crew up the mountain that is not needed. We trust the cogwheel line will be allowed to chug up and down the PEAK in peace.

ACCORDING TO THE WALL STREET JOURNAL, a housewife can send in three labels for cans of deviled ham, along with $345 and receive a genuine mink stole. Our economy has definitely advanced a long way since the days when box tops were considered currency only for the LONE RANGER code ring, complete with mirror for flashing signals.

A NICE note arrived this week from the GORDON STONES, who are living in Stillwater, Oklahoma. They wrote: "We enjoy the paper so much being so far away here in school. GORDON especially likes the 'Twenty Years Ago' as he is old enough to remember some of the people." Of course GORDON is a junior, his parents live in Glasscock County and Stanton has been home to the STONE FAMILIES for many years.

THE NBC network announced this week an extension of time on the air for the HUNTLEY-BRINKLEY team. I'm suspicious. These clowns, AND I didn't say newshounds, along with the BLAIR, DOWNS, HAKAOS (did I spell it right) AGRONSKY, (ain't that Russian sounding) FREDERICK, (she is draft exempt in the case of a hot war) have continued to plow their particular plots of propoganda for many months now. They have become so bold in recent weeks they no longer run from calling the situations exactly what they are—revolutions. Now I am a country boy and a country editor. I apologize to no man for what I happen to be. But I know when a thief comes into my living room with a loaded gun in his hand that he is either going to rob me or kill me. When a man or woman comes into my living room in the image of a polite saint and seeds my brain with the devil's propoganda, I really worry. To know your enemy and be prepared to do something about it is one thing for sure—but to be caught munching candied popcorn and running back and forth to the ice box for refreshments while the commercials are on, is definitely something else. So to wind this comment up quickly why not say to HUNTLEY-BRINKLEY, et al, the twin mouthpieces who distribute the dose of dung dished out to them from Washington—"take your views elsewhere"—and in the words of a late great statesman—"When the Good Lord created men of your ilk and kind He wrote across their brows—without recourse on me."

ON Saturday afternoon about two weeks ago we viewed the tv show dedicated to hunting and fishing in Texas. The program announced one of our subscribers as the winner of a sportsmanship award. E. J. ARRINGTON of Grandbury, Texas, was honored on the program. MR. ARRINGTON is JACK'S dad and one swell fellow and all around good sportsman. We add our congratulations.

WE have failed to acknowledge some poundings by local citizens in this column recently so will do it now. Thanks to MAURYNE and BILL VARNADORE for the nice bell tomatoes and we want to say thanks to JOHN DAVIS for the cantaloupes and to RAYMOND LOUDER for the watermelons. You simply can't beat the produce grown here in Martin County.

Course Set For Scout Leaders

Two special training courses have been scheduled in September by the West Texas Girl Scout Council. These courses are to be held in Abilene and Big Spring, and they are to be taken only by experienced leaders of Girl Scout troops who were not present at Program Change training last March.

Experienced leaders who wish to enroll for one of these courses should register by telephone call (OR 3-7868) or postal card with the Girl Scout Council headquarters, 304 Mulberry Street in Abilene.
